Certify Wardens For Playgrounds

At a most impressive ceremony in the Memorial auditorium Tuesday night, 24 older children of the three local playgrounds received certificates and armbands denoting them as junior air raid wardens. Each recently passed a test at the completion of a ten-hour course in A.R.P. work requested by state officials.

Stafford A. Lindsay, chairman of the playground committee, presented certificates to Joan Fettes, Bill Holland, Isabel White, Mayme Godin, Muriel Fettes, Jean Gregory, Jaclyn Barry, Hazel Murphy, Billy Westgate, Dorothy Ness, Cecelia Edmunds, Pauline Marion, Branton Davey, Theresa Collins, Eileen Fitzpatrick, Marjorie Mears, Mary Elizabeth Donovan, Walter Thomson, Marjorie Thomson, Margaret Collins, John McVey, Ruth Gregory, Philip Markey and William Collins.

The junior wardens are not meant to take the place of the senior wardens, who are the playground instructors. They have been trained, at the state's request, to act as wardens of their own homes, and to assist and encourage the sale of war stamps. In the event that an air raid occurs at the playground when no instructor is present, the junior wardens will assume charge and do everything possible to safeguard the younger children until the senior wardens arrive. All are between 16 and 18

Collect Two Tons Of Tin On Week-end

The amount of 4480 pounds of material was realized from the collection of tin over the past week-end in four local precincts, by means of beachwagons manned by 12 volunteer drivers and a large group of Boy Scouts.

It was emphasized by those directing the collection drive that for a first collection, on such short notice, the amount realized was very gratifying. The material will be sent to Lawrence, where it will be loaded onto special coal cars and sent to detinning plants in this region.

Since another collection will be taken at about this time next month, householders who were missed by the collectors for any reason, are advised to keep their present supply on hand and turn it in next month. They are advised that the cans should be flattened, and their labels torn off. Bottles or other junk are not wanted, nor cans which have had oil in them. Since it is impossible to sort out large collections, only by the co-operation of each householder can the proper condition of the cans be assured, and large amounts of

Palmerton Cancels Scheduled Plays

Gas Shortage Forces Closing Of Season

Guy Palmerton, producer of the plays staged here so far in the Andover Drama Festival, announced today that the productions scheduled for the remainder of the season have been cancelled. The fact that the troupe has been in the custom of coming to Andover by motor, and that it cannot be assigned enough gasoline to make the weekly trips, caused the decision.

Five sedans, at least, are required to bring the company from Fitchburg to Andover each Monday evening, since as many as 32 have taken part in a single production here. Besides, scenery, costumes and other materials have to be transported.

In announcing the discontinuance of the Drama Festival, Mr. Palmerton expressed his appreciation for the support that his productions have brought forth here. If the rationing situation changes by next summer, the group may play here at that time.

A large audience at Monday night's presentation saw one of the most colorful plays of the season, in Cole Porter's "Anything Goes." The principals, Jack Good, a newcomer to the Andover stage, and Frank Lyon, a steady favorite, set the pace for an excellent performance, and the choral numbers and settings were perhaps the most colorful seen here so far. Louise Kirtland, as Reno Sweeney, featured the supporting cast.

Town Team Loses Final Game, 6-3

Outhits St. Anne's In Close Contest

A series of bad breaks, despite effectual pitching and hitting, spelled defeat for the Andover town team last night in the deciding game of its semifinal series against St. Anne's of Lawrence, the final score being 6-3. Andover got nine hits to St. Anne's five, but was spoiled of its promised victory by the breaks of the game and the airtight play of the opposing club.

Andover had a good chance to score in the last of the ninth inning, when the bases were loaded with only one out; but a strikeout and a high fly to center ended the ball game with St. Anne's still out in front.

A somewhat similar situation had occurred earlier in the game, with St. Anne at bat and two men on base. A hard drive was hit towards Erler at third, which, if it had been a yard closer to him, might have resulted in a double play. As it was, two runs were scored. Another double play was prevented by a fluke hit through first in an earlier inning.

First baseman Robichaud of the local nine was operated on last Friday, and was naturally unable to take part last night. The fact that several of the local players were in "Unqualified support" was voted to the school committee by the Taxpayers' association directors Tuesday evening as the committee awaited tomorrow night's special town meeting in which an attempt will be made to override the recently adopted school-closing plan of saving money. The meeting, which will start at 7:30 in the Memorial auditorium, is expected to attract an unusually large number of voters since interest is keen on both sides of the question.

The resolution as adopted by the association directors following a lengthy discussion and an investigation by some of the members read as follows: "that the directors of the Taxpayers' Association, feeling that the school committee has given due consideration to the educational and health factors involved in the closing of the three outlying schools, give unqualified support to the committee's decision to close the schools in the interests of economy for the duration of the emergency."

A committee appointed by the association president had met with the school board financial committee earlier in the week and gone into an exhaustive study of the problem from every angle. At both meetings particular emphasis was placed on the possibility of endangering the children's health because of the long day away from home, but it was pointed out that for many years children have been coming from the south section of the town to the Central schools without suffering any sort of hardship.

The educational aspects were also considered carefully, and it was felt that the opportunities for educational development were as great

Promises Action On Fuel Problem

Sen. Lodge Answers
Query By Selectmen

In response to a recent communication from Selectman Roy E. Hardy, relative to Andover's outlook in the present serious shortage of fuel, Senator Henry Cabot Lodge yesterday promised that he has been "devoting every effort to correct" the situation. He has been in touch, he said, with O.P.A., the Office of Defense Transportation, the Petroleum Coordinator, and with representatives of the oil industries.

"The information obtained," he concluded, "prompted me to introduce a bill in the Senate which will reorganize the entire fuel setup on a nationwide basis...I am determined that, regardless of any political consequences, no one shall go cold in New England."

Mr. Hardy has also written to Congressmen Thomas J. Lane, Congresswoman Edith Nourse Rogers and Senator David I. Walsh on the fuel problem.

To Form Committee For Russian-Chinese Relief

At 8:00 Monday evening, a meeting will be held in the Memorial Hall library to discuss organization plans and a program for a committee on Chinese-Russian relief. It will interest itself in activities in Andover, Lawrence, North Andover and Methuen, and has as sponsors leading business men, clergymen, doctors, professional men, artists, teachers, and representatives of various women's organizations.

A small committee has been functioning in Lawrence for Russian relief ever since Russia's entrance into the war. Starting among Russians, under the chairmanship of Sergei Marshall, it was afterwards enlarged by the addition of Irish, English, Polish and other nationalities, including some Yankees of many generations of residence in the country. In spite of its small size, and the fact that it was the last of relief organizations to appear, it has sent $3084 to the general fund, and has helped substantially in efforts started by neighboring towns. This success has been made possible by the hard work of the members and by the general sympathy roused by the resistance of the Russians.

The national office for Russian War Relief is headed by Edward C. Carter, son of Clark Carter, who lived on Bartlett street and whose daughters still live here. He has drawn around him as directors and sponsors many of the best known figures of American life. The chairman of the Massachusetts branch is Dr. Hugh Cabot, with Sergei Koussevitsky as honorary chairman and Mrs. L. Cushing Goodhue as active director. It is at the request of the latter that the new larger committee is being organized for the Greater Lawrence region.

The new committee will also interest itself in Chinese relief, as the original drive for this purpose has left no organization behind. Chinese and Russian relief are naturally associated, as China has borne the brunt of the Japanese attack, while Russia has kept about 90 percent of the European fascist forces tied up for over a year, almost freeing England from bombing, giving a silly look to the bets laid at heavy odds by Lloyds of London that New England would be bombed by April of this year, and giving us plenty of time to prepare for the coming offensive.

Representatives of various artistic, musical and other activities in this region have promised support, and it is hoped that an organization can be formed which, while bringing in a steady income for relief, will also make this neighborhood realize the existence in its midst of first rate talents and mutual interests.

To Close or Not To Close?

Yes, we're going to have to give up things for the duration, things we'll hate like fury to give up. We've already given up some things, but there are going to be more, many more—and it'll hurt.

The people in Ballardvale and the people in West Parish are being asked to give up for the duration something that is naturally very dear to them—their own local schools. Tomorrow night at a special town meeting they are appealing to the town to override the school committee's vote, and the school committee, supported by the directors of the Taxpayers' association, knowing full well that the financial problem next year will be the most serious in the town's history, is hoping that its decision will be upheld.

Somehow, knowing the people of Ballardvale and the people of West Andover as real 100 percent Americans, it must be obvious that more lies behind their opposition than the mere refusal to give up something to help out in the war effort—for that's what it amounts to: if we as a town have to spend $5,000 more than absolutely necessary next year on the local schools, that's $5,000 we can't put into war bonds to help win this war as soon as possible. When it comes to giving up, the people in those two districts are right up at the top. Then why, you ask, do they hesitate to give up their schools in this emergency?

Probably a big part of the trouble is this: they suspect that once the emergency is over, their schools will not be reopened. It's no use wondering where they picked up that suspicion; the important thing is that they do feel it, and quite naturally they don't want that to happen. The situation is different there than in the North district where for no good reason we have a one-room school in which 17 children are spread over six grades with one teacher teaching all the grades; that is of course educationally ridiculous. But in Ballardvale and in West Parish we have two communities, and by communities we mean groups of people with a common bond of interest. They have their own churches, their organizations, their schools—they want to keep them. Frankly both those districts have a spark of community spirit that it would be mighty nice for the center of the town to have, and that spirit should be encouraged.

Losing their schools permanently would undoubtedly pave the way for the breakdown of that community feeling, and this mustn't be allowed to happen. Therefore, the closing if approved tomorrow night should be put on a year-to-year basis, and when the emergency is over those two schools should be reopened so that the two communities will remain real communities.

These are the factors that should be borne in mind tomorrow night, to provide a sensible orderly meeting of which we can be proud. First: there can be no doubt of the need to curtail expenditures, and curtail drastically by every possible means. Second: there should be no recriminatory remarks passed about the school committee, because its members faced a difficult problem and instead of dodging it, met it squarely with a solution that they knew would not make them politically popular in these two sections. Third: there can be no weight attached to the probable argument that it would not be good educationally to close the schools, for the closing brings a temporary end to the unsatisfactory split-grade plan. Fourth: there can be no weight attached to the probable argument that the health of the children would be endangered by being away the entire school day, because for many years the children from South Main street, Salem street, Highland road, etc., have been lunching at the Central schools without any health impairment whatsoever (about 65 from the first four grades stayed the whole day every day last year, some taking advantage of the school cafeteria facilities). Fifth, there can be no valid argument of any kind for keeping the six-grades-in-one-room North school open, ever. But, sixth, there must be no permanent closing of the Bradlee and West schools, and after the emergency, they should immediately be reopened to be a vital part of the growth of the two communities.

Of course the most important part of all is for you to be there tomorrow night, because otherwise the town meeting will not properly represent all the people of the town.

Communication

To the Editor:

I thought the readers of the Townsman might want to know about the results of the oil survey that was conducted last week, and might be curious to know how many people could and could not convert to coal.

It is too early yet to have the results all tabulated, but I am writing to let you know that we have had a very good response to our questionnaire. A large number of questionnaires have been promptly returned, and I would like to take this opportunity to thank all those citizens of Andover who have co-operated so well by turning in their answers without delay.

There is yet a short time left before the tabulated results must be turned in to the Boston office of the Division of Services and Supplies, and in these few days we hope that most of the missing questionnaires will come in.

Since there is now talk of the possibility of fuel rationing, we are glad to have all the information we can concerning the use of oil. The list of those who have replied will, of course, serve as the basis for determining the fuel needs of the town.

O.E.S. RESUMES MEETINGS

Resuming activities for the fall, Andover chapter 187, O.E.S., will meet Tuesday evening, September 1, at 7:00 in Masonic hall. Plans are now being made, under the direction of the ways and means committee, for the fair to be held on October 17.

This Sober Town

The day before town meeting is a bad time to start a fight, and the records established by newspapers always seem to start long-winded controversies that go reverberating down the years.

The record we have in mind pertains to rain, the amount of the stuff which hasn't fallen during given periods on certain nights since December 7. Specifically, we are informed by Commander Harold N. Wood of the local Legion post that no rain has fallen, since December 7, during the 7 to 9 p.m. watch on Wednesday evenings at the aircraft observation post. Which is a most amazing coincidence. On that particular watch are Alfred E. Coates, John P. S. Doherty, Harry Chadwick and Carl Gahan.

The record has been standing since about three weeks ago, when a Friday team, by the malevolence of Jupiter Pluvius, fell by the wayside. No rain had fallen, since December 7, during the 6 to 9 watch of Herbert Bachman, Robert Clement, Lester Lynde and Edward Knight.

Until the last week of April, there were three teams in the race, the other being the Wednesday 9 to 12 p.m. shift of James Mosher, Halbert Dow, Robert Crockett and James Christie.

It seems to us that if any records are still standing at the end of this particularly precipitous week, gold medals, or something, are in order.

Andover sports fans have had an opportunity, this summer, to see a better brand of semi-pro baseball than has been their fortune in perhaps the past ten years. A minimum of 100 may be set as the number of boys and young men who have had a chance to play organized baseball here, in the town team, the inter-church league and St. Augustine's C.Y.O. outfits.

The Andover town team had as many as 53 boys working out at the beginning of the season, that number being subsequently whittled down to a permanent squad of 18. They played some of the outstanding teams in these parts in a year when ball-players and transportation facilities were at a premium, and made a good showing in a fast league notwithstanding.

A lot of the credit for a lot of work should go to Harold Wennik and Charles McCullom, who guided the town team's destinies. Hal captained the baseball teams at his high school in Jamaica, N. Y., and at Mount St. Mary's college, in Emmetsburg, Md. He played a lot of semi-pro ball in New York and this state before coming to Andover to live about five years ago.

Charlie played at a prep school on the West Coast, at Nashua, N. H. high school and at the Mass. College of Pharmacy. He, too, picked up a great deal of baseball know-how in semi-pro ball around Boston and on the Cape. Harold Bishop, club secretary, who ably assisted Messrs. McCullom and Wennik, possesses a seemingly inexhaustible knowledge of the abilities and weaknesses of practically every team and player the town team faced during the season.

Sing, O Muse, of the prowess of Dr. Claude M. Fuess, who, on the afternoon of August 12, in the company of Rev. A. Graham Baldwin, at the second hole of the North Andover Country club, using a No. 4 iron, succeeded in scoring a hole in one. It was his second in the space of 25 years, his first ace being scored at Rye Beach.

It is significant to note that both holes-in-one were made in wartime, and it would appear that war, which brings out the innate character and ability of each and every one of us, has also a heartening effect on Dr. Fuess' golf game.

And, while no one is disputing his statement that he did make a hole in one, it is very nice to know that he brought a clergyman along as witness. The circumstances lead us to believe, not only that he scored the hole-in-one, but that he had fully intended to do so.

It was no surprise to us to find Winston Churchill wearing a most unbecoming sombrero on the front page of yesterday morning's Herald. He hasn't had a hat that suited him since the day he was born. But, since Winston's celebrated jumper started a minor style craze after he visited the White House, we predict that all the ladies will be wearing great big sombreros, come fall.

We see that the prime minister's latest trip was to Cairo. It looks as if he does as much traveling in wartime as Mrs. Roosevelt did in peacetime.

DEATHS

A native and former resident of Andover, and a member of one of its most prominent families, Mrs. Mary (Marland) Littleton, 61, died suddenly Tuesday at the home of her sister, Mrs. Helen (Marland) Bradbury, in Malden. She was the widow of Dr. James Rufus Littleton, who was a prominent physician in Augusta, Ga., and mayor of that city at one time.

Mrs. Littleton was the youngest daughter of the late Major William Marland and Salome Jane Marland, who at one time resided on School street. She was educated at Abbot Academy and Wellesley college.

Surviving her are two sons, Abbot Littleton of Quincy and James Littleton, now stationed in the Pacific area with the U. S. Army medical corps; a daughter, Miss Helen Littleton, R.N., now serving overseas with the American Red Cross; and a grandson, Bradbury Littleton.

The funeral was held at 2:00 this afternoon from St. Paul's Episcopal church, Florence street, Malden. Burial will be in the family lot in Christ church cemetery.

material saved that must otherwise be thrown away.

Saturday's and Sunday's collections were carried out by means of 12 beachwagons, and were directed by Mrs. Douglas Byers, in charge of transportation in the service and supplies division under civilian defense.

Those who served as drivers of the beachwagons Saturday, in Precincts 1 and 2, were James J. Darby, Geoffrey Glendenning, Frederick Boyce, James Grew, Floyd Humphries and Robert Woolsey. Collecting in Precincts 3 and 6 Sunday were Joseph DeAcutis, Mrs. Walter Pike, Harold Phinney, Grenville Benedict, Douglas Byers, and Arthur Atkinson.

Boy Scouts from Troop 72 and other boys volunteering for the work, assisted in the collection.

positions relatively unfamiliar to them had a great deal to do with the outcome.

The Andover runs were batted in by Bisset, Follansbee and Done. Bud Ferguson, pitcher, led the locals at bat with a double and two singles, and Cargill got two hits. Andover had seven men left on base to St. Anne's five.

Only one solid St. Anne hit was out of the infield, and the Andover outfielders didn't have a single put-out.

In the last inning, Done singled through shortstop, and Ferguson advanced him with a sharp single to center. After Low had fanned, Bisset hit a long fly down the right field foul line, which might have been good for three bases. Done, however, was uncertain whether the ball would be caught or go foul. Finally attempting to come all the way home, he was nipped at the plate, while Bisset was forced to hold up at first. With two men on and two out, Erler reached on an error, filling the bases, but Hilton grounded out to end the inning and the game.

We All Can Co-operate

About September 1st there will hardly be an eligible young man of Selective Draft Age left in Andover. That means it will be impossible for us to find drivers for our delivery trucks. To meet this situation, we are again rearranging our delivery system.

About September 8th, all deliveries of food will be made in the afternoon, including Wednesday afternoon. (Our store, however, will not be open for business Wednesday afternoons.) Our older men, with the aid of High School boys, will carry on in the place of our regular drivers now in the armed forces. This co-operation will enable us to maintain a very satisfactory daily delivery to your homes. You can co-operate by buying your food items one day in advance. Remember: "Buy today for tomorrow."

Carnivals, Field Days Keep Playgrounds Busy

With field days finally completed on Monday, carnivals planned for this week and week-end, and the closing day presentations of awards still in the offing, Andover's playgrounds, this week, find themselves in their busiest season. All tournaments have now ended, and their winners will be announced shortly. The special feature of the week was the presentation of certificates to the Junior wardens, which is treated elsewhere in this issue.

Shawsheen

The first of the three playground carnivals, held at Shawsheen last evening, augured well for the success of the others. A large gathering enjoyed the old-time auction sale and square dancing, as well as the pony rides, games, bakery sale and refreshments. The grounds were attractively decorated, and the exhibits were unusually elaborate.

The annual Field Day, held last Friday afternoon and Monday evening, also had a large group of spectators. The winners were:

Balloon race, 6 and under, Frank Killilea. Candy kiss scramble, 6 and under, Raymond Groleau. Balloon race, seven to eight, Raymond Skea. Candy kiss scramble, 7 to 8, Joan Barry. 50-yard dash, boys 9 to 10, Edward Sullivan, first; Richard Cheney, second; Walter Tomlinson, third. 50-yard dash, girls, 9 and 10, Arline Mais, first; Jeannette Charlind, second; Mary Martin, third.

Clothes-pin race, 9 and 10, Dick King, first; Tommy Wilkinson, second; Maurice Shea, third. Three-legged race, 11 and 12, Billy Mannion and Joseph Byrne; Jack Caswell and Jack Barry.

Cup race, 11 and 12, Billy Mannion, Joseph Byrne and Nicholas Misesi. 100-yard dash, 13 to 15, George Fleury, Bob King and Norman Parsons. Stilt race, 13 to 15, George Avery and Bob King. Cup race, boys, 13 to 15, George Avery and Bob King; girls, Virginia Kenney.

Central

Go up to Central playground tomorrow night, and you may come home with Uncle Sam's note for $25, payable in ten years. The raffling of a war bond will be only one of the features of this year's carnival at Central. Children will be interested, as they always have been, to know that ponies and goat-carts will be on hand to give them an idea of modern transportation, and there will be the usual hand-work exhibits and game and refreshment tables.

Afternoon competitions in the annual field-day at Central were held as scheduled, last Friday, but the evening's program had to be put off till Monday night because of the weather. Friday's winners among the children up to 11 were:

Ball race for toddlers' division: Ethel Lynch, first, Glenn Williams, second. Kindergarten division, candy kiss scramble: Jimmy Dolan, first, Jack Carver, second, David Glendenning, third, among the boys; Josephine Collins, Marilyn Carver, Ruth Ann Frederickson for the girls.

Grab, white elephant and pastry tables will be open for business, and hot dogs, tonic, coffee and roasted corn will be sold. Handwork made by the children at all three playgrounds during the current season will be shown, and several interesting contests will be staged. Mrs. James Nicoll and Mrs. Clyde Mears are in charge of arrangements.

The winners in Ballardvale's recent field day events were: kiss scramble, Nancy White. Three-legged race for boys, six to eight, Warren Ferris and Richard Jarvis; for boys, nine and ten, George Partridge and Clifford Lawrence; for girls, nine and ten, Janice Durling and Jane White.

Winners in the 25-yard dashes were: boys, six to eight, Richard Lawrence; girls, six to eight, Jane White; boys, nine and ten, George Partridge; intermediate girls, Virginia Lawrence; intermediate boys, Herbert McDonald. Meredith Matthews won the girls' peanut race; candy kiss scramble winners for girls and boys eleven and twelve were Elna Fone and Robert Ness. The apple race, for girls eight to ten, was won by Doris Nicoll; for boys, George Partridge. The 100-yard dash for senior boys was won by John Murnane. Balloon races for children eight to ten saw honors going to Jane Durling and Clifford Lawrence, and the best girl sack racer, in the 12 to 16 age group, was Joan York.

H. Richardson's stallion, Slick Nelson, did 2:36 at Manchester...W. A. Trow, employed at Brown, Durrell and company in Boston, was vacationing at Jaffrey, N. 25 YEARS AGO. Only 24 local men, out of a quota of 170 for Andover and North Andover, had been accepted by the draft board...The public safety committee decided to give up the idea of a public produce market, since there was no urgent demand for it. It also endorsed the State Guard's plan to send several officers and men to Lawrence for special drilling...Rumors that Norman MacLeish had been killed in action were scotched by the announcement that he was hospitalized in Macedonia...Members of the canoe club were busy decorating their boats for the annual float night. A young lady complained of rowdies molesting her on the way downtown...The ruffians had yelled, "Oh you kid with the white stockings!"...The Andover United soccer club met to discuss "outlaw football"...Charles Ruggles was in musical comedy at Boston's Park Square theatre...Troop 1, Boy Scouts, were to camp out on the Shawsheen "above Bert's mill"...Jesse Billington became first sergeant in the State Guards...Lieut. James K. Selden, Q.M.C., returned from Plattsburg.

10 YEARS AGO. The unemployed were circulating a petition for a special town meeting, to appropriate $30,000 for their relief...The coming eclipse was to be 99 percent total in Andover. Something like a blackout...The body of a Boston gangster, dead several weeks, was found in thick woods off South Main street...Lewis N. Mears of Ballardvale was awarded the Purple Heart decoration for wounds received at Verdun...Pomps Pond lifeguards were arranging for its swimming meet...Llewellyn D. Pomeroy, Clester E. Matthews, Harold S. Cates and Gordon R. Cannon were appointed precinct wardens—but for voting purposes only...Welfare expenses during July were half again as high as those in July, 1931...The first complete maple products exhibit ever offered for private exhibition and sale was on view at J. E. Greeley's...Ramon Navarro was playing at the Colonial theatre...A brand-new automobile was to be awarded to some lucky person at the C.D.A.—K. of C. carnival...Half a game separated the Sherrill club and the Hoods.

HELP ME TO SERVE YOU IN WARTIME!

Sorry folks!...but tire conservation keeps me from getting around as much as I did in peacetime. So I'm asking you to please help me maintain continuous good service in your home by changing your own fuses whenever necessary. It's easy to do - just like replacing a lamp bulb.

KEEP SPARE FUSES ON HAND -

Check up on the location of your fuse boxes and then keep an assortment of fuses on hand for emergency needs. You'll be helping me to save the rubber and gasoline America needs. Of course I'll come whenever you need me but please try to save me all the unnecessary tire-wearing trips you can.

Topsfield Fair Will Have Giant Rodeo

By popular demand, the Essex County Agricultural Society again will present a championship rodeo as the entertainment feature of the annual Topsfield Fair, September 9 through 13. Called the most dangerous of all sports, the colorful rodeo last year packed the big grandstand at every performance, with thousands unable to get seats the final three days. This response prompted fair directors to engage for this year's spectacle the largest rodeo ever held at an eastern exposition, comprising 100 cowboys, cowgirls and Indians and more than 200 head of wild stock.

The personnel includes some of the outstanding rodeo stars of the nation. Mildred Mix Horner of Garland, Tex., who won the girls' world bucking-horse championship at the great annual Madison Square Garden, N. Y., rodeo, and pretty little Mary Parks of Walsenburg, Colo., runner-up to her in the event, head the cowgirl group. The vicious Brahma steers and Texas Longhorns will be ridden and bulldogged by such top cowhands as Jack Jackson of Houston, Tex., Roy Corell of Salt Creek, Wyo., Brahma Bill Rogers of Tyler, Tex., and Red Hamerschmidt of McLaughlin, S. D.

if not greater under the centralized plan.

Savings of from $10,000 to $13,000 will be made possible under the vote of the school committee passed several weeks ago, at which time the art supervision was abolished, noon-day care of children by other than teachers was dispensed with, adult education was curtailed, transportation privileges made more strict, and the three schools, North, West Center and Bradlee closed. The action was taken just for the duration of the emergency, in response to a plea for economy made by the board of selectmen, who stated that very probable loss of income for next year of $110,000 would result in a tax rate jump of $7.00 unless sizeable economies were made.

The program, at Tuesday's assembly, included the pledge to the flag by all present, the presentation of certificates and armbands by Mr. Lindsay, a talk by Carl Penny, educational director of protection work in this state, and a picture produced by the New England Telephone and Telegraph company, entitled "Spreading the News."

Paul J. King, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry H. King of 7 William street, left Sunday for the Air Force Classification center in Nashville, Tenn., where he is to study as an aviation cadet.

IT'S AS EASY AS THAT TO MAKE TELEPHONE CALLS BRIEFER

That's one way you can do your bit for the war every day.

YOU CAN DO still more by reducing non-essential long distance calls.

ANOTHER WAY you can help relieve congestion is standing-by at your telephone when you are waiting for a long distance call to be completed.

YOU CAN SAVE valuable telephone time by leaving messages when the party you're calling is not available. Call-backs take telephone time that is needed for speeding the war.

YOUR HELP is urgently needed because the telephone must give war needs first call.

PLEASE think before you telephone. Do you have to make the call? If it is essential will you please make it as brief as possible?
