Andover Over Top in United War Fund Drive

Andover has once again succeeded in meeting a challenge to its generosity by more than reaching its goal of $20,500 in the United War Fund drive. Thursday morning, Andover's figure was just over $21,100. Co-chairman Mrs. Elizabeth C. Rich and Chairman Roy E. Hardy have issued the following statement:

"We wish to extend our heartfelt thanks to each one who has contributed of his time and money. Particularly do we extend our congratulations to the house-to-house campaigners for their tireless and productive efforts. Every part of the town of Andover has been united in the great community campaign. We thank each one for his cooperation.

Heavy Vote Forecast Here for Presidential Election Tuesday

Ipswich To Play Punchard Saturday

Ipswich High School, 1941 Class D Champions, will attempt to set back a crippled Punchard team at the Playstead on Saturday, at 2 p. m.

The two hard games of last week in which Punchard defeated Chelmsford 12-0 on Monday and lost 19-6 to Stoneham on Saturday, injured several local players. Bud Johnson is lost for the season due to a bad knee. His loss may be severely felt, but Phil Markey and Bill Lowe are capable fullbacks. Norm Bendroth, tackle, also has a leg injury, but may be ready for action. Guard Charley Waterman is low scholastically and is lost for the balance of the season.

Coach "Al" Robinson sees some promise for the big games to come in the return of Fred Anderson, 1943 end.

Ipswich's Coach Frederico is a former R. I. State football and basketball star under the Ram's nationally known coach, Frank Kearney. His team features a weird assortment of passes, spread formations and laterals with which they hope to confuse and defeat Punchard. It should be a battle between orthodox and unorthodox football worth seeing.

The once-somnolent interest in the Biennial election has mounted steadily within the past few weeks, and it is now expected that on next Tuesday, if weather conditions are right, Andover will turn out a record vote. All six precincts will be open from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m.

The chief local interest is in the contest for Representative, where the incumbents, J. Everett Collins, Alyce L. Schlapp and Ralph H. Hill, all Republicans, are being opposed by Carl A. Woekel, Herbert B. Bower and Samuel W. Brainerd, all of Methuen and all Democrats. It is expected that if Andover voters turn out, the three Republicans will be re-elected, although Mr. Woekel may run strong. He had entered his name in both the Republican and Democratic primaries and though normally a Republican he was defeated for that nomination and managed to get considerable votes on the Democratic ticket and had his name entered on the ballot.

There is also considerable interest in the race for Councillor, in which Attorney Robert V. O'Sullivan of Lawrence is favored over Washington Cook of Haverhill. In the race for County Commissioner, Andover is expected again to put a "monkey-wrench" into the campaign of C. F. Nelson Pratt.

The town will undoubtedly cast a large majority for Dewey, Cahill and Saltonstall.

National Art Week in Andover Features Work of Local Artists

For the first time, under the aegis of the American Artists Professional League, National Art Week has come to Andover, and our local artists have given a splendid account of their work in this exhibition, showing what an astonishing amount of talent a small American community can produce. The idea of transforming the business center of the town into a kind of continuous gallery is as novel as it is pleasant; the sudden amalgamation of the mercantile and the artistic interests of the town is as stimulating as it is surprising.

Fifteen artists have exhibited their works: Frances Dalton, Harry Sutton, Patrick and Maud Morgan, Alica Atkinson, and Lev Gorianski represent the group that have made art their life's work; Clair Hayes, Alice Bell, Wayne Grover, Alida Oberlin, H. A. Coon, Abbot Cheever, Ernest Walen, Clara Knox and Hilda Wylie are among those who have made the art of painting their inspiration, if not their profession. For the layman it would be impossible to make that distinction when he is confronted with the work achieved.

Since the number of paintings and drawings runs well over a hundred, it is impossible to give more than a general idea of what is offered, and we must limit ourselves to a general indication of the most striking exhibits of the show.

Among the landscapes Sutton's three water-colours are outstanding both in colorit as in conception, but they suffer from the close view, as does his exceedingly fine picture of the peonies (Playdon's). Gorianski's exciting "Dog Fight" and his colourful Italian Landscapes (Temple s. And. Coal. G & E) of what might be called modernistic-inspirational interpretation, say as much of the artist as of the subject. Morgan's "Landscape With the Sowers" (Andover Cleaners) shows a nice unity of colour, atmosphere, and subject, and his "Watercolours of Algiers" (Joyce) are fresh and clear. Atkinson's Parisian series (Hartigan s), presents the spirit of the city as a group better than in-

This Sober Town

Congresswoman Rogers, who has spent some twenty years in the House of Representatives, most of which time she represented Andover, dropped in the office the other day, fresh from her seven weeks trip abroad.

The seven weeks by airplane, army jeep or whatever conveyance was handy, took Congressman Rogers through base hospitals in England, advance hospitals in France, to the fighting fronts now reaching into Germany and into the mountains a few miles from the battle lines in Italy. Her only regret is that she could not have reached the Pacific on this trip, but hopes very much to get to that area later.

"I can think of no more worthwhile way I could spend the recess that Congress decided on," Mrs. Rogers said, despite the fact that her re-election was before the voters this fall. "I have obtained a first-hand view of the conditions under which our men are now fighting, of the needs I feel that Congress can supply, and of the problems that are being created for the future. To my work on the Veterans Legislation Committee, and on the Foreign Affairs Committee, of the Congress, I can bring valuable knowledge to be acquired no other way. For many years I have given a great part of my time and effort to hospitalization for the war casualties of World War One, and my first interest was of course, in the wounded and the hospitals caring for them. The courage, the fortitude and the patience of our wounded are an inspiration. The work of the medical staff, doctors, nurses and medical corps men, is superb and their devotion to duty beyond praise. Parents can rest assured that everything possible is being done for their sons. More doctors and nurses are needed, they must be supplied, and I am sure they will be.

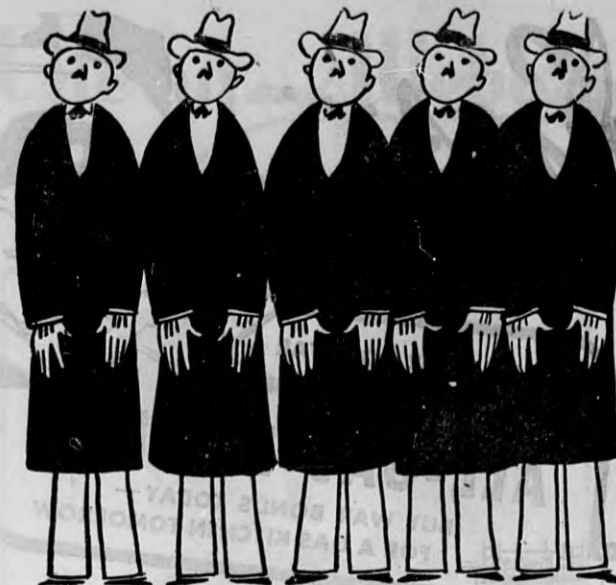

"The spirit of our fighting men is fine. They have done wonders, but they know much remains to be done and they have no patience with the feeling at home that the war is nearly over. Their accomplishments under the severest of handicaps that fighting on foreign soil brings to invading forces, are writing brilliant, new pages in history. Their bravery, their fortitude and endurance, are a revelation. We must do much for them, here at home, to be worthy of them."

Congressman Rogers is preparing a report to Congress of the conditions abroad, which will be presented when Congress meets again in November.

ANDOVER GUILD OPENS

The Andover Guild opened its season for the year last Tuesday night with a Halloween party which was attended by almost 100 children. Benjamin Dimlich, now the superintendent, assisted by Mrs. Dimlich and James Bissett of the Guild staff were in charge of the program. The hostesses were Miss Miriam Putnam, Mrs. Douglas S. Byers of the Guild staff, Mrs. Hart D. Leavitt and Mrs. James R. Adriance. The program for the Guild will begin on Monday.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

It's Still Town Meeting
In a Big Way

I got to pondering the other day about the coming election.

Not about who or what was going to win but whether the voters themselves would win.

Lots of times the folks don't seem to appreciate their privilege of expressing their opinion secretly at the polls.

When I was a boy, town meeting was the event of the year, a man had to be sick abed to miss it.

From where I sit, all town, city, state—yes, federal, elections are nothing but the old-fashion town meeting on a large scale.

And believe me it's just as important for you and me to cast our vote on election day as it was for the old-timers to go to Town Meeting. And after all, the secret ballot is the essence of democracy—the form of government that makes America great.

So don't let America down. No matter what your politics are—no matter how you vote—go to the polls on election day and have your say. Rain or shine!

dividually, but her sketch of the Cafe is very fine, as is her "November Colt" (Elander's). Grover's landscapes, including her symbolic "Tree," are conservative and agreeable, as are Bell's and Walen's Seascapes. Alida Oberlin has a felicitous combination of blues and browns in her small picture "Across the River"; Coon a lively combination of greens in his "Spring."

Of the portraits four stand out: Sutton's "Lt. Brown" (Straford) which shows a deft and convincing touch that deals swiftly and masterly with the subject; Dalton's "Timmy" (Hays), in which she has abandoned her usual careful style and painted with sweeping grace reminiscent of the Petit Tambour; Maud Morgan's "Pink Woman and Brown Man" (Book Shop), modernistic and impressive; and Patrick Morgan's "Roland" with the sulky mouth and the silky dog. Two other portraits by Sutton (Playdon's) and Wylie's "Officer" and "Lady with Cat" are likewise interestingly handled, no less than Coon's "Boy and Boat."

Among the pencil and crayon drawings Cheever's two feminine portraits (Harborn's) and Dalton's "Michael & Renate" (Greco's) are particularly fine, the former by the strength, the latter by the extreme delicacy of the handling. The same treatment distinguishes her "Dian" and her "Estelle."

The mystic and the fantastic are both represented by Gorianski, the one by his "Christ of the Atonement" (Temple's), the other by his sky-storming "City of the Future" (G & E).

The fanciful finds its place in Maud Morgan's "Mr. & Mrs. Dumbo" (Book Store), and the decorative in Cheever's two "Flowers" (Millers) and Daltons "Autumn" with its whirling milkweed pods. Maud Morgans "Lilacs" is a fine flower piece, a subject in which Alice Bell and Clara Knox are also pleasantly represented.

Altogether, an impressive array of talent, which makes us look forward to next November with pleasant anticipation.

NEWS OF OUR MEN AND WOMEN IN UNIFORM

Newly captured prisoners of war in Germany will receive their first mail from home two or three months earlier than has previously been possible because of new plans for forwarding, it has been announced by the American Red Cross.

Under the new plan, the post office will accept mail for a prisoner of war immediately after official information that he has been captured by Germany is received.

The International Red Cross Committee has agreed to handle mail for newly captured men and forward it as soon as it is informed of each man's camp address. It must be addressed as follows:

Full Name

Rank

U. S. Prisoner of War in Germany in Care of the International Committee of the Red Cross Directory Service

Geneva, Switzerland.

Lieut. William N. Lindsay, Jr., who commanded the mine sweeper Perry just reported lost as a result of enemy action in the campaign to take Palau from the Japanese, is the son of William N. Lindsay and the late Alice Leslie Lindsay, both formerly of this town. He is also the nephew of Miss Annie S. Lindsay.

The Perry was the first ship lost in the drive against Palau and there were only light casualties in its loss, the Navy reports. The ship was a converted destroyer and carried a normal complement of about 120 men. The Navy gives no details except to state the Perry went down as a result of enemy action off the Palau Islands.

15TH AAF IN ITALY—First Lieutenant Stephen E. Hansen, 26, of 6 Morton street, Andover, Mass., pilot, has been awarded the Distinguished Unit Badge as a member of a veteran Liberator Bomber group which has been cited for "outstanding performance of duty in armed conflict with the enemy."

Word has been received that Air Cadet Richard I. Stevens is taking a 16 weeks' course at Hondo, Tex., training as a navigator for the Army.

Bernard L. McDonald, Jr., a liaison officer in a field artillery battalion, recently won promotion to the rank of captain and was awarded the Bronze Star medal. Captain McDonald is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard McDonald, 8 Chestnut street.

John Markey, U.S.N.R., former Punchard athlete, recently received his certificate after completing the Navy V-12 program at Tufts college. He was recently home on a short leave before reporting for midshipman's school at Fort Schuyler, Bronx, N. Y. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George P. Markey of High street.

Norman Ross, U.S.N., son of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Ross, 54 High street, is home on three days leave. A fire control man, he has been serving in various Mediterranean ports.

Home on a furlough from the Aleutian Islands is PFC J. Edward Manning, 38 York street. He received a royal welcome from his two and one half year old daughter Maredythe, who was too young to know him when he left. Mrs. Manning was the former Priscilla Moss.

Formerly employed at the Andover Playhouse, Pvt. Manning helped entertain the men in the Islands by operating the movies. After spending 28 months in the Aleutians, he is glad to be back where there is something besides moss and sand.

With PFC. Manning were several Andover men, including Charles Shorten of Elm court, Army Air Force Medical Corps; Staff Sgt. Raymond Peters, who recently returned home, and Timothy Daley of No. Main street, a civilian truck driver with a contracting firm.

Pvt. William J. Trainor, formerly of Andover, is now serving overseas with the Headquarters company of an infantry regiment in France. He has been overseas since May. His home is now in Lawrence, at 9 Trenton street. He has four brothers in the service, three of them overseas.

WITH THE FIFTH ARMY IN ITALY — Pvt. Mitchell P. Puchlopek, rifleman, of 62 Haverhill street, is a member of the 350th Infantry Regiment, one of the 88th Infantry Division units which paced Lt. General Mark W. Clark's Fifth Army smash from the Garigliano to north of the Arno river in Italy.

Men of the 350th, hardened mountain fighters, went into action in early March and during the drive up the peninsula, skipped cities and towns to capture innumerable strategic heights which paved the way for advance of other Fifth Army units.

Particularly outstanding was the regiment's capture of Mt. Cianelli in 51 minutes after opening of the May 11 drive. Seizure of this height, almost unmentioned in news dispatches at the time, has been described as the most important action in the initial operations against the Gustav Line, since it cleared the flank of the French Corps and enabled the French to crash through the bottleneck that was Castelforte.

After Cianelli came Hill 316, Mt. Ceracoli, Ventosa, Mt. Rotundo, Mt. Casareccio, Mt. Marino, Mt. Alto and Salvatore. Standing off fierce German counterattacks in a valley south of San Boggio, where supplies and ammunition were dropped from planes, the 350th drove on to capture Roccasecca dei Volsci, 10 miles ahead of Fifth Army lines.

Swarming down out of the mountains after Roccagorga, a motorized unit of the 350th was among first Allied troops to enter Rome last Sunday afternoon, June 4. North of Rome, the 350th was pulled out for rest and reorganization and returned to the lines July 7.

Assigned a corps objective in the Volterra area, key point in the Nazi line below the Arno river, the 350th attacked the night of July 8 and took, on schedule, the high ground to the west and north of the famed hilltop town, ancient stronghold of the Etruscans. From Volterra, the 350th drove steadily across rough and treacherous terrain to the Arno.

Shortly after taking up defensive positions, it equalled its World War I record of being the first unit of the 88th to repel a German thrust when it beat back a strong German daylight raiding party.

This official release came from the Headquarters of the Fifth Army, Public Relations Section.

Frank O'Brien of 34 Phillips street is a member of the latest class to complete training at the Army Air Forces Candidate school, which is a unit of the AAF Training Command. Upon completion of the rigorous four-month course, he has been commissioned a second lieutenant, and is now qualified to fill the position as an administrative officer with the Army Air Forces.

Pfc. J. Edward Manning has arrived home after spending 28 months with the Army in the Aleutians. Mrs. Manning is the former Priscilla Moss and they have one daughter, Maredyth.

Service Club Hears Leonard James of P. A.

A very pertinent talk on Russia was given by Leonard F. James, instructor in English history and contemporary affairs at Phillips Academy, when he spoke before the Andover Service club last Thursday evening at the Andover Inn. He pointed out that Russia has become nationalistic in scope as indicated by her change of attitude toward the home, religion and property ownership.

He pointed out that after the war, Poland will be forced into a position where she will be more or less dependent on Russia because of the increased number of Germans which she will find within her borders after boundaries are settled.

He called attention to the fact that, though the Dumbarton-Oaks conference is 90 per cent settled, the remaining 20 per cent, that which deals with Russia's refusal to accept the clause denying the aggressor a vote in cases which concern that party, is a most important point and overshadows the other 90 per cent.

Mr. James concluded with the opinion that the United States should work with Russia in trying to avoid another war, at the same time keeping well informed as to what Russia is doing so as to be guided accordingly.

The sum of $25 was voted at the business meeting to be given to the United War Fund Drive.

Last Wednesday night the Abbot girls staged a political campaign meeting at which students representing the leading candidates for both parties in the coming election presented their platforms in formal speeches, and answered questions which were fired at them from the interested and enthusiastic audience. The evening was planned by a group of girls who, with the assistance of several of the faculty, are spending an hour every Wednesday night reading and discussing "The World Today." During the same hour the other students in the school are busy knitting, sewing, and making surgical dressings for the Red Cross, and for the British, Dutch, Czechoslovakian, French and Russian relief.

Republicans for Representative

The one place on the ballot that you can vote straight Republican and be sure you're doing the right thing is in the contest for Representative in the fourth Essex district. Here, the three present Representatives, J. Everett Collins, Alyce Schlapp, and Ralph Hill, are being opposed by three men who bear the Democratic label. Two of them, however, are leftovers, or also-rans, from the Republican primaries of last July. They profess to be Republican, but didn't mind, for the sake of getting on the final ballot, also entering their names on the Democratic primary ballot, hoping in the November election to fool enough Democrats into thinking that they were Democrats, and to pick up enough of their old Republican votes, to win the victory.

We want real Republicans, or real Democrats, not hybrids. Our three Republicans have done a good job in the General Court, and there is no reason to toss any one of them out. Here in Andover, of course, we most certainly want to get behind Everett Collins, because we do want to continue to have a Representative from Andover. But at the same time we do recognize the right that Methuen has two Representatives, and we want to do our part to see that the two from Methuen are the best that that community offers.

No one that has lived here in Andover for any length of time has to be told what a swell fellow Everett Collins is. In anything he has ever done for the town or for the State, he has given his wholehearted effort without sparing his time, his money, or himself. Andover should most certainly get behind Everett, if only to prove to him that she is grateful for everything he has done here in the past 25 years. The town needs Everett in the General Court, the District needs him in the General Court, and the Commonwealth needs him in the General Court. Let's not fail him on Tuesday, for he has never failed us.

Vote "Yes" Three Times

There seems to have been a revival of interest in the biennial liquor question here in Andover. There have been publicized in the Townsman both sides of the question, with each side endeavoring to give its point of view as fairly as possible.

Several years ago the Townsman fought and fought hard for the elimination of the licenses which permitted the sales of liquor for consumption on the premises. The sale had been conducted in a fashion that did no credit to the town. Four years ago, and two years ago we stated that if ever similar conditions arose again we would most certainly do everything in our power to urge the voters to vote "No" on licenses for the sale of hard liquors to be consumed on the premises.

But to be perfectly fair, it must be stated that conditions, instead of reverting back to the old deplorable conditions, even improved in the last two years. One sees very little drunkenness on our streets. In fact, it's much better than it was in the days of no licenses and prohibition, for in those days, habitual drunkards still managed to get drunk and to be more obnoxious than they are now.

This is America. Twelve hundred of our boys and girls are fighting to keep America free. We grant a person the right to do pretty much anything he wants to, as long as it affects only him, and not the general public. If a fellow wants to drink, the American thought gives him the right to do so. It is not American to prevent a man from drinking if he does nothing to infringe upon the rights of other people. Nor is it American to take advantage of the fact that so many of our boys are away fighting for us.

Our liquor dispensing is carried on by some of our best citizens, people whom you would admire and respect and like. They have the interests of Andover as much at heart as any of us, and they have done their very best to keep their business on the high plane that Andover demands. In this effort they have succeeded, and it would be only fair for us, on Tuesday, to give them an overwhelming vote of confidence.

Vote Straight American

We have long contended that those party leaders who urge the people to vote a "straight ticket" have a very serious obligation to the people of making that straight ticket the best that the party can produce. You as a voter will be urged to vote a straight Republican ticket or a straight Democratic ticket. Neither of the party's list of candidates is straight enough to deserve a blanket endorsement merely because of the labels after the names.

The Republican State ticket is headed by Horace Cahill for Governor, and he is a worthy successor to one of the greatest of our Governors, Leverett Saltonstall. Probably the most promising of the underling candidates in any of the 48 states is the Republican candidate for Lieutenant Governor of this State, Robert Bradford. The Democratic party has put up nothing in the way of good opposition to him. Of course, for Secretary of State, Frederic Cook can't and shouldn't be beaten as long as he wants to keep the job.

So far, so good, if you want to vote straight Republican. But there the Republican party fails, and apparently made no effort to put up a good candidate for Treasurer. Fred J. Burrell of Medford was Treasurer once before under Calvin Coolidge. He resigned upon request in 1920. In spite of the fact that his name appeared on the ballot in that year, James Jackson was overwhelmingly elected by stickers. We don't want Mr. Burrell back now any more than he was wanted in 1920, and it would be a good thing for the voters of the Republican party to demonstrate to the leaders of that party that if they want a straight ticket to be elected, they'd better put worthwhile candidates into the field.

Frank Goodwin of Fairhaven, former Registrar of Motor Vehicles, is an outstanding candidate for auditor. His service as Registrar certainly merits him this position.

For Attorney General, the Democratic leaders failed, and Francis E. Kelly obtained the nomination. Anybody who knows Kelly will certainly vote for Clarence A. Barnes, the Republican candidate.

For United States Senator, no other name than Leverett Saltonstall is worth mentioning, and his is most certainly worth mentioning. Mrs. Rogers deserves re-election as Congressman from our district. Her opponent has nothing that we can find to offer the public.

Then again the leaders of the Republican party failed its members. For Councillor they let a man by the name of Washington Cook win the nomination, a man who is a comparative new-comer to the district, a man who is the brother of Alonzo Cook, whose record as a public servant is not one that Massachusetts likes to boast about. Opposing him is Attorney Robert V. O'Sullivan of Lawrence, who is so far above his opponent in every way that Andover, Republicans and Democrats alike, should give him an overwhelming endorsement.

For State Senator, Clifford R. Cusson of Haverhill is running unopposed. He's going to be elected. He shouldn't have been nominated, and the Republican leaders should have done something about that, but they didn't, and we're going to have Mr. Cusson.

Again the county leaders of the party failed us when it came to County Commissioner, and they managed to let, by their inactivity, C. F. Nelson Pratt win the nomination. Pratt should not be allowed to hold any public office, even the most insignificant one. Andover's voters should vote for Methuen's Arthur Thompson, a Republican, and take their choice for second place between Michael Conway of Peabody and J. Fred Manning of Lynn, either of whom can make far better County Commissioners than C. F. Nelson Pratt.

Go into the polling booths Tuesday as an American, not as a Republican or as a Democrat.

Get Off That Horse

It has taken an awful lot of real Americans quite a bit of time to make up their minds on whom to vote for chief executive this coming Tuesday. Most of them found that the National Convention this year left a very bad taste in their mouths. They had had, four years before, one of the most glorious feelings that anybody in politics had ever had: the feeling that the people and not the machine were in power. They had seen a man come out of business life, and with his frankness and vigor and freshness, prove that you don't have to be vacillating and cagey in order to put up a sterling fight for a public office. They had seen that man go down to defeat in the election after having gained more votes than any Republican had ever gained before for the Presidency, but they had seen him rise in defeat and become, without holding office, one of the greatest, most respected figures not only in America, but in the world.

Then they had seen the machine take control. They had admired Wendell Willkie when he had put up another honest, frank, forthright campaign for the nomination without catering to any of the machine politicians in his party. They had seen him try to get the Republican party out of the rut that it had been in for the past twelve years, and yet a man was nominated who refused to express his views on any of the important subjects before the convention had nominated him.

But before next Tuesday we all have to make a choice. There are quite a few, even here in educated Andover, who are thinking seriously of not even marking the ballot for President. This is an un-American attitude. Granted that the nomination of Governor Dewey lacked the refreshing coup-d'etat of "We, the People," it still should not be forgotten that the nomination of Franklin Roosevelt was far from being caused by a public uprising in his behalf, and if we remember rightly, the nomination four years before was stimulated quite a bit by a voice from the sewer.

It's a terribly important election. Some of us have wondered about the Republican party's one-time Isolationist group. Some of us have even felt that Governor Dewey, before the last election, was not strongly enough an interventionist, and yet we wonder, if Governor Dewey had been in the same position President Roosevelt had, if he had had access to all the information that President Roosevelt had access to, probably he would have been even more of an interventionist than Mr. Roosevelt. And certainly, we feel sure, that had Mr. Dewey had control of the government he would not have allowed all the bungling that has so seriously delayed our winning of the war, and resulted in such extremely heavy and extravagant expenditures of our money.

We don't need Roosevelt. It would be a serious mistake to continue to have Roosevelt. He has shown that he is not capable of making worthwhile appointments, and not capable of so organizing his government that it carries on its functions smoothly and efficiently. He has shown that because of his arrogance he no longer gets the cooperation of his Congress.

It will be a sorry day for the American people if they hesitate, in the middle of the stream, to dismount a horse that is failing and instead get on a brand new steed that will carry them safely and quickly to the other side.

We Want Biennials

Question No. 3 in the referendum part of the ballot asks for the restoration of annual sessions of the General Court. We have done pretty well with biennial sessions in the past two years, and saved quite a bit of money. There are only 188 reasons for voting yes on this question, and those reasons are that 188 legislators want an annual salary. Our government has gone on just as well without paying them this extra annual salary, and there is no really valid reason for voting "yes." Let's keep the

Addison Gallery Shows Art of Peru

The decorative arts of Peru, silver, textiles, and pottery, are the subject of an exhibition at the Addison Gallery, Phillips Academy, which has been installed in collaboration with the Memorial Hall Library. Choice samples of these arts have been gathered from the Peabody Museum at Harvard University and the Museum of Fine Arts, Boston, to supplement the meeting on the cultural life of Peru, which will take place at the Town Library Thursday, November 2. The lady's stirrup, handsomely wrought in silver, the perfume cup, the silver harness ornament, the woven poncho, the carrying cloth and the brass spoon which likewise serves as a pin for clothing are some of the objects which serve to dramatize a way of life which is unfamiliar to most New Englanders. The entire program is intended to bring to the townspeople of Andover an increased understanding of the neighboring republics to the South. The exhibition, installed last week, will continue until November 13. The Gallery is open weekdays from 9 to 5, Sundays from 2:30 to 5.
