Two Brothers, "Mom" Have Hospital Reunion

FRAMINGHAM, MASS., June 14 —Two Massachusetts brothers held a surprise reunion in Cushing General hospital Thursday after returning from combat in the opposite ends of the globe.

The men, both patients, are Pfc. Paul McMillan, 19 years old, of 351 Andover street, Ballardvale, near Lowell, just returned from Okinawa, and Pfc. William Fyler, 30, of the same address. By coincidence, Mrs. Eva Fyler, mother of William and "mom" to Paul since she legally adopted him when he was five years old, was able to join in the reunion that brought the three of them together for the first time since November, 1942.

Each saw a good deal of action. Paul participated in four major Pacific battles, and William in four major European campaigns. Then Paul was brought to Cushing suffering from a knee injury and what happened then he relates as follows:

"As soon as I came into the hospital I called home and found that mom wasn't in, but instead, was at Cushing General hospital visiting.

"I was so excited that I didn't stop to ask who, but almost cried in the telephone.

"I got hold of a Red Cross worker and told her that my brother must be in the hospital. I knew that he had been wounded, but didn't know when or that he had returned to the United States. But I felt sure."

Red Cross workers checked, and

Perfectionist

The finished prescription reflects the perfection of every step in its compounding, for a medicine is only as good as the parts that make it up. The ingredients, the accurate compounding, the skill and integrity of the pharmacist — all these are the measure of dependability. That is why the pharmacist must be a perfectionist whose hands, eyes and mind are perfectly coordinated and unflinchingly exact in performing every step.

Staff Sergeant Everett R. Gorrie arrived in New York on May 19, and at his home, 104 Highland road, on May 25. Sergeant Gorrie was inducted into the Army in June, 1942 and received his basic training at Fort Meade, Maryland. In July of 1943, he transferred to Camp A. P. Hill, Virginia; October of the same year, he was again transferred, this time to Camp McCoy, Wisconsin and then in November of 1944 was shipped overseas from Camp Myles Standish. After two weeks in England, he went directly into the Bulge in the Ardennes, serving with a unit that stopped the German offensive. On February 28, while serving with an infantry unit in the 76th Division of the Third Army, he was hit by shrapnel in the back and was moved to an evacuation hospital in Luxembourg and later to a base hospital in England. Sergeant Gorrie is married to the former Martha Thomson and was employed by the Merrimack Mutual Fire Insurance Company as an underwriter, prior to his induction.

Ensign Gordon White, U.S.N.R., of 5 Wolcott avenue is enjoying a leave after serving in England and France. He was aboard an LCT, during the invasion of Normandy a year ago. Ensign Gordon is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred White of Brechin terrace and is married to the former Gloria Field, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leon A. Field of 5 Wolcott avenue. Before entering the navy, he attended Brown University.

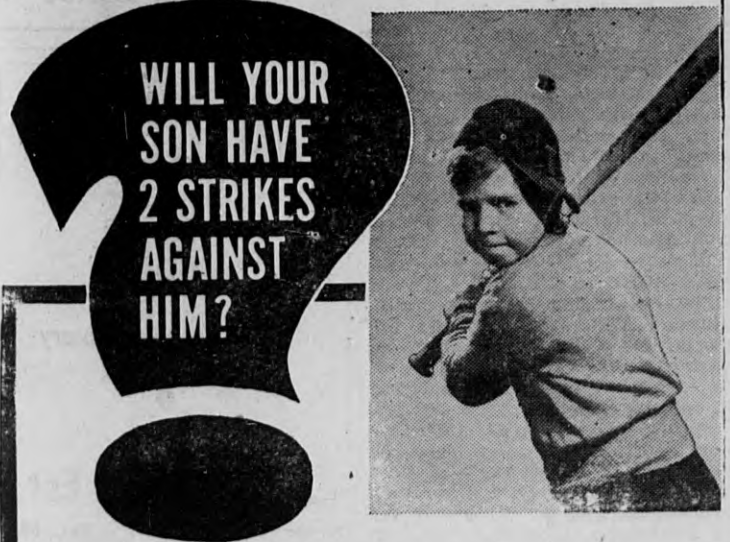

Last month Junior's dad squawked about the light bill. "Why," said he, "it's double what it used to be." He thought it was but, of course, it wasn't and was he "riding for a fall!" For Junior's ma jogged his memory and told him how electricity has been getting cheaper and cheaper—even since Pearl Harbor, how it isn't just a light bill anymore; how they use a lot more electricity now, what with the radio, refrigerator, washer, ironer and all the other electric appliances that mean so much to her—and to him. And was his face red!

We Want Meat

Many of us are still red-blooded Americans, although where the red blood comes from these days is hard to figure out. But those of us who are red-blooded Americans are getting pretty darned mad after hours and hours of standing in line to get meat—and then to be doled out something that you wouldn't have fed the pup in pre-war days or to be told that there is no meat.

As Americans we can take something with good humor for a while. We laughed it off the first few weeks, but it's gone well beyond the laughing stage now—and something had better be done about it mighty quick. As Americans we're not going to be shoved around very much before our blood starts boiling—and it's boiling now.

Yes, we want our boys and girls in the service fed and fed well. If there were only enough mat for them, we'd eat fish or horse meat, or anything else, and consider it a real privilege to be giving up real meat for them. But if there's any meat left, after they've been taken care of, we think that it should be parcelled out fairly and squarely so that every one of us can have red meat with some degree of regularity. Too many families are facing week-ends without any supply of meat while others have ample. The children in too many families are undernourished, while adults in other families have more meat than they need.

Rationing was instituted to prevent this; rationing was instituted to give us all a fair share of anything that is available. It is based on not who we are, or on how much money we have, but on what our need is. We are all given red points with which to buy meat; the number of points varies with the size of our family and not the size of our pocketbook. The fellow with the big car and the big house and the big bankroll in America is entitled to not one more ounce of meat than the fellow who managed to eke out a living on the WPA in depression times. And yet it happens every day that there's meat: some people come away from the line with suspiciously big-looking bundles under their arms; others are lucky if after waiting an hour and a half they are given a few meat-covered bones.

Somebody has to step in and correct this situation. Apparently you can't rely on the patriotism of the money-bloated citizens; apparently you can't rely on some of the storekeepers who are willing to play favorites for some reason or other, financial or otherwise. If it isn't corrected pretty soon, don't be too surprised if there are riots, and if there are boycotts. It can happen here.

Vacant Filling Station Guttled by Incendiary Fire

On Saturday morning, Box 66 at Poor and North Main streets, was sounded from the Central Fire Station at 2:37 o'clock for a fire which completely gutted the interior of an untenanted filling station on North Main street, not far from the Lawrence-Andover line.

Fire Chief C. Edward Buchan in investigating the blaze stated that he was of the opinion that the fire was of incendiary origin and started by some one either bent on mischief or who sought shelter from the storm. It is not believed that the fire was caused from lightning.

Mrs. Leo Daley and family of Carisbrooke street are spending the summer months at Drake Island, Wells, Maine.

DON'T FENCE ME IN

The cowboy tending his cattle on the range sings this song all day long. He likes to do business right out in the open. That is the way the J. E. Greeley Co. has done business since they started. That is the way we intend to do business: right out in the open.

Changing business conditions have compelled us to erect a fence in front of our meat cutting dept.

Why? When our customers bring us in fresh-killed Broilers, Chickens and Fowl, also fresh-killed pigs and their own Beef, asking us to cut them up so they can put them in their own deep freezers, the trading public naturally thinks this Beef, Pork and Poultry is for sale, when not one pound of this food belongs to us. That is one of the reasons we had to build this fence when we're doing this work.

Also, when we get a shipment of Beef it takes two hours for us to prepare this Beef before it is ready for sale. So we have to put up this fence to give the meat cutters a chance to do their work properly. Now, we do not like this "fence me in" way of conducting a market, which you and I know is all wrong.

Morgan, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Morgan of 5 Logan street, Lawrence at a ceremony performed on Saturday in the Rectory of St. Augustine's Church. Rev. Henry B. Smith, O. S. A., officiated.

Miss Florence Walsh of Cambridge, a classmate of the bride at Mt. St. Mary's school, Hooksett, N. H., was the maid of honor, while Wilfred Morgan, brother of the groom was the best man.

Two Brothers

within a few minutes William had been located, with Mrs. Fyler visiting him. A reunion was promptly held in William's ward. He is suffering from a spinal injury.

Paul enlisted one week after his brother had been called and since that time, November 13, 1942, their furloughs came at different times so that their Army paths never crossed.

Both went overseas in opposite directions in April, 1943. Paul wears battle stars for Attu, Iwo Jima, Okinawa and Leyte. William wears battle stars for campaigns through Normandy to Germany where he was wounded March 27.

Both have a lot to talk about yet. Their principal argument now is: who went into the Army first?

"Bill was drafted November 6," Paul says, "but I enlisted one week later, and arrived at camp first!"

Former Marine Joins Andover Fire Department
