Check the kitchen carefully!

Before you buy a home, check up carefully on the kitchen. The lady of the family will spend much of her time there. A kitchen of the wrong size, poorly planned or poorly located, will turn her dream house into a nightmare.

So don't buy recklessly. Have your realtor show you a number of houses before you make a decision, then consult this bank. It has been established for generations; its officers have a lifetime knowledge of property values. They'll tell you how you can buy your home at low carrying costs, with a mortgage specially suited to your circumstances.

To Our Readers

The Townsman's recent dislocation of its printing schedule has, with this issue come to an end. Shortage of help, with vacations aggravating the situation, plus an unprecedented volume of work, has thrown the usual schedule 'way off. However, vacations are over as of this week, and from a production standpoint the situation should be much better. And some day before too long the Townsman editor may be home from China and the Townsman advertising manager may be home from India.

To our readers we extend our thanks for their patience and understanding, and it's only fair also to thank our employees who have been doing their utmost to carry on under such conditions.

DEATHS

William Ward, 26, Andover st., Ballardvale, died at 8 o'clock last Friday morning as a result of burns received when a pail of gasoline directly behind him where he was working on a motor in a garage at the rear of Park street, became ignited and enveloped him in a sheet of flame. Almost his entire body was covered with severe burns, and his name was on the danger list from the time he was admitted to the Lawrence General hospital until his death. Dr. Julius J. Burgiel, medical examiner, stated that death was due to first, second and third degree burns which covered 70 per cent of his body.

Gardner Townsend of Lawrence, owner of the garage, and Joseph Smeltzer, who happened to be in the shop at the time, tore off Ward's clothing, and the fire department ambulance was summoned from across the street. He was rushed to the hospital in a very critical condition, and was given emergency treatment over a long period. Blood plasma was given, and blood donors were standing by in readiness to give aid.

The blaze, which also scorched a warehouse owned by Mrs. Walter J. Morrissey, will be investigated by Lieutenant Richard J. Griffith of Haverhill.

Surviving are his wife, Erlene (Robertson) Ward; two sons, Edward Thurston and William Henry, Jr.; his mother, Mrs. Myra S. Ward of Ballardvale; a sister, Mrs. James Butler; two brothers, Everett T., of this town and W. Dean of Ballardvale; three uncles, three aunts, two nieces and two nephews.

Ward was a painter by trade, and was hired as a mechanic at the garage when it opened several

The matter of the West Parish playground was again brought up by Mr. Doherty, and it was voted that his sub-committee should take the matter up with the Board of Public Works and the Selectmen.

The funeral was held Monday afternoon with services at 2 p. m., at the Lundgren funeral home, with Rev. William S. Crawford, pastor of the Methodist church in Ballardvale officiating. Burial was in Ridgewood cemetery, North Andover, with Rev. Mr. Crawford conducting the committal services.

"MAN-THE LUNGS ON THAT KID!"

PROUD AND EXCITED? You bet. Just off the transport from Europe, the sergeant is calling home and hearing for the first time the lusty cry of the baby son he's never seen.

To telephone home . . . that's an instinctive move with most of the thousands of battle-ribbed veterans returning daily.

These men will be passing through New England for many months to come. You can help them establish their vital links with home quickly by making only essential calls, and by keeping those as brief as possible.

SERVICEMEN

Mrs. Myrtle Hayward, 103 Salem street, was notified last Friday that her son, Technician Fifth Grade Ralph L. Hayward, died in France on August 13. The cause of death was not given.

Born in Lawrence, the young soldier went to school in this town, graduating from Punchard High school with the class of 1942. He entered the service in October, 1943, while a student at the Essex County Agricultural school. He received his basic training at Camp Blanding, Florida, and Fort Meade, Maryland. He went overseas in June 1944, and was wounded in the invasion of France, receiving the Purple Heart. At the time of his death he was on special duty with the U. S. O.

Besides his mother, he is survived by a brother, Private Charles W., who recently entered the service, and a sister, Cynthia, of this town.

For gallantry in action against the enemy in the vicinity of Baguio in Northern Luzon, Sergeant John M. Morton, son of Mrs. Margaret Morton, 8 Elm court, was awarded the Silver Star Medal by the commanding general of the 33rd division. Sgt. Morton commands a machine gun squad in Company I, which has seen action in Dutch New Guinea, Netherlands East Indies and on Luzon, participating in the Philippine Liberation campaign. During a dawn attack by a force of numerous Nips on his company, Sgt. Morton was in command of a machine gun squad located at the point where the full force of the attack was borne. Despite the fact that he was continuously exposed to enemy machine gun fire which killed two members of his squad, Sgt. Morton coolly remained at his post. Skillfully hold-feet of his position, he successfully repulsed three separate attacks and was responsible for killing at least 19 of the enemy. In part the citation read: "Sgt. Morton's excellent control over his squad, his keen sense of tactics and his courageous leadership under overwhelming odds were directly responsible for the defeat of the enemy and reflect great credit upon himself and the military service." In addition to receiving his fifth highest military award, Sgt. Morton is entitled to wear the Good Conduct Medal, the Asiatic-Pacific Ribbon with two campaign stars, the Philippine Liberation ribbon with one star and the Combat Infantryman's badge.

Edwin Eldredge, 60 Essex street, was advanced to chief torpedoman in the U. S. Navy aboard the submarine-tender Bushnell somewhere in the Pacific recently. Eldredge took part in the landings on Guadalcanal, Battle of Midway, Battle of Saipan and Tinian, and the liberation of the Philippines. He has been in the Navy for 16 years, and has been overseas for 11 years.

Lt. (j.g.) Addison L. Winship II, USNR, 23, husband of Mrs. Christine Hill Winship of 72 Salem st., is serving aboard the USS North Carolina off Japan, which is part of the powerful Pacific fleet engaged in occupying Japan. The North Carolina, one of the "glamor" ships of the fleet assembled with 11 other battleships, 17 aircraft carriers, five escort carriers, 20 cruisers, and more than 290 other U. S. ships to carry out the first stages of the occupation of the Japanese home islands.

The name of 1st Lieutenant David W. Brown, Fighter Bomber, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Brown of Bancroft Road was inadvertently omitted from the Honor Roll which was published in this paper on August 16th.

LIBRARY NOTES

The summer is fast going yet there is still time to get in a good bit of outdoor fun. Cooler days make hiking, camping and mountain climbing even more desirable than in the early summer. These crisp, bright days make it easy to succumb to the lure of the open road. If you can indulge your whimsy all well and good, or if you must take its joys viaciously, you can capture much of its lure from books or implement your experience with the experiences of others. For information or inspiration the following books are spread before you.

Appalachian Mountain Club. The A.M.C. White Mountain Guide; a guide to paths in the White Mountains and adjacent regions.

Geist — Hiking, Camping and Mountaineering. The section on hiking includes information about hiking and walking in general. Hiker's clothing and equipment, how to plan a hike, hiking and hosteling; the section on camping material about camping in general, how to select and care for your camp equipment, where to camp, about fires, food and cooking; a final section on mountaineering gives valuable suggestions about that art.

Graham—On Your Own: How to Take Care of Yourself in Wild Country. An excellent manual for any camper but particularly valuable for those going into unfamiliar terrain. The author gives information about what to do in emergencies ranging from quicksands and quagmires to sudden storms; about dealing with dangerous plants and animals about what plants and animals can be eaten for food.

Jessup—A Manual of Walking. Mr. Jessup writes in a pleasant readable style, with a touch of humor, about the theory of walking, the kind of footwear to use, how much to carry, etc.

Capt. and Mrs. Charles F. Smith and daughter Martha have returned to Philadelphia, after visiting with Mrs. Irene W. Cole of Elm street.

IT'S SO-O-O EASY TO
FOOD!

Canning is easy if you use the right equipment and follow reliable canning recipes. If you have any special canning problems, visit our store and we may be able to help you solve them.

DON'TS TO OBSERVE WHEN YOU PRESERVE

Don't can wilted, overripe or partly spoiled food . . . it won't keep.

Don't prepare more than your canner will hold. Food spoils if it stands around.

Don't pack too tightly . . . especially corn and greens. Tightly packed jars heat through too slowly.

Don't lose track of time . . . follow reliable time-tables to the minute for successful canning.

Don't stand hot jars on their heads . . . you may break the seal.

A Sober Week-end

On Labor Day those who look on the occasion as something more serious than a last chance for a long summer week-end are wondering this year what the future will bring.

The war had its very great problems on the Home Front, and labor, or the lack thereof, was one of the foremost. Many boys will be back before long, and that situation will be corrected, but the future of the country will depend not so much on the number of men available for work and the number of jobs open as on the ability of both Labor and Capital to cooperate, to have an insight into the problems of each other, to understand that the other's problems are their own, for their interests are intertwined. As one prospers, so does the other, and neither can long prosper at the expense of the other.

We're working not for ourselves; we're working not to become rich at the expense of underpaying others; we're working not to gain extra money at the risk of ruining a business structure. We were put here on Earth to help mankind, and that's going to mean cooperation and understanding.

Let's prove that America can stay great; let's all work together toward that goal.

WEDDINGS

Davis—Houston

Miss Alva Elizabeth Houston, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold T. Houston of Hidden road, became the bride of Lieutenant Richard Keith Davis, son of Mrs. Paul H. Vincent of Erie, Pa., at an impressive ceremony performed in the South Church at 4:30 on Saturday afternoon. Rev. Frederick B. Noss, pastor, officiated.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a classic white satin gown with a sweetheart neckline, gathered bodice and flowing train. A fingertip veil flowed from a tiara of seed pearls, and she carried an arm bouquet of white pom-poms and larkspur with a pale orchid centerpiece and a shower of stephanotis.

The maid of honor, Miss Nancy Colson of Methuen, wore a gown of dusty rose with gathered bodice of silk jersey and taffeta skirt under a moline overskirt. She carried an arm bouquet of blue delphinium and pale pink roses, and wore a halo of matching flowers. The two bridesmaids, Miss Nancy McIvor of Concord, N. H., and Miss Ruth Martin of Andover, wore matching gowns of robins egg blue identical to that worn by the maid of honor. Their arm bouquets were of Picardy gladioli and they wore halos of matching flowers. All three were classmates of the bride at Abbot Academy.

The bride's mother wore a gown of coral crepe with aqua accessories and a corsage of token roses. The bridegroom's mother wore a black and white crepe gown with black accessories and a corsage of American beauty roses.

The best man was Lieutenant D. W. Oberlin, U. S. N. R., brother-in-law of the bride, and the ushers were Lt. Commander Roger Smith, U. S. N., Lt. Paul Benson, U. S. N. R., Lt. Kenneth Cramps, U. S. N. R. and Lt. (j.g.) William Taylor, U. S. N. R.

The altar was beautifully decorated with gladioli, white pom-poms, candelabra, ferns and palms.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the Andover Country club with over 200 guests from New Jersey, Long Island, Erie, Pa., Boston, and local towns. The reception line formed in front of the fireplace, which was banked with evergreens and white flowers.

CAN'T SOMEONE HELP?

A good church in a good town to minister to—but nowhere to live!

Isn't there someone in Andover who has a 6 or 7-room house for rent so that the new Free Church minister and his family can take up their residence here? They are living in East Jaffrey now, but the new minister for that parish will soon move in, and even their furniture won't be able to stay there much longer.

Rev. Mr. Reynolds was appointed to the Free Church pastorate a few months ago, and his duties are about to begin. But try though he might, he can't find a place for himself, Mrs. Reynolds and their little son to live. So doesn't someone here in town have a place for some very desirable tenants, tenants who are coming here to carry on the Lord's work? Andover ought to be able to offer a home for people such as these.

If anyone has any thoughts on the subject, any hope to offer, will they please call Frank Buttrick at 842-M, Thomas Gorrie at 1757-W, or the Townsman editor at 1943 or 1120?

The bride graduated from Abbot Academy in 1944, and studied voice in New York City with Madame Helen Fouts Cahoon. She sang with a sextette on Broadway and on tour in "One Touch of Venus."

The groom received his degree at Sheffield Scientific school of Yale University. He has been in the Navy for nearly five years, and recently returned from two and a half years in the submarine service in the Pacific area, where he received the Silver star.

The couple are spending their honeymoon on Cape Cod.

Law—Crockett

Yeoman 3/c Helen M. Crockett, SPARS, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Crockett, 3 Brechin terrace, was united in marriage with Electrician's Mate Don B. Law, U. S. Navy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Law of Mason City, Iowa at a ceremony performed in the First United Presbyterian church of Lawrence on Saturday afternoon at 2:30. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Archibald L. MacMillan, pastor.

The bride and groom wore their navy blue service uniforms, and were attended by Private First Class Edward A. Fraize and his wife, Grace, sister of the bride, who wore a gown of dusky rose crepe and a black hat.

Following the ceremony a reception was held, after which the couple left for a wedding trip in the White Mountains.

Mrs. Law is stationed at the U. S. Coast Guard academy at New London, Conn., and has been in the SPARS for the past two years. She graduated from Pynchard High School with the class of 1941, and the Fisher Business school in Boston. Before entering the service she was employed at the Merrimack Mutual Insurance Company.

The bridegroom has been in the Navy for two and one half years, and has served 13 months in the Pacific theater. At present he is stationed at Portsmouth, N. H., awaiting orders for his submarine to return to sea.

Stocks—Goff

At a pretty ceremony performed at 6 o'clock Monday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Donald B. Laurie, 59 Whittier street, Miss Doris Eleanor Goff, daughter of Mrs. Antonia Goff of 3 Elm street became the bride of John R. Stocks, son of Mr. and Mrs. Asa Stocks of South Main street. The double ring ceremony was used, with Rev. John S. Moses, rector of Christ church officiating.

The bride wore a gown of white lace and net, with a gathered bodice of lace and full net skirt with finger-tip veil of illusion falling from a headdress to match the gown trimmed with orange blossoms. Her bouquet was of white roses.

Miss Margaret B. Laurie, intimate friend of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a gown of blue taffeta with a shirred bodice and full flare skirt. Her tiara and arm bouquet were of red roses. The best man was Staff Sergeant Robert E. Stocks, brother of the bridegroom.
