Final Paper Collection Will Be Held on Sunday

The Andover salvage committee will wind up its activities with a final paper collection on Sunday, September 16, starting at 1:00 p.m., regardless of the weather. This concludes all organized salvaging, but householders are urged to continue saving paper and fats. Market men will still pay for accumulated fat, while some method of picking up the paper will undoubtedly be continued until the stock-piles of pulp are increased. Tin cans should no longer be saved, however.

While a full financial report of the salvage committee will not be completed until October 15, the proceeds from salvage have been over $8000 up to September 1, distributed as follows:

285 tons Iron	$1995.00
363 tons Paper	5689.44
34 tons Tin cans	208.58
11 tons Rubber	110.00

This makes a total of 693 tons of salvage, amounting to $8003.02. The Andover Servicemen's fund received $6578.00 from the proceeds and the Home Service department of the Andover Red Cross received $1300.00.

The huge tonnage was handled by volunteers and included local truck owners, high school and junior high school boys, Phillips Academy students and faculty, town officials, and many citizens of the community.

Impressive Flag Raising Held at Local Schools

Patriotic flag raising exercises were held at the local schools on last Friday morning, with Superintendent of Schools Kenneth L. Sherman delivering an address to the students. Exercises were first held for the pupils of Punchard high school, the Junior high school and the central grade schools, with a group of parents and friends attending.

The Punchard Girls' Band gave several selections and played the National Anthem as the colors were raised. Exercises were then held at St. Augustine's parochial school, the Bradlee school in Ballardvale, the Indian Ridge school and the Shawsheen school, those participating being transported in the school bus.

TAKES TRAIN RIDE

Local police were called to the railroad station shortly before 6 p. m. last Friday evening to take charge of a small boy who had boarded a train at Charlestown to "take a train ride."

George DiStasio, eight, was put off the train by the conductor and turned over to the agent in the local station. Boston police were notified, and the boy's mother arrived to take him home.

Rev. Elton Smith, Baptist Church Pastor, Resigns

Rev. Elton E. Smith, who has been the pastor of the Baptist church for the past five years, submitted his resignation as pastor at the morning service on Sunday. He has accepted a call to the pastorate of the First Baptist church in McMinnville, Oregon, where he preached on August 30 while visiting on the west coast.

In his letter of resignation, Mr. Smith states: "Our first feeling was one of mingled joy and sadness. Joy that God had opened the way to wider fields of service, and sadness at the thought of a farewell to the dear and good folk of Andover. Be sure that this, our first church, will ever be kept in heart and mind, grateful for your patience, kindness and industry as you have worked with your youthful pastor."

He plans to leave around the end of September, so that he may assume his new duties October 1.

She was treated for a laceration at the Lawrence General hospital, and was discharged after X-rays disclosed no fracture.

More than 70% of the folks who have applied for telephone service agree they should be waiting their turn until facilities become available, but quite a few of these also think other applicants are getting service out of turn. That's what they told us when we sampled their opinions about the lack of service.

The truth is that every care is taken to see that none is served out of turn. All applications are filled impartially according to a long-standing plan, which is fair to all under existing circumstances.

We'd like to review the facts with any who think others were served ahead of turn. We think it's important, not just for our sake, but to relieve them of any sense of injustice they may have.

The Service Representatives at our business offices will be glad to explain in full the plan under which new service is made available, and to demonstrate that we regard all as friends and none as favorites.

News Of Our Men And Women In Uniform

For distinguishing himself by meritorious service during the period from August 5, 1944, to October 30, 1944, Sergeant William S. Morrissey, 7 Temple street, has been awarded the Bronze Star medal. Sgt. Morrissey operated in the capacity of squad leader in a courageous and superior manner. The high degree of morale and attention to duty he showed at all times was an inspiration to all members of his squad. On one occasion when the company was in support of the 5th Infantry division, his squad had the mission of clearing mines on an MSR leading to a treading bridge. The road was under direct enemy observation and frequent sniper fire. Together with his demolition man, with utter disregard for his personal safety and thinking only of the mission on hand, Sgt. Morrissey crawled four times out into the road to find and destroy the mines. A total of 16 mines were removed, thus making the road safe for future travel. By virtue of Sgt. Morrissey's outstanding heroism, tireless initiative and courageous actions under enemy fire, the mission was brought to a successful completion. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Morrissey, and has three brothers in the service, PFC Walter J. Morrissey, who was with the First Marines at Guadalcanal, now at Guam; S 1/c James J. Morrissey; and HA 2/c Edward J. Morrissey, now on the west coast. Sgt. Morrissey is a graduate of Punchard High school, where he was co-captain of the football team. Before entering the service in March, 1943, he was employed at the Tyer Rubber company.

The Distinguished Flying Cross was presented at sea recently to Lieut. Comdr. Elwood N. Chase, 11, USN, whose home, with his wife and two daughters, is at 120 Chestnut street. His father, Mr. Garfield S. Chase, lives at 13 Canterbury street. Lieut. Comdr. Chase, commander of a Mariner Patrol squadron with the famed Fleet Air Wing One in the Ryukyus, is a graduate of Brown University, where he was active in hockey. The decoration was awarded to Lieut. Comdr. Chase "for distinguishing himself by heroism and extraordinary achievement while participating in an aerial flight as leader of a two-plane armed reconnaissance along the southern coast of Korea on May 11, 1945." On that occasion he coordinated two low level strafing and bombing runs on Japanese shipping. Despite heavy fire from the vessels, three were sunk and a fourth left furiously burning.

Captain John W. Anderson, 11 Walnut avenue, has been transferred from Seymour Johnson field, North Carolina, to the Separation Center at Fort Devens, preparatory to being honorably discharged from the Army Air Forces. Capt. Anderson, who entered the service in October, 1940, is a veteran of 108 combat missions as a fighter pilot in the Mediterranean theater. A member of the 523rd Fighter Squadron while overseas, he holds the Distinguished Flying Cross, the Air Medal with six oak leaf clusters and the Distinguished Unit badge. He wears six battle participation stars on his campaign ribbon.

The promotion of Warren L. Richardson, formerly of 49 Elm street, to the rank of captain has been announced by the United States Army Forces in Manila. In addition to his promotion, Capt. Richardson has been awarded the Bronze Star medal for meritorious achievement as a public relations officer. He rendered valuable service to war correspondents in that area, and helped convey a true picture of the contribution of the Army Service Forces to the defeat of Japan. He enlisted in the Army in July, 1940, after graduation from Punchard High school, where he was class president for three years. He became a recruiting sergeant at the Boston Army Base, then transferred to the Signal Corps at Fort Monmouth, New Jersey, where he was promoted to the grade of staff sergeant. He entered the officers' training school at Fort Benning, Georgia, and was commissioned as a second lieutenant in December, 1942. He went overseas in July, 1943, as a heavy machine-gun platoon leader. He was wounded in the D-Day invasion at Luzon and received the Purple Heart. He now makes his home in Washington, and is on orders to return to this country.

Sgt. Thomas P. Eldred, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh A. Eldred, 22 Washington avenue, has returned home, after serving 21 months in England with the Army Air Forces. He was inducted into the service in July, 1942, and received his basic training at Miami Beach, Florida. He then went to Lowry Field, Denver, Colorado, and later attended a gunnery school at Boise, Idaho. He went overseas in December, 1943, and landed in Scotland. While in England he was with a fighter repair unit. He left for home on a Liberty ship on August 15, and arrived in New York on August 30. On October 5 he will report at Macon, Georgia.

A veteran of 36 months aboard the carrier USS Enterprise, Lieutenant Commander John U. Monro, USNR, 105 Chestnut street, was named first lieutenant six months ago and has directed the fighting of fires and explosions resulting from two suicide plane crashes into the famed "Big E." He is the husband of Dorothy S. Monro, and has two children, Ann, age six, and Janet, age three. He graduated from Harvard college in 1934. In recalling the action of the past six months, the officer said, "In those few months the Enterprise has been hit by Kamikaze planes twice, damaged by a typhoon, hit by a dud bomb, and set afire by crossfire from our own ships. It's been a hectic period." When a Kamikaze streaked out of a low cloud bank off Okinawa in May, 1945, and crashed through the forward elevator of the carrier, the Enterprise was serving as a flagship. The explosion sent the platform soaring to an estimated 400 feet over the carrier, started raging fires on the flight and hangar decks and set off ammunition explosions in the gun galleries. Heroism and efficiency were commonplace among the fire fighting crews. Under Lt. Comdr. Monro's direction, the fires and explosions were brought under control in 17 minutes and completely extinguished within a half hour. Refusing credit for himself, the first lieutenant explained that he directs the damage control work from a "comparatively safe" position known as "Central Station" situated deep in the carrier. The Enterprise has participated in every major action in the Pacific except the Battle of the Coral Sea, and has been hit often. The ship is now at the Navy Yard in Bremerton, Washington, undergoing repairs.

While in service, he served at Wood's End Lifeboat Station, aboard the CGC Kickapoo, at New London, Conn., and Alameda, Cal.

"That man's here again, Uncle Joe...!"

"That man" is no casual visitor to the Hood producer's farm; he's a Field Man—an important part of Hood's "Country Control."

The farms are inspected regularly of course, but if at any time—for any reason—the milk should fall below Hood standards for purity and richness, it is discovered at once at the Hood laboratory and a "field man" is sent to find out why.

This "field man" is an expert. His painstaking inspection of the Hood producer's farm and equipment always results in immediate correction of whatever's wrong. Hood's reputation for consistently high quality milk is too good to take chances with!

They Were Loyal

How many persons are going to remember the business lessons they've learned during the passing war?

Lots of people have found that in general the local people doing business right here in this neighborhood were the best ones to deal with. Few of them became independent, as many of the larger out-of-town outfits did. Most of them remained just as they had been, friendly, courteous, willing and eager to try to be of assistance to the best of their ability. They were neighbors, ordinary people like us, interested in us and interested in our town. And they did their very best to help, even when conditions were pretty bad, even when it would have been easier to just say, "No."

There'll be problems when things get more nearly normal. Every store, big or large, in town or out of town, will be clamoring for your patronage. But remember the war days; remember that the fellows that really tried to help you out were your own friends, your own neighbors, your own fellow-citizens right here in Andover.

We could have a mighty fine town, a thriving, prosperous town if we all helped each other.

This Sober Town

It was one of those afternoons when a hundred details are clamoring for attention and you're wondering how in the dickens you can get out all the jobs on time.

But there he stood, with a somewhat carefully preserved felt hat atop a head that bore a fairly good set of teeth — on the starboard side only. He had made the trek down from Concord, N. H., with his little brief case, a cut of Squam Lake and a poem about the same spot. The two he wanted us to put together and print up 500 copies on card stock.

We told him the price, and he said, "Okay, I'll wait for them." We made a fairly quick recovery, pointed at a card index of jobs-in-process and said, "Well, gee — all these people were ahead of you. Printing shops don't print while you wait these days."

But he had come down from Concord especially, it seems, and he didn't want to go back without them. It was a situation that called for compromise, and so we said: "Tomorrow morning, about 11?"

AMERICAN HEROES

by WOODY COWAN

BUYING War Bonds to support such men as Sgt. Walter D. Ehlers is little enough. Acting as spearhead against an enemy strongpoint, he killed four in a Nazi patrol, put a gun crew out of action and put to flight a mortar section. Again he advanced on a machine gun and knocked out its crew single-handed. All that he did while machine gun bullets and mortar fire poured upon him and his men.

U. S. Treasury Department

That was all right with him; he'd stay in town over night.

Being busy, though, we should have done the job right away — for then he would have been back on his way to Concord post haste instead of his deciding we might like to hear some of his other poems which had the merit of being homely enough to outweigh the lack of meter, et al. But golly, these days you can't spend an afternoon listening to poems about Winnepesaukee (obviously rhymes with rocky and hockey) or hearing how a fellow now past 80 used to be one of the best dash men in Carroll County. Interesting, of course, but you've still got the problem of how to get 20 men's work done with ten men available. He just had to recite the poem about the source of the Merrimack — the geographers say it's in the White Mountains, but actually it's more definitely in Franklin behind Ab somebody-or-else's barn. The poem was as long as the river but fortunately he had forgotten part of it.

Finally he did ask if there was an Odd Fellows meeting or a Grange meeting that he could spend the evening at — there wasn't, but we made the mistake of mentioning the movies. Seems he had written a poem about the movies. Somehow we extricated ourselves and got back to today's abnormal normalcy.

The next morning he showed up at 8:30, and was about to ensconce himself in the chair beside our desk. We had a 36-page magazine to dummy up for the State Teachers' Federation, and so we managed to unensconce him and got him into another office, where he promptly proceeded to fall asleep, probably thinking of his poems. An hour later, with the job under his arm, he was off for Concord and Squam Lake, where the natives will soon be buying a copy of what he himself admits is one of the best gol-durned poems ever writ about Squam Lake.

Gillespie's Request for Reinstatement is Refused

The selectmen have notified David Gillespie, former police officer, that in view of the fact that they accepted his resignation last month in good faith, they see no reason for changing their views now. A letter presenting these facts was sent to the ex-officer, who had appeared before the board Monday night and requested reinstatement in the department. He asked that they consider that his resignation had never been presented.

Gillespie's resignation was accepted on August 8, the day after a hearing had been scheduled on an investigation of injuries received by him in Lawrence on July 27.

PUNCHARD FOOTBALL TEAM SHOWS PROMISE

The Punchard football team had its first real workout of the season Wednesday afternoon, with Coach McKiniry putting Teams A and B through a scrimmage session. Team A was in good form, and showed flashes of good ball carrying and blocking for such an early date.

Owen Hinckley, assistant to McKiniry, gave Team C a workout on plays. Helmets were used for the first time in this season, and contact work will undoubtedly be continued throughout the week.

Punchard will play Concord high at Andover a week from Saturday.

ENTERS HOSPITAL

Jacqueline Driggs, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leroy R. Driggs of 8 Hartigan court, left on Tuesday to begin her training at the Melrose hospital school of nursing.

Miss Driggs graduated from Punchard high school last June. She played in the school orchestra, and sang in the girls' glee club. She was a member of the Girl Reserves and the Junior Courteous circle of The King's Daughters of the South church.

The machine was stolen when Thomas Noyes, Balmoral street, left the keys in it while he went into the Shawshen Village post office.

Look out for leaky roofs!

When you're buying a home, regard the roof! See if all shingles are in place and in good condition. Then look inside the house for water stains in the attic, on ceilings, and walls. They betray a leaky roof. Take a good look at the ridgepole, too; if it sags, that means faulty foundations or framework.

Don't buy recklessly. Have your realtor show you a number of houses, then consult this bank. It has been established for generations; its officers have a lifetime knowledge of property values. They'll tell you how you can buy your home at low carrying costs, with a mortgage specially suited to your circumstances.

LIBRARY NOTES

Recent additions to the library include the following books which may be reserved at any time:

The Pool Burnet

Of the same mystical quality as "The Snow Goose" and "Miracle in the Rain," this slight book has passages of great beauty as it recaptures for a dying soldier a beautiful experience.

So Well Remembered Hilton

A story of conflict and the constant danger of tragedy for Olivia, whose life was distorted by the memory of an injustice. James Hilton was the author of the well-known "Random Harvest."

There Was a Lady Litsey

The arrival of Cammy Renshaw changed the thoughts and deeds of the entire community until the swift about-face which left her isolated and unwanted. Fine feeling for the color of a small town in the south, and good character drawing.

Three Men in New Suits Priestley

After the harrowing years of war three discharged soldiers returned to their homes in England to find their worlds not those for which they had fought. With true soldier spirit, they set about to fight for the things they did want.

She Never Reached the Top Lobaugh

When the beautiful week-end guest insisted on sleeping on the unfinished third floor, she set the stage for horror and tragedy.

Bedelia Caspary

Exciting story of the lovable little bride who is as ruthless as she is fascinating. The author wrote the now famous "Laura."

It's a Free Country Williams

An unhappy, frightening story of the consequence of poverty and illness as two young people find themselves caught in a round of misfortune.

This Is Where I Came In Casey

A stirring record of four years of war, covering the Pacific, Africa, Italy, life on a convoy and D-Day. The author has been awarded an honor medal for distinguished service in journalism from the University of Missouri. "Torpedo Junction" was another of his splendid war books.

Son of the Wilderness Wolfe

Excellent biography of John Muir, the great naturalist, who was also one of the ardent advocates of conservation.

Marta of Muscovy Stong
Humorous study of the life of Catherine I of Russia and her influence on the court and on Peter the Great.

A Star Danced Lawrence
Personal memories of the famous Gertrude Lawrence, English actress. Exciting and thrilling as she recounts her part in the war.

Against These Three Cloete
Cecil Rhodes, Paul Kruger and Lobengula, king of the Matabele, all fought for Africa for highly different reasons — Rhodes for Britain, Kruger for the Boers, and the native for his people. Cloete is well informed on things African, having farmed there for fifteen years after varied experiences on the continent.

Pattern of Soviet Russia Snow

The author of "People on Our Side" has outlined the plan of Russia, as he sees it, for dealing with the conquered countries. He stresses Russia's need of friendly neighbors and for an understanding and cooperative United States.

The Church School will hold its first sessions after the summer vacation, with all departments meeting as usual. The Church Kindergarten under the leadership of Miss Constance Cole will meet Sunday at 10:45. Pre-Primary age children are welcome in this group. They will be taken care of and have a program of interest for their age while their parents attend the morning service. The Primary department will meet at 9:30, beginning a new year of activity under the leadership of Mrs. Eugene Lovely, assisted by Mrs. P. B. Whittemore and Mrs. Harold Harshaw. Children in the first through the fourth grades in school are welcomed in this department. The Junior Church will meet at 9:30 also, and will start with a much enlarged enrollment. The plan for the program which seems especially adapted to children in the fifth through the ninth grades will be as last
