What Is It? What's More Important - WHY Is It?

This is Hell. No, it's not twentieth century surrealism; it's fifteenth century depiction of the underworld where sinners are being punished in varying ways. Comments of visitors to the Addison Gallery where a number of such paintings are in the current exhibit are also varied, some people wondering why a painter would spend his time punishing the people who see the picture, others like the critic who wrote the article below seeing in it a "world of the spirit and the imagination, of faith and fantasy." But like it or not, you'll look at it, and look at it again, and will find it interesting at least.

An exhibition entitled "Other Worlds" and originated by Maynard Walker at the American-British Art center in New York is now on exhibit at the Addison Gallery. It is a collection of dreams and visions from the imaginations of artists of the fifteenth century to the present, pictures of pagan legend and contemporary surrealism, of supernatural illusion and ancient dreams of life after death.

From the latter group is the "Vision of Tondalys" by Hieronymus Bosch, a fifteenth century Dutch painter who illustrates the trip of a young knight through the underworld. Before him are spread groups of sinners being punished in a very specific fashion for their sins committed on earth. The glutton is fed live toads, the miser is smothered in a bag of gold, the gambler eternally vomits dice. It is a very realistic hell, a very precise conception born of an active and humorous imagination.

In contrast is a tumultuous painting of war, a hell-on-earth by George Grosz, in which half a dozen old men, torn and weighed down with the burdens of modern warfare, stumble through stagnant pools infested with rats towards a city in burning ruins.

A legend of Mary Magdalen adrift on the Mediterranean sea, a seventeenth century Hallowe'en, skyscrapers crashing in a twentieth-century nightmare, are further subjects for other pictures in the group. They all in one way or another remind the spectator that beyond this world in which we struggle there are other worlds of the spirit and the imagination, of faith and of fantasy which the poets and artists and musicians can so easily bring to those who have the eyes and ears to see and listen. The exhibition will be at the gallery until November 26, and the gallery is open daily from nine until five, and on Sundays from two-thirty to five.

AN IMPORTANT DATE FOR
THOUSANDS OF ARMY VETERANS
NOW IN CIVILIAN LIFE

Between now and November 21, thousands of Army veterans will reenlist in Uncle Sam's new volunteer peacetime Army. Because — men who have been discharged between May 12 and November 1 of this year and reenlist on or before November 21 will be able to return to the Army with the same grade as they held when discharged.

Men with six months of satisfactory service discharged as privates will, on reenlistment before November 21, be given the grade of private first class.

Men now in the Army who apply for discharge after NOVEMBER 1 for the purpose of reenlisting in the Regular Army will also retain their present grades, if they enlist within 20 days after discharge and before FEBRUARY 1, 1946.

"BEST JOB IN THE WORLD"

These special privileges are typical of the new law recently passed by Congress. Few opportunities for a lifetime career offer as many attractive advantages.

Can you think of any other job that would give you good pay, your food, clothing, quarters, free medical and dental care, world-wide travel, 30 days' furlough every year, education and training in any of nearly 200 skills or trades, and enable you to retire with a life income any time after 20 years' service?

There isn't any! That's why a job in the Regular Army has been called "The Best Job in the World."

HIGHLIGHTS OF THE NEW ENLISTMENT PROGRAM

1. Enlistments for 1½, 2 or 3 years. (1-year enlistments permitted for men with 6 months' service.)
2. Men reenlisting retain their present grades, if they reenlist within 20 days after discharge and before Feb. 1, 1946. The same applies to men discharged between May 12 and Nov. 1, 1945, who reenlist before Nov. 21, 1945.
3. An increase in the reenlistment bonus to $50 for each year of active service since the bonus was last paid, or since last entry into service.
4. 20% extra pay when overseas.
5. Paid furlough, up to 90 days, depending on length of service, with furlough travel paid to home and return, for men now in the Army who enlist.
6. Mustering-out pay (based upon length of service) to all men who are discharged to reenlist.
7. Option to retire at half pay for the rest of your life after 20 years' service — or three-quarters pay after 30 years. (Retirement income in grade of Master or First Sergeant up to $155.25 per month for life.) All previous active federal military service counts toward retirement.
8. Benefits of GI Bill of Rights.
9. Family allowances for the term of enlistment for dependents of men who enlist or reenlist before July 1, 1946.
10. Choice of branch of service and overseas theater in Air, Ground or Service Forces on 3-year enlistments.

General Gage Addresses Open Meeting Of Andover Square and Compass Club

The Andover Square and Compass club met last Thursday evening, with Brigadier General Philip S. Gage, commanding general of the Boston Harbor defenses, as the guest speaker. He was introduced by William H. Jaquith, 2nd, chairman of the entertainment committee. The meeting was held in Masonic hall, and members of the Andover Service club and St. Matthew's lodge, A. F. and A. M., were guests of the Square and Compass club.

General Gage explained the problems involved in his department and pointed out that in the future the harbor defenses will be a necessity to occupy territory even though there are atomic bombs and other inventions.

General Gage also spoke of the submarine mine powerful enough to break the back of the largest battleships and forceful enough to throw a column of water 200 feet in the air. He also spoke of the submarine nets and gates installed by the Navy.

The general said that we were most fortunate in having experimental laboratories of M. I. T. and Harvard so close to the bases of operation and he said that they had accomplished a great deal in the line of radar and electronics. He spoke of the great fear in the early days of the war that there might be an invasion along the coast, with the result that 16-inch guns were installed at interlocking intervals from Maine to Florida, with more numerous smaller guns running in range from six-inch guns to machine guns. He said that Boston harbor had more 16-inch guns than any other place, including New York.

General Gage had great praise for the men of the beach patrols. Many of them, he said, were on foot all night every night for a month at a time in all kinds of weather and often with only one hot meal a day. He said they never knew when they might be set upon by an enemy, and that he himself had proposed a ribbon which might be awarded to them for their great service. He also paid a fine tribute to the dogs which worked with these men. In closing, he advised that this country must keep abreast of the developments in research, and among other things, maintain an intelligence service of the highest type. He said that the country should get down to work again and "snap out of the internal troubles, else we may not be able to defend ourselves again."

After the meeting the men adjourned to the Andover Square and Compass club house for a social hour and refreshments.

Dancer Entertains Shawsheen Women

A most enjoyable meeting of the Shawsheen Village Woman's club was held Monday night at Shawsheen school hall.

Russell Curry, that talented young man endowed with a nice smile, looks, fine personality and plenty of vitality, discussed "There's Rhythm in Your Bones."

He introduced as his dancing partner his first teacher and best friend, his mother, who, for her own charming and graceful self, came in for her full share of appreciation from the audience.

Mr. Curry discussed the Do's and Don'ts on the dance floor, and the etiquette of ballroom dancing. In regard to this, he gave a four-word motto, to pass on to growing daughters, and worthy of remembrance: beauty attracts, graciousness detains.

Mr. Joseph A. McCarthy, president of the Andover Taxpayers' association, spoke for ten minutes on "Are You Getting Your Money's Worth?" The association has been in existence approximately thirty years, has had many ups and downs, but always aiming toward their goal, the goal or purpose being to see that the money appropriated to Andover is well and wisely spent, and not to cut taxes primarily.

Miss Joan O'Donnell, talented young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. O'Donnell, played three piano selections.

The tea table was tastefully decorated with a lace cloth and fall centerpiece. Refreshments were served by Mrs. G. Edgar Best and her committee.

The dramatic club will meet with Mrs. T. E. Andrew, 14 Riverina road, November 16, at 2:00 p. m.

the awards committee, presented Miss Bessie Goldsmith, chairman of our conservation committee, a certificate bearing the seal of the Garden Club Federation of Massachusetts, in recognition and appreciation of her distinguished service in furthering the purpose of the federation in its conservation work.

Miss Goldsmith has been very active in the Andover Garden club since it was organized in 1927, serving as president from 1936 to 1938, and as a member of the governing board many years.

Morning coffee was served.

The Andover Grange will meet Tuesday evening, November 13, in Grange hall at 8:00. Election of officers will be held, and a full attendance is desired.

NOVEMBER CLUB

The art department will hold its first meeting next Monday, November 12, at 3:00 p. m. at the home of Mrs. John Bond, 28 Phillips street.

Square and Compass Club — A meeting will be held on Friday evening, November 9, at 7:45. The guest speaker will be Mr. C. K. Hill, a prisoner of war in a Japanese prison camp for twenty-two months, who will relate his experiences. All Masons are cordially invited.

Shawsheen P. T. A. — The next meeting will be on Wednesday, November 14, at the Shawsheen school hall, with Rev. Clinton Carvell, pastor of the Trinitarian Congregational church of North Andover, as the speaker. A record attendance is expected at this meeting.

The school rooms will be open for inspection from 7:30 to 8:00 p. m., when the parents may also interview the teachers. The meeting will start at 8:00 o'clock. A banner will be awarded the room recording the largest attendance. Refreshments will be served after the meeting.

NOVEMBER

When the harvesting is over
And the fallen leaves are gone
And through the square, the race track traffic
Rushes on and on.
Then we know that it's November
Not because Thanksgiving's near
Or because in all the stores we see
The Christmas cards appear;
Not because it's football season
Or there's frost upon the lawn
But because the race track traffic
Rushes on and on and on.

Free Church To Mark Tercentenary Of Society Founding

The Free Christian church will celebrate its 100th anniversary in May, 1946, but the first event in its centennial program will take place Free Christian Society of Andover, Thursday, November 29, to commemorate the formation of the which preceded the founding of the actual church in May, 1846. The speaker at the November 29 service will be Miss Mira B. Wilson, principal of the Northfield School for Girls, and daughter of Dr. F. A. Wilson, former pastor of the church.

The committee in charge of the centennial observance consists of Miss Alice Bell, chairman; Mrs. Annie Angus, Mr. David Coutts, Mr. Alfred Lombard and Mr. David May. The townspeople are cordially invited to participate in all of the anniversary events, and are urged to attend this initial service on November 29.

The founding of the Free Christian church is of considerable historical interest. The evil of slavery in our own country so aroused a small group of Andover people that they began to meet in different homes on Sundays. Although affiliated with other churches in town, they were anxious to avoid ill feeling and felt the urge to form a new church to give freer expression to their principles. Accordingly, on November 29, 1845, a duly authorized meeting was called at the home of Thomas Clark on Central street for the purpose of organizing a religious society by the name of "The Free Christian Society of Andover." A committee was appointed to secure a place of worship and another to secure a minister. They soon rented the Universalist church, which stood on the corner of Main street and Punchedard avenue, and obtained Rev. Elijah Winchester for their first pastor. Under his leadership plans went on for the organization of a church, which took place on May 7, 1846, with forty-four charter members of like sympathies drawn from Andover, Haverhill, Fitchburg and Boston. 1946 will mark the 100th anniversary of this righteous enterprise, and November 29, 1945, the centennial of its first step.

Rev. Mr. Reynolds Installed As Pastor

On Tuesday evening, in the Free Christian church, a service of installation took place for Rev. J. Levering Reynolds, Jr., who was called as pastor for the church last July, after the resignation of Rev. Frank E. Dunn. The service, which installed Rev. Reynolds as pastor and teacher, began at 7:30 p. m.

The sermon was delivered by Rev. James L. King of Lowell, one of a group of eight ministers from Massachusetts who participated in the impressive services.

The ministers who took part are as follows: Rev. LeRoy G. Allen, pastor of the Pawtucket Congregational church, Lowell, Mass.; Rev. Robert G. Armstrong, of Concord, N. H., minister of the New Hampshire Congregational-Christian conference; Rev. Clinton W. Carvell, pastor of the Trinitarian Congregational church of North Andover, Mass.; Rev. J. Harold Dale, pastor of the First Congregational church, Billerica, Mass.; Rev. James L. King, pastor of the First Congregational church, Lowell, Mass.; Rev. J. Whitney MacNeil, pastor of the Eliot Union Congregational church, Lowell, Mass.; Rev. Frederick B. Noss, pastor of the South Congregational church, Andover, Mass.; Rev. Ralph M. Timberlake of Boston, Mass., president of the Massachusetts Congregational conference and Missionary society.

Art Conquers Main Street

(Ed. Note—Dirk van der Stucken of the Phillips Academy faculty went for a walk the other day on Main street; so did a lot of other people, but Dirk sat down and wrote what he thought. How do your views jibe with his?)

Art has conquered Main street; it has broken out of its fortresses in the big cities and has overflowed our town; we see it everywhere, fraternizing with cloaks, dairy products, and notions—and the overall impression is so gay, so pleasant, that one might wish it were permanent instead of a hebdomadad* exhibition.

Our local talent has turned out en masse. Their numbers seem to have increased over last year, and, most gratifyingly, there are few repeats in the work exhibited. The great fight in the outer world between modern and academic technique has not had any devastating effect on our artists: to be sure, they present their subject matter as they see it, but most of them seem to see the world as it appears to us. There is a refreshing absence of double-headed roosters and green ladies with seven fingers and fantastic anatomies.

As usual, the overwhelming majority of the exhibits is divided between the categories of portraits and landscapes. Of the former, there are many excellent examples. Harry Sutton presents his well-known vigorous male heads (again, I am sorry to say, too close to the beholder), and his portrait of Mrs. F. is a fine example of sure technique and fine coloring. His way of combining an individual treatment with perfect likeness is a rare coalition nowadays.

Frances Dalton exhibits many good children's pictures, the best being one termed "Polly." A group, "After the Equinox," shows a curious Theotokopoullian elongation, strange in her work, but quite interesting. It is regrettable that she has not exhibited any of her crayon sketches, in which she excels.

Of Abbott Cheever's work, a male head which impresses by its strength and compactness outshines his other sketches. Good colour is evident in D. Sanborn's "Woman of the Azores" and Ethel Farrington's three portraits; S. Sorota's girl's head, gracefully Nordic, shows a nice freshness of tones. Hilda Wylie's and Alice Bell's portraits are pleasant and unproblematic; of M. Emmon's heads, the slightly psychological treatment of her "Boy's Head" contrasts strangely with the purely likeness-attempting style of her two sketches of women.

The only portraits with a definitely modern touch are Maud Morgan's "Servant Girl," which is interesting both in treatment and colour, and Goriensky's "Alexander," where a fairly academic figure is painted against a symbolic background.

Of landscapes there is such a landslide that it is difficult to treat them except in groups. There are the impressionistic ones (Sutton's winterscape), the ones that convey an idea (the rich loneliness of Coon's "Church" and the desolate loneliness of his "Empty Beach"; the quiet protest of Dorothy Sanborn's "Alley"), and the architectural ones (McClellan's school-buildings, and others). The classic-reminiscent ones (Farrington's landscape with the Poussin touch) alternate with the ones where un-mixed and unshaded colours prevail (Eleanor Oberlin, Miriam Carpenter) and with the miniature-picture postcard treatment (Tewksbury and Bodwell). Alma Paradise's views are unpretentious and pleasing, as are Margery Jones' and Ed Walen's land and seascapes. Alice Waterston has developed a kind of frame-within-a-frame technique, which adds greatly to some of her work. The pen-and-ink drawing is represented only by one sketch of a pond, well done, by Claire Hayes. Cornelius Wood's two offerings stand out against their rich green velvet background. Wayne Grover's many and varied exhibits show strength and tasteful treatment of subject matter.

Besides these, the other subjects of painting are comparatively few. The purely modern and the abstract are splendidly represented by the Morgans; Pat Morgan's abstractions are extremely pleasing to the eye, and do not appear to hide behind a mass of symbolism, while, on the other hand, his "Lady Slippers" reminds one involuntarily of strongly-coloured inhibitions growing out of the rich subsoil of the mind. His ornithological specimens are realistically drawn and put down with loving care. Maud Morgan's offerings, the "Shed," the "Table" and an abstraction, all are strictly modern in conception and original in execution, a treat for the cognoscenti.

The religious is treated only by Lev Goriensky, easily the most versatile of the exhibitors. The slave-byzantine technique is beautifully modernized in the striking "Head of Christ" looking down mournfully on the struggles of humanity, in the "Three Angels," the "St. George," and the "St. Paul," while the slightly disquieting seven-eyed Lamb of the Apocalypse harks back to other sources. All of them are most unusual and treated with great strength. Equally fine is his romantic view of Venice, a bit less so the Tower of Babel. The massive Cathedral of Burgos, on the other hand, speaks for itself. He is also responsible for the only bit of satire exhibited, the well-done and highly amusing "Victory Celebration."

The one still-life of the exhibition, C. T. Knox's "Earthenware," quite academic, pleases greatly by the fine gloss of its pots and plates, which gives you the feeling that you are actually touching them.

An amusing addition from outside, of which one is not quite sure why it was included, is the poster of a pink lady playing with a kind of torpedo. I am afraid it is not very impressive, even as propaganda, for while the sleek person involved is supposed to be a kind of Matahari trying to bring on a third world war, she unfortunately can not deny her relationship with the "Won't you have a bit of Cheezo" dairymaids of the more popular English advertisements.

On the whole, a lot of good work, which makes us eager to have another show next November.

Quality Is Our Business

Forty-five years ago the business was established in Lawrence by Charles Weiner who had an unshakable faith in quality. Even in times like these—Weiner's carries on the tradition of its founder . . . Quality is still our business. To want the most for your money is an old New England custom, and to get the most for yours means buying quality. That's why it's nice to know that Weiner's label is still your safeguard when buying furs.

Of Things Educational . . . .

Open House Marks Educational Week

In observance of American Education week, November 12 the Andover Parent-Teacher association is sponsoring open house in the schools.

The Stowe and Jackson schools will be open for general visitation by the parents and friends of the school on Tuesday evening, November 13, at 7:30 o'clock. Parents are requested to meet in the Stowe auditorium, where they will be given a short talk by Miss Catherine M. Barrett, principal. They are then invited to visit their children's class room to meet the teachers and also to see the work on display.

The Punchard high and Junior high schools will be open Wednesday evening, November 14, at 7:30 o'clock. Parents and friends are asked to go to their child's home room, where they will receive a duplicate card by which to follow a day's program. They will have an opportunity to meet the teachers in their respective class rooms, and can discuss the work and any problems they might have. The parents will then go to the cafeteria, where they will be greeted by Mrs. Bevington, who is in charge, and her co-workers. Refreshments will then be served.

Fall Field Day at Abbot Saturday

Fall field day at Abbot Academy will take place on Saturday, November 10. The program begins at 10:30 with the traditional team meetings and campus parade composed of the teams and the cheering sections under the opposing banners of the Gargoyles and the Griffins. Competitive games follow immediately on the sports field. The program is as follows: archery contest and hockey game at 11:00. Tennis at 1:45 p. m., and basketball immediately following the tennis. Athletic awards will be made on Saturday evening in Davis hall.

Playing on the hockey team for the Gargoyles will be: Mavis Twomey, rw; Georgia Lee Mills, ri; Ellen Brumbach, cf; Katherine Johnson, li; Patricia Gillen, lw; Patricia Bowne, rh; Barbara Graf, ch; Eleanor Wallis, lh; Hope Whitcomb, rf; Nancy Dimmitt, lf; Patricia Hogan, g; subs, Harriet Sears and Barbara Dean. Playing for the Griffins will be: Ann Sarolea, rw; Jenny Copeland, ri; Lois Derby, cf; Louise Howe, li; Jean Ritchey, lw; Nancy Barnard, rh; Virginia Finney, ch; Lucy Dee Chivers, lh; Christine von Gerben, rf; Gail Sullivan, lf; Nancy Hellweg, g; subs, Barbara French, Sylvia Lyford and Ann Aulls.

Playing on the basketball team for the Gargoyles will be: Sally Lunt, Ann Clemens, Mary Blair Zuckerman, Ann Flowers, Joanna Campbell, Elsa Hinchman and Greta Leinbach. On the Griffin basketball team will be: Barbara Goddard, Carolyn England, Sally Allen, Joyce Huntington, Dorothy King and Susanne Robbins.

The field day program is under the direction of Miss Oril Hunt and Miss Katherine Macdonald of the physical education department, assisted by Miss Nancy Hellweg, student president of the Abbot Athletic association. The Abbot Athletic association extends a cordial invitation to the public to be present at any or all of these events.

VESPERS

On Sunday evening the vespers service will be conducted by the Reverend Theodore P. Ferris, D.D., rector of Trinity church, Boston.

Service Club Very Active at Punc

The Service club is the largest organization at Punc, and has several branches. The Library club, for example, although an independent organization with its own officers and insignia, is considered part of the Service club. It would be difficult to define the activities of the Service club, for it has no discriminating rules or requirements for admission. In a word, it is exactly what the name intimates, a club devoted to giving services for the school, faculty and student body. Meetings of the Service club are held only occasionally as the need arises.

Here are some of the duties of the Service club: traffic officers, student librarians, cafeteria workers, information desk attendants, who

There are many conditions to be fulfilled before a member is awarded his letter. He must be a Senior. Each individual service is worth a point or a fraction of a point for total credits. The way in which the services were accomplished and the number of years given to the club are also considered. When a member is awarded his letter in his Senior year he has truly won it.

The Varsity club, also a part of the Service club, constitutes the cheerleaders, a very necessary addition at the games. Led by Dorothy Valentine, a Senior, the remainder of the group is composed of Barbara Munroe, Carolyn Maylum, Seniors; Shirley Smith, Jean Ballantyne, Catherine Craig, Juniors; Mary Cartier and Elaine Matton, Sophomores.

The parent organization of all those activated, however, is the Student Council. The executive branch, as it may be called, makes decisions, discusses school problems and looks out for the general welfare of the school, thus making Punc an efficient school of democracy where students take an active part in the school activities.

SENIOR PICTURES

The Seniors' pictures were taken Wednesday and Thursday of this week by Waid Studio of Boston. As in past years, a studio was set up at the school for the convenience of the pupil and the school administration. Pupils reported for sittings on a schedule made by Jacqueline Barry, chairman of the picture committee. Other members of the committee acted as secretaries and treasurers during the sittings.

SOCCER GAMES

The soccer games on Mondays are still being played with enthusiasm, as tension mounts between the Seniors and Sophomores. Claudia Nicoll, a Senior, is indeed the star. But that isn't unusual, for Claudia has always been a star in the field of sports, and this year is no exception.

RIDING CLUB

The Riding club has been progressing admirably as its routine has gotten under way. The riders include both Junior and Senior high members, and are driven by a member of Rocky Hill to and from the stable, which incidentally, is located two miles down Reading road. Miss Ansie Angelo of the Junior high faculty, and an adept rider, gives helpful pointers to those who want them, and sometimes has to restrain hopeful young Paul Reverses from galloping to Boston, as some of the novices, unaware of what the effect of a slight kick may mean, vigorously jab their mounts. No mishap has occurred in any way, however, which certainly speaks well for the horses.

At Junior High...

REPORT CARDS

Report cards will be given Friday afternoon after the assembly. Honor cards will be given out at assembly.

Eighth and ninth grade students are now in the midst of taking cooperative English tests.

DANCE FRIDAY

A school dance will be held Friday afternoon from 2:30 p. m. until 5:00 p. m. in the school gym. Refreshments of soda pop and cookies will be served in the intermission.

OPEN HOUSE

Andover Junior high will be open to visitors Wednesday evening, November 14, 1:30 to 9:30 p. m., in observance of American Education week.

"FREEDOM FROM FEAR" ASSEMBLY

The title of the assembly for this week is "Freedom from Fear." The cast includes: Ruth Mears, Betty Jane O'Connor, Beverly Arthur, Patricia McLay, Robert Bachmann, Kenneth McCormish. Joan Lefebvre will sing "Up With the Flag." Ruth Anne Chadwick will also sing "This Shall Never Happen Again." They will both be accompanied by Miss Sweeney on the piano. Diane Nowell will be the announcer. Joyce Demers will be the promptress. The play was produced by Mr. Snyder.

ANDOVER BOYS WIN AWARDS AT ESSEX

Much interest was centered in the awards presented at the 29th annual graduation at the Essex County Agricultural school recently in Hathorne.

The Bauer prize for excellence in agriculture projects was awarded to Donald Henderson of Andover, president of the graduating class. He has a partnership with his father, with twenty acres of crops, two cows and forty-three apple trees.

Allen Young of Andover was awarded third prize by the Essex County Farm Bureau association for excellence in employed agriculture projects. He is employed on the A. S. Chambers place, with seven acres of vegetables and five acres of orchard and home ownership of thirty turkeys and four pigs.

Two of the graduates of the agricultural department are Donald Renwyck Henderson and Benjamin Sayles, both of Andover.

INTERIOR DECORATION

At the second meeting of the Interior Home Decoration class, there were more than a hundred present. The class was held Wednesday evening in the Memorial hall library. Those completing the courses will be awarded state certificates. The next meeting will be at 7:30 p. m. Wednesday, November 14.

ON CLASSBOOK BOARD

Miss Louise Mudgett, Ballardvale, attending the Boston University college of liberal arts, is one of the twelve Boston University students who have been honored by the deans of their respective colleges and schools in appointments to the 1946 Hub board. They are an advisory body for the production of the Boston University Senior yearbook. Each student representative is liaison officer between his college and the Hub editors.

TEACHER IN MAINE

Mrs. Alma Hill has been elected to the English, Latin and French positions at Aroostook Central institute, Bangor, Maine. She is the daughter of Mrs. M. L. Blinn, 253 Andover street, Ballardvale. Mrs. Hill is a graduate of Harvard college.

At The Library...

Annual Book Week Next Week

Annual Book Week will be observed at the library during the week of November 11. Special programs are being planned for young people, and an attractive display of new books, suitable for Christmas purchase and personal pleasure, will be arranged in both parts of the library.

The highlight of the week will be the open house at the library on Sunday afternoon, November 18, from 3:30 to 5:30. At four o'clock Dr. Claude M. Fuess will speak on the ever interesting subject, "Murder for Pleasure; the Life and Death of the Detective Story."

Light refreshments will be served and all are invited to come.

PULL UP A CHAIR!

Does anyone have a comfortable veteran-size chair he would like to donate to a new project being undertaken by the library? We need one or two in comparatively good condition, and can guarantee they will be put to good usage. If so, please call the library, 314, and let us arrange to pick it up. Just about 1000 young men would be grateful!

CHILDREN'S DEPARTMENT

The Young People's room of the library also will celebrate national book week. All 1945 publications that the library has purchased will be on display and may be reserved by the boys and girls during this period, as has been the privilege of previous years.

On Tuesday afternoon, at 2:30, Miss Ballard is extending a special invitation to all young people of the pre-school age and to their mothers, to come to the library to see the new books purchased especially for them, and to hear some of their favorite stories.

On Wednesday afternoon, Mr. J. J. Cronin, well-known story teller of the Boston libraries, will tell two groups of stories, the first at 2:30 for all young people of Junior High age, and at 3:45 for those of the fifth and sixth grades. Grades I through IV are invited to come Friday afternoon at 3:45, to an informal story hour conducted by Miss Ballard.

Everyone is welcome to come at any time during the week and to attend any special features which may appeal.

'TEEN AGE CONSULTANT

Miss Margaret Lane of Boxford has begun her new duties at the library. Her special work will be in the adult department with the young people of the teen age, and she will welcome any questions they may have.

School Committee Names Teachers

Miss Shirley Kenny was appointed dental hygienist to succeed Mrs. Daily at a recent meeting of the Andover school committee at a salary of $1800 a year, plus the usual two dollar a week bonus. Mr. Bernard Kellmurray was re-elected as director of guidance for another year. Lieutenant Milton C. Blanchard, U. S. Naval Reserve, on leave, was re-elected as principal of the Junior High school, in accordance with the statutes in this commonwealth, in regard to returning veterans. It is expected that Lieutenant Blanchard will resume his position about December 1. His salary will be $3,050 a year, plus the usual two dollar a week bonus.

The resignation of Miss Evelyn Robinson as school librarian was accepted with regret. The resignation will be effective November 21.

The school committee is considering three possible alternatives in publishing their school reports this year. It has been left in the hands of the school superintendent to secure bids.

Latest figures show that enrollment has increased fifty-three since the beginning of the school year.

Editorial...

Even in this post-war world, most people are still pretty busy, and a good many of them have to get an awful lot of things done in a very short space of time.

Don't you suppose you could keep that in mind when you sit down some morning at your phone to have a nice long chinning session with some pal of yours? While you're sitting there idling away your time, there are a good many people who are trying to get rapid phone service so that they can take care of all the important matters that they have to take care of during the day. While you are talking about the new dress you just bought, somebody has reached for the phone, and has to wait for an operator, because you and a lot of people like you have the exchange pretty well tied up.

Until the emergency is over, why don't you save long chats for a time when you can actually sit down with the person that you want to chat with? It's going to make living a lot easier for the people who have to make every minute count in these days of not enough help.

A new private school is coming to Andover, attracting boys who ordinarily would increase the enrollment of Boston's grammar schools. All over the country, more and more private schools have come into existence, probably for the reason that there is a general feeling that the public schools are not doing their jobs as well as they should be done.

It is going to take more than attractive buildings and modern equipment. They are important, of course, but the most important thing is that we have good teachers. Not all our teachers in Andover are what they should be, even though our standards are more exacting than many other towns. We want teachers with wholesome personalities, who are well prepared, and are constantly learning more about teaching. Possibly, if we had such teachers all through our system, the townspeople would feel no qualms about making teacher salaries more attractive. Possibly if teacher salaries were more attractive, we would get better teachers, provided the people elected a school committee which demanded nothing but the best in teachers. If we can get the right kind of teacher, we should pay her enough to make it possible for her to live comfortably, to continue to study, travel, and do other things which enrich personality. It is far from being the easiest job in the world to have some thirty or forty youngsters with thirty or forty different personalities to contend with in each class. It is a job THAT takes a lot out of you, and it should be worth more, provided we can get the right type of teacher.

In order to make this possible, however, within the tax means of our populace, it is necessary for the school committee to run the department efficiently, by cutting out any teacher, any subject, or any activity that is not necessary.

You really can't blame some people for thinking that democracy is no good, with a fellow named Kelly controlling Chicago, another named Boss Haigh controlling Jersey City, and now, by golly, we have James Michael Curley back again controlling Boston.

Democracy is only as good as the people want it to be. In Boston, they apparently don't care, and the most we can say for them is at least they know what they're getting. Mr. Curley has had nation-wide publicity of a kind that doesn't reflect very well on the city of Boston, but despite that fact, Boston's voters seem to prefer him.

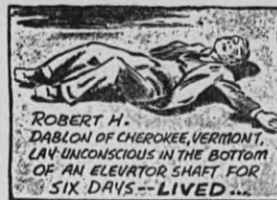

If he ever runs for Governor again, we hope that the state will retain its common sense, even if Boston can't seem to.

This Sober Town

There we were washing dishes, disposing of the meal left-overs, etc., and it's about that time usually that we just get to thinking. And we thought of Rod Hill's ad of last week, G-E dishwashers, G-E disposals — golly, aren't things in these modern days wonderful?

But then we kept thinking, because we kept washing and disposing. We thought of what it's going to be like ten or twenty years from now, when, if everybody isn't blown off the face of the earth, if they do harness those atoms successfully, there'll be all sorts of improvements. And we wondered how we'd be writing Rod's ad in those atomic days to come. Well, why just wonder? Here it is:

Remember, we have the exclusive franchise for the Lemme Atom products, designed to make life easier—provided the atoms don't ease you out of life.

- LEMME ATOM REFRIGERATORS
Freezes cubes and cracks them at the same time.
- LEMME ATOM RANGES

WE'LL FIRE HIM

We'll fire that photographer some day! We tell him to go out and get a picture, tell him how we think backs always make good subjects, tell him that the Main street art exhibit deserves a front cover. So what does he do? He goes out and takes a picture of a couple of backs looking at a couple of Frances Dalton's portraits.

Well, there's nothing wrong in that, you say? No, but who in blazes told him to go out and get a picture of those two particular girls? There are pretty near 12,000 people in Andover, and probably many came from surrounding towns to see our street art exhibit. But with 12,000 people in town, can you tell us why that photographer would go out and snap a picture of two girls who work in the OTHER print-shop in Andover? Jeepers, it ain't right (we know we should have said "isn't", but when we get as mad as this, we always say "ain't").

Oh, well, we'll probably forget it in time.

The two ladies are Catherine Myers and Elizabeth Gordon. Catherine's husband, Pete, is returning from the service soon, within the week, we believe. She'll probably say to him: "Glad to see you're back," and Pete, looking at the Townsman, will probably say: "Glad to see your back, too."

About Our Poetess

"Who wrote that poem in last week's Townsman?" Officer John Deyermund wanted to know, and maybe some others of you will want to, too.

In the first of the new issues of The Townsman a few weeks back, we had a couple of poems written by Alma Hill of Ballardvale, one about our birthday and the other about the still unused pick-up station in the square. They were pretty good, and so the next week we called Alma again for another poem, and off she'd gone to Maine, where she had accepted a teaching position.

So we were stuck. Last Friday noon we were very much stuck. We wanted a poem, about the lights going out. So to our assistant editor Miss Elinor Cole, the young lady who greets you in the outer office, we said: "Why don't you write a poem?" Twenty minutes later, she walked in the boss' office with not one, but two, poems. Poetry while we wait, If the paper's not too late; That's become the newest role Of the assistant editor, Ellie Cole— Oh, well, we'd better let her stick to poems, and we'll stick to prose.

Andover Faces Exeter; Punchard Meets Methuen

Local Season Better

Andover will again meet the Exeter eleven Saturday afternoon. The teams have both had a fairly successful season, and the game should be a good one. The sixty-fifth classic will take place in Plimpton stadium at Exeter, starting at 2:00 p. m.

Captain O. J. Anderson will start the game at left tackle. This is his third year on the Varsity and also his third Exeter game. Norm Nourse, who has played excellent football throughout this season, will play center. Jim Mead, brother of last year's victorious captain, Ed Mead, will play right end.

Andover's score for the season, three wins, two losses and one tie, after beating the Tufts and Harvard "B's" in the two initial games of the season, and scoring a tie with the Massachusetts Maritime Academy, makes Saturday look like a victorious day. Exeter was beaten by Massachusetts Maritime, as compared with the tie scored by the Blue last Saturday.

Phillips Ties With Mass. Maritime

Phillips tied with the Massachusetts Maritime boys in the most exciting game of the season Saturday afternoon. The game started off with Captain O. J. Anderson falling on the opponents' rolling kickoff on his own 45-yard line. Quarterback Johnnie Clayton on the first play carried the ball for a first down to the enemy 45, beginning a drive which was finally stopped by Maritime on their own 15-yard line.

In the second period the Green took over, only to fumble after two plays. The Blue then took the ball, only to fumble in turn, with Maritime recovering, to begin the drive that ended after three first downs, when they kicked forty yards to Phelps, who ran it back ten yards.

At the start of the second half, Halfback Reiner fumbled the twisting kickoff, but End Jim Mead recovered and ran six yards through the stubborn enemy line. The first score of the game was made in successive plays by Hudner and Phelps, with Clayton finally putting the ball over the goal line. Walt Horne, trying for the extra point, missed by a scant two yards.

In the fourth period the Middies were behind, but determined to fight, and were quickly forced back to their own 48 by hard-driving and tricky plays. They finally forced their way through in nine plays, which made the score 6-6. With only five minutes to go, the Middies began a drive that looked like it might be victorious. The game ended with the ball on the Blue 40.

Andover Loses To Exeter In Soccer

At Phillips Academy Wednesday afternoon, there was a close game, afternoon, there was a close game, Exeter defeating Phillips, 2 to 1, in soccer, to make it an undefeated season for Exeter, with eight wins and one tie.

Charles Shaughnessy made both scores for Exeter. Jim Dale of the home team scored soon after the start of the second quarter.

JAYVEES LOSE

Phillips' JayVees put up a hard and stubborn fight last Saturday, only to be defeated by New Hampton Prep. The team was led by hard-driving Hank Scott and light, but fast and elusive Bob Remis. However, the Andover boys never quit, even though they were unable to cope with the power of O'Neil and Cooke in the New Hampton backfield.

Phillips J. V. A defeated the Tilton Academy by a score of 37 to 0 in football last Wednesday afternoon.

Because of a strike in the graphic arts industry in Chicago, plates on H. I. Phillips, Grantland Rice, and Washington Merry-go-round were not received this week. The strike has been settled, however, and these features will be resumed next week.

Methuen Favored

Saturday afternoon will mark another game for Punchard, when it will play Methuen, at Methuen. Methuen has won three games, lost three, and tied one, whereas Punchard has won two, tied two and lost three.

Both teams have played Ipswich, with the result that Punchard tied, while Methuen won by a score of 26 to 6. Both have also played Danvers, and while Punchard was defeated by a score of 19 to 13, Methuen won, 6 to 0. By comparing scores it might look as though it would be a tough game for Punchard. But, Methuen has lost by just as great margins in their scores as they have won.

On the local team the starting lineup will be the same as last week when Punchard met Needham. Moore and Westcott will again exchange positions, with Moore at left tackle and Westcott at right tackle. McCollum will again be in the game as fullback, despite the misfortune of getting a leg injury in the opening play last Saturday.

Needham Defeats Punchard, 14-7

Needham defeated Punchard, 14-7, last Saturday afternoon. Punchard put up a hard and stubborn fight. In the opening it looked like we might take the game, even though Needham had two large and fast men. It was our misfortune that Bob McCollum, co-captain, injured his leg in the opening play and was not able to enter the game again.

During the first half Charlie Waterman handled the ball exceptionally well, but did not return in the second half. The combined defensive play of Tony Cavaloro and Joe Watson in the line and Markey and Yancy in the backfield did much in preventing Needham from advancing. Punchard made eleven first downs and gained 167 yards, while Needham made only three first downs and gained thirty-six yards during the game. Punchard scored when Yancy made a pass to Ronnie Demers for their only tally.

Needham made their final score just two minutes before the end of the game.

Grocery Department...

Now it can be told: Since 1939 this store has CARRIED ON under most difficult conditions. Since that time, to the present moment, we have succeeded in giving to the townspeople a high degree of service — both in accommodations and availability of merchandise.

We are most proud of that record, and will continue to give that same excellent service in the future.

I would have liked very much to list our usual grocery items in this space, but we are putting the finishing touches to our new shelves and find it just impossible to attend to this week. A word picture that would attempt to describe the appearance of our new set-up is also impossible to give you. Let us extend an invitation to you now—Please Come In Soon and see for yourself, this "switch-over" — it really will help you more than ever, besides saving ourselves "Thousands of Steps."

Where To Go . . .

Compulsory Training Forum Subject Tuesday, November 13

The second of the forum series held at the library will take place on Tuesday evening, November 13 (note change from Monday, the holiday), at 7:45. This will be in the form of a panel discussion of the subject, "Shall We Have Compulsory Military Training in Peacetime?" Mr. Frank D. Ashburn, headmaster of Brooks School, will serve as chairman of the meeting. Discussants or panel members are Mr. Walter Demers, president of the Pynchard High school Senior class; Mr. Edward M. Lindholm, former Army Air Forces lieutenant; Mrs. Francis McCarthy; and Mr. Stafford Lindsay. If Mr. Lindsay should be called out of town, Mr. Francis Markey will take his place.

Related reading is suggested, all of which may be borrowed from the library:

Answers to Questions Regarding Universal Military Training, a pamphlet by the American Legion.

Peacetime Conscription, a Problem for Americans, a pamphlet by the American Friends' Service committee.

Universal Military Training. Edward A. Fitzpatrick. 1945.

Nearly $8,000 Received For Salvage in World War II Death . . .

Some Sundays during the war years were not Sundays to a group of local citizens who gave their time in collecting salvage materials of varying kinds. On October 1, the Andover Salvage committee concluded its activity, and those who gave so liberally of their time would be interested to find out some actual facts and figures that proved that they did a pretty fine job.

What they actually collected amounted to 285 tons of scrap metal, 399 tons of waste paper, 34 tons of tin cans, 11 tons of rubber, and three tons of rags. If you multiply that by 2000, you get an awful lot of pounds.

For the waste collections, the committee received $7728.66. Of that amount the Andover Servicemen's Fund committee received $5255.35, and the home service department of the Red Cross received $1774.27. The balance went for expenses, the most sizable of which was trucking.

In presenting the final report, the energetic chairman of the committee, Harry I. Emmons, who himself deserves the town's appreciation, had the following word of appreciation to say of others:

"The Salvage committee was supported by the entire town during the three and a half years of organized collections. Local truck owners volunteered the use of their trucks and Board of Public Works drivers donated many hours of their time. The students and faculty of Phillips Academy, Punchard High school and Andover Junior High school joined in the successful drive for waste materials. The Papertroopers of the Junior High school, organized by Miss Evelyn Banning, were an outstanding factor in the huge tonnage of greatly needed waste paper turned in to the pulp mills. The cooperation of householders, town officials and private citizens in one of Andover's civilian war efforts is appreciated by the Salvage committee."

MRS. LILLIAN FRENCH COLE

Mrs. Lillian French Cole, 68, wife of Edward C. Cole, a long-time resident of Andover, died Sunday morning at the Quincy City hospital after a long illness.

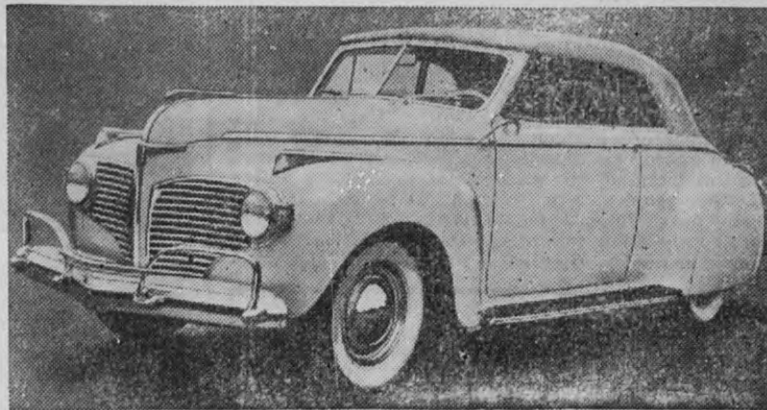

She was born in Havre de Grace, Newfoundland, and came to Andover when a young woman. After residing in Andover for 40 years, she moved to Quincy to live with her daughter, Mrs. Edward P. Grace, five years ago.

She was active in Andover civic and church groups for many years. She was a member of the Past Presidents' club of the Woman's Relief corps, the South Congregational church, The King's Daughters and an active member of Andover chapter, American Red Cross.

Surviving are her husband, two daughters, Mrs. Grace of Quincy and Mrs. Benjamin Durland of Englewood, Colorado; two sons, James N. Cole of Lawrence, a member of the faculty at Essex Agricultural school, and Fred B. Cole of Andover, sports editor of the Lawrence Daily Eagle and the Evening Tribune; and three grandchildren, Fred B. Cole, Jr., of Andover, and Patricia and Barbara Durland of Englewood, Colorado.

The funeral was held at the Lundgren funeral home, Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock with Rev. Frederick B. Noss, pastor of the South Congregational church, officiating. Burial was in the Spring Grove cemetery.

It's been fun watching it grow, knowing that it's not only saving us deferred-payment charges, but earning interest! Of course, we converted part of it into War Bonds. Too bad so many people have spent all their money on things they could well do without. Even now, it's not too late for them to start putting postwar products into "a book"!

War's Over! — Evening Study is Returning to Phillips

Interesting Courses Planned for Winter

Residents of Andover who have enjoyed the courses of the Andover Evening Study Program for Adults in past years will be glad to hear that the directors have decided to present another series of classes this winter. From January 14 through March 6, 1946, on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday nights, a program on a wide variety of subjects will be offered.

Founded in 1935, under the leadership of Mr. Alan R. Blackmer of the English department, the program was given for eight winters, suspending operations during 1943, 1944 and 1945 because of restrictions on travel and the pressure of war work. During the first eight years of its existence enrollment rose from 252 in the first year to 790 in 1941, the last peacetime year.

The aims of the program are well summed up in the following statement of the directors: "Our responsibilities as individuals, parents, and citizens are as great as at any time in history. To perfect American democracy and to help build a sound international order devoted to peace, we need increased knowledge and understanding of ourselves and other peoples, of the present and the past. This means the best adult education which the people of our community, working cooperatively, can create."

Because those giving the courses have volunteered their services, and because Phillips Academy has provided the buildings, the charges can be kept at a minimum for those wishing to participate. A registration fee of $2.00 ($1.00 if registration is completed on or before December 10, 1945) is charged, plus $1.00 for each course selected. Thus a person registering before December 10 could take two courses on each of the three nights for $7.00. Any profits accruing from the program are distributed to charity, a little over $3,000 having been distributed since the program was inaugurated.

The courses to be offered this winter are as follows:

"Famous People," a biography symposium: Cicero, Horace M. Poynter; Charlemagne, R. I. W. Westgate; Francis I, James H. Grew; Descartes, Oswald Tower; Dr. Johnson, Norman E. Vuilleumier; C. F. Gauss and Evariste Galois, Richard S. Pieters; Mendel, M. Lawrence Shields; Henry L. Stimson, Claude M. Fuess.

"Effective Speaking," Roger W. Higgins; "Keeping Fit," Thomas John Johnson; "Enjoying Good Music," Arthur W. Howes, Jr.; "Studio Art," W. Abbott Cheever; "Straight Thinking," Emory S. Basford; "Significant Books of the 20th Century": Wilbur J. Bender, L. D. Peterkin, Dudley Fitts, Walter Gierasch, Francis B. McCarthy, George L. Follansbee, G. Grenville Benedict, and Alan R. Blackmer; "Ethics, Past and Present," Alston H. Chase; "Our Latin-American Neighbors," Manuel F. Pinto; "World Issues Affecting American Interests" — Geopolitics and International Affairs, Miles S. Malone; America and the Far East, Arthur B. Darling; Germany: Keystone of Europe?, Philip Potter; Conflicts in the Middle East, Norman B. Floyd; America and the U. S. S. R., Howard P. Johnson; America's Stake in British Policies, Leonard F. James; United States National Security, Kenneth S. Minard; A United Nations Organization: the Alternatives, Frederick S. Allis, Jr.; "How Atoms Behave": Roscoe E. Dake, John S. Barss; Elbert C. Weaver, John P. Lane; "Your House," Patrick Morgan.

It is to be hoped that this wide variety of offerings will attract a large number of Andover citizens to the Hill this winter as they have in the past. Booklets containing detailed information about the courses, together with registration blanks, may be obtained at the Memorial Hall library in Andover or the Stevens Memorial library in North Andover; or by writing or telephoning Phillips Academy (Telephone 720).

Still Serving Uncle Sam...

Lieutenant Paul L. MacKendrick, former instructor at Phillips Academy, was recently released from duty at the Navy Separation center in Boston. Lieutenant MacKendrick has had four years in the Navy, his last station being the Naval base in the Azores. He took part in the Sicily campaigns, receiving a letter of commendation from Vice Admiral Alan G. Kirk, commander, Amphibious forces, Atlantic Fleet, for service in planning the attack phases of the landings in Sicily. He will make his home with his wife at 108 Florence street, Boston.

Chief Signalman Charles R. Bailey is on his way home aboard the U. S. S. Baltimore, after serving five years and six months aboard the battleships U. S. S. Texas and U. S. S. New York, and the cruisers U. S. S. Augusta, Boston, Baltimore, Quincy and Vicksburg. He is a veteran of thirty engagements and holder of eleven battle stars. He is to be discharged upon arrival in the States. His wife lives at Ballardvale road. Bailey enlisted in the Navy on September 19, 1939, and went overseas in December of that year.

Clarence W. Coupe, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Coupe of Cassimere street, received his honorable discharge from the Army recently at Camp Shelby. He served overseas as an X-ray technician in charge of the X-ray department in a military hospital at Stafford, England. He was employed as an X-ray technician at the Fore River shipyard before entering the service, and plans to continue with this type of work. Mr. Coupe was inducted September 18, 1942, and reported at Fort Devens, where he was assigned to the Medical corps. He took his basic training at Camp Pickett, Virginia, and had advanced training at Camp Rucker, Alabama, and Camp Kilmer, New Jersey, before going overseas January 6, 1943. On January 13 he arrived in Scotland. He left for home July 15, making both trips on the Queen Elizabeth. Mr. Coupe held the rank of sergeant. He is a graduate of St. Augustine's school and Punchard High school, class of 1938.

Sergeant Alexander Renny, headquarters, 7th Fighter Wing, AAF, Central Pacific, whose wife resides at 8 Elm court, has been promoted to the rank of staff sergeant. Sergeant Renny entered the Army in October, 1942, at Fort Devens, and was stationed at air fields in Herington, Topeka, Kan., Lincoln, Neb., and Deming, N. M., in the States. At the present Sergeant Renny is a crew chief with the 16th Tow Target squadron, a unit of the 7th Fighter Wing, now stationed on the island of Oahu, T. H. Prior to entering the military service, Sergeant Renny was a printer with the Townsman Press. He has two brothers in the service, PFC James Renny, with the 84th Infantry, and First Lieutenant William Renny, with the Army Air Forces.

T/4 Joseph Sheely, son of Mrs. Mary Sheely, has just arrived at Camp Ting Hao, Kunming, China, for redeployment. Ting Hao, the name being the Chinese equivalent of "OK," is an efficiently laid out tent city in the foothills of the Himalayas, according to T/4 Sheely. He was a member of the Signal Service battalions, with operations in a combat area as large as the entire European theatre. Signal Service battalions of the CBI managed, in the face of stubborn terrain and difficult supply lines, to install and maintain radio and telephone communications between widespread points of strategic importance. T/4 Sheely received his basic military training at Camp Livingston.

Lieutenant Frank M. Drouin, U. S. C. G., son of Mrs. Mabel E. Drouin of 115 Abbot street, has left for Newfoundland, where he is to be commanding officer of a Coast Guard radio station. He was promoted recently from junior grade to senior lieutenant. Lieutenant Drouin has been in the Coast Guard for more than six years, and served three years in the Atlantic and Pacific areas.

Walter J. Morrissey, seaman, second class, is now serving aboard the aircraft carrier Midway. He is the son of Mrs. Catherine and the late Walter J. Morrissey, 47 High street. The U. S. S. Midway was commissioned in September, and was in New York for Navy Day. Seaman Morrissey enlisted April 19, and went to Sampson, N. Y., for his boot training. After completing his boot training he was assigned to Newport, R. I., while awaiting commissioning of the big carrier. He was awarded his diploma in absentia at Punchard High school in June. At school he was prominent in many activities and captained the basketball squad last season.

Three brothers, John F. Anderson, Jr., Louis V. Anderson and Robert Anderson, have been honorably discharged from the armed forces. They are three of the four sons of Mr. and Mrs. John F. Anderson of 4 Duffton road. John was discharged October 9 at Hingham after serving since September 4, 1942, when he reported for duty at Parris Island, S. C., to take his boot training. After completing his advanced training at New River he was sent to San Diego, California, and was assigned to the First Marine garrison. He left shortly for British Samoa and transferred to American Samoa before coming back to Hawaii before the invasion of the Marshall Islands. He participated in the invasion of the Marshalls and later Guam, being wounded on Guam. He was a machine gunner. He spent four months in the hospital at Guadalcanal as a result of shrapnel wounds in the leg and concussion blasts on July 26, 1943.

He left the South Pacific and came from San Diego on February 20 of this year. He spent three months in San Leandro hospital, and came home in May, returning to Hingham in June.

Anderson holds the rank of sergeant with the Marines. He wears the Purple Heart, Asiatic-Pacific ribbon, the Presidential citation, Navy unit citation and the American Theatre ribbon. He graduated from Punchard High school in 1939. He played football at Punchard and with the Andover All-Stars. He was employed by Fred W. Doyle, local contractor, at the time of his enlistment.

Louis was discharged on October 26 at Fort Belvoir, Virginia. He served with the 295th Engineers Combat battalion. He was inducted at Boston on March 8, 1943, and reported for duty at Fort Devens. He was assigned to the engineers and sent to Camp Shelby, Mississippi, for basic training. He went on maneuvers in Louisiana and for a four-month period in California for desert maneuvers. Before going overseas January 17, he was at Camp Miles Standish. He landed at Glasgow, Scotland, on January 29. He was sent immediately to Southampton, England, and entered France on D-day plus four. He was in the battles of Antwerp, Northern France, Rhineland, Ardennes and Central Europe.

They left Antwerp, Belgium, and sailed for home August 18. He arrived in Boston and went to Camp Miles Standish and Fort Devens before coming home on furlough. He returned to Fort Belvoir for his discharge. He wears the Good Conduct and European Theatre ribbons. He attended Punchard High school, being inducted during his Junior year. He played football at Punchard and with the All-Stars.

The third of four sons to be discharged arrived home Sunday night. He received his discharge Friday at Camp Robinson, Ark., where he has been instructor in heavy weapons. He was inducted April 7, 1942, and sent to Fort Devens, where he was assigned to the infantry. He took his basic training at Camp Croft, S. C., and was then sent to Dutch and French Guiana, on the northern coast of South America for 27 months. He holds the following ribbons: American Theatre, Good Conduct and Infantry Marksmanship badge. He attended Punchard High school and he was employed as a carpenter by George H. Duffton, local contractor, before his induction.

The fourth son in the service is Flight Officer Alexander Anderson, who is now serving with the Army Transport command on duty in Memphis, Tennessee. He was inducted on April 7, 1942.

Norwood P. Hallowell, Lt. Cmdr., 48 Salem street, is back in the States with other members of the crew of the destroyer escort U.S.S. Eichenberger after 22 months of operations in the once Jap-infested areas of the Pacific. The Eichenberger, during amphibious operations at Hollandia, Wake, Biak, the Palaus, Leyte and Lingayen Gulf, was under air attacks numerous times but came through unscathed. She also outrode a typhoon between the Philippines and Okinawa, during which the roll of the ship was recorded at 62 degrees. Crewmen of the "Ike" were credited with rescuing six downed American airmen off Okinawa.

Tech./Sgt. Warren A. Lewis arrived home on Saturday from Sioux Falls, S. D., air base, where he received his honorable discharge. He entered the service January, 1943, and went overseas as a radio gunner on a B-24 in February, 1945. He holds the European theatre ribbon with four battle stars, the Air medal, the Unit citation and the Good Conduct medal. In the near future he plans to return to college. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur R. Lewis of Lowell street.

Specialist, first class, Dorothy C. Winn was recently discharged from the Waves at the Separation unit in New York City. She enlisted August 12, 1943, and she last served as yeoman to chief of Naval operations, Washington, D. C. She is the daughter of Mrs. Robertina Winn, 37 Maple avenue.

Use Registered Mail For Discharge Papers

Postal officials here report receipt of a large number of letters by ordinary mail from veterans making applications for the Massachusetts state bonus, presumably. Postmaster Boland believes they are from men recently discharged who were away when post office authorities warned against mailing of original discharge papers by ordinary mail and recommending use of registered mail to safeguard the valuable papers against loss.

Discharged service men applying for the bonus are reminded that the post office maintains no record of ordinary mail delivered to the State Bonus division, but that a receipt is obtained for each piece of registered mail. It costs only 20 cents to assure the return of the discharge papers by registered mail, this fee being paid at the time of the original mailing. Registry protection for mail can be obtained at any post office.

LIFE

LIFE in Andover

Upper left: This one isn't too hard, is it? We were even able to guess where it was without asking the photographer. At least, we're pretty sure where it is.

Last week's "Where Is It?" picture showed the junction of Porter road and Hidden road. And sometime in the next few days, the photographer will be taking another picture somewhere in Andover to stump you next week. No fair watching where he goes.

Upper right: The boys in the service will be interested in this. It was the first snowfall of the season, last Sunday. We hadn't had one since May 11. The young people are all Cooksons, children or cousins of children of the Francis Cooksons of Main street.

Lower left: One of our local artist's paintings couldn't be shown in a store window. It was too big, and besides it's down in the post office in Madison, Conn. The mural was painted in 1939 by Abbott Cheever, who is now teaching at Phillips.

Lower right: This is a little map which won't help you one bit in locating any of the future "Where Is It?" pictures. It's Andover in 1882. Can you see your house anywhere? The library, South church, town hall and old Pearson hall when it was the main seminary building are plainly visible. In those days of course, the lenses they used in aerial photography weren't as good as those they use now; otherwise the aviator who took this picture would have done much better.
