Old Fashioned
THANKSGIVING

REUNITED at last! Heads bowed in prayers of thanksgiving; sons and daughters returned from the wars to the warm love of a mother's aching heart—a father's strong, silent yearning—the eager adoration of younger brothers and sisters. Thanksgiving dinner with all its trimmings and not one vacant chair! The world at Peace! Is this not reason enough for heads to be bowed in prayer—prayers of thankfulness for having lived in a land that escaped the ravaging hand of a deadly enemy—a land whose brave sons and daughters fought and died that truth, humanity and righteousness might triumph over deceit, cruelty and treachery—and today whose flag flies victoriously over a vanquished enemy. On this Thanksgiving, above all, our first since the end of a tragic and bestial war, there is much for which to be grateful—much for which to thank the Almighty. And those of us who are fortunate enough to have our loved ones home, in our joy, let us not forget those less fortunate, whose loved ones will never return—those who gave their lives that the true spirit of Thanksgiving in America might live on forever..

President Dodds Talks on Democracy

The sixteenth annual lecture on the Alfred E. Stearns foundation was given in the George Washington Hall Tuesday evening at 8:30. Dr. Harold W. Dodds, president of Princeton University, spoke on the subject, "The Role of the Citizen in Modern Government." He pointed out that "no miracles are to be expected from government as government." Miracle-working comes from the people, if at all, he said, and added "there is a great wonder-working power in people as mere people, if individuals are willing to trust themselves, exert themselves and be loyal to themselves."

"A democracy," he warned, "needs self-organized and self-directed chambers of commerce, voters' leagues, college forums, labor unions, employees' associations, churches and clubs of all sorts, if it is to remain strong and healthy at heart. It is from full and free discussion, throughout the year and not merely at election time, that correct policy emerges and a firm basis of acceptance is established."

Discussing the need for more "good citizens" as active participants in political parties, President Dodds noted that the two-party system in this country was in danger of being replaced by government by self-seeking pressure groups. The indolence of the voter, which the old political boss was accustomed to use to the advantage of his party, is now being capitalized by the leader of the greedy pressure group, he said.

The pressure group leader, he explained, "claims full freedom of action for himself in a way no party leader would dare and he receives it because the masses feel he is acting in their economic self-interest." The clearest examples of the dictator psychology in this country today could be observed in the most successful pressure groups, he stated. President Dodds offered as a cure for many of this country's ills "a return of popular interest in the basic subjects of political philosophy and political science" and suggested that one of the primary needs in achieving this end was a definition of "a philosophy regarding the proper function and scope of government."

Localites Entertain at Firemen's Ball

There was standing room only at the 74th Annual Firemen's Ball held Wednesday evening. Those who attended enjoyed one of the best shows presented in Andover for a long time, consisting of local talent only. Those who did not attend, missed out on the best entertainment of the year.

The entertainment started at 8 o'clock, with Roland Russell's orchestra playing the Star Spangled Banner, followed with the Victory Polka. The program was as follows: Johnson and Valentine, accordion melodies; Two Johnsons and Valentine, featuring the cornet and accordions; Kathleen Hays, baton twirling; Marlyn Duguid song, You Came Along; Timothy Daly, song, When Irish Eyes Are Smiling, and an Irish Lullaby. John Buss, petty officer 1st class, U.S.N., former R. K. O. entertainer, the Rose of Tralee, Old Man River, and If I Had My Way; Stanley Smith, banjo solo. Gene Murray, song, For Me and My Gal; Johnsons and Valentine, saxophone and accordions; Christ Murphy, former stage entertainer for servicemen all over the world, dancing numbers and imitations. The announcer for the program was James Sheard.

The amateur prizes were awarded to the following: First prize of $20 went to Miss Kathleen Hays, baton twirler; second prize of $15 went to Miss Gene Murray, the timid girl with the beautiful voice; third prize of $10 went to Timothy Daly, vocalist, and the fourth prize of $5 went to Miss Marlyn Duguid. General dancing followed until midnight, with music by Roland Russell's orchestra. Refreshments were sold during the intermission in the cafeteria.

The committee: Benjamin Brown, chairman; Alexander McKenzie, treasurer; James Deyermond, Ralph Baker, and Warren Deyermond.

Forum Discusses "Outlook for Europe"

The third of this season's series of forums was held Monday evening in the Memorial Hall library, and the topic under discussion was "Outlook for Europe." The meeting opened with a short film entitled, "UNRRA; in the wake of the armies," followed by a panel discussion under the leadership of Mr. Alston Chase of the Phillips Academy faculty, who was in France and Germany last spring. Mr. Chase gave an interesting account of the living conditions in the occupied countries, and of the great work that UNRRA is doing. The UNRRA must first get food to the stricken people, then clothing, and spiritual guidance. He said that "most of the people in occupied Europe were like moral children, wanting to be given everything without helping in any way." He warned that "we must be careful and only start them, rather than make them wholly dependent upon, the people of the Allied nations, as they are wanting to do."

Christmas Seal Sale Starts

Hope To Raise Over $2000 Here

This week you probably received an envelope which contained a sheet of attractive Christmas seals. The money received from these seals, as you probably know, is used to support a nation-wide campaign of tuberculosis control and prevention.

Last year Andover gave $1,924 from the purchase of the seals, and this year it is hoped that this amount may be exceeded this year. Five per cent of each year's receipt is sent to the National Tuberculosis Association in New York, and ten per cent to the Massachusetts Tuberculosis League in Boston. The 85 per cent left remains in the county.

MERRIMACK

264 ESSEX STREET - SINCE 1892

WHETHER or not he is the greatest, Harry Gilmer of Alabama is beyond any argument the most amazing back that football can show today.

Doc Blanchard, army's brilliant back, weighs 205 pounds and can run the 100 in 10 flat.

Glenn Davis, another army brilliant, 180 pounds, is the fastest man in football.

Harry Gilmer, barely 19 years old, weighs 158 pounds and he has no such speed as either Blanchard or Davis can show. And yet I saw him pass and run Alabama into 26 points against Duke last winter, while tackling all over the field.

Grantland Rice

This fall he threw three touchdown passes against a strong L. S. U. team to carry Alabama into a 26 to 7 victory over the team that wrecked Georgia. He then passed and ran Tennessee dizzy to win by 25 to 7.

Gilmer has already proved himself to be one of the best passers of all time. I'd rank him as the greatest passer in football today, college or pro. But the most amazing part of this 158-pound kid is that he is one of the best all-over-the-field tacklers you'll see in many years, that he is a fine ball carrier who is not only elusive but who can hold his feet with a 190-pound back. Also that he is one of the most accurate kickers in the game today.

Batters Big Linesmen

Against Tennessee he kicked out of bounds on the Volunteers' 4-yard line. The play was called back. On his second shot Gilmer again kicked out on the 4-yard line. Also against the big forward walls of L. S. U. and Tennessee he drove his way through the lines as well as he cut around the flanks, carrying 200-pounders for 4 and 5 extra yards.

How often do you see a star passer, a fine ball carrier and a good kicker starring in a defensive role? After the Duke-Sugar Bowl game last winter I ran into Tom Davis, Duke's fast, 190-pound back.

"Gilmer?" he said. "He is no 158-pounder. He must have nailed me 10 times today, and I thought he was going to tear me apart." But 158 to 160 is Gilmer's weight, with which he does the job of four men. For example, in three big games against Duke, L. S. U. and Tennessee, he was largely responsible for the 77 points Alabama scored.

Gilmer's three main ingredients are poise, timing and skill. The Alabama star has thin shoulders, a rather thin chest, but he also has a pair of powerful legs and two big, strong hands.

Knocking on wood for the sake of Frank Thomas, he is also as durable as hickory. He can handle a heavy battering without slowing down. The kid is as cold as an iceberg. You never see him rattled or hurried. He has a pair of blue-gray eyes that get the picture before him in a flash—even when he is in mid-air throwing a pass. Handling the ball from center on a running or a passing play, he always seems to be taking his time, and yet he gets the ball away or starts his run without any waste of time.

Coolness and Timing

Frank Thomas tells me that no breaks of the game ever upset him in the least. "I've never seen any one," Thomas says, "who knows better exactly what to do under all conditions. He can whip a bullet pass as Baugh does, or give you a 50-yard arm throw of the Luckman type. And he rarely misses his target. If he ever made a single bad or wild pass, I never saw it. But it is his coolness, his timing, his durability that makes his skill stand out. He throws his shorter passes with a wrist flip that can't be intercepted. And he can also nail a receiver 50 yards away, after leaving his feet for the jump."

While Gilmer has been a leading factor in carrying Alabama to victory, he isn't the only football player Frank Thomas has on his squad. Big Mancha, one of the best centers in football, heads a strong, fast charging line. Tew and Hodges are two hard running backs. This is the best team Alabama has sent into action in some years, and Alabama has had more than her share of winning games and winning years. Also such stars as Don Hutson, Poolley Hubert, Mack Brown, Howell, Hurry Cain, Jenkins, Whitmire and now Gilmer and Mancha.

Fumbling All Around

If you happen to look over various accounts of football games around the map you will run into stories of constant fumbling. This is partly due to the shape of the modern football which is fashioned largely for a passing attack. It is built more like a short javelin than anything else, being narrow and pointed. A fumble, recovered by the other side, usually costs from 40 to 50 yards. The shape of the ball is at least a big part of the epidemic.

REVIEW OF A NEW AUTOMOBILE

The first 1946 model—automobile has been unveiled to the public. Thousands visited the showroom, and shouts of joy went up as the American buying public saw the many new features. These included fenders on both sides, bumpers in the proper position and brakes that really worked.

Departures from the trend of the last four years were numerous, a marked leaning toward having the chassis directly in line with the body, instead of partly askew being specially noteworthy.

Further sensations included exhaust pipes that were not dangling, and a tendency to have all shackles and bolts in the proper position. Nothing like this had been seen on automobiles since Pearl Harbor, and the reception was terrific.

Outstanding innovations, too, were windshields with the glass intact, wipers that really worked by pressing a little gadget, as directed, and a dashboard clock that did not register 8:15 permanently.

The first view of the new wonder car made it plain that a score of surprises were in store for the man who has been driving what has passed as an automobile since 1941. For one thing—and this is important—doors are back! Definitely!

Much comment was caused by the discovery that after closing the door windows you can no longer stick your hand out without lowering it again. The public is expected to get used to this after a while. The idea of having one or more panes of glass missing has been completely dropped.

Salesmen explained, however, that if customers through habit wished to have a door with the glass missing, they could arrange it.

Nineteen forty-six models will have paint on all parts, much of it with a gloss. Steering gears will be quite firm, it being no longer necessary to give them four or five complete turns to control the wheels.

General approval of the new cars was expressed; but there was one sigh of disappointment. It was discovered that the companies would make no departure from the 35-year rule of never providing a jack or a kit of tools adequate for even a minor repair.

RADIO TREATS FOR G.I.s

(Servicemen frequently ask for specific radio broadcasts. One man asked for Lana Turner and the sounds of a steak sizzling.—News item).

Out in the tough routine of war—
Out where we're cooking "on one burner."

This of the airwaves I implore—
Gimme a steak and Lana Turner!
Out where the Japs now shed their tears,

Out where the Krauts discern their betters,
Know what will get my loudest cheers? . . .

Filet mignon—and certain sweaters!

What do I pine for on the air?

Opera, forums, night club nifties?

Solos and talks on falling hair?

Pep talks by people in their fifties?

Plugs for a physic or a beer?

Songs by some dog-track Myrt or Mabel?

Gimme the sound of broiling steak,

Simmering spuds . . . and Betty Grable!

Market reports and a campaign talk?

Uplifting stuff by great musicians? Quizzes? Away from all I walk!

Phooey on facts and statisticians! News from the game the Dodgers cop?

Okay with me, but I'd rather take, kid,

Sizzling sounds from a red-hot chop Likewise the same from Veronica Lake, kid!

Survivors of the Big Boom

Dr. Einstein says that two-thirds of the human race may be wiped out some day by atomic bombs, but that "there will always be enough thinking men and books left to start all over again." Nice talk! And, anyhow, we will bet the professor a box of cigars against a fifty-word explanation of the theory of relativity that the "thinking men" who survive will be left with their thinking apparatus too twisted to do anything.

BARUCH PREDICTS INFLATION

WASHINGTON. — Elder Statesman Bernie Baruch revealed some interesting figures on inflation recently in an off-the-record session with 14 younger congressmen at his Shoreham hotel apartment. Baruch's prediction was that the nation was hell-bent for inflation—and soon.

Piecemeal increases in wages, profits and the cost of living have been uneven, Baruch said, with wages lagging behind. For that reason he no longer favored his prewar idea of a freeze on both prices and wages. Our only hope, said the elder statesman, is that we can weather the next six to nine months without running into serious inflation. If we do that, our chances of a strong recovery from the war boom are good.

"The huge pent-up demand for products which we will see during the next nine months, is a very serious threat," said Baruch, stressing the importance of holding prices down.

He amazed his listeners by saying that he is completely opposed to tax reduction of any nature at this time. "Not only does the government lose needed revenue, but it is an unhealthy thing for our general economy," argued Baruch.

Rep. Andy Biemiller of Milwaukee asked what Baruch thought of the statement by General Motors' president C. E. Wilson that if wages are raised 30 per cent, prices must go up 30 per cent. Baruch talked at some length on the general question of rising prices, but gave no direct answer. Finally, Biemiller repeated his question.

"I'm afraid I can't agree with Mr. Wilson," Baruch said.

WAGE NOT PRICE INCREASE

"Isn't it true that industry can give a 30 per cent wage increase without having to raise prices more than about 7½ per cent?" Biemiller persisted.

"You are approximately right," Baruch agreed. "I believe the figure you may have heard is actually 8½ per cent."

Baruch also told his guests that he felt we were making a mistake in speeding manpower demobilization. "With the world in its present situation," he said, "it seems to me it would be wiser to proceed slowly with demobilization, in order that we not weaken ourselves at a time when power is apparently still an important thing."

He agreed also with an idea proposed by one of his guests, Estes Kefauver of Chattanooga, to have cabinet members and other high officials appear on the floor of congress where they can be questioned by congressmen. Such a practice would make for much greater cooperation between the executive and legislative departments, Baruch said.

Present in addition to Biemiller and Kefauver were Representatives Albert Gore and Percy Priest of Tennessee, John Sparkman of Alabama, Mike Mansfield of Montana, Henry Jackson of Washington, Jerry Voorhis and Chet Holifield of California, Bob Sikes of Florida, Mike Monroney of Oklahoma, Bob Ramo of Georgia, and Jamie Whitten and Arthur Winstead of Mississippi.

CHURCHILL IN DEFEAT

Winston Churchill recently told friends how he felt after his defeat in the British elections. The first few days after his defeat were terrible, Churchill confessed. The very next morning he arose and fretted because there were no diplomatic cables to read. Through the war, his first morning chore was to read the top-secret military and diplomatic cables from all over the empire; and he paced up and down intermittently for days, fretting because there were no cables coming in and because, though he felt things were going wrong, there was no one to whom he could send cables to straighten things out.

"Finally I went down to the south of France," Churchill confessed. "They treated me well there. I painted several pictures and they fed me some wonderful food. But still I couldn't get over this idea of no cables coming in and no cables going out. Each morning I fretted when I read the papers. But finally one morning I felt better. It suddenly dawned on me that I wasn't prime minister any more and it wasn't my worry, and I've felt better ever since."

Note — Churchill's health is touch and go. His doctor has ordered him to cut down on his food and drinking.

Are You Andover?

Funny about a small town like Andover, isn't it? There are so many people in it who are very nice, and there are so many people in it who are nice to only those that they think they should be nice to. It's not just Andover, of course; it's every small town, but possibly for a number of reasons ours is more so than most.

One of the Boston papers once ran a series of articles on Massachusetts' towns, and in the story on Andover, the writer referred to the Mill, the Till and the Hill, the obvious reference being to the three different parts of the town, the industrial, the mercantile and the academic. There is a distinction, but there shouldn't be. There is a distinction, because some people think that there should be. The real Andoverites are the people who can forget that there is a Mill, Hill and Till.

We have a lot of the latter. Many of our citizens are as well-known and as well-liked in one part of the town as in another. There are those, however, who feel it beneath them to even so much as nod to someone from the other sections. You can take, for instance, most of the teachers at Phillips, a pretty regular bunch—fellows who get just as much pleasure out of talking with Joe Mill as they do talking with Joe Hill, possibly more, in fact. But you can take some people from the Till section or others from the Hill section, and they will be glad to talk with the people from the Hill, and maybe a few from the Till, but wouldn't feel right about talking to a fellow from the Mill.

Andover is going to be what we make it, and "we" are all three sections of the town. Andover can grow in size and character, but it's not going to be a real town until everybody gets together, works together, helps the other fellow get ahead and rejoices when he does. It will succeed when it stays thoroughly democratic; it will become mediocre if it becomes like all Gaul, divided in three parts.

There aren't many of us that are much better really than others, and those of us who think we are are least likely to be justified in that thought. There is no such thing as an Andover snob, because the two just don't go together. If you're a snob, you're not Andover.

This Sober Town

It's the darnedest thing. The turkey is something of a wartime casualty. You can get them, of course, but they're all big fellows, and the small family no longer has a chance at gobbling a small gobbler, or gibbling a small giblet.

So what they've done, you fellows overseas will be interested to know, is to take the big turkeys and sell them in halves. When you gobs come back, you'll just have a gob- to eat instead of a gobbler, and somebody else will just have the -bler.

And that's what bothers us. You get a turkey, a whole turkey, and you know you have everything. But you get a half turkey, and you know you have one leg and one wing, and one-half a breast—but how about the other things that a turkey only has one of. A turkey neck is an awful thing to cut down through the middle of, so that one person will have half a neck and another person the other half. Besides, who wants half a neck; besides, who wants any neck?

And you wonder, as you're eating your drumstick, who is eating the other drumstick. You wonder whether maybe the

Blackie Is Gone

On New Year's Day, 1945, a little black dog was on my porch, shivering and cold. We were taking down the Christmas tree at the time, and as I looked out the bay window, I noticed the little black bundle. I went out, fed him, gave him some milk and he was my friend. I decided to keep him and call him "Blackie."

Blackie was hit by a car a few days ago and during the ten months we had him all the cute, loving things he did taught me to love him very dearly.

Now just to see him run down the street when I whistle and to see him speak for food when we hold it in front of him, to run upstairs and jump on the bed with him at my heels, to feel him lick my face and call him nice dog, love of my life and other sweet names, to see him running after my bike and following me wherever I go. All these cute things I miss and wish, above all things that he will be waiting at the Golden Gates of Heaven when I go. I will whistle and once more he will come running and jump into my arms and lick my face while I call him nice names. I hope it will be just like that when I go to the beginning of my eternal life in the city in the sky.

Tyer Adding New Facilities

The Tyer Rubber Company is now engaged in its most significant expansion of space and facilities since it began producing rubber footwear in 1922. It has just about completed the construction of an additional 13,500 square feet of manufacturing floor space which adds about ten percent to its previous total of such space.

In the new space there will be installed a new No. 11 Banbury Mixer which, together with its 500 horsepower D.C. variable speed motor, will weigh more than 50 tons. This new mixer will be used for mixing natural and synthetic rubber with other compounding materials, and will have a capacity three times greater than the present number 3A Banbury which the company purchased at the beginning of the war. The 3A Banbury will also be moved from its present location in the old Mill Room into the new space, near the new No. 11 Banbury Mixer, and a sheeting mill will be installed under each Banbury. Compounding raw materials will be stored and handled on the floors above the mixing equipment in the new building space.

There will be a cooling conveyor approximately one-third of a mile long on which stock will be transported for water spray cooling after it is mixed. Stock will then be transported by a conveyor from the mixing department to the storage bins at the north end of the plant.

Dust collectors will be installed so that the greater portion of dust and dirt now connected with the mixing process will be eliminated. There will be push button control of the Banburys, Mills, Conveyors, and the Elevator in the new structure.

The new installations entail a considerable investment, but will give the company one of the most efficient mixing departments in the country. The increased capacity will relieve the hazardous overload which the mixing department has been carrying and will eliminate the mixing on a full twenty-four hour per day basis which is now necessary with full production. The management feels this is essential in order to keep production costs in line with those of the lower cost producers in the industry.

World Affairs Course In Evening Study Program

For those interested in current world problems the Andover Evening Study Program is offering this winter a course entitled "World Issues Affecting American Interests." This course will consist of a series of lectures, each given by a different member of the Academy History Department, on political subjects of vital concern to America.

The introductory lecture, to be given by Dr. Miles Malone, will be concerned with Geopolitics and will relate such factors as environment, natural resources, and population to the international scene. In the next lecture Dr. Arthur Darling will discuss the background of American interests in the Far East and the problems of post-war settlement. Mr. Philip Potter will then discuss Germany and attempt to decide whether or not it is the keystone of Europe, as has often been claimed. Dr. Norman Floyd will, in the next lecture, analyze the various forces which are making the Middle East one of the world's sore spots. Dr. Howard Johnson is to cover the subject of the relations of this country with the USSR and will emphasize the difficulties of, and the need for, cooperation with the Soviet Union. Mr. Leonard James will next discuss the new Labor government in England and examine America's Stakes in British Politics. Mr. Kenneth Minard, in the next lecture, will examine the whole subject of United States National Security, and the final lecture will be given by Mr. Frederick Allis, who will review the history of the United Nations Organization and discuss the alternatives to such an organization.

Information on this course and on the whole Evening Study Program for adults may be obtained by getting a catalog at the Memorial Hall Library, the Stevens Library in North Andover, or at Phillips Academy. Those who wish catalogs sent them need merely call Andover 720 and give their address.

THANKSGIVING SERVICE

The traditional Thanksgiving service, led by Miss Marguerite Hearsey, principal, was held on Wednesday evening in Abbot Hall. The program began at 8:15 when students, faculty members, parents of students, and other Thanksgiving guests of the school assembled in the chapel. Each class took part in the service, using the beautiful antiphonal recitations taken from the Book of Psalms. Year by year the service follows a pattern which was established nearly a century ago.

The Thanksgiving Day holiday began on Thursday morning at nine o'clock, ending at eight o'clock in the evening. The day was given over to visits by the students to nearby homes, or else entertaining parents who had come to Andover to visit their daughters.

Impressive Memorial Service For Lt. Comdr. Edmands

A memorial service for the late Lieutenant Commander Allan C. Edmands, U. S. Navy, was held in Christ church last Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

The service was conducted by the rector, Rev. J. S. Moses, who read Allans record of fifteen years' service in the Navy, both as an enlisted man and as an officer.

Captain Albert E. Stone, U. S. Navy, of Swampscott, head chaplain of the First Naval District of Boston, was present and spoke a few words expressing sorrow over the loss of another promising young man, but also words of faith that these sacrifices are not in vain if those left behind will build the peace.

Delegations from both the American Legion, headed by Vice-Commander Arthur E. Steinert, and the Veterans of Foreign Wars, led by Commander Joseph K. Payne, were present, and a joint color guard in charge of Sergeant-at-Arms Joseph Levi, Jr., included D. Barker Higgins, Henry Giamo, Charles Winters, Lawrence Grant and Joseph Levi, Sr. Members from both service auxiliaries were also present.

Mrs. Allan C. Edmands and her three children, who live on the west coast, in Centralia, Washington, were unable to be at the service, nor was Lieutenant Commander Edmands brother John, who is now a lieutenant commander in the Navy, but his mother, Mrs. Mary C. Edmands of this town, which was Allans home when he entered the service, and his sister, Mrs. Roland Weeks of York Beach, with her husband, were among the gathering at the church, which also included relatives, and friends who had known Allan as a boy. The employees of the Andover Press, where Mrs. Mary Edmands works as a proof reader, attended in a body.

The South Church Men's Club—A supper meeting will be held at 6:30 Wednesday evening, November 28, in the vestry of the church. The supper is being served by the Alpha Phi Chi Sorority. "Mail Them Early", Says Postmaster

Postmaster Stephen Boland recently stated that conferences held by postal and Railway Mail officials have resulted in unanimous agreement that mail must be deposited early this year if Christmas delivery is to be assured. The present mail loads are running fifteen per cent over 1944.

Some of the reasons why we must send our Christmas packages early are: the dislocation of families arising from war marriages; the return of millions of men and women who were overseas last year; the remembrances of friends who were considerate to members of our armed forces while in the service; the greater purchasing power; the availability of merchandise heretofore unobtainable.

Did you ever see a saved dollar? You can see one at any time if you have a bank account. Isn't it a glad sight? There's a bill that will live to see a better day, a time when there will

LIFE in Andover

Upper left — Punchard's football team as it would have looked at the opening of the Johnson game Thanksgiving morning, if the game hadn't been rained, or rather, poured, out. The team will meet Johnson Saturday afternoon at 2:00 instead. The team lines up as follows: No. 6, R. Demers, re; No. 11, Moore, lt; No. 7, Cavallaro, rg; No. 29, Gillen, c; No. 38, Watson, lg; No. 24, Westcott, rt; No. 12, Parsons, le; No. 3, Waterman, rhb; No. 5, Phinney, qb; No. 13, Markey, lhb; No. 20, McCollum, fb.

Upper right — This is this week's mystery picture. Last week's was a mean one, because who in the world would be going out in back of the Indian Ridge school to look at the heating plant? That's where it was, anyway. Look in next week's paper for the location of this week's interesting shot.

Lower left — Things are percolating at the Andover Guild again under the leadership of Ben Dimlich. Jumping are Bruce Noble and Mike Davey, and standing in the rear are David Spencer, Glenn Noble, and Clifford Dubois.

Bottom right — "and they lived happily ever after." If they had really gotten married this would have been about the fifth wedding anniversary of the young couple who were married at the Tom Thumb wedding at a Free Church function.

THE WORLD AT ITS WORST by Gluyas WilliamsThree Injured in Truck-Car Crash

Andover experienced one of its worst accidents in the past five years Friday night, about 8 o'clock, when an automobile driven by Carmen Lomastro, 23, of 110 Farnham street, Lawrence, collided with the rear of a parked truck operated by John E. Dovan, 29 Strathmore road, Methuen. There were three other passengers in the car.

Sam Borelli, 33, 110 Farnham street, Lawrence, sitting on the right of the driver, received the full force of the blow. He received a broken right leg and multiple lacerations about the head. Also suffering from lacerations were Carmen Lamastro, 23, 110 Farnham street, and Frank Jackel, 22, 93 Foster street.

The truck had developed engine trouble on South Main street, at the south end of Hidden road. The driver was at the rear of the truck lighting a flare to guard against just such an accident, when the car came along, also going in a northerly direction, and hit the back of the truck. Dovan was standing at the rear right of the truck, and the car hit the rear right of the truck, missing him but a few feet.

Ambulance Attendants Ralph Baker and Benjamin Brown removed the three to the hospital, with the latter giving first aid en route.

"It's nice of you to want to help"

Of course, it's mainly up to the telephone company to see that you get good service. That's what we're in business for. But, in these days, when our switchboards and operators are so very busy, we sure do appreciate the friendly courtesy of people who want to do all they can to help get better service — for themselves and every one. Here are a few helpful habits in using your telephone:

- 1 LOOK UP THE NUMBER — Wrong numbers waste your time and tie up telephone facilities.
- 2 PLAN WHAT YOU'RE GOING TO SAY — You save your own time, and other people's, too, by planning your conversations in advance.
- 3 SPEAK CLEARLY — Use your normal tone of voice, speaking directly into the mouthpiece.
- 4 ANSWER PROMPTLY — Every one saves time and annoyance when telephones are answered promptly; it's a courtesy we all appreciate.
