Memorial Services and Parade Open Tercentenary Program

At a meeting of the Tercentenary Committee in the court room Tuesday night, the reports of the various sub-committee heads were given, previewing the four-day observance program for Andover's Tercentenary.

Memorial Service

It was again voted by the committee that the Memorial services to be given at the auditorium Thursday morning, May 30, would be under the complete supervision of the veterans' organizations, and Commander Arthur E. Steinert of the American Legion and Ira Buxton were present representing the Memorial Service committee.

Historical Parade

Chairman Howell F. Shepard, chairman of the Parade Committee, reported that besides the many floats that would appear in the parade, there would be several bands, including the Coast Guard Auxiliary band, the Scotch Pipers, which are a combination of the Clan McPherson and a Lynn group, the West Roxbury Brass Band, the Andover Brass Band, and the Punchard High School Girls' Band.

Arrangements have been made to direct Main street traffic down Phillips and the streets entering Main will be temporarily blocked off. Forming at 1:30 on Elm street, the course of march will be along Main street to Wheeler, to School, to Central, to Chestnut, to Bartlett, breaking up between Bartlett and Whittier streets.

A reviewing stand will be set up in front of the Red Cross Headquarters for town and visiting dignitaries.

Pageant by Schools

Burton S. Flagg, reporting on the progress of the pageant to be held on Friday afternoon in the playstead, stated that the five episodes would include students from the public schools, St. Augustine's and the two academies.

Tercentenary Decorations

According to Fred Cheever's reports on the decorating of Main street, Memorial Auditorium and Punchard High school, Andover will begin to put on its festive clothing by next week. The stores and organizations are co-operating with the committee in making the over-all picture one of which the town may be proud.

Sports Events

The program of sports has been well organized under the supervision of Bernard L.

McDonald, with a baseball game after the parade between Punchard and Johnson at the playstead, bicycle races Saturday morning from Ballardvale to the playstead, an exhibition baseball game at Brothers Field Saturday afternoon and a golf tournament at Andover Country Club, Friday, Saturday and Sunday of the celebration. There will be no admission charge for any of the sports events.

Banquet

Claude M. Fuess, chairman of the banquet committee, announced that the principal speaker of Saturday night's program in Case

Memorial Cage, James Phinney Baxter, 3rd, President of Williams College, will speak on Andover's Field of Education. Dr. Baxter is a graduate of Phillips Andover, class of 1910. Since the Secretary of the Navy, James V. Forrestal, will give a welcome address to veterans, it is hoped that many World War II veterans will be in attendance for the occasion. Other notable people who will be present to give brief speeches will be Senator Leverett Saltonstall. Governor Maurice J. Tobin and Congresswoman Edith Nourse Rogers. The banquet will begin at 6:30, and tickets at $2.00 are available at the Tax Collector's office and at various stores in town.

Industrial Exhibit

The industrial exhibit that will be open in Memorial gymnasium for the four days from 10:00 a. m. to 8:00 p. m. on Thursday, from 10:00 a. m. to 6:00 p. m. on Friday, and from 10:00 a. m. to 9:00 p. m. for the remainder of the celebration is under the supervision of Henry G. Tyer. The exhibit is restricted to the town's industrial concerns, but the committee voted that historical exhibits sponsored by the Town of Andover and by the National Bank will be included.

Concerts

In the absence of J. Everett Collins, a report of the sacred concert to be presented at Cochran chapel June 2 at 8:30 was not heard. However, the concert composed of the Tercentenary chorus, organ selections and numbers by a chorus of school boys under the direction of Miss Miriam Sweeney will be one of the highlights of the anniversary and will be the only event on Sunday with the exception of the special historical services at the local churches.

Percy Grainger, the well-known composer and pianist, will be the featured soloist with the Andover Community orchestra concert in Memorial auditorium on Friday night. George Brown is the conductor of the orchestra. Tickets at $1.00, $1.20 and $1.50 are on sale at the Tax Collector's office in the Town Hall.

Booklet on Historical Homes

Miss Bessie Goldsmith reported that the booklets describing 44 of Andover's historical houses will be available at local stores next week, and that a small charge of ten cents will be made for the pamphlets. It was voted that William Trow would request the opening of these homes on Saturday afternoon.

Members Present

Dr. Claude M. Fuess, general chairman, presided at the meeting with the following members present: Selectman Roy E. Hardy, secretary; Henry G. Tyer, Miss Bessie P. Goldsmith, Bernard L. McDonald, William A. Trow, Burton S. Flagg, Thaxter Eaton, Irving Southworth, Frederick E. Cheever and H. Bradford Lewis. Carr, sister of the bride was matron of honor, and another sister, Mrs. Robert Clisbee of Marlboro was bridesmaid. They wore gowns of aqua and orchid ninon respectively, and wore coronets of mixed flowers to match their arm bouquets of white iris and yellow roses.

A reception was held following the ceremony at the home of the bride's parents. After a wedding trip through Northern New York and Canada, the couple will make their home at 20 Dewey street, North Andover.

School Children Learn History On Bus Trip To Historical Sites

With the coming of Andover's Tercentenary, pride in the town's history does not start with the very old who can remember the days when . . . but is also inherent in the very young, and Miss Florence McCarthy, teacher of the Shawsheen school, has encouraged and augmented this feeling of pride and interest of the pupils of the fourth grade. All year in connection with classes in social studies, she has been telling fascinating tales of Andover's early beginning and her part in the progress of a great nation through the last 300 years.

But her manner of teaching Andover's history has not been by old-fashioned methods. Last week the class was held in a school bus, showing how well attuned are our schools to modern trends even while learning of historical events that happened years ago. While Mr. Johnson drove slowly along Andover's streets by the Shawsheen river, along Main street to the Historical Society, Miss McCarthy discussed each point of historical interest. The students were enrapt, and imprinted on their minds were the old stories that have contributed to Andover and what it is today.

At the Historical Society, Miss Underhill greeted them and showed them through the former Amos Blanchard home, where they were fascinated by the old clock, the collection of dolls and dishes. Out on the lawn, the children grouped around the picturesque doorway to hear further historical anecdotes by Miss Underhill. (front cover)

From the Historical Society, the pilgrimage proceeded to the Abbot homestead, where the class was allowed to explore the rooms, taking special note of the heavy beams, the old table and benches that had been sent from England, a butter churn and bed warmer.

In orderly files, they went from room to room, excited but quiet so that not a word of Miss McCarthy's talks was lost. Each child was trying to memorize each bit of information and the manner in which it was presented so that some day in the future, miniature sight-seeing guides could escort parents to each historical spot during the Tercentenary.

The bus carried the eager students to Abbot and Phillips academies, stopping at Memorial tower and at the Armillary sphere, the America House, the Harriet Beecher Stowe house, and the Peabody Museum, where the replica of the original Indian Village which was at Shattuck's Farm, brought forth exciting stories of Andover's earliest inhabitants.

The last stop was at the old Isaac Abbot tavern on Elm street, where the oft-told tale of George Washington and little Priscilla was told once more, and at the scene where it all happened young imaginations pictured the romantic story, the worn glove, the mending, the kiss and the resolution not to wash off such an unusual commendation.

Starting at 9:00 last Thursday morning, the tour was completed about noon-time and the afternoon classes were spent in discussion and further instruction on Andover's history. As a memento, the children are preparing a large scrap book that will include original drawings, essays and souvenirs of the trip.

From the essays, several impressions are taken showing individual reactions and tastes.

"Yesterday our class went on a tour to see the historical places of interest in Andover. The school bus came and we rode to the Andover Historical Society. Miss Underhill spoke to us. Everything was very interesting . . . There were antique dolls, dishes, guns and swords. She showed us an organ that is over a hundred years old. Campel F. Smith played "America" on this organ. Before we left Miss Underhill showed us the very old lilac bush in the yard." Francis Henrick

"Best of all was the hair wreath. The hair wreath was made of human hair. When some-

OUR COVER

A bus trip into the past was enjoyed by the fourth grade class of the Shawsheen school last Thursday when the entire group, under the guidance of their teacher, Miss Florence McCarthy, visited the historical points of interest in our town.

Grouped on the lawn of the Historical Society, pupils and teacher are shown listening to a talk by Miss Caroline M. Underhill as she tells about the old lilac bush near the doorway.

body died in the family, they cut off a curl and used it for the hair wreath." Judy Colmer

"The grandfather clock was very interesting. There was a map on the clock that told when the new moon came." Gail Thompson

"Next we went to see the Abbot homestead. This house was built in 1685. They had a fireplace in every room. . . Next we went upstairs. We saw a bed. It didn't have any springs. It was all made by hand. . . We saw a picture. Any place you went in the room, the eyes would follow you." William Mooney

"The staircase was very narrow and steep for the house was built in 1685. . . It showed us how the people had to make all their furniture with just a few tools." William Dean

Most of the essays included "We enjoyed our trip," and these and others included in the scrap book will record the trip and the story of our town for other classes that follow, and in their simple and clear-cut reporting, perhaps there is information that has escaped other classes of many years ago.

Westcott; parade marshal, William McDonald; transportation, Benjamin Dimlich; music, Miriam Sweeney; invitations, Miss Evelyn Parker and Mrs. Emma G. Carter; costumes, Miss Francis Collins; public relations, Miss Eunice Stack and public address system, Fred Collins.

If Friday—horros—should be a rainy day, the pageant will be held Monday at 4:30.

OFFICIAL BADGES, REFRESHMENT SALE LICENSED TO A. S. F. A.

Unless it is being kept a big secret, there will be no birthday cake with pink frosting and 300 white candles for Andover's birthday, but the Andover Servicemen's Fund association will see to it that there are plenty of refreshments and cold drinks on sale at the party.

When the Tercentenary committee met on April 24, it was voted that the A. S. F. A. should have all privileges for the sale of refreshments during the anniversary observance and John M. Erving, general chairman, has obtained many ice cream novelties, cold drinks, balloons and birds that fly around a stick by his characteristic perseverance that denies the existence of the word "shortage."

In addition, he has secured the privilege of designing and selling for the benefit of the Servicemen's Fund, the official Tercentenary souvenir, a smart looking blue and white button with blue and white ribbon streamers, that will go on sale this week at 25 cents.

He met with his committee on Wednesday night in the Veterans' Service center to formulate plans for the sale of the treasured articles. Frank Markey, representing the A. S. F. A., will be in charge of the sale of the official badges; Joseph McCarthy representing the American Legion, will head a committee to sell balloons, peanuts and birds; Thomas Carter, Veterans of Foreign Wars' representative, will take charge of the ice cream; James Sparks, AMVET, will sell cold drinks, and Betty Buchan is in charge of publicity. Mr. Erving has taken care of procurement of all the articles to be sold, and is also in charge of the advance sale of badges.

All who will assist the A. S. F. A. will wear white coats with brassards bearing the name of the association so that they may be easily distinguished among the people attending the events.

Badges will be sold previous to the Tercentenary at the Shawsheen Spa, O'Brien's store in Ballardvale, the Andover National bank and the Andover Savings bank, Dalton's pharmacy, Hartigan's, Dantos', the Food Shop, the Town Clerk's office and the Memorial Hall library. They will also be on sale at the anniversary events.

Sale of the novelties will take place at the sports events, the pageant, and at the Punchard High school cafeteria during the industrial exhibit, and at the Community Orchestra concert.

From Scratch To Artistry In 7 Years

The Andover Community Orchestra was such a timid and scratchy little group when it was organized seven years ago that its members would have laughed with varying tones of disbelief had anyone said that some day they would play a public concert with Percy Grainger as soloist. Enthusiasm drove the bows and fingers that first night, but not technique. The clarinetist, a convert from the loose realms of jazz, asked one of the few experts there what the latter thought of his tone on the clarinet. "Too much like the Ritz Roof," came the reply, not too sharply, but not too gently!

Along through the seven years the Orchestra has been a real community organization. In makeup it is a rare mingling of all ages and occupations, of professional musicians and amateurs. Among those sitting behind the concert master, Domenic Teoli of Lawrence, are a doctor and a pair of busy housewives, a minister from Plaistow, N. H., and a violin teacher from Wellesley. Miss Frances Magoon of Lawrence heads the second violins, which include three Haverhill men, a Lawrence school teacher and a Red Cross worker in Boston. Teachers from the community's private and public schools are dotted here and there; an executive of the New England Power Co. sits near three newly returned veterans playing French horns, while three Methuen High school students carry the brass section.

Presiding over this array is the tall slender figure of George Brown, graduate of Harvard and the N. E. Conservatory, one-time student of Felix Weingartner, 'cellist, teacher, conductor, and when the snow falls he can steal away from his many musical engagements and ski expertly on the slopes of N. H. or the Canadian Rockies. Firm and exacting of his players, with an ear keen to spot the flatted note, Mr. Brown nevertheless is jolly and sympathetic, tempering his criticism with a quip, and drawing the utmost from the orchestra.

AS YOU probably know, it isn't an easy job to get baseball managers to give out personal interviews concerning the comparative strength of certain stars or certain positions. It so happens that one of the most important sectors in baseball, especially winning baseball, is that spot of the diamond guarded by the shortstop and the second baseman.

While no direct quotes were available we have run across seven managers and scouts quite willing to give out their private opinions.

Here is the way the concensus came out—

- No. 1. Rizzuto and Gordon, Yankees.
- No. 2. Pesky and Doerr, Red Sox.
- No. 3. Reese and Rojek, Dodgers.
- No. 4. Boudreau and Mack, Indians.
- No. 5. Marion and Verban, Cardinals.

This ranking or rating included all-around quality, hitting, fielding and double-play results. There was a close finish between the Rizzuto-Gordon and the Pesky-Doerr combinations. It was generally agreed that the Red Sox pair carried the higher-hitting average, but the defensive play of Rizzuto and Gordon gave the Yankees a slight lead.

Announce Tournament

The Andover Country Club announces an open golf tournament to be held in connection with the Tercentenary events. Any player who is a member of a Merrimack Valley Golf Club is eligible to enter the contest and is requested to get in touch with John Boda, Andover Country Club "Pro" who is in charge.

Contestants will compete in an 18-hole medal play and the golfer with the lowest gross score will receive a handsome trophy donated by the Andover Tercentenary Sports committee. There will also be prizes for 2nd, 3rd, 4th, 5th gross as well as for the 1st, 2nd, 3rd, 4th, 5th and 6th net scorers.

The tournament will take place at the Country Club on May 31st, June 1 and 2 and a long drive contest will be held each of these days from 5:30 to 6:00 in the afternoon.

In the work they have shown before and what they have turned out this spring, it would be difficult to find a more brilliant pair of infield workmen than Rizzuto and Gordon. Both are all over the lot. And both can get the ball away quicker than you can discard a burning package of paper matches. They keep you dizzy attempting to follow their double-play actions or their work on some slow grounder that has to be handled in split-second time.

Pesky and Doerr are good and they are likely to rate higher on the hitting side. But certainly on defense the Yankees have the edge

BICYCLE RACES TO START AT VALE

Bicycle races scheduled for June 1 will start at Ballardvale near the Fire Station at 9:00 a.m. for contestants 14 years old and under and 9:30 a.m. for those 15 years old and over.

Both courses will follow the same route along Andover street to Central street, up Central street to Chestnut, along Chestnut crossing Main street to Whittier street to the playstead. Commemorative Medallions will be presented to the winners.

Punchard vs. Johnson Track Meet Events

The track meet between Punchard and Johnson to be held at the playstead at 10:00 Saturday morning, June 1, is under the supervision of Donald Dunn.

Schedule of Events:

Commemorative Medallions will be awarded to the winner of each event.

over any other combination in either league.

The Dodger Ranking

I was surprised to see Peewee Reese and Stan Rojek rated over some of the others. But these votes came from scouts who had talked with National League managers. They figured that Reese would be good enough to give either Marion or Miller a stretch run at shortstop and that Rojek would be a big surprise. Oddly enough they figured that while Marion and Boudreau were two of baseball's best shortstops, their second-base support couldn't match Gordon or Doerr. And Rojek, with all his bright possibilities, is still something of a guess when planted in this able company.

This shortstop-second base combination means a lot to any winning club. Suppose we look back a few years—there were the old Cubs, winner of four championships in five years—and their entry was Tinker and Evers. How about the Athletics from 1910 through 1914 when they also won four pennants? Their answer is Jack Barry and Eddie Collins. Cleveland once had Tuck Turner and Larry Lajoie. One of McGraw's greatest teams had Dave Bancroft and Frank Frisch. They were factors in winning four pennants in a row.

It might be noted that the clubs more favorably mentioned in the two pennant races are strong at this essential fortress. They are the Yankees, the Red Sox and the Cardinals.

Two-Sport Stars

A while ago we attempted a rating of the best baseball-football combinations such as Frank Frisch, Snuffy Stirnweiss, Lou Gehrig, Matthewson, Overall, etc. Ray Farnham from Philadelphia writes that we have left out the star bet of the lot.

"His name is Mickey Cochrane," says Ray. "Cochrane is still remembered as one of the great catchers of all time—one of the best hitters—a winning manager. But few remember that at Boston university in the early twenties, Mickey was also one of the best backs of many seasons. He was a star triple threat—one who could pass, run and kick with any All-America named that season. He was also a magnificent tackler and blocker.

Voluntary Prevention Of Food Waste

Moved by the news of food failures in the schedule for shipping emergency supplies to the stricken areas of the world, the president of the Abbot Christian Association, Florence Fryling, made an appeal to the student body asking that on the grounds of the abundance of food in the school dining room that the girls take a pledge not to consume needed shippable supplies between meals. The request was placed on a voluntary basis but the response was very satisfactory nevertheless. The pledge asked that the students discontinue the purchase of wheat products particularly; to restrict themselves from eating sugar products between meals; and to eat everything served to them at the table in order to stop wastage. This step appeared wholly logical following an entire year's work in an effort to aid in the support of a school in France, and a practical result from the year's work on the World Student Service Fund.

Episode in Pageant

Miss Hearsey announced the following committee in connection with Abbot's participation in the Tercentenary program of the town of Andover: The Abbot episode in the Pageant of Andover; Miss Dorothy Morgan Gray, Miss Elaine Dodge, Miss Anna Roth, Miss Harriet McKee; the Abbot Float: Miss Jane Sullivan, Mr. Abbott Cheever, Miss Katherine McDonald, and Miss

Emergency Food Collection

The Selectmen have issued the following statement in connection with the present emergency food collection.

The President of the United States has warned that more people face starvation and death from want of food today than in any war year, and that only through super-human efforts can mass starvation be prevented. In many areas, the world has experienced the shortest crops in fifty years. "The conscience of the American people will not permit them to withhold their co-operation while their fellow-men in other lands suffer and die."

More than 500,000,000 men, women and children in Europe and Asia are now in dire need of food; disease and unrest, caused by food shortages, threaten the health and peace of the entire world. We, therefore, call upon all citizens of Andover, and all religious, educational, patriotic, civic, fraternal, business and labor groups to co-operate in this collection of canned food and cash contributions for the purchase of food to be shipped overseas through UNRRA for free distribution to starving people.

BOARD OF SELECTMEN

MR. GREELEY AT GRAND CANYON

We're still following Mr. Greeley around the U. S., and this week finds him writing from Boulder City, Nevada, as follows:

"The other day we entered the Grand Canyon. Almost at once you see the beginning of these great gorges. The best descriptive writer in the world could never do justice in describing the scene along one side of the canyon. When you get to the highest point, there is a government station and all kinds of cars pay a $1.00 fee, which is good for one year. This point of the canyon is 7500 feet above sea level. There is a high observation tower where, with glasses, you can see for miles up and down the great Colorado river, which looks no larger than the lead pencil I am using to write this letter to you.

"Today we took a side trip to the city of Las Vegas, the Monte Carlo of the U. S. A. We got into the city at 8:15 and at that time in the morning all the gambling houses were full of players. They call them club houses. Most of them are located on the main street, and they are the best looking buildings in the town, all air conditioned. Of course, it is all very legal. No minors are allowed, but as I am over 21 I went in and looked them over. After I watched their games of chance for a while I made up my mind to stick to my little penny ante at 10c the limit."

BRINGING FRIENDS AND NEIGHBORS closer

Even though they may live miles out in the country, more and more New England farm women will be keeping close to friends and neighbors and to the city — by telephone.

We're bending every effort to extend telephone service in rural New England. Since our lines already are near 90 per cent of the homes in the rural areas we serve, such expansion will move ahead rapidly once we are able to install the needed switchboards and other equipment.

We're pushing ahead on this big job just as fast as manpower and materials permit — spending over $3,000,000 to bring the special help and comfort of telephone service into ever larger numbers of New England farm homes.

Our Town

It's just another couple of weeks before the great event, and there are a few suggestions which we would like to put forth which might help to make the observance of our 300th birthday something that we will long remember with pride and pleasure.

A great many people have been working a great many hours on this program, despite conditions which were very far from favorable. The town meeting of a year ago was advised by Doctor Fuess and his committee members that the appropriation should be made at that meeting in order to allow ample time for the development of a truly excellent program, one worthy of the town. However, the appropriation was turned down that time, not because of its merits, but because of a great many extenuating circumstances that had nothing at all to do with the desire of the townspeople of Andover to give the town a birthday which benefited such a fine town as ours.

There was no opposition at the recent March meeting to the anniversary appropriation.

It was not too little, but it came mighty near being too late. The lateness of the authorization has made necessary drastically prodigious efforts by the committee of 15, by its sub-committees and by the teachers and pupils of the public school, in whose hands fell the job of producing every phase of a 300-year historical pageant.

In the very necessary rush, some mistakes may have been made and some people may have been slighted, but let's keep in mind that everybody tried to do his level best. Let's not have any friction or any bitterness on our anniversary. It's too big an occasion, and it's too fine a town to allow petty bickerings to spoil something that we want to make everybody remember as an occasion which well-characterized the past, present and future of what we think is the best town there ever was.

What Do You Think?

We've had so many favorable comments about last week's communication-editorial, and so many people said they wished they could write what they also thought, and some people actually did sit down to write a letter to the editor, but then go afraid and threw it in the waste-basket.

Sure, it's our paper, but it's your paper, too. We run it not for ourselves, but for Andover. And we'd like you to use it to express your opinions in. Don't be afraid, send along your communications. If they're worth while, we most certainly will publish them.

STAMPEDE

They had oughter git sum of these Linkern spellers to tell the rubber stamp peopul how to spell "Tercentenary," or is it "Tercentenary," or "Tercentenary." Wait a minn't, and we'll tell you how they really did spell it on the rubber stamp. Here it is—

"Tercentenary."

Blue's the town's color, but we now have a very red face. It was a good idea to have a rubber stamp made, and placed at the post office window so that residents could stamp a little publicity for the Tercentenary (legalized spelling) on their outgoing mail—but whoever manufactured the rubber stamp just didn't seem to realize that here in our educationally-minded town, we are a little particular about our spelling.

So we hereby notify all who receive any rubber-stamped mail from Andover: it warn't the town's fault that it was spelled with too many "N"'s. We're not quite sure yet how to pronounce "Tercentenary" but we are sure how to spell it. It was just a rubber-stamp manufacturer's error, and how we love it when it's not a printer's error!

OUR "300TH"

Everyone's saying "300th"
 And gleaning historical news
 They're planning to visit old houses
 And looking up old-fashioned views.
 They're buying a book from the Townsman
 And planning to join the parade
 Everyone's feeling excited
 Reading the plans that are made.
 Yes, everyone ought to be joining
 To make it a week of renown
 For it only comes once in a lifetime
 And nothing's too good for our town!

Social events are slowing down considerably during the next week but that doesn't mean that they are petering out. Oh, no. Activities are just catching a breath before the four-day continuation of one celebration after another during the Tercentenary season. The program and information regarding the featured events will be found elsewhere in this issue and from May 30th through June 2, you will want to stay right in the home town and enjoy its attractions.

Andover In Pictures

Besides the scheduled events, there will be an exhibit at Addison Gallery of views of the town at various periods in its history which may be compared with present day photographs of the same sites also being shown. The exhibit will be held at the gallery until Labor Day.

500 Years Ago

At the Archaeology building at Main and Phillips streets a model of an Indian village located on what is now Shattuck's Farm in West Andover is something not to be missed in a review of Andover's history, and other exhibits include houses and life in town as it was 500 years ago.

Garden-time

In spite of cool breezes and damp days, Andover gardens are bursting forth in a profusion of colors that are waiting to dazzle the visitors to six town homes on Saturday. The Garden club is sponsoring the tour and tickets are on sale at the book-store at $1.20.

"Harmony Brook," the early 18th century home of Mrs. Charles Arnold, with its small rose garden and terrace overlooking the pond, is among those to be open. Others include the woodland planting and pool of Mrs. Oscar M. Godfrey, the stately colonial home of Mrs. Mitchell Johnson with its formal gardens, and the interesting terrace planting of Mrs. Joseph Bell which suggests a "green garden."

Treasures for Sale

Are you looking for an iron spider? or a tea-kettle? or perhaps a muffin tin? These scarce items will be found at the White Elephant booth at the South church fair on May 24, but they might not be there long. Mrs. Alvin Zinc has arranged for everyone in the church or out to contribute their prizes to the booth, and Mrs. B. H. Chapman will be there to serve you. Should you need transportation for your elephants to the church, Mrs. Eugene Lovely, Mrs. John Jenkins or Mrs. Harvey Turner will be glad to make the necessary arrangements.

Other committee members are: Mrs. M. W. Colquhoun, Mrs. Florence J. Abbott, Mrs. John U. Monro, Miss Harriet Carter, Miss Mary Bell and Mrs. Wilfred Lord.

Rumor has it that even lanterns will be high-lights of the White Elephant booth.

Food for Hungry

The Emergency Food Collection committee has set up its boxes for the donation of canned goods in the following places: Punched High school, Junior high school, Stowe school, Bradley school, Ballardvale school, Shawsheen, Indian Ridge, St. Augustine's, North and West Center school and at Phillips and Abbot academies.

Andover stores are accepting contributions of money and both types of donations will be distributed to the hungry people in destitute countries by U.N.R.R.A.

For further information regarding the collections, Frank Dunn, Harold Haselton, John Friel, Rocco Mirisola or T. A. Farragher may be contacted.

Public Invited

Friends from the community are invited to come to Abbot on Saturday evening, May 18 to hear an address by Thomas Proctor, Ph. D., Professor of Philosophy at Wellesley College. Dr. Proctor will speak to the school in honor of the recently announced Cum Laude students. His topic will be "The Practical Value of Impractical Learning".
