THE ANDOV

WAS THIS TRIP NECESSARY?

The model airplane contest at the Punchard athletic field was held to display the agility of tiny gasoline-powered craft in the air. That it accomplished, but it also displayed the agility in the air of one of the contestants who was supposed to keep both feet on the ground. The laws of the contest didn't mention that fact, but it is just understood between grounded aviators of model planes that the model goes up in the air and the man behind the controls remains on the ground. It's very simple to talk about but it is not always easy to follow through.

The model airplane club in town is new and the members who, for the past few months have been building trim little chassis (what is the plural of chassis, chassisese?) around the small gasoline motors that look very uncomplicated but that sell at about 25 bucks a throw, have not had enough experience to be professionals at the game of ground flying. Therefore, when a Lawrence flyer visited the contest to show off some of his spectacular maneuvering, it was good news to the local club. Here was an opportunity to take a lesson in agility.

Carl Laffert had brought along his stunt plane, Blood Stream, which was on the program for some exhibition flying. It was quite a harmless appearing craft in spite of its gruesome title and powerful little motor. It was carrying a tank full of gas, about one-third of an ounce at brim capacity.

She made a graceful take-off, the purr of her motor indistinguishable amid the cheers of the crowd. The two narrow cables running from the tail of the plane to the wings, through the clear fall air to the wooden handle by which Mr. Laffert manipulated it into a dive or a loop could hardly be seen. It looked as if the plane was entirely on its own and was making up its own mind just what stunt to pull off to do its owner proud. That's the way it looked. But the owner who was skillfully directing the plane's motion could feel the tug of the cables as the motor picked up speed. Gaining and gaining, the tiny craft had reached a speed of 75 miles an hour when the thing happened. Laffert was running along the athletic field, keeping his eyes on the plane, when he tripped and took as neat a nose dive on the athletic field as you'd ever want to see. The plane, robbed of its navigator, fluttered around in the air like a helpless bird that has just found out that the next page of the instruction book is torn out, then with the old "show must go on" spirit it went into a dive at break-neck speed and about now the Chinese are wondering what new kind of a worm is pushing its metal nose through the oriental dirt.

About a dozen Andover planes were entered in the contest and managed to do their maneuvering without mishap. James J. Doyle was the judge, with Herbert Bachmann acting as starter and Francis Roderick as timer. Robert Bachmann of Stratford road was awarded the first prize of $5.00 with a control line gasoline model of his own design. Second prize of $2.00 went to Charles Sanborn of 59 Elm street and Andrew Alvino of North Andover was the recipient of third prize.

The club was greatly encouraged by

WHERE IS "THAT BOOK?"

We had a little celebration here at the Townsman Press one day last week; it wasn't much, because we're saving the big celebration for the now not-too-distant day when the Tercentenary book will be completed.

But last week we began to see some results of our several months' work, because a load of coated paper finally came through. Coated has been very scarce, but it was coated we wanted—and so we waited. When you're printing something for the ages, you don't want to use any substitutes, and for the type of pictures that we're running, coated paper was the only thing.

So we unloaded the paper, got some pages on the big press, and then sat down for a few moments to look it over. We've let a few other people take a glance at some of it, too, so we knew there was real reason to celebrate. The men in the shop know, too—and they all felt a good deal of justifiable pride in the job.

It's really something—and it ought to be something. It's been a lot of work. We knew it was going to be a lot of work. We probably could have gotten out a volume with much less work, but gosh—this is Andover. It had to be good.

It was one Sunday morning last spring that we decided that something in the way of a worthwhile souvenir just had to be part of the town's 300th birthday celebration. The town's appropriation was limited, the time was limited, everything was limited. We had enough to do too with our regular work—but it is a pretty nice town, and it's worth doing a little extra for.

As we talked it over in the office, that "little extra" became a lot extra. Our preliminary plans today look pretty meager. The thing developed, and it became apparent that the shortness of time would not allow us to do everything that the very enthusiastic support of the townspeople and the business firm had made possible.

the interest shown in the event and is planning a full scale contest in the spring when, it is anticipated, there will be many more planes ready to participate. So far no innovation similar to last week's feature has been arranged, but those things seldom are pre-arranged.

In Model airplane contests, stunt flying does not regularly apply to the man at the controls. It usually means the planes themselves that are equipped to circle, loop-the-loop, dive and travel bottom side up. It could be that Blood Stream was equipped with a radio and that the last message from pilot to navigator was "Roger, Over." What difference did it make if his name was Carl?

E. L. B.

We wanted to do it all ourselves, too. When most newspapers get out special editions, they usually import somebody to run the whole thing. But we're in business in Andover, we wanted this perfect, not anything thrown together by some outsider who didn't have one bit of devotion to the town.

The staff got to work—and kept getting the Townsman out, too. Betty Buchan was relieved of a lot of her Townsman work, with Elinor Cole adding that to her secretarial duties. Elizabeth Caldwell saw many of the business houses; Mr. Grover saw others. The two Donalds, Look and Surette, went out photographing the town. The organizations, the churches, the schools were all contacted for histories (and believe it or not, one of the more important town organizations didn't get their history in until a very few weeks ago.) The staff buried itself in old Townsman volumes to bring the town's history up-to-date. It's rather fascinating, reading back in 1902 when the Savings Bank made news by having a telephone installed, or Officer Myerscough and the Townsman editor getting excited because automobiles were going through town at 15 miles an hour, or Ballardvale residents wanting one of those new street-cars to run down their way. And what we know now about some of your antecedents! But of course that's not going in the book.

Well, anyway—we have the paper. It was a hard job getting it—but we have it—and before too long, we'll be having the big celebration. In the meantime we'll watch with pride from after form coming off the press—and you'll see it one of these days all together.

A publisher of a Greater Lawrence paper who next week has a special edition for his paper's 70th birthday saw some of our book's pages fresh off the press the other day. "Golly," said he, "that's what I've always dreamed of, but I couldn't get out anything as wonderful as that."

WHERE TO GO ..AND WHEN

U. N.

Since the 51 members of the United Nations that are represented at the Assembly in New York this week hold the future in their unjoined hands, it is quite appropriate that they are meeting in the "World of Tomorrow" building that was an interesting feature of the World's Fair. What the World of Tomorrow will be is more than an "interesting feature" to us now. The tomorrow that we thought about a few years ago is now Today and the responsibility of what today's tomorrow will be lies with us — NOW. Our great hope of this assembly is that the men who are shaping the world's destiny will see fit to put the UNITED in United Nations.

Triangular Dance

Punchard's triangular barn dance for Punchard, Methuen and Johnson students and alumni will be held in Memorial auditorium on November 15. All kinds of prize dances and stunts are being planned and it's a MUST for old time dancers.

Main Street

Shopping on Main street during the week of November 4 to the 11th will have particular interest since local artists will have on exhibition in store windows their selected works.

Carnival

The local post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars is making plans for a gala 3-night carnival in the Post rooms November 21, 22, 23. Drawings for prizes as well as special entertainment will be held each night of the affair.

Single Tickets For Figaro

The Celebrity Series to be presented at George Washington Hall will open on November 4 at 8:00 with "The Marriage of Figaro" directed by Boris Goldovsky. Witold Malcuzyński, the eminent Polish pianist, will devote his program to the works of Frederic Francois Chopin in his concert on January 31 and the Don Cossack Russian male chorus and dancers will be presented on March 4.

Tickets for the complete series are now on sale and may be ordered by calling Mrs. Cannon at George Washington Hall. Tickets for the single event on November 4 will not be available until the day of the opera since the choicest seats are being saved for the series reservations.

Open House

When the Memorial Hall Library holds its annual open house on November 17 in connection with Book Week, the guest speaker will talk on a timely subject of interest to many, "Small Homes of Today and Tomorrow." Mrs. Johnson O'Connor, well-known architect, will be the speaker and the Library invites the public to attend.

To Describe Referendum On World Government

Thomas H. Eliot will talk on World Federal Government at the Memorial Hall Library, Monday evening, October 28 at 8 o'clock. The meeting is under the auspices of the local committee of the Massachusetts Committee for World Federation which is working to arouse wide-spread interest in the referendum on world government which will appear on the ballot November 5.

Mr. Eliot has had practical experience in public affairs as a former representative from the 11th district. At the present time general counsel for the Social Security Board, Mr. Eliot was for one year during the war with O. W. I. in England and special assistant to Ambassador Winant.

The stringencies of the time demand clear thinking and new approaches. The question of world federal government is of vital importance. Everyone is urged to attend and to participate in the discussion which will follow Mr. Eliot's talk.

Supply and Demand

According to reports, the price of meat is on the downward slide. This is good news because it was only last week that someone told us about buying a pound of steak in town for 1.50. Personally we can not feel much sympathy for anyone who would pay that price because it just prolongs the time when the more conservative buyers will be able to have a steak dinner at a reasonable rate. Could it be that the buyer has underestimated his importance in a system of free enterprise?

Hallowe'en Barn Dance

Mrs. Wallace Brimer and Mrs. James Grew announce that all the arrangements for the Andover League of Womens Voters' Barn Dance and Card Party are completed. When the guests arrive at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Vasco E. Nunez on Sunset Rock road in Andover this Saturday evening at 8 o'clock they will find that the barn has been fancifully decorated in Hallowe'en fashion.

Mrs. T. Dennie Pratt is chairman of the Decorations Committee. She is being ably assisted by Mr. and Mrs. William S. Hughes, Mr. and Mrs. David Darling, Dr. and Charles Hollis and Dr. Pratt. Mr. and Mrs. Kingman Webster are in charge of the refreshments for the party. Mrs. Emery J. Trott is chairman of Publicity. Mrs. Cleveland Gilreast as chairman of the Ticket Committee reports that a large number of tickets have been sold. Tickets will also be available at the door.

Explanations of Wordy Referenda To Be Available At League Booth

The League will open voting booths in front of the Town house on November 1, 2, 4, and 5 and will distribute printed information briefly explaining the verbose questions that will appear on the ballot.

Of the 6 questions which will be put to a vote, the League takes a definite stand on two, advocating a No vote on question 1, the O'Donnell referendum on Old Age Assistance and a YES on question V regarding Jury Service for Women.

The League summarizes the O'Donnell referendum as: a. a proposal that would require Old Age Assistance offices to be separate from the Public Welfare Department even in the 83 towns where there are less than 25 recipients of the Old Age Assistance; b. the provision that ability of children to support their parents shall have no bearing upon the eligibility of parents to receive a pension.

The Massachusetts League urges a No vote on the grounds that setting up a separate commission for which there seems no adequate reason would greatly increase public expenditure for administration only and that the law, though very specific as to how the commission shall be set up, makes no reference as to how the money shall be raised.

A YES vote to the question "shall the General Court enact legislation requiring jury service by women with such reservations as it may prescribe?" means that you believe that women, as well as men, should serve on juries and that you wish the State Legislature to pass a law to that effect. A YES vote is recommended by the League because it believes that 1) jury service is a responsibility of citizenship; 2) more well-qualified jurors would be available; 3) the woman's point of view is important—particularly on cases which involve women and young girls; 4) Massachusetts is one of the few states which still discriminates against women by not allowing them jury service.

Representatives of the League will be present at the voting booth to answer questions and distribute material regarding the ballot from 11:30 to 1:30 and from 4:00 to 6:00 on Friday and Saturday and from 4:00 to 6:00 on Monday and Tuesday. Mrs. Fred Butler is in charge.

Board Meeting

The executive board of the Andover League met in the Library Tuesday morning to plan a series of teas for new members during the month of November and to discuss the December meeting to be held on the third. Mrs. Harold Rafton announced that the New York League of Women Voters would arrange for admittance to the United Nations assembly meeting in New York for any members who care to attend. The next board meeting will be held November 12 at 10:00 a. m. in the Library.

Conference

"Making Democracy Work" is the theme of a two-day conference to be held under the auspices of the Massachusetts League of Women Voters on October 24th and 25th in Boston. Mrs. Harold A. Stone of Arlington, Va., first vice-president of the League of Women Voters of the U. S. who will come from Washington, meeting with presidents from 30 local Leagues on Thursday and leading the discussion by the Board on Friday. She and her husband are co-authors of two books on City Manager Government in the United States and she has often appeared before Congressional Committee Hearings in Washington.

Attending the conference from the Andover League will be Mrs. C. Edward Buchan, Mrs. Charles Whiteside, Mrs. A. Graham Baldwin and Mrs. Harold R. Rafton, president.

Guidance Meeting

The annual fall dinner meeting of the Merimack Valley Guidance association will be held on Tuesday, October 29, at 6:15 p. m. at the Y. W. C. A. in Lawrence.

Lieutenant Edward Gibbs, III, of the U. S. Army Personnel division, will be the speaker, and his topic will be "A Guidance Director Returns from the Army."

Reservations may be made by calling Miss Agnes V. Dugan at Punchard High School.

Punchard-Stoneham Are Evenly Matched

Punchard will meet a scrappy Stoneham team on the home field on Saturday at 2:00 p. m.

A comparison of the two team's season's records would seem to indicate an even match. Both teams have played Concord, and neither team was able to score against that eleven. In the Ipswich game, the procedure was reversed, and Ipswich was unable to score against either of the two teams that will clash on Saturday.

The Punchard team lost one of its top players last Saturday when Alan Petty, the school's candidate for "Little Three" Scholastic all-star honors as an end, broke his ankle on the opening kick-off in the game with Ipswich.

Petty was removed to the Ipswich hospital after emergency treatment on the field. He returned to his home this week.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Petty of Center street, he was showing great promise and excellent form, but now will be unable to play for the remainder of the season.

Punchard fought his way through to a 19-0 victory over the Ipswich eleven at the Ipswich stadium Saturday afternoon, scoring twice in the second period and once in the third.

LT. GERARD CHAPIN ON CATHEDRAL HONOR ROLL

The name of First Lieut. Gerard Sleicher Chapin, 8th USAAF veteran of 52 Salem street, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerard Chapin, Lyman, S. C., is the first name of Andover's war veterans to be entered on the national roll of honor at Washington Cathedral, it was announced recently by the Rev. Merritt F. Williams, associate chairman of the Cathedral national building fund committee.

As a pilot with the 8th Air Force, Lt. Chapin distinguished himself and was awarded the Air Medal and Distinguished Flying Cross. With his name, submitted by his father and mother, is the name of an uncle, Roger Fiske Chapin of Niantic, Conn., who was also a 1st Lieut. in the U. S. Army Air Force of World War I. He was awarded the French Croix de Guerre.

The Cathedral roll of honor is expected to comprise many thousands of war veterans' names and service records to be enshrined in a proposed War Memorial Chapel of the unfinished Patriots' Transept, southern arm of the edifice, Canon Williams stated.

"The Cathedral welcomes the names of all servicemen and women from the recent and past wars," Canon Williams said. "The privilege of memorializing the names and service records of the war dead and of preserving those of the living, in thanksgiving for their safe return, is open to all and is not contingent upon any consideration other than the expressed wish of families or next of kin," he added.

The Patriots' Transept and five additional bays of the Cathedral nave are immediate objectives in a current nation-wide building fund campaign for five million dollars in gifts. Cash and pledges of $396,000 have already been obtained here prior to intensive solicitation elsewhere.

WASHINGTON CATHEDRAL

The Patriots' Transept, proposed war memorial of Washington Cathedral, will honor the name of First Lieut. Gerard S. Chapin, USAAF veteran of Andover, the first of this area to be enshrined on the national roll of honor at Washington Cathedral. This transept, designed as a memorial will contain the War Memorial Chapel where the names and service records of men and women of the recent and past wars will be enshrined, and the building of five additional bays of the Cathedral nave are the new objectives in a nation-wide campaign to raise five millions dollars in gifts for its completion.

Official enrollment forms for the national roll of honor are available on request to the War Memorial Committee, Washington Cathedral, Mount Saint Alban, Washington 16, District of Columbia.

Bronze Star Awarded Navy Cdr. Jordan

Cdr. Mark H. Jordan, U. S. N., husband of Mrs. Louise Jordan, 7 Argyle street, has been awarded the Bronze Star Medal by Secretary of the Navy James Forrestal for the President.

Jordan received the award as a result of his outstanding efforts in executing important projects on Guadalcanal from June 15, 1942, to January 5, 1943, as Executive Officer of the Sixth Construction Battalion.

The text of the citation is as follows:

"For meritorious service as Executive Officer of the Sixth Construction Battalion in operation against enemy Japanese forces at Guadalcanal, from June 15, 1942, to January 5, 1943. Discharging his essential duties with outstanding skill and energy in the face of personal hazards. Cdr. (then Lt.) Jordan contributed materially to the execution of vitally important projects, assisting in the construction of roads and bridges essential to our ground operations; the operations of all electrical installations, refrigeration plants and heavy lifts; and the effecting of emergency repairs on our line ships and cargo vessels. By his professional skill, courage and unwavering devotion to duty throughout this critical period of our campaign for Guadalcanal, Cdr. Jordan upheld the highest traditions of the United States Naval Service."

Bonus Checks

Most of the State Bonus checks have now been mailed to Massachusetts veterans, and in cases where the amount was not correct, the Bonus Division is withholding payment pending receipt of additional information relating to foreign service.

A veteran who is in receipt of a check for one hundred dollars, but whose foreign service entitles him to an additional one hundred, may cash the check but should then notify the Bonus Division that he has received the check and has an additional sum due him. He will then be mailed a letter-form to be filled out and returned to the Division. He should make a notation on the bottom of the form that the check for one hundred dollars has been cashed, or, if he prefers, he may return the check to the Bonus Division, advising that it is not in the proper amount. To expedite payment, it is advisable to have the filled out form checked by the Veterans Service office, better known as Frank Markey.

Lump Sum Payment

The lump sum payment now allowable for National Service Life Insurance does not become effective automatically. A personal letter from the insured requesting lump sum payment and bearing his signature is the only means by which the lump sum clause may be added to the policy. In case of death, the beneficiary can not claim lump sum payment if it was not previously requested by the insured.

OUR COVER

"With pencil and brush" the members of the Studio Art class go to work in the first session of this class held in the Eddison Gallery on Tuesday evening. Here, there is a chance to really try your hand at painting or sketching, in any medium you wish.

Sometimes a model is provided, but these local artists may choose their own subject, from still life to landscape. Mr. Abbott Cheever, instructor, is always ready with helpful suggestions and advice for those who need it.

The course is sponsored by the Adult Evening Study Group of Phillips Academy, and is one of many interesting and educational courses being given this fall.

G. I. Education Available Until Official Termination

There still are free educational opportunities for volunteers in the new peacetime Regular Army. Although October 6 was the deadline for educational benefits under the G. I. Bill of Rights for the full term of enlistment, men between the ages of 17 and 34 joining the service now will continue to get educational credits until the war is officially declared terminated, the U. S. Army announces.

Before October 6, men volunteering for three-year enlistments were eligible for 48 months of free college education. Nevertheless, educational credits for all enlistments will accrue until the official termination of the war — one year of college after 90 days of service (one day of which must be served prior to the official termination of the war), plus one month additional for each month served thereafter.

Allowances remain unchanged. The government pays tuition, laboratory fees etc., up to $500 per year at a college or business or trade school, of the veterans selection where he qualifies, plus grants of $65 monthly for living expenses, $90 if the veteran has dependents. Young men who want to obtain a part of their college financing, or those who want to complete shorter courses in business or trade schools will find that the Army still can help them. Those who were unable to enroll in colleges now crowded with wartime veterans resuming their education after three to five year lapses, may enlist in the peacetime Regular Army and earn educational credits until the war is officially declared over, then start their schooling two or three years hence when the crowded conditions in colleges may be improved.

While in the Army, a soldier may prepare for his higher education by training in the field he has chosen for his career. It may be engineering — the automotive lines, aviation, chemistry — the Army provides training in many skills and trades in most fields of industrial endeavor. And the soldier is paid while learning, with Army pay today at the highest level in history. Since a soldier has free food, lodging clothing and no doctor or tax bills, the end of the month finds him with more "take home" income than in civil life. As a career, or for training and education for a better future in civil life, the now peacetime Regular Army offers America's youth many opportunities.

School Dance

The first school dance will be held in the gym on Friday afternoon, October 25. It is hoped that a very large group will attend. These school dances are a very favorable and valuable factor in making social contacts, and one should do all that he can to improve his personality. They are school activities and should be supported by all. So come out, everyone. Be loyal to your school dances.

It Makes Us Hungry!

Another good meal sampled in the cafeteria during this week consisted of macaroni with meat sauce, wax beans, bread and butter, and milk, for twenty cents. Considering that one did not care for the special he could have his choice of fruit salad and roll, chicken rice and soup, or sandwiches, but he did well if he had the special. Desserts consisted of grape nut pudding, fruit and ice cream.

Miss Parker and Miss Stevens are in charge of the cash registers, and assisting them in evaluating the items on each tray, are Robert Whitney, Shirley Dickson, Beatrice Bourassa, Ruth Campbell, and Claire Henderson, all of whom are giving faithful and excellent service and proving themselves most efficient.

Aid for China

Room 10 has set a task for itself to do, and if we know the Junior High students, we know that they will carry it through successfully. They are collecting old clothes and food to send to China, a very worthy job for them to do.

Girls' Band

As usual, the Girls' Band adds a very colorful touch to the High School football games. Anyone within hearing distance is well aware that the band practices untiringly every Tuesday and Thursday afternoon and twice a week in the mornings. Andover may be justly proud of the fine work done by Miss Sweeney in preparing the girls so efficiently.

P. T. A.

The Parent-Teacher Association in the Central Schools is very active this year, attempting to boost the number of parents in the Association from the small number of the past few years to a very large and wide-awake group, interested in the schools and in their children's work there. A very large group came out to hear Walter

Football

The Junior High School football team was scheduled to play North Reading Junior High School on Friday, October 18, but, due to inclement weather, the game was postponed until Monday, October 28. A game is also scheduled with the Pynchard third group, to be played on Friday, October 25.

Stolen Gold

On Thursday there was a joint assembly when the Junior and Senior High Schools met to listen to a lecture by Irwin Williams, deep sea diver, lecturer, and radio speaker. Mr. Williams took part in the thrilling diving expeditions when attempts were made to find the reputed $30,000,000 on board the sunken Spanish galleon that took part in the Spanish attacks upon Mexico and the Aztec Indians. Much of the gold is presumed to have been stolen from Montezuma's palace.

Philately

A stamp club has been organized this year, with Miss Alice Bisbee as sponsor. The thirteen members meet each week in Room Six, with the following officers in charge: president, Raeburn Hathaway; vice president, William Hood; secretary, Alice Emmert; treasurer, Lyman Gale.

The program chairman, William Hood, has encouraged members to bring special collections of first-day covers to show the club. He has exhibited some of his special stamps. At each meeting an opportunity is provided for members to swap or buy stamps from one another. Beginners are learning how to start collections and the veterans in the field are keeping informed of some new issues and are adding to their collections. Above all, they are proving, by telling of the various means by which collections grow, that the "hobby of kings"—stamp collecting—can be inexpensive, yet the "king of hobbies."

Student Secretaries

Mrs. Walker, the school secretary, is very proud of her student secretaries and the fine work that they do as they go about their daily tasks. She is certain that she has never seen any more desire on the part of regular Business School students to do the job correctly and loyally than is exhibited right here in this small group. With that sort of spirit any job is sure to be done satisfactorily.

Extra Curricular Activities

It should interest the students of the Junior High School to know that while they are attending classes every day, their teachers are also taking extra classes in universities or in University Extension courses. There is a Harvard-Boston University Extension course being held on Thursday afternoons at 4:00, entitled, "Teaching Poetry in the Schools." Miss Kimball lectures. A goodly number of teachers throughout the town are taking the course as well as several from surrounding towns and cities. Junior High teachers enrolled are Miss Parker, Miss Hird, Miss Donahue, Mrs. Walsh, and Miss Marshall.

Other teachers taking courses are Miss Katherine Sweeney and Mr. Arthur Weiss. They are both enrolled in Professor Yeo's Guidance course being held in Haverhill High School. It is a Boston University course, School of Education. Miss Alice Bisbee is taking further work in the Social Studies with Mr. Cutwright in the Boston University School of Education. Miss Beatrice Stevens is studying Romantic Poetry at the College of Liberal Arts at Boston University. Miss Ida Grover is enrolled in Roman History at Boston University College of Liberal Arts.

Teachers taking courses during the summer were Miss Angie Dantos, enrolled in Home Economics classes at New Hampshire University, Miss Katherine Sweeney, who took Guidance and Secondary Education courses at Boston University School of Education.

AT ABBOT ACADEMY

Art

A great deal of attention has been directed to the current exhibition in the John Esther Gallery of Abbot Academy. The fifty or more water-colors, gouache, and oil paintings are the work of Alicia Atkinson. Visitors are most welcome at any hour of the day or evening until nine o'clock. Call at the office in Draper Hall (the main building) where you will be directed to the gallery by a school officer whom you will find in the office. Interest in the exhibition has resulted in an extension of time, and Miss Atkinson has permitted the show to remain until November 10.

Report on Conference

On Monday evening at the regular meeting of the Abbot faculty there will be a report on the recent conference in Atlantic City called by the National Preparatory School Committee to discuss the teaching of religion in the secondary school. Abbot was represented by Mrs. Ruth C. Reeves who will make the report.

"Know Yourself"

Dr. Harry P. van Walt will come to Abbot this week to lecture on Saturday evening on the topic "Know Yourself." The lecture will be heard in Abbot Hall, at 7:30, and will be open to any friends who would like to come.

Off Campus Events

The coming week-end will find the students again occupied with off-campus events: the Myra Hess concert in Boston will attract a large group, and the Fritz Kreisler recital in Boston on Sunday will be largely attended as well.

Chapel

On Sunday evening the chapel services will be conducted by the Rev. James Gordon Gilky, South Congregational Church, Springfield.

Church Women Will Observe World Community Day

On Friday, November 1, 1946, the Andover Council of Church Women will observe "World Community Day." The women of the churches of Andover are urged to attend the meeting to be held in the Free church at 3:00 o'clock. An interesting program has been arranged. The worship service with the subject, "We the Peoples," will be conducted by Mrs. Levering Reynolds, Jr. Three subjects will be presented—"Promoting Machinery Toward a World Community" by Mrs. Alan Blackmer, "Perfecting Methods To Establish a World Community" by Mrs. C. Edward Buchan, "The World Church Providing Motivation" as the church in action in a World Community by Miss Fannie Davis.

Those who attended the World Community Day observance last year remember the inspiration that was given to church women in the consideration of this subject and it is hoped there will be an even larger attendance this year. This is the first of three meetings to be held by the Council this year.

Baptists to Hear Dr. Axling

The members of the Baptist church are privileged to hear at next Sunday morning's service Dr. William Axling, noted missionary, author and speaker. Dr. Axling has spent more than 40 years as a Christian missionary to Japan, representing the American Baptist Foreign Mission Board.

His active work in Japan extended to the recent war, when he was returned to this country by the mission board. He had been actively engaged with Dr. Kagawa of Japan in boldly presenting the Christian front in the political and social life of Japan before the war.

District Meeting In Tewksbury

The Congregational Women's District meeting will be held on November 7 in the Tewksbury Congregational church. The morning session will open at 10:30 with reports and an address by Rev. Hilda Frank. Luncheon will be served at 12:30, and reservations at a charge of 75 cents must be made by November 4. The Northfield delegates will be present and a birthday party and sound movies, "The Color of a Man," will be part of the entertainment.

SERVICE SERIES AT BAPTIST CHURCH

A series of Sunday evening services will begin at the Baptist church, starting Sunday, November 3, at 7:30 o'clock in the church sanctuary, and will run for six consecutive Sundays. The services will feature outside personalities. Music will be provided by the Adult Choir of the church.

The speaker at this Sunday's service is Dr. Walter Lee Bailey, pastor of the First Baptist church in Winchester. Dr. Bailey is the father of the pastor of the Andover Baptist church.

Other speakers in the series will include Rev. Archibald MacMillan and Rev. David Hunter.

Each year about this time girls are initiated into the King's Daughters, a non-sectarian organization whose headquarters are at the South church. Col. Henry L. Stimson, for 41 years a trustee of Phillips Academy, submitted his resignation to the board in a letter addressed to Dr. Fuess this week.

He was elected to the Board on June 8, 1905, as a successor to Dr. William H. Willcox. In February, 1935, following the resignation of the late Judge Elias B. Bishop, he was chosen President of the Board.

Calling Andover a "second home," he expressed his deep regret of the circumstances which made his resignation necessary, stating, "I have come to the conclusion that Andover is a little too far from New York for a man of my age to perform the duties which I should be performing but am not now able to discharge."

His resignation was accepted by the Board with deep regret.

Dr. Pratteicher Edits Preludes

The Oliver Ditson-Theodore Presser Company of Philadelphia has signed a contract for the publication, under the editorship of Dr. Pratteicher in collaboration with Dr. Davidson of Harvard University, of the most comprehensive collection of choral preludes of the classical period of organ composition ever published. The work will appear in three large volumes under the title, "The Church Organist's Golden Treasury."

This present work is by no means the only work of Dr. Pratteicher's ever published. Besides numerous volumes of both secular and sacred songs which he has printed, is his "Oxford American Hymnal," currently being used in the Cochran Chapel. He has also written an "Introduction to the History of Music," after having edited "The Organ Works of John Redford."

It's A Long Future

Let's not let the present housing problem get us into the habit of doing things that later we'll regret. People want homes, need homes—and there will be those who will erect structures hurriedly that will not be a credit to our town.

We have a good zoning law; we have good building laws. They should be adhered to very carefully. They were conceived with the future in mind; they shouldn't be relaxed because of the present, for the present is an awful lot shorter than the future.

G. O. P. Congress?

In the 1946 election we've got to keep the 1948 election in mind. Two years from now, if the Republican party puts up a decent candidate, we will elect a Republican president, because at present we're in the paradoxical state of being very much fed-up though only half-fed.

That Republican president is going to need a loyal Senate and a loyal House in order to get the country back on its feet. To us in 1946 this means that in the National elections we should adhere to the party line.

We have Henry Cabot Lodge opposing the Democratic Senator, David I. Walsh. The latter is far beyond the state of usefulness, and he could do the Commonwealth or the Nation no good by being in the Senate for another six years. Once during the past year Life magazine carried pictures and comments on the various Senators; of the Bay State senior senator, the magazine, with engaging frankness, quoted the summation of Washington correspondents' opinion as "No good." The other senators from the other states all had some redeeming features; Mr. Walsh had none. It looks as if a change is long overdue.

For Congress from this district Mrs. Rogers is being opposed by a young Democrat named Allen. Mrs. Rogers is a Republican, a loyal Republican, and can be counted on to support the G. O. P. administration. There is a good chance that for the next two years the complexion of the House will change, and national policy will be affected accordingly. We need a Republican in there from this district. Andover should do its part to keep Mrs. Rogers in—the country needs a Republican Congress.

COMMUNICATIONS...

Andover Townsman
Andover, Massachusetts
To The Editor:

The condition of Elm street for the past several months is a disgrace to the Town of Andover, a blot on the otherwise lovely landscape. Anyone coming into Andover over this route wishes he hadn't.

While the water main was in the process of construction, it was a different story, but now for several months things have been going from bad to worse. A trip down (or up) Elm street is now something like this:

- Ping
- Goes a spring
- A jolt
- Lost a bolt!
- A rattle, a snap
- Off comes a hub cap;
- That feels like a flat!
- "Mamma, I lost my hat."
- "Never mind dear. Hold Rover!
- We're now in Andover
- And riding down Elm street
- It soon will be over."

A Commuter.

YOU WIN!

Gentlemen:

In your October 10 paper you pointed out that Fred McCollum of Andover was a member of the Kimball Union football team. I also wish to point out that I am a member of Suffield Academy football squad, which beat Kimball Union 14-7.

I also live in Andover.

Sincerely yours,

Charles P. Howe.

Do You Need a Home?

Veterans who have not been able to secure adequate housing since their return from service are asked to fill out housing blanks that are available at the Veterans Service office, Mr. Kellmurray's office in the High School, the town clerk's office, Memorial Hall library, the three local post offices, and the Andover National and Savings banks.

These blanks should be filled out regardless of whether the veteran is seeking a rental or is hoping to build his own home, it was announced at the Amvet meeting Thursday. The forms should be returned to Amvet headquarters or to Frank Markey's office in the Town House.

POLL CATS

Doesn't it really get your goat
When people will not go to vote?
What difference does mine make, they say
With all those others cast today?
Oh grave injustice, crass mistake
That many hundred voters make!
To think when they may help to choose
Which candidate shall win or lose
They don't. And then they sit and sigh,
And criticize as years go by
About the man who was selected,
When it's their fault he was elected.

Order Resurfacing

The Board of Public Works Monday night instructed Superintendent Gilliard to instruct the consulting engineer to instruct the contractor to do something quick about the resurfacing of Elm, Central and Phillips streets. All these highways are in bad shape because of the water construction there.

The superintendent was also instructed to reset the curbing of the triangle at the junction of Shawshen road and Stevens street.

It was voted to install a fence around the discharge end of Rogers brook at the lower end of School street. An out-of-town boy suffered an accident there recently, and although the town is not liable, the board felt that a fence should be erected for safety's sake.

New Assistant Engineer

Alfred Frisch of 44 Pleasant street, Lawrence, was appointed assistant at the pumping station by the Board of Public Works Monday evening. He fills the position left vacant by the resignation of Mr. Coe.

College Town?

Are we going to have another school in Andover—not a school, a college? With 2,000 pupils—and millions of dollars in investment?

Nobody knows — or if anybody knows, they're not saying. It's still very much in the rumor stage, with the only fact being that Archbishop Cushing told a Lawrence audience Sunday that in the near future "a second Villanova will be established in this area, another college for the education of Catholic young men."

Everybody has been talking about it — and as is usual, some of the rumors are spread with the force of fact. The chief rumor locates the college in Shawsheen Village, with the Wood estate being part of the area involved.
