El Greco's Masterpiece, "The Annunciation," At Addison for One Week

Every once in a while something extraordinary happens that makes you stop for a minute just to be glad that this is happening to you. that you haven't inadvertently sidestepped a momentary experience that is lastingly enriching. Sometimes it is planned but often you stumble upon it unaware.

It was like that on Tuesday when I rushed up the hill to the Art Gallery to see what "this picture" was all about that is being shown for just one week in connection with Patrick Morgan's lecture on "The Background of Modern Art." The exhibit was being hung in the large room upstairs and people were dashing around measuring and planning and discussing what would go where, but in the center of the long wall, its serenity undisturbed by the bustle, was IT, El Greco's masterpiece of "The Annunciation," its radiance undimmed by the centuries.

It would be possible, I suppose, to put to prosaic words the qualities of the painting that make it great, El Greco's use of color, his rhythm of lights and shadow, the emotional and story-telling elements. But it is better to slip quietly into one of the gallery benches, to absorb and store up the beauty that emanates from the old masterpiece.

Showing the gradual build-up in emotional intensity and drama as the Renaissance artists increased their knowledge of illusionistic paintings are other interpretations of the annunciations, while other works of El Greco, including his "St. Jerome," and of his contemporaries show the trend of the time. Samples are: Allesandro Magnasco's "St. Jerome Praying," Rembrandt's "Christ on the Cross," Simone Marlini's "The Archangel Gabriel" and "The Virgin," and Tintoretto's (Jacob Robiesti) "Study From an Antique Head."

A separate exhibit but not out of keeping with the wonders of the old masters and the preservation of their works through the ages is a photographic collection assembled by the editor of Life in collaboration with the American Commission for the protection and salvage of artistic and historic monuments in war areas which is also current at Addison. Here it is possible to follow how Michelangelo's "Madonna and Child," which was stolen from Burges, Belgium, and left in a salt mine in the Austrian mountains, was discovered, properly packed, removed from the mine and started on its return journey to Belgium by officers of the M. F. A. and A. The salvaging of books, archives, manuscripts and museum collections, looted by the Germans, attempts to restore and return the collections to the rightful owners are all problems of the M. R. A. and A., and the accomplishments made in this tremendous task are all displayed for visual inspection.

Canvass for Church

The West Parish church is participating in the annual financial canvass of the Greater Lawrence and Andover Protestant churches on Sunday afternoon, and the leaders of the canvass are very optimistic for a successful campaign. The organization has been carried out with teams of volunteer visitors under ten captains who are as follows: John A. Brodhead, Herbert P. Carter, Arthur R. Lewis, Lathrop Merrick, Miss Ebba Peterson, Leverett N. Putnam, William Stewart, Horace R. Thomas, Mrs. J. Leverett White, and Richard L. Williams. The general chairman of the canvass is Lathrop Merrick. On the canvass committee with him are Fred W. Doyle and William Stewart.

The captains with their teams of canvassers will meet at the vestry at 1:30 p. m. on Sunday for the start of the canvass, at which time the church bell will be rung. Rev. Norman B. Cawley of Beverly will give a brief inspirational talk.

Apprentice Training Program For Tilesetters Is Instituted

Adequate numbers of skilled tilesetters for anticipated increased demand for clay tile are assured communities in Essex county under an apprentice training program just announced for Boston and vicinity by a joint committee of tile contractors and union representatives.

Worked out in cooperation with the regional office of the Apprentice Training Service, U. S. Department of Labor, the program will provide GI's learning the tile trade with intensive training on the job, combined with three years of related schooling. Instruction will cover blue print reading, mathematics, trade science and details of all types of tile setting work, and will be given in cooperation with the Massachusetts Division of Vocational Education, according to the committee.

"Demand for construction of homes, commercial and public buildings in Boston and vicinity is unprecedented, and we are determined to meet it, not only with enough men, but with men trained to a level of skill higher than ever before generally attained," the committee report said.

Members of the committee arranging the apprentice program include Francis L. Galassi, Boston, Hugo C. Baratta, Cambridge, and Joseph C. Masi, Medford, tile contractors; and Peter Masi, Medford, William P. Urbati, Somerville, and Henry McCulloch, Cambridge, representing Tile Layers Local No. 8, Bricklayers, Masons and Plasterers International Union.

Aiding the committee as consultants were J. E. Johnson, regional supervisor of the Apprentice Training Service, and Alfred A. Frantz of the Tile Council of America, representing the floor and wall tile manufacturing industry, which is furnishing tilesetting textbooks and the tile for classes.

AT PUNCHARD

By Jack Sherman

Driving Course

The driving course, which is being sponsored by the Parent Teacher Association, is now in full swing. The students are busy practicing parking and right turns. There are two groups—the Senior class, and the Junior class. The Senior group is taking the book work along with their road work, whereas the Juniors are concentrating only on the road work, as they had the book work as a pre-driver elective last year.

Movies

Last Friday, November 22, football movies were shown to the boys in the auditorium during the second period. They were titled "The Fundamentals of Football" and showed some of the Army plays in slow motion, so that the boys might watch their own position and watch their West Point team counterparts in action. The movies were shown again later to Mr. Dunn's gym classes.

Dismissal

School was dismissed last Wednesday, November 27, at 11:15 because of the Thanksgiving vacation.

Rally

Last Wednesday a Johnson rally was held on the playstead. The cheerleaders led the affair and they called on Mr. Lovely, Joe Watson, and the team members for speeches. In the speech that Ronnie Demers made for the team, he said that there was one member of the team missing from the gathering, Alan Petty. Cheers were practiced and cheers were given the team. Coach McKinnery also spoke and said that he was making no prediction but that he thought that we could beat Johnson.

Sophomore Dance

Miss Helen Munroe, the Sophomore class advisor, has announced that the dance which was held Friday night, November 22, was a great success both socially and financially. The chaperones were Miss Helen Munroe, Miss E. Marjorie Smith, Mr. Bernard Kellmurray, and Mr. Howard Hennigar. The music for the affair, to which over a hundred people came, was supplied by Harold Phinney.

Junior Class Rings

The Junior ring committee has made its selection. The ring is oblong with an onyx and the seal superimposed upon the stone. The numerals 1948 are on the sides of the ring. The ring will be displayed in the Junior home rooms next week, and the class will order their rings soon after. It is hoped that the rings will be delivered about April 1.

Inter-Church Basketball League

Last Tuesday evening, November 22, a meeting was held of those concerned with the forming of the league. Those who attended are Reverend Frederick B. Noss of the South church, Reverend Levering Reynolds, Jr., of the Christ church, Mr. Henry Dolan representing St. Augustine's church, Mr. Herbert Muller representing West Parish church, Mr. Edward Lefebvre, representing St. Josephs church of Ballardvale, and Mr. George Sparks representing the Ballardvale Congregational church. Reverend Reynolds, Mr. Sparks, and Mr. Dunn were elected to the Protest Committee. Jack Sherman was appointed secretary of the league, and Richard Kydd was appointed as the official scorer. There are no timers appointed as yet. The first game will be played this coming Monday evening, December 2. There are eight churches represented in the league, with six Junior teams, eight Intermediate teams, and four Senior teams. Anyone who is not a member and wishes to be, may join by contacting his church representative before the second game, December 9.

The price of admission to the games is 15 cents for league ticket holders, and 25 cents for others.

Gym Team

The members of the gym team are busy preparing for an exhibition to be held for the student body soon after Christmas. The members of the team are R. Doyle, D. Hart, A. McCabe, D. Emmons, C. Anderson, F. McCarthy, B. Grecoe, P. Southwick, R. Godfrey and among the veterans, G. Collins, P. Crowley, W. Knipe. As soon as the football season is over, it is expected that several more boys now on the football squad will join the gym team.

NO LEGAL RIGHTS

A number of loafers were hanging around the heavenly gate. St. Peter warned them off. They persisted.

St. Peter contacted Satan. "Get your people away from here," he said.

Satan paid no attention. Finally, St. Peter said: "I'm going to sue you if you don't do something about it."

Satan smiled: "And where are you going to get a lawyer from?"

VARIABLE VALUE

Johnson Wins the Wishbone From Punchard On Thanksgiving

Although Punchard failed to match Johnson's power and drive in the Thanksgiving game that gave the Red and Black a 21-13 victory, the home team won its touchdowns by two spectacular plays of the game. After a scoreless first half, Ronnie Demers caught a 24-yard aerial beautifully thrown by Herbie Deveaux from Johnson's 25, and pushed into the pay dirt with unmolested ease, bringing the score up to 14-6 at the end of the third quarter. However, Johnson maintained a lead throughout, piling up a third touchdown in the last quarter.

Playing his first game against the Johnson team, Deveaux again exhibited his skill on the third last play of the final quarter with a brilliant run-back of the Johnson kick, that was good for 82 yards and six more points. The stands went wild as the sophomore class president wiggled and sidestepped his way to the goal line.

Cyr scored the first touchdown for Johnson and, with Vincent holding, neatly placed the three kicks that pushed up the visiting team's score. Vincent and Petteruto made the runs that counted in the second half in the well-earned victory that gave Johnson its sixth triumph in the 27-game series against the Blue and Yellow. The summary:

EDITORIAL . . . TIME TO RETRENCH

It looks as if we're going to have budget fidgets this year. Already some of the rumors, hints and innuendos emanating from some of the departments give a rather bleak looking picture for the local taxpayer.

You can be hard-boiled, and still be a good egg, possibly not to the departments, but certainly to the taxpayers. But the time to start getting boiled up is now, and not just before town meeting. Then it may be too late.

The job at this particular point is officially lodged with a finance committee; quasi-officially it is the concern of the directors of the taxpayers' association. Handicapped too frequently in the past by lack of adequate information and by a resultant need for taking the statements of town officials at their face value, both the finance committee and the TPA directors have perhaps not been as strongly fortified at town meeting as they could have been were they able to see the operations of the departments closer at hand.

Theirs is not an easy job, for the lump sums that reach them aren't too easily analyzed. If town money is wasted, it's wasted by the person who actually does the spending, or on whom it is expended. If an employee isn't doing his job, or if a department has built itself up into an organization which contains unnecessary employees or employees who through personal friendship, etc., have pretty good-paying jobs without very much to do, it's hard for the finance committee or the TPA directors to check that. As a matter of fact, it's a little hard for the board that has charge of the department to have a true picture of actualities. It's pretty much up to the administrator himself.

This year we've got to be very careful. Money isn't always going to be as plentiful as it is in these days. It's time now to see that the money we spend in town is spent wisely. The department should ask for as little as possible, and the two advisory groups should most certainly use the ax wherever necessary.

This Sober Town . . .

They say that Free Churchers are having a grand time at their parties with a new little stunt, saying "Reverend Levering Reynolds" fast three times.

Try it. And then when you are able to take care of that twister satisfactorily, try this one: "Skeet Shoot Score Sheet."

The editor of the local newspaper was chatting with the editor of the magazine put out by the Massachusetts Teachers' Federation the other day, and the former told the latter about not having been present when his name was called at the Andover Playhouse for a $150 bank night award.

But the Teacher editor had much more cause for a red face, it turned out. One night a few weeks ago, his phone rang at his home in Melrose. A voice which simultaneously was going out over the radio on the Telaquiz program explained that if he could give the correct answer to a question, he would receive $135. The question was given, the editor gave an answer — and it wasn't correct. Since then he's been given somewhat of a ride by his colleagues and a good many of the 20,000 public school teachers whom he serves, for, after all, the executive secretary of the Massachusetts Teachers Federation, a former school teacher himself, should know who the first woman member of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences was.

AN OPEN LETTER

Dear Punchard Alumnus:

Twenty-eight students and graduates of Punchard lost their lives during World War II and the Punchard Alumni Executive Committee is making plans for a permanent memorial in their honor to be dedicated on May 30, 1947.

We know that you, as a loyal alumnus, will want to have a share in perpetuating the memory of our fellow alumni who paid the supreme sacrifice and, therefore, we offer you an opportunity to make a donation which will this year replace the annual dues that were discontinued during the war period. Donations should be sent to Miss Bessie Dantos, 123 Elm street, Andover, Mass.

It is our privilege to pay honor to our brothers here listed who so honored us at the cost of their lives.

Mr. and Mrs.

(Look Photo)

Mr. and Mrs. James J. Cooney, Jr., cut the cake at their wedding reception in the Shawsheen Manor last Saturday following a nuptial mass at St. Augustine's church. The bride is the former Elizabeth Ann Golden of Carmel road.

COONEY-GOLDEN

Miss Elizabeth Ann Golden, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Golden of Carmel road, became the bride of James J. Cooney, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. James J. Cooney of 55 Phillips street, Methuen, at a pretty ceremony in St. Augustine's church Saturday morning. Very Rev. Thomas P. Fogarty, O.S.A. officiated at the nuptial mass.

Becomingly gowned in heavy white taffeta, her finger-tip veil of imported illusion draped from a coronet of ostrich tips, and carrying a bride's manual adorned with a corsage of sweet peas with an orchid center, the bride, escorted by her father, was attended by three sisters. Her gown was fashioned with a high-necked sheer yoke trimmed with old-fashioned lace, a hoop shirt caught at the front with rows of matching lace and a court train.

Miss Mary C. Golden, maid of honor, wore a gown of American Beauty faille taffeta of a style similar to the bride's, a matching head-dress of ostrich tips and carried American Beauty roses. Misses Marguerite and Beatrice Golden wore contrasting gowns of Nile green faille with which they wore headdresses of American Beauty ostrich tips and carried bouquets of American Beauty roses.

Daniel Burton was best man and the ushers were Francis and Joseph Golden, brothers of the bride, Thomas Ward and Joseph Ringlaid.

The bride is a graduate of Punchard High school, and the Lawrence

Academy of Beauty Culture. At present she is employed as the Boston representative of the Roux Distributing Co., of New York City. The bridegroom is a veteran of the U. S. Marine Corps.

Engagements

The engagement of Miss Dorothy May Coolidge of Shawsheen road to Walter Allicon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Allicon of 119 Farnham street, Lawrence, has been announced by the bride-elect's father, Milton D. Coolidge of Hudson and Cuba. The wedding will take place Saturday morning, Nov. 30.

Mrs. Edward Rouff of 27 Pearson street has announced the engagement of her daughter, Mae, to Richard O'Hara, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank O'Hara of Cascade, N. H. An early wedding is planned.

More Cars Needed for Student Driving Course

The new posts constructed by Owen Hinkley and placed in the high school grounds at prescribed distances looked pretty close together to the twelve Punchard students receiving instructions in how to park without removing fenders from adjacent vehicles. Tuesday afternoon, Inspector Eugene J. Fanning is a stickler for safety measures and the student that just missed the posts was not "good enough" but had to drive out and come in again until he became proficient in the art of parking.

The driving class have now received three lessons in actual driving besides the classroom instructions given by Mr. Hinkley. Many of the more experienced drivers are now taking a turn around the block, while the beginners are staying within the school grounds.

Three parents of the students were present with their cars this week to observe and it is hoped that more will attend the class next week which will be held Wednesday afternoon at 2:00. Several cars are needed if the class is to progress according to schedule and, although several townspeople volunteered the use of their automobiles for the course, it is more logical for the families of the students to provide the necessary vehicles.

WHERE TO GO .. AND WHEN

An unexpected guest dropped in to pay a call the other morning, pausing on the window sill first to make sure the atmosphere was friendly before poking his head through the open window to pick up a few crumbs from the breakfast table. He had rather a luxurious tall but his fur coat looked as if he forgot to have it moth-proofed this summer.

He had an air of impatience and was quite willing to skip the formalities of an introduction and get down to the major issue of "what did I have good to eat." It was my first close-up experience with a member of the squirrel family and I made the grave error of first offering him some Thanksgiving nuts. He greedily grasped them from my hand and tore back to his hide-out to store them, but in two shakes he was back again, sitting on his haunches and saying plainly in sign language, "come on now, let's not be stingy."

After the initial feast of Thanksgiving walnuts and almonds, he wasn't a bit interested in two-day old bread and left my offering strewn on the sill with no more than an exploratory nibble at the crust. Can you imagine him turning up his nose at bread at 14c a loaf—and with raisins in it? With such uppety views he can just scramble for his own breakfasts after this. Just because his furs came tax-free is no sign he can lord it over us proletariats. If he can't come down on his tastes and help fight inflation he can just stay out on a limb. (I wonder if he'd settle for peanuts—without salt?)

Legion Party

The annual "Stag" party, get-together, night of good cheer or whatever you prefer will be held in the American Legion hall on December 19 for members of Post 8 and their friends and guests. It won't really be a stag affair this year as in preceding years since the Legion now has several lady members and they will, of course, be welcome to the party. Entertainment with an all-male cast, is featured on the program and there will be refreshments and raffles, all ending in a community sing. Door prizes will be awarded and the Christmas drawing will also take place.

Commander William L. McDonald heads the general committee with Frank P. Markey in charge of ticket sales. A good time is promised.

Messiah

Many members of the Tercenary chorus which thrilled a large local audience last June will again sing at Cochran chapel on December 15 in Handel's Messiah. The Andover Male Choir is the nucleus of the choral group including many trained oratorical singers and two featured soloists, Miss Ruth E. Perkins, alto, and John Kerr, baritone, from the South Congregational church in West Newton.

Rehearsals indicate a superb performance under the competent direction of J. Everett Collins.

Masterpiece

"The Annunciation" by El Greco, an unusual and rarely seen example of the master's work, is being featured at Addison Gallery for one week, ending December 2.

Loaned by Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Coe of Cleveland, the painting provides the keynote for one of eight lectures by Patrick Morgan on "The Backgrounds of Modern Art," as part of the Andover Evening Study Program for Adults.

The Gallery is open daily from 9:00 to 5:00 and on Sundays from 2:00 to 5:00.

Community Dance

The next Community dance at Ballardvale will be held on December 6 in the community room. For fun or frolic mark that date off on your calendar.

Miss Stillman is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howell M. Stillman of 39 Morton street.

Plumb-line

The Christmas sale and supper sponsored by the Smith College alumnae that will be held in the Christ Church Parish House on December 6 has a fascinating feature for children that sounds like fun, a Jack Horner pie. Young people visiting the sale will have an opportunity to try Jack's trick of "sticking in a thumb, pulling out a plumb and saying, 'Boy look what I've got!'" Grown-ups will find many treasures to meet their fancy, too, among the "white elephants" offered for sale.

Miss Banning to Speak

Miss Evelyn I. Banning, former principal of the Junior High school, is to discuss the subject, "Does Reading Tire You?" at the National Council of English Teachers' Convention at Atlantic City. Miss Banning's discussion will follow a paper presented by Leonard Carmichael, president of Tufts College, on the "Implications of a Three Year Study of Eye Fatigue."

Book Review

The second in the series of book reviews by Mrs. Marion Tucker Rudrin will be given at the November Club house on Thursday, December 5, at 3:00 p. m. Tickets may be obtained at the door.

A Pipin' Good Time

The lure of the pipes will attract Scotsmen from near and far to The St. Andrew's celebration on December 7 at Memorial auditorium. Supper will be served at 5:30 and 6:30 and the concert and entertainment will follow featuring the Lawrence pipe band. Dancing will conclude the evening.

Former Member of French Underground To Speak at November Club Meeting

Her heroic travails during World War II, which she recounted so dramatically in collaboration with
M. R. Werner in the fascinating book, "The House Near Paris," have left no tell-tale marks upon the blonde beauty of Drue Tartiere who will speak at the November Club on Monday at 3 o'clock.

American-born Mme. Tartiere, one-time heroine of the Charlie Chan movie thrillers, decided to remain in France after its occupation by the German forces. Her husband, the French actor-producer Jasques Tartiere, had been treacherously killed by the Vichyites in Syria and Mme. Tartiere took up the fight against the invaders. She became an active member of one of France's most efficient underground units.
Arrested, interned and condemned to die, she was released through a dramatic ruse, with an official but false document establishing her as a harmless and dying woman. While reporting regularly to the Gestapo, she continued her underground activities, becoming known as the

"Darling of the 8th Air Force."
During 1943 and 44 she managed the escape of thirty-two Allied flyers shot down over France.

For her exceptional service in the Allied cause, Mme. Tartiere received from the British Government the King's Medal for Service in the Cause of Freedom and later was presented the Medal of Freedom, an honor given by General Eisenhower, by Major General John White, her superior officer during the fight against the Nazis.

On The Library Shelves

One of the new books which will be read and discussed and carefully considered in the light of present day emergencies is "The Roosevelt I Knew," by Frances Perkins, former Secretary of Labor. Miss Perkins writes with confidence in her subject and an intimate knowledge, having served under Roosevelt during his time as governor as well as president on many industrial and economic agencies. From the beginning, she demands the reader's respect for a man who not only defied the crippling limitations of his illness but also chose to add the most enormous burden of responsibility that few men have had to bear.

Here is the spirit of the New Deal, which, however, she denies as being an idea or plan or agreement. That state of the nation, named the New Deal, was actually a situation that grew from the urgency of the matters that demanded immediate action. Many of the things that occurred had no outline beyond being assigned a place in the "things to be done this week, next week, or next year." Roosevelt never felt that anything he wanted to work upon for improvement in any situation was absolutely final and could not be discarded if it proved impracticable. She makes it clear that this very quality of experimentation that, in some cases, resulted in reforms now accepted as part of our lives, is somewhat disconcerting to those who had argued that the former president had a well-defined course and simply saw it through.

The labor question and the president's attitude towards trade unions are both discussed at length, perhaps somewhat to Miss Perkins' advantage.

All in all, this is a summarizing of a period of great changes in our country and in our people, at a time when the leadership of the nation was in the hands of a man who, above all, believed in the people.

Other new books:

Mistress Masham's Repose White
Almost as marvelous as Alice in her Wonderland and as fantastic as Gulliver in his Lilliput is this story of Maria, ten years old and bespectacled, who discovered an island of the "little people" and tried her hand at dictating their lives. There is more than fantasy in this delightful story, for some serious truths persist in presenting themselves.

The Miracle of the Bells Janney
A transformation of a mining community from spiritual poverty to gladness and brotherhood. This story has already been purchased for the movies, and has all the qualities that make it good entertainment for reader or movie-goer.

Thieves in the Night Koestler
Discovering that the woman he loves is anti-Semitic, Joseph, half English and half Jewish, leaves England and joins a group going to Palestine to found an agricultural community. Here is the bitterly contested land, with Jews, Arabs, British officers and an American journalist taking part in the action.

The River Godden
A new story by the author of "Black Narcissus" and "Take Three Tenses" and the recent "Thus Far and No Further" is always anticipated with pleasure by a large reading public. This one, with the setting in India, could be the story of any family, living in any house by any river. The growth of the story is the growth of a child, Harriet, who sees in the river the counterpart of the changes in her own life.

Green Grass of Wyoming O'Hara
A third story of the McLaughlin family. Ken, the boy of "My Friend Flicka," now grown, finds himself in an emotional turmoil as Carey Marsh, teen-age owner of Jewel, enters his life.

The Happy Profession Sedgwick
Here is a find for those who love the literary world and everyone who has had a hand in shaping it. who has had a hand in shaping it. story, has compiled the most interesting memories in this record of a happy and amusing life. As the eighth editor of the Atlantic, he discovered people who were real and pleasures that were lasting. Mr. Sedgwick can write, as well as edit!

Management and the Worker Roethlisberger
An account of a research program conducted by the Western Electric company in Chicago to extend knowledge of the intangible factors in the work situations that affect the morale and productive efficiency of shopworkers. Here are their experiments with rest pauses, shorter working days and weeks, fatigue tests and monetary hypothesis, wage incentives, etc.

A Guide to the Soviet Union Mandel

This book was written to overcome the situation exposed by Gallup and Fortune polls—the amazing number of people who were badly informed or actually misinformed about the Soviet Union. It is a mine of information and statistics, and summarizes the social, religious, economic and political aspects of Russia in a readable fashion.

Animal Tales: An Anthology of Animal Literature of All Countries Sandersqn, comp.

Thirty-one animal stories, fictional and true in make-up, by various authors, gathered from all over the world. For each tale the compiler supplies a little prologue on the land, its flora and fauna, and a short sketch of the story's author. The book is beautifully illustrated by brush paintings.

Kossler, Officer-in-Charge of Navy Recruiting in Eastern Massachusetts, Rhode Island, and southern New Hampshire announced today that local high school seniors and graduates have until Dec. 17, 1946 to apply for enrollment in the Navy's new College Training Program. January 18, 1947 has been set as the date on which a nation-wide competitive examination will be given to all qualified applicants for enrollment in the NROTC or NACP. From those who pass, several thousand will be selected to begin college in the Fall of 1947. But, applications must be received by the Naval Examining Board, Princeton, N. J., by December 17th in order to be considered for the examination in January. This new program offers a four year college education at Navy expense plus a commission in the United States Navy or Marine Corps upon graduation. The examinations will be given in over 500 cities throughout the U. S.

The Navy Recruiting Service urges all interested young men, 17 to 21 years old, to avail themselves of this excellent educational opportunity, and said that application forms and detailed information about the program could be obtained from high school principals, college deans and Offices of Naval Officer Procurement.

Every-Day Business Arithmetic Is Sometimes A Matter of A Course

IF . . . a man bought a carload of scrap iron at $14.26 a gross ton and sold one half of it at a 23% profit, for how much did he sell it?

Would that kind of a problem leave you with a weak and uncertain feeling? Would all those rules by which you managed to convince the school department that you were a finished mathematician suddenly take flight and leave you chewing the rubber end of your pencil? If so, this is your chance to brush up on matters relating to business arithmetic. Early in the new year the Memorial Hall Library and the Division of University Extension will cooperate in an educational program to be given in the lecture room of the library on eight evenings. Business Men's Arithmetic is one of the subjects under consideration. If you are interested or wish further details, call Andover 314. This indication of interest will help in the final selection of desirable courses and upon this general response will depend the type of courses chosen. This particular one, intended for both men and women who want a refresher course, should appeal to young storeowners and returned veterans who plan to enter fields of work where a knowledge of interest, percentages, rapid calculation and fractions is important.

Other courses proposed are:

- Beginner's Russian
- Psychology of Personality
- Cartooning
- Tinker's Course for Women; for the small home repairs and gadget menders.
- How To Organize and Finance a Small Business
- Creative Writing
- Conversational Spanish
- Tray Painting
- Landscape Design and Planting for the Home Grounds.

This last named course is rapidly gaining interest. Miss Marjorie Stearns, landscape architect and horticulturist, will conduct the lectures. Miss Stearns studied horticulture for three years in England after completing the course in Landscape Architecture at the Louthorpe School, Groton, Mass., and also spent a summer of study in the Alpine Nurseries of Monsieur Corevon at Geneva, Switzerland. Her practical experience covers a period of eight years' association as landscape architect for the Aiken Nurseries in Vermont and the Weston Nurseries, Weston, Mass., and four years as a practicing landscape architect. The outline is as follows:

- 1) The Principles of Landscape Design in Relation to Developing the Home Grounds
- 2) The Outdoor Living Room — Garden Types
- 3) Detailed Planning and Planting of House and Garage-Terrace Area — Boundaries, Screens and Windbreaks
- 4) Detailed Planning and Planting of Garden Areas
- 5) Design of Structural Details in Gardens in Relation to Landscape Design
- 6) Plant Material in Detail, Woody Ornamentals
- 7) Herbaceous Plants in Detail: Annuals, Biennials, Perennials and Bulbs
- 8) Horticultural Principles To Insure Success.

Any or all courses are open to all residents of Andover and nearby communities. There will be a charge of five dollars for any one course, which will consist of eight meetings.

Donald Dunn Commander

Questions & Answers re Christmas Mailing

Each year, at the Christmas season, window clerks at our post-offices receive a large number of inquiries concerning the mailing of Christmas gifts and cards. In order to generally answer some of the questions often sought, Postmaster Stephen A. Boland has provided the following set of typical questions and official answers thereto:

Q. How large a package can I send in the mails at Christmas?
A. 70 pounds in weight — 100 inches in length and girth combined for U. S. delivery.

Q. When should local Christmas cards be mailed for assured delivery?

A. Definitely not later than December 15th, but preferably earlier. A snowstorm during any part of the Christmas period will seriously delay all mail delivery.

Q. Can I send liquor in the mails?
A. No. Intoxicants are prohibited in the mails at all times.

Q. What is the best way to send a valuable watch?

A. Have it packed by the jeweler for mailing and enter it in the registered mails. All postoffices register mail.

Q. What is the difference between Special Delivery and Special Handling?

A. Special Handling is provided only for parcel post. It offers prior handling and transportation. It is delivered as ordinary parcel post when it is received at postoffice of addressee. Special delivery service may be provided for letters, cards or parcel post. It assures prior handling, quicker transportation and personal special delivery.

Q. When should parcels be mailed for delivery in New England?

A. Not later than December 6.

Q. Will postal delivery zone numbers help the delivery of Christmas mails?

A. It will tremendously help the distribution and delivery of mails. Be sure to include zone numbers, if known.

Q. Can I include a Christmas card inside a gift package?

A. Yes. But you may not include a message on this card other than your name and Season's Greetings.

Q. What is the maximum for which I can insure a package?

A. $200.00. You can register it for greater values. The public can benefit this year by the new low insurance rates. Three cents now insures a parcel for $5.00.

Q. What is the postage rate for Christmas cards?

A. The sealed first-class rate is 3 cents. This provides for forwarding, return if undelivered, and you may include writing inside. Unsealed cards are mailed at the circular rate, they may not be sealed, they may contain no message and are handled and delivered following the first-class mail. Use air mail this year at the new low 5c rate for distant points in the country.

Q. Can gift parcels be sent to civilians overseas?

A. Yes, to most countries. Consult your local postoffice for full particulars. It is already late for Christmas delivery overseas, but small parcels can be sent at the air mail rate.

Q. I am a businessman and know that your Christmas mails are heavy. What can I do to keep my mail moving without delay?

A. Mail often during the day. Do not hold mail until closing time. Deposit mail at nearest postoffice instead of nearest letter box. Use air mail and special delivery to the fullest extent — especially at the new low air mail rates. Send parcels by air. No minimum charge for air mail parcels. Use special handling for priority in transportation. Mail distant letters first.

Q. Can I send a Christmas card to a civilian in a foreign country now?

A. Yes. Send it by air mail. All foreign air mails have been reduced tremendously. There is daily service by air mail overseas to nearly all countries.

Q. Can you offer any suggestions that will help the postoffice in handling my Christmas cards?

A. Face them all one way. Tie them in bundles. Bring them to the postoffice.

HISTORY REPEATS ITSELF

WASHINGTON. — If you think times are tough today, drop in at the public library and ask for the back files of any newspaper for the fall of 1919 or the early part of 1920. That period was just about as long after World War I as we now are from World War II and the headlines are amazingly similar.

In fact, with the mere change of a few names, a glance at 1919-20 headlines would almost convince you that you were reading the newspapers of today.

We were having the same troubles with Russia then—only a little worse, with American troops in Siberia and Murmansk. The northern Adriatic, as now, was the chief bone of contention at the Paris peace conference. Only it was Fiume instead of Trieste which caused riots in the streets of Rome and Belgrade.

"Jews Massacred, Robbed by Poles," was another tragic but familiar headline. "Foresees Jewish state in Palestine. Judge Julian Mack tells of atrocities and asks for migration to Jewish homeland."

"Pershing denies large quantities of war goods destroyed in France." "Rep. Emerson offers resolution asking war department to what extent soldiers were overcharged in France." "War department criticized for offering $4,000,000 worth of fabrics for sale at public auction." "Sergeants arrested in Paris charged with theft of American stores."

When it came to strikes, race riots and soaring prices, the domestic scene of 1919 was even more alarming. Labor troubles caused far more bloodshed. The alleged Communist menace was much worse.

May day celebrations in Chicago, Cleveland, Boston and New York produced riots, "citizens' armies" and an untold number of skull and political fractures.

By July 6, 1919, the army stood at 704,845, with 235,000 of these in Europe. Eight months later when the Junkers and German army seized power in Berlin, forcing the Ebert government to flee to Dresden, the American army of occupation totaled a nervous 18,000.

Meanwhile, the war department was recommending a universal military training program of three months for all 18-year-olds—more or less as today.

Unchecked by governmental pleas and voluntary programs, prices spiraled. Shoes were three times their prewar price and women's stockings were offered at "2—$25 a pair." Coffee prices jumped 7 cents a pound and, although the government declared 11 cents a pound a fair price for sugar, it was selling for 30 cents within a year. "Food now costs N. Y. residents 86 per cent more than six years ago," announced The New York Times.

Only a national "buyers' strike" in 1920, with prominent society women feeding their families on a dollar a day while their husbands were wearing overalls to their Broadway offices, changed the trend.

New York clergymen were making a survey of churches in an attempt to ease the housing shortage.

Headlines on August 16, 1919 don't seem out of place today. "Director General of Railroads Hines sees danger of coal gouging. Caution senate that rumors on shortage may pave way for price advance." "Begin jailing Germans as war offenders." "Amendments to food control act supported and fought before congressional committees."

All this and prohibition too. "Thousands return to Europe, blaming prohibition here."

Not only were there strikes, but also there were the same familiar strikers. Telegraph and telephone workers, maritime and a steel strike lasting into the fourth month. . . . Omaha faced a general strike. . . . In the spring of 1919, 10,000 men were locked out of the Willys-Overland plant in Toledo, a strike committee controlled Winnipeg and police were using machine guns in Connecticut strike riots.

In the fall of 1919 a United Mine Workers' strike closed all bituminous coal mines and produced a news story headed, "Lewis says mines' demands are 'subject to negotiation' — puts blame on operators."

No, history is just the same. History always repeats after a war.

HISTORY REPEATS ITSELF

WASHINGTON. — If you think times are tough today, drop in at the public library and ask for the back files of any newspaper for the fall of 1919 or the early part of 1920. That period was just about as long after World War I as we now are from World War II and the headlines are amazingly similar.

In fact, with the mere change of a few names, a glance at 1919-20 headlines would almost convince you that you were reading the newspapers of today.

We were having the same troubles with Russia then—only a little worse, with American troops in Siberia and Murmansk. The northern Adriatic, as now, was the chief bone of contention at the Paris peace conference. Only it was Fiume instead of Trieste which caused riots in the streets of Rome and Belgrade.

"Jews Massacred, Robbed by Poles," was another tragic but familiar headline. "Foresees Jewish state in Palestine. Judge Julian Mack tells of atrocities and asks for migration to Jewish homeland."

"Pershing denies large quantities of war goods destroyed in France."

"Rep. Emerson offers resolution asking war department to what extent soldiers were overcharged in France." . . . "War department criticized for offering $4,000,000 worth of fabrics for sale at public auction." . . . "Sergeants arrested in Paris charged with theft of American stores."

When it came to strikes, race riots and soaring prices, the domestic scene of 1919 was even more alarming. Labor troubles caused far more bloodshed. The alleged Communist menace was much worse.

May day celebrations in Chicago, Cleveland, Boston and New York produced riots, "citizens' armies" and an untold number of skull and political fractures.

Unfinished Letter for Special Delivery

To Everybody Concerned in the Strike of 1,400 Airplane Pilots:

Gentlemen: Even if it is all over when you get this, I am still scared. There is something about the very thought of a strike by airplane pilots that raises gooseflesh. I always like to think the guy in there with all those instruments is satisfied. I like to feel that, while the lad in whose hands my life rests may be thinking of a lot of things, walking out of there is not one of them.

To me the operator of one of those super planes is a sort of god with a little Sir Galahad, a little Tom Edison and a lot of Jimmy Doolittle thrown in. The idea that he can under any circumstances look like John Lewis or an unhappy picket floors me. It takes me right back from a state of being air-minded to one of being covered-wagon-minded.

No matter what I worried about up in the air, I always pictured the pilot as having nothing to take his mind off the altimeters, range finders and various gauges; and I thought he was too busy to think of money, longer weekends, the capitalistic system and what was said at the last union meeting. Now I am sick enough to go to bed at the discovery that way up there, skidding around a cloud and plotting the right course to dodge the next mountain peak, a superdooper airplane pilot is just a workingman with a union card, a letter from a leader and maybe a conviction that the boss is a louse.

I sort of had the notion when I was 5,000 feet up there I was where no national mediation boards, fact finding commissions, union demands or picket lines could touch me. I felt sure the airplane bosses and the pilot were buddies and that the bosses would be as frightened as the passengers if they knew the skippers were sore about anything.

So I hope you have got everything fixed up now for keeps, and that it can't happen again. If it does, please keep it out of the papers. Here I have put in 15 years getting air-minded, and now all of a sudden I am back where I like bicycling.

 Away back when food was not a luxury?

Things we didn't know until now: That Congressman Sol Bloom got his start in life as boss of the Midway at the Chicago World's Fair and that he invented and produced the first hoochy-coochy show in America there. Fiorella La Guardia, one of Sol's best friends, said so in a laudatory article, urging his re-election. The campaign had been pretty uninteresting and we regarded this development as terrific. To anybody who has watched congress function it is obvious that a hoochy-cooch dance background must be mighty helpful.

Elmer Twitchell wants those former World Fair symbols at the fair grounds where the U. N. is meeting restored and another added. He has a blueprint showing a trylon, a perisphere and a veto.

Controls are now off liquor. A man can now get inflation and a hangover in one operation.

Telephone men working on our 12-month, $45,000,000 construction program

New switchboards and dial equipment in most of our 600 central offices; new buildings or additions in over 200 places; hundreds of miles of new wire and cable; tens of thousands of new telephones—these are the main items in the huge construction program which eventually will bring to New England more and better telephone service than it has ever had before.

The job is big. We'll spend $45,000,000 on it in the next 12 months and additional millions in coming years. The first aim is telephones for all who want them; the second, restoring and then exceeding the highest standards of service we have ever given.

The Telephone Company plans to give you the improving and expanding service that New England wants. To do this requires constant research and the skilled work of telephone people. It also requires the yearly investment of millions of dollars, put up by thousands of individual investors confident that their money will be safe and that it will bring them a reasonable return.
