Veterans To Draw Lots July 26 and 28

19 Candidates To Date for Apartments in Shaw Estate

On Saturday, July 26, the Shaw estate on Main street will be open for inspection with the Veterans Service Officer, Frank Markey, present to answer questions regarding the division of the house into separate apartments to be rented to veterans and their families respective of their need and ability to pay.

The town does not plan to make any renovations on the estate, which will be used only temporarily for housing, and necessary repairs will be made by the veterans themselves, who may apply the amount of their rents to the cost until such time as full payment is made. After that time the rents will revert to the town.

It is hoped that the four apartments to be made available to veterans will take care of emergency cases, and the candidates who have filled out applications for living quarters in the Shaw property will be carefully screened before the drawing takes place on July 29. Many applications have already been submitted to the Veterans Service office. Three of them involve a veteran, a wife and two small children, and all are facing eviction from their present living quarters. Many include families with small children who are presently living under crowded and unhealthful conditions, and in two cases four people are sleeping in one room.

The first intention was to have a drawing by all applicants for the apartments, but upon consideration, it was decided that, although this method would be more generally fair, it would allow no priority to emergency cases. The most needy cases will therefore have the first opportunity to draw lots, but should any of these drop out of the competition for reasons of their own, names of other applicants will be substituted.

A majority of the rooms are in good condition and could be made livable with few alterations. Kitchen and bathroom facilities will have to be added to some of the apartments, however.

The apartment on the left, entering the front door, has been priced at $45 per month and consists of two good-sized rooms with fireplaces in each, a large closet and butler's pantry, a room formerly used as a kitchen and containing a sink and pantry, a back room which could easily be made into a bath and extra room, and an outside porch.

A second apartment, to be rented at $40, contains two rooms downstairs on the right and two above on the second floor. Three of them contain fireplaces, and the second room upstairs is a large and well-equipped bathroom. This apartment necessitates the addition of kitchen facilities. On the left of the upstairs hall is a third apartment which also includes two rooms with fireplaces, a third room in the back containing a washstand, and a bathroom. This apartment, to be rented for $35, also requires kitchen facilities.

A four-room apartment on the third floor which has neither bath nor kitchen will be rented for $30 a month, and although the rooms are large and pleasant, other repairs would be necessary.

Tenants will have the opportunity to alter the apartments to meet their present needs, have access to the large airy halls, the cellar and the grounds around the house. Cooperative and congenial people would find it possible to move in immediately if they wished to share bathroom and kitchen facilities already in the building. Heat will not be supplied but will have to be worked out under a cooperative plan.

Many prospective tenants have already inspected the building, which will be open on the 26th from 4:00 to 6:00 p. m. The drawing will be held on the premises at 7:00, July 29, with Mr. Markey in charge. First consideration will be given to families with children.

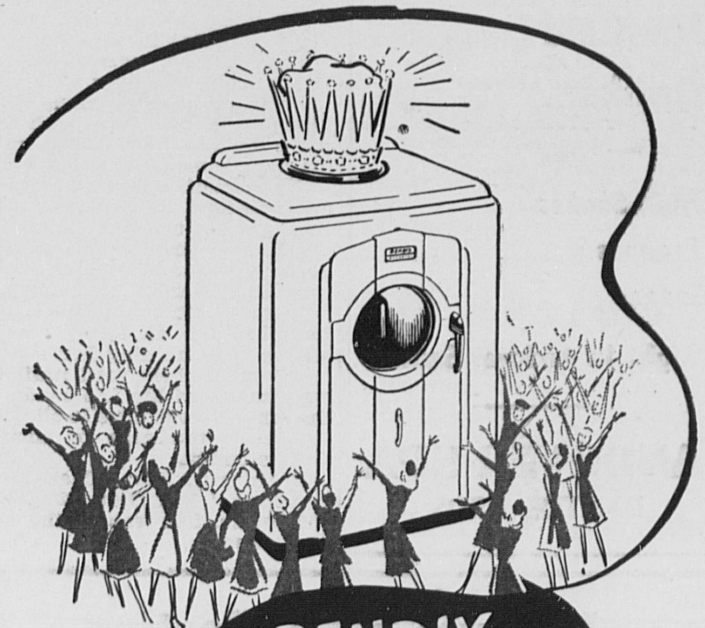

THE ANDOVER TOWNSMAN, July 17, 1947

9 Have Applied for Lots on High and Burnham Road

The survey of the town-owned property on High street and Burnham road has not as yet been completed, but it is expected that there will be at least ten lots, 85' by 100', available to veteran buyers. The only stipulation will be that building should be completed at the end of a specified time or the deed will be forfeited. All applications for lots must be in to the Veterans Service office by July 28, and lots will be drawn on July 30 at 8:00 p. m. in the Veterans Service office.

The lots on High street where water and sewerage lines are already installed will be sold at $75, and the lots on Burnham road where the owners will find it necessary to put in septic tanks will be sold at $25.

Each applicant for a lot will have an equal chance, as no screening will be made before the drawing. The only ineligible candidates will be those who are not in a position to build within the time limit imposed.

WHERE TO GO...AND WHEN

Duck Dander

From Ballardvale comes word of a reader who is sincerely interested in the antics of Donald and Dora, and to her, our heartfelt thanks and — here goes.

Donald and his impressive quack have taken up a new residence due to a case of mistaken identity described in the last installment. We were all set to swap him back because there is just no point in pretending that one duck is the same as another, and especially there is no duck quite like Donald, but we hear that his present abode includes the pond off Central street, and Donald is spending his days and a good part of his nights lending grace and beauty to the murky waters. No one could be so heartless as to take him away from such a natural habitat to a home whose maximum swimming space is limited by the rusty sides of a discarded dishpan.

Dora's new silent partner has a lot in her favor. She is a gentle and strictly feminine little bird who could never be mistaken for a drake. Dora has taken on a protective attitude towards her which is quite unlike her worshipful idolatry of Donald. You could even say that losing her master has made a man out of Dora.

The other night the two of them were leisurely strolling outside the bounds of their fence and having great fun digging their bills under the grass for succulent roots when two hounds, owned and trained by Henry Bouche, who is also a member of the Sportsman's Club, which is stocking the woods to have something to shoot at, wandered into the yard sniffing the air and licking their chops. The two ducks squatted in the high grass, hoping to be overlooked, but Henry trains his dogs well.

Dora is a brave woman, and although the dogs are both three times her size, she ruffled up her feathers, spread her wings wide to make herself appear formidable, and half-flew, half-charged out of the grass, uttering loud and threatening quacks. The dogs had not expected to be challenged, and they took to their heels, stopping at a safe distance to bark back. Dora kept up an angry repartee, all the time herding her new sister towards their yard until they were safely within the confines of the fence. It was time to slip down and close the gate to complete their security.

"Atta girl, Dora. That's showing them." But Dora didn't hear the praise. She was in the midst of a swoon.

Homes and Gardens

Newburyport has long been noted for the beauty of its houses and gardens—houses which date from the first half of the 17th century to the stately Georgian mansions with graceful doorways facing the elm-shaded streets and lovely gardens in the rear. Evidence of the early glorious days still persists in the houses, wrought by the craftsmen of the Federalist era.

Townsppeople will have the opportunity to visit these homes on July 23, when they will be open to the public from 1:00 to 7:00 p. m. In case of rain, the date will be postponed to the next fair day. The event is under the auspices of the Merrimack Valley Smith College club, and tickets may be purchased on the porch of the home of Miss Alice Higgins, 73 High street, Newburyport, or at the Mansion House, Governor Dummer academy.

Private collections of china, glass, clocks and other rare antiques will also be on display.

It will be well worthwhile to travel down the pike on the 23rd.

What Is It?

The Rockport Market is not with us this week, and Mr. Kelly explains that it's for experimental purposes. We are more of the opinion that it is because he has stocked in a new product that he doesn't dare advertise. What is it? Call one, two, three, four for the solution, and chances are he'll count ten before he answers.

Congratulations

The British Empire War Veterans sent a congratulatory telegram to Princess Elizabeth upon the announcement of her engagement, and last Sunday received an acknowledgement that read: "Please convey the Princess Elizabeth's sincere thanks to all who joined in your kind message on the announcement of her Royal Highness' engagement." The telegram, addressed to Miss Margaret Reid, president of the auxiliary, was signed, "Lady in Waiting."

FINAL DATES

The final date for reinstating National Service Life Insurance policies is August 1, 1947. Application for Terminal Leave Pay must be mailed by September 1 of this year.

Photostatic copies of discharge papers will be made by the Veteran's Service Office upon request and all ex-service men and women of World War I and II are invited to take advantage of this service.

DR. AND MRS. ERNEST W. RIVERS

RIVERS—McDONOUGH

Lovely in an ice blue satin ensemble with matching hairband and white accessories, Dorothy O'Connor McDonough, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Timothy J. O'Connor of 46 Whittier street, became the bride of Dr. Ernest W. Rivers, son of Mrs. Rose Rivers and the late Ernest Rivers, Sunday afternoon in St. Augustine's church. She carried a white prayer book centered with an orchid. Rev. Matthew McDonald, O. S. A., performed the 4:00 o'clock ceremony, and the wedding marches and incidental music were played by Miss Mary Lanigan, with James Sheard as soloist.

The bridegroom's sister, Miss Laura Rivers, was the maid of honor, and her informal costume was of pink faille accented with black accessories and a wide-brimmed black hat. Her corsage of flowers were in harmony.

Dr. Cornelius Thibeault of Wakefield was best man.

A reception for the immediate families followed at the home of the bride's parents. The couple left on a wedding trip to Canada, and upon their return will reside on Lowell street, Wakefield, where Dr. Rivers is associated with Dr. Thibeault at the Fairlawn animal hospital. The bride is well-known locally, and is the manager of the Andover Lunch.

A Tribute

General Marlborough Churchill, whose death occurred on July 9 last in New York City, was one of Andover's most distinguished native sons. As Director of Military Intelligence from May, 1918, until June, 1920, during some of the most critical days of the war, he was one of the most influential men in the United States, with a power which he exercised both discreetly and effectively. His previous military record on the staff of General Pershing had been outstanding, but it all led up to his performance in his important Washington post.

In 1924, while still a young man, General Churchill suffered a breakdown directly due to his wartime labors and was retired with the rank first of Lieutenant Colonel and later, in 1930, of Brigadier General. Since then, first in Andover and afterwards in New York City, he had been an invalid, displaying qualities of quiet courage which won him the admiration of his friends. He had unusual gifts as a writer, but his ailment did not permit him to settle down to continuous labor. He could greet visitors cheerfully, but his restlessness allowed him no repose. Throughout this prolonged illness he was an inspiration to those who saw and knew him.

The younger generation in Andover, though they must have heard of his achievements, probably do not realize what a natural leader General Churchill was. But he should go down in our town history as one of our foremost citizens, and it would be fitting if some permanent memorial could be planned and carried through in his honor. He was an able soldier and a gallant gentleman, but above all, in war and peace, a man of sterling, even heroic, character.

Claude M. Fuess

OBITUARIES . . .

MARLBOROUGH CHURCHILL

General Marlborough Churchill, Andover native, died July 9 in New York from the effects of an illness contracted during World War I. His long and distinguished Army career, beginning in 1901 and continuing until his retirement, was marked with such honors as: a member of the staff of General John J. Pershing; Acting Chief of Staff, Army Artillery, 1st Army; Chief, Military Intelligence Branch; Assistant Chief of Staff and Director of Military Intelligence; member of the American Commission to Negotiate Peace. His decorations included the following: American Distinguished Service Medal; Officer of Legion of Honor (France); Companion of the Bath (England); Commander, Order of the Crown of Italy; Commander, Order of Leopold (Belgium); and Officer of the Order of Polonia Restituta (Poland). He served overseas in France and in the Philippines.

The son of the late John Wesley Churchill, who was for many years a professor at the Andover Theological Seminary, and Mary Jane (Donald) Churchill, he was a descendant of John Churchill, who came from England to Plymouth in 1636 and a distant cousin of Winston Churchill, wartime prime minister of England. He married Mary Smith, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter D. Smith. For some years he resided in the house at the corner of Main and Phillips streets which has since been moved.

He was born in Andover, August 11, 1878, and was graduated from Phillips academy, and from Harvard college in the class of 1900.

He became 1st Lieutenant in the regular Army in 1907, Major in 1917, Lieutenant Colonel in the Emergency Army in 1917, Colonel in 1918, and Brigadier General the same year. He received his honorable discharge from the emergency grade of Brigadier General in June, 1920, and remained in the regular Army with the permanent grade of Major of Field Artillery. In 1930 he was appointed Brigadier General in the regular Army on the retired list. Before his enlistment, he was an English instructor at Harvard college.

GEORGE E. COLLOTEN

George E. Colloten, 67, 119 Main street, a World War I veteran and a Boston and Maine railroad employee for 39 years, died at the Massachusetts General hospital in Boston, Sunday afternoon.

Born in Bradford, the son of the late Peter and Delia (Brennen) Colloten, Mr. Colloten began his long employment with the railroad upon his return from overseas duty after World War I. He was with Company F as a second lieutenant and in 1916 served on the Mexican border and went to France with the American expeditionary forces.

He worked as a signal man in Saco, Me., and as a station agent in Bradford, Haverhill, Ballardvale, Reading and Biddeford, Me., before becoming a dispatcher at Lowell.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Dorothy Colloten, and a son, George E. Colloten, Jr., both of 119 Main street; a sister, Mrs. Nelson Mitchell of Bradford; a brother, Dr. Frank Colloten of Boston.

Services were held Wednesday morning from the John J. Harty funeral home, Methuen, with a high mass of requiem in Sacred Heart church, Bradford. Burial was in the Immaculate Conception cemetery in Lawrence.

NEW BOOKS

There are more good books available for summer readers at the Memorial Hall Library! Any book may be borrowed, or reserved if it happens to be out. The reserve system is a simple one; for those to whom it is not an established convenience, we repeat the workings of this service: Any book, fiction or non-fiction, old or new, barring the books that are definitely of reference value, may be reserved. The person wishing a book in circulation signs a postal card with his name and address, gives the title of the book, and pays for the postal. This plan insures the reader from the possibility of overlooking a title which he really intends to read.

Among the books added recently are these:

The Enchanted Flavin

A simply told but meaningful story of seven children thrust from the terrors of Europe into a world of their own making. High adventure, flight, shipwreck, all told in a fast-moving bit of writing!

Fortune's Gift Kerby

Set in the little volcanic island of San Mercato in the Adriatic Set, this story is peopled with modern characters driven into action by modern problems.

Vain Shadow Spence

For those who like historical romances—this is of the Spanish conquistator, Don Francisco Orellano, discoverer and conqueror of the Amazon. Here he vowed to establish a community where there would be no racial, religious or social discrimination.

Return To Night Renault

A new "doctor" story, with the main character in this case being a woman. There is a psychological twist to this modern tale.

Aurora Dawn Wouk

And this one is different! It is a pert, confidential bit of yarn spinning, wound around a not too original plot. Here is the advertising world being poked at by way of Aurora Dawn, a pink soap; here's young love being ridiculed, then fostered, and the whole thing served up in a delicious old-fashioned flavor!

Katika Molnar

Katika, at eighteen, married not one man, but a whole string quartet! Or so it seemed to her when she went rambling over the continent with a group of Hungarian music-makers. This is fun, and good reading!

The Loving Are the Daring Conway

There is good family feeling in this story of a German-American family in a mid-western town from 1905-1920. Mrs. Kraemer, the widowed mother, holds together her little home after the death of her husband.

The State of Mind Schorer

Here are thirty-two stories of ordinary people and not extraordinary happenings, of the fears and hopes that haunt human beings from childhood throughout their lives.

Peace Breaks Out Thirkell

Another of the charming slow-tempered stories of modern English life, with entertaining incidents and gay humor.

Communication Through the Ages Still

The thrilling story of human communication from the days of sign language to television. The author, born in England, came to the United States to teach electrical design at Purdue. He was professor of electrical engineering for twenty-one years.

Lord Weary's Castle Lowell

Ten poems published in his earlier book, revised, appear in this new collection of Robert Lowell's work, along with thirty-two new ones.

Krazy Kat Harriman

The story behind the cartoon existence of Krazy Kat.

Experiment "E" Szalet

An honest account of one man's personal experience in the horror and cruelty of a concentration camp, which he calls an extermination laboratory.

Rediscovery of Morals Link

The author of "Rediscovery of Man" and "Return to Religion" now presents a thoughtful analysis of an important problem—race and class conflict.

Alaska: Land of Tomorrow Herron

A stimulating picture of Alaska as it is now, and its real prospects for the future. Month by month and season by season Mr. Herron outlines the life of the Alaskans—their weather, industries, agriculture and possibilities. The author has lived in Alaska since 1935. This has excellent information for the ambitious homesteader.

Flower Arranging for the American Home Taber

A splendid book for both beginner and expert. It is illustrated with full-color kodachromes, black and white half-tones and line drawings.

Small Jewelry Smith

Detailed instructions and work methods of working with metal to form small articles of jewelry, using inexpensive equipment. Suggests good designs that may be used or adapted.

Balzac Zweig

The last writing of Zweig was this study of Balzac, left to the editorship of Richard Briedenthal.

Wildlife Portfolio of the Western National Parks Dixon

A beautiful book, illustrated for the most part by photographs taken by the author.

Pastimes for the Patient Ickis

Splendid book for anyone, especially the patient who is looking for new interests or recreation. Ideal for convalescents—men, women or children.

PILOTS AND PLAINTIFFS REACH AGREEMENT

As a result of the complaints of a number of citizens living in the vicinity of the playstead, an open meeting of the Board of Public Works an informal hearing was called Monday night regarding the noise disturbance caused by the continual use of the playstead as a proving ground for model planes. About 14 interested persons outside of the board members were present and both sides of the problem were given equal consideration.

A compromise was agreed upon whereby the model plane hobbyists were granted use of the playstead daily from 9:00 to 11:00 a. m., from 1:00 to 5:00 p. m., and from 6:00 to 8:15 p. m. On Sundays, the hours will be from 1:00 to 5:00 p. m., and 6:00 to 8:15 p. m. This experimental schedule will be tried for two weeks when a reconsideration may be made.

The complainants were mostly concerned with breaking up the constancy of the noise from the motors and a discontinuance of the disturbance on Sunday mornings than they were in preventing entirely the flying of model planes in the vicinity. It was pointed out that the school buildings in the playstead area cause the noise to re-echo, especially affecting the Morton street district.

On the other hand, the ground pilots were anxious to continue flying their model planes at the playstead because it is one of the few places in town suitable for a miniature air field.

GEORGE WINSLOW IS RE-ELECTED MEMBER OF RETIREMENT BOARD

Town Clerk George H. Winslow was re-elected for a three-year term as a member of the Retirement Board, at an election held in the town house Tuesday with Town Treasurer Thaxter Eaton acting as guardian of the ballot box. The 103 active members of the system were eligible to vote.

According to the terms of the election, the three candidates receiving the highest number of votes for nomination, appear on the ballot which this year named Robert V. Deyermond of 91 Elm street, George C. Napier of 64 Maple avenue and George H. Winslow of Lowell street as nominees. Mr. Napier, by reason of his office as town accountant, is already a member of the board and serves as its chairman. A second member, appointed by law by the Board of Selectmen, is Edmond E. Hammond. The third member is elected by the members of the retirement system.

Had Mr. Napier been elected on Tuesday, he would have been a member of the board on two counts and as a consequence a second election would have been necessary to get a third member. This complication was averted by Mr. Winslow's re-election which allows the board to continue to function on all cylinders.

Contests

Forever blowing bubbles? Friday afternoon at all local playgrounds with the exception of Central, how big and how round you can blow them will really count, as this week's special Friday feature is a bubble contest. Central playground will hold its contest in the evening at 7:15 but all others will be in the afternoon.

Many young people attending the playgrounds last week really fell for last Friday's specialty which was couple-racing. There were many harmless spills as partners tried to coordinate their actions so that they became a two-man team.

With the installation of new swings and slides at Indian Ridge and West Center, the attendance at both playgrounds has increased. Central has also received new swings with special chair models for the little tots.

Starting next week, something new will be added. Plans are now underway for inter-playground softball games but the schedule has not been completed as yet.

The weekly playground dances at the Guild are becoming more and more popular with young people of all ages. Some drop in to dance, but others congregate around the radio to listen to the night baseball games or test their skill in checkers with worthy opponents. A general good time is had.

Guild and Vets Tie in Twi

The Guild and the Veterans share the top rung in the present standing of the Twilight Baseball league, both having won two and lost none. Royal Crown, the only team that has played three games, also has two wins, but its average is spoiled by one defeat. The Hill club has one defeat and no victories and both the Maroons and the Dodgers have two defeats and no victories.

The Veterans scored a 6-0 victory over the Dodgers this week with Fred Teichert pitching for the winning team. Suiter, pitching for the Dodgers, was relieved by Deveaux. The Guild's win this week was not quite as decisive as the Vets' with the Hill club scoring one point to the Guild's four. Fred Dwyer pitched for the Guild and Jack McCarthy for the Hill club.

Next week's schedule is as follows:

July 21—Dodgers vs. Guild
July 22—Royal Crown vs. Veterans
July 23—Dodgers vs. Maroons
July 24—Veterans vs. Hill

EDITORIAL

For Young People Only

This is strictly for the younger people. Older people may read it if they feel of a retiring nature, but if they still like the feeling of reins of town policy in their hands, it would be unfortunate if they were to read this because it contains the germ of an idea that might make them give up those reins.

Andover isn't getting enough from its younger people; possibly it's the fault of the older citizens who look askance at those under forty as not having anything worthwhile to give to the town; possibly it's a large part the fault of the young people themselves for not getting together, for not organizing to promote some effective action toward a number of goals that they speak about privately. There are a good many ways in which they want the town to improve, but too often they just talk about it and let the older people continue to keep the town the way it has been.

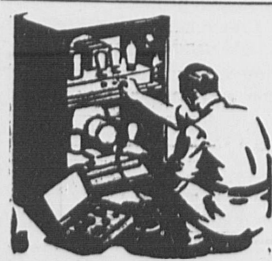

In some instances young people have been elected to town boards, but in general they are outnumbered and so ineffective. They need something in back of them, they need organized support, because they can't accomplish things alone in the face of a town state of mind that tends to maintain things in a status quo instead of pushing forward as some of our younger towns in other parts of the country are doing.

There was a boy once who used to work around our printshop as editor of Phillips academy's Phillipian. His name is James Quigg Newton and he graduated in the late twenties. That must make him just past 35 or so now. You saw something about him recently in the nation's press, you probably read about him in TIME and saw his picture and pictures of his city in LIFE. The young man has just been elected Mayor of Denver, Colorado, in a campaign to clean up the city in many ways.

If the Quigg Newtons can do it in Denver, young people can do it in New England. But it's going to take organization, it's going to take a determined effort, a drive that may see disappointment for a couple of years but whose aim is worth a good deal of stick-to-it-iveness. It really won't be too hard. We've elected a Phil Allen as state senator; last March, Betty Buchan ran a very good race for selectman as a young girl against a seasoned old-timer at the political game. We elected a young fellow, and an older one, to the Board of Public Works a year ago with only an organized effort on the part of young people to accomplish it.

We can elect young people, but we've got to do more than that. We've got to support them once they get in office, because they need it to give them strength against the older folks who have been in there for years. In a job like that, when you're continually butting up against standpatism and getting nowhere, you can easily begin to wonder if it's worthwhile continuing to fight. If you have friends who'll give you support, young friends who will go to town meeting and fight and keep on fighting, Andover will be the town you want it to be.

It's a good town; it's one of the best; heck it IS the best. But we want it better. There's much to be done. Let's get going, young people; let's start now.

Fire In Barn Started Hot Light Bulb

An electric light bulb resting too close to a new load of hay, touched off a fire in the barn on Lovejoy road owned by Dr. John J. Hartigan Tuesday night. The bulb of low wattage was hung high on a rafter, but the hay being stored that night came close enough to start a conflagration that caused about $200 damage to the building. From six to eight tons of hay were also lost but the horses stabled in the barn were led by safety by Dr. Hartigan when he discovered the blaze.

Engines 1 and 2 and Ladder 1 responded to the alarm and the fire was completely out by midnight.

Short Circuit

A short circuit in the wiring at the residence of Dan Barberian, Ballardvale, was reported on Wednesday. Engine 2 responded and a fire was avoided.

Mietzke's "Meditation" for piano, violin, and organ will be played as a prelude by Horace N. Killam, Sr., director of the Opera Garden, piano, Mr. Irving Anderson, Georgetown, violin, and Dwight Killam, organist of the church. The twelve familiar hymns which form the basis of the festival will be accompanied by violin and by a brass choir, whose members are Harry Dennison, Richard Dennison, and Kenneth Dennison of Andover, and Thomas Page, of Lawrence. Several Andover singers are expected to sing with the augmented choir which will lead the singing of the hymns. Every one who enjoys singing the great hymns of the church is cordially invited to attend the service.

The man of the rural household uses the telephone for such important matters as ordering repairs, handling produce — or keeping in touch with jobs that he may do in town. His wife depends on the telephone for household buying — and keeping in touch with friends and neighbors.

Because every member of the family gets so much out of the telephone, we're work- ing with all possible speed to extend our rural service. We're increasing the number of telephones in use — reaching out into remote areas and planning ahead to give better service to everyone who wants it.

Last Week

Chief-of-Police George A. Dane reports one of the quietest fourths on record with only one minor automobile accident marring the peacefulness of the holiday. The collision of two cars, one driven by George Pyburn of Salem and the other by Andrew Jiamo of 367 North Main street, occurred on Haverhill street, Shawsheen in front of House number 82. No injury was suffered by occupants of either car, although there was some property damage.

At 10:50 on July 5, a second collision in Shawsheen occurred in the square while the officer on duty looked on. One car driven by Betty A. Russell of Chelmsford was crossing the square from Lowell street to Haverhill street when it came in contact with a car driven by Thomas Eldred of 52 Main street which was driven along Main street toward Lawrence. Both cars were traveling at a limited speed, scarcely more than ten miles an hour. Officer Davis stated that he didn't know why the accident should have happened and both drivers agreed with him. Miss Russell's car turned turtle and all four passengers were taken to the Lawrence General Hospital for treatment.

A troop of gypsies who had pitched camp in West Andover were invited to leave town by the Police Department. They did.

On the morning of July 10, three juveniles from Charlestown were found guilty of attempted theft of a car from the parking grounds of the Shawsheen Mills. Two of the boys were sentenced to two years at Lyman school, but sentence was suspended for two years. The third boy was given one year at the school, sentence suspended one year. All three had previous court records.

COACH APPOINTMENTS MADE BY SCHOOL BOARD

The boys' athletic program in the Junior and Senior High schools was the topic of major discussion, Monday night, at the special meeting of the school committee with consideration being given to the overall program.

Appointed to assist Walter Roberts, Punchard's new head football coach, was Donald D. Dunn, physical education director. He will receive $200 for the position and an additional $50 for the job of track coach which last year paid $100. Kenneth McKiniry was re-elected Punchard basketball coach at a salary of $100 and Joseph B. Doherty was elected faculty manager of athletics at the High school at a salary of $250. Mr. Doherty held the position previous to his Navy service without pay.

The salary of $100 paid from Athletic Association funds, to the treasurer was approved. The office is filled by James Hart. The amounts of $100 for the Junior High football coach and $50 for the Junior High baseball coach were also voted.

Considerable attention was also given to the condition of the text books, the need for many new and up-to-date books for the Punchard library, and the cost of paper and supplies with the end in view of keeping the 1948 budget at the 1947 level. Superintendent Kenneth L. Sherman pointed out that another teacher will be needed at Punchard in the fall and it was left to his discretion to work out a plan whereby one or more of the Junior High school teachers would take classes at Punchard. Chairman Arthur R. Lewis remarked that minor matters should be taken care of by subcommittees, a system that was discontinued by a town meeting vote.

The next special meeting will be held on August 4.

Resolutions Adopted By Union Church

The resignation of Rev. Arnold M. Kenseth who leaves the Union Congregational Church in Ballardvale after four years in the parish to take up ministerial duties at Massachusetts State College in Amherst was accepted at a meeting of the church recently and the following resolutions were adopted:

"Whereas our pastor, Arnold M. Kenseth, has tendered his resignation of this pastorate to enter upon a larger field which is more appropriate to his special gifts;

Be it resolved: "That we accept his resignation, with the consciousness that we are losing a good friend and a minister of unusual abilities.

"That we desire warmly to express our appreciation of his earnest spirit, his persevering labor, his sincere and thoughtful preaching and his hearty brotherliness.

"That whenever his name may be proposed for the consideration of another church, his qualities as a zealous, thoughtful, sincere preacher, sedulously humble and of literary talent much beyond the ordinary, will be too evident to require our testimony; but we desire to certify also from our experience that he is a steady and pushing leader in church work. This church will be permanently the better for the services he has rendered in stimulating our activities.

"That the resolution be spread upon the records of the church, and that copies of them be furnished to Mr. Kenseth, the press and to the Congregational Board of Pastoral Supply."
