HENRY—COLLINS

Mary Elizabeth Collins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Collins, formerly of Andover, was married July 16 in St. Patrick's Cathedral, N. Y., to John Robert Henry, son of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Henry.

Miss Agnes Virginia Collins, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, and Raymond James Henry, brother of the groom, was best man. The bridesmaids were Miss Patricia Collins, sister of the bride, and Miss Ruth Fischer.

Born in Andover, the bride was educated at Cathedral High School, New York City and Hunter College. Mr. Henry, an electrical engineer associated with Western Electric Company, was educated at Columbia University. During the war he was a Marine Corps sergeant and took part in many important operations in the Pacific.

The bride's mother, the former Irene Arnold, taught school in Andover, and is the niece of Mr. and Mrs. Peter F. Cunningham, of 17 Highland road.

Engagements

The coming marriage of Miss Irene V. Pelletier, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Maxime Pelletier of 39 Beacon street, to Harvey W. Croteau, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Croteau of 43 Beacon street has been announced and the ceremony will take place Saturday morning, August 2, in the Sacred Heart Church, Lawrence.

An engagement party was held last Saturday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Croteau of 43 Beacon street. Over 300 relatives and friends were in attendance to wish the bride-to-be, Miss Irene Pelletier, much happiness. She is to be married on Saturday, August 2, at 9 o'clock, in the Sacred Heart church, to Mr. Herve Croteau. Mr. Ellery Metcalf of Saugus, an instructor at the Essex Aggie school, presented the couple with a shower bouquet of money on behalf of those present. Refreshments were served.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry LaRosa of 27 Corbett street announced the engagement of their daughter, Helen Mary, to A. C. Longo, son of Mr. and Mrs. Longo of Dorchester at a garden party held recently on the lawn of their home.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Pynchard High school and is presently employed in the main office of New England Milk Producers' Association. Her fiance served for four years in the Marine Corps on the staff of the Marine magazine, the Leatherneck. He is a graduate of Dorchester High school and Boston University and is associated with the firm, Publicity, Inc., of Boston and New York.

(Roland Reid Studio)

One of Andover's fairest brides in recent nuptials was Miss Ann Walen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Dean Walen of 68 Salem street, who became the bride of George Baldwin Walker, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Richard Walker of Concord. The couple are making their new home in Concord.

HOT STUFF

Washington had more ready wit, says the magazine Your Life, than history seems inclined to credit to him. He could very competently hold his own in the art of repartee. One day as he sat at table after dinner he complained that the fire burning on the hearth behind him was much too large and too hot.

"But, sir," observed a guest, "it behooves a general to stand fire."
"But it does not become a general to receive it from the rear," replied Washington quickly.

FIFTEEN VETERANS WILL RECEIVE AID IN DRAWINGS TO BE HELD NEXT WEEK

Survey of Town-Owned Land Provides Eleven House Lots For Sale to Veteran Applicants

A survey of the house lots on the town-owned property at the junction of High street and Burnham road has been completed, and a total of 11 will be available, the drawing to take place at the Veterans Service office at 8:00 p. m., on July 30. All applications must be in by the 28th.

Lots on Burnham road will be sold at $25 and those on High street will be $75. There have already been 35 requests for land received. Some applications have been received from out-of-town veterans working in the vicinity, and it is the opinion of the committee that Andover men and women should have the priority.

CONSTRUCTION MUST START WITHIN YEAR

Those veterans who are not in a position to commence construction within a year are requested to withdraw, since the program is designed to encourage additional housing immediately. Successful candidates who do not find it possible to make a start on building a new home within the prescribed time limit will forfeit the deed to the land at the original price, and it will be made available to other veterans. No improvements on the land will be made by the town, and, upon assuming ownership, the veteran takes over full responsibility of his lot.

During the drawing for house lots, a speaker experienced in landscaping and building will be present to offer suggestions and advice with the thought in mind that the new landowners may find a cooperative system advantageous in getting a building project rolling.

Evictees With Children To Have First Priority in Drawing for Apartments in Shaw Estate

The applicants for apartments already received by the Veterans Service office are being carefully screened and classified by a special committee in preparation for the drawing to be held on the premises of the Shaw estate at 7 p. m., July 29. Immediate eviction heads the list of emergencies, as, according to the committee, "half a house, or any portion thereof, is better than no house."

Working from that point of view, three classifications have been set up which divide the applications according to the degree of urgency the individual case indicates. The committee has no alternative but to base their decisions on the statements of the veterans themselves appearing on the various forms that were filled out and placed on file during the past year.

Class 1 consists of married veterans with children who are facing immediate eviction or whose emergency is the equivalent of an eviction.

Class 2 is made up of married veterans with children living under adverse conditions of a serious nature.

Class 3 is made up of married veterans with children living with in-laws or another family where no hardship is indicated.

Requests from unmarried veterans or married veterans without children are at the present time being eliminated, but their applications will be placed on file until such future date when the first three classes are exhausted.

Of the 25 veterans who had applied for an apartment in the Shaw estate previous to Tuesday's screening, seven were eliminated from the apartment drawing. These same veterans, however, are eligible for house lots, since the only restrictive factor is inability to start building within a specified time.

The Shaw estate will be open for inspection on July 26 from 4:00 to 6:00 and instructions and information regarding the division of the apartments will be posted in the front hallway. Frank Markey will also be present to answer questions.

Necessary repairs or renovations to be made on the apartments will be the responsibility of the veteran occupant. The town does not plan to make or lose money on the project, for which there is no appropriation, and payments on the improvements will be made at the prescribed rental rate.

July 28 is the last date to file applications, and requests made after that date will not be considered. Class 1 will have the first opportunity, and a priority list will be made up from the drawing in all classes which will be used when vacancies occur. There are only four apartments to be rented, and the plan was derived to provide housing for those applicants whose emergency is the most pronounced.

All applications will be acknowledged and the veterans will be informed of their classification. Those who are not notified within a reasonable length of time are requested to inform the Veterans Service office to determine their status.

Park Street Tel. 664

Regarding the local housing situation, we have this week received a communication from one of our readers who asks, "How about those of us who were not in the service, either through physical disability or because their numbers were never called? We, too, are anxious for homes or apartments after doubling up through the war years and doing our bit here at home." The writer goes on to say that it is just and right that the veteran should come first, but that an attempt should also be made to aid those who were the "stay-at homes."

The question is a fair and logical one since the present housing emergency touches not only those who were away from town during the war years and returned to find all available housing in use but also those conscientious people who struggled along with the bare necessities, hopefully awaiting the return to normalcy when a home would be within the limits of possibility for all citizens willing to strive and sacrifice for such a goal. It was reasonable to expect that a home would again be attainable for Mr. Average Citizen.

But somewhere in the vicious struggle for profit and gain the rights of Mr. Citizen have been sacrificed, not wholly because of a deficiency of supply.

National and state leaders have apparently given up the ghost and allowed legislation designed to aid housing problems spend a peaceful vacation resting on the table. Home-owners with one eye on the tax rate and another on the rising costs of maintaining property continue to ask a maximum rental. Real estate continues to soar above real values. Builders can't cut corners because their biggest corner is the wage scale, and so it goes.

There are a few things that can be done in the community, but as the Veterans Housing committee found out, a very few things. Out of hundreds of veterans and their families in need of housing, fifteen will receive assistance in the drawings for apartments and house lots to be held this month. It is a small number and not relative to the hours of work and investigation that have been put in by the veterans service officer, the veterans' organizations, by individuals and by the housing committee as a whole. But it is something.

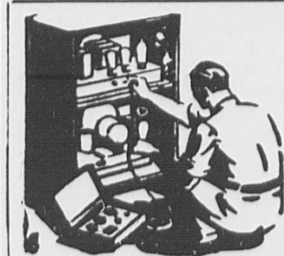

Non-veterans whose housing situations are equally deplorable could do something, too. Organized effort can usually go a step farther than individual effort, no matter how numerous and formidable are the barriers. They need spokesmen and people willing to work. They need people who will say, "Let's do something about this situation," instead of people who ask, "Why doesn't somebody do something?"

There are steps that could be taken. Andover has not been successfully combed for unused buildings or parts of buildings that could be converted into living quarters. The veterans made an attempt to do it, but it was a feeble attempt.

The town has not completely let down the legal barriers that stand in the way of local housing or conversion projects. There has been no cooperative movement by the townspeople, with individuals contributing a little, giving in a little, so that the whole might be benefited.

When war was declared and invasion was an ominous threat, the town held meetings and citizens came forward and volunteered to do this or that which would protect the entity. The people at home learned the meaning and results of cooperation just as those who were away were learning.

Cooperation could work during peace as well, with willing and interested leaders. Where are they now?

Nearly Sixteen Thousand Have Visited Pomp's Pond This Season

At the close of business on July 21, 15,612 bathers had already visited Pomp's pond bathing beach this year, nearly approaching the number that attended the public swimming beach during the entire season last year, when 16,250 were reported. The highest attendance for one day was on Monday, July 14, when 1430 enjoyed the facilities at Pomp's. Hussey's average weekly attendance is 250, although during the hot spell over 500 attended the Shawsheen pool.

The recent donation from the Essex Sand and Gravel company of four truck-loads of sand used in the picnic area suffered several washouts during the recent rains, and the road approaching the pond is again in a bad condition because of similar destruction. However, the condition of the beach is generally good and the new basketball court is proving to be a popular attraction.

Warren Deyermond is in charge of the swimming classes, which have already graduated from the first stages of learning breath control, floating, kick gliding, and have advanced to dog paddling. Under Donald Dunn's instruction, Tuesday afternoon, about 25 youngsters tested their skill in demonstrating what comes natural to a puppy. Zip Dunn, who shares his master's love of water sports and children, obliged by showing the class how an adult dog tackles aquatics.

"The first step," according to the instructor's statement, "is to help the beginners conquer any fear of the water they may have developed," and if the enthusiasm of the pupils is an indication, that barrier has already been crossed by this season's crop of prospective young swimmers.

Out of the 18 signed for Red Cross life saving instruction, the 11 regular attendants to the classes are: Cynthia Black, Patricia Black, Jane Marie Dumont, Janet Ann Middleton, Donald Joseph Valz, James Joseph Curry, Arthur McCabe, Russell Spinney, Clare Darby, Isabel Auchterlonie, Clark Otis and William Edward Bowser. Clark Otis signed up for the school at the first of the season, but his first day at Pomp's, the opening day at the beach, he suffered a foot injury which kept him out of the swimming for several weeks. He is in the class now and speedily making up for lost time.

Teaching the Red Cross classes, held rain or shine, are Donald Dunn, Phillip Crowley and Warren Deyermond. Deyermond attended the aquatic school this season under the sponsorship of the Red Cross, and Donald Dunn, who attended classes in past years, served as an instructor this year.

The staff of lifeguards at the pond is a competent one, and all members are qualified to teach the beginners and intermediates in the absence of the regular instructor. The daily routine of the guards includes a general policing of the grounds and beach, cleaning and sterilizing the bath houses, sweeping the stairs and docks and raking the water line. On fair and warm days the full staff is needed for guard duty on the beach, on the docks, and in the water, but sometimes when it rains, those who have piled up overtime get time off—to go for a swim.

SUMMER HOURS

The summer hours at the library are as follows: Main reading room, 9:00 a. m. to 9:00 p. m. on Mondays, Fridays and Saturdays. The other days the library is closed at 6:00 p. m. The Young People's Room is open daily from 9:00 to 12:00, and 2:00 to 5:00 except Saturday, when it closes at 12:00 noon.

CHILDREN'S BOOKS AWARDED PRIZES

Each year readers and librarians, as well as hopeful authors, wait patiently for the awarding of two medals—The Caldecott and Newberry awards. This year, the Caldecott honor for the best picture book to be published, is given to Margaret Wise Brown for her book "The Little Island." "Miss Hickory" by Carolyn Sherwin Bailey, received the Newberry prize, an honor bestowed on the person writing what is judged as the most distinguished contribution to children's literature. Both books may be borrowed from the Young People's Room at the Memorial Hall Library. Previous winners of both awards are on exhibit and may be borrowed.

NEW BOOKS

New Books at the Memorial Hall Library include the following titles: Rumble of a Distant Drum Akeley

After the death of Carl Akeley in the gorilla volcanoes of the Belgian Congo, Mrs. Akeley completed the expedition for the Akeley African Hall of the American Museum of Natural History. This is the true story of the adventure of ten-year-old Melingo, a native Watusi, who traveled with her across half of the African continent. A picture of a wise, unselfish and understanding friend.

Memory of Certain Persons Erskine

John Erskine tells of his early life in New York, long years with Columbia University, first a student then as faculty member, and the time spent at Amherst. He describes the friendships he has made, on his many missions to South America, and gives interesting memories of the Metropolitan Opera Association and the Julliard School.

Missouri Compromise Coffin

Tris Coffin was CBS's popular creator of Washington Report, and in this book tells the real story of what he saw in the ratel years in the Capitol. As in his broadcasts, Coffin gives intimate warm pictures of peoples and events that make up the news.

Underseas Log Bushnell

From the records of Eddie Bushnell, deep-sea diver, as told to M. O'Moran, illustrated by W. L. Morgan with underseas photography. Bushnell has dived for lost articles, purses, guns, precious possessions, lost bodies and so on, and here tells what the deep sea means to divers and how it charms them again to its depths.

The Soviet Impact on the Western World Carr

Professor Carr has made a realistic study of the Soviet system and its influence upon the world. As a student and teacher of international affairs for many years, he surveys Russia's influence on the rest of the countries and gives a splendid analysis of Soviet diplomacy. Simply written material for all who want to know "why the Russians act that way."

Wilderness Road Kincaid

No single trail was more significant in the westward spread of English colonization than the Wilderness Road of Virginia, Tennessee and Kentucky—the first route opened across the Appalachian barrier. The author has been a newspaperman and is now publisher of a paper. These legends and traditions are the result of a life time's collecting.

There's Plenty of Room Brophy

The author wrote this book because he was made particularly aware, through response to articles he wrote for magazines, that next to his private life a man's job is closest concern. Most people need counsel to make the best possible adjustment to their careers. This has good sense. In easy reading and gives good solid advice. The author is a nationally known executive consultant.

This is My Story Budenz

For the first time Mr. Budenz tells the complete history of his own Communist activities as managing editor of the Daily Worker and member of the secret and powerful Central Communist. About a year ago, Budenz repudiated Communism.

Mademoiselle Handbook Hamman

For the Girl With a Job and a Future
Many problems confront a business girl in everyday life; most of them have been analyzed here and common sense rules laid down for helping her to know herself, for getting what she wants and for making her life a richer and happier one. Sprightly written.

Land of Plenty Teague

Walter Teague, one of the country's foremost designers, describes the possibilities of our creating a magnificent future for ourselves if we use the American system of individual enterprise. He explains how labor can be given a responsible and profit-sharing position in a free enterprise system.

Stalin Must Have Peace Snow

Snow says "Russia is a great nation and has certain vital interests which would be the same under any regime. We cannot ignore those interests merely because we dislike or don't understand Soviet communism." He believes that, far from seeking war, Russia cannot rouse her people or summon resources for a conflict that would bring national suicide. This was first printed in the Saturday Evening Post.

Home Country Pyle

A collection of Ernie Pyle's writings during the five years he was "on the road", just going from place to place, talking to everyone, from bums to millionaires, learning the people of the whole country, how they think and talk and act. This is Ernie Pyle at his most lovable peak—easy, happy, observing and reporting.

Surgeon's Domain Bernheim

Bernheim is assistant Professor of Surgery at the John Hopkins Medical School and visiting surgeon to the John Hopkins hospital. He reveals the complexities of hospital administration and politics, describes operation techniques, medical ethics, and speaks frankly of the practices of the surgeon's world.

Keys to a Fashion Career Chambers

Police Blotter LOST RETURNED

Like Ferdinand the bull who likes to sit under a tree and smell the flowers, Harold Phinney's white and black dog likes to sit in front of the radio store and listen to the music. He takes up his position on the sidewalk every morning and just sits there listening all day long, not disturbing anybody.

Recently he carried his sitting and listening too far into the night and the police picked him up. They were very good to him and gave him a comfortable bed right in the chief's office instead of putting him down cellar where they usually keep stray animals, but the dog wasn't happy. He just sat there hanging his head and listening for his master's voice.

The next morning, Sergeant Hickey called up Mr. Phinney and told him that he was holding an unlicensed dog that apparently belonged to him. "You ought to keep him off the streets nights," the Sergeant warned.

Mr. Phinney was very appreciative because he had been looking

A Bad Break

On July 17, a car parked in front of the Andover Inn rolled down Chapel avenue, crossed Main street and hit the traffic blinker across the street, badly damaging it. The car was in charge of William Shooer of Cambridge, who had forgotten to put the brake on.

A Good Turn

Joseph A. Hamel of 392 Market street, Lawrence, was arraigned in Lawrence District court, July 21, and held for the grand jury on $5,000 bail.

Anthony J. Mendousa, also of Lawrence, stated that he had been parked on the corner of Shattuck and South Broadway, the morning of July 19, when the defendant had approached him and asked for a ride to Greenwood road, where he planned to visit an uncle.

Recognizing the man, Mr. Mendousa had obliged. When they reached Greenwood road, the other man got out, went around the back of the car and surprised the driver by holding a knife to his ribs and forcing him from the car. He then helped himself to the vehicle and left the owner of the car stranded.

The car was later abandoned on Hancock street with the knife still in it, and the defendant was traced and picked up.

Precaution Necessary

Ruth Bisset of 17 Madison street, Methuen, reports that her billfold containing $22 was taken from the ladies' bathhouse at Pomp's pond on July 20.

Accident

William Kittredge, 3 1/2, suffered a fall from the second floor of the residence at 16 Brook street at 7 o'clock on the morning of July 22. He was taken to the Lawrence General hospital for treatment, but his condition is not serious.

Speeder Fined

Louis J. Zarvas, 142 South Commons street, Lynn, was fined $10 in Lawrence District court July 23 for speeding on Main street. A second charge of failing to stop at an intersection was placed on file.

MARKETING with Marjorie

On warm days, rise before the thermometer does, and you'll shine as a cook without getting all hot and bothered! Just serve dishes you can fix early in the morning and heat up at mealtime. Here are a few that will help you keep cool, calm . . . and collect compliments:

BEANS AT THEIR BEST

Add 1 tbsp. prepared mustard to 1 can ANN PAGE BEANS WITH PORK. Sauté 1 medium onion (finely cut) and 1 medium apple (unpeeled and chopped) in 1 tbsp. fat, and mix with beans. Bake in casserole in moderate oven, 375° F., 20 minutes. This recipe makes enough for 4 servings, but ANN PAGE BEANS make you want more . . . they're so tender and tasty. Better buy a few extra cans next time you're shopping at the A&P.

APPETITE BAIT

Fish is so light and digestible I serve it often in summer, varying the sauce like this: To 1 cup of medium white sauce I add a tbsp. of ANN PAGE PREPARED MUSTARD or 6 to 10 sliced SULTANA OLIVES or a tbsp. of ANN PAGE GARDEN RELISH. I always keep these thrifty "pepper-uppers" from the A&P on hand, so I'm never at a loss for a sauce.

ICY AND SPICY

Ice and spice make tea mighty nice . . . especially when it's as invigorating as the famous, Flavor-Tested teas sold only at the A&P: OUR OWN, NECTAR and MAYFAIR. Try serving one of these fine blends over spiced tea cubes made this way: Add 3 cups briskly boiling water to 1½ tbsps. tea, 1 tbsp. whole cloves and 3 lemon slices. Steep 3 to 5 minutes; strain; add ¼ cup orange marmalade. Freeze in ice cube trays, place in 5 glasses and pour freshly made tea over them.

DANDY FOR "DOG DAYS"

It's never too hot for "hot dogs" at my house. I split them, spread the cut side with mustard, and fill with cubed American cheese. Then I wrap a piece of bacon around each one, fasten with a skewer and broil until the bacon is crisp and the cheese melted. Come roll call, I tuck them into toasted MARVEL FRANKFURTER ROLLS from the A&P, which are so fresh and delicious my family tucks them away by the dozen.

Teacher-Attorney Opens Office Here

Attorney James J. Murray, who successfully combines the practice of law with the teaching of school, has opened a new law office at 29 Bartlet street where he and his family have been residing since last December.

He was formerly associated in the practice of law with Hon. Edward A. Coffey in Salem, Mass., where he has also been in the public school system as a teacher for the past thirty years. He has been teaching in the Salem High school for half of that time.

Having received his L.L.B. degree from Suffolk Law School, Mr. Murray was admitted to practice, Massachusetts Bar, in 1928 and United States Bar in 1931.

He received his A.B. degree from Boston College and his A.M. degree from Columbia University.

He is married to the former Genevieve McNally who was principal of the Shawsheen Village school for several years. They have three children: Ann Marie, who is in her first year at High school; Jimmy, a student in Junior High; and Genevieve, who graduated from Punched last June.

Grange Notes

Andover Grange, 184, met in Grange hall on Tuesday evening. The annual fair, which is to be held on Thursday and Friday evenings, September 17 and 18, was planned with P. M. Floyd Darby as general chairman. His assistants are Mrs. Maude Darby and Mrs. Irma Peatman. Arthur Lewis is in charge of the tickets. A spelling bee took place following the business meeting.

About fifty Grange members and their families held an outing at the summer home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Allen at Biddeford Pool on Sunday. A basket lunch was enjoyed at noon, and a good time was enjoyed by all.

DODGE

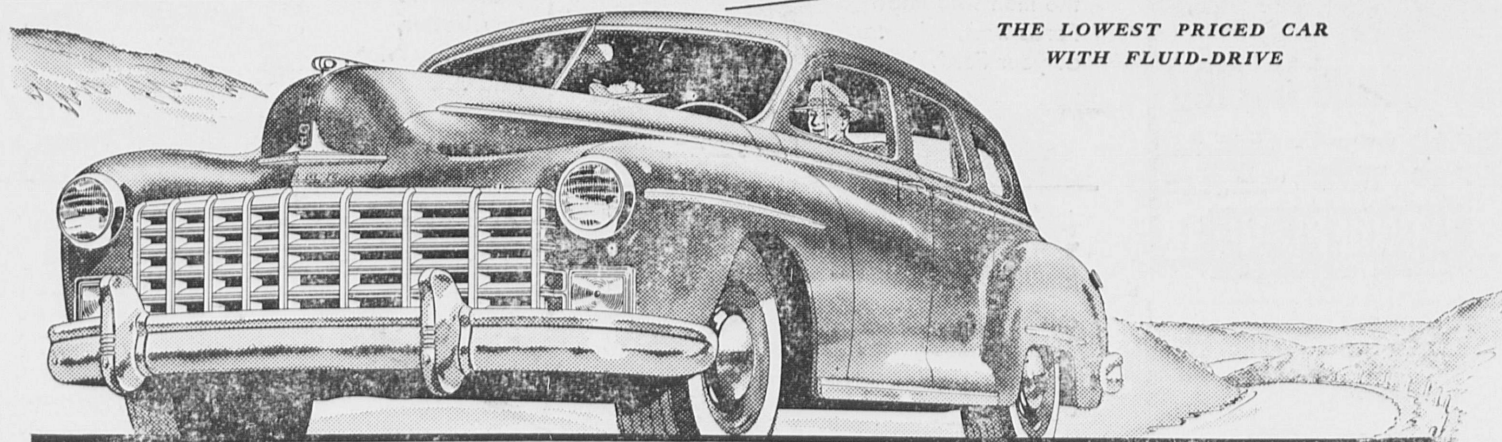

"DEPENDABILITY"

The word DEPENDABILITY was born in exclusive reference to the Dodge automobile, thirty years ago. It applies to Dodge today in exactly the same exclusive way, although the Dictionary now contains it and defines it.

The Dodge meaning of the word remains well fixed and proven. It means exceptional Style, Performance and Economy,—Today, Yesterday, and Tomorrow.
