Protest Dangerous Railroad Operations

Selectmen Cite More Instances Of Near Accidents at Ballardvale

Two more instances of "ex-, sible persons who has since been tremely dangerous railroad operation" are charged by the board of selectmen in a letter recently sent to President Edward S. French of the Boston and Maine Railroad in protest against the chances of serious accident due to conditions at the Andover and Ballardvale

Dissatisfied with the results of their past correspondence with General Manager F. W. Rourke, the selectmen are now taking up their crusade for improvement of conditions with Mr. French, and this is the first letter they have directed to his attention.

Several instances of accidents or near accidents which the selectmen charge were due either to careless operation, poor equipment or faulty inspection have been cited in previous correspondence, yet despite the seriousness of the cases discussed in these letters there has been little done to satisy the board that sufficient safety measures have been adopted to remedy the condition.

"We cannot permit this list of cases to mount if we have any power to avoid it," the selectmen said in a previous letter, and added "Preventive steps are more necessary than excuses. . . . Some definite action must be taken before more of our citizens lese their lives."

The latest letter sent by the selectmen was as follows:

January 8, 1948 Mr. Edward S. French, Pres., Boston and Maine Railroad Boston, Massachusetts Dear Sir:

For sometime we have been having a series of accidents and near-accidents at the Andover and Ballardvale stations. I am enclosing a copy of our recent letter to Mr. Rourke in this connection and a copy of his answer which neither satisfies us nor any citizen of Andover with whom we have discussed the situation. As evidence that the situation is not improving, I am detailing two further instances of extremely dangerous railroad operations that have occurred at the Ballardvale

On December 28th, 1947, at 12:23 a. m., the Boston & Maine tower at Lawrence requested that the Andover police cruiser be sent to the gate tender's shanty at Ballardvale. Upon arriving there the officers radioed back that the gate tender had not been relieved by the proper person and that the tender had gone and left the gates in charge of an entirely irresponcommitted to Danvers for observation. This "substitute" put the gates down every time a car came along. Our police took over and advised the Lawrence tower of the situation before the proper relief came, the "substitute" ran off and could not be located. For some time the gates were under the entire charge of a dangerous operator. The action could easily have resulted in one or more fatalities.

I am quoting a statement covering a second case of improper operation in Ballardvale occurring a few days ago: January 4, 1948: "Sunday P. M. about 11:50, I was driving home with my daughter Elaine, having been to the movies in Andover. We were stopped at the Ballardvale crossing on account of the gates being down. I wasn't stopped more than thirty seconds when the gate tender raised the gates and signalled for me to come ahead. I started ahead and got to about the middle of the tracks when my daughter cried "Daddy-look out-here's a train." I stopped immediately and looked and at just that instant a Boston bound express train went by me at no less than 70 miles an hour. My car was not further than a foot away from the speeding train. Had there been a Portland bound train coming, we would have both been dead, or if it had been a dry road, I would have been in the middle of the whole business. As it was, we skidded a little getting started and it was this slight delay in forward movement that saved our lives."

Signed: George H. Dumont. Boston & Maine letter to Mr. French

January 8, 1948 Our efforts to co-operate in better railroad operation are apparently unwelcome to Mr. Rourke. As representatives of the Town of Andover, however, our board will continue to inform you or Mr. Rourke of any case of improper railroad operation that is called to our attention, whether the fault be mechanical or the act of one of your employees.

Very truly yours, Board of Selectmen By Roy E. Hardy, Chairman

The protest to Mr. French drew a reply which the selectmen hope will lead to an improvement of the situation. Chairman Roy E. Hardy of the Board of Selectmen said Wednesday:

"The Board of Selectmen has received the following letter in answer to its last letter concerning Boston & Maine operations through Andover. We hope that the conference with Mr. Smith will be productive of safer operations and the adoption of preventive methods that will avoid future trouble and probable loss of life. Although we got very little co-operation from Mr. Rourke, the General Manager, the letter to his superior, the President of the Boston & Maine, Mr. E. S. French. portrays a different attitude and hope of a very much improved situation."

The letter from Mr. French was as follows:

Boston & Maine Railroad North Station Boston 14, Mass. 13th January ,1948 Mr. Roy E. Hardy Chairman, Board of Selectmen Town of Andover Andover, Mass.

Dear Mr. Hardy: Thank you very much for your letter of January 8th giving me a resume of a series of accidents and near accidents at Andover and Ballardvale stations.

I am greatly concerned with the situation as you have portrayed it, and have today discussed the matter with Mr. J. W. Smith, Vice-President in charge of operations of this Company. Mr. Smith is obligated to go to Chicago today, but promptly upon his return will telephone you with the desire to make an appointment with you to discuss a prompt remedy to all the situations you have called to my attention.

Please understand that I am very appreciative of your writing

> Sincerely yours, E. S. French President

Snow clearing operations, which have been going on continuously since the first storm, December 23, have cost the town $14,000 to date, a compilation of payrolls for the period shows. Even without another snowfall the work of snow removal, sanding and other operations necessary at the present, will keep the Public Works department busy for some time to come, Sunt. Edward R. Lawson said, as there is still a lot to be done in several parts of the town with the snow already here.

Just for the record, the snowfall in this area to date is recorded by the Essex Company, as follows:

Dec. 23 Dec. 26 Jan. 2-3 10 inches Jan. 6-7 7 inches Jan. 8-9 11/2 inches Jan. 13 1 inch

The last storm was a mixture of sonw, sleet and rain, and brought the total for the season up to 521/2 inches.

Action intended to secure more fuel oil for the New England area has been taken by the Board of Selectmen in an effort to bolster the

Firemen Praised For Rockport Aid

Praise for the work of the Andover fire department and especially for Fireman Francis Sparks for exceptionally good work during the series of forest fires on Cape Ann last October, is contained in a letter just received by Chief Charles E. Buchan from Arthur J. Milne of Rockport.

In his letter Mr. Milne says that 'a member of your department, Francis Sparks, rendered outstanding duty for a continuous period without sleep and endured personal risk to himself from fatigue while saving our houses on Summit avenue, Rockport, from being consumed by flames.

"I am sure that Fireman Sparks directing the volunteer firefighters saved my residence and out-buildings."

Mr. Milne added his thanks to 'this firefighter and the Andover fire department" for services given during the conflagration.

Fireman Sparks was working on one of the state department of conservation forest fire trucks at the time. The local fire department sent Engine 2 of Ballardvale, and the town forest fire truck to Rockport where they remained on duty for 24 hours combatting this fire.

Thucydides, a Greek historian of the fifth century B. C. claims the distinction of being the first writer of a critical history. This work, which is the basis for discussion, is divided into eight books, the last of which ends abruptly and bears evidence of lack of revision. It is said by some that the famous historian was assassinated soon after his return from exile. a state imposed upon him for his failure to relieve the siege of Amphipolis when in command of part of the Athenian fleet.

This enforced inactivity bore remarkable fruits in that a man informed and so recently active found himself with time on his hands, and was scholar enough to write leisurely and critically on a contemporary situation. His study is remarkable for its insight into human nature and his evident struggle for accuracy established a precedent in this field of writing.

Born to a family of great wealth, son of the owner of the rich Thracian gold mines, the man knew intimately the advantages

EDITORIAL THOUGHTS

THE COST OF SNOW

The fact that the cost of snow fighting in Andover has amounted to approximately $14,000 since December 22nd seems staggering enough, but the results have well been worth it. Some friends of ours recently went to New Jersey and were completely isolated for days. They said they huddled around a fire and got pretty hungry before things finally opened up. The loss in business dollars in Andover would certainly have amounted to more than what has been spent on snow fighting had we been allowed to get in the condition that existed in some less fortunate (or less efficient) towns.

DON'T BE A STATISTIC

Why be a statistic? In 1948, as in the past, a report will record the number of people who died by fire. If there was a fire goddess who could demand 10,000 lives a year to appease her appetite, the slaughter would be no greater than the present toll, although nations would fight wars to prevent it.

Start the New Year right by resolving that you will not be just another statistic at the end of the year. Clean out all the rubbish, rags, and flammable materials from cellar to attic, in your home. Check your automobile and buildings for faulty wiring — garages are often part of the house. Electrical equipment, too, should be inspected periodically.

What Our Readers Say -

January 12, 1948

Indover Townsman Park Street

Andover, Mass. Gentlemen:

The writer, having a fleet of trucks which, through the nature of our business, have to be on the road in all kinds of weather, wishes to publicly state his appreciation of what he considers to be a marvelous job of keeping Andover's streets clear during the unusually heavy storms of the past few weeks.

Our trucks make deliveries as far east as Danvers and to the southwest including Winchester, and nowhere are the roads in as good shape as Andover.

We have seen our Board of Public Works cussed and complained of in your columns about road conditions during previous snow storms and the writer has done a little personal griping himself, but this is one time when I do believe that we should give them a bow.

Very truly yours, GUY B. HOWE, Andover Coal Co., Inc.

(Ed. Note - Complaints of road conditions have not been made under present ownership of the Townsman.)

Comment of our readers is invited on matters of general interest. All letters must be signed and bear the address of the sender. Your name will not be pub-lished if you wish to use a pen name.

Asks Economy in Use of Fuel Oil

With the present fuel oil shortage continuing with little prospects of immediate relief, the local committee of which Guy B. Howe of the Andover Coal Company is chairman, has been asked to restrain the conversion of coal burners to oil. The committee reports that there has been a cut back of the amount of oil available, and the shortage, which is general throughout this area, is extending now to gasoline.

The co-operation of the public is urgently requested by the committee, and suggestion is made that thermostats be turned down a little lower than usual and fuel oil of all kinds be used as economically as possible during the present situation. Other members of the committee include Arthur Cole of the Welfare department, and John Murray, gas station operator.

The request was made in the following letter:

Mr. Roy E. Hardy, Chairman Board of Selectmen Andover, Massachusetts Dear Mr. Chairman:

The purpose of this letter is to ask for your views.

When Congress adjourned last

August, the Chairman of the Committee on Foreign Relations requested me to obtain certain information in Europe. Upon my return, I received a further traveling assignment connected with national lefense. Then came the special session of Congress. Now the 1948 session is underway. All this has kept me away from Massachusetts so much that I have been unable to get around the State to the extent necessary to keep me plentifully and currently informed on domestic

To remedy this, I wish you would give me your considered opinion on those aspects of our complex domestic problems which impress you as being particularly important.

During this session, we will face legislation concerning taxation, housing shortages, national defense and especially those factors which most affect the high cost of living.

I will deeply appreciate your views on these or any of the other disturbing factors in our national life which you consider important. At the same time, I would also appreciate receiving the views of any of your associates who might be interested in these questions.

Hoping to hear from you at an early date and with cordial regards, I am

Very sincerely yours, (Signed) Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr. United States Senator

Such records as these do not occur without the intelligent cooperation and diligence of stulents, classroom teachers and the school guidance department.

From now until the end of the school year, the guidance departnent will be as busy as a bee-hive with college and scholarship apavailable to those eligible students who wish to avail themselves of this opportunity, according to Mr. Bernard N. Kellmurray, director of guidance for all Andover public schools.

In an interview, Mr. Kellmurray said that the guidance department takes charge of filing all college applications for the students, and many times he or Mrs. Emma G. associate in high school guidance wishes to follow, the guidance and preference tests to determine students being interviewed and his ability and interest. This year given all possible assistance in these tests, the type of which is determined by the individual

Mr. Kellmurray said that he thought that the most satisfactory achievement in guidance during the past year had been the coordination of the program throughout the entire school system, thus making it possible for students of all schools to benefit by a unified system. He said it was his opinion "that the testing facilities throughout our school system are much greater than those offered in most schools of comparable size. In fact, it hose in use at only the very large schools." This program is not unduly costly, however, since in the 1946-47 school year the cost was only $143.83.

Andover citizens are justifiably Intelligence tests are given in proud of the two outstanding kindergartens, first, second, marks of achievement reported by fourth, sixth, eighth, tenth, and the School Guidance Department twelfth grades. Achievement tests in the last few years.

On many occasions this has to be done through the cooperation of the school nurse, Miss Ruth Westcott. A continuous guidance program is carried on in the special education classes conducted by Mrs. Anna F. Walsh and Miss Mary T. Donohue.

Miss Elizabeth Hopkins, the teacher of corrective reading, is plications. Many scholarships are also qualified by both training and experience to perform testing and counselling duties. In her reading work she encounters many cases that need special attention, thus enabling the classroom teachers to forestall much graver future difficulties in the students.

In Junior High school testing and counselling work is carried on by Miss Katherine Sweeney and Mr. Arthur Weiss, a most capable Carter, dean of girls and his able guidance officer, who is unfortunately on leave of absence this vork, accompany the student on year due to illness. ## Service Club Enjoys HISTORICAL LEAGUE Talk On Baseball

Prospects of Boston's baseball teams for the coming season were discussed and intimate stories of baseball greats related by Irving "Bump" Hadley, former big league pitcher, at the meeting Thursday night of the Andover Service club at Andover Inn.

Hadley, who pitched for the Yankees under Joe McCarthy, looks for the Red Sox to win the pennant with McCarthy at the helm. He regards the former Yankee manager as one of the greatest students of the game and an excellent man in handling players. He looks for no difficulties between McCarthy and Ted Williams, but rather feels that the great slugger will have a big year with the great master of psy-

He paid a great tribute to Billy Southworth for what he has done with the Braves, and added that the National league plays a more interesting game with plenty of hit-andun, base stealing and squeeze plays, instead of trying for the 'big" inning as they do in the American league.

In the question period he gave first hand glimpses of many oldtime stars and told numerous interesting anecdotes of their careers. Hadley, now a sports commentator, saw service with Washington, Chicago and St. Louis, as well as with New York.

State House

by Sen. Philip K. Allen

Introductory

This column marks a distinct departure from the customary, being the first attempt at journalism on the part of the author. Nevertheless, vague misgivings to the contrary notwithstanding, herewith reflections, reports and sundry comments on history, government, politics, and current legislation in Massachusetts during the present session of the Great and General Court.

Events Last Week:

When the General Court met on January 7th, being the first Wednesday in January, it had met annually except for one year (1942) since 1780, and had assembled on every first Wednesday in January since 1832.

By the resignation of Senate President Donald W. Nicholson of Wareham to take up his new duties as Congressman from the 9th District, the Senate was short one senator and a president. They would make up the senator by a special election in February and they proceeded in due form to elect Harris S. Richardson of Winchester as President.

In joint convention the House and Senate heard on Wednesday the Governor's annual message, short and to the point. Governor Bradford recommended:

1. Further extension of the discretion of district courts in eviction cases, permitting courts to postpone evictions, except non-payment of rent cases, for a period of twelve months.

2. A State rent control act to become effective if the federal law is not renewed on February 29th of this year.

3. The guarantee, as proposed by a recess commission, by the Commonwealth of bonds to a maximum amount of $200,000,000 to be issued by local housing authorities for state-approved housing projects for veterans.

4. An Advisory Salary Standardization Board to correct inequities in classification and salary scale of those in state service.

5. A single agency to manage and operate Logan International Airport in place of the Department of Public Works and the Aeronautics Commission.

6. The issuance of bonds to finance a ten-year highway program, setting aside so much of the highway fund as needed for retirement of construction bonds, and giving full consideration to the use of tolls.

7. That the voters of Boston be permitted to determine by referendum whether they wish a change in their city charter and if so, what form of new charter they prefer; and that the Finance Commission of Boston be authorized to undertake a complete administrative survey of overall structural organization and operation of Boston departments.

8. Jury service for women as voted by referendum in the State election of 1946.

(Political highlight of the message: After pointing out that the State acting under his suggestion had relieved the cities and towns of paying a state tax last year and that the budget had been balanced, Governor Bradford placed squarely on the shoulders of the legislators the responsibilities of providing new sources of revenue if further state aid to municipalities is needed this year.)

The course, some of it stormy, of these recommendations of the Governor will be followed and reported on in this column as they some before the General Court.

In joint convention on Thursday, January 8th, the House and Senate heard the Governor's budget message ..... Two innovations: (1) The message was given at least two weeks earlier than ever before, and (2) the message and budget recommendations were printed and in the hands of the legislature at the time of address ..... One disturbing factor: the cover of the budget message was colored deep red.

Although the House adjourned on Thursday without acting on the eviction bill which had been given a public hearing before the Joint Committee of the Judiciary in the morning, the Senate, after some debate, gave it the green light. Debate took place on making the extension of eviction mandatory, thus taking discretionary powers away from the district courts. Roll-call vote 12 to 9 against this provision.

Question of the Week:

Did you know that of all the states in the United States Massachusetts alone is still living under its original constitution? A brief story of the writing of that constitution will appear next week.

somewhat limited supply now reaching here.

At a recent meeting letters were sent to Senators Leverett Saltonstall, Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., and Congresswoman Edith N. Rogers urging them to see that more fuel oil is diverted to this area by having more transportation provided for shipments.

The letter related an instance of a local business firm which regularly has several tank cars of fuel oil delivered here monthly. The usual custom is to send the cars right back to be reloaded, but last month four of the cars were shipped to Portland, presumably to be loaded there with oil for Canada.

From 75 to 90 gallons of fuel oil were saved, it was estimated, by the closing of the town house over the weekend.
