Views of the News

By LEONARD F. JAMES

In the present welter of charges and counter-charges about inflation, too much stress is placed upon money and far too little attention given to real wealth. For it is a fairly common belief that the more money a person has the wealthier he is. The simple fact is that money only represents buying power for goods. If the goods are not there to be bought, then the money is useless. Memories of war-time days may recall shortages that money couldn't remedy.

Changing Value of Money

Today, shortages are an important factor in the increase of prices, with a consequent demand for more money to pay these higher prices. And so the spiral goes. Just as wages increase, the article goes beyond reach into another price bracket. And just as long as price-manipulation is regarded as a remedy for current economic ills, then just so long will the cycle of wage increases, rising prices for manufactured goods and farm products, and further wage increases persist. For money is not real wealth, and no legislation or edict can make it so. Money is worth precisely

Many Volunteers Help To Register Town's Eligibles

Registration of the town's young men eligible for the draft under the Selective Service law had resulted on Thursday morning in a total of 500, according to the records of Town Clerk George A. Winalow, chief registrar for Andover.

Numerous townspeople have kindly offered their services over the past registration period, some volunteering to make return engagements on the task of registering the eligibles. Over 25 people have assisted the chief registrar since August 30, when the group born after August 30, 1922, arrived at the Town House to register.

According to the year of birth, which has been carried out on progressive days, men born between January 1 and September 19, 1930, will register on Friday and Saturday, September 17 and 18. This will close the open period of registration in town, and beginning with Monday, September 20, as young men become eligible for the draft at the age of eighteen, they will be required to register at the Selective Service office in Lawrence.

Traffic Violations Comparatively Low With New Meters

Kinks in the operation of the newly installed parking meters are slowly being ironed out according to Police Chief George A. Dane, who reports the issuance of 50 no-fix parking tickets over a two day period, in the areas controlled by the new meters.

He points out however, that this number is comparatively small as compared with the number of traffic violations recorded before the new system was put into effect. Where before over a certain period one car was parked in a designated spot, there are now fifteen different vehicles in the same space, which automatically increases chances of a violation.

The mechanics behind the operation and handling of the new parking meter system are moving smoothly, although the chief commented that he felt there was definitely a need for extra help for the officer in charge of the meters. At this time of the year, the department's work is not overly complicated, but in a busier season, with the time consumed by the

Red Cross Nurses Recruited To Serve Polio Stricken Areas

Appeals for help at Red Cross Headquarters are numerous and varying. That is as it should be. Red Cross is a service organization one out of every four Americans is either a senior or junior member.

In recent months Red Cross chapters have been rallying for one of the most significant services of the organization—recruitment of nurses for infantile paralysis duty. This was done at the request of the national Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

North Atlantic Area, which includes Massachusetts, has recruited, between January 1 and September 5, 1948, a total of 153 nurses for duty in polio-afflicted communities. Of these, 135 were sent to Southeastern Area; 2 to Pacific Area, and 16 to North Atlantic Area. During the same period, the total number of polio nurses recruited nationally was 1,093.

Mrs. Ellen McCollum, Ex. Secy., has received a number of inquiries from local nurses interested in the program.

FIRE DEPARTMENT PREPS FOR TROUBLE

Fire Chief Edward C. Buchan and his department are right on their toes these days, what with the anniversary of last year's forest fire threat coming up rapidly. Men in the department have been putting into shape an old oil truck, borrowed from a local man, for storage of water, which may be called upon in an emergency.

The late Dirk H. Van der Stucken, head of the German department at Phillips Andover Academy, and instructor in History of Civilization, who died suddenly Monday in Newport, R. I.

Local Apiarists Win Ten Prizes At Topsfield Fair

The bee exhibit which Mr. and Mrs. Clarence P. May, Sr., of South Main street, entered at the recent Topsfield Fair captured 10 prizes for the local apiarists.

This is the fourth year that Mr. and Mrs. May have entered exhibits at the fair and have taken a large share of prizes. More bees would have been displayed this year but for the excessive heat.

Mr. May is willing to assist young people who may wish to enter exhibits next year, and is offering a prize to the boy or girl under 18 for the best display of bee products in the 1949 fair.

The prizes won this year include five firsts, two seconds and three thirds, as follows: Firsts, for best display of honey, comb and extracted; best exhibit of bees with queen in exhibition hive; best display of chunk honey; best beeswax novelties; best creamed honey.

Second prizes: display of bee fixtures; honey jelly; thirds: queen bee; crude wax; and granulated honey.

Two local men, Representative J. Everett Collins, and Senator Philip K. Allen, seeking a place on the ballot in November, were strongly endorsed by their fellow townsmen on Tuesday when over 2000 Andover voters went to the polls in the state-wide primary election.

Local Republicans gave outstanding support to Senator Allen, who polled 1483 votes as against 137 for Clifford Cusson of Lawrence and 38 for Dr. William J. Greenler of Boxford. Representative Collins polled 1437 votes in his bid for nomination as representative in the Fifth Essex district, against Frank Giles of Methuen with 892 votes, and William Longworth of Lawrence a newcomer in the field with 742 votes.

There were 1,685 Republican ballots cast Tuesday as against 1,646 cast in 1946 and 347 Democrats went to the polls as compared to 180 two years ago. There are 6,957 eligible voters in the town.

The two men also polled a strong vote in North Andover, where the greatest interest seemed to center in the Republic contest for nomination as Representative in the Fifth Essex district.

In the overall picture of the battle for the Fifth Essex district Representative nomination, Collins led the field of five candidates seeking three nominations with a total of 3,147 votes. Longworth gathered 3,014 votes and Giles, 2,956. The two who lost out were Selectman Roger E. Ingalls of Methuen, who received a total of 2,888 votes in the district and Earl G. Nicholson, son of former Selectman and Mrs. Arthur Nicholson of Methuen, who had 1,886 votes.

SCHOOL BOARD HEARS REPORT

The Andover School Committee met in the Goldsmith Memorial Library Tuesday evening, September 14th, at 7:30 p. m. All members were present with the exception of Rev. John S. Moses and Dr. Malcolm B. McTernan.

The meeting was opened by the Chairman Gordon Colquhoun. After the reading of the minutes of the previous meeting by Secretary William A. Doherty, Superintendent Sherman presented to the Committee a pamphlet that had been prepared by Miss Catherine M. Barrett, principal of the Stowe-Jackson-John Dove Schools. The Superintendent explained that this pamphlet contained much pertinent information for the members of the School Committee such as explanation of school policies and courses of study.

The Superintendent recommended that the following books be listed for adoption:

"Correct English" by William M. Tanner, Ginn and Company.
"Mastering Your Language" by McKee - Blosson - Stratton - Lanphear, Houghton-Mifflin Co.
"Ginn and Company Basic Readers and Workbooks" by Owsley and Russell, Ginn and Company.
After considerable discussion and questioning by members of the Committee, the recommendation of the Superintendent was accepted.

Dirk Hugo Van der Stucken, 54, head of the German department of Phillips Andover Academy since 1933, died suddenly shortly before 11 o'clock Monday evening, September 13, in Newport, Rhode Island. He was visiting at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Willet L. Eccles, former registrar at the academy, and now connected with the St. George school in Newport, when he was stricken with a heart attack.

He had recently returned from Europe, and would have shortly resumed his duties as an instructor in German and History of civilization at the academy.

Born in Hannover, Germany, on March 1, 1894, he attended school in Hamburg, and spent his early years in both Europe and America. He later attended the universities of Berlin, Munich, Freiburg, Zurich, Koenigsberg and Lausanne, receiving degrees from each.

His father was the composer Dr. Frank Van der Stucken, for many years conductor of the Cincinnati symphony orchestra.

During the first world war he served with the U. S. Army quartermaster corp as a sergeant, and for a period of about ten years following the war lived in Reading, Pa., where he was associated with an engineering firm.

In November of 1928 he was appointed head of the Latin department at Phillips academy during the illness of Professor Charles Forbes and in the fall of the follow-

Utility Engineers Attempt Solution Of Pole Deadlock

A possible solution to the deadlock which seemed to have been reached at the two continued hearings held Monday evening in the office of the Board of Selectmen, over the proposed erection of six utility poles in Shawsheen Village, is in the process of being worked out by engineers of the utility companies and the Board of Selectmen.

Approximately fifty people filled the office of the board and overflowed into the hall, as the utility company petitioners and numerous residents from Shawsheen Village presented the pros and cons on two proposed poles on Main street, near William street, and four poles on Sterling street.

Shawsheen residents and abutters of the proposed pole locations objected strenuously to overhead poles, as the majority of wiring in the village is underground, but Jesse Gray, assistant vice-president of the N. E. electric system, pointed out that the only way that the companies could continue the practise of underground wiring, would be the payment by the abut-

At a meeting of the Andover Model club held on Thursday evening of last week, it was decided that all planes flown by any member of the group at the Playstead would have to have a muffler.

This action was taken by the group following considerable agitation on the part of citizens living in the vicinity of the Playstead, near the Punchard High school, who objected to the amount of noise which they claimed the model planes made.

According to a spokesman for the model plane enthusiasts, two of the members of the club have already installed mufflers, and the remainder plan to either buy them, or design and install their own.

It was brought out at the meeting, however, that the club would have no jurisdiction over non-members who might fly their planes at the field, although they would cooperate in every way by requesting non-members or out-new parking meter operation, he felt that some other phase of the department's work would certainly be neglected.

The officer in charge of the meters, whose duty it is to remove the sealed containers, replace them affix tags, and in his own words, "listen to a lot of guff," is finding his job keeps him hopping.

In the short time since the meters have been in operation, it has been found that the containers in the meters on Main street usually have to be removed every two and one half days, while meters on the side streets may be emptied every other week.

Collections in the containers run between $1.00 and $1.75, with some as low as $.70, and others, taken from meters in front of the bank and the postoffice, running as high as $2.00, according to town treasurer Thaxter Eaton. According to his records, the average daily intake over a period of 8 1/2 days is $37.00, with the last collection, covering a period of two and one half days, amounting to $117.45.

The counting of the collections, which is the job of the town treasurer, has been manual, and necessarily slow. He is now trying out a counting and packaging machine to facilitate his extra duties, and if the machine proves practical, plans to ask the finance committee to transfer the sum necessary for the purchase of the machine from the reserve fund.

Although a number of people are having a little difficulty adjusting themselves to the new parking regulations, there is no question in the minds of the authorities but that the majority of citizens are wholeheartedly in approval of the system.

Chief Dane ruefully admits that some violators seem to have a misconception about the forces which brought about the installation of the meters. He refers to the motorist who apparently thinks that the police force instigated the new system, where actually the townspeople voted to put the system into effect at the last town meeting.

The police are bending every effort to make the system work, in carrying out the edict of the town meeting, the chief claims, and in the process do not appreciate being blamed for the whole program.

The intramural programs will be held four afternoons a week in order to include both schools.

The girls look especially nice in Gym this fall as they are getting back into regulation blue gym suits or blue shorts and white blouses, instead of various colors and styles. This is the first time in eight years that they haven't had to use make-shifts because of shortage of cloth. It is also the first time in that number of years that there have been enough sneakers to go around for Gym classes.

Cafeteria
The cafeteria opened Wednesday with an appetizing luncheon and promises to keep up its usual high standard.

Art Courses Required
This year the seventh and eighth grade pupils are required to take art. It is no longer an elective course.

Homemaking Course

Introducing the first project of the eighth grade girls, an attractive window display of skirt materials has been set up in the sewing room. Here, draped through festoons, and hanging on the walls are various fabrics, old and new—wool crepes, shantung, worsteds, and palm beach in rich shades of purple, beige, aqua, gray and brown. Prominently placed, the familiar articles of sewing are arranged on an attractive piece of yellow shantung.

Fall Term Opens At Essex Aggy Enrollment Now For Night Classes

Over 130 new students were enrolled at the Essex County Agricultural School last week with the upper classmen returning on Wednesday in the Homemaking department, which still has a few openings for students in the high school graduate class.

In the Agricultural department the upper classmen and the veteran divisions will report for classes on October 4. The Evening Practical Arts classes will open Monday evening, September 27, and the registration dates for these classes are September 20 and 21. Courses will include foods, clothing, reupholstering and rug hooking. Any one interested should plan to do so on the above dates at the Essex County Agricultural School from 9:00 A. M. to 5:00 P. M. and from 7:00 P. M. to 9:00 P. M.

Because of the very heavy demand upon the school for this type of work it has been necessary to limit enrollment to one class at a time per person and one class to a community.

Classes last winter and spring were conducted in the following towns: Andover, Georgetown, Ipswich, Georgetown, Groveland, Hamilton, Haverhill, Marblehead, Merrimac, Middleton, Nahant, Newburyport, Rockport, Salisbury, Topsfield, Wenham, West Gloucester and West Newbury. It is expected that many from these and other towns in the county will register for classes. For further information Miss Katherine M. Lawler, Supervisor, may be contacted.

Farmers and part-time farmers may enroll now for agricultural evening courses in dairy, poultry, home grounds improvement, farm machinery repairs, etc.

These classes are offered subject to there being a sufficient number enrolled to warrant the opening of a class. Generally 15

School Enrollment Still Fluctuating

The total enrollment for Andover schools has fluctuated considerably since the opening day on Wednesday, September 8, when a survey showed the figure of 1,537 pupils enrolled in town. Since then the figure has been raised to 1,555, and is expected to go still higher.

The official figure for local school enrollment will be reached October 1, when a report is sent to the State Department of Education.

The Jackson, John Dove and the Stowe schools combined have a total enrollment larger than they have ever had. At last count it was 411.

To 20 are required as a minimum enrollment.

The classes, except farm machinery repair, are offered once a week, and either each week or scattered through the year, depending upon the type of program.

The dairy laboratory practices class will begin, Wednesday, October 6. There is still room for a limited number of additional enrollees in this class.

Any residents of Essex County who can qualify for these classes may write to the Essex County Agricultural School, Hathorne, stating name and address and class in which they are interested as well as their present or anticipated activities in that field of work. Whenever there is a sufficient number of qualified applicants, arrangements for the class will be made and each applicant notified.

METERS TO BE CHANGED IN BUSY PARKING SPOTS

It was decided this week by the board of selectmen that the parking meters in front of the banks and postoffice, which now only allow 12 minutes parking, will be changed over to conform with the time limit on all the other meters in operation in town.

As soon as the change has taken effect, an hour's parking time may be purchased in these busy areas. It was felt that adjacent parking spaces, which have not been fully used would take care of any overflow.

The coal fields of the state of Ohio cover 12,000 square miles.

of-town visitors to comply with the club's new regulation.

It was pointed out that moving activities to another field in Andover would not solve the difficulty, as a number of the participants would be unable to fly their planes, unless the place designated were within walking distance, and that such a spot would bring about additional complaints from residents. Chief Dane, when asked about any complaints made to him, asserted that the model plane fliers have been cooperative in every instance, and in the case of sickness in that vicinity, when the boys were asked to forego flying the planes because of the undesirable noise, there were no dissenters.

No petitions have at this time reached the hands of authorities, although residents in the vicinity of the Playstead had indicated intentions of circulating petitions which would ban the flying of the model planes at the Playstead.

Bowling League will have a meeting of the Captains with their President, Mrs. Alexander Dickson, Jr., Tuesday evening at 7:30 p. m. in the Shawsheen Bowling Alleys.

The Captains will be given the names of the members of their teams and will contact them during the following week. Bowling for this League will commence Tuesday, September 28th.

School Committee Hears Head's Report

Superintendent Sherman reported that Mr. Arthur T. Weiss had returned to his duties as teacher in the Andover Junior High School. He also reported on the placement of the new teachers, Miss Luella M. Dunning, Mrs. Helen Phillips, Mrs. Louise McQueston, Mr. Carl J. Martini, Miss Eunice O'Donnell and Miss Mabel Broughton.

The Superintendent presented to the committee a prepared proposal that the Andover School Committee approve the policy in re-establishing the use of mid-year and final examinations in the 9th, 10th, 11th and 12th grades, beginning with the school year 1948-49. Mid-year and final examinations had been dropped during the war years. The Committee, after much questioning and lengthy discussion, unanimously approved of re-establishing examinations in the high school. However, Atty. Vincent F. Stulgis questioned the use of objective standard tests and the Committee indicated that they would discuss the use of standard tests at a future meeting and would arrange for the final examinations.

Mrs. Dorothy T. Partridge proposed to the Committee that serious consideration be given in having Punchard High School become a member of a scholastic honorary society, such as the National Honor Society or the Cum Laude Society. Mrs. Partridge felt that this would be a recognition of Punchard High school's very creditable scholastic standing and would intend to improve citizenship. The Committee discussed honorary societies at some length. It was brought out that many graduates of Punchard High School were now attending leading colleges and institutions. Mrs. Partridge was of the opinion that an honor society would be a very worthwhile influence in the school and the Committee voted to have the Superintendent investigate further the advisability of allowing Punchard High School to join such a society.

Bids on No. 5 fuel oil for use in the Shawsheen School were opened and it was voted to award the contract to Cross Coal Company at their bid of 53.955 per barrel.

The superintendent presented the committee with a complete list of the summer repair and maintenance work which included a concrete apron around the cellar wall of the West Center school. This report was accepted. The members decided as it was very lengthy that they would study it for the next meeting.

The superintendent presented to the committee the enrollment figures for September 1948. The superintendent explained to the committee members that during the first two weeks of school there was considerable fluctuation in enrollment figures because September is the month when many people move and children are entered and discharged from school enrollments. The greatest increase was shown in the Stowe-Jackson-John Dove schools. This school had increased from 365 in 1947 to 411 at the present time. The largest increase being in the lower grades which the superintendent pointed out was indicative of future trends in enrollment. The superintendent indicated to the committee that the advance in enrollment combined with the advance in prices of coal, paper and other materials was presenting a serious problem.

The school calendar for the first semester was presented and accepted by the committee:

September 8—School opened.

October 12—Columbus Day.

November 5—Essex County Teachers' Convention.

November 11—Armistice Day.

November 24—School closes for Thanksgiving holiday.

November 29—School re-opens.

December 23—Schools close for Christmas holiday.

January 3—School re-opens.

Chairman Gordon Colquhoun reported on the installation of oil heat in the Shawsheen school. The engineer, Mr. Edwin Waterman, had reported that the installation was an excellent one. Secretary William A. Doherty, who is also chairman of the Shawsheen Grounds committee, reported on progress, stating that there would be a meeting of the grounds committee Tuesday, Sept. 21, at 7:00 p. m. The Warrant of Bills and Accounts was presented to the committee and unanimously accepted, in the amount of $1771. The Financial statement was read and unanimously accepted by the committee. Meeting adjourned at 9:35 p. m.

WEDDINGS...

RINGLAND—GOLDEN

When Marguerite Ann Golden, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Golden, Sr., of 62 Carmel road, became the bride of Joseph Francis Ringland, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Ringland of 125 Newton street, Lawrence, Monday, Sept. 6, she had her four sisters as her attendants. The nuptial mass was celebrated at 9 o'clock by the Rev. Thomas P. Fogarty, O.S.A., in St. Augustine's church. Miss Mary I. Lanigan, organist, accompanied the soloist, James Sheard.

The bride, escorted by her father, wore a heavy white taffeta gown with a high sheer neckline trimmed with old fashioned lace and the hoop skirt was caught at the front with rows of the same lace flowing into a court train. Her fingertip length veil of imported illusion was draped from a coronet of ostrich tips. A corsage of sweet peas centered with gardenias adorned her bride's manual.

As maid of honor, Miss Beatrice Golden was gowned in peacock blue faille taffeta styled with an old-fashioned ruffled back. She wore a matching hat and carried pink roses and blue delphinium. The bridesmaids, Miss Mary C. Golden of Andover and Mrs. James Cooney, Jr., of Methuen, wore identical gowns of gold faille taffeta designed in a style similar to the honor attendant's. They wore matching hats and carried American beauty roses. The American beauty red gown worn by the junior bridesmaid, Miss Florence Golden, also had an old-fashioned ruffled back and she carried yellow roses and blue delphinium.

Best man was James Cooney, Jr., of Methuen, brother-in-law of the bride and the ushers were William H. Golden, Jr., the bride's brother, Francis Holopitza of Methuen and Patrick Burke, the groom's nephew, of Lawrence.

A gardenia corsage was pinned to the smart rose gown which Mrs. Golden wore at her daughter's wedding. Her accessories were a lovely, soft gray.

Mrs. Ringland was charming in her gray gown with black accessories and a corsage of pink roses.

After the bridal party and the guests from Stoneham, Boston, Rhode Island and Connecticut had enjoyed the delicious breakfast at Shawsheen Manor, the young couple left for their wedding trip through the White Mountains, Canada and Vermont. They will live at 240 Salem street, Lawrence, when they return.

The bride is a recent graduate of Punchard High school and her husband, who manages Burke's Tavern in Lawrence, attended local schools and is a veteran of duty with the United States Marines.

Academy Loses Beloved Teacher

ing year was retained in the Latin and German departments. In 1933 he was made head of the German department.

Shortly before his appointment to the Phillips academy teaching staff he attended the Chinese School at Harvard. He was familiar with thirteen different languages, and spoke fluently in a great many. According to his friends his main interest lay in psychology and languages.

He had traveled extensively, covering Europe and the Scandinavian countries, some parts of the Near East, and had visited in Russia. He was one of the few people who traveled in the old dirigible Hindenberg, having made two crossings in the famous airship.

He spent this past summer in Europe visiting a sister in Celle, located in the British zone of Germany, and had then spent the remainder of his vacation at the estate of an aunt in Belgium.

He had planned to leave Newport to visit his sister, Mrs. Oscar R. Lundin of West Roxbury, at her summer home on the Cape, before resuming his duties at the academy.

His vast knowledge of many subjects, his personal charm, and his forceful delivery made him a much sought after speaker and lecturer, and among his many activities were included speaking engagements over a wide area. He had conducted a class in current history in conjunction with the Andover Evening Study Program for Adults at the academy since the program's inception, and was a weekly speaker during the winter months before both the Foreign Policy Organization and the Republican Woman's Club of Boston.

He was an ardent student of the histories of numerous civilizations, of music, and the arts; his knowledge of psychology, economy and the political sciences was astounding. He had written at least eight volumes of poetry, still unpublished at the time of his death, and had published two translations from the Chinese and Japanese, one "Chimloeries and Japoneries," and the other, translated entirely from the Chinese, "Master Chuang."

His appreciation of art made his criticisms and comments on the annual Andover Art Week display a fall event. For several years he has written a critical essay on the work of the artists who have shown their paintings during Andover's Art Week, held annually in the fall.

In recent years he gave an annual music prize at the commencement exercises at the academy in memory of his father.

Among his survivors are two sisters, Mrs. Oscar R. Lundin of West Roxbury and Miss Van der Stucken of Celle, Germany, and a brother, Frank of New York City.

The body was brought to the Lundgren funeral home and the funeral service was held at two o'clock, Thursday, September 16, in the Cochran chapel at the academy, where the Reverend A. G. Baldwin conducted the services.

Town Topics

The petition of Mrs. John Guild to convert a double house at 35-37 Balmoral street into a four apartment dwelling was taken under advisement after a hearing in the office of the Board of Selectmen on Tuesday evening. There was some opposition to the proposed change by neighbors.

Gerald E. Lynch, 3 Pearson street, son of Mrs. Catherine C. Lynch, was enlisted in the U. S. Air Force for a three year period in grade of staff sergeant. Gerald, a veteran of World War II, is now at Fort Slocum, New York processing prior to assignment.

Work has been started on the installation of the 20 inch suction intake pipe at Hagget's Pond pumping station, and the whole operation is expected to take between four and five weeks, according to a spokesman of the board of public works.

The contract for the installation was awarded by the town to the Revere-Lynn Contracting Company of Lynn whose bid for the job was $9,300.00.

Mrs. Arthur Bliss of the Memorial Hall Library is enjoying her annual vacation at the Cape. Miss Marlon Dimlich, also of the Library, is visiting at Rochester, New York.

The second in a series of penny socials sponsored by the Andover Mothers' club will be held on Tuesday, September 21, at the home of Mrs. George Symonds, Maple avenue. She will be assisted by Mrs. Joseph Hines, Mrs. Louise Simeone, Mrs. Alexander Crockett and Mrs. Thomas Platt.

Henry D. Rockwell, Jr., 47 Cuba street, is successfully recuperating from an appendectomy performed at the Hunt Memorial hospital in Danvers on Monday.

Lieutenant Commander Ernest J. Edmonds, U. S. Navy, is visiting his mother, Mrs. Mary C. Edmonds of 88 Carmel road, while on two weeks of leave from his present position of Personnel Officer on the staff of Admiral W. H. P. Blandy of Bikini fame.

Miss Frances A. Little, 197 Shawsheen road, is one of a group of upperclass University of Michigan students who has volunteered to return to the Ann Arbor campus several days before classes begin, to participate in the freshman orientation program. She is one to be put in charge of a group of 260 upperclass "group leaders," newcomers to the campus.

Burial was in the Phillips Andover academy cemetery.

The bearers were Dr. Claude M. Fuess, Alan Blackmer, Roger Higgins, Horace Poynter, Walter Hasencleever, John Bishop, Dr. Willet Eccles and Winfield M. Sides.

PREPAREDNESS AGAINST FIRE

Fire losses in the United States for the 12-month period ending June 30 were $709,839,000 — The highest total for any such period ever recorded! The total loss for the first half of this year was $386,480,000; the loss for the first six months of 1947 was $369,276,000; for the first six months of 1946 it was $297,306,000.

One week each October is set aside as fire prevention week. This year the observance comes between October 3 and 10. It calls attention to the terrible enemy that fire really is. Of course, it should not be necessary to do any reminding; each and everyone of us should be alert to the danger all the time. But are we?

It has been suggested that the phenomenal rise in fire losses has been due largely to inflation, and that "real losses" have been going down. But that is far from the truth, according to the president of the National Board of Fire Underwriters. According to him, the number of fires has increased, the number of claims has increased, the number of conflagrations has increased and the number of catastrophes has increased.

Fire insurance has cushioned the shock of fire for many people, but fire insurance cannot perform miracles. It can pay us money for property that goes up in smoke, but it cannot restore a human being who is burned to death. It cannot re-create materials which have been burned to ashes. It cannot provide jobs for people who are thrown out of work when a factory is destroyed. It cannot give us back keepsakes and possessions whose intrinsic values far outweigh their intrinsic worth. It cannot find homes for the homeless.

Inflation, as represented by higher replacement costs and claims, has been an influence in sending fire waste to record levels, but the fact that we are having more and more fires, both large and small, proves that the human factor is still the biggest thing. It is the same old story — carelessness, indifference and downright ignorance are fire's most productive friends.

Every city and town has modern fire equipment; no citizenry would even think of trying to get along without it. But the fact that a town is ready to put out a fire if one starts does not mean that we can afford to be careless. It behooves each and all of us to be everlastingly on guard against the fire menace.

In Boston, this fall, it is planned to have school children write compositions on fire prevention, and to offer prizes for the best submitted. Certainly if a boy, or a girl, in school, masters the lesson of the need of fire prevention he has learned a lot!

Andover has a good fire department. The fire record here is satisfactory. But — we've got to keep it so.

Fire prevention week is just ahead, but why wait for that? And why stop after that? Why not every week a fire prevention week? And every year a fire prevention year?

That would be one way — and a very big way — for the citizens of the United States to save a lot of money!

THE NATIONAL GUARD

Today is National Guard Day. It is the eighth anniversary of the Guard's entrance into the federal service before World War II.

The National Guard goes back to 1636 in Massachusetts when the Old North Regiment was formed from several train bands. In Puerto Rico, the present Guard units trace their ancestry back to 1510. Five presidents have been National Guard members — Washington, Jackson, Lincoln, Arthur and Truman.

The history of each of the 48 states is dotted with the names of sons who have served as citizen-soldiers, both at home and abroad. Their service to state and nation is a constant source of pride. In war, the National Guard has fought in our major battles, from Lexington and Concord to Manila. In peace, the National Guard has fought fire and flood and other disasters.

Now — at this critical period in our national history — the National Guard is reorganizing a new force for the defense of the nation. Its ultimate strength is set at 684,000 men in 27 divisions, 12 air wings, 21 regimental combat teams and supporting troops.

The National Guard will always have a place for any man who wants to serve his country. It will always need men to keep its ranks full, to keep it prepared to serve its mission.

what it can buy on the market, no matter what decrees may dictate to the contrary. It can be printed, as it was in Germany and France, as it is in China, until the amount of money in circulation becomes so stupendous in relation to available goods that fixed-income groups are completely paperized. Most obviously, no seller will part with his goods for money unless he is absolutely convinced that he can get a reasonable amount of the goods he wants for that same money. A ten-fold increase in everyone's income would simply mean that goods would cost ten times their former amount — unless there should be more goods available. But any shortage in a product, or an increased demand for it, causes prospective buyers to raise their offer and thus send prices higher.

Something for Nothing?
Common sense must somewhere indicate that more money, by itself, can remedy nothing. More available goods will help to solve the inflationary problem far more surely. The unhealthy practices of feather-bedding, the slow-up, and dependence on doles all amount to one clear fact—the expectation of something for nothing. Such practices only exaggerate the problem. But the argument today seems to be "more money for less output," which simply means more money, fewer goods, and the inevitable result of higher prices. No amount of paper-manipulation, clever book-keeping or other economic mumbo-jumbo can disguise the obvious fact that money is worthless without the goods to spend it on.

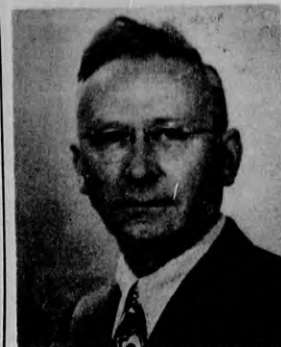

What is "National Wealth"?
The average thinking citizen isn't going to argue that business has a right to unlimited profit at the expense of the worker and the consumer. But that citizen too frequently assumes the right to increased wages without reference to where they come from. For national wealth is not measured by the amount of money in circulation. National wealth is the resources of the country, its minerals and its forests, the vigor of its people, the working capacity of its citizens. Remove any one of these, and national wealth deteriorates. It is not for nothing that we hear constantly in Europe the demand of governments to their people for more production and even more. The request is not a cloak to cover governmental inadequacies. It is a valid request, the fundamental request whose recognition will determine the very existence of nations.

National Wealth Makes Us Leaders

A clear example of the difference between money and real wealth is America's contribution in the last war. Had Great Britain and other nations merely borrowed money they could never have avoided conquest and annihilation. True, we granted huge loans to those nations. But the actual loans were merely a book-keeping device through which those nations received "credit" with which they secured the real wealth cut from our forests, dug from our soil and sent across the ocean in the form of food and war materials. No money crossed the ocean. It would have been useless. As useless as millions of dollars to a man on a desert isle. Our contribution was goods, not money. The value of the Marshall Plan is in the goods we send. Our position of leadership in the world is determined by our real wealth, not by our gold pieces or paper dollars.

Domestic prices are high partly by reason of shortage of goods, artificial farm prices, and increasing wages. Present restrictions

SAMUEL RESNIK

Samuel Resnik is one of our leading attorneys, but more than that, he is a man who has realized success through his own ingenuity and hard work. Born in Russia in the Province of Vilna in 1893, he came to this country at an early age. While attending high school in Worcester, he was successfully engaged in the theatre candy concession business in that city and through his earnings from this source he acquired his college education. He graduated from Clark University with an A.B. degree and received his LL.B. at Harvard Law school.

A resident of Andover for the past 31 years, the owner of the Andover Playhouse and the Musgrove building, where his office is located, he is a member of the Andover Service Club, Square and Compass Club, Andover Country Club, Masons, Odd Fellows, Temple Emmanuel Brotherhood, B'nai B'rith and the national college fraternity, Kappa Nu.

He and his wife, the former Pauline Hoffman, and son, Louis Aaron, reside at 242 South Main street.

on installment buying, on bank loans, and similar devices rather resemble the application of shin plasters to mend broken bones. But far more serious than a willingness to regard these illusory measures as a solution is the tendency of people to assume that the government will solve the riddle by finding a solution, as though government were an all-wise, beneficent institution endowed with magical powers. The government is no better than the men elected, men with the desire to remain in power, men with a facility to pile job upon job; the more powers it assumes and the more functions it undertakes, the more red tape will it bind upon the citizens until they cannot move without permission from centralized bureaucracy.

Increased Production Necessary

It has been said that democracy is the luxury of nations possessing great natural resources and real wealth. Certain it is that as living standards decrease, governments take over more functions and powers until they become socialist, communist or fascist, bringing about regulated and controlled states, whatever may be the label stuck on the product. From sheer necessity and desperation governments have taken over in some countries. But the United States is still a nation with vast national wealth of resources, vigor, and working capacity. But if those factors are not brought together in harmonious cooperation, if our philosophy is increasingly, "Let the government find the answer," be assured that our standard of living, our individual rights and independence will be replaced by increasing poverty and government orders and decrees.

The luxury of democracy will be maintained not by expecting something for nothing, not by waiting for someone else to pull us out of a situation, not by what we take out but by what we put in. And that still means, in any man's language, more production and not just more money.

Your Fuel Supply

(Banker & Tradesman)
Reports that there will be no oil shortage this year do not seem to be well founded. Those closest to the situation expect a shortage somewhat similar to that of last year, and of course, much depends on the kind of winter we have. Transportation is a big factor. Coal is more plentiful, but transportation can again become a disturbing factor if the winter is bad.

So, whether you use coal or oil, get your supplies in now.

Within Cape Bounds

(Barnstable Patriot)
How many wagers have been made this summer on Cape Cod as to out-of-state number plates seen on visiting cars? Here is the result of a tally kept by one Cape Codder. All the states of the Union except five have been noted. Those not seen are Montana, Nebraska, Oklahoma, Oregon, Utah. These are not isolated examples — a state seen once is seen again, sometimes many times repeatedly. License plates from foreign countries have been with us, too, for New Brunswick, Quebec, Ontario, Nassau in the Bahamas, and England have been spotted by this observer. And all these observations have been made since August second. Before the season is wholly over, some other state or country may have in sight via its number plate.

By SEN. PHILIP K. ALLEN

Readers of this column will have noted that last week Suffolk County was mentioned as not coming under the County Personnel Board. Here lies an interesting point of historical fact. Many years ago the city of Boston agreed to pay all the county expenses of Suffolk County, which is made up of the cities of Boston, Chelsea, Revere, and Winthrop, and the three other cities fell in with the proposition. Of course, in return for paying all the expenses Boston has complete control and patronage in the county, while the others have no voice whatsoever.

Time and again when the expenses of the county government have gone up the cities of Chelsea, Revere and Winthrop have offered to pay the expenses proportionally in return for two county commissioners elected from their inhabitants, but Boston so far has refused to do this, for reasons which shall be nameless but obvious.

Therefore, for some twenty-five years things have been at an impasse in Suffolk County and the control still rests in the city government of Boston.

The Island of Nantucket interestingly enough because of its isolation is both a county and a town, and the Selectmen of the town of Nantucket are ex-officio county commissioners of Nantucket County.

Also within the scope of the duties of the Division of Accounts is the Administrator of the Contributory Retirement Plan for cities, towns, and counties, within the Commonwealth. Since 1935, all the cities and towns and counties of the State have accepted by vote on the ballot the contributory retirement system except for nine small towns. The referendum on this question for these towns goes on the ballot this fall. The making of this retirement system uniform has fallen to the office of this division and now constitutes a major portion of their work.

Now, as if this were not enough, this office is charged with the buying of all the dog tags and dog license forms for the cities and towns of Massachusetts. Each year metal for the tags. Readers of this they purchase a ton and a half of column will be interested no doubt to know that the registered dog population of Massachusetts has passed the 275 thousand mark and probably more would be found should a concerted drive for registration be put on.

Do You Know Massachusetts?

DO YOU KNOW THAT... Average weekly earnings of Massachusetts wage earners, before Federal income taxes, during July 1948 compared with those in July 1939, show the following percentages of increase: in the construction industries 134%, manufacturing 129%, public utilities 82%, wholesale and retail trade 74% and miscellaneous industries 85%, as calculated from reports by the Dept. of Labor and Industries... The cost of living index in the same period increased about 64%... New England vacation business in July equaled that a year ago in number of guests and was well ahead of July last year in gross receipts, as reported by the Federal Reserve Bank of Boston... The Cape Cod area led in Massachusetts with a gain of 3% in number of guests and 11% in receipts... While the 55,200 Federal Government employees in Massachusetts during July were an increase of 3.6% over those a year ago, the 131,500 employed by the State and local governments were 8.9% more than in July last year... Dollar value of retail sales in the Boston area during July totaled 4% more than in the same month a year ago... Plymouth County has over 10,000 acres in cranberries, the largest acreage in the world. Production of the entire cranberry industry in Massachusetts is valued at more than $16,000,000 a year... The planning board in Wayland has approved five subdivisions since June 1, 1947, totaling 75 new house lots.

AT THE LIBRARY

A variety of things appear in the list of recent additions to the Memorial Hall Library. Some of the non-fiction titles are elusive, and give little indication of the subject matter. Most of them are too good to miss:

WASHINGTON CAVALCADE

This is the second in the Society in America Series; the first was the Proper Bostonians, a great favorite in this section of the country. Now comes this picture of Washington, D. C. from its beginnings to today.

IDEAS HAVE CONSEQUENCES

A plea for man to use reason and to realize that the catastrophes of our age are the product of unintelligent choice, not of necessity.

LIFE AND GROWTH

An honest attempt to answer the many questions asked by young people as they grow up, and other questions asked by grown-ups who are guiding young people.

DEFEAT IN VICTORY

A restrained and objective record by the man who was Polish Ambassador to the U.S. during the war years which "traces the abandonment of high principles and the adoption of power diplomacy by Great Britain and the United States and unity with Russia." Here are and unity with Russia... Here are unlocked the doors of the conference rooms of Teheran, Quebec and Yalta.

DESIGN FOR GIVING

The story of the National War Fund, 1943-1947. This great philanthropic effort sustained nearly twenty-four essential allied relief agencies with aid from the 43,000 American communities with donations amounting to three-quarters of a billion dollars. Its benefits went to 125 countries all over the world.

THE TENNESSEE

This volume carries on the history of the Tennessee from the time of the Civil War to TVA — its part as strategic key by the armies during the war, a study of the Deep South... The story of the TVA program is given with valuable documentation.

EMANUEL SWEDENBORG,

SCIENTIST AND MYSTIC
Toksvisg
The acknowledged genius of the 18th century, Emanuel Swedenborg, employed by the Swedish government as chief adviser in scientific and technical matters was also a mathematician, physicist, engineer and philosopher who lived in two worlds at once.

Check it for prescribed dosage and for frequency of repetition... and never depend on memory alone. Styles Change In Accidents Styles change in accidents, as well as in clothes.

This is shown in the 1948 edition of "Accident Facts," statistical yearbook published by the National Safety Council.

The figures show falls were the commonest type of fatal accident 35 years ago, with railroad accidents running second.

Last year motor vehicle accidents topped the list, falls were in second place and railroad accidents had dropped far back down the list.

Here are the major types of fatal accidents in 1913 and in 1947, as shown in "Accident Facts." They are listed with the worst killers first, and on down the scale.

1913: 1, Falls; 2, Railroad; 3, Drowning; 4, Burns and scalds; 5, Motor vehicle; 6, Poison gases; 7, Poisons except gas; 8, Firearms.

1947: 1, Motor vehicle; 2, Falls; 3, Burns and scalds; 4, Drowning; 5, Railroad; 6, Firearms; 7, Poisons except gas; 8, Poison gases.

Punchard Eleven To Meet Concord Team Saturday

Eight Games Scheduled With Five To Be Played at Home

The Punchard High School football team will open its second season under the leadership of Coach Walter Roberts this Saturday when it travels to meet a strong Concord eleven.

This year Punchard is seeking revenge for the past two seasons when it has been trampled by the undefeated Concord team. During Concord's reign she has overpowered Punchard by scores of 55 to 0, and last year 49 to 0, but this year may tell a different story because of Punchard's more experienced and powerful team.

cott, John Ross, William Stewart, Donald Valtz, Donald Whyte and Sebastian Cavallaro. Backfield, Raymond Collins, Charles Dwyer, Lewis Feldler, Charles Fraser, Clifford Lawrence, Edward Lawson, William McKeon, Clark Otis, Paul Tisbert, Phillip Tinoian, Sidney Watson, Co-captain Herbert Deveaux.

The schedule for the fall season is as follows:
 Sept. 18, at Concord; Sept. 25, Chelmsford, at home; Oct. 2, Danvers, at home; Oct. 9, at Reading; Oct. 23, Stoneham, at home; Oct. 30, at Lexington; Nov. 11, Methuen, at home; Nov. 25, Johnson, at home.

Greeting
 You should realize it, now. Yes, you're back! We wish to welcome all newcomers and wish the best of luck to everyone at Punchard for the coming year.

Convention
 Mr. Bernard M. Kellmurray, Director of Guidance for the Andover Public Schools and instructor of English at Punchard, attended the closing sessions of the annual convention of the American Psychological Association at the Hotel Statler in Boston during the weekend of September the 11th.

Fire Drills
 The first practice fire drills of the year took place on the morning of Friday, September the tenth. Correct passing and opening of doors were practiced during the first drill; timing, the second and third times.

New Counselor
 Miss Luella Dunning, teacher of English, will commence her duties as Counselor of Girls at Punchard High School within a week. Miss Dunning is successor to Mrs. Emma G. Carter.

Guidance Meeting
 The Guidance Department will meet with the seniors within the next few days to discuss college and advanced school applications.

Newcomers
 A good number of new pupils from Lawrence High, St. Mary's, Central Catholic, Johnson, Abbot, Chelmsford, and Canaan, New Hampshire, started this year at Punchard.

Cheerleaders
 Practicing unusually hard in order to be in perfect form, the cheerleaders, under the excellent captaincy of Ethel Hibbert, senior and second-time holder of that position, will exhibit their long hours of practice and new uniforms at their appearance for Punchard's first football game at Concord, September eighteenth. They hope to have much support to cheer their fellow classmates on to victory. The cheerleaders are as follows: Ethel Hibbert, captain; Jean Dumont, Phyllis Rapa, Peggy Greece, Barbara Parsons, Eva Giovinco, Beverly Arthur, Bessie Christie.

Cheerleading Tryouts
 Cheerleading tryouts for the one regular and two substitute positions needing to be filled were held last Monday with the able judgment of Miss Frances Collins, gym instructor, and Ethel Hibbert, captain of the squad. The following girls competed for these positions: Joan Hart, Marion White, Betty Floyd, Shirley Northam, Suzanne Markey.

Results of the tryouts will be known by next week.

Gym Classes
 The High school gym classes, under the direction of Miss Frances Collins, are very large this year. The Senior class consists of forty-four girls; the Junior class, fifty-two, and the Sophomore, sixty-five.

For the first time in eight years sneakers, which were very hard to obtain during the war, have been plentiful. Blue uniforms or blue shorts with white blouses and sneakers are compulsory, which make the gym classes look more consistent.

Girls' Band
 The Girls' Band of seventy-five members promises to be the very finest in the history of the school. Rehearsals got under way under the direction of Mrs. McArdle on the opening day of school, and the Band will make its official appearance of the season at the American Legion Installation of officers in the Memorial Auditorium this evening.

SOUTH CHURCH NOTES
 On Sunday, September 19, the Church School of the South Church will open at 9:30 o'clock with a Rally Sunday with all departments participating. The Primary Department, the Junior Church and the High School classes will meet together for an opening service of Worship and to hear of the plans for the new school year that were formulated at a Staff meeting held at the home of the Superintendent, Mr. Elbert Weaver this week on Monday. There will be a division of grades in the Junior Church this year with classes for the fifth and sixth grade children and group instruction for the seventh, eighth and ninth grades and two High School classes with special teaching. Parents are urged to have their children present for this opening Sunday to begin the new year with interest and enthusiasm. The children are asked to bring their Bibles for this service.

The Kindergarten will open on Sunday for the parents who wish to attend Morning Worship and leave their children under trained leadership.

The motion pictures will start on Sunday, October 3.

Abbot Academy Opens Fall Term

The faculty members and members of the administrative staff of Abbot Academy will gather for the first faculty meeting of the 120th session on Saturday evening, September 18, at the home of Miss Marguerite C. Hearsey, the principal. Miss Hearsey will be hostess at a buffet supper preceding the meeting. One new member of the faculty will be introduced at that time, and announcements will be made.

The community as well as the campus will miss the presence of Miss Katherine MacDonald of the Physical Education department, who is leaving Abbot in order to continue her studies in the field of Health Education at the University of Iowa. In Miss MacDonald's place will come Miss Dorothy Judd, formerly at Miss Beard's School in Orange, N. J.

During the vacation months the McKeen rooms which are the living rooms in Draper Hall where the social life of the school centers, have been changed and freshened with the repainting of the woodwork, and new wallpapers and new hangings. The office of the principal has also been redecorated. Faculty and students alike will be pleased at the results of the summer's work.

Abbot opens with a full enrollment, and with students representing all sections of the country and many others from distant places outside the United States. Among the new students fourteen states are represented: Connecticut, Indiana, Iowa, Massachusetts, Maine, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, North Carolina, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Vermont, and Wisconsin. From Cuba and the West Indies; from Bermuda and Canada new students will join the ranks, and from Greece, Norway, Denmark native students will add to the list of old girls who have come from India, China and Chile and Columbia in South America.

Members of the Student Council will meet the new girls on their arrival at Abbot on Tuesday, September 21. The remainder of the old girls will come on Wednesday. The usual opening schedule will begin to operate on Tuesday, when Miss Hearsey will greet the new resident students and their parents at tea in the McKeen rooms during the afternoon. Classes will meet briefly on Friday, September 24.

BAG PIPE BAND HOLDS SUCCESSFUL CARNIVAL

The street fair, sponsored by the bagpipe band affiliated with Clan MacPherson, 80, Order of Scottish Clans, and held at the playstead Saturday, Sept. 11, proved a successful affair, with Sharon Law from Lawrence winning first prize in the doll carriage parade, and Nancy Campbell coming in second.

The first prize winner was dressed in the spirit of the United Nations, with carriage appropriately decorated, and the second prize winner was in old-fashioned costume.

Representative J. Everett Collins was one of the judges of the parade assisted by Alderman Donahue of Lawrence and Representative Frank Giles, Jr., of Methuen.

Door prizes were won by P. R. Cairns, E. Coppola, Marilyn Nichol, James Keating, Mrs. D. Robb and Shirley Smith. Two special prizes, one a fruit cake, was won by C. W. Brown, and a 3-pound box of chocolates by Eunice Campbell.

The entertainment in the evening featured Martha Fraser, who danced the sailor's horn pipe; Catherine Cummings, who did the highland fling, and selections by the bagpipe band.

The band sponsored the carnival as part of a drive to raise funds for new uniforms. Members of the committee, headed by George Campbell, chairman, were: William G. Bancroft, William McCabe, David Robb, Gordon Robb, Morris Campbell, Jack Watson, George Blyth, Sr., George Blyth, Jr., James Cummings, Ian Fraser, John Angus, Mrs. George Blyth, Mrs. Rebecca Campbell, Mrs. Ruby Thomson, Mrs. Jean Angus, Mrs. Mae Fraser, Mr. and Mrs. David Liddle, Mr. and Mrs. Laurence Remick, Mr. and Mrs. James Keith, Mrs. George Keith and Mrs. James Armstrong.

COMMUNICATION

EDUCATION OR HOBBY

To the Editor of The Townsman:
Dear Sir:

According to last week's Townsman, petitions are being circulated which would bring about the banning of model plane flying at the Andover Playstead. In view of the fact that the news story depicted only the grievances of the citizens involved, and in no way described the attitude of the defendants in the case, I feel it only fair that the other side of the picture be made public.

The members of the Andover Model club do not wish to be classed as perpetrators of a "public nuisance," and are perfectly willing to cooperate in any way, as indicated by their decision that no club member may fly a plane at the Playstead without a muffler.

In my opinion, the whole controversy might well have been avoided if the principal objectors had made their complaints known to either members of the club, or responsible authorities who in turn could have arranged a satisfactory solution with the model plane flyers, rather than circulating a petition to ban flying models outright.

As a model plane enthusiast, I would like to point out that the Townsman labels the models 'toys' I would like to point out that they are toys that take plenty of time and patience and skill to build and learn to fly.

Let us start with a youngster buying his model. This is usually a solid model and easy to build with the cost about twenty-five cents. The youngster starts to build the model and if he is interested will finish it and start on another, but on the other hand if he loses interest and patience the model will be cast aside and forgotten.

The youngster who is interested will continue by trying next an elastic model which costs a little more than the first and is a much more complicated job to build. It consists of putting small pieces of very light-weight balsam wood together in the shape of a plane and finishing by covering the entire model with tissue paper and painting the color desired. The elastic is strung from the tail of the ships and attached to the propeller and is the power used to fly the model.

As the model builder gets older he wishes to try something more advanced and this is where his education starts. The advanced model building embraces the gas models or the "noisy models." The gas model plane has all the fundamentals of a real plane, and the builder has quite a few things to learn before building a gas model.

First the builder learns to read plans or blue prints. In building the model he must consider space for his engine, gas tank, wiring, coil, batteries, condenser, bell crank, (flying control) and anything else he may have to install. When installing all these different parts, weight and balance are very important as any of you that have flown in a plane know that your baggage and weight has to stay within certain limits.

Model building is an education in itself, because there are so many things to learn before a model is completed. In a gas model there is an engine, therefore the builder has to learn about his engine and acquire some mechanical knowledge; batteries, coil, condenser and wiring give the builder a knowledge of electricity and trouble shooting along that line.

Because most of the weight is installed in the center of the plane everything must be very condensed therefore the gas tank may be any shape and size and is usually made by the model builder, which gives him experience in sheet metal work and soldering. In addition the builder learns quite a bit about aeronautics.

Did I mention the price of these gas models? Well, hobbies are expensive and one model I have myself cost between $25 and $35 to build and I am now working on a P-51 Mustang which will cost about $50 when completed. I bring out this point to indicate that though the models may be "toys" they are not inexpensive toys.

The model builder also gets experience in handling delicate work with his hands which is valuable in many trades.

The large model which many of you have heard and seen flying in the Playstead was designed and built by a member of the Andover Model Club, won first prize in an exhibition flight on Labor Day at the Lawrence Stadium. This member also drew up plans and made parts and kits so that many other model builders in Andover could buy and build an exact duplicate of this plane which we call No. 5.

Flying is here to stay, and who knows what part some of these young men and boys may play in the future development of the aviation industry. The possibilities run from the job of the aeroplane mechanic or pilot to that of designer, in the aviation field alone, aside from the many trades to which a youngster skilled in model plane building might well adapt himself.

How many people know that when a new plane is designed there is usually a scale model built about the size of these model planes flying around here and that this scale model is put

OBITUARIES...

FRANK OSTROWSKI

The funeral of Frank Ostrowski, who died suddenly last Thursday afternoon, September 9, at his home on Holt road, was held from the family home Monday with a solemn high mass of requiem at 9:30 a. m. in St. Augustine's church.

The deceased was born in Poland, and had made his home in Andover for the past 30 years. He was employed as a groundskeeper at Phillips Academy.

He leaves his wife, Jennie, and five sons, Walter of Windsor Locks, Conn., Julius of Philadelphia, Pa., Frank, Jr., of Worcester, and Joseph and Paul of this town; one daughter Anne, wife of Charles H. Murnane, and four grandchildren.

Rev. Henry B. Smith, O. S. A., was the celebrant at the Mass, the Very Rev. Thomas Fogarty, O.S.A., pastor, was the deacon, and Rev. Matthew McDonald, O.S.A., sub-deacon.

James Sheard sang "Miseremini Mei" at the offertory and "Let a Pious Prayer Be Said" at the recessional. Mrs. Mary Murphy was organist. Burial was in St. Augustine's cemetery where Father Smith conducted the committal services.

through all kinds of tests in a wind tunnel to see how the full size plane will react under different speeds and air currents, and weather conditions? That is how they test the newly designed planes before they build a full size plane of the same design, and then the full size plane has to be tested and approved before production is started.

Model building keeps a youngster busy and out of mischief as any parent who has a son interested in model building will tell you. I now work far into the night on my models and did when I was younger. Model building is something that both father and son can enjoy and make a great team working together. I believe it's worth a few dollars to have a youngster at home building model planes than running around the streets doing nothing or getting into trouble.

After reading this I hope that every resident in Andover has been annoyed by the noise of our model planes will give us a chance to prove that we intend to cut down the noise by the use of mufflers on our models and we will try to make Andover as peaceful and calm as it always has been in that respect.

I think it would be a great injustice to all model plane builders in Andover if model plane flying was banned without giving the builders a chance to quiet the noise. Some of the members have already bought mufflers and others are building their own.

Any model builders in Andover who wish to join the Andover Model Club are welcome to come to the meetings which are held every Thursday night at eight o'clock at the Essex Hobby Shop.

Blackie's Service Station Offers Excellent Service

Father and Son, G. I.'s, operate the busy little Texaco Station in Shawsheen Village, known as Blackie's Service Station.

Scott H. Black, better known to his friends and followers as "Blackie," has had 25 years experience servicing all makes of cars and trucks, and is a Lubrication Specialist.

Frederick S. Black, his son, also has had experience previous to entering the Armed Services, and after four years, decided to carry on with his father. The service is terrific, and everyone who trades at the station has confidence in both Blackie and Freddie.

As Blackie says: "Texaco and Firestone products are as good as you can buy, and we specialize in all of their items."

Whether you have faulty brakes, need new tires or tubes, or just a car washing, Blackie's is the place to get the job done right.

Some day when you have no engagements, drive your car to Blackie's and leave it for the day for proper lubrication and servicing. The returns you will get in safe, comfortable driving, will more than cover the cost of an expert servicing treatment at Blackie's.

Blackie's Service Station is located at 15 Union Street, and the telephone is 8010. Call him soon, and see that your car is ready for winter, and don't forget that Anti-Freeze, which will be in short supply for the coming winter.

Andover Consumer's Co-Op Labels Goods Carefully

The Andover Consumer's Co-operative, Inc., is owned by the people of this community. Anyone may join and anyone may trade at this store.

The Co-op label on goods shows that these goods have been kitchen tested in the Co-op's own laboratory kitchen. Thousands of samples are tested, but only those items that come up to the rigorous specifications of those making the tests may have the Co-op Label placed on them.

The Co-op believes in labeling its goods so that the consumers know what is to be found inside. Each can is carefully labeled with detailed description of the contents. There are three grades of many Co-op goods, each grade indicated by the label—for instance—red for highest quality, blue for high quality, green for standard or economy pack.

The customer is the owner in this business and shares may be purchased at any time at $5.00 per share.

Have you tried the new YELLOW Oleomargarine? The Co-op has it, and it is in quarter pound sticks just like fancy butter. As usual, the Co-op was ready with something new that the customer has wanted for a long time. The stand holding the yellow oleo was pounced on Saturday by men and women alike.

Accidents Claim Greatest Death Toll Among Young

CHICAGO — Accidents are the greatest killer of young people in the United States, far outranking any of the more generally feared childhood diseases.

According to the 1948 edition of "Accident Facts," statistical yearbook of the National Safety Council, accidents claimed five times as many lives in the 5-to-14 year age group in 1946 as heart disease, the second cause of death. And accidents killed six times as many children in that age group as pneumonia, the third place child-killer.

In fact, the yearbook points out that deaths from accidents numbered more than deaths from both heart disease and pneumonia combined.

Blue Cross To Take Non-Group Members

BOSTON, Sept. 8—Announcement that non-group individuals may again join Blue Cross was made today by Roger W. Hardy, who has been directing reorganization of the health prepayment plan since last winter.

When reorganization of Blue Cross was started, as the result of rising hospital costs which threatened its financial resources, enrollment of individuals was cancelled and the new contract which went into effect May 1 was for group members only.

Actuarial and underwriting studies since May 1 convinced Blue Cross leaders that it would be possible once again to extend protection to new individual enrollments. Thousands of applications from individuals have been refused since May 1. The new health statement plan announced today will make it possible for many of these individuals to join.

Utility Engineers Attempt Solution of Pole Deadlock

tors of the difference between overhead and underground wiring. Two poles overhead on North Main street would cost $320.00, while underground service would cost $1,500. Four overhead poles on Sterling street would cost $955.00, as against $12,000.00 for the underground wiring.

Three possible solutions worked out by the engineers and the selectmen included the moving of two existing poles on Main street, and the installation of one additional pole; 2, erection of two poles in the rear of residences; or 3, an appeal to the Department of Public Utilities to require the utility companies to continue the underground service.

Chairman Roy Hardy of the Board of Selectmen felt that the success of the third solution was questionable, and during the last conference between the board and the engineers, the second solution was the one decided upon pending the securing of two easements on Main street for permission to erect two poles in the rear of the residences. One pole on Main street would be moved a short distance under the proposed plan.

The Sterling street question is one which will be probably worked out by having the lines come off Haverhill street on the North Andover side of Sterling street, go around back, and come down a proposed street to the rear of the four new houses for which the owner seeks service, to Sterling street. This will necessitate one easement.

Films Shown to Andover Sportsmen

Arthur Hollenburg, district fire warden from Billerica, was the guests speaker at the meeting on Tuesday evening of the Andover Sportsmen's club in the Peabody house.

Through the cooperation of the Massachusetts Department of Conservation, three films were shown: one of forest control, lumber operations in New Hampshire, and the Cape Cod fire of 1940 in color.
