VIEWS OF THE NEWS

By LEONARD F. JAMES

The continued existence of democracy in a nation may well depend upon the possession of real national wealth. Increasing governmental controls in Great Britain indicate a decline in democratic rights that seems to parallel the steady decline in her economic position. Britain still retains the externals of democracy—the right to vote, to criticize, to change the government—but sheer economic necessity is forcing the nation into a strait jacket of government restrictions. And these decrees and orders that pour from government departments to hamper the citizen are not merely the application of theories enthusiastically put into socialist practice. While the Conservative may attack the Labour government, he still faces the day when his party may have to take over the job. And he knows that neither a change in party nor firm belief in free enterprise will alone change the economic picture in Britain. For whoever puts together the pieces of the economic jig-saw puzzle, be he Conservative, Liberal or La-

Seek Two Officers For New Tank Unit

Commanders of the four veteran organizations in town have been notified by Francis P. Markey, veterans' service officer, of the proposal by the National Guard to establish a heavy tank unit here. Two officers are needed to head the organization. Reserve officers or former combat officers who are interested in starting this unit, are being sought.

It is understood that basic pay salaries will be established both for the officers and enlisted men of such a company. It is expected that the local unit would require a personnel of about 50 men and its complement of officers. Plans proposed by the National Guard include other units in Amesbury, Beverly, Peabody, Salem and Newburyport. It is expected that former service men here will be interested in joining the proposed corps.

Jobs For Disabled Veterans Sought

The week of October 3 to 9 has been designated as "Hire a Handicapped Veteran Week." In this connection Joseph A. Horan, commander of the local D. V. A. post solicits the assistance of all employees who feel that they might be able to hire a handicapped veteran. They may reach him at 5 Avon street.

Weekly meetings have been held in Lawrence recently with the heads of various state and county veterans' organizations to formulate plans for obtaining work for disabled veterans. Such persons, they point out, usually prove to be competent employees.

All veterans' services are co-operating in this movement to secure employment for handicapped veterans in their communities.

Ban Fires In Open During Dry Period

No fires in the open will be allowed during the period the Governor's proclamation closing the woods remains in effect.

This notice has been received by fire officials from Raymond J. Kenney, director of the Department of Conservation and state forester.

On account of the lack of rain and the continued hot weather earlier in the month the woods were closed September 10 to reduce fire hazards.

During this time also, all outstanding permits for open fires shall be revoked and no permits will be issued until the ban is lifted.

Punchard Eleven Bows To Concord Drops Opener 6-0 After Putting Up Great Fight

An inspired Punchard eleven fought desperately on even terms against a powerful Concord team at the latter's grounds Saturday, only to be defeated in the fleeting seconds of the game. The Concord eleven marched goalwards in the early stages of play, but was halted deeply in the Punchard territory when Co-Captain Herbert Deveaux of the Blue and Gold recovered Richard Finan's fumble. Punchard had no further trouble with Concord until the last quarter.

During the first half, Concord carried the ball into Punchard territory, but lost possession on a fumble, this drive started on the Concord 25-yard line. At this

PEACETIME DRAFT RESULTS IN 565 REGISTRATIONS

Registration for the peacetime draft resulted in a total of 565 registrants in Andover.

As part of Draft Board No. 8 located at Lawrence, the local office under the direction of George H. Winslow, chief registrar of the town, worked on a volunteer basis morning and afternoon with numerous men and women giving their services to assist in the clerical work necessary.

Registration for young men between the ages of 18 and 25 started August 30 and continued through September 18. It was conducted according to the year of birth of registrants, those born after August 30, 1922, being the first, and continuing up to those born prior to September 19, 1930.

While it was estimated that 752 young men would be eligible for registration in Andover, the board in its daily sessions received only 565 registrants. It is possible that many other young men of Andover who would be within the draft ages might have been out of town on vacations and registered in other places.

Registrations in Andover have now closed. Those becoming 18 years old after September 18 will register within five days of their birthday at the draft board headquarters at 204 Broadway, Lawrence.

Fifth Dist. Recount To Be Held Tonight

Candidates in the contest have been notified by Clerk George H. Winslow of the Board of Registrars, that the Andover recount will be held at the Town House tonight at 7 o'clock.

Punchard High Students To Have Brand New Car For Their Popular Course In Driver Training

Academy Opens With 725 Boys

Seven hundred and twenty-five boys went back to school on Andover Hill yesterday, as Phillips Academy opened for its 171st year. This date also marked the beginning of the first year in office of Headmaster John Mason Kemper, former Army colonel and historian, who assumed his new duties last July 1.

As in previous years, over 40 states are represented, with the two largest groups coming from Massachusetts and New York. Students also come from three territories and seven foreign countries.

Four new instructors, appointed last spring, have reported this fall: H. Jack Gelken of Charlevoix, Mich., in Physical Education; A. Lachlan Reed of Silver Lake, Minn., in English; John B. C. Thomas of New York City, in Physics; and Valteau Willkie, Jr., of Summit, N. J., in History.

$670.42 Collected By New Meters

Collections from the parking meters since they went into operation August 30, amounted to $670.42 up to Monday, Town Treasurer Thaxter Eaton reported yesterday. This does not include the $32.96 collected during the days the meters were being installed and when the new ordinance was not in effect.

From the beginning, collections have averaged about $27 a day, and this is being maintained right along with every collection.

At present Town Treasurer Eaton is hiring temporary help to count the coins and place them in paper rolls. He has estimated that it is costing the town at the rate of something over $500 a year for this work and expects soon to ask for such an amount if the present system of counting is continued.

Meanwhile, fewer "no-fix" tags are being issued by police. While the first few days saw a score or more of tags being handed out to violators, the number recently has dropped to between three and five a day.

The Driver Training course which is starting for the fourth year at Punchard High school is going to be more popular than ever.

Through the courtesy of the Shawsheen Motor Mart a new Ford car has been turned over to the school for this particular branch of instruction. As a consequence, more students than can be properly instructed have asked to join the course.

Because of the large number who want to enroll, the course in the beginning will be limited to seniors and juniors, and only to those boys and girls who do not have driving licenses.

The course, sponsored by the Central P. T. A., will be operated without cost to the School department. The Shawsheen Motor Mart will garage the car, and the incidental expenses such as gasoline,

New Faculty Members At Merrimack College

Two new members have been added to the faculty of Merrimack College, according to the announcement made by the Very Rev. Vincent A. McQuade, O.S.A. Named to the department of history was Benjamin J. Mattina, A.B., M.A., Ph.D., and to the business department Francis X. Day, A.B., M.A.

Mr. Mattina, a native of Buffalo, N. Y., received his Bachelor of Arts degree from Canisius College, and his Master's degree from Georgetown University. In 1947 he was awarded his doctor's degree in history from Georgetown. He is a veteran of World War II.

Mr. Day, a resident of Roxbury, was awarded his bachelor's degree from Boston University, graduating with honors, and his Master's degree from the same institution. During the war he served with the auditing and accounting division of the U. S. Army.

Twenty-one teachers now constitute the present faculty at the college.

The enrollment for the opening of the second year of the new institution numbers approximately 300, very evenly divided among the sophomore and freshmen classes.

SOLVE PROBLEM OF SHAWSHEEN POLE LOCATIONS

After two public hearings on the proposed erection of six utility poles in Shawsheen Village the selectmen have notified interested parties that arrangements have been made to serve the properties in question in private ways through rear lots, taking service from the poles on North Main street near William street.

The solution of the problem which has been the subject of controversy between residents of the Village and the utility companies was proposed at the last public hearing held September 13.

Shawsheen residents had strenuously opposed pole locations that would mean giving service by overhead wires, contending that such wiring should be underground like the previous service installed there. The companies pointed out that this service would be too costly. The only way it could be done would be to charge the abutters the difference between the cost of overhead and underground wiring.

The solution of giving service over back lots was one that had been worked out by the utility engineers and the selectmen.

Officer Surprises Trio In Liquor Store Break

Prompt work on the part of Police Officer Joseph E. O'Brien early Tuesday morning resulted in the capture of three youths later arraigned in Woburn District court on charges in connection with a break in the Kelly liquor store on Route 28, North Reading.

Officer O'Brien surprised the trio when he was just over the Andover line checking on another complaint involving an Andover resident. A radio call to the Andover station resulted in state police being notified after the youths took to their heels.

Two of the youths were picked up later as they emerged from the woods and a third was arrested by Lowell police. A Texas car, reportedly stolen in Lowell, was used by the youths. Andover police expect to question the trio about the theft of a trunk at Morgan's poultry farm about three weeks ago.

October Is Month For Auto Inspection

All motor vehicles other than school busses must be submitted for the second periodic inspection of 1948 at some time during the month of October, provided they are registered in the Commonwealth prior to November 1, and are operated on the highways any time during the month of October.

Last October 4,543 were prosecuted in Massachusetts for not having their inspection sticker displayed.

The low-cost housing to be erected under the local Housing Authority is designed primarily for veterans earning $2500 or less per year.

This point has been emphasized by officials of the State Housing Authority with whom the local board has had several conferences.

At the same time it was pointed out that the number of housing units to be awarded to Andover will be based upon this requirement, a fact that may cause some applicants to be ruled out of further consideration.

It has also been noted by officials that many veterans who have applied for these units do not fully understand the law under which the local Housing Authority is acting.

There are fundamental differences between Section 200, under which the Andover Housing Authority is set up, and Section 373, the other type of housing such as the Lawrence veterans original project.

Public Installation Of Legion Officers Ceremony Attracts Large Gathering at Auditorium

Fitting ceremonies marked the public installation of the officers of Andover Post, 8, American Legion, at the Memorial Auditorium last Thursday night.

The attractive program surrounding the impressive installation ceremony drew an attendance of 300 persons, the greatest number in over 20 years.

A plea by Headmaster John Mason Kemper of Phillips Academy for greater mutual understanding between the civilian and the military, remarks by Senator Philip K. Allen and Chairman Roy E. Hardy of the Board of Selectmen, and music by the Punchard High school girls' band under the direction of Mrs. Mirian Sweeney McArdle were highlights of the evening.

Arthur L. Coleman, representing the county council, had charge of the ritualistic part of the program which put Kenneth L. Sherman, a veteran of two wars, in command of the post for the coming year.

Other officers installed were: first vice-commander, Richard Wrigley; second vice-commander, Angus S. Stewart; adjutant, James F. Robent; finance officer, Robert Prescott; chaplain, Alden Cook; historian, Thomas Duff; service officer, James D. Doherty; sergeant-at-arms, Joseph Medolo; executive committee, George C. ## P.A. STUDENTS INTERESTED IN MUSIC STUDY

The marked increase in interest in music among students at Phillips Academy during the past year is a most promising indication for the coming year, according to Academy music officials.

Of the total number enrolled in the study of instrumental music, those studying piano increased from 15 to 40, and those studying other instruments for diploma credit from 6 to 19. There are about 100 students enrolled in the study of instrumental music.

The expansion in choral activity has been just as striking, since the number of boys singing has more than doubled. The school now boasts a choir of 80 and a Glee club of the same size.

While there is a school orchestra which is employed as a teaching medium, performances are usually given by smaller groups drawn from the instrumental group. During the past year performances were given by a brass choir, a woodwind ensemble and a string ensemble.

Among the well-known music teachers now instructing at the Academy are Harry Kobialka, strings; Harold McDonnell, brass; Allison Metcalf and Leon Tumarkin, piano and Arthur Howes, organ.

The U. S. Navy has been authorized by recent legislation to enroll not over 6,500 women in its regular service in the next two years.

Abbot Programs Open To Public

With the arrival of student leaders on the campus to greet the new students Abbot Academy opened its 120th session Tuesday, September 21. The majority of the girls arrived Wednesday, and by Friday the class schedule will be followed in earnest and work will begin.

The first faculty meeting was held Saturday evening at the home of the Principal, Miss Marguerite C. Hearsey. Miss Hearsey announced the addition of Gardiner Sutton to the administrative staff in the capacity of assistant treasurer and business manager. Miss Marion Lewis was introduced as a new assistant in the Residence department.

The fall calendar offers several entertainments which will be of interest to the community, in addition to the annual piano recital by Miss Kate Friskin of the Abbot Music faculty. Some events are as follows: October 16, Dr. Andre Michalopoulos will lecture on the present Greek conditions; October 23 Marjorie Sheperd, monokulst, will give a program; November 6 David Morton will talk on poetry and give readings from his own works; during the fall, Hon. Phillip Allen will speak on campaign issues, and on the evening of Saturday, November 27, Miss Friskin's concert will take place in Davis Hall. The following Saturday, October 2, the Senior class picnic will take place in the traditional manner.

May File Claims Under War Act

"If you were a prisoner of war and did not receive payment for labor performed, were mistreated, or had property seized while a prisoner, you can file a claim with the government under the War Claims Act of 1948, recently signed by President Truman," Mrs. J. J. Tavern, home service chairman of the Andover Red Cross Chapter, said today.

"When the claim is filed," Mrs. Tavern said, "you should forward affidavits, accompanied by any corroborative evidence available, to the appropriate office." If the claimant was in the Army, he should address his claim to (Office of the Adjutant General, Department of the Army, Washington 25, D. C., Attention: Chief, Operation Branch) If the claimant was in the Navy, he should address his claim to (Claims Section (POW Claims), Office of the Judge Advocate General, Department of the Navy, Washington 25, D. C.)

The new law also states that if the enemy government did not feed a prisoner properly, under the terms of the Geneva Convention, he may also file a claim.

All claims, including those now on file, will be turned over to the War Claims Commission when it is established. The commission will study the claims and make a report to the President, who in turn will submit it to Congress on or before March 31, 1948.

"Any local resident who needs help in filing his claim may ask the Red Cross for assistance," Mrs. Tavern said. Your local Red Cross chapter is at 8 Elm street.

Allen, of West Hartford, Conn., sister of the bride, who wore a peach satin bustle back gown fashioned on lines similar to the bride's and she carried an arm bouquet of peach and aqua gladioli. Mrs. Ramsom B. Long, the groom's sister, of Andover, Miss Claire Fleischmann of Lawrence, Mrs. Clyde F. Roberts, Jr., also of Lawrence and Miss Mary White of North Andover, the bridesmaids, were gowned alike in satin gowns of aqua and peacock styled with cap sleeves and peplums forming back bustles. Their flowers were arm bouquets of peach gladioli. Priscilla Jane Allen, niece of the bride, of Hartford, Conn., carried a peach and aqua colonial bouquet with her peach satin frock with a ruffled skirt for her role as flower girl.

The groom's cousin, E. Allen Schmidt of Westville, N. H., served as best man and the ushers were: Roland Korb, John Mey, John Kellett another cousin of the groom, all of Methuen, and Allan Emroe of Melrose.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Herdegen chose a gown of milk brown with gold bugle bead trim. Ostrich feathers trimmed her matching hat and she wore a corsage of tea roses. With her royal blue gown, which had a sequin trimmed peplum, Mrs. Allen, mother of the groom, wore a matching hat with ostrich feathers and a corsage of red rose buds.

The couple left for their trip to the White Mountains and Canada immediately following the reception which was attended by many guests from Troy and Tarrytown, New York, Malden and Melrose and West Hartford, Conn.

Mrs. Allen, a recent graduate of Colby College, Waterville, Maine, has been employed by the New England Telephone and Telephone company as a service representative and her husband, a graduate of Peabody Military Academy, in New York, attended Tilton school in N. H., and is planning to attend Tufts College in the fall.

KILLAM—LUNDGREN

Wearing a princess gown designed of pure silk brought from Japan by her bridegroom, Miss Ruth Anne Lundgren, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry A. Lundgren, 477 Andover street, Lawrence, became the bride, Sunday, September 5, of Dwight Delavan Killam, son of Mr. and Mrs. Horace Killam, of Porter road. The altar of the Parker street Methodist church was decorated with candles and white gladioli for the 4 o'clock ceremony which was performed by the Rev. Guy Allen, pastor, and the Rev. DeWitt C. Clemens of Syracuse, N. Y.

The bride's cousin, Mrs. Edna Lambert Rohwedder, was soloist and she presented "Because", "Our Dream of Love" and "The Lord's Prayer", accompanied on the organ by John Newell.

Escorted by her father, the bride was lovely in her pure silk gown which had a fitted bodice with pointed waistline, a sweetheart neckline and brief train. Her finger tip length veil of imported illusion was attached to a coronet of seed pearls and she carried a cascade bouquet of white gladioli with an orchid center.

The bride's sister and maid of honor, Elizabeth C. Lundgren of Lawrence, wore a lilac gown of sheer marquisette styled on princess lines, with a floral headpiece. Her colonial bouquet was of yellow gladioli. Charlotte Ann Killam of North Andover in peppermint green sheer marquisette and Charlotte Payne of Lawrence in a jonquil yellow gown of the same material both wore floral headpieces and carried colonial bouquets of lilac gladioli.

Horace Killam, Jr., the groom's brother, was his best man and the ushers were John Kellett of Methuen and Boyd Greenwalt, Jr., of Staten Island, N. Y.

Mrs. Lundgren in a grape gown with gray accessories and a corsage of shaded purple gladioli, and Mrs. Killam in a brown gown, burgundy accessories and a harmonizing corsage, assisted the bridal party at the reception in the church vestry which was decorated with white gladioli and cut garden flowers. Guests from East Longmeadow, Easthampton, Worcester, Hartford, Connecticut and Brooklyn, Staten Island and Syracuse, N. Y., were there to wave fond farewells to the bridal couple as they started on their trip to Oneida, Lake, N. Y.

A graduate of Lawrence High school, the bride has been employed in the offices of J. A. Leone and Sons. After graduation from Phillips Academy, the bridegroom attended the Boston Conservatory of Music and is a member of the sophomore class at the School of Musical Education of Syracuse University. He holds membership in the American Guild of Organists.

EDITORIAL THOUGHTS

COLD WEATHER AND FUEL

Last night Summer gave way to Fall. The transition was not marked by any sudden changes, nor will there be any great differences in the day-to-day weather conditions. As sure as the sun rises each morning and sets each night, though, we are headed toward cooler weather. Or, should we say, cooler weather is headed toward us?

Our years are all the same. From chilly, often frigid, Winter we pass into the Spring, then to Summer. Then the cycle turns again and we speed back to Winter and Winter temperatures.

We'll have plenty of warm days before Autumn ends — and, of course, some cool ones, too. But the increasing tendency toward steady cold will make all of us, sooner or later, turn on the heat in our homes.

How are we going to fare for fuel this season?

Well, according to the Federal Bureau of Mines estimates, unless the Winter is unusually cold, or the industry is disrupted by strikes, there will be a substantial increase in stocks of fuel oil. In other words, those who use oil for heating should have no worries this year.

Very different from the picture that was drawn for us last year when we were in the midst of Winter. Then, you may recall, we were told how low the oil supplies were, and many expected to freeze before Spring came.

But nobody did freeze — not from an actual fuel shortage, at least. If the estimates are correct nobody will freeze this Winter, either. Moreover, we won't even have to worry!

It has been suggested that a lot of last year's worry was needless, too. But the fuel users did not worry for the fun of it. It could be that a too dismal picture was painted.

THIS IS AMERICA

On page 7 of last week's Townsman, under the "At the Library" column, we mentioned the story of George Horace Lorimer and the Saturday Evening Post. "When Lorimer took over the editorship of the Post," to quote the item, "its fate was hanging by a thread. Forty years later, when he left, it had become the greatest magazine in America, both in financial and in editorial capacities. Here is the story of the man and the magazine — of the inside work of running a big weekly, of the people he knew. Here also are the standards set by the Post for its fiction, politics, etc."

Benjamin Franklin, of course, founded The Saturday Evening Post. The magazine, even today, carries his likeness in its pages, and is proud of the fact that he started the weekly on its life's journey. But The Saturday Evening Post of today is very different from the one that Franklin edited. Franklin's Post very neatly passed out of existence, as noted above.

Lorimer took it over, and under his leadership it became great. It became highly successful in a financial way. It made a great deal of money, and it still does.

But, in making money, the magazine has paid out a lot of money, and it always will pay out a lot, as long, at any rate, as it continues to be successful. Prosperous concerns — in the magazine or in any other field — always distribute money. They employ many people. In the case of the magazine it pays out thousands of dollars to authors, and thousands to other employees.

It is only in a free country, like America, and under the capitalist system that such successful goals can be reached. Real capitalists make money, but they provide employment and pay high wages to many who, without the successful leaders, might well be without any jobs whatever.

HOLDING THEIR OWN

A dozen years ago there was a widely expressed fear that the growth of chain retail systems was imperiling the very existence of independent stores. This led to the passage of punitive chain store taxes in a number of states. A Federal law which would have heavily penalized the chains was also proposed — though, luckily for the consumers of the country, it was finally beaten.

In the light of all that, it's interesting to see just what chain competition has done to independent merchandising. And there's no guesswork involved, for the Department of Commerce provides the figures.

Here, then, is the story: In 1929, the chains did 20.3 per cent of the total retail volume. In 1939 they did 21.7 per cent. And in 1947 they did 21.5 per cent, a trifle less than they did eight years previously.

As Chain Store Age describes the situation, "In the past two decades, despite all the economic changes wrought by the depression, the war, and the effect of national growth, the relative position of the chains and the independents has undergone no change. . . . The fact that the chains last year accounted for some $25,000,000,000 worth of sales is matched by the fact that the independents and other types of operations accounted for no less than $93,000,000,000 worth of sales!"

In a healthy, competitive retail system every worthwhile kind of operation holds its own and keeps up with the tide of progress. That's exactly what has been happening here.

Views of The News

Prosperity from Processing

Great Britain's rise to power in the nineteenth century was built on the production of goods, most of which were manufactured or processed from imported raw materials, and then sold upon foreign markets. Her machines got a head-start on other countries and earned their owners and the country large sums of money. In effect, she got her money for services performed rather than through the sale of products made from her own natural resources. Her ships went to New Orleans for raw cotton, took it to Lancashire for processing into cloth, and carried the finished article to foreign markets, thus earning money with each transaction. Her financiers and bankers added to the national income by investing people's money in the real wealth of copra, rubber, mines and foreign developments. It might be said that Britain owned real wealth by remote control. She was the world's manufacturer, the world's investment banker. With the profits earned she could buy more ships and purchase the food and the raw materials to be processed. But her future was dependent upon the ability to work for others so long as they could use her services.

Dependent Prosperity

And this dependence upon others was the basis of her past prosperity, the cause of her present decline. So long as international trade was relatively free from tariffs, and so long as the world was prosperous and could afford to buy her goods, profits came in. But as other nations became industrialized and protected their goods by duties on foreign ones, and when some nations could even compete with her products, the uncertainty of her position became apparent. England today no longer controls the sources of real wealth, and she no longer earns the money from banking, foreign investments, the carrying trade and the tourist trade. She cannot even feed herself, although she grows wheat along the roadside. Until strict rationing tightened the nation's belts, she imported two out of every three meals. In 1938 she had to import 50,000 tons of food and 110,000 tons of merchandise daily to provide her people with daily bread and daily work. Such imports could be kept going only if a similar amount of exports was shipped out. Every day, for 365 days a year, 300,000 tons of produce entered or left British ports.

Need for Controls

Two wars, particularly the recent ones, very seriously affected her. Most of her foreign investments in real wealth had to be sold in order to purchase war equipment, her ships were sunk, her tourist trade stopped, and with them the so-called invisible imports of money that those services brought in. The end of the war has not restored those losses, and since she cannot feed herself, every penny that she can spare must be grimly spent to buy food rather than raw materials to be processed. To capture what foreign markets she can her prices must be kept down, goods for export must claim priority over goods for home use, and labour must be directed to export industries. It may be that the disease is almost too far gone, that the cure will simply render the patient more and more apathetic.

Possible Remedies

Almost certainly her former power and position are gone; she can probably never again stand alone. Her leaders cannot and will not give up in despair, for when all hope is gone. They will seek measures not tried before. Western union in Europe may become more than a military alliance; it may well become a political and economic federation of nations unable to stand alone much longer. Or Britain may become integrated with the empire in a new political unit in which she will process for the others. Either solution would not come easily. But no government in Britain can side-step the plain fact that real wealth must somehow be acquired or controlled. For only upon real wealth can prosperity and human rights be built.

Home Fire Hazards Should Be Checked

Fire Prevention Week To Be Observed Oct. 3-9

With colder weather daily increasing the danger of preventable fires, local families are asked to make a full-scale check of homes and apartments to eliminate common hazards during Fire Prevention Week, October 3, through 9.

Effectiveness of thorough inspections has been demonstrated in recent years in many cities, one of which reported that a widespread campaign reduced the number of dwelling fires for a twelve month period from 550 to 201.

Clean-Up the Basement

The National Board of Fire Underwriters suggests that the check-up begin in the basement, where nearly one-third of all dwelling fires start.

The furnace should be cleaned. Household using oil burners should call in an experienced repairman to check it. Clothing, rugs, and any other ignitable items stored near the furnace should be removed, and all paper, rubbish and litter disposed of. A safe metal container should be provided for hot ashes.

Inspect Home-Made Wiring

Any "home-wiring" which has been put up by a member of the family should be inspected by a licensed electrician. Pennies in the fuse box are an invitation to fire, and should be removed. Most home circuits use 15-amp fuses, and a supply should be kept handy. Be sure the fuses bear the "L" label on the box or under the glass.

Special care should be taken to rearrange extension cords, avoiding hanging them over bare nails or running them under rugs. It is safer to replace any worn-looking cords.

Oil and clean the motors of all electric appliances, so they will not overheat and cause fires. Unless the refrigerator motor is the "sealed in" type, it should be oiled. Also check to be sure that the belt is in proper condition, since frayed or oily belts often slip and build up heat.

Keep Chimney Clean

Chimneys, flues, and smokepipes should be cleaned, and all cracks and holes repaired. A metal screen should be placed in front of the fireplace, to guard against flying sparks and hot ashes.

All gasoline or other flammable fluids should be removed from both house and garage. Cleaning clothes at home is a dangerous practice, but families which insist upon doing it should use only those preparations tested and approved by Underwriters' Laboratories.

In the kitchen, remove grease accumulations from the stove and place grease containers some distance from it. Keep a few cupsful of soda or salt handy to throw on grease fires in broilers or cooking vessels.

What a Dollar Will Do To Help A Child In Need

What will one United States dollar or its equivalent do toward feeding hungry children in war-devastated countries?

The United Nations International Children's Emergency Fund (UNICEF) here discloses that a breakdown of the cost of supplies it now sends to 12 European countries and China shows that:

A dollar will provide enough powdered milk to make a glass of milk for 10 youngsters for a week.

A dollar will buy one day's dose of cod-liver oil for some 300 children.

A dollar will buy enough leather for a pair of children's shoes.

A dollar will purchase enough wool to make a cloth for a child's suit and coat.

A dollar will cover the cost of testing and vaccinating five children against tuberculosis.

By SEN. PHILIP K. ALLEN

One of the most important and yet one of the least known of the departments in Massachusetts is the Department of Correction. This department is administered by the Commissioner, Elliott E. McDowell, of Wrentham, a career penalologist. Under him are a first and second deputy.

The first deputy, Frank A. Dwyer, of Belmont, is charged with the periodic investigation of the county penal institutions, of which there are sixteen. These investigations are required by law and must be made at the rate of not less than one a year. He also is in charge of the legal work for the department which consists mainly in the handling of individual court cases of inmates, protecting their rights and the rights of the State that are involved and taking any State action necessary in the Probate courts in connection with defective delinquents.

The second deputy, Richard G. Holland, of West Roxbury, has charge of the transportation of all prisoners, the release of alcoholics, and is in direct charge of all office personnel. As this column is written, he is also preparing a course for in-service training for correction officers which is being established by the newly appointed Commissioner, Mr. McDowell, for the first time in the history of the Department of Correction.

Also, under the Commissioner, is the Director of Classification of Prisoners, Mr. Nelson Cochrane, of Quincy. He is in charge of all the case work done by the Department. For this case work there are four head social workers and nine social workers. In addition to this, the Director also is in charge of a file containing all the case histories of every individual in each institution under the jurisdiction of the department.

Under the direct supervision of the Commissioner of Correction are the five institutions: the Massachusetts Reformatory for Men at Charlestown, the Reformatory for Women at Sherborn, the State Farm at Bridgewater, the State Prison at Charlestown, and the State Prison Colony at Norfolk.

The superintendents of these institutions are appointed by the Commissioner of Correction and may be removed by him.

Next week we will continue with a summary of each institution.

What Our Readers Say

SEMI-BLIND CORNER

Editor of The Townsman:

The serenity of last Sunday afternoon was shattered by the sound of screeching brakes and impact of one automobile against another. To the residents of the immediate vicinity it meant another accident at the intersection of Whittier and Summer streets.

Such occurrences seem to be quite frequent at this spot. Fortunately no one was injured—this time.

This intersection is "protected" by one "Slow" sign on the northern approach. This means nothing to many motorists, leaving this semi-blind corner more than seventy-five percent unprotected.

Must we wait until there is a fatality before realizing the need for "Stop" signs there?

Yours sincerely, oil, insurance, will be carried by the Central P. T. A. The car carries all phases of insurance for automobiles.

The course has been in existence for the past three years under the supervision of Owen Hinckley, junior high instructor, who is now approved by the state as instructor in automobile driving.

For the first year it was taught just by book; the second and third year students received practical instruction through the use of borrowed cars; and now a brand new car which, in a few more days, will have dual controls installed.

This will be the first year that the students successfully completing the 12-week course of two 45-minute periods a week, will receive credit toward graduation.

In the course of instruction Mr. Hinckley will have one student at the wheel, he will be at the dual controls, and three student observers will occupy the rear seats. The driver takes 10 minutes at the wheel, then they swap around so that in one 45-minute period he will take care of four students.

AT THE LIBRARY

Some of the following titles were added during the summer months, and vacationists may have missed them, or forgotten to reserve them. This is a good time to catch up on any such oversights. A self-addressed penny postal bearing the name of the book wanted is the surest way to an evening's pleasure!

THE EARTH IS OURS Teal
The Teals, fresh from a New York apartment, went to Illinois, took over 230 poor acres of land a droffy house where they struggled against storms, snow, rats and droughts. The people they met during this time appear on the pages, interesting, amazing and good-hearted.

MISS ULYSSES FROM PUKA-PUKA Frisbie
An unconventional biography of Florence (Johnny) Frisbie, twelve-year-old daughter of a Polynesian mother and an American author-trader father. She tells of her life on the tiny island of Puka-Puka in the South Seas, an island of 650 inhabitants.

COTTON IN MY EARS Warfield
After an attack of scarlet fever at the age of four, the author found that her hearing was impaired and for the next twenty years tried to keep it a secret. Like 15,000,000 other people in America, all hard of hearing, she forced herself to live with her handicap. She tells her story in a heartening fashion in this amusing record of one girl's courage.

MAN FOR HIMSELF Fromm
Sub-titled "an inquiry into the psychology of ethics." Erich Fromm studied sociology and psychology at the University of Heidelberg, Frankfurt and Munich, trained in psycho-analysis, lectured at the Chicago Psychoanalytic Institute and Columbia University.

MISSOURI WALTZ Milligan

All the crimes of the machine are listed—the Union Station massacre, the Insurance Steal, the Vote Frauds and the Bloody Election. The story of big corruption is a reminder that the danger can rebuild itself in Kansas City, or any place!

MIRABEAU Vallentin
A rounded biography by the author of Leonardo da Vinci, this story of Mirabeau, the great 18th century French writer and statesman, has brought out the full strength of the man's appeal as a personality, his importance in public life and his decisive influence on the French Revolution.

Banay has been a director of the Boston State Hospital, of Sing-Sing Psychiatric Clinic and of Yale Plan Clinics. He offers logical answers for underlying questions in one of the world's most vital problems.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT AND THE COMING OF THE WAR 1941 Beard

"American Foreign Policy in The Making, 1932-1940" was a record of Roosevelt's statements to the people under the heading of foreign policy, to the campaign of 1940. This newer book deals with Roosevelt's personal direction of foreign affairs in the year that brought the war, and the steps by which U. S. became involved. He, the author, demonstrates the contrast between appearances created by official words and the realities of official actions. Documented.

THE LABOR LEADER Ginzberg
An experienced social economist, Eli Ginzberg, has made here the first objective study of the labor leader as a type. He has analyzed all available information about the executive board members of ten typical unions, including the United Mine Workers and the Electrical Workers, for a period of forty years. He contrasts these labor leaders with church, army, business and political leaders, and gives a case history of an anonymous union in action.

MARKETING with Marjorie

School days mean homework for mothers as well as for their offspring... what with lunch boxes to pack and after-school snacks to fix. And this kind of homework requires a lot of thought, too, if you want to win honors (and help your children do likewise). So let's start concentrating on it right now!

NEIGHBORHOOD MARVEL
When I'm fresh out of cake and cookies and the youngsters come trooping in from school, hungry for something sweet and with a young army at their heels, I take a loaf of A&P's MARVEL ENRICHED WHITE BREAD (which I always keep in the house because it's so full of the vitamins and minerals children need); cut the slices into rounds and dip them into condensed milk and then into shredded coconut. After browning these rounds lightly in a moderate oven, 350° F., I put them together in pairs with preserves between.

OF SCHOLARS AND DOLLARS
For satisfying the big appetites that small fry develop in school, foods from the A&P are in a class by themselves! It's a huge class, too... including hundreds of good things that promote good health from kindergarten to college. Incidentally, if you've started a college fund for your "young hopeful," you can save plenty of money for it by marketing at your A&P, where prices are low every day.

MAKE 'EM BEAM WITH BEANS!
If your children think baked beans are "on the beam," they'll beam at the sight of sandwiches filled with cold ANN PAGE BEANS from the A&P mixed with chopped celery, crisp diced bacon and a little chopped pickle and salad dressing.

OH WHAT A PICKLE!
Firm, ripe cantaloupe that ends up in a pickle makes a grand garnish! Boil 3½ lbs. (pared and sectioned) in salted water till tender. Drain. Mix 2 cups sugar, 1 cup vinegar, ½ cup water and 1 tsp. A&P's ANN PAGE WHOLE MIXED SPICES FOR PICKLING. Boil about 5 minutes. Add drained cantaloupe and cook gently 5 to 10 minutes. Pack in clean hot jars and seal at once.

point Punchard's offense looked effective. Dwyer raced for eight and Collins made a first down at the 14. On the next play, Deveaux broke lose to carry the pigskin to the 34, but the advance was interrupted and Punchard was forced to kick.

Electing to receive instead of kick in the second half, Punchard found itself deep in its home ground. Deveaux picked up the ball on the three and brought it back to the eight. After vain attempts to forward the ball, Collins was forced to kick. Concord then marched to the Punchard four when the third period ended.

The fourth quarter proved fatal to Punchard when on the fourth down, Basile of Concord went off on his own right tackle into pay dirt, registering the game's only score. The attempted placement was wide by Jim McKenna.

Concord was credited with nine first downs to Punchard's three. Both teams displayed good sportsmanship with few penalties resulting.

The summary:
PUNCHARD—Ross, lb; Cavaliero, lt; Mower, lg; Mauerci, c; Gaudet (co-c.) rg; Curry, rt; Chetson, re; Lawrence, qb; Dwyer, rrb; Deveaux, lhb; Collins, fb.

Time of periods: 4-10's. Prepare for Chelmsford

The football squad started preparations this week for the Chelmsford game here Saturday afternoon. Coach Walter Roberts gave the boys a black board drill Monday afternoon and after explaining plays pointed out some of the mistakes made in the previous game. The team hopes to strike pay dirt soon and is working hard for a victory Saturday.

Announce Changes In Recital Course

Bradford Junior College has been notified by the contracting agency for the Artists' Recital course that it will be necessary to make two program changes in the Bradford series. It was announced today.

The first recital by the Don Cosack chorus, scheduled for Friday, Oct. 1, has been put ahead a week to Oct. 8.

For the second recital Nov. 23, Reginald Kell, leading European clarinet virtuoso, will appear with the Busch string quartet. It was previously announced that either Rudolf Serkin or Boris Goldovsky would play a piano quintet with the string group, but their appearance at Bradford on this date is now impossible, the agency said.

Miss Constance Leighton, director of public relations at Bradford Junior College, said that it was "with deep regret" that the college announced these changes and that persons holding tickets to these recitals were entitled to a refund "if because of the program revisions they no longer wish their tickets for either recital."

The Townsman: serenity of last Sunday was shattered by the screeching brakes and one automobile against. To the residents of the vicinity it meant accident at the intersection of Summer streets.

Occurrences seem to be frequent at this spot. For no one was injured—this intersection is "protected" by a "low" sign on the north side. This means nothing to motorists, leaving this corner more than 90 percent unprotected.

Wait until there is a before realizing the need for signs there?

WEDDINGS...

GONYE—NAPIER

Wearing a slipper satin gown with inserted illusion yoke, fitted bodice and off the shoulder neckline, a braided net halo entwined with pearls from which her illusion veil flowed gracefully, and carrying a cascade of rubrum lilies, Miss Ruth Lunan Napier, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd W. L. Napier of 150 Elm street, became the bride Sunday, September 19, of Richard Thomas Gonye of Dover, N. H., son of Harry Gonye of Boston. The impressive candle-light service was performed at 6 o'clock by the Rev. Levering Reynolds, Jr., in the Free Christian church. Donald Amy, organist, presented his interpretation of the beloved "Lord's Prayer" and "Because." Escorted to the altar, which was decorated with white gladioli, by her father, the bride had her sister, Miss Judith C. Napier of Andover as her maid of honor, and Mrs. C. Morton Lord of Waterville, Me., and Miss Gloria Brothers of North Andover were her bridesmaids. The honor attendant in blue and the bridesmaids in pink satin off the shoulder gowns with starched crinoline underskirts which created the effect of hoops, carried contrasting bouquets and wore head-dresses of net entwined with pearls to match the bride's.

Best man was Norman Rogers, of Dover, N. H., close friend of the groom, and the ushers were Norman Brown and Eugene Wyatt, also of Dover.

Guests and relatives from Lawrence, North Andover, Methuen, Boston, Dover, Derry and Somersworth, N. H., were present at the reception at the parish house where Mrs. Napier, in a navy blue lace-trimmed crepe gown and flowered hat and the groom's sister-in-law, in a black crepe gown and black picture hat, assisted the bride and groom in the receiving line.

After a short motor trip, they will live at York Woods road, South Berwick, Me.

A graduate of Lowell State Teachers' College, the bride has been Supervisor of Music in the Somersworth, N. H. schools. Her husband graduated from Pinkerton Academy in Derry, N. ## JUNIOR HIGH

NEWS REPORTER

The Junior High school reporters for the year 1948 and 1949 are Janet Thompson and Frances Dunlavy of the ninth grade.

School Assembly

Last Friday we held our first school assembly. Mr. Nelson welcomed us all back to school and spoke particularly to the seventh grade. Miss Bisbee, who is in charge of Student Government, spoke to us about its organization and all its functions. To cover expenses for special assemblies, lunches, athletic equipment, and such things, we all pay $1.00 for membership. The first room to have 100% membership receives the membership banner for the year. Following Miss Bisbee's talk, Mr. Dimlich spoke about the athletic program in the school.

We had as our guest speaker at this assembly, Chief Thundercloud of the Cherokee-Choctaw Indian Tribes. Dressed in full Indian regalia from feathers to tom-tom he told us about the life of the Indian, and said there are about 400,000 "full-blooded Indians in the United States today. Although 60 years old, Chief Thundercloud performed several tribal dances as easily as a much younger man might have done them.

Homemaking Classes

Preserving time is here again! Cans of carrots, beets and tomatoes are being canned by the ninth grade and high school homemaking classes.

In the eighth grade sewing classes, the girls are first learning how to operate the sewing machines before cutting their skirt materials. Soon these girls will be seen in the corridors and classrooms wearing their pretty skirts of rich browns, greens, blues and plaids. The seventh grade is getting preliminary lessons in cooking. This week, they are making cocoa syrup.

Music Appreciation

The first music appreciation class was held in the auditorium on Monday under the direction of Mrs. McArdle. The three periods of music, classical, romantic and modern, will be studied this year. All members of the Junior High school are required to take this course.

Football Tryouts

Monday afternoon 65 boys reported to Mr. Dimlich for football tryouts. Each boy must bring a letter from home bearing his parent's consent to play football. A varsity team, which will play neighboring teams, will soon be picked as well as the other squads.

Notes

The first fire drills of the year were held last week. Proper filing and good timing were practiced, and all people in the building were out in one minute and a few seconds. Other fire drills will be held each week until the weather becomes too severe.

The school wishes to welcome to its student body two new members, they are Gerald Faigle, Jr., of Westfield, N. J. a seventh grader, and Dwight McCormack of Belmont, a ninth grader.

This year, the ninth graders will be required to take both midyear and final exams.

The seventh grade is beginning to study Andover, its history and geography.

Summer Drought May Damage Trees

AMHERST—Now's the time to protect trees from the ravages of late summer drought.

That's the advice of Dr. Malcolm A. McKenzie, director of the Shade Tree Disease Laboratory at the University of Massachusetts, who warns that many trees suffer from "sun scorch" during the hot, dry days of late summer.

This "sun scorch," he explains, is prevalent on foliage of broad leaf trees such as maples and appears as irregular brownish spots or severe bronze patches, usually extending inward from the margins of the leaves. He adds that hot weather combined with a long dry spell will find the disease on beech, ash, and other trees as well as maples.

"Trees affected by sun scorch may need special watering and fertilizer," Dr. McKenzie advises, "which should be applied in direct proportion to the severity of the dry spell and the size and location of the tree."

Dr. McKenzie points out that it is not necessary to have a severe drought before tree foliage is damaged from lack of water. He claims that judicious watering and feeding of highly valued trees may prevent premature loss of foliage.

"A mixed fertilizer applied in holes drilled in the soil may be applied when a tree needs food," he suggests. "Again size and the location of the tree determine the amount of fertilizer to use."

It's a good plan, says Dr. McKenzie, to apply an adequate supply of water to the roots of trees before the ground freezes in winter. On the other hand, he claims that bright sunshine or drying winds after a period of wet weather are generally associated with the trouble.

Purity Cleansers, Inc., Keep Uniforms Of State Troopers Spic And Span

How well acquainted are you with Purity Cleansers Inc. at 13 Essex Street?
Do you know that they can mothproof all your fine woollens? That would have been a boon for this hot summer when the moths ate their way through so many valuable clothes.

Fall is jacket time and rainy weather is on the way. If you'll take your jackets and formerly water repellent outer things to Purity, they can be treated and made to repel showers just as they did when new.
Of course you have noticed how spic and span and well pressed are the uniforms of the State Troopers, but perhaps you didn't know that Purity Cleansers keeps them that way with regular cleaning and pressing.
The drivers for Glennie's milk are also noted for their smart, neat appearance, and Purity can take a bow here as well.

Purity offers you a wonderful three hour service—if the garments are brought to the plant—and this is most important when you have an unexpected engagement and no gown or suit ready to wear.
Purity has a fine fleet of trucks, and a route to Reading and a Reading phone number for customers in that locality.
Purity has an excellent reputation—"The House of Quality"—and grows with the years. Call Andover 1951 for cleaning, pressing, mothproofing or water repellent treatment for your clothes.

Home Freezers At Baker Ref. Co.

Have you considered the joys of a home freezer? Most particularly an International Harvester Freezer, carried by the Baker Refrigeration Co. at 8 Essex Street, Andover.
It is a gorgeous piece of home equipment, and cannot rust or corrode. It is quiet and economical, and you will enjoy it for years and years. The International Harvester is insulated with fiber glass and hermetically sealed to eliminate moisture, and for real economy.
The International Harvester Freezer has a Floating lid that can be raised with one finger, and you'll appreciate the extra shelf space. This freezer is remarkably easy to clean too, with rounded corners, and the inside is all of DeLux baked enamel.
The Cold control is automatic and the refrigeration unit is hermetically sealed so you'll never have to oil it. This freezer has 11 cubic foot capacity, and that means that you can store about 385 pounds of food in here.
When you see how easy and economical this method is, you'll d o away with home canning and all its headaches forever.
Unexpected dinner guests can and have made nervous wrecks of us, but this can't happen with a home freezer. You can keep whole meals—roasts, vegetables and desserts frozen and ready to use in the International Harvester Freezer. Drop in at the Baker Refrigeration this week and see for yourself. Tel. ### PARLOR GAMES

Is it a man? Is he living? Is he in politics? And so forth, up to twenty.
The old parlor game of Twenty Questions has now become one of the more popular radio quiz programs. It inspires us to nostalgia and a twenty-first question: Why not revive parlor games in this third year of the Atomic Era?
First, of course, one would have to revive parlors, which have survived only as genteel anachronisms, effete settings for pink teas and pink politics. What we want is the old-fashioned parlor in which, with pink-cheeked, bright-eyed, shrill-voiced enthusiasm and without benefit of radio announcer or cash prize, families and friends brought their intellectual acumen and sporting instincts to bear on Twenty Questions or Tea Kettle or Adverbs or Guggenheim.
In those days of happy innocence we didn't even know there was a $64 question. We were certainly not "gone," definitely not "groovy." But we had fun. Our families held together. We guessed most of the answers.

PEACE INSURANCE
Thomas A. Edison had a friend, Ernst E. Caulkins, a well-known man, who, like the inventor, refused to let deafness become an affliction.
As one deaf man to another, Caulkins once asked Edison: "Why is it that you, of all men, have not tried some electrical device for making hearing easier?"
"Too busy," the inventor replied. "A lot of time is wasted in listening."
And then, with a grin, he added: "If I had one of those things, my wife would want to talk to me all the time."

New Fall Skirts, Twin Sweater Sets

If you are interested in new clothes for Fall, do go in and see what the Irma Beene Shop has to offer!
We saw some lovely 100% wool Jersey blouses with bracelet or three-quarter sleeves which would dress up any skirt, and some stunning Twin Sweater Sets that are very different. They were all two-tone, and the slip-on has long sleeves of a different color, which shows to advantage with the jerkin-type outer sweater worn over it.
Miss Beene has some handsome gabardine skirts with a full swing, and some straight skirts in all wool for those who prefer the pencil slim look.
On another rack we found some Frost Point Skirts in black and white pin checks that were very reasonable.
If you know a very nice baby—and who doesn't?—you ought to consider the beautiful fringed shawls for Baby in 100% soft wool . . . they are shown in luscious pastels, pink and white and pale blue and white.
There are dainty little sweaters for the baby here, and a full line of girl's and boy's sweaters to choose from.

Public Installation Of Legion Officers

American Legion; American Legion Auxiliary, Disabled American Veterans, Amvets, Lawrence post of the Legion; State Department Commander Philip G. Cashman, and County Commander Harold E. Glynn.

Refreshments were served by members of the American Legion auxiliary with Mrs. Margaret Cille, president, in charge. The chairman of the refreshment committee was Mrs. Eva Mulse.

Mr. Kemper prefaced his remarks by saying: "I wish that I could find words to express how much pleasure Mrs. Kemper and I feel at being in Andover. Both her mother and my own were students at Abbot Academy. I first met Mrs. Kemper here and about 13 years ago I prevailed upon her to marry me in one of the numerous romantic spots which one can find by looking around a bit on Andover hill. We had always planned to come to Andover to live when I retired from the army. I am not sure that we are not still somewhat startled to find ourselves here so much sooner."

Calling for need of greater teamwork between the civilian and the military, Mr. Kemper, referred to a book, "The Price of Peace," by Hansen W. Baldwin, military commentator of the New York Times, saying that it was such an example, being the product of distinguished civilians and military men in an attempt to arrive at a common understanding of the serious military problem which confronts this nation.

"There should be infinitely more of such collaboration," Mr. Kemper said, and referred to the forthcoming draft as having possibilities for either far greater mutual comprehension amongst soldiers and civilians as a result of a common experience, or possibilities for great mutual hostility.

"Why a mutual understanding? Why must we strive for this civilian military team? The answer, of course, is obvious. We Americans are searching desperately for a sound military policy. We must have one. The alternative is too grim to consider. The development of such a policy will take the best thinking of every American—whether in or out of uniform—working together."

Andover Students At Mount Hermon

PUNCHARD HIGH

Assemblies

An assembly was conducted last week to acquaint the sophomores with the way that Punchard is operated. What the Student Government does are used for, discussions on re-establishment of the Student Council, and election of class officers were explained. The assembly was adjourned, and plans for a Student Council were discussed with a group willing to put in the time to revise the old council. The organization would meet two or three hours a week to consider problems of the school. Mr. Lovely hopes this interest will be carried on throughout the year.

A colored film was presented to the High school gym classes last week about the great forest fire on Cape Cod in 1946 as a warning in reference to the recent dry spell we have been experiencing. There was added interest in the movie, for everyone was trying to find an Andover fireman. Chief Buchan and his crew had helped to extinguish the blaze.

Cheerleaders

Cheering their classmates on in an evenly matched game Saturday, the cheerleaders did a great job although more support was needed from the bleacher section.

The two cheerleaders who were chosen to fill the unoccupied positions are Sue Markey and Shirley Northam.

With hopes for much more support at the home game this Saturday, the cheerleaders will continue to encourage the team to a welcome victory.

Veteran's Housing For Low-Income Group

Section 200 is a rental proposition only; Section 372 provides rental under lease with an option to buy by the veteran occupant. Under section 200 the property will not be sold until the rental emergency is over. This may last for 25 years, and no rental paid by the occupant will go toward the purchase price.

The local Housing Authority contemplates the units to be erected under section 200 will rent for $40 or $45 per month. That includes shelter, fuel and light.

Under section 372 the cost of shelter would be around $45, which, with the cost of fuel and light added, would be about $55 per month cost to the veteran. These houses may be purchased by the veteran occupant after five years.

Another difference is that under section 372 the bonds are backed by city or town credit, under section 200 the bonds are backed entirely by state credit. If Andover board was operating under section 372 the town would have to back the bonds.

Many of the veterans who have filed applications locally do not fully understand the limits imposed upon the board by the new law, and only a few have fully realized that this is a low-rental project only, intended primarily for the veterans who find themselves in the $2500 or less per year income bracket.

This is part of the routine oiling started last spring but interrupted on account of other work done under vote of town meeting. About 15 more streets are to be resurfaced. Each year the board plans to do about 20 or 30 miles of resurfacing to keep the roadways in good condition.
