VIEWS OF THE NEWS

By LEONARD F. JAMES

Last Friday the Union of South Africa dropped into the United Nations Assembly what might be regarded as a hand grenade. For the first time since the formation of the organization, a member state delivered an implied threat of reconsidering its membership. Naturally the blame for such a possibility was attributed to other members, and in vague terms about whether "national interests are compatible with continued membership." Such a phrase is a good catch-all, and will probably be used by others when they strongly dislike proposed action by the Assembly. Such a device is a convenient method of saving face, it places a politician on record for home consumption, and it provides a good bargaining point for future negotiations.

Want 'No Fix' Tags Returned Locally

A movement to provide some local office for turning in "no fix" tags for parking violations instead of having to bring them to Lawrence, appears to be growing here in town since the installation of the new parking meters. Many residents who have received tags have voiced their displeasure at the police station over the necessity of taking their part of the numbered "no fix" tags to the office of the District court. Other citizens, concerned about this inconvenience, have asked why some arrangement could not be made to have them turned in locally.

Discussing this question, Police Chief George A. Dane said that the local department cannot change the procedure as the law specifically states that the tags must be returned to the clerk of the District court of the district, and Lawrence is the District court for Andover.

Two-Hour Parking For Chestnut St.

Parking meters on Chestnut street will be changed to give two hours parking at the rate of five cents an hour.

This action follows a vote taken at last week's meeting of the selectmen after a study of the parking situation. Very few cars use Chestnut street at the present time and it is felt that some space near the business area is required for persons who may need to park over the established one-hour limit.

The change will be made just as soon as the meters can be changed and new instruction plate secured to notify parkers of the new time.

The meters in front of the two banks and the post office, which at first were limited to a 12-minute period, have been changed to give one hour parking.

New Clerk Named For Police Dep't.

Francis X. Beirne, of 14 Bartlet Street, to Take Up Duties Monday

Francis X. Beirne of 14 Bartlet street has been named as clerk for the Andover Police department and will assume his new duties Monday. Mr. Beirne is well qualified for the position he is to fill, Police Chief George A. Dane states, and his presence at police headquarters from 9 to 5 daily will mean that the station will not have to be left unmanned as it has been many times in the past.

The new appointee is well known in Andover. He formerly served as clerk for the W.P.A. board and is at present employed with the James W. Daly, Inc., candy business in Lawrence.

For many years practically all of the office and clerical work of the police department has been performed by Chief Dane. Such work has been piling up steadily until the installation of the new parking meters brought an additional burden which required the presence of someone in the police station at all times.

Punchard Triumphs Over Chelmsford

By JACK MCCARTHY

Tallying three touchdowns to over-power Chelmsford last Saturday, by a score of 20 to 0, the Blue and Gold presented its Coach, Walter Roberts, his first victory since becoming coach here.

Punchard displayed the great power and defense as was shown against Concord a week ago. A number of severe penalties were charged against the home team however, lessening their chances of rolling up many more points.

Punchard made his first touchdown late in the first quarter, when Charles Dwyer intercepted an opponent's pass on his own 35-yard line and raced back to Chelmsford's 45 before being hauled down. Co-Captain, Herb Deveaux, then on a reverse from Dwyer scooted around his left end to the Chelmsford three, before being grounded. Raymond Collins ploughed through to a touchdown. Sid Watson's placement kick made the score 7 to 0.

Very little action was seen until Deveaux carried a Chelmsford punt 26 yards to his own 41, and on the (Continued on Page Five)

Selectmen Proclaim Week For Handicapped

Officially designating the week of October 3 to 9 as "Employ the Physically Handicapped Week," the Board of Selectmen calls upon all local officials, employers, organizations, and all citizens to assist in every way possible to the end that all attention of the community will be focused on the fact that disabled veterans and handicapped civilians fully capable of productive work in many different occupations.

The Board of Selectmen further urges all employees to place their job openings with the State Employment offices, Canal street, Lawrence, so that all handicapped workers may be given an opportunity to prove that when placed in the right jobs they are not handicapped, but instead are safe workers and make good production records because they stay on the job.

ANIMALS KILLED AT R. R. TRESTLE IN BALLARDVALE

Three calves and a cow were killed outright, another calf had to be destroyed, and a cow so badly injured that it died from injuries received Saturday morning when struck by a locomotive at the dry bridge trestle on Tewksbury street, Ballardvale, near Lowell Junction.

The animals, owned by George Kaulen of Shawheen street, Tewksbury, got out of the pasture near the Andover-Tewksbury line and wandered down the tracks sometime about 11:20 o'clock, according to a report made to police.

As they walked along, an extra passenger train running from Worcester to Portland bore down on them and they started to run toward the trestle. Two got caught in the trestle and were badly mangled. The tracks were tied up for some time until section crews removed the dead bodies. Police Sergeant Hickey and Officer Roy Russel investigated.

Housing Chairman To Address Legion

Atty. Frederic S. O'Brien, chairman of the Andover Housing Authority, will be the speaker at the meeting of Andover post, 8, American Legion, to be held next Thursday evening, October 7, at the post rooms in the Barnard building.

Atty. O'Brien has been invited by Commander Kenneth L. Sherman to address the members on the work being done by the local authority and explain the provisions of the law under which the local board is operating.

All veterans of Andover are invited to attend the meeting and to take part in the question period which will follow the remarks of the speaker. There are about 2000 veterans in Andover. Any who would like to know what the board has done and what it is attempting to do for the future, can take this opportunity to get first-hand information from the chairman of the board.

'Hex' Signs Adorn Ballardvale Barn

Large "hex" signs of blue, yellow, black and white now appear on the Craft-Wood Products barn on Osgood street, Ballardvale, which are striking enough in daylight, but which at night look like large cats' eyes.

Miss Margery Kern of Hacketts' Pond road, secretary and jack-of-all-trades for the Craft-Wood Products, climbed a 60-foot ladder and swung her brush like a professional to place these unique markers on the barn.

"Hex" signs are found on Pennsylvania Dutch barns painted on the sides of barns for various "hex" purposes, such as to keep lightning from striking, or cows from falling sick.

The modern Dutch farmers keep the signs on their barns as an expression of their great love for bright color and design.

Plan Evening Study Groups At Library

Questionnaires are being sent to those who have attended an evening group at the Memorial Hall Library. For years there have been February and March sessions of study groups, some under the sponsorship of the Division of University Extension of the state, others arranged by the library.

Several subjects seem to repeat themselves in the answers to questionnaires sent out each year, among them "Conversational Spanish" and "Personality Development." Last year a very successful course was held in "Pencil Sketching For Beginners." It is planned to give this one again this year, probably in February and March. It is designed for beginners, although the instructor is willing that those who attended last year enter the class, provided that they have done some kind of sketching work this season and have sketches or a single sketch to bring into class for further study.

It is possible that course in personality and personal appearance will be offered this year. The teach-

EVENING STUDY CLASSES OPEN AT P.A. OCT. 18

The 12th annual session of the Andover Evening Study groups for adults will open at Phillips Academy, Monday, October 18, and continue through December 9.

In the 11 years of its existence the adult education program has given 168 courses and with an average enrollment of 500, it has given courses to 3214 different individuals in Andover and surrounding communities.

The adult school is open to all men and women. Conducted informally, in attractive surroundings, the courses offer considerable variety of subject matter. The teachers of this program 90 percent of them members of the faculty of Phillips Academy, give their services without remuneration. Proceeds are donated to educational and charitable organizations of Andover and surrounding communities.

The charge includes a registration fee plus $1 for each course taken. On or before October 1 the registration fee is $1. After October the registration fee is $2.

Enrollment may be made now. Blanks may be obtained upon request from Phillips Academy—telephone Andover 720—or at the libraries in Andover, Lawrence, North Andover, Methuen and Haverhill.

Appreciates Aid Given In Draft Registration

Town Clerk George H. Winslow, chief registrar for Andover during the recent registration under the selective service system, has received from Atty. Raphael A. A. Comparone, chairman of Local Board No. 8, a letter thanking him for the services rendered during the registration period.

"The assistance which you so generously gave," wrote Atty. Comparone, "contributed immeasurably to the fulfillment of the task so successfully concluded."

Mr. Winslow very graciously gave all credit for the success of the local registration to the volunteer workers who gave their time and assistance to the completion of the task here.

River Valley Project Up To Voters

Cities and Towns Along Merrimack To Decide on Question of Sewage

Voters of Andover, and those in other Massachusetts communities bordering the Merrimack river, will have a $30-million question to consider when they go to the polls next November.

The question will appear on the ballot like this: "Shall an act passed by the General Court in the year 1947, entitled 'An Act establishing the Merrimack River Valley Sewerage District for the purpose of constructing, maintaining and operating sewerage works in the Merrimack River Valley' be accepted?"

The question is the result of a study made by the Joint Board established to investigate and prepare plans for the disposal of sewage in the river.

In its report the Joint Board says that in its investigations it came to the conclusion, after several months' study on the matter of the construction of a trunk sewer from Lowell to the sea, that a more eco-

PUNCHARD HIGH

By PATRICIA PETERKIN

PUNCHARD GRADUATES

During the past few weeks 32 Punchard graduates, class of 1949, have been signing up and making plans to enter the various schools and colleges of their choice. Your schoolmates of past years wish you the best of luck.

Assembly Programs

A widespread variety of assembly programs has been planned for the year ahead. The first will be held October 14th. The guest stars will be Andrew de Costa and Lenore Ferrari, who will present their "matchless musical moments." Mr.

de Costa is very versatile and plays all the instruments in the band.

November 4th, Elwin Shaw, a mental genius, will come with memory feats and mental telepathy.

December 2nd will find Ben Ferrer with us to tell about the white water exploration, a trip made in a canoe from Hudson Bay to Alaska.

January 13th, David E. Starry will come to talk about voodooism in the West Indies. He will speak on the native customs and beliefs of that country.

March 17th, the Royal Jubilee Singers will come to perform for us with songs of the Old South, Negro spirituals, and folk songs.

Both Punchard and the Junior High school will attend these assemblies.

Class Meetings

The seniors and the sophomores have held class meetings already this year, and have completed part of the class elections. These officers will serve throughout the year.

In the senior class those so far elected are: President, Robert Deyermund; vice-president, Herbert Deveaux; secretary, Betty Jane O'Connor.

The sophomore class has elected their president only, Clifford Lawrence.

Concert

A concert will be held Sunday, October 3, in the Memorial auditorium by the young composer-pianist, Cecille Leville. Punchard girls will serve as ushers.

Rally

A rally was held last Friday afternoon on the playstead in preparation for Saturday's football game with Chelmsford. The cheerleaders led the students in a number of cheers. Co-captains Herbert Deveaux and Phil Gaudet were called on for speeches and each said a few words.

The game this Saturday will be played with Danvers on the Andover Playstead, at 2:30. Student tickets will be on sale in the home rooms for 25c. No student tickets will be on sale at the game. The price for adults will be 65c.

FISH STORY

Hal Wennik of Summer street and John MacLeish of Washington returned one evening last week from a fishing trip off Plum Island with two large striped bass. A 21-pounder was Mr. Wennik's capture and a 22-pounder was the prize exhibited by Mr. MacLeish. Their two companions on the trip, Charles Hajj and Carl Wetterberg, of Summer street "just went along for the ride."

Ground-Breaking for U.N. Headquarters

Excavation work in preparation for the construction of the permanent headquarters of the United Nations in New York City is now underway after a brief ground-breaking ceremony. Here a group of officials, including New York's Mayor William O'Dwyer and U.N. Assistant Secretary-General Benjamin Cohen, take part in the ceremony.

Legion Auxiliary Officers Installed

A large gathering was present to witness the ceremonies connected with the installation of officers of the American Legion Auxiliary to Post No. 8 Thursday night at the post rooms in the Barnard building.

Mrs. Eunice Lowe, director of the Essex County Auxiliary, conducted the exercises, and addressed the gathering. Commander Kenneth L. Sherman of Post No. 8, and Arthur L. Coleman of the county council spoke briefly. Miss Genevieve Murray, soloist, assisted in the entertainment program. She was accompanied by her aunt, Miss Katherine A. McNally.

Mrs. Margaret Cilley, president of the auxiliary, received a gift and a bouquet of flowers from the auxiliary. Mrs. Cilley presented all her officers with a gift. Secretary Mrs. Arthur Jowett, treasurer, Mrs. John Keith, sergeant-at-arms, Mrs. Margaret Wood and installing officer Mrs. Eunice Lowe also received gifts.

Officers installed included: Mrs. Margaret Cilley, president; Mrs. Gertrude Wilson, senior vice-president; Mrs. George Napier, junior vice-president; Mrs. John Keith, treasurer; Mrs. Arthur Jowett, secretary; Mrs. Ethel Buchan, historian; Mrs. Mary Murray, chaplain; Mrs. Margaret Wood, sergeant-at-arms; executive committee, Mrs. Paul Cheney, Mrs. Agnes Waidie, Mrs. Eva Muise and Mrs. Irene Judge.

Officers of local patriotic and fraternal organizations, and town officials were among the invited guests.

CRYSTAL BALLROOM

Crystal ballroom, at Shawsheen Village, Andover, is off to another splendid dancing season and, in addition to returning to a policy of travelling bands each week, will very shortly bring something brand new to Greater Lawrence. For popular square dancing is coming to Crystal next Tuesday evening, Oct. 5.

That evening, Al Gauthier of Worcester, King of the Squares, will lead his famous five-piece modern and old-fashioned orchestra for the first time in the Greater Lawrence area. It is planned to make this a weekly feature every Tuesday night.

Other Crystal attractions, this week, are Roland Russell Friday night and Gene King on Saturday. King's band is without question one of the finest dance orchestras in all New England. Next week, following Al Gauthier's debut Tuesday night, Roland Russell will be featured Friday, Oct. 8, and Ted Herbert and his band on Saturday, Oct. 9. Herbert's orchestra has been the all-season attraction at Hampton Beach the past three years.

Outing Club Plans Many Activities

The Phillips Academy Outing Club this year expects to offer a great variety of outdoor activities to the student body in sight of greater membership and interest.

Headed by Buzz Tilton as president, and Epler, Hardy, Esmiol, and Baldwin as directors and with Mr. Sanborn as faculty adviser assisted by Mr. Minard and Dr. Hasenclever, the club will sponsor mountain climbing, skiing, deep sea and trout fishing, camping, sailing, big feeds, and, probably, cycling.

Although nothing is definite, at least one mountain trip will be made before the rating, probably at North Conway; and there will also be one or two after the rating, all depending upon the number of boys interested. If a good snow comes around December 1, a ski trip may be organized.

In the winter, there will probably be a ski trip to Laconia, Gullford area, and to Sunapee, New Hampshire. On the Prom weekend, there will be a long trip to a large ski area (last year, Acute, Vermont). Unless a large enough group (ten or more) thinks of any other activity, skiing will be the only one this winter.

In the spring term there will be mountain climbing, sailing, fishing, and cycling depending on the demand.

FISH BIRDS KEEP THE BUDGET WELL IN HAND

Tasty and tempting—delicate, white-meat haddock filets wrapped around a savory dressing, and skewered with savory dressing! ## Memorial Gift Made To Abbot Abbot Academy's first formal faculty meeting of the year was held Monday evening at which time Miss Hearsey announced a gift to the school of a beautiful memorial to Frances Caroline Flint who died on November 25, 1947. Miss Flint was the daughter of the late William W. and Mrs. Flint, formerly of Concord, N. H., where Mr. Flint was one of the masters at St. Paul's school. She was graduated from Abbot in the Class of 1942, and entered Vassar College that year. After graduation in 1945 she was employed for several years at Radcliffe College in the Appointment Bureau, and in 1947 she began work in the Radcliffe Graduate school. Her death occurred a few months later. The memorial at Abbot Academy has been established by Mrs. William W. Flint, her mother.

The gift is to commemorate a love of music which was an outstanding interest in the life of Frances Flint, Miss Hearsey said, and is designed to give additional opportunity for Abbot girls to foster and develop a similar love and appreciation for music. Included in the gift is a fine record player machine, funds for decorating the room where the machine is to stand and which is to be called the Listening Room, and finally additional funds which are to form an endowment, the interest from which is to be used to build up a library of records.

Work is already progressing rapidly toward making the Listening Room ready for use. The entire school is looking forward with eagerness to the pleasure to be derived from this appropriate and stimulating gift.

Several changes have taken place in the fall calendar. Saturday evening, October 2, Marjorie Shepherd, monologist, will give a program in Davis Hall at 7:30 p. m. The public is cordially invited to come. There is no charge for admission. The Christmas holiday dates have been shifted, the recess beginning Thursday, December 16 at 8 a. m., and ending Thursday, January 6, at 6 p. m.

Dr. J. Allen Park will be the speaker at the regular Sunday Vesper service.

POTTER—CARICOF
Delicate orange blossoms caught the blush pink illusion veil to the cap of heirloom lace once worn by the great, great aunt of Miss Carolyn Gall Caricof, who wore a period gown of blush pink satin with long sleeves and skirt on train when she became the bride of Nathaniel R. Potter, Jr., in Cochran Chapel, Saturday, September 11. The Rev. A. Graham Baldwin of Phillips Academy officiated at the 4:30 ceremony and B. Emmet Finucane of Rochester, N. Y., gave the bride in marriage.

Miss Barbara Edwards of Schenectady, N. Y., maid of honor, wore a gown of rose beige and lavender changeable silk taffeta. The bridesmaids, Miss Constance Terhune of New Canaan, Conn., and Miss Ursula Keller of Wilmington, Del., wore identical gowns of moss green changeable silk taffeta with bands of ivy in their hair. All three attendants carried bouquets of pink sweetheart roses.

The bridegroom, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. N. R. Potter of 156 Canterbury road, Rochester, N. Y., had John H. Moore, also of Rochester, as best man and ushers were Ted G. Walker, III, of Westport, Conn., and Kirk Munroe of Longmeadow.

Following the reception at the Andover Inn, attended by guests from Buenos Aires, Philadelphia, Buffalo, New York City, Westport and New Canaan, Conn., Rochester, N. Y., Bennington, Vt., and Amherst, Mass., the bridal couple left for New York where they embarked on their wedding trip to Europe.

Mrs. Potter, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick E. Caricof of 4825 Kahala avenue, Honolulu, T. H., attended Hanahaule, Punahoe and Bennington College, Vt., and her husband, who was a pilot in the Army Air Forces during the war, is a graduate of Amherst College and a member of Psi Upsilon fraternity.

Miss Hayes will join the show immediately on completing her London engagement.

PIKE SCHOOL NOTES

Pike School opened its new season with an enrollment of 169 children from Andover, Lawrence, Methuen, Georgetown, Topsfield, Boxford and North Andover.

Additions to the teaching force this year include Miss Nancy Ashburn, who is assisting in the first grade, and Mrs. Karl Haartz, who is taking some of the work of the higher grades.

There are a number of new pupils in the grades this year, as well as in the nursery school, kindergarten and first grade. Lucy Kemper and Betty Jane McEvoy have joined the second grade; Abthea Thompson the fourth; David Tomlinson, the fifth; Gayton Osgood, the seventh; William Bride and Patricia Eveleth the eighth.

A new stairway, a gift of a very loyal parent, has made possible the use of another much needed room.

A check for $225, the net amount made on the play given by the pupils last year, is to be sent to the Happy Health camp to aid those who might otherwise be unable to attend camp next summer from the Greater Lawrence area.

Horseback riding under the supervision of Mrs. Richard Simmers is being enjoyed by many of the older children, and tennis lessons for that group are to be started shortly.

New Clerk Named For Police Department

During the times that the chief and other police officers were in court at Lawrence, or at any session of superior criminal court, the station would frequently be unattended. The same condition existed at times when the chief and some of the officers were called out on local investigations.

A person having business at the station at times when it was unattended, would have to press a button summoning an officer from traffic duty in the square. This was unsatisfactory, from a safety point of view, as Chief Dane pointed out that when an officer is away from his post in the square someone is apt to be killed.

Besides the daily clerical work to be done, monthly records of all police activities had to be prepared for the state Public Safety department, the F.B.I., and the National Safety Council. At the end of the year an annual report had to be made up for these departments.

Some years ago the Taxpayers' Association recommended a clerk for police headquarters so that the chief could give his time to the supervision of the department.

School Broadcasts On WCCM Fridays

The Andover School department will resume its weekly broadcasts over Station WCCM beginning tomorrow morning at 10:30 and continuing every Friday morning at the same hour.

On this first broadcast Supt. Kenneth L. Sherman will introduce the new personnel of the school department. Interesting programs are being arranged to show various phases of school activities and the work being accomplished by the pupils.

Registration Oct. 1 Last Before Election

In 1946, the United States Bureau of the Census estimated that there were more than 91,000,000 Americans eligible to vote. Yet, in the elections of that year, only 35,000,000 persons bothered to do so. To put it another way, just about one American in three was interested enough in the welfare of his community, state and nation to vote.

In totalitarian states, every person votes—or else! In Great Britain, about two persons in three vote. In Italy, during the recent election, practically every eligible citizen voted!

What is the matter with America; this nation where we fought the Revolution so we could vote and we have just fought and won two great World Wars so that democracy could survive. Is not our apathy a national crime?

You cannot vote in the November election unless you are registered. Last chance to register before November 2 will be next Saturday, October 1, at the Town House from noon to 10 p. m.

EDITORIAL THOUGHTS

LET'S ALL ENLIST

There is one kind of war which everybody, man, woman and child, should be willing to fight, and fight to a finish. It is the war against fire. Every reasonable property owner carries fire insurance, thus protecting himself from a loss that he hopes he will never suffer. He insures the property just in case.

But however low the cost of fire insurance may be, it is a definite annual cost just the same. The cost could be reduced substantially if fire losses were decreased sufficiently. Insurance companies would be just as glad to accept lower premiums from you, as you would be to pay less, if they knew that they would be called upon to pay out less to owners of burned property.

Next week, beginning Sunday, is Fire Prevention Week. It always comes during the week in which October 9 falls, that being the anniversary of the famous Chicago fire. If there is anyone who does not realize how serious the fire menace is, now is a good time to do a little thinking.

It is everybody's job to prevent fires. It is YOUR job as much as it is that of the fire department. In fact, if everybody were more careful, there would be less work for the firemen to do.

MERRIMACK COLLEGE

Work was begun this week on the first unit of a planned quadrangle of six buildings at Merrimack College. It is expected that the structure will be ready for occupancy when the next school year opens in 1949.

It seems almost no time since plans for the college itself were first discussed, and now it is in full swing, and rapid progress is being made to make it a thoroughly modern and up-to-date institution of learning.

How fast the other buildings of the quadrangle will be built we do not know, but it goes without saying that the outlook is very promising. Andover, always famed as a town of good schools, is becoming more and more important as an educational center.

AT THE GOING RATE

"Traffic World" recently ran an exceedingly interesting editorial on the rate increases which have been granted to the railroads, and the probable course of rates in the future. In it, it made these telling observations:

"The inevitability of a succeeding increase in rates to produce the needed revenue is conceded . . . ."

"Obviously, our economists cannot look to transportation as the field in which the brakes can first be applied against runaway inflation. Indeed, there is no real reason why they should do so. Accepting the Commission's calculations . . . . freight rates under the decision will be 42.8 per cent higher than they were a little over two years ago. That percentage is . . . . not high when price increases in other fields are considered. . . ."

"Transportation cannot be lifted out of our general economy for special treatment. It must trend as the rest of our economy trends, so long as it competes in the commodity market for its supplies and equipment, and in the general labor market for its workers."

Rate increases were asked by the lines and granted by the ICC after exhaustive investigation solely because they were necessary to the solvency of the industry. If and when future rate increases come into being the reason for them will be precisely the same. The railroads must buy their materials and their labor at the going rate. In turn, they must make a charge for their service which is based upon that rate.

THE MEAT PROBLEM

A Purdue University news service recently issued a bulletin on the meat situation, quoting marketing specialist M. Paul Mitchell, which objectively summarizes some of the reasons for present prices.

"We are hearing much about the high price of meats these days," Mr. Mitchell said, "but the situation could just as appropriately be described by calling attention to the tremendous demand generated by full employment at high wages." And this, he went on, has been accompanied by a reduction in livestock numbers in the corn belt, resulting from last year's short feed crops. Marketing of beef cattle during 1948 has been about 20 per cent below 1947. As Mr. Mitchell puts it, "For almost three years we have been eating our beef cattle faster than we produce them." So long as we have an enormous demand competing for a limited supply, we will have high meat prices. And that is true of all other commodities as well.

If you must start a fire be sure it is in your stove, or your furnace, or in some other proper place. Fire is a fine servant, but if it is not controlled it becomes a very dangerous enemy.

Falls were the commonest type of accident 35 years ago, with railroad accidents running second. Last year motor vehicles headed the list, falls had taken second place and the railroad type has gone far down on the list, dropping as low as fifth. The human element, it would seem, is partly the cause of the two leading types of mishaps. Are human beings always going to be careless?

politics. What he is up to is to suggest with some force that he doesn't like criticism of racial discrimination in South Africa. He has much in common with many of our own Southern gentlemen who deny that the passage of a law will solve the racial problem. Mr. Louw and some 2,375,000 more whites in the Union of South Africa feel the breath of 9,000,000 non-Europeans who demand racial equality. And the whites in South Africa don't care to visualize their future in an immediate political and economic world where they are outnumbered by three to one. It is all very well for idealists to criticize the situation in the Union, but the whites have to live there and they figure, rightly or wrongly that it's their problem. So they are directing Mr. Louw to say, in diplomatic language, "Hands off the race question." Now, maybe we think that this is our business, but before we become too moral on the issue, let's look at a few facts.

Race Issue Defeated Smuts
Last May, Field Marshal Smuts, to the surprise of many people and his own, lost out in the general election to Dr. Malan of the Nationalist Party. Smuts has been in politics for more than forty years in Africa and was virtually synonymous with the country. But his liberal policy of gradual assimilation of Negroes, half-castes and Indians into the economic life of the Union ran against the fear of the minority whites, a fear exaggerated by United Nations support of racial equality and by the course of events in India. So against Malan's platform, and rather to the surprise of Malan himself, the United Party lost.

Nationalists Want White Republic

The Nationalist Party stands for what the name might suggest, severance of all ties with the British Commonwealth, and the setting up of a republic excluding the non-European vote. The victory of this party means very decidedly the maintenance of the traditional policy of permitting only whites in parliament, in the higher and most of the lower posts in public service, and in effect reserving higher opportunities in business and the professions to whites. Although minor gains have been won by non-Europeans, the color bar remains, and the colored person is regarded as an inferior citizen.

Rumor has it that Dr. Malan is a Nazi, that he advocates Nazi methods. What Dr. Malan advocated before the election and what he may do as the nation's leader may well be two different things. He disavowed so-called Nazi and Fascist support in his campaign, but extremists among his followers include some "generals" of the Ossewabrandwag, a secret society not only based on Nazi ritual but prepared to use direct action—a polite term for force—to establish a white dictatorship. For the moment Malan's very small majority in Parliament affords him the opportunity to restrain them, for he appears to be a constitutionalist and not a potential dictator. But if his followers become more numerous in due course, they may force him to drive faster or be pushed from the driver's seat.

Greater South Africa
It is possible to understand if not accept the arguments of the minority whites. What may be more difficult to follow is the argument about breaking away from the British Commonwealth. For the Union of South Africa is virtually an independent nation within the British Commonwealth of Nations that includes the United Kingdom, Canada, Australia, New Zealand, India, Pakistan, "in no way subordinate one to another in any aspect of their domestic or external affairs, although united by a common allegiance to the Crown." Why then, if the Union is in effect an independent nation does the Nationalist party make such an issue of "breaking away"? Look at a map of Africa, and part of the answer may become apparent. To the north-west of the Union is former German West Africa, now run by the Union but still technically a mandate. Geographically it should be part of the Union. East of this and north of the boundary line is another area which the supporters of Greater South Africa hope one day to incorporate, the protectorate of Bechuanaland under direct British rule and kept as a haven where the natives may live unmolested and under their own institutions. Incidentally, Southern Rhodesia is a self-governing colony which does not choose to be incorporated into the Union.

Inside the boundaries of the Union are the two territories of Basutoland and Swaziland inhabited essentially by natives and still run by British, perhaps in part because of the Union's doubtful record in the treatment of natives. Geographically and economically, and yet the racial issue is a strong one, particularly to the natives. Between Britain and the Union the situation becomes delicate, for Britain has given certain guarantees to the natives. Yet should the Union insist upon action, Britain's refusal to accept the change could seriously endanger relationships.

White Dictatorship?
The Nationalist program becomes a serious threat to the few rights enjoyed by non-Europeans, since it proposes to take from natives, mulattoes and Indians their right to vote for white representatives in Parliament. Land ownership by native blacks is already limited to overcrowded reservations, but extension of land ownership is opposed by the Nationalists. Segregation of non-whites may go to the extreme of forcing some 2,000,000 blacks out of native quarters in cities back to the reservations. Skilled trades are already closed to blacks, and the present government proposes to offer further protection to white labor. Already natives must possess permits to travel, to enter a town or be out after dark. If a native cannot show a head-tax receipt he can be arrested and forced to work off the $4 tax.

MEET

CHARLES O. McCULLOM

A man with a truly worthwhile purpose is Charles O. McCullom whose desire it is to bring to the youth of this town all the finest in recreational and health facilities and in this connection, he has served on the Pomps Pond committee, is at present in his second term at a member of the Board of Health, and has taken an active part in the Inter-Church basketball league banquets, Junior High school Booster days and the organization of the Andover town baseball team which brought Andover fans so much pleasure during the war years.

Born in Ogden, Utah, in 1905, he came here in 1940 as sales representative for the Abbott Laboratories. A graduate of Nashua, N. H. High school, where he was a prominent athlete, St. Mary's college in Lacey, Wash., and the Massachusetts College of Pharmacy, he managed a drug store for a short time prior to accepting a position in 1930 as pharmacist and laboratory assistant, at the same time instructing in the Nurses' Training school at the McLean hospital in Belmont.

Active in the South Church Men's club and a member of the Board of Directors of the Andover Service Men's Fund association, he belongs to the Andover Country club and is a member of the national fraternity, Kappa Psi.

He and his wife, the former Edith Charles, and his four children, Charles, Sally-Ann, William and Thomas, reside at 26 Summer street.

Basutoland and Swaziland inhabited essentially by natives and still run by British, perhaps in part because of the Union's doubtful record in the treatment of natives. Geographically and economically, and yet the racial issue is a strong one, particularly to the natives. The issue is a serious one, and can lead to a very tense situation. The natives are to form a supply of cheap labor upon which business is dependent. Very obviously Mr. Louw speaks not out of fear of the general policy of the United Nations, but in direct protest against any suggestion of outside interference with the domestic racial issue. Those who may criticize the United Nations for failing to solve such problems would do well to remember that good intentions must sometimes be comprised with unpleasant brutal facts, and that the U. N. is no stronger nor more effective than its members permit it to be.

Current Guests
A woman guest, possessor of an electric iron, approached the clerk at a hotel.
"Have you AC or DC current here?" she asked.
"I'll find out," said the clerk. In a moment he was back. "Sorry, madam," he said, "but neither is registered."

REPORT from the State House

By SEN. PHILIP K. ALLEN

The Massachusetts Reformatory at Concord is a maximum security, cell block, type of institution with a capacity of 950, with an additional 100 housed in the Farm dormitory as "trustees." Its present prison population is approximately 900 and the institution is run by the Superintendent, John C. Dolan, and 200 officers and employees.

Originally built in 1878, it was used for six years as the State Prison, but in 1884 its name was changed to the Massachusetts Reformatory, although in no sense can it be called a reformatory.

To this institution are committed males not over 30 who have not previously been sentenced for a felony more than three times. Most of them have been given sentences of five years indefinite, or five years and a day definite. For men who have been given the latter sentence no parole may be obtained.

To Concord also come transfers from the Shirley and Lyman training schools for boys. These boys are the incorrigibles who cannot be handled in those "open" institutions.

Also at the reformatory are auto repair, cloth weaving, furniture and printing shops. In addition there are classes in the evenings, and correspondence courses are provided.

The Massachusetts Reformatory for Women at Sherborn was built in 1877 and was one of the first separate prisons for women in the United States. Under the superintendent, Miss Miriam Van Waters, there are 90 officers and employees. There is at present a prison population of 480, including 60 babies. All women who have been sentenced by the courts to serve a year or more are committed here. The inmates are employed in general farming, knitting, sewing, flag-making, and poultry farming.

The State Farm at Bridgewater, the largest of the five institutions, has a total population of over 2000. The prison department, made up for the most part of inmates sentenced for drunkenness, non-support, larceny, and vagrancy, has at present under its jurisdiction some 800 prisoners. To the defective delinquent department separated into male and female sections go males and females who have been adjudged defective delinquents by the courts and who, therefore, are under the control of correction authorities for life or until discharged by Probate Court. In that department now there are 380 males and 180 females.

The Bridgewater State Hospital, which is a part of the State Farm, houses the criminally insane. This hospital is under the supervision and control of the supervisor of the State Farm, James Warren, but the treatment of the patients is supervised by the Department of Mental Health. There are over 900 such patients.

Next week we will continue with the State Prison at Charles town and the State Prison Colony at Norfolk.

PERSONALITIES PLUS
Two Englishmen bound for New York had sat side by side on deck-chairs without exchanging a word.

On the third day one of them fell asleep, and his book fell with a thud. It broke the ice. The other man picked up the book and the following dialogue took place:

"Thanks very much."
"Going across?"
"Yes."
"So am I."

Elect Co-Captains For P. A. Eleven

Center Mort Collins and wing back "Bo" Polk were chosen co-captains of the Varsity football team in a special election held by Phillips Academy lettermen last week. These two will lead Coach Sorota's team against the Yale Freshmen in the opening game this Saturday. The first team, which will probably start against Yale, has been decided by the past two and a half weeks of practice. A few new faces will appear for the Blue in the backfield this year. Tailback Pete Gardere and fullback Dick Collins are sure to start in their respective spots while Co-Captain Polk will take care of the wing back slot. At quarterback there is an abundance of talent. Nothing is yet definite as to the starter, but Eddie Ryan, a letterman from last year, might get the nod over Gil O'Neill. The two have shown much in practice and the starter will not necessarily do all the playing for much alternating of the two should be seen.

The probable starting line will be built around letter-winning veterans of last year's campaign. At center for the Blue will be the Co-Captain, "Gus" Collins, who can be expected to see a lot of action this year. The guard positions have been taken over by two underclassmen. Upper Pat Esmiol will be the starter on the left side of the center while Lower Tim Anderson has shouldered his way into the starting berth on the right side of the line. The Blue has a fine pair of tackles in Dan Wight and Mac Beatty. Combined with Collins, Esmiol, and Anderson, these two ought to make tough going for any team attempting to run the inside of the line. To protect the flanks, Mr. Leete will issue starting nods to left end Al Toole, who is an Upper, and Augie Johnson.

This is not the complete picture as far as the Varsity goes. The competition over which these boys have won their starting positions has been very keen. In the back field much will be heard from other backs such as Finney, Wallace, Kimball, Linn, Davidson, and Osgood. Also, although not as strong as those whom they are understudying, such linemen as MacTeyre, Gambill, Smith, Kilough, Chase, and Soney will see quite a bit of action. As subs for the first ends there is an abundance of boys qualified. Moran, Tilton, O'Reilly, and Brown will be counted on for much support.

The spirit of the team has been fine throughout practice and due to this and heavy competition, Coaches Sorota, Meaney, and Leete will be rewarded by a successful season.

Betsy Ross, maker of the first American flag, was an upholsterer and carpet maker.

Stage, Boxing Share Art Gallery Spotlight

At the head of the stairs on the second floor of the Addison Art Gallery the first thing one sees is what apparently is little more than a hunk of bronze. A closer examination reveals such elementary features as two eyes, two ears, a nose, and a mouth. This piece of sculpture is the result of the efforts of one Ahron Ben-Shmuel entitled "The Pugilist." It is part of the latest exhibition at the gallery.

This exhibition, called "The Ring and the Glove," consists of a collection of 18th and 19th century prints lent by Paul Magriel. It was formerly on display at the Museum of the City of New York last spring.

Two rooms are devoted to 18th and early 19th century pugilism when bare knuckles were the fashion. The only objects of any great interest as the prints of Daniel Mendoza, the English-Jewish boxer, and Humphrey, his most consistent opponent, only fought four times) and a "scientific account" of one of their fights which, incidentally, went to 72 rounds. Also of interest in that era are the pictures of Ben Caunt, one-time English champ, and the advertisement of his fight with Charles Freeman, the 300 pound American freak, in Liverpool.

Things begin to pick up in the rooms dedicated to late 19th and early 20th century boxing. In the middle of one room sits a rather makeshift ring with a life-size statue of Joe Gans by Mahonri Young. On the walls hang such famous pictures as "The Dempsey-Firpo Fight" by George Bellows. Also the well-known "Stag at Sharkey's." There are innumerable prints of such old-timers as Terry McGovern, Kid McCoy, Bob Fitzsimmons (also a statue of him by Mahonri Young), and, of course, the great John L. Sullivan.

Given some prominence on the wall is a silk print proclaiming Jake Kilrain "Champion Pugilist of America" given him by Richard Fox. Right beside it is the written challenge by John L. who, it appears, seemed rather skeptical of Kilrain's right to this flashy title. The terms included a $10,000 purse. Both items are really worth seeing.

In two showcases are the photographs of more ring greats such as Dempsey (one picture shows him clean shaven and quite presentable, for a change), Carpenter, Stan Ketchel, and many others. There is also a collection of colorful picture cards of fighters in the 1900's. These cards were enclosed in packages of Mecca cigarettes and were apparently collected by avid followers of the sport.

In this latest display the Art Gallery has an exhibit that should appeal to sports minded people as well as to art lovers. The exhibit will be there until Nov. 14, ample time for all interested to see it.

Miracle Hat

For only two dollars any woman can have as many hats as she has scarves, thanks to the "Bobbin" shown above as presented exclusively in the October issue of Cosmopolitan magazine. A patented invention, the "Bobbin" is a rolling frame, double at front, single at back. With the "Bobbin" in her wardrobe, any woman can have as many hats as she has scarves. She doesn't have to be ingenious. She just winds a scarf around the "Bobbin" as shown at lower left. Top shows the "Bobbin" with a sequined scarf, which makes it the perfect hat for dancing. Lower right shows the "Bobbin" adorned with a bold plaid scarf, which makes an ideal out-door hat. Designed by Jamie Ballard, it is expected to make hat history all over America this fall.

SOCCER SQUAD HAS HARD JOB

Led by Captain Ev Rose, sixty-six boys reported to Coach DiClemente for the opening soccer practice. Of this number, only Rose and Bruce Bates have had any previous varsity experience. However, several promising members of last year's undefeated J.V. team will no doubt be of great help to the squad. This group includes Willie Lee, Wally Kohler, Nick Neville, Bill Nichols, Dick Suisman, George Webb, Charlie Platt, Kip Beatty, Pat Chak-kapak, and Steve Joyce.

Most of the opening practice session was consumed by a rather ragged scrimmage in which only one goal was scored. This was made on a play climaxed when Nick Neville headed the ball past goalie Suisman. The practice session was run by Mr. Allis, as Coach DiClemente, still slightly bothered by a recent leg operation, stayed through only the beginning of the practice.

With only two veterans returning from last year's varsity, the coaches have a large rebuilding job.

WHAT is the ruling factor in sport? There can be only one answer. It isn't the manager or the coach, who too often picks up entirely too much credit. It is always the material. It is the fighter—the football player—the baseball player. It is the fellow up front on the firing line.

During the recent winter season, football went on a wild rampage in the shift of coaches. There were shifts all over the map—Navy, Michigan, Harvard, Yale, Washington and Kansas.

Then, in the middle of the baseball season, there was another wild upheaval with Durocher going to the Giants, Shotton back to the Dodgers, Dusty Cooke to the Phillies—the earlier rumors that Joe McCarthy was through—reports of a family friction with the Athletics—trouble in St. Louis—trouble in Chicago—too many reports to follow.

LEAHY
What too many people overlook is this: It is the material, not the coach or the manager, that has the final say. Certainly, the manager and coach have roles to play—often important roles. But not even a Frank Leahy or a Fritz Crisler was ever as important as the material. No Leahy, a great coach, was ever up to a Lujack, a Connor, a Fischer, or a Czarnowski.

Of course, a big part of a manager's job is to get the best material. That is also a big part of the coach's job in football—and this goes for the colleges as well as the pros. A winning baseball team needs that pitcher or that hitter—more than one of them. A winning college football team needs that passer, ball carrier and blocker. The coach gets far too much credit for victory and far too much blame for defeat. The same is true of a pennant race. They pile too many olive blossoms on the winner and too many strands of poison ivy on the loser.

Many a big league manager has been made—and many a one wrecked—by the material he had. Don't forget this in the build-up and the knock-over.

Start of Passing

The passing game in college reached its peak last fall. The colleges had Bobby Layne of Texas, Chuck Conerly of Mississippi, Harry Gilmer of Alabama, Johnny Lujack of Notre Dame, Tony Minisi of Penn., Ray Evans of Kansas, Bob Chappius of Michigan and many others.

These have all moved over into the pro group. With Paul Governali, Sammy Baugh, Sid Luckman, Otto Graham, Glenn Dobbs and others at work, the passing game will reach another peak this fall.

Who started the passing game? Here's a contribution from Buck O'Neil, a lusty old-timer: "Dear Grant:

"I was interested in your column on Merrilat, end at West Point in the decades purpled by time. You spoke of Chicago and Michigan using the forward pass back in 1906, the year that the play was introduced into football.

"Chicago had a pretty fair sort of quarterback that year, fellow named Walter Eckersall. He was 145 pounds of wildcat, and he is the man—I believe—who caught Willie Heston from behind in one game between Chicago and Michigan.

"No matter about that, but Eckie threw passes to Fred Walker, a fine end of the Maroon, and beat the vaunted Minnesota team through the air. Eckersall to Walker was one of the great pass combinations of their day and time.

Ahead of His Time

"Glenn Warner had some great pass experts at Carlisle, and one of the earliest combinations was M. Pleasant to Exendine and Gardner. Warner, always ahead of his time in coaching, developed the technique of sending linemen down the field with his ends to block out the halfbacks. The Indians were terrific in the air and, of course, their skill was attributed to some romantic bridge between the Indian and the occult.

"There was nothing mystic about the skill of the Indians, although guys like Exendine and Gardner, and that great lineman of the era, Newashe, who played end and tackle with equal skill and aboriginal ferocity, were really out of this world. The foundation of Carlisle's success was laid on blocking the halfback.

King Richard never would have had to scream "My Kingdom for a Horse," if he'd breakfasted, lunched and dined from my Hadley Ware with the hand-painted prancing blue horse.

$30-Million Question On Ballot November 2

nomical measure might well be the construction of sewage treatment works along the river in the Lowell, Lawrence, Haverhill and Newburyport areas. These would treat municipal sewage and industrial wastes, before they are discharged into the river, by means of interceptors for all existing and future sewer outlets.

In the Lawrence area, which includes Andover, Methuen and North Andover, land off Marston street is proposed as a suitable site for the sewage treatment plant.

The Joint Board recommends that legislation be enacted to re-establish the Merrimack River Valley Sewerage District, comprising the 18 municipalities along the river in Massachusetts. Recommendations were also presented as to policy, method of financing and methods of assessment of the annual cost. As the works proposed would have an average life of more than 50 years, it recommended that the proposed legislation permit the District to finance construction by the issuance of 40-year bonds.

The Joint Board recommends the following specific construction projects with their estimated costs:

Lowell region	$7,650,600
Lawrence region	14,080,500
Haverhill region	4,164,500
Newburyport Harbor	1,685,500

Total $27,581,100

(These figures are based on prices of materials, etc., when the report was filed in December, 1946, which would be 10 percent greater at today's costs.)

The Joint Board, according to its report, made a sanitary survey which was limited to that portion of the river between the New Hampshire boundary line and the sea, and did not include large tributary streams such as the Nashua river, the Concord river, the Shawshen and Spicket rivers.

The report continues: "Careful surveys and studies were made of the sewerage systems and industrial waste outlets in the following cities and towns, which, in the opinion of the joint board, are the only municipalities which at the present time should comprise a sewerage district in the Merrimack Valley: Tyngsboro, Lowell, Dracut, Chelmsford, Billerica, Tewksbury, Andover, Lawrence, Methuen, North Andover, Groveland, Haverhill, West Newbury, Merrimac, Amesbury, Newburyport, Salisbury and Newbury." This District includes approximately 343,000 residents, of whom 127,000 live in the Greater Lawrence area.

The report goes on to say: "An examination of available data shows that the Merrimack River and its tributaries above the New Hampshire-Massachusetts line receive considerable pollution in the form of raw sewage, treated sewage and industrial wastes. . . . The results of the analysis as contained in the engineer's report will show that through the processes of self-purification the river has replenished its oxygen content to a considerable extent as it enters the State of Massachusetts and is in relatively good condition.

"However, the bacteriological condition of the river as it enters the State of Massachusetts is such as will require additional treatment of sewage above that point if the water is to be of good quality for bathing and recreational purposes.

"In its passage through the city of Lowell and neighboring towns, the river receives pollution by sewage and industrial wastes amounting in the aggregate to approximately 21.5 million gallons a day. At times of extremely low flow in the river, the pollution load added at Lowell results in reduction of the dissolved oxygen content just downstream from Lowell to values too low to sustain fish life. Occasionally the oxygen is completely exhausted. Because of the purifying power of the stream much of the effect of the pollution received from the city of Lowell and its neighboring towns is eliminated before it reaches the intake works of the water supply of the city of Lawrence. However, the bacteriological condition of the water as it reaches the Lawrence intake works has been such as to make this water difficult of adequate treatment for drinking and other domestic purposes.

"At Lawrence and in the neighboring towns of Methuen, Andover and North Andover the quality of domestic sewage and putrescible industrial wastes discharged into his stream is estimated to amount to 47.5 million gallons a day. "The effect of this discharge is indicated in the result of analyses which show the river to be grossly polluted below the city of Lawrence for a considerable distance, and at times not only deficient in oxygen so as to make fish life impossible, but also at times entirely devoid of oxygen resulting in odor nuisances.

"In its passage through Haverhill additional polluting sewage and wastes are contributed amounting to about 12.3 million gallons a day. This additional pollution reaches the stream before it has recovered appreciably from the pollution contributed at Lawrence. Hence the worst section of the river, from the standpoint of depletion of dissolved oxygen content, is just downstream from Haverhill. At Newburyport Harbor the bacteriological condition of the water has been found to be such as to necessitate the Department of Health closing this harbor for the taking of shellfish even though the shellfish were subjected to purification before marketing. The unsanitary condition is undoubtedly due to a considerable extent to the discharge of sewage into that harbor from the city of Newburyport.

"The engineer's report shows that in order to maintain the oxygen content in the river at a sufficiently high level to protect fish life, complete treatment of sewage and industrial wastes is required for both Lowell and Lawrence metropolitan regions, and primary treatment is required at Haverhill.

"The report further shows that in order to maintain the bacterial quality of the river water satisfactory for bathing and recreational purposes during dry weather, and satisfactory for the taking of shellfish at Newburyport, the effluents of the proposed treatment works at Lowell, Lawrence and Haverhill must be chlorinated, and primary treatment and chlorination is required at Amesbury, Newburyport and Salem.

"The report further shows that bathing will not be safe in the Merrimack river during and immediately following rain storms, even with all these works constructed and in full operation, because of the over-

Little Classic

Here is a little house with a classic, unhurried spirit — a house for those who mind their manners and sometimes like a touch of formality. The house, as featured in the September issue of Good Housekeeping magazine, is bright, original, and very elegant. It lends itself readily to additional rooms.

Census Studies Show Migrations

The traditional restlessness of the American people, dating back to the earliest colonists along the Atlantic seaboard and their successors who moved westward to settle and build up the nation, manifested itself as never before in the seven-year period, 1940-47, according to Government studies.

Figures just made public by the Bureau of the Census show that 70 million Americans, the equivalent of around half the population, moved about in this period and lived in a different house in 1947 than they did in 1940. Of this group, an estimated 25 million were classed as migrants because they changed counties within a state or moved from one state to another. Except for a relatively limited number under special classification, members of the armed forces are excluded.

Job opportunities are usually the mainspring of migration, and the war and subsequent reconversion period with their far-reaching effect on industrial production and location of new plants accentuated this influence. However, there were other migration factors as well, including the large number of wives who moved about the country to be near their husbands in the armed forces, the many veterans who couldn't "stay put" in their original environment after demobilization, and the housing shortage in so many parts of the country.

Relative to the population, the number of migrants in the 1940-47 period was more than half as great again as in the prewar 1935-40 period.

From a geographical point of view, the West was the principal gainer, showing a net increase of 2,000,000 in population from migration. The South, on the other hand, showed a net loss of 1,500,000 persons. The Census Bureau study found that the majority of migrants from the South were whites rather than nonwhites, and that for the country as a whole there was little difference between migration rates of whites and nonwhites though the latter moved longer distances.

Some of the other highlights from the Census Bureau migration study are:

Migration and youth seem to go together, with the highest rates found among those in their twenties and early thirties and the lowest rates in the 45 and up age groups.

The migration rate for veterans 18 years and over was about one-half greater than for nonveterans and they moved longer distances on the average as well. Only about 3 out of every 10 veterans were living in the same house in 1947 as in 1940.

Approximately 2 out of every 5 persons living in the West in 1947 were migrants, a rate about twice as high as that for the South or the North Central States and three times that for the Northeastern States.

More girls leave home between the ages of 18 and 24 than boys, partly because they marry at earlier ages.

Education may have something to do with people's moving about. For each age group above 24 the educational level was higher among migrants than nonmigrants.

For both males and females, professional and semiprofessional workers were the most mobile and tended to move longer distances.

quate treatment for drinking and other domestic purposes.

"The total estimated cost of construction of the regional treatment plant," according to the engineers report, "is $27, 581,100, of which $11,957,600 is for interceptors and $15,623,500 is for treatment works. The total estimated cost of the trunk sewer plan is $56,392,800, of which $45,117,100 is for the trunk sewer and appurtenances, $5,558,100 is for interceptors, and $5,717,600 is for treatment works.

"The estimated total annual charges based on 40-year bonds at 1 3/4 per cent, with a credit in both plans of $929,460 from the sale of grease, amounts to $1,339,020 for the regional treatment plan and $1,965,930 for the trunk sewer plan. "The Department of Public Health . . . has established rules and regulations to prevent the pollution or contamination of the public waters within the Commonwealth. Under the law of Department must proceed against those who are found in violation of the regulations to compel the removal of the polluting wastes or their treatment by the best practical method. In the enforcement of the rules and regulations, actions will be brought separately against the municipalities for the discharge of untreated municipal sewage and against the industries for the direct discharge of untreated industrial wastes. Such actions would compel the manufacturers to construct and maintain their own waste treatment works and would result in a substantial outlay of capital by each manufacturer who produces putrescible liquid wastes. Considerable savings will accrue to the manufacturers in the District if the District treats their wastes as proposed in this study. No capital outlay will be required of the manufacturers since the District will own the works, and the annual assessment against the manufacturers may be shown on the books as operating expenses. The portion of the assessments associated with the capital costs will be spread over a longer period of five years than is ordinarily possible if the manufacturers were to build their own treatment works, and the assessments will be less because it is cheaper to construct and operate joint treatment works than individual works. In view of these considerations it is recommended that the manufacturers who produce putrescible liquid wastes be assessed an equitable share of the cost of the pollution abated."

"It is recommended that all assessments be made against the municipalities for both municipal sewage and the industrial wastes, and the municipalities be charged with the responsibility for the payment of the entire assessment. Re-assessment by the municipalities against the industries within the municipalities may be made at the option of each municipality and in a manner to be determined by the municipality."

Parking Violators In District Court

Four persons appeared in District court at Lawrence earlier this week to answer charges of parking violations, the first prosecutions of this nature since the installation of the new meters. One was fined $3, the other three $2 each.

Meanwhile, police are issuing "no-fix" tags daily, the number to date running up to 300. The new meters were officially placed in operation August 30, but as a week's period of grace was allowed by Police Chief George A. Dane, for motorists to become acquainted with them, the "no-fix" tags were not issued until September 7.

What motorists may not know is that parking tags in Andover are cumulative with those in Lawrence. Both come under the jurisdiction of the Lawrence District Court. Tags for violations either in Andover or Lawrence go to the clerk of the District court. The first means a warning; the second a fine of $1; the third a fine of $2; and after that the offender goes into court. If a motorist gets one tag here and another in Lawrence, that is considered a second offense.

Fines imposed on motorists under this law are returned to the treasurer.

Total collections from the meters from August 30 up to September 27, amounted to $871.70, the latest tabulations made by Town Treasurer Thaxter Eaton show. This continued the daily average of approximately $37 which the meters have shown since being installed.

J. A. Peros & Sons in Demand For Re-roofing, Gen. Contracting

J. A. Peros & Sons of Lawrence are experts at repairing and installing new roofs. They also do insulation work and general contracting. Though J. A. Peros & Sons have been in this business for only a year and a half, the firm already has an enviable reputation.

They have done considerable work on the Locks and Canals in Lowell, and have re-roofed St. Mary's Auditorium in Lawrence. The local mills have called on Peros & Sons for Tar and Gravel work, as has the Little Fawn Cleaners in Lawrence.

J. A. Peros & Sons have the most modern equipment north of Boston, and their new machinery eliminates all hand labor on built-up roofing.

Good business sense, plus the ability to understand and please the customer is a Peros family trait, as can be seen also at that popular eating place, the "Yankee Doodle," which is operated by the father of J. O. Peros.

Re-roofing has been a necessity this year for many business houses, factories and homes, as the result of last winter's heavy snow and ice. If you haven't had your leaky roof repaired, call J. A. Peros & Sons for an estimate. You'll get fine workmanship and satisfaction for your money. A factory or home in which you have invested your savings is only as good as its roof. Let J. A. Peros & Sons increase its value with a new roof, or do that insulation job before cold weather catches up with you. Tel. Lawrence 4931.

Community Orchestra Plans Two Concerts

Going into its 10th season with rehearsals beginning Tuesday evening, October 5, the Andover Community orchestra announces plans for a Fall Youth concert and a Spring Pops concert to be held in the High school auditorium.

During the season there will also be performances of chamber music by a smaller group in the Addison Art Gallery.

The orchestra, which is expanding for the coming season, is expected to be a larger and more competent group of players than ever before.

Plans are also underway to reach a larger audience than ever before by presenting programs that appeal to all tastes.

Generous patrons have supported the orchestra in the past years, but supplementing this, the directors hope to profit from the sale of tickets which will be available for both concerts.

City Cleaners Most Obliging

City Cleaners, Launderers and Dyers at 36 Main street, have a thought for the customer, as can be seen by the volume of business they do, and the number of satisfied customers who have taken their laundry and dry cleaning problems there year after year.

Many Andover boys, as well as townspeople, take their clothes to City Cleaners, and are well satisfied with the results.
City Cleaners have a fine laundering service and it is well patronized here in Andover. Men who are fussy about their shirts, say that City Cleaners use just the right amount of starch for comfort and good appearance. If you can't starch shirts to the satisfaction of the man of the house, send the shirts to City Cleaners — keep him happy and save yourself work.

This is a convenient place to store your furs, too. City Cleaners do a big business in fur storage—don't forget this next spring.

Are the children's snowsuits ready to wear? One of these days you'll want to zip the youngster into his snowsuit, so let City Cleaners clean and press them while the fine weather lasts.

City Cleaners are noted for their careful cleaning and pressing of delicate evening gowns, and after the wedding, they can make that satin and lace wedding dress look too beautiful to pack away in mothballs.

AT THE LIBRARY

If you will read over the list of recent additions to the Memorial Hall Library you will discover that a good many books telling the reader "how-do" do something or other have been published lately and may be borrowed for home amusement, study or application. You can see what other people, often authorities in their fields, have to say about how to do such things as stop worrying, paint marine pictures, milk a cow, answer those questions that begin, "Mother, why do I have to . . ." or to raise begonias, write radio news, manage your home with less work, make cartoons, and several other pastimes. The library has all these, and many more:

HOW TO STOP WORRYING AND START LIVING Cornegie Dale Carnegie lists sixteen ways in which his book can help you to find new peace of mind. It is practical in its suggestion and is illustrated by cases of real people who have had problems and worries that yielded to treatment. The author of "How To Make Friends and Influence People" is the man who has worked out his way to put an end to worrying.

EFFECTIVE LETTERS IN BUSINESS Shurter Clear, concise style show the fundamental principles of business letters, the point of view from which letters are written and the application of these principles, supported by numerous examples.

KNOW YOUR REAL ABILITIES Broadley This book on understanding and developing natural aptitudes is the product of twenty-five years of research work in Johnson O'Connor's Human Engineering laboratory, where over 18,000 persons are now tested yearly. Most of the book is a narrative form reporting of various cases.

PARENTS' QUESTIONS Child Study Association of America Tried and proven advice on the intelligent management of children on a wide variety of child behavior problems.

ADVENTURE IN MARINE PAINTING Woodward If you wonder how an artist begins, works and finishes paintings of the coast and sea, this is your book. Woodward writes for both the beginner and more experienced student. Has eight full color plates and thirty-one half-tone reproductions of paintings.

CERAMIC SCULPTURE Randall Excellent for showing the beginner the essentials of ceramic work, using more the coils and rolls than actual sculpture. The principles could be used with young children who work with plasticine.

RADIO NEWS WRITING Brooks The author is instructor in radio news writing at Columbia University, and is in charge of news writing for the National Broadcasting Company.

DAIRY ENTERPRISES McDowell A revised edition of an excellent handbook that gives detailed analysis of various farm jobs, managerial and operative.

BEGONIAS FOR AMERICAN HOMES AND GARDENS Krauss Sixty-five photographs illustrate this fascinating book on the art of growing American begonias as window and house plants. The woman who has never given her plants serious study will be amazed at the number and beauty of the plants available in this family.

INTRODUCTION TO CARTOONING Taylor A practical guide for the student who seriously intends to become a professional humorist. The author stresses the point that cartooning is not a "slap-stick" process, as so many courses seem to assume, but is the outgrowth of long training, serious study and hard work.

MANAGEMENT IN HOMES Cushman This book deals with actual homes in which real people live. It shows how families have used what they had to get the kind of homes they wanted. Originally written for college students of home management, it may be used by study groups, women's clubs and teachers, as well as homemakers. All homes described are in New York State; all names are fictitious. For those who like to plan changes, cut corners, budget and renovate, this is good material.

TECHNIQUE OF GETTING THINGS DONE Laird Good, clever and intelligent suggestions on how to turn out a greater amount of work in a given time, how to develop faculties of planning and executing, how to avoid the consequences of indecision, fear and lack of discipline.

CAMPING CAN BE FUN Weaver A very readable book, although a bit late in the season. It is packed with advice on all the things needed by campers—equipment, food, animals, insect repellents, menus, etc. Bob Weaver, the author, was the Air Forces authority on jungle survival.

WOMAN'S INSIDE STORY Castallo Written by a gynecologist and a professional nurse, this is the type of book that comforts the reader who wants to know why she feels the way she does, when she does . . . and what to do about it.

LITTLEST LISTENERS TO MEET Wednesday morning, October 13 at 10:00 o'clock, the first meeting of the Littlest Listeners will be held at the Memorial Hall Library. All little people, aged three four or five years are invited to come with their mothers to a story hour at the library. At the same time, mothers will meet together and discuss child care. These meetings are held on alternate Wednesday mornings throughout the school year, except when those Wednesdays occur in vacation weeks.

LIBRARY BROADCAST HOUR The next broadcast of the Memorial Hall Library over WCCM will be Tuesday morning, October 5, at 10:30 o'clock. Miss Miriam Putnam, librarian, will speak on BOOK SELECTION FOR A PUBLIC LIBRARY. These programs, held on alternate Tuesdays, will continue into the autumn. The library would welcome any comment or suggestions.

Lauds Crews Flying Supplies To Berlin

A vivid and stirring picture of and task confronting the young American airmen flying supplies to Berlin in the face of the Russian blockade was presented to members of the Andover Service club at the opening meeting of the season last Thursday night at the Andover Inn.

The club's new president, Frank L. Brigham, occupied the chair for the first time with a large number of old and new members in attendance.

Colton "Chick" Morris, director of special events for WB's radio stations, was guest speaker of the evening. He had just returned from a flight to Berlin, talked with many of the airmen, observed first-hand the conditions under which they were operating, and came back with the self-imposed mission of spreading just as far as he and the means of modern communication could go.

Mr. Morris had great words of praise for the young men who fly the ships and who make up the crews connected with their operation.

He told his audience that ships bearing 10 tons of supplies took off for Berlin every three minutes, 24 hours a day, every day in the week and have been doing it since the air supply started June 26.

This is done day and night in all kinds of weather. The flight that he "thumbed" was at night, in fog, to an unlighted airfield surrounded by high buildings and tall chimneys, to which the three minute flight of planes was maintained at all times. The Russians refuse to light the airfield at night. When he saw the plane at daylight he wondered how the airmen ever landed there at all, even under the best of conditions in broad daylight.

Those members of the command to whom he talked were anxious to know if the people back home knew and appreciated what they were doing.

Mr. Morris also saw elderly men and women, and scrawny children scavengers in the streets of the ruined city.

If the few minutes he talked on television he said that programs would be improved and that in the near future the whole country would be studded with 100-foot masts carrying television programs everywhere.

At the next meeting, October 14, Col. Charles P. Howard will be the guest speaker.
