VIEWS OF THE NEWS

By LEONARD F. JAMES

What makes it apparently impossible for the United States and Soviet Russia to get together on a common plan for atomic control and disarmament? What is the basic difference of opinion? The United States insists: that international control be established first; that atomic facilities should then be turned over to the international authority; that no Big Five veto should apply; that "safeguards" be established prior to disarmament. Russia insists that: all existing bombpiles first be destroyed; that a control system then be worked out; that the veto must remain; that disarmament precede safeguards. The Russian reason is all summed up in Vishinsky's recent remark, "International control under the United States plan would be an American Agency . . . We can only expect that you will prescribe such regulations as will stifle us, strangle our national economy and bind us hand and foot."

Russia Doesn't Want Atomic Control

Now there's something to be said for Russia's arguments. In fact they make sound common sense—from the point of view of the Politburo. And in international dealings the Politburo is Russia. The atomic bomb has created an entirely new situation. The West wants to know what measures to take against the misuse of atomic energy. The West is prepared to go to the extreme of subordinating national rights in the interest of mankind, including itself. But Russia claims that atomic energy

Increased Service Given By Red Cross

Increases in the home service cases and in the number of calls made by the district nurse were noted among the many activities undertaken by Andover chapter, American Red Cross, during the past 12 months, according to the annual report made by Chairman Roy E. Hardy at the annual meeting last week.

About two-thirds of the home service cases centered about servicemen and their families, and at the same time the chapter's community service provided games and various other gifts to patients at the Veterans' hospital at Bedford.

While the donations to the blood bank fell a little short of the goal, the amount received during the two-day stay of the Mobile Blood bank here last April compares favorably with other localities.

In his report of the chapter's activities for the year ending October 1, Mr. Hardy says:

The past year in the life of the Andover Chapter of the American Red Cross has been one of steady and continued service to the community, even if at a diminished pace from the more spectacular war years.

Chest Campaign Workers Active

The 1949 Community Chest campaign to raise $199,044.00 for 13 Red Feather services started off last Monday night at the Lawrence Boys' club, with a huge opening dinner.

Vincent Treanor, chairman of Andover, was one of the special guests seated at the head table. A large number of the 200 Andover volunteer workers attended the meeting to officially open the campaign in Andover for the 1949 goal of $18,430.

Mr. Treanor, in his latest message to his volunteer workers, asked them to sell the Community Chest idea which combines 13 campaigns in one to support these organizations during 12 months of the year. He also pointed out that Andover will reach its goal of $18,430 only if each and every person will do his share and call at every home and business establishment.

Mr. Treanor announced that the following persons have enrolled in the Andover organization to date: Special gifts, Roy E. Hardy; governmental, Miss Miriam Putnam, chairman; Andover Town Hall, George Napier; Andover Board of Public Works, Edward Chlebowski; Andover Fire department, Charles E.

Sees No Danger Of War With Reds

There is no immediate danger of war with Russia, Col. Charles P. Howard, treasurer of Middlesex county, told members of the Andover Service Club at their meeting last Thursday night at the Andover Inn.

Col. Howard served 15 months under General Clark in Austria in 1945-46. During that time he had frequent conferences with the Russians, knows much of their methods and their mannerisms. From his personal experiences and that of brother officers he brought to his local audience a number of incidents to show how impossible it is to get along with the Russians.

The meeting of the club was the largest in the history of the organization, President Frank L. Brigham reported when the final check-up was completed. The attendance was 77. During the evening the drawing for the free Parking meters on Chestnut street are being changed over to give two hours' parking for five cents. Some are in operation today. The others will be changed over by the end of the week. They differ from the other meters in that a penny will not work them. A penny inserted in one of these meters will not register. A nickel is the only coin that will operate them.

Punchard Buries Ashland, 33 To 0

By JACK MCCARTHY

A power-house Punchard High school team racked up its fourth consecutive victory in five starts last Saturday afternoon when it overpowered a weaker Ashland outfit by a score of 33 to 0. The Blue and Gold scored in every period with long runs and aerials playing a major part in the scoring. The Andover club used a single-wing and the "T" formation which puzzled the injury riddled opponents many times.

The Punchard boys won the toss and elected to receive. Five plays later Punchard had scored the first of its five touchdowns. Charles Dwyer returned the opening kickoff to his own 37, whereupon Deveaux carried the oval on three consecutive plays to the Ashland 37 yard stripe. Then operating from the "T" formation, Deveaux uncorked a long pass to end, Alan Chetson, who scored standing up. Sid Watson's attempted conversion was blocked.

Nick Mauceri, Punchard center, set up the next tally when he intercepted a rival aerial and carried the pigskin to the visitors 41 yard marker. After rolling up two first downs to the opponents 12, Ray Collins, charged through the Ash-

Following their action in voicing unanimous opposition to the establishment of a Merrimack River Valley Sewerage District, the Selectmen have written the Andover Taxpayers' Association suggesting that the latter organization apprise the voters of the heavy tax burden that will face them if the legislative act is approved.

This question will appear on the ballot November 2. It is estimated that the construction and operation of the proposed purification system will cost cities and towns in the river valley over $30 million to be paid by 40-year bonds.

The letter sent to Louis E. Gleason of Woodland road, chairman of the Taxpayers' Association, was as follows:

Dear Sir:

We believe that it would be a constructive move for the Andover Taxpayers' Association to advise our citizens of the extremely heavy tax burden that will face them if they vote to approve the legislative act establishing the Merrimack River Valley Sewerage District. This will be on the ballot November 2.

PLANNING BOARD OPPOSES RIVER SEWERAGE PLAN

The Andover Planning board at its recent meeting went on record as being opposed to the Merrimack River sewerage question which will appear on the ballot November 2.

The high cost of construction, maintenance and operation of the proposed remedial measures were the chief reasons for the Board's opposition to the measure.

Financing the project would cost Andover taxpayers about $50,000 annually for 40 years, the Board points out, and this would mean a substantial boost to the tax rate over that period.

Kemper Invested As Academy Head Accepts Seal of Office Before Throng of 2500

Before a throng of over 2500 delegates, guests, students and friends of the school, John Mason Kemper, 11th Headmaster of 170-year-old Phillips Academy, was formally inaugurated last Thursday afternoon. Leading, in company with Bishop Henry W. Hobson of Southern Ohio, an academic procession of over 400 delegates from schools, colleges, universities and learned societies, the youthful headmaster accepted the seal of office from Bishop Hobson, President of the Academy's Board of Trustees.

Following the invocation by the Rev. A. Graham Baldwin, Phillips Academy School Minister, Bishop Hobson made the brief address of induction, and Mr. Kemper replied with a few words of acceptance. James Rowland Angell, President Emeritus of Yale University, delivered the principal address of the occasion, speaking on the subject: "Virtues and Shortcomings of American Schools, Particularly Secondary Schools."

After examining the weaknesses of American education, both public and independent, Dr. Angell pointed out the relative public indifference to the parlous plight of our schools, whose teachers each year are leaving the field in ever increasing numbers to find jobs which offer comfort and security. "This a brave national crisis," said Mr. Angell, "which strikes at the very roots of our national vi-

School Committee Studies Finances

A preliminary study of the finances of the School department was taken up by the School committee at its meeting Monday night, at which time Supt. Kenneth L. Sherman explained the need of having two noon-hour supervisors for pupils of the Stowe and Jackson schools.

Charles C. Kimball, a member of the Finance committee, was present at the meeting.

When Chairman Gordon L. Colquhoun called the meeting to order at 7:30 o'clock all members were present except Dr. Malcolm B. McTeran, who was unable to attend because of illness.

Minutes of the previous meeting were read by William A. Doherty, secretary, and accepted on motion of Atty. Vincent F. Stulgis.

Following the reading of the minutes, Supt. Sherman presented the committee with a complete analysis of the schools' financial situation. The Superintendent went over the financial statement very carefully with the committee item by item. He carefully explained the need of noon-hour supervision for the pupils of the Stowe and Jackson schools who remain on the grounds and in the lunch room during the noon hours. He told the committee that 180 children remained on the

Gala Day Planned By P.H.S. Boosters

Plans for the gala Boosters' Day program to be held November 11 for the purpose of securing equipment for Punchard High school teams are progressing in a manner highly pleasing to the committee in charge.

Evidence of cooperation in the success of the affair is coming from many quarters.

Andover post, S. American, has announced through its commander Kenneth L. Sherman, that the post is supporting the program and will aid in the events being planned to make the day a success.

From local stores and shops come numerous donations from merchants who are cooperating with the committee to make the affair one of the biggest of its kind. Donations from the merchants will be awarded as prizes between the halves.

Members of the Punchard High School Alumni Association are assisting in the arrangements and in the disposal of the books of tickets which are now on sale.

Addition bleachers, seating 1200 have been set up at the playing field through the co-operation of Percy J. Dole, the Board of Public Works, high school students and various members of the committee. They will be used for the remaining games of the season.

Methuen will be Punchard's opponent for the Boosters' Day game and a sell-out crowd is expected. The game will start at 2 p. m.

Sees No Reason To Remove Sign

The traffic sign on Route 28 at the fork near the Howard Johnson restaurant advising trucks to use the by-pass, is not going to be removed.

Action seeking to have the sign taken down because it was believed to have been diverting traffic from Lawrence, was started some time ago and request for its removal reached the State Department of Public Works.

However, the Andover Highway Safety committee comprising Atty. Walter C. Tomlinson, Henry S. Hopper and J. Augustus Remington, through the Essex County Boards of Trade, got busy on the question and as a result, Secretary Neiland J. Douglas of the Essex County organization, received the following letter from Edgar F. Copell, state traffic engineer:

This will acknowledge your letter of September 25 relative to the removal of the traffic sign on Route 28 at the fork of the roads near Howard Johnson's restaurant, Andover.

The signs in question were erected after investigation years ago, and to my way of thinking, matters have not changed which would necessitate moving of signs. Therefore, so far as this Traffic Division is concerned, we can find no reason to have any change in the matter.

Yours very truly,
Edgar F. Copell,
Traffic Engineer.

Walter Billings and J. Augustus Remington represented the Andover Service club at the meeting of the Essex County Boards of Trade in Peabody October 13 at which this letter was read. The cities and towns of the county were well represented at this meeting.

P.T.A. Council Opens Season

The fall meeting of the Andover P.T.A. Council was held in the Junior High school music room Monday evening. Delegates were present from the four P.T.A. units which constitute the council, North Andover, Central, Shawsheen and Ballardvale.

Mrs. Walter Mondale, president, presided over the well attended meeting. The secretary's report was given by Mrs. Helen Bradley of Shawsheen, and the treasurer's report by Mrs. John J. McGuire of North Andover.

Each unit president introduced their delegates to the council and gave a short resume of the activities and programs planned for the coming year.

It was voted to continue sending subscriptions of the P.T.A. bulletin to the superintendent of schools, the library and members of the School committee.

The report of the nominating committee was given by its chairman, Mrs. Helen Bradley, followed by the election of the entire slate.

Mrs. Mondale then presented the new president, Mrs. Byron Weiner of Shawsheen, who spoke briefly on plans for the future.

Other new officers are: vice-president, George H. Caron of North Andover; treasurer, Mrs. Harrison Brown of Central, and secretary, Mrs. John M. Wilson of Ballardvale.

The library invites its readers to look over the material there, and suggests reading from the following list of books:

The Use of Presidential Power, Milton; Torchlight Parade, Cook; Selections from the Federalist; Thank You, Mr. President, Smith; Freedom's People, Overstreet; Toward World Peace, Wallace; How to get into Politics, Carlson; The Great Game of Politics, Kent; Man in the Streets, Bailey; Congress at the Crossroads, Galloway; The Republican Party, Myers; Inside U. talities." In conclusion he congratulated Mr. Kemper on his election as headmaster, and paid tribute to Andover's long record of achievement in education.

Mr. Kemper, in his brief inaugural address, spoke on the subject: "Obligations of Youth." Asserting that youth must assume the responsibility of obligations to society in order to achieve leadership, he called upon the young people of the entire nation to seek out and assume their obligations.

The warm relationship between the Academy's new, 36-year-old headmaster and the student body was described by Raymond Q. Anderson, president of the Student Council. Dr. Kemper began his duties here July 1, but could not begin to know the students until the Fall term three weeks ago.

In that short time, Anderson said, Dr. Kemper already had learned to know many of them by unannounced visits to their rooms, as well as by attending athletic practice and games.

Following the ceremonies in the Great Quadrangle in front of Samuel Phillips Hall, various instructors elaborated on this theme, declaring Dr. Kemper had made a practice, every night after 8 when the boys must be in their rooms, to visit them for personal, heart-to-heart chats.

At today's ceremony the new headmaster, a West Point graduate and holder of an A. M. degree from Columbia and the honorary degree of L. H. D. from Williams, was given the school seal, designed by Paul Revere, and the original constitution of the school, written in the hand of the founder, Samuel Phillips, Jr.

They were given into his keeping by Bishop Henry W. Hobson of the Episcopal diocese of Southern Ohio, president of the board of trustees, who officiated.

At a noon luncheon for delegates and special guests in Borden gymnasium, Federal Judge Carroll C. Hinks of New Haven, Phillips '07, and a native of Andover, was the chief speaker and G. Storer Baldwin of Chestnut Hill, president of the Andover Alumni Council was toastmaster.

At a luncheon for the women in the Academy Commons Mrs. Kemper was in charge.

At the close of this afternoon's introduction ceremony Dr. and Mrs. Kemper tendered a reception in the Commons.

In his address, Mr. Kemper said: "I would speak this afternoon especially to the youth here present, but I should certainly include in a definition of youth all those connected with teaching. A good teacher is almost by definition youthful, regardless of his years. Were he not, he could hardly hope to be spiritually in step with the young men and women with whom he works, even less to be an effective influence in their lives.

"The world in which we live is a community subdivided into smaller communities, each in turn made up of still smaller ones. Whether it be the community of mankind, or nations and states, or the community of individuals in a school, church, industry or family, the individual has his obligations to it. Youth in particular must understand these obligations and must be imbued with a sense of responsibility toward them.

"The first of these obligations is to maintain a friendly regard for one's fellow man as a person. We must respect him for what he is and for what he can do. There must be no prejudice against him because he can be categorized as to nationality, race or religion. We must strive to know each of our neighbors as an individual, discover his talent or his potential, concede him his right to an opinion and his right to a fair place in our society.

"There must be faith that men will respond to sincerity and the example of honest effort. There must be faith that in every human being there is a generosity of spirit which will respond to decent treatment and the stimulus of selfless leadership. Tolerance, sympathy, respect must inevitably result in team work. Team work, in turn, can solve many community problems far beyond the capacity of any individual to solve.

"If youth would take the next step, would strive for the place of leadership, it must recognize the obligations of leadership. The leader can have no false pride. In fact, he should have pride only in the achievements of those he leads. In them he must have faith; in them should his confidence repose. To them he owes loyalty.

"Whatever the role to which youth aspires, it must maintain its optimism. Granted that there will be sudden and sometimes deep discouragement, still youth must recover its spirit, must find the will to carry on. Youth must ever be convinced that great goals are worthy of continuing effort and struggle.

"Youth must strive for objectivity. It must concern itself with all points of view, with the pro's and cons of every argument, with the merits and demerits of each cause. It must convince itself of the need for approaching problems scientifically, for thoroughgoing investigation, for painstaking and exhaustive research. Its spirit of criticism must be such that nothing is taken for granted.

"In this connection, knowledge of many fields, a wide range of interests, will enhance the understanding of the inter-relation of events and activities. Judgment based on such understanding must inevitably be wiser and sounder than that based upon narrow concern with a single specialty.

"Caution in reaching conclusions must be matched by boldness in action once the decision is reached. There must be courage to make a bold stroke. Without disregard for high tradition, youth must part from stultifying precedent.

"Examine the heritage passed on to us by older generations. Note especially that their achievements were inspired by a high sense of duty and responsibility. It will be with us as it was with them. Faithful fulfillment of our obligations will result in greatness."

Women Voters Observe U.N. Week

The opening fall luncheon meeting of the Andover League of Women Voters was held at Christ Church parish house, Tuesday, October 19. Attendance was large and the number of new members present inspiring to the program chairmen responsible for initiating the year's work.

Mrs. John B. Hawes presided at the brief business session which followed the luncheon. She appealed for volunteers for the election information booth and for the survey group of the education committee.

Dan H. Fenn, Jr., assistant dean of freshmen at Harvard University and a member of the United Nations Speakers' bureau, was presented by Mrs. Philip K. Allen, international relations chairman for the Andover League.

Mr. Fenn, in commenting on the significance of this week as United Nations week, called the "United Nations Organization a symbol for internationalism." In referring to the unsolved problems of United Nations, he pointed out that two traps are set for the unwary: they may be tempted to give up their efforts entirely, considering the situation hopeless, or they may adopt the "stiff upper lip approach," optimistically anticipating that all will be well eventually. As realistic people we don't need to take either attitude. We should rather examine the situation. The United States provides 43% of the United Nations budget. A great many people are giving time, interest and energy to its work. Is it worth it? What has the United Nations accomplished?

Mr. Fenn then summarized some of its successes. In the political field, really constructive things have been accomplished in Iran, the Ukraine, Greece, Indonesia, and India. In some cases the gains are small as compared to the total problem, but each was a potential center for new large-scale trouble, each involved thousands of lives and large amounts of property.

In the matter of leveling off the terrible discrepancies in living standards and general welfare conditions the accomplishments of land defense to score again for Andover. Sid Watson's placement split the up-rights to give the Blue and Gold a 13 to 0 lead.

United Nations are really impressive; 53 million children provided for through the Children's Emergency Fund; 50 million children X-rayed; 15 million vaccinated.

In the waning moments of the second period Punchard again scored when Dwyer hurled to Chetson, who made an exceptional catch, scoring the third touchdown. Ashland threatened after the Blue and Gold had made its third T. D. driving to the home team's 20, but the threat was halted when the whistle ended the first half.

Just as the crowd of fans had settled down for the second half, Co-Captain Herb Deveaux intercepted an Ashland aerial and scampered 35 yards to pay dirt for another T. D.

In the last period, Deveaux gathered in an Ashland punt, scoring after a tricky 70 yard jaunt, which was made possible by two great blocks. Sid Watson's attempted conversion was good, Punchard 33, Ashland 0. After this T. D. Coach Walter Roberts promptly cleared the bench allowing the reserves to play the remainder of the contest. There was no further scoring.

P.A. Romps 26-0 Over Brewster

Phillips Academy's football team climaxed an eventful week on Andover Hill Saturday by taking a 26-0 victory over Brewster Academy.

Dick Collins, fleet-footed full-back, scored two touchdowns in the first period, on running plays, and another pass from Gardere.

Gardere scored the other Andover touchdown on an eight-yard run.

Brewster's only threat came late in the final period when a 70-yard desperation pass play from Parsons to McLeod brought the ball to the Andover 15-yard line. But Andover held fast.

grounds during the noon hours. Many of these pupils ate their lunches in the school cafeteria, while others brought lunches which they consumed in the Stowe or Jackson lunch rooms. The Superintendent felt that the teachers needed time at noon for their own lunches, and time for rest and preparation for the afternoon's work.

The Superintendent explained the work that was being done for the physically handicapped. This work is being done in accordance with State law. A general discussion followed, regarding needs for 1949. Supt. Sherman brought out that the Junior High school was now 13 years old and it was about time some funds were expended on its maintenance and repair. He said that it would be good business to keep the buildings in good repair and that this would necessitate a larger appropriation for general repairs.

The committee discussed the possibility of a building survey. While no decision regarding a survey was reached at this time, the suggestion is still under consideration. Supt. Sherman has arranged for several experts, including Supt. Ralph McLeary of Concord and ex-Dean Davis of Boston University, to talk with the committee.

Discussion followed regarding the needs for September 1949. It was pointed out that there would be a strong possibility of an additional teacher in the Stowe school because of increased enrollment. It was brought to the attention of the committee that one more additional teacher at Stowe would not only be necessary because of enrollment, but one more teacher would do away with doubled-up grades. Some discussion followed regarding the Physical Education program and the subject of Physical Education in the grades was given consideration.

The Superintendent explained to the committee the work of Miss Elizabeth Hopkins in the elementary schools. The Superintendent felt that Miss Hopkins' work had been tremendously beneficial to those having difficulty with reading. The School Calendar for the spring of 1949 was unanimously adopted by the Committee and is as follows:

January 3—Schools re-open; February 18—Schools closed for vacation; February 28—Schools re-open; April 14th—Schools close for vacation; April 25—Schools re-open; May 30—Holiday; June 16—Elementary Schools close; June 23—High schools close.

The Superintendent presented the committee with statistics regarding per pupil cost and average teachers' salaries from a survey made of twenty similar towns to Andover. Of these twenty communities, twelve had higher per pupil costs, while seven had lower per pupil costs. The highest per pupil cost was Brookline with $275 and the second highest was Wellesley with $225. The lowest was Stoneham with $160. Andover's per pupil cost is $186.

The meeting adjourned at 9:15 p. m.

supper at the next meeting was won by Henry S. Hopper.

At the conclusion of the supper and before the business session, the members posed for a group photograph.

Col. Howard said that the one thing the Russians understand, the one thing they will respect, is force. The people of the country, he said, are under the complete tyranny of the top members of the Communist Party at the Kremlin. He gave them credit for being smart men who know that Russia is in no condition to wage a war with the United States, which would also draw in her allies.

He felt that the decision of war or peace rested with the Russians, and that there were two possibilities for an immediate war: first, if the men in the Kremlin were in danger of being overthrown by a revolution they might start a war to save themselves; and second, if we allow ourselves to be reduced to military impotence the Russian leaders might see an opportunity to "land a haymaker."

He said Russians often spoke of the coming war between Capitalism and Communism, but he could see no immediate danger of such a conflict.

PUNCHARD HIGH

By PATRICIA PETERKIN

ENGLISH

Several members of the English department of the Junior and Senior High schools attended the fall conference of the New England Association of Teachers of English held Friday and Saturday, October 15 and 16, at the Keene (N. H.) Teachers' College.

The general theme of the conference was "English and the Spoken Word." Children's stories, poems, classroom activities and radio broadcasting were among the subjects discussed.

Alumni Association

Perhaps you have heard someone say, "I wonder where they get the money to finance the girls' band?" Much of the money comes from the Punchard Alumni Association. During the past two years $250 was donated to help pay band expenses, $125 of which was recently given for repairs on instruments.

To finance their contributions, the Alumni Association throughout the year conducts many social events which they hope Punchard High school students will attend.

Assembly

A very musical period was spent in the Auditorium last Thursday afternoon, with entertainers Andrew de Costa and Lenore Ferrari in the spotlight, presenting their "Matchless Musical Moments." Mr. de Costa plays practically every instrument in the band, including the clarinet, flute, trumpet, French horn, saxophone, bass clarinet, and the oboe; while his partner plays the accordion.

Their program included several popular numbers and a medley of football tunes.

Among the novelty numbers were "Sweet Mystery of Love," and "The Bells of St. Mary's" played on two saxophones, and "I Love You Truly," played on three clarinets simultaneously.

The two performers were enjoyed by an enthusiastic audience of both Junior and Senior High students.

Bleachers

Some of the senior boys are now expert bleacher builders. They were very helpful to the Boosters' Club during the past weekend, taking apart bleachers and getting them from Dracut to Andover, and then reassembling them on the Andover playstead with the help of some other recruits. The Boosters' committee is very pleased with the willingness with which the students have helped them.

Rally

A vigorous rally was held last Friday evening before the Ashland game with a crowd of enthusiastic students on hand to cheer. The cheerleaders, and numbers of students followed the band down Main street, cheering for school and team.

A dance was held afterward in the gymnasium with a large number in attendance.

Booster's Day

Tickets are now on sale for Booster's Day, Thursday, November 11, on the Andover playstead. Our opponents in football that day will be the Methuen eleven.

Town Infirmary Standards High

The high standards of the Town Infirmary on Carmel road have drawn commendation from the Department of Public Health in a report just received by Roy E. Hardy, chairman of the Andover Board of Public Welfare.

The report covers an inspection of the building made last July, and includes only one recommendation regarding an inspection by the Department of Public Safety.

The letter, coming from Minna J. Detsch, district director, is as follows:

My dear Mr. Hardy:

Our report and recommendation on the inspection of your Infirmary, which took place on July 22, 1948, has been unduly delayed.

It was a pleasure to inspect an infirmary of such high standards, both as to maintenance and personnel, and the building itself is of exceptionally high quality.

The only recommendation we make at this time is that it would be a good practice for you to request an inspection by the State Department of Public Safety. It would be to your advantage to have the inspector's certificate of approval posted. All Boarding Homes for the Aged must meet the test of the Department of Public Safety, and we feel very sure that you would be just as interested in having this guarantee of safety for your Town Infirmary.

You are to be commended for the high standards maintained and the service available in your Town Infirmary.

Very truly yours,
MINNA J. DETSCH,
District Director.

Annual Report Shows Services Of Red Cross Increased Here

Our Fund Raising campaign, guided by Mr. Young and Mrs. Buchan, was very successful, exceeding our quota by a substantial margin.

The Home Service committee, under Mrs. Taverner's leadership, has averaged about 25 cases per month, totalling 311 during the year, an increase of about 25% over the previous year. About two-thirds of the cases centered about servicemen or their families. Two case workers provided the chairman with regular assistance and three others were available for emergencies.

The District Nurse made 1,534 calls during the year—an increase of about 100. Receipts amounted to $652.25. Mrs. Butler and Miss Woodbury attended a conference in New York in January. There is no immediate prospect of a change in our nursing program, unless you consider July 1950 as immediate.

The Mobile Blood Bank visited us on April 12th and 13th at the South Church. In spite of the earnest efforts of Mrs. Kimball and her committee, we reached about a little over 80% of our goal. This compares very favorably with other localities, but renewed effort and personal contact will be needed to meet the three day demand during 1949. The Red Cross has taken over the entire Blood Donor program in Massachusetts and needs one donor from every 32 people. The situation is immediate and pressing.

Community Service provides supplementary equipment and supplies to the Bedford Veterans Hospital and appeals to Andover organizations for contributions. During April, Andover supplied all the Hospital's Community service requests, including 300 separate games and contest prizes and several hundred individual small gifts. Our share of the cigarette pool approximates $300 per year, and demands are increasing. At Christmas we contributed toward the cost of patients' gifts, bringing up our year's expense to $570.47. Organizations, other than the Red Cross, contributed $103.36 in cash and supplied 50 game prizes. Mrs. Gale, chairman of the committee, wishes to express her thanks to Mrs. Blamire, Mrs. Boyce, Mrs. Johnston and to Mr. Young, our Coordinator.

Nine Gray Ladies, on active duty, one day a week, have served 1,512 hours at the Bedford Hospital—a very notable contribution.

Our Motor Corps, which Mrs. Field governs in close cooperation with her Gray Ladies committee, has made 218 trips, covering 11,000 miles in 385 hours of service. Our car is serving the chapter every week, the Veterans Affairs Office, Welfare Dept., Board of Health, School Nurse, Bedford Hospital, and the Blind. No wonder that new tires and a new motor are needed.

Mrs. Leland has been our only Arts and Skills worker since Mrs. Beattie left Andover. She has given 144 hours and would appreciate assistance by men or women in leathercraft, ceramics, textile painting, sequin and seed jewelry, paper and wood pulp flowers, pencil sketching, oil and watercolor painting, rug rooking, Swedish weaving and square knotting. Women volunteers are needed for both day and evening work and men for evening and weekend hours.

The Canteen Corps is still well organized under Mrs. McDuffie, but demands for its services are infrequent. They assisted in the Forest fire epidemic, that we so well remember, and served supper for the Fund solicitors and the staff of the Blood Bank. They have also provided refreshments for the Bedford Veterans Hospital patients.

The Junior Red Cross has been active and successful. Miss Hird reports full enrollment from the public, parochial and Marland schools. About 400 articles were given to hospitals. The Juniors assisted in the drive and contributed $50.00 to the Children's Fund. Twelve public school teachers assisted Miss Hird in these endeavors.

Miss Coolidge, last November, agreed to take the chairmanship of our Nutrition committee. She immediately organized an able group, and by letter, news items, and radio appeal, endeavored to form classes or offer other nutrition service. The results were extremely discouraging, and we can only report that our nutrition problems are not very pressing, if measured by public interest. I want to thank Miss Coolidge for her very sincere and well planned effort.

The Water Safety classes at Phillips Academy, Hussey's Pond and Poms Pond have been very well patronized, well conducted, and quite successful. Mr. Johnson issued 11 Junior and 31 Senior certificates, and Mr. Dunn advises a new high mark in aquatic activities. The Red Cross has assisted in leadership training, and Mr. Dunn is requesting an expansion of this Red Cross service. Forty-two certificates were issued at the ponds, out of a total enrollment of several hundred.

I wish to express my thanks to all the Andover supporters of the Red Cross, and call upon them for their continued interest and enrollment. Present indications are that some of our demands will increase in the very near future, particularly in Home Service work, aid to veterans in hospitals, and in the Blood Donor campaign. The harvest is ever ripe; the demand for personal service faces us every day.

Respectfully submitted,
ELLEN F. McCOLLUM.

STORY HOUR
Wednesday morning, October 27, at 10 o'clock, the Littlest Listeners group of pre-school children, three, four and five-year-olds, will meet in the Young People's room of the Memorial Hall library for a story hour. At the same time, the mothers will meet, and will review the discussion held last time on the subject of Hallowe'en and parties, games, crafts and decorations, as they apply to the very youngest merry-makers. The mothers' group will outline plans for a complete party which will be safe and still satisfying for the pre-school age. All children of these ages and their mothers are cordially invited to attend these groups, held every other Wednesday morning at 10:00 o'clock, during the school year.

You needn't be rich to serve meat fairly often (though nowadays it certainly helps if you are!). You can stretch small amounts surprisingly far by combining them with A&P's sensibly-priced cereals and canned foods. Here's how:

ENJOY A GOOD, LONG LOAF!
To make a man-size meat loaf at a budget-wise price, combine 1 1/2 lbs. ground meat, 1 egg, 1/4 tsp. pepper, 2 tps. salt, 1/2 cup chopped celery, 2 tps. chopped onion, 1/2 cup chopped celery leaves and 1 can tomato soup. Mix well. Add 4 cups of A&P's crispy SUNNYFIELD CORN FLAKES or SUNNYFIELD WHEAT FLAKES (slightly crushed). Pack into greased 9"x5"x3" loaf pan and bake in moderate oven, 375°F., 1 1/2 hours. 6 to 8 servings.

STRETCH IT OUT WITH KRAUT!
You won't hear a single beef about ground beef prepared this way: To 1/2 lb., add 1/2 tsp. salt; shape into balls and cook in 2 tps. fat until browned, turning occasionally. Add 1 cup boiling water, 2 onions (cut in halves), 1 cup cooked or canned tomatoes and 1 #2 can of A&P SAUERKRAUT. Simmer about 1 hour. Serves 4.

Two cups of left-over meat will serve 4 to 6 people... right... if it's stretched so: Mix together 1 finely chopped onion, 1/2 tsp. salt, 1 tsp. horseradish, 1 tsp. mustard and 1/2 tsp. pepper. Add to 2 cups mashed potatoes. Combine 1 egg (beaten), 1/2 cup WHITE HOUSE EVAPORATED MILK from the A&P (undiluted), 1 tsp. melted margarine and 2 cups left-over or ready-cooked meat (chopped). Add to potato mixture and pile into greased 1 1/2 quart casserole. Bake in hot oven, 425°F., 25 minutes.

BAKED BEANS? BY ALL MEANS
When finances are low, give thanks for franks and A&P's thrifty ANN PAGE BEANS... and put them together like this: To two 16-oz. cans of beans, add 2 or 3 sliced frankfurters, 1 tsp. brown sugar, 1/2 tsp. grated onion and 1/4 cup tomato juice or ketchup. Pour into a moderate oven, 350°F., 25-30 minutes. 6 satisfying servings.

Assemblies

Last Thursday Mr. and Mrs. DeCoste Ferrari, a famous musical pair, gave a fine assembly program before an audience of Junior and Senior High School members. Mrs. Ferrari acted as master of ceremonies and accompanied her husband on an accordion as he performed with thirteen different instruments during the program.

Last Friday during assembly, Mr. Nelson inaugurated the new school officers. The new President Raeburn Hathaway then introduced the members of the Student Council, followed by Barbara Foley, the secretary who presented the homeroom officers.

A student council meeting was held with President Hathaway presiding. The minutes of the last meeting were read, and the treasurer's report was given, after which the meeting was open for discussion.

Because of the generous help of the League of Women Voters, the pupils of the Junior High will observe United Nations week, during assembly period, Friday. A movie on the United Nations, obtained by Mrs. Phillip K. Allan, will be shown. She and Mrs. Peter McKee will then answer questions on the U. N. Several ninth graders have been working with Mrs. Allan on this project. They are Frances Dunlavy, Lyman Gale, and Janet Thompson.

Sports

The principal, coach, and students are grateful to the parents who contributed their automobiles for the transportation of the boys who played in the Methuen game Friday. Transportation for games away is quite essential, because the school cannot hire a bus each time.

The Junior High Varsity held the Methuen Junior Varsity to a tie score, 6-6, in a hard fought game at Methuen last Friday afternoon.

In the second quarter, Dan Worcester intercepted a pass and ran about 40 yards to the two yard line, and Alan Wilson carried the ball from there for a touchdown. The Methuen touchdown was scored in the last minutes of play after a short punt bounced behind our goal line.

All the members of the team played a fine game, but outstanding were Co-Captains Alan Wilson and Jack Morgan, Dan Worcester, and Gil Effinger.

The Andover boys who participated in the game are as follows: le, Morocco, DeSalvo; lg, Bramley; lt, Rogers; c, McGrath, Ostrowski; rg, Townsend; rt, Poland, Holmes; re, Effinger; qb, Graves, Dolan, Murray; lhb, Wilson; rhb, Morgan; fb, Worcester, Partridge, McCafferty.

The boys' intramural soccer season has been completed. The results are as follows: Reds won first place with five points, Golds second with three, the Blues third with two, and the Greens fourth place with one point.

A scrimmage was played last Wednesday with Central Catholic freshmen, the Andover Junior Varsity winning, three touchdowns to two.

P. T. A. mothers will hold their annual drive on Thursday of this week, when they will visit the homerooms at 1:45.

English Conference
Last weekend, Miss Beatrice Stevens, Miss Anni Angelo, Miss Nancy Hird, and Miss Katherine Sweeney of the English department attended an English conference in Keene, N. H.

Mathematics
Tuesday, October 19, Miss Evelyn Parker, Arthur Weiss, and Carl Martini of the Mathematics department, attended a mathematics conference in Malden.

Banking
Tuesday, October 13, was banking day, and 68 pupils deposited a total of $118.10. On October 19, a total of $149.05 was deposited by 71 pupils. Every week shows an increase in the amount of money banked. The seventh graders lead in money deposited, with the ninth graders a close second.

Business Department
The business group addressed envelopes to assist the committee in sending out tickets for the concerts given by the Andover Community orchestra.

Four pupils from the Business division assist Miss Evelyn Parker and Miss Beatrice Stevens daily in the cafeteria in operating the cash registers. They are: Karolyn Erler, Kathleen Doyle, Catherine Anderson, and Lucille Spinella.

Dance Committee

At 11:30 Monday, members of the Dance committee met and discussed plans for future dances. The first school dance will be held sometime in November. The members of the committee are: Joan Buckley, Sam DeSalvo, Janet Valentine, Richard Graves, Ruth Belka, Brad McCormick, Sandra Guertin, Jack Hill, Gill Effinger, Shirley Murray, Janet Svenson, Walter Wood, Dorothy Hastings, Jack Morgan, Maureen Collins, Richard Holmes, Judy Colmer, Jack Carver, Dorcas Johnston, Larry Lewis, Joyce Williams, Robert West, Betsie Spark, and Raymond Yancy.

Teachers Course

Professor Barnes of Boston University is presenting a Harvard-B. U. course, entitled, "The World Community" to a group of teachers in the Junior High on Thursday afternoons. EDITORIAL THOUGHTS

VOLUME 61, NUMBER 1

There is one outstanding difference between a newspaper and a human being. The periodical enjoys old age. As the years roll on, and the age of the publication increases, the better it all is. Not so, of course, with man — or woman. The human species never enjoys growing old.

Today, the Andover Townsman proudly rates its age: "Volume 61, Number 1." That, in plain, everyday English means we are 60 years old and are beginning our 61st year. Three-score years is a long time to have served a community, but that is the plain, unvarnished truth. For ten years more than half a century we have been on the job, once every week.

We feel that we are part of Andover, and we hope Andover is part of us. By that we mean that we would not like to think that the town would be any more willing to part with us, than we would be to part with the town!

All we can say, on this birthday, is that although we are no longer young in years, we are still young in spirit. We have that up-and-do spirit that is common with youth, and we hope we have combined with it the wisdom that befits one of our years.

JOHN MASON KEMPER

Last Friday's inauguration "on the hill" was an historic occasion. Every time a new headmaster assumes office at Phillips Academy it is an occasion worthy of note, but somehow the inauguration of John Mason Kemper seems to mean a great deal. Certainly those who know the man have a feeling that never before was a more outstanding man picked for a particular job. That is saying a great deal, because Mr. Kemper has had some outstanding predecessors.

When a change is made, it is wise for those who do the picking to pick the right type — the right sort — the one who will best do the job in the years ahead. We fully believe that the trustees have made a magnificent choice. John Mason Kemper HAS what it takes. Moreover, he is still young — only 36 — and there is no good reason why he should not serve the school for at least two score years!

It may not be quite so long, and again it may be a little longer. But what difference do a few years make? Phillips Academy is well supplied right now, and there should be nothing to worry about in that line for many years to come.

THE REFERENDA

Last week The Townsman, in an advertisement, carried explanations of the various referenda which the people will be asked to vote on November 2. During the past few days, in addition, all voters have been sent official sheets setting forth the same information.

Have you studied the referenda which you will be asked to vote upon? Do you know how you are going to vote?

Don't wait until you go into the polling booth before you give the question the class attention that it merits. You can't possibly make up your mind in two or three minutes.

Better be prepared before you get your ballot. Study the several questions, and when you go to the polls have a pretty good idea what you are going to say. Then vote according to the dictates of your conscience.

If everybody did that we would have some worthwhile elections.

THE SMOKER'S RESPONSIBILITY

The cigarette you just reached for is more than a little paper tube filled with tobacco. It is a potassium chlorate torch that will burn at a high heat until it is consumed to ashes. The chemical is mixed with the tobacco in order to make it burn steadily.

The significance of this should be clear to anyone. The apparently harmless cigarette is one of the greatest menaces to life and property when carelessly handled. Last year, care-less smokers were responsible for 130,000 fires — many of which caused death, injury and high property damage. Will the total be greater this year?

The rules for safe handling of cigarettes, and all other tobacco products, are simple enough. Always put them out in an ash tray or some other safe container when you're done with them. Never throw a burning butt from a car — this particular type of carelessness has caused some of the worst forest fires the country has known. That's one reason the car makers put an ash receiver in cars. And, above all, don't smoke in bed. A cigarette will set bedding afire far more quickly than most of us realize — as many a smoker has learned to his sorrow. And smoking in bed has sent a legion of smokers into the hereafter prematurely.

So, if you smoke, accept the responsibility that goes with it — the responsibility to use tobacco safely, in accordance with the rules.

The Atlanta, Ga., police department has ordered department stores to draw their show-window shades when putting new costumes on dummies. They must have Peeping Toms in Atlanta!

must be somehow fitted into the present pattern of national rights and politics.

And she has an argument. She simply cannot afford to accept international control if her present form of government and leadership is to remain. Atomic control is in direct contradiction to Russia's attitude to the outside world. She has set up a form of government and an economic system that depend for their existence upon repression of individual rights of any sort. Her people are forced into the greatest economic monopoly that exists. And while the Russian people may be promised all kinds of good things in the future, the fact is that they've never had enough of anything since the Revolution. In all the dictatorships so far, the central government has taken over industry, told people where they may work, how much they will be paid, what they can buy, and generally failed to provide them with the good life. On the record, when industries are developed on a basis of production for national defense, the standard of living decreases. Ordinary consumer goods are in short supply or disappear altogether. Then the problem is to convince the people of the need for continued shortages.

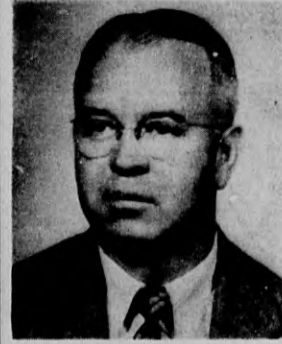

"A State of Siege" If an iron curtain can be maintained, that problem can be solved with some chance of success. Convince the people that they are threatened from outside, that existence depends upon continued sacrifice, and they will be more ready to accept inconveniences. A constant cold breath of fear will keep them in hand. Russia's present policy of finding fault with the Western powers, her denunciation of the Marshall Plan, her attacks upon atomic proposals of the West and her apparent peace feelers are largely for home consumption. Very naturally her leaders refuse to allow across her borders any influences that contradict their propaganda. If the Russian people can be made to believe that they are better off than other nations, the fiction has a better chance for survival. Hence the repeated attacks upon bourgeois capitalist countries, the perversion of information about those nations are all part of a deliberate policy. Gromyko showed this fear of outside influence quite clearly in the Security Council last year. "Unlimited control would mean an unlimited interference of the control and controlling organ in the economic life of the countries on whose territories the control would be carried out. . . . This is not the task of the United Nations."

Some critics of American foreign policy have denounced it as the reason for Russia's attitude. They ignore the repeated attempts we have made to compromise issues, our earnest desire to avoid the horrors of war. Some think, as did Sumner Welles, "The insane delusion that democracy and communism cannot simultaneously exist in the world is rampant." Yet that "delusion" has reason for existence.

What is Russia afraid of? Does she really think, from the record, that the United States intends to attack her? The past three years do not back up that point of view. Is she afraid that the good life in America would cause the Russians to question their own living conditions? Or is the real reason her desire to expand, almost at any cost? Unless another reason can be found, one of these must motivate Russian policy. And it is unquestionable that any real system of international government, however limited, cannot be acceptable to Russia. We can expect to see more proposals from Russia on the issue of disarmament and atomic control, but it is extremely unlikely, almost unthinkable, that she will accept any sort of restriction on her own free actions, or permit any interference from outside. The iron curtain is not a figment of the imagination. It is literally there, and the Russians intend that it shall not be raised.

When the Armistice was signed, he was at First Army Headquarters as regimental sergeant major in personnel. What Our Readers Say —

SEWAGE IN RIVER

Chandler road, Andover, Mass.

Editor of The Townsman:

It seems to me that my good friends, the Andover Board of Selectmen, have taken a very poor stand on Question No. 10, namely, the so-called "Merrimack River Sewer Disposal Project," as have their predecessors, in having ever started to dispose of sewage by dumping it in a river. To one who loves the fields, woods, and streams, it seems a sacrifice. The only reason the Selectmen are opposed to this sewage disposal project is the cost.

Has anyone ever considered what it has cost in the past to continue the present practice of sewage disposal via the Shawshen and the Merrimack, or has anyone studied the benefits that might accrue to Andover from healthy additional recreation facilities? After all, with the cost of living still rising, with taxes up, about all we have left is our health, and if we have our health, we are blessed with about 90% of what we are working for. If you don't think so, look around you for those who have been afflicted with polio, diphtheria, scarlet fever, and many other terrible diseases, for which no one, even our most eminent physicians have the answers.

For the last sixteen years I have been connected with a mill in Lawrence which is near one of the South Lawrence sewer outlets which empties into the Merrimack river, and I have had all I want of sewers. In case anyone is interested, and I hope they are, they can check some of my observations by stopping on the O'Leary bridge.

When the water is not flowing over the dam, do you know that: All the water from the bridge to the dam is nothing but sewerage?

Do you know what the smell is like on a warm summer day?

Do you know that I have, personally, asked children to refrain from fishing at this spot?

Do you know I have seen fish caught, and taken home from this spot?

Do you know that the sea gulls delight in feeding at this spot?

Do you know whether or not, these same sea gulls have been told not to go to Haggett's, Pomp's or Hussey's?

Do you know that I have seen gulls in all of these ponds, Haggett's especially?

Consideration of the above problems are not very pleasant, but any one of them is a $50,000 question. You may think these problems concern Lawrence alone, but do the sea gulls know?

Are you positive that if a Lawrence child becomes ill, your own child will not be contaminated at the theatres, sports event, or some other public place? By SEN. PHILIP K. ALLEN

The next department which we shall examine is that of Labor and Industries. This department, established in 1919, has increased its scope as the problems of labor and the problems of management have increased.

The department is administered by Commissioner Daniel J. Boyle, of Peabody, and Assistant Commissioner, Mrs. Hattie Smith, of Boston. (By statute, the Assistant Commissioner is a woman.) In addition, there are three associate members who comprise the Board of Conciliation and Arbitration and the Minimum Wage Commission. There is also a legal branch of the department, the functions of which are to prosecute in the courts employers found guilty of the violations of the statutes and to advise the department on legal questions relative to the administration of the law.

The Board of Conciliation consists of three members, one a representative of Labor, one a representative of Employers of Labor, and the third, while he is not so designated, is commonly referred to as the representative of the Public. They are appointed by the Governor, with the approval of the council, for a term of three years each, one term expiring each year. It is interesting to note that this board was established in 1886 and was one of the first boards to be so established in the country.

The duties of this board consist not only in aiding the parties in labor controversies to adjust their differences amicably, but also in preventing through its advice, services, and suggestions such controversies from arising. As an arbitration board it has made thousands of decisions which have settled the issues, but more important, have in large measure given the parties concerned confidence in as fair and equitable solution as could be possible under the circumstances. It must be pointed out also that the power of the Board lies in the fact that it acts only with the voluntary consent of all parties and there is nothing compulsory in the law that forces either employees or employers to accept its decision.

The Minimum Wage commission is set up to enforce mandatory wage orders. These orders are established in specific occupations and are not, therefore, blanket orders.

According to law, "the Commissioner shall have the power and it shall be his duty on the petition of fifty or more citizens of the Commonwealth to cause an investigation to be made of the wages paid to any person in any occupation in order to ascertain if any substantial number of persons in such occupation are receiving oppressive and unreasonable wages." If, upon this investigation, the wages seem to be unreasonable and oppressive, a wage board is appointed by the commission, made up of nine persons — three representing the employees, three the employer, and three the public. Upon their recommendation after public hearings and further investigation a minimum wage order is issued which affects all of the employees within that particular occupation.

Persons employed in interstate industry are covered by the federal minimum wage law. Those in interstate industries or occupations are handled by these minimum wage orders.

At the present time there are approximately one and one-half million workers employed in all industries in Massachusetts. Some 900,000 are employed in interstate industries, and 60,000 in so-called service industries. All of the 600,000 will, in a short time be covered by minimum wages set up by this commission. It is also interesting to note that nearly all these 60,000 are receiving 55c or more per hour.

Historically, the Massachusetts system of minimum wages was among the very first in the country and has now become the pattern for other states.

Because of the difficulty in confining a discussion of this sort to a single column, we will continue with the other divisions of the Department of Labor and Industries next week.

Her veil of imported French illusion was attached to a halo headdress of white satin braid and she carried a cascade of white snap drays.

White gladioli and chrysanthemums, ferns and autumn leaves were colorfully arranged on the altar of the South church for the 12 o'clock ceremony which was performed by the Rev. Frederick B. Noss. The church organist played the wedding music and presented a group of specially selected compositions prior to the ceremony.

The bride, escorted by her father, was preceded to the altar by her sister, Mrs. John K. Griffin of Portsmouth, N. H., matron of honor, Patience O. Lewin, another sister, and Dorothy L. Jenkins, sister of the groom, junior bridesmaids, both of Andover. With her mint green taffeta gown, the honor attendant wore a headdress of gold flowers and carried a cascade of rust chrysanthemums. The bridesmaids wore identical pale green taffeta gowns with hoop skirts and gold headdresses and carried old fashioned bouquets of pink sweet peas and roses.

John W. McGrath of Andover was best man and the ushers were W. R. Spencer of North Vassalboro, Me., and Burton A. Jenkins of Andover.

Mrs. Lewin, charming in her gray silk crepe gown with hunter's green accessories and corsage of pink roses, and the bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Jenkins, in a lovely mocha silk crepe gown, chocolate brown accessories and corsage of sweet peas, assisted the bride and groom at their reception in the church vestry.

Friends and relatives from Dallas, Texas, Maine, New Hampshire, Connecticut, Rhode Island, Boston and southern Massachusetts were present at the ceremony.

When Mr. and Mrs. Jenkins return from a motor trip to Niagara Falls, they will live in Andover.

The bride, a graduate of Dedham High school and Katharine Gibbs school, is a past Worthy Advisor of the Order of Rainbow for Girls and is now employed at the Merrimack Mutual Fire Insurance company. Her husband attended Phillips Academy after graduation from Pynchard High school. During the last World War he served as a sergeant in the Army Air Corps and is now a student at Burdett College.

River Plan Will Increase Taxes

(Continued From Page One) something like $14,000,000. This cost is based on the 1946 estimate and we believe that present-day cost of nearly $20,000,000 would be much nearer the truth. Based on either river frontage, population, or number of manufacturing plants, Andover's cost would probably be over $2,000,000. We might also be faced with the necessity of building our own sewerage treatment plant. It is proposed that a considerable part of the cost be levied against local manufacturers. There is already rumor that this may mean the loss of some of these plants. We strongly request that you advise Andover citizens to vote "No" on this question November 2nd.

Very truly yours, ROY E. HARDY, Chairman Board of Selectmen. As the result of this letter, Chairman Gleason has called a meeting of the Taxpayers' Association for early next week when the question will come up for action.

TRAVELING TOM CATS THREAT TO DAIRYMEN

Shoot that traveling tom cat, for he spells double trouble, is the warning given to dairymen by agricultural investigators. This cat is not only worthless as a killer of rats, but he's a carrier of disease which reduce the productivity of valuable dairy animals. Depend instead, they say, on poisons approved by the United States rodent control men for getting rid of rats and mice. You'll be money ahead.

Eddie Ellis and Hank Brearly, who operate the well-known Andover Sales and Service at 61 Park street, are busy putting Andover cars in condition for a rugged winter.

As you probably know from experience, the Andover Sales and Service is the only place in Andover where you can get thorough motor rebuilding and motor re-boring work done on your car. This is the kind of job that requires expert mechanics plus just the right equipment.

Worn out parts, even small ones, may mean a serious accident someday, so when you have a bit of spare time, take the car into the Andover Sales and Service and have it thoroughly checked. If a replacement is necessary, or a repair job in order, Eddie Ellis or Hank Brearly will do an expert job at a fair price.

Don't wait until the roads are clogged with snow and ice before you have that motor job done, or those brakes tightened up. Call Andover 24, and drive with comfort and safety this coming winter.

1 1/2 Billion Dollar Road Block!

RAILROADS MUST OPERATE around the clock every day and night of the year.

Although they know this, leaders of 16 railroad unions are demanding a five-day, Monday through Friday, week for one million railroad employees.

They want 48 hours pay for 40 hours work—in itself a 20% wage increase.

They also demand a minimum of 12 hours pay for any work performed on Saturdays, and 16 hours pay for any work performed on Sundays and holidays.

On top of all this they want an additional increase of 25c an hour for every employe!

You'd Pay the Bill!

Summing up these demands, they mean that these union leaders seek to force the railroads to give one million employes an annual raise which would average $1500 per employe!

The total cost of this would be no less than 1 1/2 billion dollars per year, which is more than twice the expected net income of the railroads this year.

You'd pay the bill, because if these increased costs are forced on the railroads, they must have still further rate and fare increases.

Demands Unreasonable

These employes have had substantial raises during and since the war. Their average weekly earnings are higher than the average weekly earnings of workers in manufacturing industries. They have more job security than the average worker in American industry. They also enjoy paid vacations, a retirement system and other advantages more generous than the average worker receives.

In contrast with the demands of these 16 unions, which add up to the equivalent of 48c an hour, the Conductors and Trainmen recently settled their wage request for an increase of 10c an hour.

Railroads Run for Everybody—Not Employes Alone

The railroad industry must serve not one but many groups—producers, businessmen, shippers, passengers and the general public—night and day, every day of the year. These unions are proceeding in utter disregard of this important difference between railroads and other industries. Industrial plants can be shut down over weekends and holidays, but freight, mail, express and passengers must continue to move. Everybody who enters railroad employment knows this.

Strike Threat

On September 18, 1948, the leaders of these 16 unions began taking a strike vote. But the threat of a strike will not alter the opposition of the railroads to such unreasonable demands!

The dolls are sent with other toys in time to be given out at the Christmas festival. Other Abbot groups are at work knitting articles to be sent to Europe, while the handcrafts unit will continue a program of producing wares for the Abbot bazaar.
