VIEWS OF THE NEWS

BY LEONARD F. JAMES

In the excitement of frantic headlines and breathless commentators ready to sacrifice fact for publicity, the citizen may well lose sight of a very vital function of the United Nations. Caught in the current of arguments on whether or not the Atlantic Alliance sidesteps and harms the United Nations, the citizen may well become convinced that the organization was devised only for political purposes, that its life is now practically worthless. He may too easily dissociate cause and effect. He may forget that war is the result of certain causes, and thus fail to realize that the United Nations is also trying to eliminate the causes before they become aggravated into international tension.

U. N. Purposes —
To Keep The Peace

True enough, the causes of war cannot be scientifically labeled and card-indexed. We do not yet understand group impulses which threaten peace. Sometimes a lust for power may threaten war, sometimes the defense of what is called national prestige, or the emergence of a powerful national

Francis P. Markey Honored By Legion

Francis P. Markey, veterans' affairs agent, was accorded a distinctive tribute at the anniversary meeting of the Legion in the Memorial auditorium last Thursday night.

Sponsored by Andover post, the dual purpose of the occasion drew a large gathering of veterans, Legion officials and friends to the testimonial program in which a solid gold life membership card in the American Legion was presented to Mr. Markey, and a television set presented to Mr. and Mrs. Markey.

Speakers called attention to the long and valued service Mr. Markey had given the post and the veterans of the town.

He was named veterans' service officer 30 years ago, 25 of which went without pay. He was at the service of the veterans, their widows and mothers at all times during those years. The board of selectmen appointed him town veterans' service officer five years ago. Chairman of the board of selectmen, Roy E. Hardy stated during his brief talk that the position of veterans' service officer was opened to Mr. Markey as long as he wanted to serve in that capacity. He went on to say that the town

Bank Man Takes Third
As Judges Announce
Names of All Winners

The "What Would You Do To Improve The Townsman" contest has been concluded with the announcement by the judges today of the twelve winners who will share eleven prizes.

The judges found their task a painstaking and exacting one because of the many splendid suggestions offered by the participants. It called for a careful analysis of each letter submitted and all evaluation of the merit of the constructive ideas presented in the letters. The contest has proven itself definitely profitable to The Townsman management as well as to those who will share in the cash awards. The management will benefit greatly by the frank and progressive suggestions which will be reflected from time to time in the columns of The Townsman.

Twelve Andover persons will be richer by $225.00 by the distribution of the prizes because of their interest in their town and the newspaper that bears its name. Publisher Irving E. Rogers is grateful to all who participated in the contest and hopes that from

Discusses Action On Comic Books

Police Chief George A. Dane discussed the comic book situation last Thursday evening when he appeared as guest speaker at a meeting of the Ballardvale PTA in the Bradlee school.

Chief Dane told his audience of the forming of a Greater Lawrence committee to censor the comic books that have been so popular with juveniles and of its success due to the cooperation of distributors in the area.

The committee was formed, he said, following the arrest of two juveniles in Lawrence in connection with a series of house breaks. Investigation showed they were getting some of their ideas from the comic books. He said he felt it was up to parents to observe the type of comic books being brought into the homes.

Mrs. John Wilson presided at the business meeting that followed. She said that a nominating committee and a banquet committee would be appointed soon.

Delegates to the P.T.A. convention that will be held in Lowell Apr. 21 were appointed as follows: Mrs. Edna O'Hara, Mrs. John Wilson, Mrs. Roy Blinn, Mrs. Alma Marshall, Mrs. Paul Payne, Bart Smalley and James Butler.

Mrs. Wilson gave a report of the funds realized at the presentation of "Pinocchio," presented by

Scout To Have Classes At Pomp's

The summer season at Pomp's pond will bring a newly organized program for boy scouts of the Andover district.

Instruction will begin early in July, probably in the mornings. All scoutmasters have been notified and any scout considering these tests should register with his scoutmaster.

Wage Increase Granted In Tree And Moth Dep'ts

Men Advanced 11 Cents an Hour and Foreman 13 Cents — Department Head Asks Selectmen for Increase in Own Salary From $56 To $70 a Week

An increase in the wages of employees in the tree and moth departments were announced by G. R. Abbott, head of both departments, when he appeared before the board of selectmen Monday night and requested an increase in his own salary.

Mr. Abbott, the selectmen reported, asked that his salary be increased from $56 a week, as voted by the town meeting in March, to $70 a week.

At the same time he further stated that he had increased the wages of his men 11 cents an hour and the wages of his foreman 13 cents an hour. One foreman and three other men make up the entire personnel of both departments.

In making his announcement he stated that he had full authority to make the increases regardless of the opinion of the selectmen.

He also advised the board, the report continued, that the increase would result in the possibility of laying off men during part of the year.

The board of selectmen, the report stated, is unanimous in the opinion that the action taken by the tree warden is ill-advised and contrary to the wishes of the town as expressed at the town meeting in March.

The board advised Mr. Abbott that his request for an increase in his own salary would be taken under consideration.

The increases granted by Mr. Abbott raises the pay of foreman from $1.13 to $1.26 an hour, and the men from $1.11 to $1.22 an hour. At the same time the hours of work were reduced from 45 to 44 a week.

The winning posters will be used to advertise the forthcoming flower show to be held by the Andover Garden club May 25.

The posters were judged for design, originality, advertising appeal and decorative quality. The judges were: Mrs. Frank M. Benton, Mrs. Charles Hollis and Mrs. Byron T. Cleveland, members of the club.

Ask For Division Of Town Insurance

A request for a division of the town insurance was made to the board of selectmen at Monday night's meeting.

Harvey Abbott, representing the Hartford Fire Insurance Co., W. Shirley Barnard, William A. Doherty and James D. Doherty appeared at the session of the full board and presented this request.

No action was taken, the board reporting that the question was taken under advisement.

All members were present when the meeting opened at 7:30 p. m. Raymond M. Burton was given permission to move a building from Boston road to Old County road.

The N. E. Tel. and Tel. Co., was given permission to remove three poles on Chestnut street, west of Highland road.

Permission was granted the Lawrence Gas and Electric Co., to locate a pole on the northerly side of Lowell street, westerly from Brown street, two existing pole locations in the area to be abandoned.

After a public hearing permission was granted the Lawrence Gas and Electric Co., to place one pole on the northerly side of Upland road, southeast from Summer street, and relocate one pole on Upland road southerly from Summer street.

The board discussed with Police Chief George A. Dane and

Gives Safety Rules For Bicycle Riders

With the coming of fine spring days and the appearance of more and more bicycles on the streets already crowded with traffic, Police Chief George A. Dane offers a word of caution to the young riders for their own safety.

He points out that all traffic regulations that apply to automobiles apply to bicycles, that they should always observe and obey traffic lights, that they are not allowed to ride on sidewalks, and that they should always ride in single file, and not ride abreast.

To emphasize the importance of proper safety measures for bicyclists he will have Officer James R. Lynch, who has charge of school patrols in schools, include special instructions for bicyclists in the talks which he will soon make in all schools of the town. Some of the matters to be brought to the attention of youngsters is the precaution against having a passenger on the handle bars, and the attempts of smaller lads to ride bikes of their bigger brothers when they can hardly reach the pedals and have proper control of the vehicle.

With so many children riding bicycles back and forth to school,

Boys Responsible For Camp Breaks

Several breaks in camps during the past few weeks have been cleared up by police who report that groups of young boys have been responsible for the damage done.

A canoe, reported stolen from a camp near Lowell junction, has been recovered as well as oarlocks and knives taken from the camp of C. P. Woodworth at Haggetts Pond.

Of the nine breaks reported in March, eight have been solved. Police say that young boys were responsible for all of them.

For Bicycle Riders

Officer Lynch will also pay special attention to the school patrols that have been established for riders and the necessity of observing directions given by patrol leaders.

Chief Dane subscribes to the safety rules for bicycle riders recently announced by Rudolph F. King, registrar of motor vehicles.

They are as follows:
Observe all traffic regulations—red and green lights, one-way streets, stop signs.

Keep to the right and ride in a straight line. Always ride in single file.

Have white light on front and danger signal on rear for night riding.

Have satisfactory signaling device to warn of approach.
Give pedestrians the right of way.

Look out for cars pulling out into traffic. Keep sharp look-out for sudden opening of auto doors.

Never hitch on other vehicles, "stunt" or race in traffic.

Never carry other riders—carry no packages that obstruct vision or prevent proper control of cycle.

Be sure your brakes are operating efficiently and keep your bicycle in perfect running condition.

Slow down at all street intersections and look to right and left before crossing.

Always use proper hand signals for turning and stopping.

Don't weave in or out of traffic or swerve from side to side.

Francis P. Markey
Honored By Legion

was indeed fortunate to have a man filling the position because he was accommodating and above all Mr. Markey had a conscience.

Philip K. Allen, former state senator, spoke highly of Mr. Markey and the esteem with which he is held by people of the town. He also voiced the possibility of seeing at some future date one building that would house all of the veterans of the town.

Among Legion guests present were: State Commander Philip Cashman, County Commander Harold Glynn of Lynn, County Vice Commander Hansery Jackson of Salem, Commander Mary C. Bailey, All-Women's post, 427, A.L., Commander Maurice Ravich, Lawrence post.

Commander Kenneth L. Sherman read several telegrams of congratulations from veterans and friends who were unable to attend, one of which was from Neil J. Cronin, veterans service officer of Boston.

Stafford A. Lindsay, past commander of Andover post and long associated with Mr. Markey in affairs of the Legion, made the presentation speech in which he told of the many occasions in past years where the guest of honor had given much of his time for affairs of the post and for veterans and their dependents.

Earlier in the program Frank G. McCarthy, Jr. tenor, sang "The Star Spangled Banner," "Ave Maria," "I Hear You Calling Me," "Just Awearyin' For You" and "The Sunshine of Your Smile." The "Ave Maria" and "I Hear You Calling Me," Mr. Markey's favorite songs were dedicated especially to him.

The gathering then went to the school cafeteria where an oyster stew prepared by Joseph A. McCarthy, a past commander and his committee was enjoyed.

Sir Isaac Newton was a poor student as a young boy.

Control Woodchucks During Month of May

The merry month of May is the time to control woodchucks, not after the crop has been destroyed.

This is a warning issued to Massachusetts farmers and gardeners by Charles C. Scott, Jr., mammal control supervisor for western Massachusetts with headquarters at the University of Mass., Amherst.

After the crop is ruined is like the proverbial stunt of locking the barn after the horse is stolen, Scott declares.

He lists three reasons why the month of May is the time to carry out woodchuck control. Burrows are easily spotted. The young are still at home under the parental wing, and the family is using only one burrow. All of these add up to the fact that it's easier and cheaper to control woodchucks in May than later in the season.

Gas cartridges are the easiest and most effective methods, declares Scott. These cartridges may be obtained through the country agricultural agent.

CITY POPULATIONS GAIN

According to the census bureau, there has been a pronounced shift of population away from rural areas and toward the cities since 1940. The rural group takes in farmers and their families, together with all other persons living in communities of less than 2500 population.

In 1940, the rural population comprised 43.5 per cent of the total population, compared with an estimated 40.6 per cent at the present time. Farm population was 23 per cent of the total in 1940; today the figure has dropped to 18.7 per cent, the lowest on record, reckoned on the basis of percentage.

The increasing mechanization of agriculture is largely responsible for the relative decline in farm population. In the early days of this country, more than 90 per cent of the people lived on farms. Today, with less than 19 per cent of the people engaged in agriculture, the United States is the best-fed nation in the world, and we have a surplus large enough to make up the deficiencies of needy countries overseas.

SOUTH CHURCH NOTES

The Rev. Frederick B. Noss and his family moved into the new South church parsonage at 62 Elm st., on Wednesday, and are now getting settled in their new home. The parsonage is a very pleasant and attractive place and great credit goes to the parsonage committee for their selection and for the renovations that have made the house so well adapted for the use of the minister in his work. The parsonage committee includes Roy Hardy, chairman; Edmund Hammond, Clifford Marshall, and Thaxter Eaton.

Abbot Notes...

Lacrosse, introduced for the first time in the Abbot sports program, will be one of the major sports of the spring term. The game is rapidly gaining in popularity in this region. Contrary to supposition, the game for girls is unique in its lack of personal contact and rough stick work.

At once, following the announcement of lacrosse as a major sport this term, 95 signed up as applicants. The game is being taught in three sections under the direction of Miss Dorothy Judd of the Abbot physical education department. Competing with each other are the Gargoyle and Griffin lineups. The practice contests will terminate on field day, May 28, when the final match will be played. Other major sports in the spring program are baseball, headed by Mercy Barnes of Plymouth, tennis, headed jointly by Deborah Redfield, Swampscott, and Ann Lindamood of Tip-tonville, Tenn.; track, headed by Elizabeth Bradley of La Porte, Tex. The head of lacrosse will be chosen after the sport has developed leaders.

The Abbot birthday bazaar will take place Saturday, May 7, with ideal weather promised for all outdoor activities. The objectives are the same as in former years, two in number: chief beneficiary being the World Student service fund toward which Abbot has always contributed a noteworthy gift, and to offer a festive afternoon to all who come.

Miss Hearsey has announced that Miss Edith Grassi of Haverhill, and Miss Barbara Humes of Greenfield, both members of the Abbot faculty will act respectively as chairman and co-chairman of the bazaar. Booths will be situated on the Abbot circle, and wares of all kinds will be offered. The tea room is to be as gay and picturesque as ever, and will prove most inviting as a place to entertain friends at tea. Additional news of the bazaar will be released as the date approaches.

HOW MODERN MIRACLE OF DESIGN MAKES THE NEW DODGE DIFFERENT!

Different!
LONGER on the inside
... SHORTER outside!

Different!
WIDER on the inside
... NARROWER outside!

Different!
HIGHER on the inside
... LOWER outside!

WHO SAYS all cars are alike? Just look at the new Dodge, the car that dares to be different! Different in the sleek lines that flow from true functional styling. Different inside—and out! Inside, this new Dodge is bigger three ways—longer, wider, higher! But outside it is actually shorter, narrower, lower. No bulky lines to balk you when parking or garaging your new Dodge. Here is a miracle of design that puts your comfort first. Wide opening doors that make it easy to get in and out . . . inside all the head room, leg room, elbow room you could ask for.

EDITORIAL THOUGHTS

ADMIT THE PUBLIC AND THE PRESS

The townsfolk of Andover are a tolerant people and it is surprising that they allow for the intolerance of the men who constitute the board of selectmen. Chairman Hardy and his two associates, Mr. Collins and Mr. White, have reiterated the policy of secrecy and exclusiveness of the past by a recent vote. The triumph which holds the reins of government has, by the vote of its members to continue the "closed door" policy, assumed a rather arrogant stand by this dictatorial action. This high and mighty attitude makes thinking people wonder who are the servants, the three selectmen or the electorate. The selectmen might well go a step further and dub their meeting place "The Throne Room." The members condescend to say that "Any citizen is welcome to discuss his individual problem or any town problem with the selectmen at any time." The selectmen also condescend to "give the press the various minutes of the selectmen's meetings on Tuesday mornings." This is what is commonly known in newspaper circles as the "hand-out." Those who do the handing out, set themselves up as more competent to determine news values than men of real newspaper experience. They decide what is best for the public to know, and what is best for them not to know. The sessions of both branches of the Congress of the United States are open to the public, and also the sessions of both branches of all state legislatures. The meetings of most town boards of selectmen and city councils, are open to all who wish to attend. Not so in Andover, however. It is apparent that the august trio of Andover selectmen feel that the townsfolk are incapable of absorbing the doings of the board soundly and intelligently. It could be that they fear the townsfolk could not absorb the shock if they were to know just what does transpire at those meetings. Many statesmen have received their first inspirations by attendance at town meetings, city council, state legislatures or congressional meetings. Why deny the youth of today, yes, the youth of Andover, the same opportunity of inspiration? The action of the selectmen of Andover is not democratic, and not in accordance with the real American way of life. It is selfish and autocratic. It also savors of dictatorship. What are the sacred secrets that the selectmen are guarding and protecting so vigilantly? The rights of the people, and of the press, should be restored, by opening up the meetings to the people who pay the bills. Then, and not until then, will Andover enjoy the prestige to which she is rightfully entitled, that of a real and truly democratic community.

COLLEGE FUND DESERVES SUPPORT

The people of all Merrimack valley, including those of Andover, are being asked to subscribe to this section's newest institution of learning, Merrimack college. Andover has her two historic and important preparatory schools, Phillips Andover academy and Abbot academy. They are known the world over, because of their prestige in the field of education. The founders of Merrimack college, the Augustinian Fathers, have chosen a site within little more than a stone's throw of those fine institutions. It is now in its second year in temporary buildings, the first of the permanent buildings already under construction. The limited accommodations and facilities allow for a student body of but a few hundreds, but a few years will see that increased to a few thousands. Many students from the cities and towns of Merrimack valley will be afforded college opportunities at the least possible costs. The savings in dormitory and transportation costs will, in many instances, mean the difference between the fulfillment or abandonment of ambitions for a college education. Merrimack college needs $1,000,000 to accomplish its early needs to serve this important area. It is indeed a worthy cause and deserving of support of all who can possibly afford it. Give generously as contributors to an educationally and culturally improved Merrimack valley.

TOWNSMAN CONTEST A SUCCESS

The winners in the "What would You do to improve The Townsman?" contest are announced today on another page of this issue of "The Andover Townsman." Twelve Townsman readers will share the two hundred and twenty-five dollars offered by the management in prizes for the best letters. The management is indeed happy over the contest and grateful to the large number of readers who participated. The serious interest manifested in the future of the Townsman impressed the management greatly and proved conclusively that many newspaper readers have definitely good ideas of how a newspaper should be published, the content of its columns and the balance that must be maintained to make it a pleasantly readable paper. The suggestions included in the letters were generally constructive and many of them will be reflected in the columns in future issues. The management reiterates its expression of gratitude to all who participated and to the Townsman readers who in many ways manifested their interest.

identity which threatens to engulf other peoples, physically or ideologically. It is with these impulses that the United Nations attempts to deal around the table of open discussion in the assembly or the security council.

And Make Peace Possible

But what we too often forget is that the United Nations charter was founded on the principle that peace rests upon economic and social stability. This does not mean that, given such international stability, peace is automatically assured. But the converse is almost certainly true. Without international stability in social and economic affairs, peace may become extremely elusive. And one way of looking at the United Nations is to regard the job of the security council as the keeping of the peace, and the job of the economic and social council to make the peace possible.

Special Agencies—Special Tasks

The United Nations has various specialized agencies whose work is less glamorous, less evident than that of the security council, but none the less significant. The economic and social council coordinates these into two main tasks that are legacies of the war. One is the repatriation of displaced persons and refugees and the replacement of capital goods devastated during the war. The other job is to tackle those tasks which no nation can handle alone. For instance, it is estimated that five out of ten of the world's inhabitants are by modern standards undernourished. They are presumably relatively inefficient in their work, they are more subject to disease, and probably discontented and ready to follow radical suggestions. Nations cannot settle this problem singly, since the production of sufficient food is growing more complicated. The problem does not end with the mere fact of underfeeding, for that condition increasingly aggravates the others and widens the vicious circle.

Unemployment—A World Problem

Another problem is unemployment, a great social evil. Perhaps of all social problems this is the most demoralizing, humiliating and politically dangerous. We have been spared that since the war, but Italy is a notable example of the complicating world factors that render a government unable to eliminate the evil. The cost of imported raw materials, the lack of transport facilities, the inability to get foreign currency to pay for imports are factors which no Italian government, however efficient or wise, can alone control. This situation becomes a world problem for the obvious reasons and for the insidious issue of resulting radicalism from discontented people.

What may appear to be a minor problem, one that most of us have practically forgotten, is that of international refugees. More than three years after the war's end the world has failed to re-settle some 800,000 persons who are still living in refugee camps. No nation accepts full responsibility for these people who cannot or dare not return to their place of origin. It must be undertaken by an international organization. And the long-range issue is not merely a matter of funds or transportation facilities, both of which are more plentiful today. In fact, the re-settlement of all these refugees is extremely doubtful. It is estimated that nearly 200,000 are loomed to drag out their lives in these camps. The general policy has so far been to accept as immigrants only those who can personally earn their living. Wives, old people, injured, and the young are generally not wanted. Al-

REPORT From the State House

By PHILIP K. ALLEN

One of the most important, if not the most important, departments under the governor and council is the so-called commission on administration and finance. This commission, reorganized last year, is supervised by a commission made up of the commissioner, appointed by the governor and approved by the council, the comptroller, the state purchasing agent, and the state purchasing agent, all of whom are appointed in like manner. Each of the last three named are in charge of, respectively, the comptroller's bureau, the budget bureau, and the purchasing bureau.

Under the commission as a whole is the division of personnel whose director is appointed by the commissioner, with the approval of the governor and council.

In addition to these bureaus, there is a farm coordinator and two administrative analysts who are directly under the deputy commissioner, who is appointed by the commissioner with the approval of the governor and council.

The functions of the commission of administration are many and varied and require the services of a man well versed in the field of state administration. He must have knowledge of business procedure acquired by law, he must "inquire into the business affairs of the commonwealth and the laws governing them and consider the advisability of promoting economy and efficiency and avoiding useless labor and expense therein." He must, moreover, and again by law, conduct studies of the operation of all state departments, divisions, commissions, boards, and other state agencies, with a view to improving their organization, procedures, and administrative practice. In addition to all this, he must review and report on all proposed legislation affecting organizational structure within the framework of the commonwealth.

It is not often that this columnist occupies on the personalities who occupy appointive positions within the state government, but he feels called upon to commend the work of the present commissioner of administration, Thomas Buckley, of Abington, who has proved to be an extremely able administrator, and whose vice counsel is sought for by many legislative committees.

Next week we will take up the state purchasing bureau within the commission on administration and finance.

though the injured, the old, the incapable and the youngsters could be taken care of by the wage-earner of the family, the public attitude has somewhere changed when it regards these displaced persons. The family unit is, of course, the basis of national life. But that conception ceases at the camp barriers. The welcome to refugees does not extend to family units which contain any liabilities. It might be thought that the nations of the world could absorb this relatively infinitesimal number. Only constant work and educating of public opinion by United Nations agencies will make the problem even soluble.

Atlantic Alliance

And Causes Of War

When we come across partial agencies that are part of the United Nations attempting to deal with food, health, education, refugees, labor, and world trade, we should remember that through these channels can peace be made possible. Shortage of food may cause wars. Health cannot be guarded only at national boundaries. Health is not merely the absence of disease and infirmity. It is the state of physical, mental and social well-being. Who would dare say that wars cannot be caused by lack of health?

Sometimes the United Nations cannot satisfactorily perform its most apparent function, because the collaborating nations do not pull together. The Atlantic Alliance may be proof of this deficiency. But no Atlantic Alliance can remove the causes of war. The United Nations through its very important economic and social council is doing the daily drudgery of trying bit by bit to make the world better, healthier and safer. Its job has only just started.

What Our Readers Say—

WHAT IS RIGHT

Editor of the Townsman:

Your report of my sermon of April 3 was extremely friendly. But your reporter shows a disposition to make my text mean what everybody has always understood was right. I had emphasized the point that this text never would have got into the fifth chapter of Matthew if it had not meant to upset people's ideas as to what is right.

So I said not only that in private life one must not stand up for his rights because of "the principle of the things," since that is bound to take his attention off from his proper business, which is Christian service, but also that we must not threaten Russia with a prospect of war or of a hostile attitude. We have enough to do in resisting Russia's actual criminal aggressions against her neighbors without threatening a war to keep her down. If we threaten, we provoke a hostile attitude in Russia, we give Russia a motive for increasing armament, and we strengthen the hold of the anti-American and anti-capitalist politicians on the government of politicians. Truman had the right idea when he wanted to encourage all commerce that would help the rebuilding of peaceful Russian life, even though some of the goods (locomotives for instance) could also help in the rebuilding of military power. If we follow a policy of weakening Russia, the effect of our policy is to keep Stalin and his crowd in control of Russia.

So, too, I said that we have no right to publish a criminal for being wicked, nor to make the severity of the punishment depend on the badness of the crime; the only justification of any punishment is the good it can do. I illustrated this point by the recent case of the "captive boy," whose mother's crime was bad enough to deserve almost any punishment.

It seemed by the reports that they were in danger of getting off without penalty because they were not vicious but merely careless. Now certainly they ought not to be sent to the reform school, because that would do more harm than good; but a penalty sharp enough to be felt would be a very desirable thing because it would serve notice on all boys that carelessness with a gun is regarded as a serious sin.

AT THE LIBRARY

The following new books have been added to the Memorial Hall library, and may be borrowed or reserved:

The Tides Of Dawn Mally Netherlands is the scene of Jacqueline Crois de Chatrois' love story against a background of revolt from Spanish rule and a desperate bid for religious liberty and independent government. William of Orange emerges as a powerful leader.

The Cunninghams Ballantyne
This is a family story, laid in New Zealand. The theme is not new, but the handling of the characters is good. An invalid husband, a loving but very imperfect wife and their children are the main characters.

The Great Year Laing
The great year is every year, with its rolling seasons and its cycles. This novel of a Vermont family, through three generations, enlarges on this theme.

The Penal Colony Kafka Here are all the stories and short pieces that Franz Kafka felt were finished enough to be published. The collection includes these novelettes: "The Judgment," "A Hunza Artist," and
"Eleven Sons."

The Killer Mine Innes A thriller of terror underground in a tin mine on the coast of Cornwall, and of the man who could gamble with the lives of the men who worked for him because he knew so well the evil in their pasts. Exciting!

The Busy Busy People Spewack
A satire that is aimed at the Soviet machine and our own systems, and evolves around the disappearance from the storeroom of the American Embassy in Moscow of a can of peaches!

Hound Dog Man Gipson Blackie Scantling, the famous hound-dog man, was one of the two loves of twelve-year old Cotton Kinney; the other was the ambition to own a hound-dog.
Here are boy adventures, dreams, and an idol, and such thrills as the fight, the coon hunt, the episode with a giant turkey gobbler and the tall stories told by old Grandpa Wilson.

Dawn Sails North Frisbie
When the schooner "Dawn" sailed out of Papute, Sam Strickland signed on as first mate. This is a full, sometimes violent story of South Sea life, by the author of "Amaru," "My Tahiti," and other stories.

Kingsridge Colver Susan King tossed aside the conventional family pattern when she fell madly in love with vagabond Gerry Barton, who met with opposition and intolerance when the family saw what had happened. The lesson that life had values to be considered and love had to be equally given was a hard one for the girl to learn.

Point Of No Return Marquand An understanding picture of small-town, middle class American life, done with vivid drawing of interesting people, of whom the most outstanding is John Gray.
The author also wrote "The Late
George Apley" and "H.M. Pulham, Esquire."

Other New Books
Small Wonder; The story Of
Colloids Hawley

All the lists must be in by May 16. The first prize will be $5 and the second and third prizes will be books of the students' choice.

Chairman Explains B.P.W. Overtime Pay

Chairman Sidney P. White of the public works announced at Wednesday night's meeting that, "In regard to overtime pay discussed at the meeting of the board recently the figure established was not to be on the basis of time and a half but on the flat rate overtime figure based on the same rate as of Jan. 1, 1949."

Several delegations appeared at the meeting to discuss water and sewer installations, all of which were taken under advisement.

Jerome Dube, who has built a house on Green street and plans to build four more, asked for a water extension and connection. M. I. Stone, who has built property on Dale street, Ballardvale, asked for a water extension of about 180 feet. He said the abutments would dig the trench if the town would furnish the extension.

Wilfred Laroche spoke regarding an easement for a sewer extension through his property on Topping road. He felt he might not sign unless the interested parties reimbursed him for the connection through his land, from Topping road to Corbett road. The easement must be signed before construction of the sewer.

Lee Noyes, representing the J. E. Pitman Estate, Park st., asked that the recent bid on Akron pipe of the concern be withdrawn. The contract will be awarded to the next lowest bidder.

The board voted to cooperate with the selectmen and build a wire fence to keep papers from blowing around at the dump.

A Mr. Wright of the White Electric Co., of Lowell, spoke regarding the power which enters the Shawshen pumping station which he inspected recently with Supt. Edward R. Lawson and an engineer from the Lawrence Gas & Electric Co.

Pay rolls were read and approved, and the report of the superintendent was read and accepted.

Bids on the power lawn mower were discussed, but action was delayed pending a demonstration scheduled for this afternoon on the playground.

LIGHTS FOR BICYCLES

As a part of their vigorous safety programs, many granges throughout the country are demanding legislation which will require that all bicycles ridden on the public highways be equipped with lights after dark. Few organizations have done more than the grange to promote safety on the road, and always in highly practical directions.

Many Fire Hazards Lurking In Homes

Have you noticed how many dwelling fires there have been lately where people burned to death, often while the family were sleeping? There's no need for such terrible happenings. Says the Massachusetts committee on fire fighting in the country. Keep the door to your cellar closed. That's where many fires start. Close the door between your bedroom and the hall. Don't let anybody in the household smoke in bed under any circumstances. See that no clothing or towels are left over the stove. Keep all woodwork at least six inches away from smokepipes, and protected with asbestos. Take care that the stove and furnace are operating properly at bedtime. Regardless of other precautions, make sure that everyone in the household knows how to get out if a fire occurs in the night.

Of course, you think that such a tragedy will never happen to YOU. Don't you suppose that's just what all those people thought whose deaths were reported in the news? They didn't plan to die; you fortunately still have the chance to plan not to.

Shawsheen Children's Night

The Shawsheen P.T.A. observed its annual children's night last Friday evening in the auditorium of the Shawsheen school.

Mrs. Frank McArdle, music director in the Andover schools, and the teachers of the Shawsheen school, deserve a great deal of credit and thanks for directing such a splendid performance as was observed by a full auditorium.

A musical operetta, "The Inn of the Golden Cheese" was the theme of the evening. Children from grades 5 and 6 performed in the operetta and children in grade 3, 4 and 5 were in the splendid chorus that accompanied it.

The kindergarten class sang the "Welcome Song" and performed with their toy orchestra. The first grade gave a splendid flag drill and the second grade danced the minuet in the costume of the period.

Charles Flanagan again received a great deal of praise and thanks on the splendid work he did building the properties for the play.

Herbert Ortstein, president of the association, held a short business meeting prior to the program for the evening and the nominations were read by the nominating committee. The fourth grade, Miss McCarthy's room, again won the banner for the highest attendance.

Selective Service Rules Still Remain In Effect

While he did not ascribe it to any widespread intent to violate the law, Col. Chester A. Furbish, state director of selective service for Massachusetts, declared today that the halt in inductions had apparently caused misunderstanding to exist in the minds of registrants relative to certain of their legal obligations. He said the law is specific in its requirement that a registrant must immediately inform the local board when a change in his address has occurred. It is the continuing duty and responsibility of a registrant to keep the local board informed of his whereabouts. This obligation does not cease when the registrant becomes twenty-six years of age, even though such person may not be inducted into military service without his consent under the terms of the selective service act of 1948.

In discussing the large number of student-tourists that are expected to visit Europe during the vacation period, Colonel Furbish emphasized the need for their informing the local board of such plans in order that a permit to depart from the United States might be issued to them by the local board.

Col. Furbish, in addition, called attention to the fact that it is the legal duty of all male persons to register within five days following the attainment of their 18th birthday. Such a person, although not liable for induction into military service until he becomes 19 years of age, must, upon attainment of his 18th birthday, present himself to a local board for the performance of his registration duty. He may register at the local board office most convenient to him, but must be sure to give as his address the place he considers to be home in order that the registration card will be transferred to the local board serving that jurisdiction.

Forest Fires Can Add Dollars To Tax Rate

An old New England custom cost the town of Charlemont, Franklin county, a two-dollar boost in its tax rate this past year.

Calling a forest fire an old New England custom may sound to some folks like an exaggeration, says Robert B. Parmenter, extension forester at the University of Massachusetts. But stop and consider these facts.

Each year this country has around 210,000 forest fires. Nine out of every ten are traceable to thoughtlessness, carelessness, and sometimes to down right human cussedness.

That two-dollar boost was due just to the cost of fighting the fire to say nothing of the value of timber lost. Even if you live in an apartment house, you suffer when forests burn, declares Parmenter, because you pay in shortages of goods and higher prices.

So remember this the next time you are tempted to drop a lighted cigarette from the car window rather than take the trouble of crushing it out in the ash tray or on the floor of the car.

Even grass fires, which often get away and destroy property and lives, are to be deplored. According to A. B. Beaumont, director of the soil conservation service for Massachusetts, four dollars worth of nitrogen, an important plant food element, is lost for every ton of leaves and grass which burn, to say nothing of loss of valuable organic matter which increases production of the crops and saves water for drinking and power.

Projects Adopted By Service Club

The Andover Service club adopted two new projects at its meeting last week; one, to clear an area adjacent to Pomp's pond beach for picnic tables and benches, and the other to spend a day wielding paint brushes at the Plum Island polio camp.

Other projects adopted were to continue to light the Christmas tree in the square until such time as the town might take it over, and to continue and increase the vocational fund which will be known as the Nathan C. Hamblin vocational fund in honor of the club's first president.

These were among the projects reported by the program committee for the purpose of making the organization more of a service club than it has been in the last few years. Other projects suggested by the committee will be kept on file for discussion at a future date.

President Frank L. Brigham presided at the dinner meeting which the Rev. A. Graham Baldwin, minister at Phillips academy, opened with prayer. The free dinner was won by Albert Curtis. Later in the evening the door prize, a pair of bus-tickets was won by Edward R. Lawson who selected to attend the opening game of the Red Sox and Yankees Apr. 22.

The chair appointed a nominating committee to report at the next meeting, Apr. 22, which will be held at the Free church with a roast beef dinner. The committee: Dr. William V. Emmons, John H. Greco, Roland L. Luce, Carl E. Elander and Henry S. Hopper. Election of officers will be held at

COUNCIL ROUND-UP

A "round-up" of all scouts from cubbing, scouting and senior branches met in Lawrence Wednesday, Apr. 7. Merrill F. Burnett, committeeman of Troop 72, and Walter Caswell, commissioner, both of Andover attended.

Deputy Regional Director Alan Tucker of Boston was the main speaker. The flag ceremony was in charge of sea scouts from Ship 19 of St. Patrick's church; Troop 2 of the German Presbyterian church; Troop 10 of St. Anne's church, and Troop 53 of Methuen.

Troop News

Troop 70 of Christ church met Friday, Apr. 8, in charge of Raeburn Hathaway, patrol leader. Games were enjoyed and classes in compass and other scouting activities reviewed.

Troop 76 of Ballardvale met in the fire house scout room Tuesday, Apr. 5. A business meeting was held and patrol points competed for during the evening.

the May 19 meeting, which will be the last meeting of the season.

Pres. Brigham also appointed an historical committee to prepare early records of the club. The members are: Walter E. Billings, chairman; Henry S. Hopper, sec. H. Greco, Roland L. Luce, Carl E. Elander and A. J. Remington.

Dr. Nathaniel Stowers led the discussion of projects recommended by the program committee of which he is chairman. Other members include: William A. Doherty, Harold Wennik, Stanley F. Swanton, Harold E. Heselton, Atty. Walter E. Mondale and Roland L. Luce.

Discussing the vocation fund it was voted to accept the recommendation of the committee that Article XI be added to the by-laws, as follows: "The present vocational fund ($404.45) shall hereafter be called the Nathan C. Hamblin vocational fund. The principal of the fund shall be loaned without interest in amounts of not over $200 in any one year to any boy or girl residing in Andover, and shall be used only for attendance at a vocational school. Each such loan shall be recommended by the superintendent of schools and approved by the board of directors. An annual report of funds and recipients shall be made to the club."

This will have to be accepted by a two-thirds vote at the next meeting before it can be adopted.

Recommendation that $50 a year be added to the fund was deferred to a later meeting.

Daniel Harrington, chairman of the Essex county March of Dimes committee, was introduced by Harold Wennik to explain another suggested project to the effect that the members "roll up our sleeves and help build a new dormitory or swimming pool at the Polio camp on Plum Island," known as Sea Haven.

Mr. Harrington is the originator of the camp and a former polio victim. He recounted that he was visiting a polio victim in Methuen back in the spring of 1946 when the idea occurred to him. Things progressed very slowly at first. They got the lease of the location from the secretary of agriculture but could do nothing with it as March of Dimes money could not be used for real estate, only for rehabilitation.

Some time elapsed, he went on Scoutmaster Arnold Schofield has conducted several hikes and several more are planned.

Camp Onway

It is expected that all troops will be well represented at camp. The Free church sponsoring Troop 72, and the South church sponsoring Troop 73 are both having activities to provide sending scouts to camp. The camping committee at the Free church is presenting a lecture by Commander MacMillan at the Memorial auditorium Apr. 20 and the South church will have a supper on May 7.

Bird Study Hike

Several scouts who are studying the bird study merit badge toward Eagle scout ranks went on a bird walk Saturday Apr. 9 with Lathrop Merrick, bird study merit badge counselor. Those attending were Peter Caswell of Troop 70; William Hood, Thomas Burnett, Calvin Hatch, and Russell Johnson of Troop 72.

to say, until he met Irving E. Rogers, publisher of the Andover Townsman and the Lawrence Eagle-Tribune, who suggested getting the Johnny Olsen show which he would sponsor in Lawrence if Lynn and Haverhill papers would co-operate in staging the production in their cities. They agreed, the show played the three county cities and netted $5,039 with which he went to work.

They had 98 children there the first year, 135 the second, and now they are getting requests from as far west as Cleveland, Ohio, for admittance to the camp.

More room is needed, he said, and present buildings need repairs, but March of Dimes money cannot be used for this work.

He recalled when Andover firemen with Chief C. Edward Buchanan playing a brush, painted one of the buildings last year. He also told of plans to have the dormitory screened this season to protect the children from the green-head flies.

Mr. Hopper announced that he had found someone who would supply the paint; and that Walter Buxton would supervise the job if some volunteers would give some Saturday to work. Harold Wennik was appointed chairman of this committee and is now taking names of those who would like to devote a day to the project.

Victor Mill, Jr., called attention to the fact the 30,000 attended the public swimming beach at Pomp's pond last year; that the recreation committee has little spare money to make improvements; that many take their lunches with them and stay all day; and that there is little else for them to do but to stay in the water. He suggested the club assist in clearing a space at the beach in which tables and benches could be placed for lunches and provide a supervisor of play for the summer.

Eugene A. Bernardin, Jr., who spent two seasons at Pomp's beach as a swimming supervisor, supported the project, saying there is nothing for the children to do there except stay in the water or roam through the woods where supervisors cannot keep track of them.

The club voted to participate in clearing an area at the beach and Mr. Mill was appointed chairman of this committee to get the work done.

Atty. Vincent F. Stulgis, town chairman of the drive to be started soon for the Children's Medical center in Boston, addressed the meeting on the need of funds to expand the work of the hospital and said he would welcome the assistance of any members on his committee to solicit funds.

Two new members were accepted: James F. Dolan, 10 High Plain rd., and Frank J. McArdle, 22 Central st.

A large attendance is expected at the next meeting the proposed increase in dues will come up for action.

Makes Urgent Appeal For Easter Seal Funds

With but three days remaining before the close of the annual Easter seal sale, Charles Wilson, administrative director of the Bay State Society for the Crippled and Handicapped, issued an urgent appeal to all who have failed to respond, to send their checks at once, so the drive may not fail.

"The minimum requirement to assure a continuation of vital services for crippled children and other handicapped citizens of this state," he said, "is $275,000 and unless there is a marked increase in the number of contributions during the few remaining days, we will fall short of our goal. If that happens, there is danger that the Bay State society may have to say to worthy applicants for aid, 'We're terribly sorry, but there are no longer sufficient funds to provide the help that you need.'"

The Bay State society, now in its fifth year, was organized to fill the unmet needs of the handicapped without regard to race, color or creed. Parker Trowbridge, Worcester business man, is president. Campaign chairman is Alice Dixon Bond, distinguished literary critic of the Boston Herald Traveler.
