VIEWS OF THE NEWS

By LEONARD F. JAMES

The obstacle to a satisfactory settlement of the German problem is not Russia alone. The tension of the past four years implies that once Russia indicated her good intentions, then nothing could prevent an early settlement of the issue. But closer examination of the situation would show that the Western Powers themselves are by no means united in their plans for Germany. In fact, Mr. Ache-son's job is the difficult one of trying to bring the Allies into line. His future possible success is not easy to predict. And the Russians are awake to the possibilities of their position. If they really indicated an intention of permitting Germany to be united as an independent nation, they would bring to light how uneasy are the ties that hold the Allies

Nothing astonishes men

PRICE, 5 CENTS

Pitching hay is a man-sized job for anyone, but above photo reveals that women are not the "weaker sex" at all times. The Townsman photographer caught May and Mina Noyes at work in the field nearby their farm at 19 Lovejoy road, West Parish. They were loading hay onto the rack while their father, 74-year-old John L. Noyes, was "tedding" hay at the other end of the area. Photo shows May Noyes on the ground pitching the hay up to her sister, Mina Noyes, who is loading the rack.

PARD Established At Pomp's Beach

PARD (Pomp's Auxiliary Rescue Division) is the name this season designating that group of volunteer lifesavers at Pomp's pond municipal bathing beach.

The group is made up largely of younger lifesaving enthusiasts who have passed their junior Red Cross lifesaving tests, or its equivalent, and who some day may join the regular staff through the experience gained in their younger days.

As is true for every beach,
Pomp's has its own characteristics that must be thoroughly studied and understood: the time of day when the bathing crowd is heaviest; influence of weather on the bathers, water temperature and sanitary conditions; safest area for bathing; and the topography of the pond bottom.

Through classes which will be conducted weekdays at the pond all members will be acquainted with this necessary knowledge.

PARD, however, will by no means replace the regular guards at Pomp's. The staff now has its own regular duty stations while the new PARD guardposts have been established so that the younger lifesavers may experience the job of watching a group of bathers and detecting the slightest emergency.

During heat waves, when bathing is heaviest, PARD members may assist the regular staff as "eyes" to insure a smoothly running program for swimmers.

The PARD organization now includes Robert West, Janet Svenson and Maureen Darby.
Prospective junior lifesavers may obtain more information on PARD by visiting the beach and asking any of the lifeguards on duty there.

Driver Clinic Available Friday

Andover residents may avail themselves of the driver educational clinic when it visits Lawrence, Friday, July 8, from 1 p. m.
to 7 p. m.

The visit of the clinic here is in connection with the Adult Driver Education program sponsored during July of each year by the registrar of motor vehicles.
The clinic affords all drivers an opportunity to obtain without cost to themselves a check-up on their reaction time, coordination, complex vigilance, and their vision.
The tests are conducted on a scientific basis with apparatus operated by trained technicians from the registrar's office. The registrar emphasizes that these tests are purely educational and will in no way affect a person's driving license.

WATER SUPPLY HOLDS UP WELL IN DRY SPELL

The continued dry spell, now in its seventh week, has had little effect to date on Haggetts pond, Supt. Edward R. Lawson of the board of public works states.

Although pumping for the past week has been about 2½ million gallons daily, more than a million gallons above average, no restrictions on the drawing of water have been put into effect.

If the dry spell continues,
Supt. Lawton said, it is possible that the department may have to request curtailment of lawn sprinkling. Farmers in West Andover draw heavily on the town system to irrigate their gardens and unless rain comes soon the continued heavy drain on the water supply may show up at the pond.

Annual Pet Shows To Be Held Friday

Andover's playgrounds will present a lively picture Friday when on the Central, Indian Ridge, Shawsheen and Ballardvale areas the youngsters will bring out their pets for the annual pet show.
The West Center will hold a hat show at this time.

The annual pet show, one of the features of the local recreation centers, usually finds the young patrons proudly parading their dogs, cats, birds, mice and other pets in competition which puts a real task onto the judges.

While the display of pets will highlight the week's activities on the playgrounds, other parts of the program are getting well under way.

The handicraft classes started on all play areas Tuesday and will continue each day, except Fridays, until the close of the season. At present the youngsters are working on bead rings, woven pot holders, paper craft, soap carving and clay modelling.

The Sunrise baseball league for younger boys is being conducted on the Center playground mornings under the supervision of George Snyder. Four teams comprise this league.

The Twilight league plays Monday, Wednesday and Friday evenings at 6 o'clock on the play-stead. This league, comprised of five teams, is for older boys and is operating under George Snyder.

Friday night dances at the Andover Guild on Brook street are being held weekly from 8 to 10:30 p.m.

Isabel Dobbie is conducting soft ball and volley ball games on the Center playground for the older girls and young women evenings Monday through Thursday.

The Noyes Sisters Pitch In To Gather Summer Hay Crop

For 110 years, the Noyes family of 19 Lovejoy road, West Parish, have farmed their acres and farmed them well.

This week The Townsman visited with the Noyes family and learned that the old spirit is still percolating.

Seventy-four-year-old John L.
Noyes was busy at work in the field "tedding" hay. His two daughters, May and Mina, were loading the hay on to a wagon.
Since there was but one horse, he had been unhitched from the wagon and was plodding through the fields under the direction of Mr. Noyes.

There was nothing unusual to the Noyes family about this arduous labor. John L. had been born on the farm as had his entire family. His father before him had battled with the land and lived from its fruits.

Today the Noyes family operate a successful farm. They live from the products of the farm and market considerable of the vegetables and fruit which is more abundant than their personal needs demand.

Another sister, Phoebe, is employed in the town tax collector's office.

The recent drought had made it necessary to get the hay from the fields and into the barn.

So the Noyes girls pitched in and the job was done.

Three Apply For Sunday Licenses

Following receipt of notification from the state department of public safety that a license must be obtained by establishments that provide Sunday entertainment by mechanical or electrical device, three local business places made application this week for such licenses.

The attorney general has ruled that all television sets and music boxes come under this head. The fee is $2 per Sunday, none of which the town retains but which must be submitted with the license to the commissioner of public safety for his approval.

Police Chief George A. Dane submitted to the selectmen last week a list of 14 establishments here which it is believed come under this ruling. It is the opinion of town officials that some of these places will cease operating their television sets and music boxes on Sunday rather than pay the license.

300 'Vale Residents Oppose New Gates File Petition Protesting Removal Of The Gateman From Railroad Crossing

A petition signed by about 300 residents of Ballardvale protesting the elimination of manually operated gates at the Andover street crossing of the Boston & Maine railroad in favor of automatic gates has been filed with the selectmen.

The petition says: "We feel the safety of our children and old people can be better protected with a gate tender whose personal attention has proven so important in avoiding serious accident and possible death on many occasions over the years."

This petition will be presented to the state department of public utilities when the latter holds a hearing on the request of the railroad for authorization to install the new type gates and signals.
The selectmen will oppose the change.

Sen. John W. Coddair, Jr. of Haverhill, stated today that he will cooperate with the residents of Ballardvale in opposing the proposed gates. He will be present at the hearing to lend his efforts in behalf of the townspeople in their endeavor to keep a gate-man at the crossing.

Andover Residents Attend Classes

The second of two meetings of furniture refinishing classes was held recently in the barn of Mrs.
G. Richard Abbot, Upland rd. The class was conducted by Miss Erma Bamesburger, extension specialist in home furnishings, from the University of Massachusetts, assisted by Miss Katherine Lawler and Mrs. Pearl Brown, Essex county home demonstration agents. The State Extension service sponsors the classes.

At the first meeting the furniture was stripped and then at the second meeting it was sanded, followed by a covering of linseed oil and turpentine or a prepared mixture of wax. The classes were held from 1:30 a. m. to 3:30 p. m.

Courses, in a series of two, for cane chair constructing will be offered throughout Essex county this summer under the direction of the home demonstration agents. Anyone interested may contact Mrs. Abbot, who is town chairman of the Women's Advisory Board of Essex county.

Those attending the Andover classes are: Mrs. John Gorrie, Mrs. Harold Johnson, Mrs. Willis
P. Chick, Mrs. Arthur Covell,
Mrs. Gilbert J. Cromie, Mrs.
Franklin Ellis, Roy Dearborn,
Mrs. Nathaniel Stowers, Mrs.
Robert Hatton, Mrs. Lucius
Jones, Mrs. Taylor, Mrs. Edward
Dowd, Mrs. Ernest Fieldhouse,
Mrs. Arthur Adaline Wright, Mrs.
Alex Henderson, Mr. and Mrs.
Willard H. Patterson and Mrs. G.

Parking Meters Get $879 In June

The town's parking meters collected $879.25 during the month of June, an average of almost $34 a day for the 26 days they were in operation that month.

From the time they were installed last September the meters have up to July 1 collected $9,137.45, according to records of Town Treasurer Thaxter Eaton.
Half of the sum collected each month goes to pay for the meters and the other half is retained by the town.

The shorter hours for firemen
will be put into effect Sunday, July 17. Fire Chief C. Edward
Buchan said today.

The reason the hours were not changed July 1, as voted at the town meeting is that the civil service commission had not forwarded an eligible list from which to select the four additional men necessary to the department in shifting from the present 70-hour week to the new 56-hour week.

Although such a list has not yet been received Chief Buchan said that he will make temporary provisional appointments until the eligible list is available. He has written to the civil service commission for permission to use such appointees.

When the new hours are established it will mean that the men will work on the following schedule: three days on, 48 hours off, three nights on, 48 hours off. At present the schedule is four days on, 48 hours off, four nights on, 24 hours off.

With the new schedule it is possible that occasionally the men will work some week for more than 56 hours, but this will be balanced up later.

Under the new system there will always be one officer and five men on duty at the central station, and one man at all times at the Ballardvale station.

It is estimated that the new hours will cost the town about $5600 for the rest of the year, and about $12,000 annually after that.

Girl Scouts Open Camp At Pomp's

Among the 55 brownies and girl scouts at the opening of Camp Maude Eaton on Pomp's pond Sunday were two Andover girls, Edith Belisle and Patricia Robertson. Another Andover girl, Elma Fone, Ballardvale, is a member of the cove staff.

The campers were welcomed by Miss Genevieve M. Cahill, camp director, and Miss Mary A.
Buckley, business manager. Mrs.
Marie R. Foley, R.N., camp nurse, checked the health cards and examined the campers, who were then assigned to their respective units. Mothers and fathers were as active as campers in establishing quarters, setting up tents and helping the new campers settle.

Miss Ruth Goodridge, waterfront director, and her assistant, Miss Ruth Sullivan conducted screening tests on the waterfront Monday, and in view of the intense heat, other activities were cancelled Monday afternoon to enable the campers to relax at the waterfront.

Though the majority of campers present are from the Greater Lawrence area, campers are present from Brighton, Boston,
Salem, Lowell and Greenwood,
R. I.

It was voted to accept the recommendation of the national council that effective Sept. 1, 1949, the age for cub scouts be dropped to eight years for entrance, and the age for boy scouts be dropped from 12 to 11 years.

All boys reaching the age of 14 years will automatically become senior scouts, but may remain in their own troops until senior units are formed. The members of the council will visit Camp Onway Wednesday, Aug. 17, in the afternoon and a supper will be served at 6:30 p. m.

The next regular meeting of the executive board will be held Wednesday, Sept. 21 at 6:30 p. m. in Phillip chapel of the Congregational church in Methuen at the invitation of the Rev. E. W. A. Jenkinson, pastor, council chairman of advancement.

Camping Registrations

The camping committee has announced that through July 1 a total of 135 scouts have registered for camp with a total of 292 boy scouts at camp. Of this number, 45 Andover scouts are included from a total of 69 boy weeks at camp. This is a good record for Andover as one-third of the registrations are for Andover boys and there are four districts in the council, Lawrence being the largest.

Salisbury Parking Rates Are Reduced

Andover residents, who visit Salisbury beach during the summer season, will be pleased to learn that the parking fee at the state owned parking area has been reduced from 50 to 25 cents.

The reduction was the result of efforts made by Senator John W. Coddalre (D., Haverhill) and Councillor Cornelius J. Twomey (D., Lawrence).

Many residents of this town frequent the Massachusetts beach during the summer months and the reduced parking fees should prove a further attraction.

New Recordings At The Library

After all these months, in which the collection of music albums has been growing, there are still borrowers at the Memorial Hall library who make the discovery of its existence to their surprise and delight. From very small beginnings the collection has grown to the extent that it now occupies over two shelves in the section reserved for it behind the desk. Each borrower is allowed one album or a total of six records for a period of one week on a loan exactly like that of a book loan.

The following recordings have been added recently: American Bird Songs; Concerto No. 5 (Emperor) in E flat major (Beethoven); Quartet No. 14 in C sharp minor, Opus 131 (Beethoven); Symphony No. 4 in E minor, Opus 98 (Brahms); An American in Paris (Gershwin); South Pacific (Rodgers); The New Moon (Romberg); Ave Maria (Rise Stevens); (Schubert); Siegfried Idyll (Rodzinski); (Wagner); Reading of "A Portrait of a Southern Lady" from "John Brown's Body," (Benet).

Elephants of Ceylon are generally tuskless.

AT THE LIBRARY

The following books are suggested as good summer reading for those long, warm afternoons; they are all available at the Memorial Hall Library:

His Human Majesty Boyle
Set in the mountains of Colorado in the winter of 1944, this band of men were a section of the training ski troops. Their personalities and backgrounds were all sharply varied, and with the coming of the wife of one of the troopers, the real character stood out and tragedy entered the group. "Avalanche" readers will enjoy this. Kay Boyle wrote both books.

Descent Into Hell Williams
A mystical story of a man who chose hell here and hereafter, and of a girl who, haunted from her childhood by a terrifying shadow-picture of herself, keeps a strange rendezvous.

Portrait In Two Colours Jackman
After the war, Simon Calder returned from the Persian Desert to the quiet calm of England, but the bitter experiences of sand, sun, heat, flies and tragedies did not release him from their grasp. A keen, remarkable picture of heat, fear and war.

The Greyhound In The Leash Horner

A parallel story of the three lives that Evelina would have lived if she had chosen differently, along with what happened because the fourth choice won out.

The Fires of Spring Michener
A story of the growth from childhood to maturity, by way of contacts with all types of people and experiences in all kinds of situations and David Harper's discovery of what life really meant for himself as the pattern of small things drew the design of his years.

The Sportsman's Anthology Kelley
Fiction, essays and verse which will appeal to the true lover of sporting literature. Horses, dogs, fishing, skiing, mountain climbing, tennis, etc.—all included!

The Big Secret Colby
An "atomic research" story for which the author's long years as government official prepared him; a likely picture of the ways of our capitol, good and bad.

The Happy Tree Kaye-Smith
Kemp Silverden had become more reserved and quiet than ever after the deaths of both his wife and his mother, until one night he saw Alice Candelin, the wife of a new farmer in the district, and felt an immediate, compelling attraction; as usual, Sheila Kaye-Smith has written a story with a lovely background of English country life.

Toasted English Laski
A shrewd and amusing satire of the English caste system, where all people are stratified from A to E. Entertaining and easy reading.

My Heart Shall Not Fear Lawrence
Josephine Lawrence always chooses a theme of homely pattern, of human values and present day problems. In this story, Patience Garrison questioned her right to bring a new life into an insecure world; each member of her family brings her proof of the value of life, regardless of its uncertainties, tragedies and frustrations.

"Suzanne" and "Joseph" Duhamel
Two novels from the Pasquier chronicles.

Lovable Stranger Duffield
When Clive and Lisel met they both hoped to escape, one from love, the other from dire need and tragedy. Then, with growing attraction, her loyalty to the family who had raised her conflicted with his loyalties to his position in the secret service.

The Brave Bulls Lea
This book had unusual success with reviewers, although its subject matter is a strange one—a bull fight—to appeal to American readers. Excellent writing.

New Day Reid
A vivid story of a Jamaican family, from one day in 1865 to a day in 1944; the story is told on the eve of Constitution Day, November 20, 1944, by John Campbell, who as a child in 1865 had seen the British redcoats and their allies run amok, and saw his father and brother killed. He and another brother escaped to a cay off the Morant coast where they lived until his return to Jamaica.

For the thrill seekers, a few fantastic ones and mysteries:

The Case of the Redoubled-Cross King
Relative To Poison Lorac
Crooked House Christie
The Case of the Dubious Bridegroom Gardner

Great Tales of Fantasy and Imagination Stern
The Case of the Little Doctor Lewis

Six Novels of the Supernatural Wagenknecht
And One To Grow On Gould

Recollections of a Maine boyhood, friendly, keen retelling of affairs in community life and family affection, by the author of "The Farmer Takes A Wife" and "The House That Jacob Built."

Leave It To The People Reynolds
Here is what is going on in those countries free to think for themselves, as seen through the eyes of the little people in Israel, Greece, France, Holland, Germany and Norway. It is a picture of a hope that is growing in Europe today for a new way of life.

Your Career In Show Business Denis
An inside picture of the show business and its future in relation to the machine age and in safeguarding of money invested. It covers technicians, performers, creative people and businessmen.

Discoverers For Medicine Woglum
Many discoveries important to the medical world were made by people not doctors, and this fascinating book tells of the life and work of some of them. For instance, the laryngoscope was invented by a Spanish music teacher; blood pressure was first measured by an English minister; early vaccination, quinine, X-ray and many other curative measures are discussed. The author worked more than thirty years in cancer research at Columbia University.

Autographs: A Key To Collecting Benjamin
Significant and little-known facts which would take the average autograph collector years to learn; explains terminology used in catalogues, what to buy, what to look for, how to detect forgeries and what to avoid; has thirty-five plates of famous autographs.

Writing From Idea To Printed Page Gundell

WEST NEWBURY THEATRE

Naive, but not too naive to come out of the rain and into the arms of Broadway's top romantic actor, is captivating "Janet Blake," heroine of "For Love or Money," the West Newbury summer theatre's laughwinner, "John Loves Mary." Opening Monday night, June 11th, for a week's run at the West Newbury summer theatre, "For Love or Money" will introduce Kathleen McGuire from the New York company of "Sundown Beach" starring opposite Edwin Christie and Van Williams.

Known as a "star-maker," the role of little "Janet Blake," who prefers Edgar Guest to Walter Winchell, and love to money, won a Hollywood contract for June Lockhart, and Broadway stardom for the author's daughter, teen-age Diana Herbert. "For Love or Money" is from the pen of the same F. Hugh Herbert, creator of "Corliss Archer" and "Kiss and Tell," and piled up 263 performances on Broadway.

In the West Newbury production, Kathleen McGuire, who crashed Broadway under the direction of Elia Kazan of "Death of a Salesman" fame, will be seen as "Janet," the frightened young dental assistant, who brings a cooling breeze into the murky life of the Broadway actor, "Preston Mitchell," played by Edwin Christie. Van Williams will play "Bill Tremaine," the boyish Army veteran who rivals the veteran actor's affections.

Peter Butler of Andover, who scored a comedy sensation last summer in the Town Hall Players' productions of "Arsenic and Old Lace" and "Candida" will be back behind the footlights for the first time this season in "For Love or Money."

EDITORIAL THOUGHTS

INDUSTRIAL GAINS HERE

The industrial activity of the town is rated prominently in the report recently issued by the statistical division of the state department of labor and industries on payrolls and employment for the week ending nearest the 15th of May compared with a similar week in April.

While the combined weekly payrolls for the state in the number of establishments reporting were 3.1 percent under the April figure, Andover's nine reporting industries showed a gain of 8.3 during that period. Its weekly payroll of $95,573 was shared by 2,027 workers giving them an average of $47.15.

Along with the increase in payroll earnings there was a substantial increase in employment which showed a gain of 5.9 percent here while the number of workers throughout the state were falling off 2.6 percent.

Andover's payroll record for woolen and worsted goods, one of the eight major industries of the state, showed an increase of 16.9 percent for May over April while the state record was increasing 10.1 percent. The number employed in this industry jumped 10.8 throughout the state while the local increase amounted to 7.2 percent. In the neighboring city of Lawrence the increase in employment was 13.2 percent.

Each month the department of labor and industries 2,000 manufacturing establishments in which are employed about 75 percent of all production and related workers in all such establishments in operation in Massachusetts. It is believed that these represent quite accurately the trends of employment and the earnings in all manufacturing in the state.

Like other communities, Andover from time to time may feel the results of economic fluctuations. That its record stands out so well during a period when decreases are general is a most encouraging sign to its citizens and the management of the town's industries.

SUPERVISED RECREATION

The annual opening of Andover's five playgrounds and its bathing beach at Pomp's pond was welcomed last week by the town's juvenile populace who swarmed to these recreation centers to enjoy the varied programs of sport, handicraft, story-telling and games, as well as swimming, water safety and life-saving arranged for their amusement and instruction.

That so many youngsters responded to the invitation of the recreation committee to be present on the opening day and every day of the season shows how eager these boys and girls are to join in the supervised activities which are theirs to enjoy during the summer months.

The eagerness with which the youngsters entered into these activities no doubt was shared by parents who realize that with children out of school for the vacation period there is need for wholesome recreation under competent supervision to keep tots from playing in the streets and thus reduce the danger of accidents.

Supervised recreation has been established here for many years and the town is indeed fortunate to have its program in the hands of a competent recreation committee and the skilled instructors who are so interested in the welfare of the younger ones under their care.

THE RETAILER'S COUNTER

The head of a national retailing association recently described the width of the retailer's counter as "the most important area in the country." He then said that "it's up to the retailer to bridge this last three feet by intensive selling today."

Most of our spendable income goes across store counters. A high percentage of all employed people work in stores of one kind or another. It is often said that mass production is an American miracle, which has given our people an amazing flood of goods at a very reasonable cost. But mass production couldn't work unless there was mass distribution to move the output of our factories into the hands and homes of users. The retailer is the key man who brings producer and consumer together.

When it comes to retailing's profits, the facts should be given the widest possible circulation. For a few cents out of each dollar you spend with him, your storekeeper provides you with a vital service. With few exceptions, he always has what you want when you want it. Your whims and desires and needs are the biggest factor in the operation of his business. He is the representative of our magnificent American economy on every business street in every community in the land.

together. Clever diplomacy could drive a wedge not only between the Western Powers, but between them and Germany. It is quite possible that Russia is only awaiting the proper timing for such a move.

Would Germany Follow an Honest Hitler?

It is clear that however much the other peoples of Europe dislike all that Hitler and the Nazis stood for, Hitler promised the Germans what they wanted—more living space and the right to regain what they regard as lost population scattered within the borders of neighboring countries. To the Germans there can be such a person as an "honest" Hitler who could pull the nation together. Many of the Nazi slogans could be re-used under a different banner and gain wide support. Instead of the Hitler slogan of "lost colonies," the new cry could be "lost German industry." The Germans have no difficulty in convincing themselves today that the Allies mean to destroy German industry and steal German factories and raw materials for their own use. Even if Europe could be united it is questionable whether the Germans would be the least bit interested in unity former territories and business.

German Democracy or Greatness?

It will be almost impossible to democratize Germany along American lines because the basic democratic traditions don't exist in Germany. The problem of German recovery—to the Germans—is a matter of survival amid enemies, and the mere adoption of democracy does not seem to offer the real answer. Democracy, to be effective, has to be thoroughly appreciated and practised, but it is very doubtful indeed whether the young generation in Germany will be taught that democracy is better than a strong united Fatherland. Tradition gives the German teachers the right to indoctrinate, and it would be self-delusion for us to assume that they will teach responsibility for the recent war or regrets for having fought it. Any regrets will more probably be for having lost it. Very obviously the political events of recent months are making the Germans very conscious of their potential importance. They very carefully gauge their chances as the West and Russia bid for support. And it is very probable that, to Germany, the political differences between Russia and the West are of lesser consideration than is the opportunity for unity and national greatness.

France Opposes Unification

The French are conspicuously aware of the implications of a vigorous and unified Germany. They may agree on paper to the political and economic unification of Germany; they even recognize the necessity of that ultimate objective. But the nearer that day approaches the greater will be their own fears. Bluntly, the French are afraid of the consequences if 70,000,000 Germans are united. And the French are going to repeat their demands of the 1920's for guarantees against future possible aggression by Germany. No French statesman could expect a lengthy political life unless he demanded such. To the French the one practical safeguard suggested so far is the joint guarantee of the Atlantic Alliance, but as the weeks go by without Congressional ratification, the French must wonder whether the Alliance is much more than a paper promise. The French have still one move they can make; they are in a position to prevent effective settlement of the German problem, and in all likelihood they will oppose unification and troop withdrawal.

A year ago the United States committed itself not to withdraw troops from Germany until the peace of Europe is secured. Of course, "security" can be widely interpreted, but it is certain that France will try to press for her own interpretation. The French

MEET—

MRS. HELEN E. CASWELL

Though a resident of Andover for only 12 years, energetic Helen E. Caswell, wife of Walter C. Caswell, has many civic interests in the community and is active in quite a few clubs. This popular woman is the chairman of the ways and means committee and first vice-president of the Shawsheen Village Women's Club, and member of the Central P.T.A., Shawsheen P.T.A., Women's Auxiliary, the Altar Guild of Christ church, troop committee of Shawsheen school Girl Scout troop, and E.T.A. chapter of Alpha Phi (Boston University).

Born in Indianapolis, Indiana, she was educated at West Lebanon academy and received a B.S. degree at Boston University college of liberal arts. She is the former president of Junior Women's guild of Christ church, president of Shawsheen P.T.A., and chairman of the dramatic department of the Shawsheen Village Women's club.

The Caswells live at 5 Dunbarton street with their three children: John, 17, Peter, 14, and Betsy, 9.

are therefore in a position to block unification of Germany whenever such a move suits her own interests.

And So Does Britain

The British are no less anxious than are the French for postponement of German unification, but for a different reason. They face economic difficulties which are so serious that the benefits of the European Recovery Program are in danger of being nullified. British industrial recovery since the war has exceeded expectations, but one basic problem has deteriorated. Britain must buy her food and raw materials abroad. To get currency to pay for those, she must sell her manufactured products. At first, she could sell at whatever price she asked because goods were in short supply everywhere. Now her markets are shrinking because her prices are too high for the consumer or are in competition with cheaper sellers. But even if Britain cuts her export prices 20%—by devaluation of her pound—she is by no means sure that she would sell the necessarily greater volume to pay the higher prices that imported goods would cost her.

So alarming has her economic position become that she must view German unification and independence with considerable alarm. While the Allies remain in Germany, the export market can be controlled. Britain very clearly wants to prevent German competition on the world market. She too will not get out of Germany before she has to. This attitude in turn confirms the Germans in their opinion that the Allies want to ruin them economically.

It may be that the Paris Conference made it possible to plan for greater economic recovery in Germany, even though practical steps are not yet apparent. But the paradox is that as the economy improves, that of Britain worsens. And as Germany comes closer to unification, the issue of security for Western Europe becomes more serious. The Secretary of State must sometimes feel that he is chasing quicksilver across a table.

Down the Years with The Townsman

50 Years Ago—July 1899

Bailey's grove at Haggett's pond has become a busy place with many picnic parties scheduled for the summer months.

Omar P. Chase, elected secretary and treasurer of the Chase-Chace family association, at a family reunion held at Hartford, Conn.

Barnett Rogers sails for Scotland where he will visit with relatives and friends for a few weeks.

The Rev. Frederick A. Wilson and Joseph A. Smart start from Boston on a trip to London and Paris. They will also spend some time in Scotland.

Abel F. Grimes comes to Andover to be proprietor of the Andover Steam laundry.

We report a sad accident which occurred when Miss Elizabeth C. Craik, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Craik of Mineral st., was so badly burned that she died a few hours later. It was not known exactly how the accident happened but it is believed she had a fainting spell while lighting a lamp about 2:30 a.m., and her night clothing caught fire.

The Fourth of July was the quietest for some time. No bon fires nor false alarms.

Nesbit G. Gleason leaves American Express Co., where he has been the Andover agent for the past seven years.

William M. Wood of Frye Village has purchased a large sized water sprinkler to keep Main street, in front of his residence, wet down.

Members of the Lawrence fire department get first lesson in school of instruction on grounds of the central schools. The local department takes part.

James E. Greely, owner of the Rockport market, has purchased the stock and fixtures of the Shawsheen market.

Reginald Whitcomb and Abbot Cheever are at the Isle of Shoals where they will spend the summer.

The Margaret Slattery class of the Free church entertains children in the Jennie R. Hinchcliffe classes at Brothers field. After an afternoon of games and races, a basket lunch was enjoyed.

George A. Christie enters real estate and insurance business as partner of Barnett Rogers. For 20 years Mr. Christie was employed by the Andover Press.

Mrs. Charles D. Thompson entertains at her home in Hidden field in honor of Mrs. George E. Kunhardt, Jr., of North Andover. Mr. and Mrs. Kunhardt were married in England and recently came to the states.

Among those sailing from New York for a visit to Scotland were John Barnett, John McGrath, David McIntosh, Mrs. Grace Lake and her daughter, Grace Lake.

Singleton P. Morehead, son of Warren K. Morehead, curator of the P. A. archeological department, and Mrs. Morehead, one of 35 students to be awarded scholarship at Harvard.

Pomp's pond bathing beach given a clean bill of health by the state department after an examination undertaken at the request of the local board of health.

Quiet "Fourth" for the fire department. Full force was on duty all night and the only call came on the holiday from box 74 for a fire under a stairway at the Rasmussen home on Lowell st. Damage, $150.

Report filed by the Andover Boosters with police department to the effect that between $75 and $150 was taken from one of the booths at the celebration on the playstead.

Do You Know Massachusetts?

DO YOU KNOW THAT . . .

Massachusetts made places for 8,319 immigrant aliens during the fiscal year 1948. Only 1,772 of these entered through the Port of Boston, although this is the fourth largest port of immigration in the United States, being exceeded in entries by only New York City, Miami and San Francisco. Department store sales in Massachusetts during May increased 1.3% and those in Boston 4.4% over the sales a year ago. This was the only state, and Boston the only large city, in New England that did not show a decrease, according to reports to the Federal Reserve Bank of Boston. Reports to the Department of Labor and Industries show that the man-hour wage cost in all types of private building construction in Massachusetts during May this year averaged $1.88, compared $1.74 a year ago. On Federal and State aided work the cost was $2.07 against $1.91 a year ago. The first paint grinding mill in America was established in Boston about 1700 on Marshall Street in the North End; the site is marked by a plaque and the round stone imported from England that was used in the grinding. . . . Massachusetts today is one of the largest producers of high quality paints and varnishes, with yearly output valued at about $26,000,000. . . . "Historical Data", published by the Secretary of the Commonwealth, lists 286 "extinct names" by which towns and villages in Massachusetts formerly were known. . . . The town of Framingham recently voted to accept certain sections of the planning enabling act giving the Selectmen additional control over real estate subdivision.

Over 500 children registered for activities on the playgrounds for the coming summer. Equipment has arrived and is being placed in position.

Town Treasurer and Mrs. Thaxter Eaton on trip to Pacific coast by boat and train. H. Allison Morse is acting as treasurer in Mr. Eaton's absence, the first in nine years.

Eastham Receives Princeton Honors

John P. Eastham of 64 Bartlett st., was one of the 22 Princeton athletes who completed their undergraduate careers last month with honors in their major fields of study, according to the annual honors roster recently released.

Eastham, quarterback and one of the heroes of Nassau's 16-14 upset win over Columbia last fall, was honored in the department of economics. Honors are only accorded to seniors for doing distinguished academic work in their upperclass years.

In July, 1850, 500 ships lay in San Francisco Harbor, deserted by crews that had gone hunting gold.

MARKETING with Marjorie

Here's how to revive appetites wilted by weather. Serve a surprise dish—a real "palate pamperer" at every meal. Want to try some of my ideas? They're all taste-ticklers. And they'll save you time and money too!

EASY WAY TO PLEASE
During warm weather sandwiches are "king"—and I always keep a supply of MEL-O-BIT CHEESE on hand, so I can concoct all kinds of tempting sandwiches at a moment's notice. Mel-O-Bit is nourishing and thrifty—it's an A&P exclusive. Try it diced or grated and mixed with Ann Page Prepared Mustard and Ann Page Salad Dressing or Mayonnaise. Add chopped, hard-cooked eggs if you like, or Ann Page Olives. It's wonderful how A&P fixin's dress up your lunches and they're all so very thrifty, too!

DREAM ICE CREAM
When the sun is hot, ice cream hits the spot! For tempting, creamy-smooth ice cream, use ANN PAGE SPARKLE MIXTURE for ICE CREAM DESSERTS. For example, make fruit ice cream with the Vanilla Mix: Add sugar to taste to berries or peaches. Force through sieve. Use ½ cup fruit to replace ½ cup milk in recipe on package. Yummy!

TALL AND TINKLING
Dropping spirits pick up fast, when you serve frosty glasses of Iced Tea. For deep-down refreshment, I use NECTAR or OUR OWN TEA or TEA BAGS. Melting ice can't dull the exhilarating flavor of these quality famous A&P Teas because they're Flavor Tested. Ever try Ginger Iced Tea made with Nectar or Our Own? Use 2 cups of Tea to 1 cup of gingerale. Sweeten to taste. There's real enjoyment in each sparkling glass!

Library Offers Lost Articles

If you are mourning the loss of an article held dear to the heart—it will pay you to visit Memorial Hall library where a collection of things, found over the course of the last year or two, are offered for your inspection.

The lost articles are displayed in an exhibit case in the entry to the main reading room and may be had by establishing a claim.

A wide variety of items are offered. There are mislaid umbrellas, mittens, gloves and even a pair of shoes. Moreover there are personal things which have been discovered between the pages of returned books.

It might pay you to visit the library and make an inspection. Articles held dear by the owner are just gathering dust and occupying space in the library.

Observance Quiet Over The Fourth

Andover's observance of the Fourth will go down in the town annals as one strictly of the "safe and sane" variety.

There was no official recognition of the day. Instead it was just a holiday which sent many to the seaside and mountains, but to others in town it meant staying quietly at home avoiding jams and overcrowding at summer resorts.

While the nation ran up a death toll of 737, records of the local police and fire departments showed it to be one of the most "quiet" Fourths that the town has experienced in the memory of veteran officials.

The fire department over the three-day holiday had two still alarms, one to wet down the public dump and the other for a grass fire on Holt rd. The absence of fireworks, banned in this state since the war years, is the main reason in the opinion of Chief C. Edward Buchan for the lack of greater activity in his department.

In the police department the same "quiet" prevailed. A stolen car was found abandoned near the Main Street garage; a Dorchester boy was injured by a fish hook while fishing at the Parker reservation; a garbage can was reported stolen from the rear of 342 N. Main st., and a camp was reported entered at Foster's pond but nothing taken.

The stolen car was taken in Lawrence and seen abandoned by a sailor about 12:35 a.m. Officers Calvin Deyerdmond, Frank Koza, William Tammany and Russell Berthel went to the scene and searched the neighborhood but found no trace of the missing sailor.

Gerald Rooney, 13, of Dorchester, was brought into the station by his father Sunday afternoon with a fish hook buried in his right leg. He was taken to the Lawrence General hospital in the police cruiser and received treatment for the injury.

One drunk was incarcerated in the police station Sunday night but released the next morning.

Officers assigned to traffic duty found everything in order. The expected heavy return traffic Monday night did not materialize here, the flow being less than frequently seen on a Sunday night.

Andover Male choir holds annual outing at Pelham, N.H. List of sports events is followed by a turkey dinner.

There are 28 youngsters in the above picture taken at the Indian Ridge playground, recently, and the reader will note that there are 28 different studies in childish behavior as the tots face the Townsman's photographer. Ranging from boredom to exuberance, the youngsters each had their own idea of what the photogenic citizen of tomorrow should look like. The group was engaged in handicraft work (Look Photo)

Mrs. Agnes D. Ey
West Warren, Mass., says:

"On June 10th, 1930, I purchased a General Electric Refrigerator. It has run continuously since then, and is still going strong. It has never caused me one bit of trouble, and the motor is as quiet as the day I bought it. I think this is a wonderful record, and I wanted you to know about it. You may be sure I shall always buy General Electric products."

Mrs. Ey is just one of two million people who have been using their G-E Refrigerators for ten years or longer!

You can buy a wonderful new G-E Space Maker Refrigerator today — and be glad for years to come!
