The next political event to watch for in Britain is the king's speech from the throne on Monday. March 6. This speech may determine how long the present Labour government will last. The speech is actually written by Atlee and is read out to the house of lords and the commons jointly assembled in the lords. In this speech the king will outline the program that his government proposes for this parliament. The king can obviously have no political beliefs. The "government which is labelled his consists of those men of the majority party who are its accepted leaders. The prime minister is not voted for as such. He is merely a member of parliament, voted for in a parliamentary district like any other of the 625 members. He is prime minister by virtue of being the acknowledged leader of the party which controls a majority of the 625 seats. Labour government will last. The "government" which is labelled his consists of those men of the majority party who are its accepted leaders. The rime minister is not voted for in a parliamentary district like, any other of parliament, voted for in a parliamentary district like, any other of the 625 members. He is prime minister by virtue of being the acknowledged leader of the party which controls a majority of the 525 seats.

After an election the king sends for that leader and asks him "to form a government." The prime minister then submits to the king—who automatically approves—a list of those members of the partiament who will head up the various "departments" of the government. But it is still labelled the King's government as a reminder that the prime minister is no self-perpetuating leader but a man chosen by the people for only so long as he does what they want.

Smoke Nuisance Article In Warrant

Voters at the town meeting will be asked to accept sections of the general laws relative to the prevention of smoke nuisance.

If the article is approved the selectmen then can take action against anyone causing dark or dense gray smoke for an unbroken period of five minutes within a quarter of a mile of a dwelling. Such an act will automatically constitute a nuisance under the law.

At present if such conditions exist the selectmen can only request that it be stopped.

To Investigate Fire

The state fire marshal's office has been called to investigate a small fire discovered by police Tuesday in the building off Lewis st., formerly the Andover Lumber Co., now owned by Friends Lumber Co., of Malden.

Officers Robert V. Deyermond and Roy A. Russell were investigating an open door in the building about 5:30 p.m. when they went inside and noticed a small fire had burned itself out. A piece of string which they believe had been dipped in oil, led to another pile of debris near an outer wall.

The officers reported that it looked as if the open door had been forced.

University Series To Close Sunday

To Close Sunday

The University of Life series will come to a close Sunday when the concluding services of the present series are held at the South church.

Dr. Peter A. Bertocci, A.M., Ph.D., professor of philosophy at Boston university and eminent author, will speak at the chapei meeting. His subject will be "What it Means to Believe in God." Following the chapel service, Dr. Bertocci will speak to the young people at the youth seminar at 8 o'clock on "The Meaning of Love." The chapel devotions will be led by the Rev. Paul E. Callahan, pastor of the Union Congregational church, Ballardvale, Herbert P. Carter, chairman of the University of Life, will introduce Dr. Bertocci to the youth seminar.

Candidates Speak At L.W.V. Meeting

The League of Women Voters held a well-attended pre-election meeting Tuesday evening in Peabody House. Mrs. Peter McKee, the president of the league, turned the meeting over to Wallace Brimer who introduced the candidates in the order of their appearance on the ballot, and allowed each one two minutes to talk. The audience was particularly interested to hear the contestants for the three school committee vacancies.

Roy Hardy then explained the committee vacancies.

Roy Hardy then explained the articles in the town warrant. A question was raised about the proposals for the enlarged water supply system, and Vincent Treanor stated the position of the taxpayers' association, while Sidney White of the board of public works upheld the need of the full appropriation asked for in the warrant.

Moot Question Will Be Before Town Meeting March 13 For Solution

March 13 For Solution

Opinions regarding the steps necessary to improve the town's water system will clash at the annual town meeting Monday. Mar. 13 when the special articles submitted by the board of public works for enlarging the supply will be opposed by the Andover Taxpayers' association.

The board of public works, which has followed suggestions made in the 1945 report of-Weston & Sampson, Boston engineers who made a study of the system, has articles in the town warrant asking appropriations for a six million gallon reservoir and land upon which to construct it.

The taxpayers' association, whose sub committee on water has made a survey of the needs of the system, offers a different solution and in its report 'insists that we should improve our pumping stations before we enlarge our reservoirs.'' A difference of several dollars in the tax rate is also involved.

The mance committee, which has also gone into the subject agrees with the board of public works on the reservoir question and with the conclusions of the engineers.

Call Special Town Meeting

Town Meeting

A special town meeting will be held Monday, Mar. 13 in conjunction with the regular town meeting.

This has been called to act on an article presented by the board of public works "to see if the town will vote to raise a sum of money for the purchase and installation of a new engine-driven centrifugal pump together with the necessary diesel engine foundation" and other equipment at Haggetts pond pumping station.

As this could not get into the regular warrant the calling of the special town meeting was necessary to get it before the voters at this time.

It is an alternate to Article 19 calling for the appropriation of $12,000 for a high pressure steam, boiler to replace the existing one at the pumping station, which has been condemned. If one article is accepted the other will be withdrawn.

At Addison Gallery

Three different exhibitions are on display at the Addison Gallery and are open free to the public. Of particular local interest is an exhibition of textile studies by Anni Albers who, with her husband, has until recently, been on the faculty of Black Mountain college in North Carolina.

Modern church art is presented by means of original paintings, sculpture and photographs of two projects of significant interest to any who are interested in the arts of the church.

The third exhibition "What is Theatre," lent by Life magazine, is opened by a brief section on the beginnings of theatre. Subsequent panels are organized under five leading heads dealing historically with classic tragedy, Ellizabethan tragedy, comedy and the two-fold program of tragedy and comedy in present-day drama.

These exhibitions may be visited daily 9 a. m. to 5 p. m., Sundays 2:30 to 5 p. m. through March 12.

In High Service System

In line with the board of public works' plans to keep the capacity of the town's water system ahead of the growing demand for water it is proposed to increase the high service pumping capacity during the coming year. This construction a statement from the board says, will be in the form of a new pump with automatic controls and an increase in the effectiveness of the force main to Prospect hill reservoir.

Linda Serve, and at the same time delay the larger expenditure.

The area served by the high pressure system is continually growing but at the present time it is quite difficult to discern the exact trend or rate of growth. It is felt that much more work than that described above will ultimately have to be done in this area.

However, due to the uncertainty of the rate of growth and the other factors affected by it the broaden.

Proposed Improvements

Under present conditions water is pumped from the low service system by means of an electric driven pump at Bancroft road station thru an old eight-inch main to the high service system and the reservoir on Prospect hill. This pumping system was originally constructed in 1909, forty-one years ago. years ago.

Periods of great water demand have severely taxed the electric pump on several occasions, and the standby engine-driven triplex pump is of about the same capac-ity but can not be depended upon for any extended operation.

Ity but can not be depended upon for any extended operation.

During recent years and extending back to August of 1943 there have been periods when the present pump has not been able to keep up with the demand. An accumulating deficiency of this sort is a drain on the reservoir and ultimately could result in no storage being available for an emergency. An increase in pumping capacity large enough to care for the anticipated future maximum demand will greatly improve the protection available in the high service system, and will enable the construction of a new high service reservoir and new force main to be delayed for a few years.

The new pump as proposed by the board will be capable of delivering up to 864,000 gallons per day and by means of automatic start and stop controls it will be possible to keep the reservoir practically full at all times, thus reserving the storage for an emergency. Also when the time arives when it shall become necessary to further enlarge this system it will be possible to increase the capacity of the pump by merely installing a new and larger impeller.

The capacity of the present pump is 468,000 g. p. d. During a new and larger impeller.

The capacity of the present pump is 468,000 g. p. d. During the past year the maximum demand on this pump reached the rate of 613,000 g.p.d. and it is presently forecast that in 1975 the maximum demand will be between 770,000 and 900,000 g.p.d. or an average of 835,000 g.p.d.

The present force main to Prosent

770,000 and 900,000 g.p.d. or an average of 835,000 g.p.d.

The present force main to Prospect hill is over 40 years old and its diameter has been greatly reduced by interior rust formations, so that it has been generally estimated that it is no more effective than a five-inch pipe.

The special committee on water supply in its report of 1945 recommended that a new ten-inch main be constructed to augment the old eight-inch main. Whereas this would be the ideal improvement to the force main it is felt by the board that cleaning and relining the present main will offer a more economical solution to the problem for the present. Cleaning and relining will enable the main to carry the necessary quantity of water for the next several years without an excessive friction head.

It is planned to clean and reline this main at an estimated cost of settled to the satisfaction of both parties.

YEAH, HOW?

studio awaiting instructions, a star approached with the idea of showing a little consideration to "the poor savage."

"Well," he said kindly, "how do you like our city?"

"Very well, thank you." replied the Indian; "how do you like our country?"

"The estimated cost of a new ten-inch force main is $50,000. This main, or perhaps a larger one, will ultimately have to be constructed to care for the growing demand; however for the present it is felt that the more economical relining job will adequately

However, due to the uncertainty of the rate of growth and the other factors affected by it the board of public works is of the opinion that the bare minimum of work outlined above is all that it can recommend at the present time. It is hoped that in the next few years it will be possible to definitely fix the proper size for a new force main and new storage reservoir on Prospect hill in order that when the proper time arrives it will be possible to go ahead with these improvements as needed.

THE SEWER ASSESSMENT

When residents of Pine and Elm streets brought their protest against the new sewer assessment to the town meeting last March they felt certain they were to get some relief.

First to get their bills under the new charge that jumped from $1.10 a foot to 100 percent of the cost, they succeeded in having a committee appointed to study the situation with the provision "that the committee report to the board of public works and that the latter be advised that it was the opinion of this meeting that they grant abatements to bring the assessments in line with the rates of this committee.

The committee has made a prolonged study of the matter and held numerous meetings before arriving at its conclusions. They say that the town has more than fully contributed its share to the cost of the sewer system and that abutters should be assessed their pro-rata share as in the past by frontage and depth upon the actual cost of the particular sewer to which their land is accessible.

The committee does offer another solution which would seem to be easier on abutters, and that is that the town consider financing new sewers on a rental program at a charge of about 2.5 percent annually, only to those benefiting from the new extensions.

ALL MAY HELP

The annual drive of the Red Cross opened yesterday and will continue through the month of March Andover chapter has organized its committees under Ernest S. Young, general chairman, and is aiming to reach, or even surpass, its quota of $11,500.

All may help. All of us have an instinctive impulse to help someone in need. And that is what the Red Cross does. Americans who need help and Americans who want to help are brought together through this far-reaching agency

Andover knows well some of the services rendered, the blood recruitment and collection program, the home service, volunteer service to take people to and from hospitals and do other errands of mercy, the life saving and water safety program, these are but a small number of its activities.

The impulse to help those in need is as old as the human heart. All may help through the Red Cross.

Views of The News

abruptly, although Mr. Churchill will probably take his time in pushing Labour out. Although the Labour party has a majority of seats, the majority is virtually useless in practical parliamentary operations. Actually the Labour party does not have a majority of the popular vote. Statistically the situation is contradictory. At this writing Labour has 13,200,000 votes (46%), Conservatives (43.5%), Liberals (9.1%), with a smattering of splinter parties catching the remaining 1.4%. All the other parties together polled 2.175,00 more votes than did Labour.

Labour Has An Unworkable Majority

How did this happen? By British methods the candidate with the biggest vote ever any with the biggest vote ever any other candidate is elected. In a three-cornered fight the Labour candidate wins in this constituency: Labour 21,000, Conservative 20,000, Liberal 18,000. The current seat count is Labour 315, Conservative 294, Liberals 8, others 4, with four results still to come in. Labour has a right to claim that more peolpe voted for it than for any other party or program. But the edge of 10 seats really means that the Con-servatives fought Labour to a standstill. Labour can do very little without permission from the Conservatives. Why is this? The majority of ministers, that is the policy-forming heads of departments and their deputies or policy-forming subordinates, sit in the house of commons. They vote like any other member. Any policy they introduce, any "pol-itical" act they carry out is sub-ject to questioning at any moment. And if the vote of the house of commons goes against any im-portant issue, then that "govern-ment" is finished.

Labour Functions If Churchill

Here is Attlee's difficulty. It the secretary of state for foreign affairs (foreign minister) goes abroad on a political mission, his vote is missing from the commons. If he takes with him any are missing too! And should political necessity take other minis-ters away, then the 315 votes are correspondingly reduced. Quite clearly, British government demands that ministers must leave Westminster sometimes. The man who suggests or carries out "polmust always be ready "answer for" it. And if his answer is not satisfactory to commons, the policy must be changed, or he goes out of office, or even the whole "government" falls. It is thus obvious that no one else can do a minister's job for him, because that minister or deputy must be a member of commons so that ht can be held "answerable."

Some day Mr. Churchill, who is Some day Mr. Churchill, who is paid $8,000 a year to lead His Majesty's Loyal Opposition, will probably force a vote on an important measure at a time when Labour's ranks are depleted. He is an old hand at politics. Once this is done on an issue which this is done on an issue which Labour regards as a vital part of its policy, then the present govern-ment is through. Not only must Labour M. P's remain in London they must always be in the house of parliament in case a "division" is called. When the house "di vides" it votes. Bells ring in the parliament precincts for two mir utes. At the end of that time th doors are closed and the count taken. Mr. Churchill's supporters don't need to stay so close to base. They can practically deter-mine when they want to force a But Labour is waiting to

A Coalition Impracticable

Why doesn't Churchill go into the government with Labour? Why should he? He doesn't beit. And how can Labour elected to power on the nationalization of steel that they passed in the last parliament, invite into the government a party which is dead against it? Should such a coalition government occur, what would the voter think, the Conservatve voter and the Labour servatve voter and the Labour out. In the meantime the conservatve would be the party platforms at a later election?

Try HOOD'S CREAMED COTTAGE CHEESE

Season 1 8-oz. tub of Hood's Creamed Cottage Cheese with salt and peppers. Arrange on crisp green lettuce. Surround with a ring of sweet red cherries which have been cut in halves. Serve with Mayonnaise to which whipped cream has been added, or Hood's Soured Cream, or with French Dressing to which a little lime or grapefruit juice has been added.

Try this excitingly different salad recipe with Hood's delicious Creamed Cottage Cheese. . . . made fresh daily by Hood. Hood's Creamed Cottage Cheese, containing many of the same proteins found in meat, also make a tasty and nourishing sandwich filling for Lenter lunches.

TANGY, TASTY HOODSPRED

This smooth creamed cheese spread is snappily flavored to add spark to sandwiches...to add nutritive value to your Lenten lunches. What's more, it's perfect for "part pieces". Just spread it on crisp crackers or tiny square of golden brown toast. Use it to stuff celery, too. It' delicious...it's fancy...and nourishing, too. Unmore Hoodspred during Lent.

BALANCING YOUR LENTEN MENUS IS EASY
WHEN YOU USE PLENTY OF
TOOLS DAWN PRODUCTS

Whether you make your own, or use canned soups, be sure to add plenty of rich tasting Hood's Milk. It's an excellent source of the vitamins, minerals and proteins your family needs for normal good health. Whatever grade of Hood's Milk you buy, you can be sure it's the best for the price you pay. During Lent, drink more Hood's Milk . . . use more in cooking.

Serve these delicious recipes steaming hot!

Experiments made by the government to find the proper clothing for troops in the Artic area were interestingly described to members of the Andover Service club Thursday night by Dr. H.H. Belding of High Plain rd., director of research at the climatic research laboratory at the Pacific Mills, Lawrence.

At the canner meeting Walter I. Buxton, president, was in the chair. The Rev. John Moses of Christ church offered prayer, and Sidney P. White was the dinner guest of the evening.

guest of the evening.

Roy E. Hardy, representing the Red Cross, told the club that the local chapter has supported a visiting nurse since 1919 but by July 1 the service will have to be divorced from the organization and that a new association will have to be formed to help raise funds to support the service if it is to be maintained here.

The total budget would be about $4000 annually and probably one half of that has been pledged by persons who have been contacted. Chester W. Holland said that when the service was first brought here there was no difficulty in raising funds for its support.

Mr. Buxton appointed G. B. Westhaver, Frank L. Brigham, the Rev. John S. Moses and Chester E. Holland as additional members of the promotional committee to look into the subject and report at the next meeting.

Clinton D. Shaw, who was in charge of the evening's program, turned the introduction of the speaker over to James R. Mosher.

Institute On Judgism

To Be Held March 22

An "Institute on Judaism for Christian Church Women", designed to interpret Judaism to non-Jewish women, will be held Wednesday, Mar. 22, from 10:30 a. m., to 2:30 p. m., at Temple Emanuel, Milton and Lowell sts., Lawrence. The "Institute" is being held under the auspices of the National Federation of Temple Sisterhoods. and its local affiliate, Temple Emanuel Sisterhood, in cooperation with the Women's Work committee of the Greater Lawrence Council of Churches.

Each church in the Greater Lawrence area, including Lawrence, Methuen, Andover, North Andover and Salem, N. H., will be represented by one delegate. If a church has not been contacted, the pastor is requested to call Rabbi Herschel Levin, so that a delegate may be accredited.

The beliefs, rituals and traditions of Judaism will be explained by two rabbis, and Mrs. Herschel Levin will conduct the visitors on a tour of the Temple, explaining the symbols and ceremonial objects.

"Item 2. It is felt that an additional crosswalk should be painted at South Union street where pedestrian push buttons are located. The painting of any additional walks would only tend to induce children and grown-ups to cross at places where protection would be at a minimum.

"Item 3. It is not felt that additional (school) signs are neces-tional (school) signs are neces-sary. The school is located on Magnolia avenue...approximate-ly 1500 feet from the main road. Route 28 from Shawsheen square to the Lawrence line is a straight section well marked with warn-ing and speed signs."

"Item 4. (Prohibit passing at Shepley, Binner and Fletcher streets). The visibility on South

Union is good; the visibility at the above intersections is also fairly good . . . It is felt that the erection of a "Thickly Settled" sign facing traffic southbound on South Union would cover this situation.'

"Item 5. There is only one speed sign (town) located on South Union street facing south-bound traffic. This reads "Speed Not to Exceed 25 m.p.h." Along this straight three-lane concrete section the speed is inclined to be section the speed is inclined to be too high but enforcement of existing regulations by the police would seem to be the answer. The sign itself proably is not legal.

"Item 6. Route 28 is well post-ed with signs and it would appear that enforcement of the 30 m.p.h. speed limit is a matter of local enforcement.

"Item 7. This office does not see how the pasing on South Union at Shepley, Binney and Flet-cher streets could be prohibted. On this three-lane section the visibility and the road alignment are very good.

necessary and relative importance of these improvements." After discussing the improvements they say: "As a result of this study we are of the opinion that the following order of im-portance should be followed in making these improvements:

1. New pumping unit at Haggetts Pond pumping station. 2. New pumping unit at Ban-croft Road high service pumping station.

3. Land off Bancroft road for low service reservoir. 4. Four million gallon low service reservoir. 5. Cleaning and lining 8-in.

"We believe that you should give serious consideration to using the $25,000 difference beusing the $25,000 difference between the cost of a four million gallon reservoir as compared to a six million gallon reservoir plus the $14,500 for cleaning and lining the S-in, force main for installing a new 10-in, force main from the Bancroft Road station to the Prospect Hill reservoir at a cost of about $37,500 which would be a start toward improving the high service distribution system.

Minimum Requirements

The report also states: "The well-recognized minimum requirements for storage of pumped water in distributing reservoirs in a system similar to Andover are one day's maximum consumption plus the water needed for a severe fire. The maximum day's consumption for the year 1949 was 3.200,000 gallons. Assuming that any reservoir constructed at the present time would anticipate the consumption at least 20 years hence, it is probable that the maximum day of 4,500,000 gallons may be reached by 1970. "The demands for a large fire in the business center of the town to meet the requirements of the New England Insurance Exchange are now 2750 gallons per minute for a period of 10 hours, of which 1500 gpm, with reasonable safety be assumed to be pumped from Haggetts pond with one pump, leaving 50,000 gallons to be drawn from storage.

"The total storage requirements would then be 5,250,000 gallons. Inasmuch as about 500,000 gallons from the Prospect Hill high service reservoir could be turned into the low service system by opening a valve, the low service storage would be 4,750,000 gal-lons of which the present low service reservoir holds 1,500,000 gallons. The additional storage to be provided would then be 3,250,000 gallons. In this connection it is of interest to note that the New England Insurance Exchange recommends a storage of five days' maximum consump-tion plus fire demands, giving a TEL. 102 total of over 15 million gallons.

"There is no exact basis for

determining the proper storage to be provided as there are many possibilities, including the interruption of pumping at Haggetts pond, breaks in the force mains or distribution mains that would partly deplete the storage, an unexpected increase in water con-sumption during the coming years, and other contingencies.

Should Construct Reservoir

'After considering these variables we believe that you should construct a low service reservoir off Bancroft road adjacent to the present reservoir, holding at least four million gallons, the cost of which is estimated to be $65,000. A reservoir with a capacity of six million gallons would, of course provide an additional factor of safety."

The taxpayers' has advanced an alternate plan which includes: 1. New deisel driven pump

Two new pumps at Bancroft

Road pumping station, $10,500.

3. Clean out water line from the high pressure pumping station to the high pressure reservoir and line pipes against future corro-sion, $15,000.

4. New 10-in. line to replace present 6-in. on Salem street, from

Woodland road to Highland road

The total estimated cost would be $49,500, but as $6000 is available for this work the net cost would be $43,500. "The Andover Taxpayers' asso-

"The Andover Taxpayers' association," the report says, "does not feel that the above recommendations are a "cure-all" or that they will give Andover a perfect water system. But we do feel that these would vastly improve the system and that $43,500 will do more to improve the water system than the amounts recomsystem than the amounts recom mended by the B.P.W."

The association opposes the purchase of land for a reservoir.

"To say 'yes' or 'no' as to whether we need additional reser-voir storage takes a bit of ex-plaining as to what constitutes a proper water system." the reports says. "In Andover we have a 1,500,000 gallon reservoir off Bancroft road and a 550,000 gallon reservoir on Prospect Hill. The water in these reservoirs 'floats' on top of the water system. For illustration: When the pumps at Haggetts pond are operating and people are using water the demand (being used) comes directly from the pumping system When the demand (use) is lower that the amount being pumped that the amount being pumped the surplus goes into the reser voir; thereby increasing amount of storage. When the demand (use) is greater than the amount being pumped, the gallonage above pumping capacity is drawn from the reservoir. Thus, at peak gemand, water is pumped directly to the users; at lower demand water is pumped to the users and the reservoirs; and at ebb, or no demand, the reservoirs are filled and pumping ceases.

No Trouble with System

"The above, in simplest terms, is what happens in our water system. So far we have had no trouble with the system. But that does not mean that its inad-equacy has not caused concern.

During a part of one hour this past summer, at the height of the draught, the system was demand-ing more water than could be pumped or supplied by reservoir pumped of supplied by reservoir storage for any long period of time. This was caused by the irrigation of farms in the West Andover district. However, at no time was it necessary for cur-tailment of supply or to demand 'no shaving' and 'no bathing' days nor was lawn sprinkling nor was lawn sprinkling prohibited

"However, our biggest worry is uncontrollable demand. That is caused by fire. Fire raises the normal demand on any water sys-tem. The National Board of Fire tem. The National Board of Fire Underwriters recommends for a town of 13,000 population a 'required maximum fire flow of 3500 gallons per minute for 10 hours.' That is 2,100,000 gallons of water. This we have in our 1,500,000 gallon reservoir, plus our 550,000 gallon reservoir, plus water in the mains. water in the mains.

"But if the pipes or mains from the reservoir broke, we do not have proper pumping facilities to pump the Board of Fire Underwriters maximums. And, without adequate pumps, all the reservoirs imaginable are useless."

The report goes on to state: "Right now the main pumping station ... can only pump 3000 station . . . can only pump 3 gpm at maximum capacity. either one of the present two pumps at Haggetts fails, we can get either 1800 or 1200 gallons depending on the casualty.
"In conclusion." says

port, "the A.T.A. would like to BUILDING PERMITS point out that:

1. Haggetts pond is in essence our reservoir. There are 1,036,000,000 gallons of water in Haggetts at ordinary high water. If we need more the spillway can be raised two feet thereby adding 220 million gallons. If more than that is needed Fish brook . . can be dammed and turned into Haggetts pond, thereby adding an additional 240 million gallons of Reservoirs or no reservoirs, there is no way to get water to your house withut pumping it from Haggetts pond. Hence our plea to strengthen the pumping facilities first.

3. Fire never has caused 'peak demand' n the system in Ando-

4. We have had peak demand due to irrigation on farms in West Andover . . . Our biggest individual water user for irrigation is less than 14 mile from Haggetts. It seems to store water for him on Bancroft road (four miles away) and then pipe it back to him another four miles."

We Pay the Bills

The association says it has no fault to find with the Weston & Sampson report but they simply make recommendations. They do not pay for their execution. "We too, make recommendations but we pay the bills for their fulfill-ment." They feel the engineers' report of Feb. 21 is predicated on poor pumping facilities.

They believe the essence of any system is good pumping. "What the A.T.A. advocates will vastly improve our water system and add $2 to the tax rate. The present articles in the warrant will not basically improve the system, but will give you a new reservoir and add $6.50 to the tax rate. The directors of the association are unanimous in their approval of this report."
