Water Problem Settled At Town Meeting With $49,500 Appropriation

$49,500 Appropriation

Voters at the town meeting Monday night settled the town's water problem with an appropriation of $49,500 for a new pump at Haggetts pond and other improvements, but eliminated the proposed new reservoir and the purchase of land for its construction.

The board of public works had requested $114,500 for a new reservoir, piping and other improvements, $4000 for land on Bancroft road for its location, and in a supplementary warrant asked $15,000 for an electric-driven pump at the pumping station, a total of $133,500.

In Scholarships

John M. Kemper, headmaster of 170-year old Phillips academy, announced today that the New England preparatory school would offer a total of $120,000 in scholarships for needy and deserving boys during the coming school year. Over one-fifth of the school's population will this benefit from the scholarship funds.

Mr. Kemper pointed out that, of this number, about 25 will receive full tuition awards of $1400, while other awards, ranging from $175 up to the total tuition figure, will be made according to the applicant's need. The scholarship committee, which selects each scholarship student, makes its judgment on the three-fold basis of financial need, scholastic ability, and personal character.

The town meeting Monday night voted appropriations of $1.142.429.75 and although this is $58.717 more than was appropriated last year, Chairman Roy E. Hardy of the board of assessors said that he looked for no change in the present $36 tax rate. To take care of the increased appropriations without boosting the tax rate, Mr. Hardy explained there would be some extra income to the town this year due to new homes, an increase in town receipts, and an increase in returns from the state.

From the sums sought for departmental expenses and special articles indications were that the town meeting would have to increase th tax rate even with certain economies in reducing requests.

Early in the meeting Mr. Hardy explained that the most intelligent testimate on the 1950 tax rate which the board of assessors could reach was that if the recomendations of the Andover Taxpayers' association were followed the rate would continue the same as appropriated from available funds the rate would increase from $1 to $3; and if all the articles in the warrant were approved the rate would jump from $5 to $7.

Members of the taxpayers' association carried the brunt of the opposition to many measures contained in the special articles and it was through their efforts that many reductions were made.

Town Meeting Appropriates $1,142,429

The biggest cut was made in the article calling for $114,000 for a new reservoir and other improve ments to the water system. This was reduced to $34,500. The re quest for $4000 to purchase land for a new reservoir lost; several requests for water extensions were included in one article allowing $20,000 to be spent under the board of public works with the approval of the selectmen and the finance committee.

The article calling for $550 to erect a press booth at the play-stead was withdrawn when it was announced the Boosters commit-tee would make some provision for this improvement.

The stormy weather had its effect on the attendance as only 825 registered voters were checked off at the door.

Moderator Arthur called the meeting to order at 7 p. m., and the Rev. Henry B. Smith, O.S.A., of St. Augustine's church offered prayer. J. Everett Collins led the assembly in a salute to the flag.

Articles 10 and 20 for improve-ments on Lowell street and Argilla road were considered together. The taxpayers' association opposed both and on motion of John F. O'Connell it was voted to refer both to the next town meeting.

Under Article 12, Sidney P. White, chairman of the board of public works, said that if they had the piece of equipment sought it would have saved the town $800 last year. It is a rubber-cleated tractir with a hydraulic lift and can be equipped with a plow for sidewalks in winter. The article vas approved.

Discussing the enclosure of Roger's brook, Charles U. Langdell of Ballardvale described how his wife and son fell into the brook after leaving the auditorium Halowe'en night.

There was a drop of about five feet where they fell in taking a short cut in the dark to Whittier street. The boy was uninjured as street. The boy was uninjured as he fell on Mrs. Langdell but the latter was severely bruised. He suggested erecting a wire chain fence if the amount called for in the article to enclose the brook seemed large. On motion of Mr. O'Connell it was postponed until the next town meeting with the suggestion by Mr. Hardy that the board of public works make an engineering study of the matter based on safety and economy. Action on the article to appropriate $10,000 for plans for ele-mentary school buildings brought an amendment for plans without specifying the number of rooms TEL. 365

The original article called for 12 in the center and six in West Parish. It also authorized the moderish. It also authorized the moderish.

ator to appoint a school building mmittee. Ralph Robbins made a motion that the moderator appoint a committee of seven, one member each from the Central, West Center, Indian Ridge and Ballardvale PTA one member of the school committee and two members at large.

To this proposal Gordon L. Colquhoun, chairman of the school committee stated that he believed the moderator was capable to ap-point a committee. Charles C. Kimball, of the taxpayers' association, said that it is important to get the best com-mittee available for this important job and he did not think the meeting should restrict the moderator in making his selections. The Rob-bins' motion was defeated.

An amendment offered by Mr. Kimball that plans be prepared for schools in the central and west central district without designating the number of rooms, was arried.

When it came to vote on Article 29 to see if $2175 would be used 29 to see it $2175 would be used of improve the lighting at the library the voice vote was so close that Moderator Sweeney called for a standing vote. The article was defeated by 166 for, and 182 against. The total was 348, apparently all who were left in the auditorium at the time.

The article to accept the second

The article to accept the sec-tions of general laws relating to the prohibition of smoke nuisances was adopted after Dr. William Emmons of the board of health explained that numerous complaints had been received especially in summer time, from residents about the soot getting into their homes. Recommendations of the spec-ial committee for revision of the building laws were accepted. The committee, appointed last year, re-ports that the revision contains some sections of the present laws with little or no change, and other sections have been elimin-ated or rplaced.

The meeting adjourned at 11:18

COFFEE HANGOVER

The notion that drinking great quantities of strong coffee can keep a human being wide awake keep a human being wide awake indefinitely is completely over-drawn. As a matter of fact, at the rate of ten or twelve strong cups a day, the joy ride will normally end after some 72 hours. Then come the jitters, sluggishness and depression. Cosmopolitan magazine explains that, while caffeine is a notent drug, if taken in exis a potent drug, if taken in excessive amounts, it will produce exactly the opposite of the effect desired.

The fourth annual scout-o-ral will be held at 1:30 p.m. Saturday, Apr. 1, at Case Memorial cage, Phillips academy. The following information has been distributed by the district committee: As scouting is team work, the committee is of the opinion that all competition should be based on dens, patrols, and crews. All scout leaders are asked to submit to Merrill F, Burnett not later than
Mar. 16, den numbers, patrol scout-o-ral.

The general assembly at the TRAINING
The second meeting of the scoutmasters basic training course was held Wednesday evening, Mar, s in the Memorial Hall library. The meeting was in charge of Walter Caswell, scoutmaster for the training sessions. Instruction periods were in the use of the compass with F. Tyler Carlton as lecturer, and in patrol and troop program planning under the guidance of Joseph Gaudet, faculty seribe. Sound movies shown during the training courses are very helpful in explaining the scouting program. Calvin Metcaif, discrict chairman visited the meeting which bad the following Andover scouters enrolled in the classes: Merrill F. Burnett, Roger Dea, John Souter, and Edwin Zelezny. The meetings are being held each wednesday evening in March and all adults are welcome.

The general assembly at the cage will begin with a march to the center of the area, and all units are urged to bring den, patrol, crew, pack, troop and post flags.

Cub 8 to 11, Scouts 11 to 14, and Explorers 14 to 18, whose registrations are in effect as of Apr. 1, 1950 will be eligible to compete. This also applies to boys 14 to 18 whose unit may be temporarily disbanded, due to lack of odult leadership. All equipment will conform to the usual order that no holes be made in the floor of the cage.

Merrimack College

The dean's list for the fall term at Merrimack college as announced by the Rev. Joseph J. Gildea, O.S.A., Ph.D., dean, includes the following Andover students: Lawrence P. Morrisroe, 42 Elm st., and Frederick E. Wernicke, Jr., Foster's Pond rd., both juniors enrolled in the liberal arts course; James J. Berthel, 18 Arundel st., a sophomore enrolled in the liberal arts course; Maurice P. Shea, 21 Pine st., a freshman enrolled in the business administration course.

Merrimack college basketball team concluded a very successful season last Saturday night when they scored a smashing 68-32 win over the Boston School of Accounting at the 101st Regiment armory in Boston.

The victory marked the fifth straight win for the Merrimack quintet and ended the first full season with a record of seven victories and two defeats.

From their performance this year the Andover collegians definitely have shown the nucleus of a strong future outfit. With a full season's experience tucked away, Merrimack's place in future intercollegiate basketball looks promising.

EDITORIAL THOUGHTS

VETERAN'S HOUSING PROGRESS

Announcement of the Andover Housing authority that new application blanks for the homes being constructed on Morton street are now available means that in a very short time the 56 dwelling units in the 12 buildings will be ready for occupancy.

The step by step progress of the work since the authority was established in May, 1948, shows how industriously the board members went about their task of providing adequate low-rental housing for veterans of the town.

In the first annual report of the body Charles G. Hatch, chairman, relates how the board organized in July, 1948, issued a call for applicants and in a few weeks received more than 100. Sites were examined, the Morton street location found desirable for the kind of building to be erected, and the town rezoned the area to approve the multiple type housing.

An architect was engaged, final plans accepted and in August, 1949, the contract was awarded. Work started almost immediately. Some delay was encountered, the board reported, by the steel strike last fall but real progress has been made and it is hoped to have occupancy by June, this year.

As some of the first applications are now more than a year old the board feels that the status of some veterans may have changed in that time, hence the request for new applications. All will be reviewed before allocation are made.

The authority has been alert to its task and as a result 56 veterans and their families will soon be moving into new

VOTING OURSELVES INTO EDEN

Those who believe that in order to compete with totalitarian powers in the cold war, we must imitate their methods and principles, find no friend in Dr. Vannevar Bush, the brilliant scientist who directed much of our top-secret arms, research and wrote the recent distinguished best-seller, "Modern Arms

We cannot meet the Russian threat, he said, "if we turn this country into a wishy-washy imitation of totalitarianism, where every man's hand is out for pabulum and virile creativeness has given place to the patronizing favor of swollen bureaucracy.

"Dictatorship can compete with dictatorships, and a free virile democracy can outpace any such in the long pull. But a people bent on soft security, surrendering their birth-right of individual self-reliance for favors, voting themselves into Eden from a supposedly inexhaustible public purse, supporting everyone by soaking a fast disappearing rich, scrambling for subsidy, learning the arts of political log-rolling and forgetting the rugged virtues of the pioneer, will not measure up to competition with a tough dictatorship."

The total state, or the socialist state, or the welfare state, or whatever you wish to call it, always achieves one thing. It weakens and finally destroys initiative, self-reliance and human, individual enterprise. It can't help but do that-where is the need to think and work for ourselves when an all-powerful, all-wise state is doing it for us? And if we want to do something for ourselves, the chances are that we'll be financially unable to do it, because that state takes most of our income to pay for all our "security" and "welfare"

What arguments was the voter weighing in his mind last Sunday as he marked his ballot? The main one was: Is Leopold's leadership so tainted that the country would be better off with his son as king? Can he become king again without splitting the country apart? Actu-ally Leopold has no rights in the sense that he can decide whether he wants to be king or not. He may decide not to be to, but he cannot insist on being taken back. The monarchy is not an ancient one that can claim inheritance by traditional right. The Constitution of Belgium created the monarchy early last century as King of the Belgians, indicating that the pele wanted him as king of their own free will. Before the first king took on the job he had to agree to accept the limitations agree to accept the limitations carefully listed in the constitution. While no law is valid unless signed by the king, neither is one valid unless passed by parliament. So, for all practical purposes, the king is powerless without his ministers they are nowelless without isters, they are powerless without the support of parliament, and ul-timately the king can do nothing unless the people, through parliament, agree. At present, parlia-ment prefers a regent, and Leo-pold is powerless to dictate other-

Why Is Leopold Criticized?

What caused all the fuss? It was not the fact that Leonold sur rendered his forces to the Germans in 1940. That was inevitable as the Germans pushed the allies into the Dunkirk pocket, leaving 500,000 Belgian troops squeezed into a corner where order practically ceased to exist. The allies freely apreciated the cold facts. It was Leopold's subsequent behavior that made him a suspect. And a that made him a suspect. And a suspected monarch, limited though his powers may be, is hardly the proper leader of a country that believes in monarchy. Perhaps to many Americans, monachy looks like an expensive hobby and an inexplicable institution to be attributed to the quaint notions held by foreigners. But some nation posedly outside politics, presum-ably choosing his ministers from the leaders of the marjority party chosen by the people, and the leader of social and ethical standards Many Belgians believe that Leo pold has forfeited the people's trust by past behavior.

For "Dealing" With the Germans

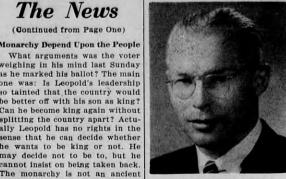

The first point of criticizm is hat Leopold did not listen to his hinisters' advice in 1940. Such refusal to listen indicated an unwillingness to do as his people wanted. The nation did not like the fact that while technically a prisoner he married the daughter of a man who was removed from his post as governor of West Flanders because of suspected collaboration with the Germans. Sub-sequent actions by Leopold were interpreted as indicative of a "deal" with the Germans. In 1941 he sent a congratulatory telegran to Hitler on that dictator's birth day. Later he sent condolences to the king of Italy on the death of the viceroy of Etheopia, interpret-ed as tacit support of Italy's rape of Ethiopia. He spent his weddingtrip in Germany, sent his children to Italy, and refused to encourage those Belgians who fought with the allies or to censure those collaborating with the Germans

For Acting Unconstitutionally

In June 1944, immediately after D-day he was taken by the Ger-mans to Salzburg, whether by force or pre-arrangement is still a point of contention. But after his "liberation" by American forces in May 1945 he refused to return immediately to Belgium. Deputations went from Brussels to Salzburg to arrange for his re-turn, demanding 1) the dismissal of the court circle whose actions during the occupation had com promised the monarchy, 2) recon-ciliation with parliament and rec-ognition of the right of ministers to advise him, 3) that Belgium ontinue the war on the side

Nothing came of the negotiations, so the ministry announced that they would resign if Leopold returned, since they could not accept responsibility for keeping order. He then tried to supplant these men with others of his choice, but could find no one prepared to accept such responsibility. So he announced that parliament did not reflect the opinion of the country, and that he'd make no decision until a national election was held. Parliament debated the issue and votes its confidence in the ministry by 94 to 62.

Decision Rests With Parliament Sunday's "opinion poll" was preceded by riots throughout the country, with a clear-cut split evident between the French-speaking anti-Leopold Walloons of southern Belgium and the German-speaking pro-Leopold Flem-ings of northern Belgium. This referendum is advisory only, be-cause final action must come from Parliament. Leopold said he would Parliament. Leopold said he would abdicate in favor of his son Baudouin unless he received 55% of the vote. He has received over 57%, but the Liberals, who hold the balance of power in parliament, have stated that they would vote against his return unless each of the three district of Wellsenia. of the three districts of Walloonia, Flanders and Brussels gives a majority in favor of Leopold. The vote definitely indicates a split across the country. Parliament must now make up its mind whether Belgium will be better off with or without Leopold.

Robins, the harbingers of spring, have been seen in town this week.

George Holt, acting as foreman in the construction of the Andover Press office, was obliged to desist from labor on account of illness.

A. Warner has returned from Kansas City, where he took a car load of fat cattle. Mr. Warner who is 76, thought he was a little aged to be riding on a freight train to take cattle to market, but when he got there and met a man 82 years old who had taken an entire train load of cattle there, he felt young. He brought a car load of calves home with him.

The selectmen voted to appoint William L. Frye new chief of police for the ensuing year at a salary of $65 per month.

THANKS TOWNSMAN

Townsman Editor:

In behalf of the officers of the Andover council of churches and the committee on arrangements I want to thank you for the excelent publicity you gave to the University of Life series which was recently concluded.

We have to make our contacts with the people of Andover largely through the medium of papers such as the Townsman, and whatever success we achieved was due in considerable measure to your support.

Here's Easy Way To Decide Your Best Hair Style

Any woman can get a very ac-curate idea of which hairstyle is best for her by a simple experiment in front of her mirror. Good Housekeeping magazine, which features the master handbook of 50 new hair-dos in its March issue, describes this simple hometest as follows:

Looking in the mirror, accurately outline, with soap, the reflection of your face. Keep this shape in mind. Your hair should frame is prettily.

Now comb and brush your hair into the general form of various coiffures you have seen, and ob-serve whether they compliment you.

Pull back your hair severely. See how this brings out every line and feature in strong relief -fine for a perfect face, but is it for you? Now make a side part, comb top flat, fluff the sides. Your face seems shorter and wider-good for a long phiz, not so happy for Part your hair in the middle.

Local Girl Honored At Abbot Academy

PATRICIA EVELETH

An honor of more than usual note has been conferred upon Miss Patricia Eveleth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Eveleth, 13 Elim st., in her recent election as president of the freshman class at Abbot academy.

The distinction is quite unusual in that Miss Eveleth is one of the few members of the class who are day students at the academy. Class officers almost always are chosen from among the boarding students due to their availability for evening meetings.

Miss Eveleth, a "prep" in the class of 1953, attended the Unionville, Pa., Consolidated school be-fore coming to Andover with her parents nearly two years ago. In 1949 she graduated from the Pike school, where she was an honor student, and entered Abbot last fall where she is taking a college preparatory course.

Teachers Granted Annual Increases

Step increases were granted 47 teachers by the school committee at its regular meeting Tuesday night and other teachers were reelected with increass.

The session opened with a organization at which the senior member, William A. Doherty, presided. Gordon L. Colquhoun was unanimously re-elected chairman and Mr. Doherty re-elected secreand Mr. Doherty re-elected secretary.

Chairman Colquhoun reappointed the special committee on athletics to study the whole athletic system of the schools, and asked for a report at the May meeting. This study is brought about by the action on dropping track as a major sport last year and then restoring it again. The committee includes Mrs. Dorothy Partridge, chairman, Mr. Doherty, Kenneth L. Sherman, superintendent of schools, and Charles A. Gregory, acting principal of Punchard high school.

The chairman announced an

Ballardvale Loses Its Fight Against Automatic Gates

Discussing the petition of the railroad for approval of the in-stallation of flashing lights and automatic half gates electrically operated, the ruling states:

A public hearing was held on above entitle. matter on Oct. 19, 1949.

Tewksbury and Andover streets cross at grade the double tracks of the western route of the Port-land division of the B & M railroad in the Town of Andover at the Ballardvale station. The cross-ing is now protected by manually operated gates 24 hours per day

The railroad corporation proposes to install in lieu of said manually operated gates, automatic electric flashing light signals with pedestrian bell in combination with automatic gates.

Concern was shown by the position for the safety of the chil-dren living in the district. We fully appreciate this concern which is only natural. Nevertheless, it is not substantiated by our records which indicate that over a period of years no school child has been involved in an accident where the proposed form of auto-matic protection is in service. Evidence presented at the hear-ing indicates that the failure of the automatic form of protection is rare, while the failure of the human element at manually protected grade crossings is alto gether too frequent. We are cog-nizant of our responsibility to protect human life at railroad crossings and to safeguard the public. In doing so, we must rely on our experience and of the ex-perience of other jurisdictions and the opinions of outstanding safety engineers throughout the country. We have carefully excountry. We have carefully ex-amined the facts and evidence in this case and have determined that the better security of human life requires the proposed install-ation of automatic flashing light signals, automatic electrically operated gates and an automatic pedestrian bell in lieu of the present manually operated gates..

Therefore, after notice, public hearing and consideration, it is ORDERED: That the B & M railroad company cause to be in-stalled and therefore operated and maintained as a warning signal for all track movements, automatic electric flashing light signals with pedestrian bell in com-bination with automatic gates at the crossing at grade of its railroad with Andover and Tewksbury streets in the town of Andover and it is FURTHER ORDERED: That the crossing warning signs General Laws (Ter. Ed.) c. 160, s. 140, used in connection with said installation shall be reflectorized and of a type approved by the department, and it is FURTHER ORDERED: That the distant warning signs (disc signs) at all approaches, to said crossing shall be of a type described in General Laws (Ter. Ed.) c. 160, s. 142 as amended and shall be equipped with reflector buttons or any other reflecting device, FURTHER ORDERED: That said installation shall be completed not later than June 30, 1950, in manner satisfactory to the department

New Reservoir Defeated

ing the evening, had the strong backing of those present. As a result it succeeded in having these requests reduced to $84,000.

The association approved the $15,000 for the new pump, and $34,500 for pumps and piping at the high service pumping station, cleaning and relining of small portions of the high service mains

The first article dealing with the water situation came up just at 8:30 p. m., at which time a re-cess was called and the clerk read the call for a special town meeting which contained one article for a new engine-driven pump at Hag-

This was referred to the regular town meeting and considered with article 19 calling for $12,000 to purchase a high service steam boiler at the station

Sidney P. White, chairman of the board of public works, read an amendment to the special war-rant, as follows: -- see if the town will vote to raise and appropriate the sum of $15,000 for the purpose of purchasing and installing an electric-driver centrifugal pump together with the necessary elec-tric motor, foundations, piping, and other appurtenances including provision for connection to a gasoline or deisel power unit to be used as a future auxiliary, for use at Haggetts Pond pumping station, on petition of the board of public works.

The capacity would be 2500 gallons per minute. The taxpayers' association approved this article and it was adopted. Article 19 calling for the steam boiler, was withdrawn

On the $114,500 item Mr. White offered a motion to raise $64,500 by appropriation and transfer $50,000 from available funds for this work. He reviewed the studies made of the water system since 1922 when the firm of Weston & Sampson, consulting engineers of Boston were first called in. Subsereports. Mr. White said called for a new reservoir and the board of public works would not be serving the town properly if it ignored them.

Mr. Kimball discussed the number of points in which the taxassociation was in agree payers' ment with the board of public works and proposed an amend-ment as follows: To see if the town will vote to raise and appropriate the amount of $34,500 for the purpose of improving and en larging certain facilities of the water system. The work contemplated under this article consists of the following: first, new pump ing equipment, controls, measur ing devices and necessary piping re-arrangements all at the high service pumping station; secondly, the cleaning and relining of the present force main from the high service pumping station to the high service reservoir, and clean-ing and relining small portions of the high service mains; work to proceed only with the approval of the board of selectmen, the fin-ance committee and the board of public works.

Various speakers were heard on this subject. Howell M. Still-man, chairman of the finance committee, reported the committee's approval of the article. He be-lieved the basic problem was a matter of storage and continuous postponement of a new reservoir would pile up a terrific tax rate at a future date.

Vincent Treanor, president of the Andover Taxpayers' association and leading opponent of the reservoir proposal, explained the work of experts of his organization on the matter and introduced Norman Thompson of Chestnut street
