EDITORIAL

The Andover Townsman makes its first appearance today in its new and modern dress.

Printed with a new offset process it is in keeping with the continuous progressive changes taking place in the town and in the newspaper field.

Mindful of its pledge to improve the paper when possible, and alert to the newer developments in production, the management has taken this step in its effort to bring a better newspaper to Andover.

The new process had individuality, clear cut display, ease of reading, and convenience of use which are the chief objectives of all progressive newspapers.

At the same time it will bring far greater clarity to pictures which the Townsman, noted in the past for its outstanding photos, will continue to publish on a much wider scale in order to show the activities of the town and its people who help make the news.

Devoted as ever to the community which it serves, The Townsman will strive to attain the same high level that has marked its progress in the past and which makes it welcome into the homes of Andover.

You don't have to be a college graduate to know that it's better to travel by bus.

For one thing, it's dependable. In all kinds of weather, the bus will get you there. For another thing, it's thrifty. It's low-cost transportation . . . without parking fees to pay, or police tickets to answer for. And . . . it's the safest form of transportation, by actual records.

On every count, it's smart to ride on Eastern Massachusetts buses.

Shawsheen Girl, 3, Escapes Drowning

Judith Jackson, 3, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold S. Jackson, 4 Fletcher st., had a narrow escape from drowning in a small pool near her home last Thursday morning. Prompt work by police and firemen brought her back to consciousness just about the time she reached the Lawrence General hospital in the fire department ambulance. She was released from the hospital Friday.

With other children Judith was playing near the small fish pool at the rear of 2 Fletcher st. It is not known just how she fell in. The cries of a little boy neighbor, with whom she was playing, brought Mrs. Jackson to the pool, and she pulled out the child, who was unconscious by this time.

A call was put in for the fire department ambulance. The fire department immediately notified police and from the station a radio call was sent out to Officer Robert Deyermond, who was doing traffic duty nearby on Union street. Officer Deyermond arrived on the scene a few minutes before the ambulance and immediately started applying artificial respiration.

When the ambulance arrived Officer Deyermond was joined by George Williams, J. Woodrow Crowley and Joseph Gaudet. The inhalator was used and with Officer Deyermond applying artificial respiration on the trip to the hospital the child began to respond to the treatment about the time the hospital was reached.

Fatally Injured In Shawsheen

Peter B. Pescosolido, 4½, son of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Pescosolido, 383 N. Main st., was fatally injured last Saturday morning when struck by a produce truck while at play on Kenilworth street, just around the corner from his home.

The accident happened about 11.25 a. m., when the boy was playing with his brother, William, 6½, and David Noyes, 4, a neighbor.

According to the police report, Timothy F. Devine, of Lawrence, operator of the truck had just made a stop on Main street and was turning into Kenilworth street where a truck was stopped on the south east corner. Devine stated he was going five to eight miles an hour when he felt a bump and heard his son, Robert, who was riding on the tail end of the truck shout to him to stop. He then observed the youngster lying in the roadway.

The ambulance was summoned and took the boy to the Lawrence General hospital where he was reported dead on arrival.

Officer William Stewart investigated and was joined by Sergt. William R. Hickey and Inspector George F. Hancock of the registry of motor vehicles.

It is not known just how the lad was struck. Devine reported he saw no children as he turned into the street. Police believe they were hidden by the other truck and might have started to dart across the roadway when the victim fell and was struck by the rear wheel or the side of the truck.

Police report that a preliminary examination showed the boy was struck on the back of the head. He apparently had no other injury.

Investigating officers would like to have the driver of the parked truck get in touch with them. Police place no blame on him, they merely ask his help in determining just how the accident happened.

The Pescosolido family came to Andover last February. The father is owner of the Valley Oil Company of Haverhill.

Caverly of the recreation committee; Richard Wrigley, commander of the Legion post; Mrs. Dorothy Volker, commander of the All-Women's post of the Legion; Mrs. Arthur Jowett, Mrs. George T. Ciley and Mrs. William Buchan of the Legion auxiliary; and James R. Mosher of the Andover Service club.

The recreation committee with the staffs of the Andover Guild, Pomp's pond and the playgrounds, will distribute the thousands of Easter eggs and Easter bunnies for the children to find.

The hunt is for youngsters up through the sixth grade. There will be several hundred special prizes to be found.

EDITORIAL THOUGHTS

EFFECTIVE WORK

Thanks to the effective work of police and firemen a little girl's life was saved in Shawsheen last week.

The child had fallen into a small pond near her home and was unconscious when Officer Robert Deyermond, summoned from traffic duty from nearby Union street by a radio call, arrived and started applying artificial respiration until the ambulance arrived. Then with firemen who responded and using a respirator they joined in working over the child until the hospital was reached when she first started to show signs of life, and eventually recovered.

Here is an excellent illustration of the value of first aid training which members of the town police and fire departments have received.

The incident also served to emphasize the effectiveness of the police radio which brought the officer to the scene minutes before the ambulance arrived. Those few minutes meant a whole lot in saving the life of the child.

"GANGSTER GOVERNMENT"

Maxwell Anderson, the distinguished playwright who authored 'What Price Glory' and other Broadway hits, has written a little essay called 'The Guaranteed Life.' At the end of it he says this: 'The power of government in the United States has grown like a fungus in wet weather. . . . Our government has turned into a giant give-away program, offering far more for votes than was ever paid by the most dishonest ward-heeler in the days of Mark Hanna. We move steadily toward the prefabricated state. Yet we see clearly that in England, socialism turns rapidly into communism, and that in Russia and Jugoslavia, communism gives neither freedom nor security. The guaranteed life turns out to be not only not free - it's not safe. Do we want a gangster government? That's what we're going toward.'

This is the sorry fashion in which freedom is lost. And, ironically enough, while we are in the process of losing it we are robbing ourselves blind to pay the ever-growing costs of the paternal state.

Too many people are thinking of security instead of opportunity. They seem to be more afraid of life than death. - James F. Byrnes

Art may make a suit of clothes, but nature must produce the man. - David Hume

Knowledge of human nature is the beginning and end of political education. - Henry B. Adams

Cong. William S. Knox has just sent packages of garden seeds to his constituents in this district.

Fire, the destroyer of much that is beautiful and valuable, carried off one more of Andover's historic old landmarks. The Ames homestead in West Parish was burned to the ground. At the time of the Revolutionary War the house was occupied by Capt. B. C. Ames who raised a company of militia from Andover and fought in the battle of Bunker Hill.

According to present indications Andover will have another mile of state road this year starting from Andover end of the piece on S. Main Street and extending for a half or three quarters of a mile toward the town. It will be appreciated.

Among the Mt. Holyoke college students at home for the spring recess are the Misses Alice M. Bell, Helen E. Bodwell, Miriam F. Carpenter, Margaret Whittemore and Madeleine Hewes.

W. H. Higgins of the Park Street stables has been absent on a trip to Waterville, Maine, where he will remain for a week selecting a good lot of carriage horses.

Three census enumerators have been appointed by the board of selectmen to take the state census in Andover. Everyone is asked to cooperate with the census enumerators by answering the few simple questions necessary to make the records complete.

The annual dance by the Andover telephone operators will be held Apr. 16. There will be several novelty dances and favors will be distributed.

VIEWS OF THE NEWS

BY LEONARD F. JAMES

What is foreign policy? The spate of words directed against Secretary Acheson and his policy are very apt to cloud the issue. Arguments so far seem to indicate that several people don't seem to like the secretary personally, the way he dresses, or his particular type of accent. Too bad if a man's striped pants or his method of pronouncing words should determine his ability to keep this country at peace. So before we join in the cry against Acheson it would be wise to ask ourselves what we mean by 'foreign policy.' There's nothing like defining our terms to find out what we really think.

How to define 'Foreign Policy'

It is usually best to start with simple definitions, and then elaborate once the foundation of the idea is laid. Foreign policy is obviously dependent upon geographical location as well as upon political objectives. So any nation setting out to line up its foreign policy must estimate its geographical place in the world, ask itself what it wants, and then decide what steps are necessary for its objective. This simplicity is complicated, of course, by the fact that we may find obstacles placed by other nations across the road we decide to take. Therefore, foreign policy cannot always be clear-cut, and it cannot always go straight to its objective. But objective there must be, if we are to follow any consistent policy.

We have recently been offered a sort of opera bouffe by Senator McCarthy. His attacks on Secretary Acheson do not appear to start from any disagreement over foreign policy. In fact, the spectator is hard put to it to understand just what the senator does not like other than the personality of the secretary. If any personalities were involved, little damage would be done. But continual attacks upon the state department can seriously harm American prestige during the present episode of the cold war. Not only is the head of the department affected, all his subordinates must be also in a state of tension. It's one thing to keep the department free from subversive elements, but it's quite another to be throwing it constantly into turmoil. And while the state department is busy justifying its existence, the cold war proceeds inexorably, with one episode succeeding another with the regularity of the interminable movie serials of old.

James Bissett of River st. will leave shortly for the Yankees semi-pro team in northern New York.

Miss Marguerite Hearsey has returned to Abbot academy after enjoying a visit to Atlantic City.

Andover's total to date toward the Lawrence General hospital building fund is $7896 from 308 donors.

Congressional publicity-seekers and irresponsible critics inevitably interfere with the formulation of a positive foreign policy. Little pieces of policy are criticized without reference to the over-all picture. The public might be excused for assuming that our foreign policy is an insidious notion of Acheson's, to be exposed as a fake by congress or some other guardian of the public welfare. It's about time that the people of the United States got this whole matter into perspective. The squabble about unification of the armed services is sandlot football compared to the seriousness of the quarrels over foreign policy.

There may be something to Senator McCarthy's criticism of Acheson as a 'pompous diplomat in striped pants.' Secretary Acheson is perhaps too courteous to his critics. Maybe if he turned up in workday jeans and gave his congressional critics a few hard truths couched in homely Maine language he'd do himself and his country some good. We aren't going to win this cold war with Russia by courtesy and gentlemanly sparring.

What Is The Issue

Of U.S. Foreign Policy

Why don't the critics say what they want and go for it wholeheartedly? The issue is clear enough. Russia is the implacable enemy of the kind of peaceful world we want. Russia will do anything in her power to get what she wants. She isn't interested in friendship. And all talk to the contrary won't disguise that stark fact.

The worthy Dr. Einstein does nothing to clear the issue. He criticizes the administration on the grounds that atomic policy in America is leading to the 'militarization of youth, supervision of loyal citizens, intimidation of people of independent thinking.' This is an unbalanced attitude. The very conditions which Einstein deplors are the ones which exist in an absolute degree in Russia, and are one of the chief reasons why agreement is impossible.

Foreign Policy Is A

Long-Term Business

We belittle our achievements in foreign policy, we almost apologize for our actions. No doubt we could have done better had we really been sufficiently suspicious of Russian intentions. We gave Moscow the benefit of the doubt, and we have learned the cost of that gesture of cooperation. But that's water over the dam. Now is the time to benefit from our lesson. The United States cannot afford to concentrate on short-term possibilities. They distract statesmen from the difficult and formidable task of building up and maintaining western stability. And while we squabble at home over relatively unimportant details, while the world is allowed to see petty distractions interfering with overall policy, such western stability as we have is in danger of weakening.

For a month now we have permitted one critic to make wild unsubstantiated charges that have proved nothing beyond wasting the time of busy men who could benefit the nation by formulating a positive policy. Such critics should be forced to put up or shut up. And fast.

Peace with Russia can be procured only by an intelligent and sustained policy over at least a generation. It is time that the state department was given a job to do and allowed to do it. That is possible only if people face facts, know where they want to go, and start going there undeterred by petty and inconclusive distractions.

What Our Readers Say—

SEES LOSS TO VETERANS

ANDOVER POST, NO. 8

American Legion

Editor of the Townsman:

When four chaplains—a rabbi, a priest and two ministers—linked arms in prayer and went down with the troopship Dorchester in 1944 they wrote a glorious chapter in the history of World War II, known to every vet. Their supreme sacrifice has become a symbol of the unity and courage that makes our nation great.

Whenever we have faced danger we've linked arms and gone forward together. We'll never let differences of race, religion or ancestry divide us. That's why in war and peace America is unbeatable.

Well the time has come for 19 million vets to show a little of that "all for one, and one for all" spirit in their own interests. The little men with the "economy" axes are out after the GI Bill of Rights and other vet benefits, and if we don't stop them they'll whittle away everything we have won, whether its FHA loans, preferences or rehabilitation.

Powerful lobbies backed by selfish business interests are needing congressmen to give the vets the works. The recent report on veterans made by the presidential committee headed by ex-President Hoover gave these "economy" lobbies a shot in the arm and now they're feeling their oats.

If these birds have their way disabled vets will no longer have their own vet hospitals; the whole rehabilitation program to help the lads who gave an arm, leg or their eyes for Uncle Sam will be curtailed. The widows and dependents of men who died in the service will also get the sharp end of the stick. Now is the time to help your buddies. So let's get going. Up and at 'em, boys!

Women Voters In Fund Drive

During April the League of Women Voters will campaign for money to support not only its local activities, but also those of the state and national leagues, for the coming year.

The league is a non-partisan organization working to create public understanding and discussion of important political issues. The league also supports or opposes legislation of which it has made a detailed study. Since the war it has started a new project of educating women in representative government in many countries abroad where women are only now achieving suffrage.

The dues of the league are purposely kept low so that no one is prevented from joining for financial reasons. Therefore a major part of the money must be raised by contributions. Most of the funds contributed will be spent in the printing and distribution of factual objective information about elections, voting procedures, and vital governmental problems.

Next year, in Andover, before the fall elections, the league hopes to run a voters' booth, send voting information to new voters, and publish explanations of all questions on the ballot. Before the Town elections the traditional candidates' meeting will be held.

Mrs. John B. Hawes is in charge of the campaign, assisted by Mrs. Byron Weiner, treasurer. The solicitors are Mrs. Herbert Klein, Mrs. Hart Leavitt, Mrs. Harold Howe, 2nd., Mrs. Jack Barry, Mrs. Stuart Comstock, Mrs. Dudley Pitts, Mrs. George Follansbee, Mrs. T. Dennie Pratt, Mrs. Harper Follansbee, Mrs. Harold Rafton, Mrs. James H. Grew, Mrs. A. Lachlan Reed, Mrs. Robert Saltonstall.

CAMPOREE MEETING

District commissioners and their staff met recently with John Rams-den, acting council commissioner, Commander David Hackney of the Knight Eagles, and Harvey H.
Bacon, scout executive, to plan for the annual council camporee.
This camping experience will be held at Camp Onway June 2, 3 and 4. The camporee will be particularly important this year as it is the 25th anniversary of the North Essex council. Walter Caswell, Andover commissioner, was among those present at the meeting.

Leader's Training

The leader of the scoutmasters training course, Walter Caswell, announced that a make-up session would be held Wednesday evening Apr. 12 at the scout office for those who missed regular classes.
The camping trip to Camp Onway will be held Apr. 29 and 30 and is a required part of leadership training.

Statue

Andover cub scouts, boy scouts, and explorers will participate along with adult leaders in contributing to the erection of a replica of the Statue of Liberty on the Lawrence common. Further information will be available later.
The project, approved by the executive board, is appropriate as a boy scout crusade is active at present to 'strengthen the am of liberty', during the 40th anniversary year of the Boy Scouts of America.

Legion To Show
Movies Of Town

Post 8, American Legion will hold a chicken pie supper in the post rooms at 6:30 p.m. Monday, Apr. 10. The supper will be followed by movies, music and dancing.

This is the second of a series of non-profit social gatherings originally planned for the post members and their families, but since the American Legion is nationally celebrating its 31st anniversary, the committee in charge has voted to make next Monday's supper open to the public.

Two films will be shown of many events that took place in town during the war years and they will be especially interesting to all the veterans who were away at that time. Due to the limited seating capacity of the rooms there will be only 110 tickets available and those planning to attend should get their tickets as soon as possible from any active member of the post.

Veterans' Housing Applications Due

Veterans who wish to obtain housing in the new veterans' project on Morton street are reminded by Douglas Crockett, chairman of the Andover Housing authority, that the time limit for applying will expire Apr. 10.

Only those applications received by that date will be considered in the first allocation of apartments which are expected to be ready for occupancy about June 15.

All veterans who applied for housing during the past year must make out new applications. To date over 100 have failed to reapply and notices have been sent out to them reminding them of the expiration date.

Chairman Crockett further states that those applications on hand are being processed. It is hoped that all applicants who qualify will be notified during the second or third week in May.

All veterans in need of housing may make out applications now, regardless of whether or not they have previously applied.

Fishing Permit Rule By B.P.W.

Permits for fishing and boating on Haggetts pond will be denied to those who have violated the rules and regulations there, the board of public works decided at a recent meeting.

This action was taken because of the many boats left in the pond in the past. All future permits will have to be approved by the whole board.

An outline of the carnival to be held by the police and fire departments on the playstead the week of July 3 was given the board by Officer Joseph E. O'Brien, a member of the committee. There will be a horribles parade, amusements, two days for children and a bonfire if permission is received at that time.

Easter Music In The Churches

ANDOVER BAPTIST CHURCH

Two great Easter services will be held at the Baptist church where there is 'a friendly fellowship at the meeting-house in the Square.' At the regular morning service of worship there will be special music by the adult and youth choirs under the direction of Mrs. Linda S. Kocher, organist and choir director.

The choirs will sing 'Alleluia' by Mozart with the solo by Mrs. Edna Woodhead; 'Easter Carol' by McLain, and 'Down in the Garden' by Goldsworthy. Mrs. Luella Thompson will sing: 'Love Ye the Lord' by Handel, with the violin obligato played by Walter Gersteinberger.

The youth choir will sing 'O Joyous Easter Morning', a Welsh hymn melody. The Dennison trio, Richard, Kenneth, and Harry Dennison will play their trumpets and trombone. The cello player will be Oswald Vogel. Mrs. Kocher will play 'Paraphrase on the Easter Hymns' by Miles for her prelude. During the offertory there will be the organ - cello - violin in 'Serenade' while the postlude will be Bach's 'Tocatta in D minor.'

The Rev. Roy E. Nelson, Jr., pastor will preach on the subject: 'The First Easter Sermon.' Every one is cordially invited to attend.

At 7:30 p.m. service of Believer's Baptism. Sermon: 'This Is My Witness.' All are welcome to be present.
