Plan Parking Meters For Punchard Avenue

A plan for installing parking meters on Punchard avenue was approved by the selectmen Monday night but it must be approved by the state engineer's office before being put into effect.

This move has been brought about through action of the residents of the street and town officials as the result of irregular parking there.

The layout approved by the selectmen provides for meters on both sides.

Several bids on gasoline for a tank and pump to be installed in the rear of the town house for the police department were received but no action was taken.

The petition of the B. & M. Ry. to store petroleum products and

Court Session Here Saturday

A variety of cases will come before Special Justice Richard K. Gordan at Saturday's session of court at the town house.

Among the 12 summoned to appear are several charged with violation of speed and traffic laws, one on a charge of the larceny of pipe from the veterans' housing project, and one on a charge of throwing rubbish on a public way.

The latter case was the result of police investigation following complaints of residents of Argilla road. Police state that any one caught throwing rubbish on a public way will be brought before the court.

The larceny charge followed the apprehension of a workman on the housing project after a chase in a police cruiser by Officer James R. Lynch.

Since the first of the year police have brought speeding charges against 76 persons, about 70 percent of whom were stopped in Main and North streets. This does not include the names of 90 other persons sent to the registry for action on traffic violations.

V. F. W. POPPY DAY

The annual Poppy day of Andover post 2128 VFW will be conducted the Saturday before Memorial day. The poppies are sold annually for the relief work of the post. Commander Thomas P. Eldred is chairman and Commander-elect William Hulse assistant in the drive. The full committee will be announced later.

Minstrel Show Has Large Cast

The large cast of the "South Pacific Minstrels" is prepared to present a lively and tuneful program at the Memorial auditorium Tuesday evening, Apr. 18.

Sponsored by the Andover Male choir and the Andover Square St. Compass club it is being directed by J. Everett Collins with Philip K. Allen as interlocutor. Members of the cast are well known locally.

The program will be as follows: Opening chorus, A Fantasia of sea songs. Chorus: overture, "Anchors Aweigh," end men; end song, "Dear Hearts and Gentle People." George Knipe; specialty, trumpet solo, William Chadwick; specialty, "Mammy," Albert Greenwood; end song, "Toot, Toot, Tootsie." John Caldwell; solo, "Why Was I Born," Frank G. McCarthy, Jr.; end song, "Honey," Alex Black; specialty, Dot and her Dashes; end song, "I've Got a Lovely Bunch of Cocoanuts," Irving J. Whitcomb; rhythmic spiritual, "Dry Bones," chorus; end song, "Is It True What They Say About Dixie?," William Hatch; specialty, "The Whistling Lass," Margaret Livesy; end song, "I Want to Go Back to My Little Grass Shack," James Gorrie; dance specialty, Beverly Arthur; end song, "That Lucky Old Sun," Edward Soper; specialty, "Spike Jones," James Dobbin; end song, "Carolina In The Morning," William McLay; topical song, Philip K. Allen; grand finale, "I'm Proud To Be An American," entire chorus.

About 150 veterans have responded to the recent appeal of the Andover Housing authority to apply for housing units in the veterans' project.

These are the only ones who will be considered in the first allocation of apartments which are expected to be ready for occupancy about June 15. There will be 56 units available in the 12 buildings.

The local authority previously had about 200 applications on file but as the majority of them were more than a year old it was felt that the status of many applicants might have changed since the original forms were presented, hence the call for new ones with more up-to-date information.

The board contacted all former applicants by mail and also issued an invitation for any other veterans to file if they wished. The time limit was Apr. 10 and by that date about 150 had been received.

Douglas Crockett, chairman of the authority, said that about two-thirds of them were from former applicants, the rest from new.

Chairman Crockett also explained that the authority has engaged a professional social Weddings . . .

GRAY-BURBINE

At a 3 o'clock ceremony in St. Augustine's church, Apr. 9, Miss Marguerite F. Burbine, daughter of Mrs. Nellie Burbine of 8 Lewis st., became the bride of Harrison F. Gray, son of Mrs. Bessie M. Gray of 18 Wellman st., Lowell. The Rev. Henry B. Smith, O. S. A. performed the ceremony.

Given in marriage by her brother, John L. Burbine, the bride was lovely in white satin with a square neckline. With her veil of imported bridal illusion she carried a prayer book with a white orchid and stephanotis.

The matron of honor, Mrs. William Hurley, sister of the bride, wore royal blue taffeta, with a picture hat to match and carried American beauty roses.

The bride's mother wore navy blue crepe with pink and white accessories and an orchid corsage. The bridegroom's mother was attired in grey with pink accessories and also wore an orchid.

A reception was held in Marine Corps hall, Lawrence with guests present from Lowell, Lawrence, Townsend Harbor, Melrose, Concord, N. H., and Providence, R. I.

After a wedding trip to Canada the couple will reside in Lowell at 18 Wellman st.

The bride is a graduate of Pynchard high school and the McIntosh school and was employed in the payroll department of Tyer Rubber co. The bridegroom who is in business in Ayer is a graduate of the Lowell schools and spent three and a half years in the navy.

GRAHAM-PHILLIPS

Miss Priscilla Grace Phillips, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold R. Phillips of 1 Rocklawn ave., Attleboro, became the bride of David Phillips Graham, son of M. Phillips Graham of 6 Johnson rd., at a candlelight ceremony 7.30 p. m. Apr. 10, in the Second Congregational church, Attleboro. The Rev. Russell B. Richardson of Attleboro and the Rev. John S. Moses of Andover officiated.

The bride who was given in marriage by her father was lovely in white marquisette over taffeta, pearl trimmed, long train, fitted bodice, full skirt and long pointed sleeves. Her fingertip veil of net was attached to a crown of pearls and she carried an arm bouquet of gladioli and white iris.

Miss Norma E. Phillips of Attleboro was maid of honor and she wore pink marquisette over taffeta with mits to match, bonnet shaped hat and carried a mixed spring flower bouquet. Miss Barbara A. Barnard of Andover and Miss Joan Clegg of Attleboro were the bridesmaids and wore orchid marquisette over taffeta, with mits to match, bonnet shaped hats and carried mixed spring flower bouquets. Miss Lauren K. Phillips, niece of the bride of Pittsburg, Pa., was the flower girl, attired in white taffeta with a bustle of pink.

The mother of the bride was charming in her peacock blue gown with a brown orchid corsage. Wearing a corsage of talisman roses Mrs. Graham was attractive in her cafe au lait ninon gown. Organist George Chace played the traditional music and "Because." "Through the Years" and "The Lord's Prayer" were sung by Millard Ashley.

W. Royce Taylor, Jr., of Waltham, was the best man and the ushers were Guy V. Dver of Hartford, Conn., Hugh Andrews, Richard Kimball and Gordon Clement of Andover.

A reception was held in the church vestry with guests present from Pennsylvania, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, Connecticut, Rhode Island and Cape Cod.

Following a wedding trip the couple will be at home after Apr. 17 at 1 Rocklawn ave., Attleboro.

The bride is a graduate of Attleboro High School and the bridegroom graduated from Governor Dummer academy, Maritime academy and is now a student at Nichols Junior college.

SCHOOL PLAY RECEIVED FAVORABLE COMMENT

Success of the Pynchard high school cast in winning the rating of "excellent" in the drama festival at Hingham has been the subject of many favorable comments both for members of the cast and Mervin E. Stevens, director.

From Christine M. Sauer, drama instructor of the Classical high school, Springfield, Mr. Stevens has received the following letter of congratulation

Dear Mr. Stevens: May I add my congratulations to the many you and your drama students must be receiving from the superb production you staged for us at the drama festival in Hingham Saturday last?

I have never seen such splendid work by high school students. Each part was a delight to watch, and the grasp of characterizations by your cast was remarkable. It is seldom that one is privileged to see the results of real teamwork and unusual directing in high school performances.

I particularly liked the way your students built up each high point and projected the audience so quickly and so completely into the French-Canadian atmosphere.

Please tell your group that the hard work they expended resulted in a truly professional performance and gave much pleasure to the audience.

Incidentally, I did not hear the judges' decision, but I hope your group won first prize.

COMMENDS GIRLS

Mrs. Angie Econ, of the home-making dept., commended the following girls for the work did for the school committee tea; Norma Perry, Joan Coneybear, Earline Goff, and Irene Martin. These girls remained after school to bake pastry and clean the foods room. Cynthia Dantos, Mary Boloian, Susan Appleton, Mary Belka, Priscilla Colpitts, Mary Oliver and Katherine Lloyd gave up the entire Saturday afternoon to set up serving tables, make coffee and serve the guests.

Notes

Last Monday the first fire drill of the season was held. The building was cleared in one minute and 45 seconds.

Last Thursday the pupils enjoyed a much awaited tea dance which was a complete success. There were three prize dances and new records of popular songs were offered as prizes.

Miss Nancy Hird of the seventh grade English department wishes to thank all boys, girls, and teachers who sent greetings and well wishes while she was recovering at the hospital and wants all to know how much they were appreciated. We in town wish to welcome Miss Hird back to school and show her how much she was missed.

Spring baseball practice will begin for all boys interested after April vacation. Benjamin Dimlich will coach the boys.

Friday's assembly will be a combined assembly featuring the Trampoline Stars, famous acrobats. This promises to be one offering many thrills. The Trampoline Stars have been called the greatest of all times, in unbelievable aerial maneuvers.

Merrimack College

A competitive examination for two scholarships to Merrimack college will be held at the college Saturday, May 13, from 9:30 to 12:45 p. m. Students graduating from high school in June and who stand in the first quarter of their class scholastically are eligible to take the examination.

Applications, which must receive approval of the student's principal or headmaster, should be returned to the college registrar not later than Wednesday, May 10.

The scholarship, one in honor of Archbishop Richard J. Cushing, D.D., LL.D., and the other in memory of the late Very Rev. Mortimer A. Sullivan, provincial of the Augustinian Order, are each valued at $1,000.

Troop 75 met Tuesday, Apr. 4, in St. Augustine's school hall, with William Dolan, scoutmaster, Francis Mooney, and Daniel Worcester, assistant scoutmasters. Several troop committeemen and Francis Kelly, district finance chairman, and Walter Caswell, district commissioner visited the troop. Daniel Worcester addressed the scouts and gave instruction in the various types of camping and cooking fires and fireplaces. He also displayed a large group of cooking fires with cranes, pot hooks and campfire gadgets in miniature, made of actual stones, earth and wood. Games were enjoyed and scout skills in compass, first aid and signaling were practised.

Explorer post 72, and troops 72, 73, 75 and 76 have been asked to notify the commissioner which boys have been chosen to receive credit for the half-weeks at camp awarded at the scout-o-ral. The patrols or crews involved are as follows: Wolf of troop 72; Cobra and Woodcock of post 72; Flying Eagle of Troop 73; two prizes to bat patrol of troop 76. Two prizes to bat patrol of troop 75, and the Flying Eagles of troop 76. The Bat patrol of troop 75 was the only patrol winning two prizes. First prize winners were Flying Eagles of troop 76 for scouts and Cobras of post 72 for explorers.

EDITORIAL THOUGHTS

CONGRATULATIONS THESPIANS

Honors again have come to Punchard High school and to the town through the effort and ability of a group of high school students.

This time it is the talented cast of 'The Courting of Marie Jenvrin' that has brought distinction to the school. Entered for the first time in the Massachusetts drama festival the Andover youngsters won the rating of 'excellent,' the highest award the judges could give, in competition with 18 other high schools.

Honors for Punchard are not unusual; in fact, it is what the people of the town have come to expect of the school system which has been outstanding over a span of years.

There is a certain distinction enjoyed by Punchard, reflecting due credit on the entire faculty which last year saw 70 percent of its graduating class continue on to schools of higher education at a time when entrance requirements were exceptionally high.

Then, too, one can look over the record and see where sports teams in the past have won their share of acclaim for the Blue and Gold, and only last fall, many will remember, the appearance of the all-girls' band in Boston brought comment of high praise from spectators and officials in further recognition of the high standards of Punchard training.

Now honors have come in a new field. Congratulations to Mervin E. Stevens for his able direction of the little French-Canadian comedy, and congratulations to the fine young people in the cast for their excellent performance.

There is only one type of man who is smarter than a woman - a bachelor. -Frank Fellingner.

VIEWS OF THE NEWS

BY LEONARD F. JAMES

We've always been partial to a bit of blarney. A good story is always worth listening to, especially when told by an Irishman. And we were delighted to read that Ireland has been one nation "since Adam was a boy and came out of the Garden of Eden." We only wish that John A. Costello, premier of Eire, hadn't stopped there. We feel that we are missing an inimitable story.

Unfortunately Mr. Costello tried to mix too much fancy with facts, and he has spoiled both. Of course Mr. Costello as political head of his nation must make a good case for the desired unity of south and northern Ireland. But he finds the northerners as firm about remaining outside a united Ireland as his own southerners are about getting them in. So rather than face all the facts squarely he reveals the story-teller's method of dramatizing his theme. In doing so he conveniently ignores facts which would interfere with his drama.

Mr. Costello admittedly is mobilizing "world opinion, especially in America" to show that part of his country is "occupied by another country against our will and against all principles of democracy." That may be a worthy purpose, but he would make a stronger case would he admit that there are two sides to the issue. And if Mr. Costello suggests that Northern Ireland is oppressed, his sense of the dramatic must be offered as an excusing factor. He makes the flat statement that until the Government of Ireland Act was passed in 1920 by the British government there was no separation between Northern Ireland and the rest of the country.

Offer of Home Rule

Here we cannot permit dramatic enthusiasm to go completely unchallenged. For if Mr. Costello is seeking a world stage for his presentation, his audience is entitled to know a few facts, skeletonized though they may be through the demands of space in this column. Granted that Britain's treatment of Ireland during the 19th century was decidedly shabby, to say the least, the British did try to make amends after the turn of this century.

How about the claim that there was no separation in Ireland until 1920? Physically, that is a fact. But spiritually and emotionally there had been bitter division for some time. In fact southern Irishmen were murdered by fellow southern Irishmen because some dared to agree with moderation and conciliation. And quite reluctantly Britain was forced to the conclusion that physical division between north and south was inevitable.

Opposition By Ulster

In 1906 the Liberal party came into power in England, a government committed to the principle of Home Rule for Ireland, or the right of the Irish to run their own domestic affairs without interference from outside, at least on paper. The issue was brought to a head in 1910 when a new election gave the Irish Nationalist bloc of about 80 members in Westminster the balance of power to confirm or unmake the Liberal government. Ulster, the bloc of six northern Protestant counties, stood revealed as unalterably opposed to Nationalism, and promptly pronounced its intention to resist what it regarded as a threat to its religious liberties and commercial and industrial prosperity. Three groups stood ready to pursue their purposes: The Orangemen of Ulster fiercely Protestant and forming the backbone of resistance to the Union of north and south; the Nationalists supported by the United Irish League and the Ancient Order of Hibernians; and last but exceedingly effective the Irish Republican Brotherhood contemptuous of constitutional methods.

While England debated Home Rule as a constitutional issue, Ireland split apart with Protestant and Catholic ranged against each other. Unfortunately religion marked the line of cleavage in everything that made for a true national sentiment.

Threat of Resistance

Mr. Asquith, prime minister of the Liberal government, refused to consider any plan to split Ireland. But the northern Protestants organized demonstrations against Home Rule on Sept. 28, 1912. "Ulster day." They produced the famous Covenant in which they pledged themselves to resist Home Rule which would unite them with "southern" Ireland, and not to recognize the authority of any Dublin government. A year later the Ulster Unionist Council, demanding the retention of Union with Britain, organized itself as a Provisional Government and enlisted 100,000 volunteers who would fight if necessary. British troops were ordered to Ulster to prevent civil war and rebellion, but out of 70 British officers 57 tendered their resignation rather than take action against the Ulsterites. In 1914 the Home Rule Bill became law, but its enforcement was postponed on the outbreak of World War I.

Rebellion By Sinn Fein

During the course of the war the republican Sinn Fein ("We Ourselves") organized, withdrew elected members from the Westminster parliament and set itself up as the rightful government of Ireland. Citizens who refused to recognize its authority were severely punished. The Irish citizen soon found himself caught between the Sinn Fein Irish Republican arm and the British-sponsored Royal Irish Constabulary, later augmented by ex-army officers wearing their own khaki and the black cap of the Constabulary. These were the hated Black and Tans. Besides were guilty of cruelty a bloodshed against each other and the Irish citizen in general.

DeValera Resists the Irish Free State

Britain passed a Home Rule Bill in 1920 but for more than two years the strife continued in three-cornered civil war between Home Rulers of the south, the Ulsterites, and Sinn Fein, with British police forces adding fuel to the fire. Finally in 1922 the south of Ireland accepted Home Rule as the Irish Free State with out the inclusion of Ulster, which had already preferred constitutional union with Britain. But De Valera and his "irreconcilable" refused to accept this limited Irish Free State. Whether or not he was responsible for the crime, the fact is that his Republicans murdered Free State Commander-in-Chief Michael Collins, once the Irishman most hunted by the British army.

The Republic of Eire

Finally even popular opinion in southern Ireland and among its supporters in America turned against de Valera. He modified his tactics, was later extremely embarrassed by the outrages of his former republican associates, became president in 1932, and in 1937 pro-

James Marshall

James Marshall, 82, died Monday, Apr. 10 at the family home, 26 Pasho st., following a short illness.

Born in Glasgow, Scotland, he had been a resident of Andover for over 60 years and was a member of the firm of T. A. Holt company, retiring about 12 years ago. He was an attend- ant of the South Congregational church.

Surviving are two sons, James E. of Chicopee, and Clifford E. of Andover, one daughter, Mabel E. Marshall of Andover, two grandchildren, four great grandchildren and several nieces and nephews.

The funeral was held at 2 p. m. Wednesday from the home of his son, Clifford E. Marshall, 22 Pasho st., with services con- ducted by the Rev. Frederick B. Noss, pastor of the South church. Burial was in Old South cemetery.

Mrs. Jeanie Pnge

Mrs. Jeanie (Blue) Page, died Saturday, Apr. 8 at the home of her son, William Page, Old Chatham, N. Y., following a long illness.

She had made her home in Andover for 43 years residing on High st., until last November. She was a member of the Ladies' auxiliary, 42, to Clan Johnston, O.S.C. and the Free Christian church.

Besides her son, she leaves a sister, Mrs. Joseph Purdie of Scotland and a niece and neph- ew both of Old Chatham.

The funeral was held from the Lundgren funeral home, Tuesday with services at 2 p. m. conducted by the Rev. J. Levering Reynolds, Jr., pastor of the Free church. Burial was in Bel- leuve cemetery.

Mrs. Kate Collins

Mrs. Kate (Campbell) Collins, 74, died Sunday, Apr. 9 at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Mor- ton B. Wade, Sunset Rock rd., following a long illness.

Born in Hillsdale, Mich., she made her home with her daugh- ter for the past eight years, and previously resided at 37-A Sa- lem st., Lawrence.

Surviving besides her daugh- ter, is one brother, Fred A. Campbell of Brockton, one nephew and three nieces.

The funeral was held from the Lundgren Funeral home at 3:30 p. m., Wednesday, with services conducted by the Rev. Dr. Charles R. Joy of the Uni- tarian society of Boston. Burial was in Puritan Lawn cemetery, Peabody.

claimed the Irish Free State as the Republican of Eire.

Whether or not Ulster should have been allowed to choose to re- main with Britain may be debat- able. It has recently again, by a 20 to 1 vote, expressed its desire to retain that status. Mr. Costello exaggerates when he claims that Ireland was one nation until Britain divided it in 1920.

INTERVIEW THREE FOR HEADMASTER

Three candidates for the position of headmaster of the high schools were interviewed by the school committee, recently. The committee has voted to have one headmaster for both the senior and junior high schools instead of a principal for each.

Mrs. Dorothy Partridge, chairman of the committee on the athletic program made a preliminary report. The committee recently met with Walter Roberts, coach of football and baseball; Kenneth K. McKinnir, coach of basketball; Donald D. Dunn, director of physical education; Miss Frances Collins, physical education instructor for girls; and Benjamin F. Dimlich, submaster of the junior high school, and went over the whole athletic program and its problems. No recommendations were made at this time.

The school committee voted to adopt the rules and regulations of the school department as they were last year.

EASTER EGG HUNT SCORES SUCCESS

The committee in charge of the Easter egg hunt which attracted more than 2500 children and parents to the park-Saturday afternoon is highly gratified with the success of its first revival of the old custom and feels confident that it will become an annual event.

Stafford A. Lindsay chairman, extends the thanks of the committee to the Legion post, its auxiliary, the All Women's post, the Andover Service club and the Andover Guild for their contributions, and the school, police, fire and public works departments for their cooperation in making the affair such a success.

As an added feature to the affair an egg hunt was held on the lawn of the auditorium for the one and two year-old tots.

Surprise!

The lady of the house was entertaining her bridge club when the pattering of tiny feet was heard on the stairs. She raised her hand for silence.

"Hush," she said softly, "the children are going to deliver their goodnight message. It always gives me such a feeling of reverence to hear them—listen!"

There was a moment of silence—then shyly, "Mama, Willie found a bedbug."

WANT BALL GAMES

The New Bedford Post One, Junior American Legion baseball team desires to arrange a schedule of baseball games in this vicinity. They will play home and home series, road and home games with any team that averages 20 years of age or less. They plan on getting under way during the early part of May. Any one interested should contact the business manager Anthony P. Rocha, Jr., 222 Belleville rd., New Bedford, Mass. Tel. 2-3398.

PRISON CHAPLAIN ADDRESSES CLUB

One hundred fifty members of the Andover Catholic club attended the regular meeting in St. Augustine's school hall Monday night when the Rev. Joseph Robinson, a native of Andover and chaplain of the state prison at Charlestown addressed the gathering.

Fr. Robinson, who is in charge of the Guild of Our Lady of Ransom and pastor of St. Leonard's church, Boston, delivered a message about prison conditions and juvenile delinquency that was of great interest. He described the development of the criminal and pointed out the part played by habit formation in the development of the habitual criminal.

One of the highlights of the evening was the awarding of two season tickets to the Red Sox ball games which went to Mrs. Joseph A. McCarthy, 26 High st.

PUNCHARD HIGH

By JANET THOMPSON

CHEERLEADERS

Many girls tried out recently to win berths on next year's cheering squad. The judges were Miss Frances Collins, physical education director; Bessie Christie, cheerleaders' captain; Walter C. Roberts, football coach; Kenneth McKiniry, basketball coach. The following girls were chosen to give the boys' inspiration in the next year's contests:

Captain, Bessie Christie, Marion White, Betti Ann Locke, Betty Sunderland, Frances Ratyna, Connie Coleman, Joan Corey, Grace Engel, Lucille Spinella, Joan Matton, Janet Valentine, Claire Van Coppendale, Janet Svenson, Marjorie Retel, Catherine Anderson, Maureen McKay, Claire Nadeau.

Speech Recordings

Mervin E. Stevens of the faculty made tape recordings of the pupils' voices in all his oral speech classes recently and these recordings are now being played back, much to the chagrin of many. These "play-backs" are extremely helpful in showing the students their individual speech faults in voice pitch, articulation, and tone.

Student Council

Punchard's recently organized student council now meets regularly each Monday morning with council president, Joe Ratyna presiding. Much business is discussed and a committee has been chosen to investigate methods of having more variety at school dances and also better attendance. The members of the committee are as follows:

Bessie Christie, Barbara Hook, Barbara Fowler, Janet Fieldhouse, Scott Gerrish and Charles Dwyer.

Several members of the council also visited junior high to urge the ninth graders to select their class officers this spring for the coming year. Class officers will also be chosen at Punchard this spring so that next year's student council may have its first meeting early in the school year.

Girls' Sports

With the approach of the softball season, the girls' volleyball will soon close. Those who reported for the practice games of volleyball this year are as follows:

Seniors, Virginia Buntin, Andrea Hofer, Ruth Johnson, Anne Marie Murray, Joan Lord, Helen Glennie, Dawn Dunn, Elizabeth Boloian, Norma Pettigrew, Barbara Mortimer, Barbara Paison.

Juniors, Joan Matton, Joan Barry, Joan Corey, Marion White, Carol Wright, Bessie Christie, Betti Gigis, Janet Hall, Judy Mariand.

Sophomores, Priscilla Tompkins, Betty Born, Ruth Belka, Janet Thompson, Jean Pearson, Ruth Denholm, Rosemary Davison, Karolyn Erles.

Many people rely on "family medicine"—"word of mouth" prescriptions—when illness strikes. "Take this, it helped Aunt Mary," or Uncle John or Cousin Charlie. But this type of Prescription seldom works. If not actually harmful it frequently will prolong the illness. Don't trust to this type of remedy. When you are ill, seek the advice of your physician. He alone is qualified to diagnose and prescribe correctly to set you on the road to a rapid recovery of your good health. And for prescribed medicine which is exactly what he intended, bring his prescription to us for accurate compounding.

Foreign Relief

This one is making the rounds in England.

A young husband was pacing the floor of the waiting room of a London maternity home. Finally a nurse came in.

"You're the father of triplets," she reported. "Three beautiful girls".

A little later she brought the triplets out to him. "Pick the one you want to keep," she instructed.

"One!" exclaimed the proud father. "Why one? Can't we keep all three?"

"Under the present Government," the nurse explained, "one is for you, and two are for export."
