Want Old School For Public Center

A group of West Andover residents headed by John Greenwood Jr., of River rd., appeared before the board of selectmen Monday night with a request that they be allowed to take over the old North school as a community center.

The school, a two-room, one-story building, has been closed for school purposes for several years and only recently was turned over by the school committee to the selectmen.

The question was taken under advisement.

Official opening of the town's five supervised playgrounds brought out a large number of youngsters early this week with registration running as high as 678.

The opening day figures showed that Central had 150 registrants, Shawsheen 75, West Andover 56, Ballardvale 300, and Indian Ridge 107.

George Snyder, assistant supervisor of playgrounds, announced that registrations are still open and that children who want to take advantage of the supervised play and other activities may yet sign up.

Much of the time during the opening week was devoted to registration and getting the equipment in shape for daily use. At the Central playground the activities are now being conducted at the easterly end of the park adjoining Whittier street. This change is made necessary on account of the large number of trucks and bull-dozers being used in construction of the new elementary school adjoining the former play area.

From comments made by various parents who have attended the first sessions the new spot is ideally located for the children.

This week the supervisors are getting their season's schedule under way with arts and crafts being opened up on the different playgrounds as follows: Indian Ridge and Central, making gimp bracelets and lanyards; West Andover, making pot holders; Ballardvale, beaded rings and bracelets; Shawsheen, working on jewelry.

As the playground program gets into full swing the supervisors will introduce varying programs each week with much emphasis being placed on handicraft work. There will be the usual Friday afternoon program of sports with suitable prizes for the winner.

New Spurt In Building Operations

Close to $3 million in building construction is going on here at the present time.

This includes the new schools, the Phillips academy gym, and buildings for which permits were issued late last year and the first six months of 1951.

The estimated value of buildings for which permits were issued during June was $134,950., and for additions and alterations $30,450, a total of $165,400, according to the records of Building Inspector Ralph W. Coleman.

For the first six months of this year the estimated value of new buildings was $1,603,251., and for additions and alterations $120,525, a total of $1,723,776. For the same period a year ago the total was $894,200.

For June permits for new buildings were issued as follows: Charles D. and Margaret Sullivan, Hidden rd., residence & garage; Phillip Marsden Jr., Lockway rd., residence & garage; Frank Cairnes, Kenilworth st., residence & garage; Deborah T. Brown, Abbot st., residence & garage; Cyrus F. and

Andover Handtub Needs Volunteers

With only a small crew manning the pumps, the H. Bradford Lewis, handtub of the Andover Handtub Assn., finished out of the money at the Newburyport muster held last Saturday.

The tub, which was entered in Class B competition, threw a stream of only 139 feet, 6 1/4 inches.

The association announces that new members will be accepted. One need not be a member of the fire department to join. Registrations may be made at the central fire station.

New Draft Board Opens Andover Headquarters

The newly-created draft board, No. 62, which will determine the selective service status of young men in Andover, North Andover and Methuen, organized Monday night and immediately started making preparations for the departure of its first inductee, Lucien Gerard Couture of Greenwood rd. He will leave Friday morning from Lawrence with a group from the Greater Lawrence area for the induction station at the army base, Boston.

In its organization Monday night Samuel F. Rockwell of North Andover was elected chairman of the board, and Joseph A. Horan, 6 Avon st., was elected secretary.

Other members are Thomas M. Fallon, 58 Maple ave., Atty. Walter E. Mondale, 49 Summer st., Martin J. Lawlor Jr., North Andover, and Thomas F. Cargill, Boxford. Atty. Mondale will serve as government appeal agent.

Clinton H. Stevens, 72 Morton st., who has been clerk of board No. 8, of Lawrence since 1948, will become clerk of the local board. Temporarily on annual leave for two weeks his place is being filled by Mrs. Isabel Antonacci of Lawrence.

The local board is one of the five draft boards which have been formed from the former Lawrence draft board which has been serving this area.

Monday night members of the new board in Methuen met jointly with the Andover group at the latter's new headquarters in the basement of the post office to receive instructions from Capt. Gordon C. Brainerd of the selective service headquarters, Boston.

The board voted to hold its next meeting, July 18.

Boys who reach the age of 18, are required to register with the board. According to the way the draft boards are operating at present no boy who is less than 19 will be called for service until all of those of 19 and over have been taken, although the law states that those of 18 1/2 years may be called.

Registrations of boys in the Andover district have been made at the rate of about 10 a month.

Auxiliary Police, Firemen To Meet

Members of the civil defense auxiliary police force will meet at 7.30 p. m., July 9, at the high school for their class work which will be devoted to an exhibition by firemen on the proper methods of operating various types of hand extinguishers.

At the same time Director Albert Cole Jr. will issue steel helmets to the force and also give out the civil defense auto stickers to those who have not already received them.

Auxiliary firemen will meet for the first time at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, July 11, at the central fire station. Director Cole will outline the duties of the force after which Fire Chief C. Edward Buchan will direct the training of this auxiliary group.

More volunteers can be used by this organization and any resident who would like to join may apply at this meeting.

Urges Practice Of Safety Rules

Now that the time of "no more pencils, no more books" is here and there will be no more school supervision of children's pedestrian practices through the safety patrol system, Chief George A. Dane today entreated parents to remind their children constantly to "take time to be safe" whenever using the streets during the coming summer vacation period.

Andover whispered through a ghost-like celebration of the Fourth of July to the "pip-pip" of a few cap pistols and now and then the rousing refrain of "We Won't Get Home Until Morning."

But the Andover lads and lassies found little if anything in this township to even cast a slight suggestion that the anniversary of the mightiest day in the history of free men the world over had been with us and passed unnoticed. If they "didn't get home until morning," it was because they had journeyed far from here.

The hallowed properties of this town, rich in the things Americana, almost withered in embarrassment. And snow-haired residents turned back the clock to a few years ago when folks gathered from far and wide to witness the greatest display of Independence Day spirit here in Andover, which apparently had become listless and apathetic to the "Yankee" spirit. They spoke of huge bon fires, horribles parades, all night frolics—and then, in pseudo-voice, they asked: "What has become of the wonderful Andover spirit."

Hit Indifference

Police Chief George A. Dane and his entire police personnel hit hard at the indifference shown to the Fourth of July observance. They said there was a definite

Asks To Have Toys Taken Off Streets

A toy is an instrument of childish delight—but it can be very dangerous when left on the sidewalk at night.

Police Chief George A. Dane instructed all Andover residents to see that toys belonging to their youngsters are taken from public sidewalks and streets.

He said that an elderly man in this town fell over a toy which had been left on the sidewalk, one night last week, and was seriously injured.

He suggested that action would be taken against persons cluttering up the public ways with toys.

need for some sort of celebration. "Our children will grow up believing the "Fourth" is just another day," was their comment.

Fire Chief C. Edward Buchan looked with dismay on the lack of Independence Day spirit. His firemen said: "Something ought to be done to show the world we are proud to be Americans and the Andover residents should not take this stand for granted. They remarked that last year's observance drew hundreds of participants. They said there is a definite spirit here and all it needs is guidance."

Postmaster Stephen A. Boland said: "It is a good thing to have a celebration. It is needed in Andover. We should have a band concert, fireworks, bon-fires or something of that nature." Last year, he said, the whole town turned out for the observance, which is evidence that Andover has the right spirit and all that is needed is a chance to let the spirit loose. The children need an inspirational celebration, he said.

Town Clerk George H. Winslow told the Townsman that Fourth of July celebrations are wonderful things for Andover and the children, who reside here as well as the grownups.

Selectman For It

Selectman Roy E. Hardy, said that the board of selectmen strongly feel that some sort of celebration should be held on July 4th in Andover as an inspiration to the children. Uncle Sam Needs You

One hundred and seventy five years ago the brave men of this nation set forth the foundation for the United States, which, with the passing of time, proved to be the most inspiring government yet devised by man. These men established a nation, which has endured for a century and three quarters, mainly, because their sons, who followed, held sacred the heritage which descended to them.

Of recent years, too many Americans have lapsed into the role of "spectators" of government, when the seriousness of the times demands that each citizen be an active participant in the political affairs of the United States. In a country where the attitude has become "Let George do it," there is a crying need for 150 million "Georges."

We have partaken lavishly of freedom. And now freedom needs us to insure its continuance for the next 175 years. The philosophies of government, created in 1776, were challenged in 1861, again in 1917, and still again in 1941.

Destiny knocks once more. This time the enemy is not only imperialistic communism but our own apathy and indifference. Whenever we fail to get things done locally, the state moves into the vacuum, and erosion of our freedom continues.

Fourth of July oratory is "old hat." But now on the 175th anniversary of the day when 56 gallant souls pledged their lives, their fortunes and their sacred honor to a new design for freedom, it seems like a good time to kindle the spark in the hearts of millions.

Count your blessings. Ask yourself: "What am I doing to help my country in this, the hour of her trial?"

The British are finding that no one is holding the bag for them in their socialized state; that increased wages are simply increased taxes which they have to pay themselves to step up their wages. . . . Strikes in socialized states are strikes against themselves, which is why unions must disappear finally under full totalitarian rule.—Brighton—Pittsford (N. Y.) Post.

HERE'S TO YOUR HEALTH

QUININE AND PHARMACY

In 1819, two French pharmacists named Coventou and Pelletier made a great discovery which contributed to the health of millions of people.

For many years previously, scientists had tried, without success, to find out just what there was in the bark of cinchona (pronounced sin-ko-na) trees that was so effective in the treatment of malaria. At that time, the bark of the tree was ground into a powder which was given to patients suffering from malaria. All too frequently, however, the bark from different cinchona trees varied in ability to treat malaria.

Working together, these two pharmacists succeeded in isolating pure quinine from the bark of the cinchona tree. Quinine proved to be remarkably effective in the treatment of malaria and other conditions. Moreover, since it was a known chemical rather than a crude bark, it could be carefully purified and exactly weighed so that each dose of quinine would be uniformly effective.

INTERNATIONAL WHIRLIGIG — By John Fisher

Communists Foment Strikes In France And Italy

French and Italian communists, their grip on government loosened by recent elections, are off on a new objective, described by their slogan: "Bread and Peace."

This fresh drive for power has two prongs: 1. Complete capture of labor unions. 2. "Pact of Peace" between the United States, Soviet Union, Great Britain, France and Red China, as pointed out by Malik in his "cease-fire" radio appeal.

The election outcome forced the Reds into it. Laws were revised in France and Italy so that non-communist parties picked up more offices in the May and June balloting.

But in popular votes the Reds emerged as the largest single party in France with nearly five million adherents. In Italian municipal contests Togliatti's group increased its popular vote about seven percent.

Such unpalatable results indicate that despite Russian threats and American aid, ten million people in France and Italy are willing to swallow the Stalin program. This is a discouraging revelation.

On the other hand, because communists slipped badly in office-holding, their chiefs are convinced that for the moment they cannot seize the state machine.

Apparently they are not going underground and resorting to clandestine terror. Instead, they are seeking new contacts and temporary alliances with non-communist leftists with revived emphasis on labor union infiltration.

Class Struggle Intensified

The Cominform's official organ has just commanded all affiliated trade unions in capitalist countries to intensify the class struggle "against the policy of hunger and poverty, suppression of democratic liberties, growing fascist danger, imperialist preparations for aggressive war (the Malik line) and encroachments on national independence by American imperialism."

The article boasts that 78 million workers belong to the (Red) World Federation of Trade Unions in spite of the efforts of splitters, who, acting on American orders, attempt to divide its ranks. But, the paper admits, there are not enough communists to dominate the labor movement. Hence greater participation in union affairs becomes "one of the most vital tasks of the communist party."

The mouthpiece outlines various steps to take over union officialdom and to consolidate working class unity under the banner of Stalin. From now on, it admonishes, "wherever there are masses of workers, there the communists must always be active."

The immediate fields for advancement in trade unions are France and Italy, where the Reds already are entrenched. The first major assault since the elections was by Giuseppe deVittorio, Italian labor boss, who called a strike of several hundred thousand government employees, including defense

The Rev. Thomas B. Austin, O. S. A., reappointed to St. Augustine's for another three-year term. Playground schedule starts with 275 registered at the central, and 75 each at Shawshen and Ballardvale.

Jackie McCarthy, 4, son of Mr. and Mrs. John P. McCarthy, 34 Pearson st., killed by train near Main street bridge.

workers, railroad men, school teachers etc.

Italy Fertile Field for Strikes

The dispute was over wages. The walkout was supported by anti-communist union leaders. This revealing fusion forecasts that, in keeping with the trade union program ordered by the Cominform, Reds will persuade non-communist workers to join them in the battle for "bread"—the party slogan word for economic gripes.

Italy is fertile soil for communist-inspired strikes. It has the lowest standard of living of any western nation except Spain. The average weekly wage of an industrial worker is around 19 dollars. More than two million are jobless. Four million agricultural laborers, the braccianti, have only seasonal employment. About a million of them earn less than $500 a year.

Only a third of farm land is owned by peasants. One third belongs to absentee landlords. The final third is in tiny lots cultivated by urban workers.

Desire for land and fear of unemployment are the two main issues among poor Italians. Reds court favor in distress areas through land seizures, tenant farmer fights for rent reduction, factory sitdown strikes to prevent dismissals and wage strikes.

It is significant that in districts subject to government agrarian reform, as soon as a peasant is allotted land, he stops voting communist.

In France before the war, the communists were in the minority in the unions. They were active in the resistance movement. During the liberation they gained the upper hand, grabbing top organization machinery and diverting trade union dues to communist political ends.

But membership in unions waxed or waned in proportion to advantages obtained from government or management by Red agitators. Strikes became the weapon to win benefits. Early in the spring the Red-led General Confederation of Labor (CGT) called a strike among Paris subway trainmen and bus drivers that paralyzed transportation in the capital.

France Plagued by Inflation

The trouble was based on soaring living costs. Catholic and Socialist unions gave the move their blessing. The public sided with the strikers whom many thought had a just grievance over low pay. The government under pressure raised wages.

As inflation still plagues France, the Reds may soon touch off explosions in other key industries. The fragile coalition government, uncertain of Gaullist help and supported in part by non-communist workers, must tread gingerly in

Methodist Church Notes

The men of the church conducted a very successful paper drive on Saturday.

This Friday evening at 8 p.m., there will be a reception to the new minister and his bride. This will be held in the vestry and all people of the parish are invited.

An official board meeting will be held on Sunday in the parsonage.

Gifts have been given by the Women's society to the boys of the parish who left recently for the service.

There was a meeting of the Men's club on Sunday afternoon.

To Hold Vacation School

The annual Daily Vacation Bible school will be held from July 9 to July 20. Registration will be held Monday morning in the Methodist church where the devotional program will be held the first week under the direction of the Rev. Robert McCune.

As usual some of the classes will be held in each church. The groups will be divided into age groups. There will be the usual fine staff of teachers and Bible lessons and handwork will be taught. The hours will be from 9 to 11:30 a.m. All children between the ages of 4 and 15 are urged to attend. A small registration fee will be charged as usual.

Display At Library

On display at the Ballardvale library is a large collection of cook books from the estate of Miss Martha Byington. Collecting cook books was one of Miss Byington's hobbies.

There are books of all types and several in foreign languages. One is a German book written in the year 1846. Another is a Chinese cook book. One humorous book is "The Stag Cook Book," written for men by men. There is also one called "Early Receipts."

There is also an interesting map showing the various areas of special food preferences. This display will be held for several weeks.

every labor crisis.

The General, who hates the Reds and whose party now has the most seats in the national assembly, advocates a law that makes trade-unions non-political organizations, thereby pulling the communists from the saddle in labor bodies.

Both the French and Italian communist labor moguls also are urging followers to reach potential sympathizers by securing signatures to the "Pact of Peace." This phony appeal, engineered by the Red World Peace Council in Berlin in February, warns that the refusal of any government to sign will be considered as evidence of aggressive designs.

In Italy peace pact circulators paraded with signs: "Grain not Guns." The French CGT divides factories into sections. Work-teams collect signatures in each and hold curbstone rallies in every street.

So, although Stalin's French and Italian lackeys are weaker in the government structure as the result of the recent elections, they expect to round up new friends in the ranks of labor by agitating for "Bread and Peace."

to be killed or injured in a highway accident," he said. "We want them all to grow up—not to be struck down, perhaps through their own carelessness. Unfortunately, many children are inclined to think that they don't have to practice their highway safety rules when school is not in session; but we adults, parents and automobile drivers know that the reverse is vitally necessary."

5000 Tax Bills Put Into Mail

Approximately 5000 tax bills went out this week from the office of Tax Collector James P. Christ. Of this number 1000 were personal property taxes and 4000 were on real estate.

The bills are payable at the rate of $40 a thousand, the largest in the history of the town. They are due on or before October 1.

Water At Pump's OK For Bathing

Analysis of the water at Pomp's pond bathing beach by the state department of public health show it to be of suitable bacteriologic quality for bathing purposes.

This report was contained in a letter to the board of health in response to a request sent to the state board last June asking the state department analyze the water. This is done annually before the beach is opened to the public.

In its report the state department said: "Pomp's pond was examined in 1950. At that time the department stated that the bath house facilities were found to be in satisfactory condition and the results of the bacterial examination of a sample of water collected from the pond at the municipal bathing beach showed that it was of suitable bacteriological quality for bathing."

"The recent examination disclosed conditions similar to those found in 1950 and the results of the bacterial examinations of two samples of water collected from the pond at the extremities of the bathing beach show that it continued to be of suitable bacteriological quality for bathing."
