A new and energetic board of Urade for Andover is being orcer trade for Andover is being organized through the officers and club with the cooperation of the club's merchants' committee. The aim of the sponsors is create an active and enterprising organization made up of all businessmen, merchants and tradesmen in every branch of industry in the town which will act for and represent the interests of every type of trade here. One of the first projects to be undertaken by the new board will be a Christmas street lighting in other cities and towns. Each year these Christmas decorations attract many Andover residents to other communities. They go to see the lights and do shopping while It is the opinion of local merchants that Andover must keep up with this trend of the times and Christmas season which will draw others to the town.
A preliminary survey as to what can be done has already been made here. For the initial venture only the decoration of Elm square, the as Chestnut street is being considered.
Any program that is attempted will have to be done through the tradespeople of the town and civic organizations interested in promoting the welfare of Andover.
In their preliminary survey the sponsors were offered the use of sponsors were offered dey use or floats for the opening day in the floats for the opening day in the event that they wanted to start off the program with a parade. All these ideas and others will be further considered at future meet ines.

War Dominating Our Economy To point to the obvious, this country, in company with most Today's tremendous national income and "prosperity" is to a very great extent the direct result of wars-past, present, and potential. One year after Korea, the U. S. finds itself well along the oad to the garrison state," said Business Week in one of its June issues. "Military buying now is the biggest single force in the economy. "Between June, 1950, and this June, deliveries of military goods have doubled. In the coming year, they are due to double again. Toward the end of 1952 , or possibly the first quarter of 1953, they will reach the maximum demanded by present mobilization plans. By then the U. S. will be channeling 20 per cent of its national output into defense and defense-supporting product

The effects of rearmament vary greatly from industry to industry, yet in some fields military orders are taking most of the output now and in time may take virtually all of However, few think that severe civilian shortages will develop, save in a few specialized lines, unless a big war comes along. The belief is that American productivity can handle the defense load and he normal civilian load at the same time. Many kinds of goods are actually in surplus supply now, as the Those wars were largely the consequence of exces sively large Those wars were largely the consequence of exces sively large anticipated. So, when the supreme court knocked the Fair Trade laws on the head, dealers began unloading at prices people

At any rate, the sad fact is that war is again dominating our thole economy. Military buying is now running at the rate of $$ 26,000,000,000$ a year. It will rise swiffly and sharply.

| A REMINDER TO READERS  For those readers who have trouble remembering when the library is open during the summer the simplest way is this: the main room is open exactly the same hours as during the rest of the year, from $10 \mathrm{a}_{0} \mathrm{~m}_{\text {, to }} 9 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}_{0}$ e every day. The only change is that it is closed on Saturdays at $1 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$. instead of $6 \mathrm{p} \cdot \mathrm{m}$. There is the slot in the door through which books may be dropped. Recordings should never be left there because of the danger of books being put in upon them.  Summer hours will remain in | effect until the day after Labor day. |
