Town Meeting To Hold Another Session Monday

Appropriates $1,268,860.65 With 20 Items To Be Finished

An unfinished town meeting Monday night voted departmental appropriations of $1,268,860.65 and approved $36,550 for a number of special articles before adjourning until next Monday night with about 20 articles left to consider.

The sum appropriated for the department budgets is $3832.55 higher than the recommendations of the finance committee, but the greater part of that increase was due to the large sums already spent on snow removal and sanding. Since the first of the year these operations have cost over $19,000, whereas early in January it was estimated that $18,000 would be enough until next December. At the recommendation of the board of public works the sum of $25,000 was appropriated for 1952.

The meeting followed in most instances the recommendations contained in the report of the finance committee in which it was noted that if the cuts they recommended were adopted the probable increase in the tax rate would be $4. There are several more appropriations to be considered in the remaining articles before the full appropriations for 1952 can be determined.

The meeting opened at 7 p.m., but a number of lengthy discussions on many matters caused it to drag along until close to midnight with groups of voters getting up and leaving at frequent intervals. It was 11:50 p.m., with hardly a handful of voters scattered through the auditorium when Edmond E. Hammond offered a motion to adjourn until next Monday night.

Some of the matters approved by the meeting were: rezoning of the Shaw property for off-street parking for 50 cars; rezoning of a section of land at 9 Chestnut st., rezoning of a tract of land at the corner of Lowell and Poore streets in Shawsheen Village; 30 days sick leave for town employees; adoption of a law which allows the town to appropriate money for the purchase of uniforms for the police and fire departments; $17,000 for a new fire engine; $1500 for two new police cars; $4000 for the purchase of land on Bancroft road for expansion of the reservoir.

The meeting defeated the proposal to rezone a parcel of land between 291 and 295 N. Main st., where Harold F. Gens the petitioner, told the voters that he planned to put up a brick building for a drug store.

In the abandoned cemetery of a ghost town in Nevada, amidst a wreckage of wooden monuments and picket fences, a former Andover man recently found a handsome marble tombstone which marked the grave of another former Andover man.

"I was much interested in this relic of the past," writes Robert W. Bates of Ventura, Cal., a resident of the town some 50 years ago and an alumnus of Punchard High school, who tells The Townsman of the discovery he made on a trip to Nevada.

"It was the only monument untouched by time," he says, and he was particularly interested in the eulogy which he copied and sent along believing that it will be of equal interest to readers of The Townsman.

"It is pleasant to know that in the rough society of those days and within a mile or two of Virginia City and the fabulous Comstock Lode, there was a man to inspire such a eulogy and other men to write it." (Continued on Page 13) against the enemy on Feb. 23, 1951, near Chipyeong-ni, Korea. The mission of Corporal Winters' squad, was to attack a well-fortified and concealed hostile emplacement, which had resisted several air and artillery attacks. During the assault the Chinese gained fire superiority causing the members of the squad to take cover. Cpl. Winters, realizing the importance of continuing the attack, exposed himself to enemy fire as he ran from one position to another exhorting the men to continue the assault. Through his efforts and leadership the men continued forward and were successful in gaining the enemy held positions. Cpl. Winters' heroism reflects great credit on himself and the military service.

Punchard Wins Tourney Opener

Punchard High's basketball team staged a thrilling rally in the first round of the Eastern Massachusetts Interscholastic tourney at the Boston Garden Monday to take a one-point triumph over Sumner High of Holbrook, 46 - 45.

Ray Yancy, who topped the Punchard scorers with 18 points, caged the winning basket with 32 seconds left to play. The fourth period rally by the Blue and Gold wiped out a 42 - 35 lead Sumner enjoyed earlier in the closing period.

Yancy's shot came on a bouncing pass from Capt. Jim Dolan after Punchard had been trailing most of the way in the game, and it climaxed a rally which saw Yancy scoring nine points in the last frame.

Every Day is Payday For The Community, Too

G-E Payday means business every day in the week for local stores, banks, churches and charities. Two million a week buys a lot of groceries, clothes, furniture, fuel, toys, gasoline and laundry service in this area. What's more, local G-E employees and their families to: l enough people to support 222 grocery stores, 210 eating establishments, 114 filling stations, 54 apparel stores, 40 drug stores, 30 department stores, 28 home furnishing stores and many other local businesses.*

For G-E employees, this payroll represents good jobs and the assurance of a responsible place in the Community. And for the Community itself, it represents the buying power that helps generate additional local jobs — additional income for Lynn and surrounding towns. These are very big reasons why "G. E. also stands for Good Employment."

GENERAL  ELECTRIC

HIS 2,496TH PAY CHECK— John J. Sullivan of Lynn, President of Thomson Quarter Century Club, has worked at G. E. for 48 years. For men like John, steady jobs and many employee benefits make G. E. a mighty good place to work.

HER FIRST JOB — G. E. offers young people like Mary Christina Francis a good future. Mary came from Comptometer School last month to work as a River Works Payroll Clerk. Her father, James Francis, is employed in the Lighting and Rectifier Division.

IT TAKES 7 PAYMASTERS to handle today's complicated payrolls at G. E. Typical among them is Dwight D. Sterenberg (left), of Marblehead, Payroll Supervisor for the Meter and Instrument Department, West Lynn Works and Myron F. Blanchard of Lynn, Paymaster of the River Works Service Division. Both at G. E. for many years, they have seen General Electric's payrolls skyrocket by millions of dollars through the last decade.

Honors For The Chief

A large gathering of townspeople paid a unique tribute to Police Chief George A. Dane at the Andover Country club a few evenings ago.

Sponsored by a group of the chief's friends for the purpose of giving public expression of the town's appreciation of his efforts in keeping crime at a minimum in Andover the occasion turned out to be an eloquent expression of the esteem in which he is held by the people of the town.

At a time when the moral decadence among public officials plays a prominent part in the daily news fare it is refreshing to have a trustworthy official singled out as "one police chief who is satisfied to live on his salary."

The plaque presented to Chief Dane was, in the words of Philip W. Thompson, one of the sponsors, "of little monetary value" but as a memento of the occasion it will be treasured by Chief Dane far more than a gift measured by the yardstick of dollars.

The presence of more than 200 men of all walks of life at a gathering of this nature will live long in the memory of the honored guest as a spontaneous manifestation of their respect and of their appreciation of his integrity in office.

It is said that a politician can stand anything but ridicule. The housecleaning of the government - the promised "drastic action" of Mr. Truman - is rapidly becoming ridiculous. -

NEW BOOKS

Letters To John Middleton Murry, 1913-1922, Mansfield.

In these letters to her husband and his to her, Katherine Mansfield wrote a more perfect autobiography of herself than in any other medium. Many of the letters published here were previously withheld from publication. Intimate, courageous, and warm episodes of their life together and, during her illness, when separated.

At Home In The Woods, Angier.

Tired of city life and the hectic rush, Vera and Brad Angier set out to prove their beloved Thoreau. They found a spot on Peace river, in British Columbia, and returned to the simple life.

I Cannot Rest From Travel, Price.

This has been called an autobiography of adventure. Beginning in Canada, it tells of travel in seventy lands, and covers much of the earth. Assignments from newspapers and magazines and a couple of well-known societies all gave him entrance to odd places.

The T. S. Eliot Myth, Robbins.

Here is a challenge to the place that T. S. Eliot occupies in modern English letters, and an appraisal of the writer as poet, critic and man.

Complete Book Of Collecting Hobbies, Bricker.

Here's how to begin a collecting hobby, and how to do it intelligently. The history of each of the major forms is given, what is valuable in each field is explained, and advice is offered as to where to start.

Successful Yacht Racing, Ogilvy.

One of America's foremost racing skippers gives information not usually available on tricks, devices, ideas and approaches for yacht racers.

Confident Years; 1885-1915, Brooks.

This is the last of the series of remarkable books on literature; they should be read in this order: World Of Washington Irving, Flowering Of New England, Times Of Melville and Whitman, New England Indian Summer and now Confident Years.

The Seventeenth Century, Dupont.

A new series "The Great Centuries Of Painting" is being developed to provide the most significant and striking works of each successive period. It will compare pictures painted in a certain period in different environments to help the reader discover the sources of various movements. There are 64 color reproductions.

VITAMIN B COMPLEX

It was once believed that there was just one vitamin B. Then vitamin B was found to be a complex and it has been separated into different vitamins, each with a particular importance and function.

Thiamine, riboflavin, and niacin are the most generally known and best understood. Getting enough of these vitamins helps with steady nerves, normal appetite, good digestion, and healthy skin.

When the diet is seriously deficient in these vitamins such diseases as beriberi and pellagra follow. But far more common are borderline cases. Doctors say that many people with vague complaints may be showing effects of food that provides too little of these important vitamins.

Recently identified B vitamins are folic acid and vitamin B-12, both of which are important for a healthy state of the blood.

Trade Board Plans Dinner Meetings

Trade Board Plans Dinner Meetings

The advisability to hold a dinner with future meetings was discussed at the meeting of the Andover board of trade last week. This was one of the suggestions made with a view to increasing the attendance at meetings.

The example of other organizations which have meetings at 6 p.m. rather than 8 p.m. was cited, the advantage being that in most instances the sessions are concluded about 8 p.m. leaving members free to attend to other engagements.

Tentative plans were made for a dinner meeting Tuesday, Mar. 25 at either the Legion rooms on Park street or the Odd Fellows' hall at the Musgrove building.

Details will be announced later by William R. Hill, president.

Local Board Sends 7 For Induction

The Andover Selective Service board 62 sent seven men for induction into service at the army base, Boston, last week.

They were: Frederick C. Soper, 19 Stonington st., No. Andover; Joseph G. Grande, 93 Main st., No. Andover; James A. McEvoy, 22 Harkaway rd., No. Andover; Robert J. Lavigne, 73 North st., Andover; Robert N. Deyermond Jr., 91 Elm st., Andover; Norman P. Reidy, 30 Main st., Andover; and Richard A. Gravel, 12 Suffolk st., No. Andover.

FILM FESTIVAL

The first of the spring film festival programs will be offered to the public at 7:45 p.m. Monday, Mar. 24, in the Memorial Hall library. There will be three evenings in the series, each one devoted to a subject, the first of which is "Music On Film." The second program, Mar. 31, is to cover subjects in the field of arts and handicrafts. "Nature's Way" is the plan for the third evening, Apr. 7. A fine group of films has been selected for the film festival and all are cordially invited to attend one or all of the meetings.

dignified and gentlemanly deportment, won for him the love and esteem of all who knew him. Many kind friends will mourn his loss as a brother. Endearred with more than common ties or mutual regard and esteem, his memory will long remain embalmed in the hearts of those who gathered around his bedside and administered to his comfort all that loving hearts or willing hands could bestow.

Brother, thou hast been taken from us in the prime vigor and usefulness of manhood; thy loss we deeply deplore. No more wilt thou join our martial number. Thou hast gone to that bourne from whence no traveler returneth.

Report Day Held In Red Cross Drive

The first report day in the Andover Red Cross 1952 Fund drive was held Monday, at the Andover National bank. About fifty percent of the workers turned in their completed assignments. The next, and what it is hoped will be the final, report day will be Tuesday, Mar. 18, when Red Cross personnel will be at the bank again, from 12 noon to 3 p.m. Considering that complete coverage of the residents of Andover is being sought through the homes this year rather than at places of employment, the progress of the campaign is good.

Those who have shouldered the main responsibility for Red Cross work in the community are concerned that the results of the canvass will enable the chapter to meet the service demands made upon it as the armed forces increase in numbers and economic conditions in this area bring added problems to be solved.

VOLUNTEER NURSES

men of service groups.

Chapter chairman Ernest S. Young presented Red Cross nurse badges to the volunteers who have qualified as nurses in Andover. To qualify one must be a registered nurse who has given at least 20 hours of Red Cross community service of any kind.

Receiving badges were Muriel Zink, Gertrude Glennie, Christie Louise Hathaway, Bessie Gregory, Elizabeth Barnard, Rita Dolan, Gertrude Stewart, Hazel Griffin, Edith Knipe, and Carole Ellenson.

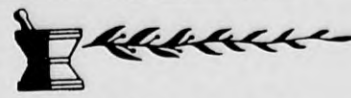

Five-year service badges were presented to Pauline Field, Gertrude Allicon, and Alice Connors in recognition of their contribution of a day a week as volunteer workers in the recreation program for the hospitalized veterans at Bedford hospital. Mrs. Allicon gives unnumbered hours of skilled service to the therapy program provided by the hospital's print shop. Mrs. Field and Mrs. Connors, in addition to their work as Gray Ladies, drive the Red Cross station wagon almost every day on some errand of mercy.
