4081 Homes Visited In Religious Canvass

Results of the religious survey made here last October by some 300 or more men and women representing all of the churches of Andover have been compiled.

The various teams of workers visited several thousand people and out of all contacted only a very few refused to answer the questions asked by the census takers. Among the persons not contacted at their homes a large number were later reached by phone so that it is believed that the survey is almost totally complete.

A total of 4081 families were visited or reached later by phone and here is what the compilation of information reveals:

- 4081 Families visited
- 1387 Roman Catholic
- 2464 Protestant
- 269 Protestant (who attend churches outside Andover)
- 33 Jewish
- 83 divided Protestant and Catholic families
- 77 Unaffiliated
- 35 Refused information

The survey was sponsored by the Andover Council of Churches and St. Augustine's church, all of which had workers taking part in the canvass.

Start Widening Of Main Street At P.A. Campus

The state department of public works has started to widen Main street near Phillips academy.

The plans issued for this improvement, long advocated by The Townsman, show that the street will be widened from the present end of the state highway for a distance of about 1400 feet northerly to Wheeler street, including some widening at the intersection of School street.

The improvement calls for a divided highway along the campus with traffic islands to facilitate the passage of students across the travelled way.

In connection with the work Salem street, from Main street to Highland road, is closed for about a week to allow a utility company to lay a trench in the street.

Traffic for the rest of Salem and for Highland avenue must detour via Dwight street, which runs along the side of the academy athletic field.

The main part of the project is to remove the traffic hazard caused by the grass plot which juts out into the highway at Chapel avenue, the scene of many accidents. The plot was formerly occupied by the electric car rails.

Bicycle Registration To Be Held Soon

Now that the town meeting has accepted the article relative to the registration of bicycles by the police department arrangements are being made to have this registration take place within a few weeks.

Police Chief David L. Nicoll has requisitioned the regular bicycle registration plates from the state department of correction and blanks from the state department of public safety. As soon as these have been received notice of registration dates and places will be announced.

There will be a registration fee of 25 cents for each plate but this will be the first and only cost.

All neighboring communities have this bicycle regulation in effect and Methuen has about 5000 bicycles registered. Adoption of (Continued on Page Three)

Work on the Ballardvale sewerage project is expected to begin early in April and to be completed before there is frost in the ground next winter.

Following up the action of the annual town meeting in appropriating an additional $60,000 for the work, the board of public works has instructed the engineering firm of Weston & Sampson of Boston to have the contracts of the lowest responsible bidders on the three steps of the project all prepared for acceptance by Friday night,

Reservations for tickets may be made by calling James P. Christie, 868, at the town house; Ford's Pastry shop, 361; or may be purchased from the Veterans' Service office in the town house, Elander & Swanton's; Billings Jewelry store; Doherty Insurance Agency; Look Photo shop; Shawsheen Bakery, and George Cheyne's store in Ballardvale.

Two sets of cards were completed for all of the families contacted. One set will be placed in the Memorial Hall library in a permanent central file. The other set was divided into church affiliations as noted above and placed in the hands of the clergymen of the various churches.

Because of the advance publicity given the canvass most of the townspeople expected to be called upon and they extended to the canvassers a friendly welcome. The committee in charge expresses to the general public its appreciation for the cooperation given during the survey.

A Good Town Meeting

The annual town meeting left various impressions, judging by the comment heard since then.

The meeting lasted too long, in the opinion of several "regular" attendants who remained through to the end. They felt that articles taken up at the latter part of the session did not receive the same consideration as those taken up earlier.

Then there were others who were happy that the entire warrant of 66 articles was disposed of in one night as it might have been difficult to obtain a quorum if only about a score of the less controversial issues were left over to a later date.

There seemed to be no criticism of any appropriation nor complaint that the voters were too lavish with the town's funds.

The new moderator, Roland H. Sherman, kept things moving during the session and on one or two occasions asserted his authority in definite terms.

Altogether the greater part of the meeting was interesting and held the attention of those present. It is true that the crowd kept dwindling toward the end but there was a quorum present right up to the last minute, even though it was well after midnight.

In all, most people were well pleased with the conduct of the meeting and satisfied with the results.

Light Signals Not Enough

After all the to-do about the installation of directional lights on autos it has been found that rear-end collisions are on the increase, especially on the new super highways.

The exclusive day-time use of indicator lights and rear brake lights without accompanying hand signals may be causing more accidents than they prevent, according to Philip C. Thibodeau, general manager of the Automobile Legal Association.

Such warning lights, he adds, can be seen only by the car directly behind and usually the third and fourth cars in line can see no indication of a turn or slowdown by the first car because the second is in the line of vision. He feels that the lights without use of a hand signal is not sufficient warning to motorists in the rear.

He warns that drivers should not rely entirely on these lights in daytime and suggests that states make hand signals mandatory during daylight hours.

Perhaps we should place the lights on top of the cars where Karl Haartz of West Andover some time ago suggested placing a speedometer which would show at all times how fast cars were moving.

The good either die young or outgrow it.

SCIENCE VS. BRAIN FEVER by Science Features

Meningitis gets its name from the fact that the disease is characterized by an inflammation of the covering, or meninges, of the brain and spinal cord. It often strikes in epidemics, is extremely contagious, and its most frequent victims are children and young adults.

This disease, sometimes known as brain fever, was fatal in almost every case until 1906, when an anti-meningitis serum was developed which cut the existing mortality rate in half. Even as late as 1928, however, fatalities due to the meningitis epidemic of that year reached 50 per cent.

With the introduction of the sulfa drugs, and later the antibiotics, a drastic reduction in the meningitis mortality rate occurred. Recently, for example, two Seattle doctors reported that only one out of 30 cases of meningitis in children proved fatal. Treatment in these cases consisted of a combination of sulfadiazine and terramycin.

But despite advances in treatment, meningitis is still a dangerous disease. One of the biggest dangers is that though the patient may live the inflammation may have time to permanently damage the brain or nervous system. To prevent this, doctors regard it as essential that the disease be recognized and treated at an early stage.

Since meningitis may be caused by several different microbes, a tap of the spinal fluid must be taken to isolate and identify the specific disease-causing organism. So important is a quick diagnosis that this is often accomplished within a half hour after arrival at the hospital.

High School PTSA To Meet March 25

The March meeting of the Punchard and Junior high PTSA will be held Thursday, Mar. 25 in the auditorium. During the business meeting a silver collection will be taken to provide funds for the annual awards to be made at graduation.

Chairman Walter Davis of the program committee has arranged a discussion which will feature new plans being considered for the forthcoming Junior prom at Punched and also various aspects for the future needs of the high school and Junior high school in the light of increased enrollment. Speakers will include Supt. of Schools Edward I. Erickson and Headmaster Lindsay J. March. All students are cordially invited so that the students viewpoint may be adequately expressed in the discussion of the two topics of vital interest.

At the close of the meeting refreshments will be served under the direction of Mrs. Ralph Sharpe, chairman of the hospitality committee.

Down the Years with The Townsman

50 Years Ago — March 1904

A steamed clam supper was served by the Abbot Village Checker club Tuesday. About 25 members and their guests joined in the feast.

An exhibition of the school work done by 8th and 9th grade pupils is being held in the school committee room in the town house.

Stephen Robb has been awarded the prize—a valuable briar pipe and case — in the pitch tournament at the Abbot Village Checker club. He is also leading in the cribbage tournament.

Yesterday afternoon there was a display of cooking in the school committee's room under the charge of Miss Bessie P. Goldsmith, instructor in cooking in the public schools. All the articles were baked at home by the children and were from receipts which were taught at school.

For the next assembly and dance in April in the IOOF series the committee has secured the services of Dr. John C. Bowker of Lawrence who will present his magnificently illustrated lecture on Russia. Dancing will follow until 1 a.m.

Thomas Lawler of the Vale presented numerous friends with sprigs of shamrock which he recently received from Ireland.

The selectmen have organized with B. Frank Smith as chairman and Samuel H. Boutwell secretary.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lindsay observed their golden wedding anniversary Saturday at their home on Lowell street in Frye Village. They were married in the house where they now reside. A large number of Mr. Lindsay's comrades in the Grand Army post were among those who called to extend their best wishes.

Andover lodge, 230, IOOF, put on a play at the "Donation night" given in the town hall by Penelope lodge of Rebekahs of North Andover last Tuesday eve. The comedy was a big success.

In the death of Thomas Rhodes, 69, Andover loses one of her best known citizens, he having been a prominent figure about town for a number of years.

The Russian fleet at Port Arthur surprised the Japs by a daring attack on the blockaders in broad daylight, each side losing a ship. The Russian plan to block the entrance of Newchwang harbor was protested by the commander of an American gunboat which has wintered there. The protest was cabled to Washington and was the subject of a cabinet meeting.

25 Years Ago — March 1929

The town meeting voted $50,000 for the reconstruction of North Main street. Discussion of the salary question revealed that the voters were not opposed to allowing last year's increased figures to stand, but enjoyed airing their resentment at the way the measure was carried through.

A sensational episode occurred at the town meeting when the newly-elected treasurer, Thaxter Eaton, asked that $500 be taken from his salary and be added to that of his defeated opponent, George A. Higgins, who still retains the office of town clerk. Following the motion the voters fixed the salary of the treasurer at $2000 and that of the clerk at $1700. The latter also receives $400 as clerk of the boards.

The meeting appropriated the sum of $662,205 of which $545,455 was for maintenance of departments.

The selectmen organized with Frank H. Hardy being re-elected chairman and Andrew McTernan re-elected secretary.

In the board of public works Arthur T. Boutwell was re-elected chairman and William D. McIntyre re-elected secretary. The board appointed Charles T. Gilliard superintendent and Edward R. Lawson assistant superintendent.

The school committee organized with Eugene M. Weeks chairman and Fred E. Cheever secretary.

10 Years Ago — March 1944

The town meeting voted to buy the Shaw property and increase the salaries of all full-time employees $2 a week.

Arthur Lewis, a member of the school committee since 1933, was named chairman of the board succeeding Frederick C. Smith, and William A. Doherty, oldest member in point of service, was named secretary.

The school board voted to adopt a salary regulation which will increase the salaries of teachers and janitors $104 yearly.

Onions are in the hands of black market operators and local stores now have none for sale.

Refresher Course For Nurse's Aids

A refresher course for former Red Cross nurse's aids will begin at 7:30 p.m., Mar. 23 at Red Cross headquarters.

The meetings will be held Tuesday and Thursday evenings for five weeks. Mrs. Frederick C. Eastman, R.N., will be the instructor.

Any former nurse's aids not already registered for the course are requested to call the Red Cross headquarters.

Here are several reasons why the annual banquet of the Interchurch Basketball League was such a howling success - the mothers who prepared the food that disappeared so rapidly during the first part of the evening. Photo shows several of the mothers who, after the boys and fathers had been fed, lined up for their suppers. (Look Photo)

Interchurch League Closes Season

Over 260 fathers and sons attended the spaghetti and meatball supper in the high school cafeteria Monday night that rang down the curtain on the most successful session of the Interchurch Basketball League in the seven years of its history.

The dinner was served by the mothers after which the male contingent moved upstairs to the auditorium for the post-parandial program.

President Thomas Emmons presented the following coaches with emblems for their players: to Joseph Barton for St. Augustine's, the Junior division champions; to Fred Yancy for the South church, champions of the Intermediate divisions; and to Mr. Barton for the CYO, winners of the Senior division title.

Charles O. McCullom presented to individuals and teams the prizes they won in the roundup contests two weeks before.

The season was very successful in every way with 214 boys registered for participation. The value of the League to Punchard is shown by the number of boys on the varsity and jayvee teams who were former members of one of the church teams.

Mothers To Enter School Boat Races

Andover skippers and their mothers will attend a registration meeting of the Schools Sailing club in the Central Elementary school auditorium at 9:15 a.m., Wednesday, Mar. 24.

New to the Schools Sailing club program this season will be the series of classes and racing for mothers who will take part in an 11-meet series with mothers from other towns.

All racing will start at Wakefield Mar. 31. There will be three series: Mothers from 9:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m., Central and Pike students, 12:30 to 2:30 p.m., and Junior high from 2:30 to 4:30 p.m. These meets will continue through May. All winners will be invited to sail for a day on the Estrelitta, owned by Adair Miller of Main st.

The Andover Sailing club is under the direction of Mrs. Bedford Wood of Highland ave.

Abbot Academy

This is Abbot academy's last full week of the winter term before it closes Mar. 23 for two weeks' vacation.

The principal event this weekend is the Saturday performance of "A Midsummer Night's Dream", presented as a tenth grade class project under the direction of Miss Agnete Wulff, assisted by Miss Emily Hale, Miss Ann Hornor and Miss Jean Johnson. The play starts at 8 p.m. There is no admission charge and the public is cordially invited.

On Sunday night, the Rev. John E. Wallace of the First Church in Springfield will give a lecture in Abbot hall on stained glass windows. He will illustrate his talk with colored slides.

The last event of the winter term will be a demonstration of the physical education work which is taught at the school during the year. The exhibition will include modern dance, apparatus work, marching, tumbling and stunts, and fencing. The performances will be judged by Mrs. Roscoe Dake, who formerly taught physical education at Abbot, Miss Gertrude McDonnell of Lawrence high school, and Miss Jean Rizzo of Punchard high school. Because of lack of space the school regrets that an invitation cannot be extended to the general public.

The spring session will open Tuesday, April 6 and promises to be a very interesting one. The principal events of that term will be the Parents' weekend Apr. 24 and 25, the celebration of Abbot's 125th anniversary and the annual bazaar on the week end of May 7, and a two-piano concert by Miss Kate Friskin and Raymond Coon on May 15.

POLICE EXAMS

Civil service police entrance examinations to establish eligible lists for cities and towns under classified service will be held Apr. 10. The last date for filing applications is Mar. 22. Applicants must be not less than 21 nor over 35 at the time of filing applications. Blanks may be obtained from the director of civil service, state house, Boston, or from Concetta Perez, city hall, Lawrence.

INTERCHURCH ELECTION

Officers of the Interchurch Basketball League for the next season will be elected at a meeting to be held at 7:30 p.m., Monday, Mar. 22 in the Free church study.

Pike School Pupils To Conduct Sale

Delicious pastry, relishes and preserves will be on sale Saturday afternoon at the Pike school food sale to be held in the school cafeteria.

Several trustees will pour, among them Mrs. Robert Saltonstall, Mrs. Turner Bridges, Mrs. Herbert Farnsworth and Mrs. Howard Kingsbury.

JUNIOR LEAGUE TEAM

First workouts for all candidates for Andover's team in the Junior Baseball League will be held at the Case Memorial cage, Phillips academy, at 1:30 p.m., Saturday. Coaches Carl Eler and Tom Low will be on hand to greet the candidates.

Temporary Play Area Allotted

On behalf of the residents in the local housing area on Memorial circle Ernest N. Hall, executive director and secretary of the Andover Housing Authority appeared before the board of selectmen Monday night with a proposal to set aside a section of the new playground adjoining the housing units as a play area.

Acting upon this suggestion the selectmen voted to allot a section of the new playground as a temporary play area until the entire playground is fully developed.

At the request of Mr. Hall, who is a resident of Ballardvale, the board decided to form a committee of Vale citizens who would supervise the granting of the use of the Community rooms there. The committee will be announced later.

The board granted the Lawrence Gas Co. permission to extend service at 89 Main st., and to install gas services in Prospect Hill road, easterly from Salem street.

Permission was granted the Lawrence Electric Co. for one pole location on Main street, near Wheeler street, and 12 poles on Beacon street, northwesterly from High Plain road, and to abandon nine existing poles there.

Women Voters See Need For New Jail

The League of Women Voters of Andover, in company with the Leagues of Gloucester, Marblehead, Salem and Swampscott, have concluded after a two-year study, that a new Essex county jail is urgently needed.

They feel that renovating the old jails in Salem and Lawrence would be bad economy, because the old buildings do not have enough space to provide facilities for modern corrective treatment for the inmates. They do not believe present architect's plans for a new institution are completely suited to a modern rehabilitative program, however.

The Leagues feel that a full program of work, study and recreation for the prisoners would result in reducing the high percentage of repeaters and would save the county money in the long run.

Andover members who have taken part in the study include Mrs. Alden Cook, Mrs. James Grew, Mrs. Dudley Fitts, Mrs. Alan Blackmer, Miss Emily Hale, Mrs. James Eastham and Mrs. Frederick Kimball.

LOCAL BOY HONOR STUDENT IN NCO GRADUATION

Cpl. Myron Muise, 115th Trans Co., was the class honor student at the graduation exercises for 24 members of The Post NCO Leadership school at Camp Meade, Md., recently. Cpl. Muise, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis W. Muise, 65 Park st., read "The Leaders' Code" at the exercises.

EXPECT VALE SEWER TO BE STARTED SOON

Mar. 19 when it is expected they will be accepted.

If this action is taken this week it is possible that ground will be broken for the project very soon afterward.

Sidney P. White, chairman of the board of public works, said that the lowest bids on each of the three phases of work, (1) the treatment plant, (2) the trunk sewer crossing the river and under the railroad tracks, and (3) the street laterals, will come to about $131,000.

This figure, Mr. White explained, includes the engineering fees and extras of about five percent which must be allowed for unforeseen conditions, such as ledge in the excavations.

This money is available. Out of the $80,000 appropriated a year ago the sum of about $8000 has been spent on engineering work and the balance with the money appropriated last week will cover the low bids on the work.

LOW HUMMING SOUND HEARD HERE AT NIGHT

A low humming noise, audible usually at night, which Lawrence police a few weeks ago traced to a mill in South Lawrence is still being heard here in Andover according to complaints which have reached the police.

A few weeks ago the sound was that of a heavy pulsating hum which from time to time varied in intensity. Recently the sounds are much more drawn out and are heard at almost all hours of the night.

Baseball Tryout

The baseball team held its first meeting Monday afternoon and 54 candidates reported. Coach Robert Collier explained that there will be a tremendous team rebuilding project this season due to the great number of varsity squad players who graduated last year. Practices were held Tuesday for pitchers and catchers and the entire squad will work out at Phillips academy cage next week. Two squads, a varsity and jayvee, each with 17 members, will be chosen. The first official practice game will be held Saturday, Apr. 17, with Phillips academy. The schedule of season's games will be announced next week after it has been decided upon by the Merrimack Valley Suburban Baseball League of which Kenneth McKiniry is president. Coach Collier expects Capt. Paul Ostrowski, Thomas Pearl, George Adams, Robert Grudzinski, Lawrence Lynch, John Murray and Ralph Anderson, all of whom saw much action last year, to have a good season. Much is also expected of last year's junior varsity squad.

Notes

The Junior high school basketball team has completed its season with a fine record of 10 wins and three losses. The total number of points compiled by the Andover team was 445 against 348 compiled by their opponents.

NEW BOOKS

(Note — Why not see for yourself the very newest books which the library has added? They'll be on display all week, beginning next Monday!)

Report On The Atom, Dean. Authoritative account of atomic development for both military and peacetime uses.

Russian Assignment, Stevens. Covers three years of observation of the Russian people, as real people.

Helen Gould Was My Mother-in-law, Seton. This one is for fun, and amazement, a life-with-Father sort of biography.

The Golden Age Of Homespun, Van Wagenen. Celebrates tradition of pre-Civil war days, with homely methods and ways of life.

The Bold Women, Woodward. Rebellious American ladies who broke with tradition in 18th and 19th centuries.

The Road To Abundance, Rosin. Another voice on the "is there enough to go round?" question. This one affirmative.

The Traitor And The Spy, Flexner. Benedict Arnold, Peggy Shippen and Major Andre — story of the classic treason.

Handbook Of Tomorrow's Antiques, Drepperd. What to collect now, where to find it, probable value of tomorrow's antiques.

The Limits Of The Earth, Osborn. A middle-of-the-road description of the state of the earth's bounty and its capacity to provide for the rapid world increase in population. Author is neither in camp of the hopeless, starvation-on-its-way group, nor among those who feel that there is no food situation to be considered. The author also wrote "Our Plundered Planet."

Man, Time And Fossils, Moore. This companion volume to the earlier book "Gods, Graves and Scholars" tells the whole story of man's evolution much as that did his civilization. Here are the adventures and discoveries of great biologists and anthropologists, beginning with Darwin, and taking the reader to clay banks in China and Java, caves, quarries, swamps, gravel pits, etc. all over the world. Thrilling!

The Hill Of Devi,

Forster. In 1912, E. M. Forster first visited the Indian state of Dewas Senior at the invitation of its young Maharajah. Nine years later, as private secretary to the Maharajah he returned, after having already begun his great novel "Passage To India." Here is the story of his two visits, with all the color and thrill of life at court, the ways of the people, and especially of the leader himself, until he fell into disfavor.

Tomorrow,

Wylie. A lesson to all of what could happen to America with accompanying panic and hysteria.

Paradise Bay,

Guthrie. Setting for this novel is a New Zealand town, about 25 years ago.

When just ONE of you isn't enough!

How many telephone calls did you make yesterday?

How many minutes . . . how many steps . . . how many miles of driving did those telephone calls save you?

Enough, undoubtedly, so that without the telephone just one of you simply couldn't have accomplished it all.

Your telephone has become an essential part of today's way of life. Families depend on it to link their homes with neighborhood stores and friends. Businessmen rely on it to keep them in close contact with their sales forces and local suppliers. Doctors, police, firemen depend on it to speed help in emergencies.

How Your Telephone Is Growing With Massachusetts

As telephone service expands and gives you more value than ever before, the amount of telephone equipment and the number of telephone people working here in Massachusetts grows, too. The service costs more, and it costs more to provide. During 1954, Massachusetts will see 20 more cities and towns converted to fast, convenient dial service, 53 more local calling areas extended to eliminate toll charges between their exchanges, more new switchboards, more wires, cables and poles all over the state — $52,600,000 worth of improvements and expansion to provide the telephone service Massachusetts people need.

Book, Movie Hours At The Library

In order to make room for those who wish to see the program of films arranged for Friday evening, Mar. 26 as part of the Spring Festival week, the circulation desk in the library will close at 8 p.m. This will give all who attend a half hour for leisurely handling of the new books and an informal time to talk with friends.

At 8:30 o'clock a program of specially selected movies of general appeal will be shown, to which all are most cordially included. Square dancers will enjoy one film in color which shows a dance with "all the fixins"; amateur artists who want to paint a picture without any teacher to guide them will find "Brush Techniques" a color film on the 'painting with water color by Eliot O'Hara, extremely interesting; our fisherman friends will see "Fishing In Newfoundland," while naturalists will thrill to a color film of the beauties of the flowering desert. Hawaii, so much before the public at the moment, will come to life in the final film of the group.

All friends of the library are reminded to keep Friday evening open for the informal book and movie hours.

What Our Readers Say—

Town Meeting Post Mortem To The Editor:

It was good to see an overflow audience at last week's town meeting - one which flowed over onto the gym floor. It was good to see a few high school students in that audience; too had many more students failed to see democracy in action.

It was also good to see a slightly improved attitude on the part of the school committee chairman - thus offering some ground for hope in the future. What information was given seems to have been given more freely, less reluctantly, than usual. This is a move in the right direction yet it leaves a lot of room for improvement. Let me give you four examples of what I mean.

1) Our new school committee chairman said, in the course of his remarks, that we may be aware of the existence of a teachers' salary scale. That was a rather damaging statement. How many of your readers, Mr. Editor, are familiar with the mysterious scale? Where is this secret document to be found? Not, I can assure you, in the school committee report to its public. Yet we are expected to believe them when they say the scale will have to be revised. Isn't this putting a bit of a strain on our faith? How can they gain the confidence of their public by withholding facts from that public?

2) Our chairman implied that school maintenance has been inadequate in the past. If so, this was clearly a foolhardy policy. Yet the general public can have no knowledge of the situation except its own inference from a random remark. Is that good?

3) We were told that this year's school budget will have to provide for the cost of several new teachers. This seems inevitable enough. But what we were not told is the extra expense due to oral French. After last year's hassle over the cost - or absence of cost - for this subject, the public was clearly entitled to an honest explanation. But the public didn't get it. So far as we know, this instruction continues free of charge. Or is this cost now carefully concealed from public view? Do you know, Mr. Editor?

4) The public's official source of information is, of course, the school committee's annual report. The value of this report is low for two reasons. In the first place, the only school officials who are accountable to the public reveal in this report their studied policy of reporting almost nothing to that public or - to be more exact - reporting exactly nothing except the usual blurb about the need for more room. They imply that academic problems involving our own children are too unimportant to be shared with us. By confiding only plant problems with us they underestimate both our interest and our capabilities.

The second thing wrong with the report is the deplorable timing of its distribution. Despite its deficiencies, they owe this report to the public prior to town meeting on self-evident moral grounds. And, if this were not reason enough, the law requires prior distribution. Neither of these reasons, nor both, have the desired effect.

Why not? Because our school committee is still too too arbitrary and too too totalitarian in its attitude toward its public.

Must hope spring eternal in the public's breast? Time will tell.

Call Public Hearing On Route Location

The selectmen have called a public hearing to be held at 8 p.m., Monday, Mar. 22 in the Central elementary school auditorium to discuss the proposed relocation of Route 28.

Two plans have been suggested, one on the western side of the town from Lowell Junction through West Andover, and the other on the eastern side that would go through North Andover.

The state department of public works, which is to locate and construct the highway wishes to get an expression of opinion from all cities and towns concerned before it decides which route to follow.

Invitations have been sent to Mayor Buckley of Lawrence, the selectmen of North Andover and Methuen, and members of the local Planning board.

The cashier is known by the company that keeps him.
