Prospects for the season, however, are fairly bright as Coach Bob Collier has Bill Mooney and Bill Vickers as his second base combination and Bill Fisher seem to be set at third. In the outfield Tom Pearl, Larry Lynch and Nick Mullick comprise the starting trio with Bob Le-febvre and Dick Lawrence slated to see considerable action during the season.

Oil And The Atom

Announcements concerning the construction of atomic power plants and the recent launching of the navy's new submarine Nautilus are dramatic evidence that atomic power is here to stay.

A lot of people, including many experts both in and out of the industry, have spent considerable time finding out just what this is going to mean to the oil business. The results of all their study add up to just one thing. If you have any sound oil stock, hang on to it. It's going to be an extremely good bet for a long time to come.

Atomic scientist Harold C. Urey estimates that within the next 25 years atomic energy will be used to an important extent in the fueling of central power stations and possibly ships. Indications are that the oil industry may actually welcome a lessening in demand for the low grade fuels now used for those purposes. To meet the needs of future years, a much greater percentage of each barrel of crude oil will have to be utilized for the production of higher grade fuel such as gasoline. For example, it has been reliably estimated that domestic gasoline demand in 1967 will be 46 per cent greater than it was in 1951.

Though it has already developed hundreds of products ranging all the way from fabric to floor wax, the petrochemical industry has barely scratched the Atomic energy then, though it may change the pattern of demand, is not likely to alleviate our heavy dependence on oil and its products. Judging by past performance the industry will more than be able to meet every demand of the American people, but it all depends on one thing. As a spokesman for the industry put it, "All long range speculation about the future of the oil industry must necessarily presume that oil companies will remain free to compete, for competition is the secret of progress."

Guarantee Of Value

All of us naturally like to find bargains. All of us, when shopping, try to get top return for each dollar spent. And in the long-run, the surest way to achieve that is to patronize established merchants who are concerned with the future - not just today's

That was the theme of an editorial in the Garner, Iowa, Leader. The paper advised its readers: "In any hometown, the reputable merchants and dealers will be the kind of people that you like and trust. This editor does not think you will lose any peace of mind or money if you rely on them for good values at a fair price. I am sure you will find this procedure is much safer and simpler than searching for bargains in strange places.'

Many a "bargain", bought at an alleged big discount from some fly-by-night operator, has proven worthless. The established local merchants have to protect their reputations - and that's your best guarantee of value.

TREATING A "NEW" DISEASE By Science Features

A mysterious disease called pancreatic fibrosis affects one out of 600 infants. Treated for many years, as a combination of pneumonia and an intestinal disease causing malnutrition, it almost always proved fatal to the young sufferers. Even though thousands of children.

ways proved fatal to the young sufferers. Even though thousands of children were affected, pancreatic fibrosis was regarded as a "new" disease by many doctors.

Finally, in 1938, Dr. Dorothy H. Andersen of Columbia University, put together the symptoms and various changes made on the body by pancreatic fibrosis, and medical science recognized the "new" disease. ease.

double attack on youngsters. A heavy mucus liquid forms in the lungs causing a severe cough and hampering breathing. This condition also results in frequent infections, such as pneumonia and bronchitis. The second set of symptoms affects the pancreas and it fails to deliver its quota of enzymes to the digestive system. The children, though they eat large amounts of food, are underweight and suffer from malnutrition.

As a result of medical research, better methods for treating these patients have been evolved. A series of tests on 49 patients was recently conducted for 15 months by four Boston doctors. They found that the broad-range antibiotics, such as terramycin, were the most such as terramycin, were the most such as terramycin, were the most effective in this disease, protecting the child against lung infections and at the same time stimulating his growth. With proper diet and careful treatment, the children now have a new lease on life.

An American Says:-

Note: — More than a million high school students throughout the United States recently participated in an essay contest on the subject "I Speak For Democracy," sponsored by the U.S. Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Sixteen-year-old Elizabeth Ellen Evans, who attends Buchtel High School in Akron, Ohio, was a national winner in this contest. She is the daughter of an employee of the Firestone Tire and Rubber Company.

The appealing thing about this essay is that it is an affirmation of belief, not simply an

I Speak for Democracy

By ELIZABETH ELLEN EVANS

I am an American.

Listen to my words, Fascist, Communist. Listen well, for my country is a strong country, and my message is a strong message.

I am an American, and I speak for democracy. My ancestors have left their blood on the green at Lexington and the snow at Valley Forge

. . . on the walls of Fort Sumter and the fields at Gettysburg on the waters of the River Marne and in the shadows of the Argonne Forest on the beachheads of Salerno and Normandy and the sands of Okinawa

. . . on the bare, bleak hills called Pork Chop and Old Baldy and Heartbreak Ridge.

A million and more of my countrymen have died for freedom.

My country is their eternal monument.

They live on in the laughter of a small boy as he watches a circus clown's antics

. . . and in the sweet, delicious coldness of the first bite of peppermint ice cream on the Fourth of July in the little tenseness of a baseball crowd as the umpire calls "Batter up!" and in the high school band's rendition of "Stars and Stripes Forever" in the Memorial

Day parade . . . in the clear, sharp ring of a school bell on a fall morning

. . . and in the triumph of a six-year-old as he reads aloud for the first time.

They live on in the eyes of an Ohio farmer surveying his acres of corn and potatoes and

... and in the brilliant gold of hundreds of acres of wheat stretching across the flat miles of Kansas

in the milling of cattle in the stockyards of Chicago the precision of an assembly line in an automobile factory in Detroit and the perpetual red glow of the nocturnal skylines of Pittsburgh and Birmingham and saying the sacred words from the Torah: "Hear O Israel: the Lord our God, the Lord is One. Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart and with all thy soul and with all thy might." They live on in the voice of a young Jewish boy and in the voice of a Catholic girl praying:

"Hail, Mary, full of grace, the Lord is with

. . . and in the voice of a Protestant boy singing: "A mighty Fortress is our God, A Bulwark never failing . . ."

An American named Carl Sandburg wrote these

"I know a Jew fishcrier down on Maxwell Street with a voice like a north wind blowing over corn stubble in January.

He dangles herring before prospective customers evincing a joy identical with that of Pavlova dancing.

His face is that of a man terribly glad to be selling fish, terribly glad that God made fish, and customers to whom he may call his wares from a pushcart.'

There is a voice in the soul of every human being that cries out to be free. America has answered that voice.

America has offered freedom and opportunity such as no land before her has ever known, to a Jew fishcrier down on Maxwell Street with the face of a man terribly glad to be selling fish. She has given him the right to own his pushcart, to sell his herring on Maxwell Street, she has given him an education for his children, and a tremendous faith in the nation that has made these things his.

Multiply that fishcrier by 160,000,000-160,000,-000 mechanics and farmers and housewives and coal miners and truck drivers and chemists and lawyers and plumbers and priests — all glad, terribly glad to be what they are, terribly glad to be free to work and eat and sleep and speak and love and pray and live as they desire, as they believe!

And those 160,000,000 Americans — those 160,-000,000 free Americans - have more roast beef and mashed potatoes, the yield of American labor and land;

. more automobiles and telephones,

. . . more safety razors and bathtubs,

. . . more Orlon sweaters and aureomycin, the fruits of American initiative and enterprise;

more public schools and life insurance policies,

the symbols of American security and faith in the future;

more laughter and song than any other people on earth!

This is my answer, Fascist, Communist! Show me a country greater than our country, show me a people more energetic, creative, bigger - hearted and happier than our people, not until then will I consider your way of life. For I am an American, and I speak for

SERIO - POMERLEAU

At a 10 o'clock ceremony in the Sacred Heart church, Lawrence, Sacred Heart church, Lawrence, Monday, Apr. 19, Lillian B. Pomer-leau, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Pomerleau, 240 Hillside rd., North Andover, became the bride of Frank Serio Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Serio of Lowell Junction. The Rev. Emile Archambault, S.M., officiated. Mrs. Arthur Scott was at the organ and the soloists were Miss Irene Libby and Armand Morrisette.

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a gown of chan-tilly lace and nylon tulle which featured a lace bodice with high pointed collar. The bouffant skirt of tulle was accented with a large lace panel in the front and the long cathedral train was lavishly bordered with chantilly lace. Her half hat of lace trimmed with pearls and sequins held her fin-gertip veil of imported French illusion. She carried a white marble prayer book with a white orchid and streamers of white satin rib-bon, sweet peas and stephanotis.

Jeanne Pomerleau of North Andover was the maid of honor, and Theresa Hatem of Lawrence bridesmaid. They were attired in gowns of embroidered nylon net of taffeta, strapless with pleated shoulderettes, and front panel skirts draped to bustle backs of tierred ruffles of nylon net. Their matching caps had open crowns, studded with irridescent sequins and nose veils.

Dick Lumenello, Bob Leete, Dick Smith, Jimmy Adams and Phil Spinney, other members of the squad are ready to be called upon for service as the season progresses.

So far the hitting has been satisfactory and with a little improvement in defense the Punchard team should move forward through another good season.
