Chief David L. Nicoll, civil defense director, in a statement issued today is calling attention of the people of Andover to the necessity of enlarging and maintaining a ground observer corps for the post located here.

"From President Eisenhower down," he says, "many of our top men in government have stressed the importance of visual observation centers as a compliment to our radar detection stations. Low-flying planes can not be picked up by radar.

"Andover has been designated as one of the places for a ground observation post but what has Andover done to carry out its share of this cooperative effort.

"There are about 10 active observers standing two-hour watches weekly, some doing four hours weekly. This is not 24-hour coverage.

"We need at least 168 volunteers to stand two-hour watches weekly in order to man our ground observer post 24 hours a day. This would mean slightly over one percent of our population.

"The ground observer corps is a link in our radar and visual detection defense. There is a strong feeling of those high in the national government that such a network can eliminate a surprise attack and prevent deep penetration to the vital targets in our country. This system proved itself very efficient and helpful during the last war.

"I feel that the people of Andover are not assuming their responsibility in this field because they do not realize the need of volunteers for this important work. This work is easy, important, and can be fun. We believe Andover should be making a better showing and urge each to do a share of this job and not leave it for someone else. Let's have more than the 168 volunteers right now."

Claremont I. Gray is post supervisor. Volunteers may sign up by contacting him at 32 Washington ave., Tel. And. 737-M, or by leaving their names and addresses at the police station.

Appeal Bd. To Hold 4 Public Hearings

Four public hearings will be held by the board of appeals at the town house tonight.

One is upon a petition of Barbara S. Nowell to add an apartment to the house at 63 Chestnut st., a second is the petition of Fred E. Cheever to subdivide land on Shipman rd., approved by the Planning board in 1948 with frontages of less than 125 feet; the third a petition of Somerville Sportsmen Inc., to use land on River st., Ballardvale, owned by William F. Quinn and family, for club, picnicing, shooting and fishing. The fourth is on petition of the John Philip Enterprises Inc., for a variance in the zoning by-laws permitting three lots of less than the regulation area on a proposed way known as Nutmeg lane.

HIGH MONTHS IN WEDDINGS

June is the star month of weddings in Massachusetts, having nearly 15% of the year's total as shown by a six-year average. September with 11.9% is the next most popular month for marriages, followed in order by October 9.8%, November 8.7%, April 8.6%, May and July each 8.4%, August 8.1%, February 6.4%, January 6.0%, December 5.1%. March with 4.1% is lowest because Lent usually occupies much of that month. The year 1946 was the all-time peak for marriages in the Commonwealth with a total of 56,498. Estimates place 1953 slightly above 37,000, which still is about 13% more than the prewar average, 1935-1939.

A Heel At The Wheel?

Are you a heel at the wheel?

This is the question asked by the National Safety Council as it holds up six mirrors in its Fourth of July Safety campaign.

If you can see yourself in any of the six mirrors, it says, than be prepared to become a holiday statistic.

There is the Me-Firster, the selfish competitive character who must be first away from the traffic light and can't stand to have anyone pass him.

The Big I, the fellow who is too big for the rules. Others can obey the law and a code of decent behavior, but not the self-inflated big-shot.

The Know-It-All, the driver who is good, in his own estimation. He knows just what the other driver is going to do, just how fast he can stop and just how much room he needs to cut-in on another car. The only way this over-confident jerk escapes accident is that really good drivers give him a wide berth.

The Swashbuckler, the fellow who thinks he expresses his masculinity or something by living dangerously behind the wheel. He believes that he who hesitates is lost and that his luck will hold forever.

The Sorehead, the fellow who is just plain hostile. He drives with a chip on his shoulder and is ready to lock fenders for any real or imagined wrong.

The Show-Off, the exhibitionist who has graduated from no-hands on a bike to no sense at the wheel. He wants others to admire his flashy performance but most other drivers get out of his way.

Take a good long look at these mirrors, says the council. See anything?

A heel at the wheel gets by because others give him the margin of safety he fails to give himself. But heavy Fourth of July traffic will reduce that margin. Watch it!

BEWARE HOT SUN By Science Features

In an over-anxious way, many people try to make up for the long, cold winter by giving themselves too much exposure to the sun. Instead of a good tan, which can be gotten easily with gradual exposure, they end up with a bad burn.

Recently scientists in Holland discovered that two different layers of skin burn under two different wave lengths of invisible ultra-violet rays. Generally, however, blondes burn faster than brunettes, children more quickly than adults and dry-skinned persons more easily than people with oily skin.

The average brunette can stand about two 15-to-20 minute stretches of strong sunlight the first day, double that the second day and gradual increases thereafter. Blondes and redheads should cut that schedule in half. Once tanned, you can stay out in the sun longer because one layer of skin thickens and the pigment develops, resulting in the "tan" color.

Don't be fooled on an overcast day, for clouds do not necessarily remove ultra-violet rays, and reflections from sand and water produce greater exposure.

All doctors agree that it's a good idea to use protective clothing and creams, lotions or oils. Many preparations contain compounds that filter out most of the ultra-violet rays and permit gradual tanning at the same time.

Vacation athletes who exercise under the hot sun may suffer sudden attack of heat exhaustion or the more serious sunstroke. To help prevent both conditions, avoid over-exertion and long exposure under the sun's rays. It is also necessary to replace the salt that the body loses in perspiration and to wear light, loose, protective clothing.

Eclipse Of Sun Visible June 30

A total eclipse of the sun will be visible in New England between 6:07 and 8:07 a.m. Wednesday, June 30. About 7 o'clock, midway in the eclipse, local viewers will see about 75 percent of the sun's disc obscured by the moon passing between the sun and the earth, according to John Patterson, director of the Hayden Planetarium at Boston.

All eclipse watchers are warned that severe damage to the eyes can result from watching an eclipse without adequate protection. Even several pairs of sunglasses at once are not considered adequate protection. Several layers of exposed film or a piece of glass that is smoked heavily over a candle are safer, although the results cut down the beauty of the spectacle.

Charge Assault

On Local Girl, 14

A North Reading man was arraigned on a statutory morals offense following the story of a 14-year-old Andover girl that she had been criminally assaulted last Friday night in a camp in North Reading.

Richard P. Anderson, 22, pleaded not guilty to the charge in the Woburn District court Monday and the case was continued until July 23.

The girl, a state ward, was living with a local family who reported her missing about 11 p.m.
Friday night.

Andover police say that her story was that she was picked up here and taken to a night club in North Reading and later to the camp. She was afterward driven to the home of a family on Prospect Hill, Lawrence, who notified Lawrence police. The case was referred to local authorities and when it was learned that the alleged offense took place in North Reading the police of that town were contacted.

The defendant was taken into custody Sunday by Lt. Mary Kirkpatrick of the state police and Trooper John O'Neil of the Andover barracks. He was later bailed for court appearance.

SLIGHT FIRE

Fire in one of the machines at the P. W. Moody plant on Dale street was extinguished by em-chemicals. The fire department answered an alarm from Box 24 at 10:20 p.m. but no service was required. Plastic stock being processed became overheated, firemen said, and ignited burning grease on the machine.

West School Pupils To Be Transferred

Pupils of the fifth grade of the West elementary school as well as those of the sixth grade will be transferred to the Central plant for the coming year according to a vote of the school committee at a special meeting Tuesday night.

As the result of a meeting of the West PTA last week Sec. William A. Doherty and Supt. Edward I. Erickson advised the board that the vote taken at that time was 45 for sending the fifth grade to the Central and six for retaining it. Overcrowded conditions make it necessary to transfer this grade as well as the sixth.

It was then voted on motion of Mrs. Dorothy Partridge seconded by Mr. Doherty to transfer both the fifth and sixth grades next year.

The results of a questionnaire circulated among the parents of 171 fourth grade children regarding the teaching of French was announced. The result was 150 in favor and 26 opposed.

A breakdown of the results showed that 136 children enjoyed the subject and 31 did not. No action was taken.

Mr. Henderson also submitted the only bid on removal of the cupola at the Shawsheen school, $3341.75. This matter was left in abeyance.

On motion of Miss Anna M. Greeley seconded by Mr. Russell it was voted to install a cafeteria in the Bradlee school using money available in the cafeteria fund to purchase the equipment.

Supt. Erickson reported that the driver-training car had been turned back to the Shawsheen Motor Mart

By a 3-2 vote a contract for the installation of a new basement room at the Shawsheen school and the installation of two smoke screens at the Stowe school was awarded to Alexander L. Henderson for a total bid of $4,756.66 - the only one received. Members Roy Russell and C. Carlton Kimball opposed the bid, while Anna M. Greeley, Mrs. Partridge and Sec. Doherty voted in favor.

By a unanimous vote Walter E. Buxton was awarded the contract for two coats of exterior paint at the Shawsheen school on his low bid of $405.60 for one coat and $713.10 for two coats. The contract was awarded on a motion by Roy Russell, seconded by Secretary Doherty.

Other bids received were: Loris G. Stefani, one coat, $767, two coats $1,266; and Edward Normandin & Sons, one coat $745, two coats, $1,102.52.

SALUTATORY

by
MARILYN JANE DAVIS

MARILYN JANE DAVIS

"Oh, we love the Halls of Ivy that surround us here today, And we will not forget though we be far far away."

Even though this is the last time that we shall enter these "Halls of Ivy" as students, we will never forget the pleasures they have given us. For these experiences, we have our parents, friends, school administrators, and faculty to thank. They have all done their part to make our school years pleasant and memorable ones.

Their roles in our development remind me of an ivy plant and the influences that shape it in its growth. As the rain and sun nurture the ivy, which is at first but a tiny leaf, some sort of restriction is necessary or it soon grows out of all proportion, and covers the walls, doors, and windows of the building to which it clings.

So, too, it has been with us. When small, we began to realize our potential, our capacity for great damage. At this point, our parents intervened to teach us the fundamental laws of society. After three or four years of strictly parental control, our kindergarten and grammar school teachers encouraged us, by allowing us comparatively free rein, to develop our creative talents and our individualities. As we advanced scholastically through the grades and junior high school, our minds and souls were also being developed and matured spiritually by our various religious leaders.

Finally we reached the goal of our previous scholastic achievements - high school. Here we learned to define, explain, and make use of many theories by obtaining a working knowledge of them. Here we learned to change our points of view about many common objects; for example, water. When we were small, all we knew about water was that we washed with it and drank it. Now, thanks to chemistry, we know its constituents, and its many values such as a means of obtaining both hydrogen and oxygen, and after being distilled to remove all the mineral impurities, its use in delicate machines.

In literature, also, we realized the true value of some of our much loved fairy tales. Most of us, when we were very young, read Gulliver's Travels and considered the adventures of Gulliver as he traveled among the six-inch Lilliputians, and the giant Brobdingnags, an impossible but amusing fairy tale. Then we reached senior English, and discovered that Jonathan Swift actually wrote Gulliver's Travels to depict, through satirical writings, the political evils in England at that time. So it has been in other fields of learning.

In addition to these educational aspects of learning, school has had its social benefits as well - student government, band, glee club, and dances. Our guidance department has directed us in the formulating of many wise decisions to help shape our lives, much as wires have served to train the ivy. So our lives resemble that of the ivy in growth and in guidance.

Thus, our hope as "To the hallow'd Halls of Ivy ev'ry voice will bid farewell,

And shimmer off in twilight like the old vesper bell." is that that old vesper bell will be the golden bell of our achieve-

VALEDICTORY

by
GAIL ANNE THOMPSON

GAIL ANNE THOMPSON

As the ivy hangs poised for a space above granite walls, so we pause here at our graduation from Punchard high school to reflect a moment - to consider how our years here have prepared us for our future lives.

Although we have all had courses with many subjects similar, it is interesting to discern the wide differences in the application of these fundamental studies. Many of us will seek higher education in colleges to consummate the attainment of specialized knowledge and to continue the heritage of education for all, here in these United States.

Like the ivy branching out in varied directions from its main stem, some will enter the field of medicine to conquer disease through research and experimentation, while others will study art, music or literature to retain and broaden the culture of America. Still others will serve in offices to carry on the enormous business institutions of the nation. A number will enter the military ranks to serve their country with their minds and bodies. And some day the majority will marry to foster new generations to continue America's rich traditions.

To the college aspirant, Punchard offers excellent background in literature, language, physical science, and mathematics, to prepare him for special fields of study. Since an appreciation of the fine arts is becoming more and more necessary in the modern world, it is with pride that we commend our excellent courses in music and art. For those entering the mammoth field of business, typing, shorthand, and practice office methods provide the essential background for a successful career. And so it is in the other fields which I have mentioned.

Regarding the many happy and successful lives launched here in these Halls of Ivy, it is very evident that the education offered here has been more than adequate. However, just as the ivy which covers these walls is continuously growing, so is Andover; and as Andover grows, so must our schools. Young ivy leaves must be trimmed and cultured; young lives must be disciplined and educated. Therefore, as the school grows, so must its curriculum, offering greater opportunities in modern fields. Already plans for new buildings and new courses are being considered to help Andover's future students adapt themselves readily to our ever changing world. We, the class of 1954, wish for the Punchard high school of the future the continuance of her heritage. May she ever offer to her students firm foundations both in education and in living.

Today, we have reached our goal of these twelve school years - our high school graduation. But this is not the end of our education - no, it is but the beginning of that stage which marks the most important reason for education - its application. The way in which we use these coming years will determine the degree of achievement of all our educational aspirations.

Graduation means both end and beginning. It is an end to the shared associations we have enjoyed to the full in work and play; but it is the beginning of new associations and new interests super-imposed on the splendid foundation laid by those whom we shall not forget - our friends and our teachers. It is they who have tried to make us, in the thought of our speaker, "More interested in a quality of life than in a standard of living."

And thus "As we sadly start our journeys far apart, A part of every heart will linger here;"

for "We love the Halls of Ivy that surround us here today, And we will ne'er forget though we be far, far away."

METHUEN TOPS BRAVES

The Methuen Blue Sox had one big inning in their game here Tuesday night but it was enough to score a 6-4 victory over the Andover Braves in the newly-organized City Baseball league.

A feature of the game was a triple play executed by the Andover team in the fourth. Runners were on first and second when the batter popped up a little fly on a bunt attempt. First baseman Daley made the catch, threw to Shortstop Murray covering second, and the latter fired to Second baseman Doyle covering first.

Higgins and McCarthy pitched for Andover but the five runs scored on hits in the third was the undoing of the locals.

SOME FIRSTS

The 1954 Almanac published by the N.Y. Herald-Tribune says that the oldest existing botanical garden was established in Cambridge, Mass., in 1807, the Boston News-Letter, April 1704, was the first American newspaper; the first normal school was established by Horace Mann in Lexington in 1837; the Provident Institution for Savings, 1816, was the nation's first savings bank; the Eastern hotel in Boston, 1845, was the nation's first steam-heated building; the first subway was opened in Boston in 1897 and the Gaiety Museum in Boston was the first American vaudeville theatre.

Massachusetts in 1950 with a population of 4,690,514 had as many people as Switzerland, 400,000 more than Denmark, 600,000 more than Finland, 700,000 more than Bolivia, 1,400,000 more than Norway, 1,700,000 more than Ireland and a greater population than 17 other independent nations, based on foreign populations reported by the Twentieth Century Fund. The Commonwealth ranks eighth among the U. S. A. states in population and is the most densely settled of any state except Rhode Island and New Jersey.

There are more telephones in Massachusetts than in all but six nations of the world. With 1,760,000 instruments in service, the commonwealth has a third as many as the United Kingdom, half as many as Canada, three-fifths as many as Western Germany, two-thirds as many as France, four-fifths as many as Japan, nine-tenths as many as Sweden and more than any other country. There is a telephone in Massachusetts for every 2.7 people.

To Place Flags On Graves Of Veterans Twice A Year

Flags and markers will be placed on the graves of veterans twice a year - Memorial day, May 30 and Veterans' day, Nov. 11. The second decoration is a new service in honor of the soldier and sailor dead and will be in lieu of placing flowers on the graves Memorial day.

The action was decided upon at a meeting of the Memorial day committee with the selectmen Monday night. The committee is made up of Past Cmdr. Dorothy Volker, All-Women's post, American legion; Cmdr. Charles A. McKew, Andover post 2128, Veterans of Foreign Wars; Cmdr. J. William Burke, Disabled American Veterans; Cmdr. Albert Cole Jr., Andover post 8, American Legion, and Francis P. Markey, permanent member of the committee.

President Eisenhower recently signed the bill making Nov. 11 Veterans' day instead of Armistice day. In view of the new prominence given Veterans' day the committee felt that the highest respect that could be paid a dead veteran was the display of a flag on his grave and at a recent meeting it was unanimously voted by the committee that hereafter no flowers be placed on the graves Memorial day and in lieu of that service flags and markers be placed on the graves twice a year.

The committee stated its views when discussing the subject with the selectmen and the latter concurred, realizing that by the placing of flags on the graves twice a year the town was fulfilling its obligation to the veteran.

This is now the general trend throughout the state where more places are giving up the old custom of placing flowers on veterans' graves.

The selectmen at their meeting granted two joint pole locations to the N.E. Tel. & Tel. Co., and
