Pomp's Pond And Playgrounds Draw Hundreds Of Children

Despite the rain and chill days of Monday and Tuesday, hundreds of boys and girls went to the town's six playgrounds to register for summer activities. In spite of the weather, combined with the approaching holidays when many plan to be away from the community, a total of 532 boys and girls registered on Monday. Because of the heavy rains of Tuesday morning, all playgrounds were closed.

Largest registration was reported from the Central playstead where 183 boys and girls signed up. Next was Ballardvale playground

A staff of five life guards and the matron, Mrs. Adeline Wright, were on hand to guarantee the safety of the visitors and no mishaps occurred. Among the new features at Pomp's this year is a "kiddie" slide in the shallow water which was in constant use during the busy week-end.

Monday morning instruction classes began with large enrollments in the younger age groups. The beginner class which meets on Monday, Wednesday and Friday under the direction of guard Don Light has 117 pupils registered, while Jack Cole's beginner class, meeting on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday, has 95 youngsters enrolled. Holiday Exodus To Be Made By Many Hundreds of Andover residents, like millions of their fellow Americans, will take to the highways Saturday and head for seaside and mountain resorts to spend the long Fourth of July week end. It will be one of the most hazardous weekends of the entire summer and every law enforcement agency in Massachusetts and other states will be fully organized to control traffic on the clogged highways.

Registrar of Motor Vehicles Rudolph F. King has announced that inspectors of his department will augment the state, Metropolitan District, and community police departments in patrolling the highways of the Commonwealth. He warned: "Unreasonable and excessive speed, speed too fast for conditions, following too closely, failing to yield the right of way, improper passing, and acts of dangerous discourtesy are heavy contributors to death and destruction. Conviction in court for a speed violation will result in the assessment of points under the Massachusetts Point System.

"Motorists and pedestrians must recognize their responsibility and

Couple Observes Golden Jubilee

Fifty years of happily married life was marked last week by Mr. and Mrs. C. Walter Towne, 7 York street, who were guests of honor at an open house on Sunday and at a family gathering Tuesday. It was on June 22, 1904 that Mr. Towne and his wife, the former Lavina Hill were married by the Rev. Charles Earle, then pastor of the Second Baptist church in Lawrence, now incorporated in the First-Calvary Baptist church. Mr. Towne was employed for many years as a bookbinder both here and in Lawrence. The couple has a daughter, Miss Winona Towne and a son Alvin H. Towne as well as two grandchildren.

TOURIST PROSPECTS BRIGHT

Adverse spring weather notwithstanding, inquiries for summer accommodations, in response to advertising of resort areas by the department of commerce, are about 8% ahead of last year. This increase in returns corresponds closely with information reported by other Massachusetts and New England resort associations. The tourist season in 1953 set a new record high at $400,000,000, which may be topped this year.

RETAIL TRADE GOOD

Of the 12 Federal Reserve districts in the United States, the Boston and New York districts were the only ones in which department store sales over the first four months this year equalled those of a year ago. Average for the whole nation was 4% under the first four months last year, as reported by the Federal Reserve Board.

Wilkinson, 46 York street, is one of 481 seniors now attending the Artillery school at Fort Sill, Okla. Previously they visited Wright-Patterson Air Force Base, Ohio, and Fort Knox, Ky. Later they will go to Fort Bliss, Texas, and Fort Benning, Ga., completing the combined arms trip planned to acquaint them with the various functions of the Army and Air Force.

Upon completion of the trip, the group will be split up, with some going to Camp Buckner, N.Y., Fort Dix, N.J., or back to West Point to serve as instructors until the fall term begins. Lt. Wilkinson was appointed to West Point by Rep. Edith Nourse Rogers of the 5th Congressional district.

FOR MUSIC LISTENERS

Music listeners will be interested to know that the Memorial Hall Library is subscribing to the periodical "High Fidelity", a monthly devoted to the development of interest in high fidelity sound reproduction. As a sample of the material which may be found, a recent issue had articles on choosing a tape-recorder, a review of recent recordings, suggestions for building a record library, study of the human ear as the link in music listening, and a section of book reviews on musical subjects. All but the current issue may circulate.

SUMMER READING PROGRAM

A "Rocket Reading Club" has been formed at the Memorial Hall Library for boys and girls, to continue through the summer. Those who read the required number of books will be invited to the round-up, just after school opens.

Other vacation activities at the library this summer are story hours, games and quizzes, music listening hours, puppet making and Puppet plans.

Kitchen Koment

Sliced fingers can be prevented when paring vegetables if a piece of adhesive tape is placed on the thumb before starting.

Nothing is more important in home laundering than rinsing. Soapsuds must be out. Soap causes white garments to yellow, as well as to become dingy and blue.

Serve broiled tomato halves and rounds of onions with broiled lamb chops. Dribble melted margarine over both vegetables. Then sprinkle the tomatoes with a little crushed basil and the onions with a bit of brown sugar.

White And Baer At Boys' State

Two Andover boys, Norman White and Julian Baer, attended Boys' State at the University of Massachusetts last week. Attendance of the two boys was made possible by Andover post 8, American Legion and the Andover Service club, each organization sponsoring one of the two students.

While at Amherst the local youths had an opportunity to study the American form of government, to take part in discussions and to serve as legislators. Each reported having a fine time and declared that they received great experience from the program.

Letters from the two boys describing their activities were received by the Townsman and make interesting reading. The letters follow:

Massachusetts Boys' State
University of Massachusetts
Amherst, Mass.

Editor of The Townsman:
Dear Sir:

I am one of the two boys out of Andover who was lucky enough to be chosen by the faculty of Pynchard high school to represent Pynchard here at the University of Massachusetts at Amherst during the eight days of Boys' State held here annually.

No one can tell or say how happy I was when I was told by Mr. Gregory that I would be sent here to Boys' State for eight days. Now that I have been here for nearly four days all I can say is that it fulfills any and all expectations I may have had about Boys' State.

It is one of the best opportunities a high school student could have in the line of acquiring new knowledge and the type of education one could never receive in the regular school curriculum.

Here at Boys' State are the best counselors and directors I have ever seen at any type of any camp or school. The counselors here are almost all in their early or mid-twenties, so that the citizens of Boys' State (high school juniors like me) do not in the least bit have to think that the counselors here are cranky or abnormally strict; however, they do ask for, and for the most part receive, due respect.

Please believe me when I say that it is enlightening to realize that there are indeed so many counselors and directors of Boys' State doing their best (and very well too) to make the future youth of the United States of America realize and partake of the duty they are due to do in four or five years when they become citizens and when it will be up to Boys' Staters such as I to lead the country in a peaceful and ever good-seeking way of life.

Sincerely yours,
Julian Baer
1954 Boys' Stater

Massachusetts Boys' State
University of Massachusetts
Amherst, Mass.

Townsman Editor:
Dear Sir:

I am Norman White, one of the two boys (the other being Julian Baer) that were sent by Post 8 of the American Legion to the University of Massachusetts in Amherst to participate in the Boys' State program. I thought that you would be interested in a few facts concerning this program.

Here at Boys' State, the Massachusetts youth gain strength of both body and mind. While they participate actively in sports (including baseball, basketball, football, tennis, swimming, track) they also undertake a brief but intensive course in analyzing the fundamental structure of the government on earth, our United States government.

Each boy belongs to one of 12 towns or cities, which are in turn grouped into counties. There are two parties, the Federalists and Nationalists, which correspond to the Democrat and Republican parties of our actual Massachusetts government.

From here, the boys nominate and elect their government (including town, county and state officials) going through the exact procedure of our Massachusetts government. I thought you would be interested to know that a Negro was elected for governor.

From now until we start home on Saturday, each of us will be carrying out the duties of our respective appointed or elected offices.

Sincerely,
Norman White

With The Graduates

Marilyn J. Davis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sumner Davis, 20 Florence street, a graduate of Pynchard High school is one of three Massachusetts secondary school students who have won four year scholarships to Jackson College, the liberal arts division of Tufts college for women.

SEE A REVOLUTION IN RAIL TRAVEL!

"I want to extend to you my personal invitation to visit the most advanced train in America today. It is an experimental unit that contains many new ideas and basic new principles in railroading. I've seen it in action! I believe these new principles go a long way toward fulfilling the promises I made of service between New York and Boston in 2 1/2 hours. Already, many new improvements on this experimental unit are in sight. This represents the kind of progressive action that is important to everyone who lives and works along the New Haven routes."

Economic Education

Attended by high school teachers and heads of social studies departments of schools from all over New England a workshop in economic education is now holding a three-weeks' session at Phillips academy.

Sponsored by Boston university and the New England Economic Education council the workshop hopes to acquaint the participants with an over-all view of how our American economy operates and develop leadership among educators in promoting economic education in schools.

While the council consists mainly of educators it also includes representatives from business, industry, agriculture and labor. In this program of "educating the teacher" the topics covered will include, among others, taxation, labor-management relations, conservation, and the New England economy.

The joint sponsors of the workshop have set up an ambitious goal in their endeavor to further increase interest in economic education in the schools. The results of such helpful instruction in the classroom should in a few years bear fruit by leading students to a clearer understanding of the many factors in our complex living and preparing them to cope with future problems bearing on their economic life.

Family Pets In Summer

What do you do with the family cat or dog when you go on your vacation?

Each year many pets are left uncared for when the family closes the house for the summer. Then the cat or dog often becomes a stray or a neighborhood nuisance.

The Animal Rescue League of Boston through its president, Carleton E. Buttrick, is making an appeal to pet owners planning a summer vacation to give some thought to the care of their pets.

Most cases of desertion are unintentional, Mr. Buttrick feels, due principally to lack of foresight in making necessary arrangements.

If the pet is to be boarded he advises making arrangements well in advance. If the animal must be disposed of it should be taken to the nearest animal welfare organization where it may be placed in a new home or humanely put away.

At this time of the year many people leave the comforts of home for the discomforts of a summer resort — and call it a vacation.

SUMMER RASHES By Science Features

Along with pleasures—sunny weather, swimming and other outdoor sports—summer brings many special medical problems. Skin rashes such as poison ivy, prickly heat and "swimmers' itch" are usually evident only during this time of the year and often cause great annoyance for vacationers.

One hot-weather rash known as prickly heat results from the plugging up of the sweat glands which then become infected. According to some doctors, the best way to prevent this condition (more easily said than done) is work or sleep for eight hours a day in air-conditioned room. It seems the cool air clears the sweat gland openings. But for those who can't get cooled off the modern way, talcum powder or calamine lotion is recommended.

Poison ivy, which occurs nowhere in the world except North America, has been plaguing vacationers for centuries. For those who are susceptible—and most of us are—the easy way to avoid the itching rash is simple: don't touch those shiny red-tinged leaves! For those unfortunate enough to get poison ivy, Dr. Leon F. Goldman of the University of Cincinnati and other skin specialists report practical results with a new hormone drug known as hydrocortisone. An ointment form of this drug such as Cortril can halt itching within hours and clear up severe cases of poison ivy within a few days, the doctors said.

The price of a cool summer dip, especially in small, sheltered lakes, may be a case of "swimmers' itch." Caused by microscopic larvae and spread by snails and water fowl, swimmers' itch will appear as a rash a few minutes after a bather gets out of the water. The rash will disappear for ten hours and then return to stay for a week. There is no treatment for this itch other than soothing lotion.

Several Bequests
In Davison Will

The will of Hedley I. Davison of River st., Ballardvale, who died June 13 was recorded in the Registry of Probate at Salem, recently.

The instrument which was signed March 19, 1953, nominated a son, George W. Davison, as the executor. Estimated value of the estate is $7750.

Three grandchildren, William H. Davison, Edwin A. Davison, and Richard C. Davison, all of Andover, were each given $100, and they are also to have a $50 U.S. Savings bond apiece. In addition, an amethyst ring was left to one grandson, William H. Davison. After a $200 bequest was awarded to a daughter-in-law, Mrs. Mildred L. Davison, the residue of the property was devised to the son.

Down the Years with The Townsman

50 Years Ago — July 1904

A large group of citizens in a public letter to the selectmen call attention to an order from the state fire marshal in reference to the observance of The Fourth and request its enforcement. The order has to do with banning the sale of certain types of fire crackers.

A local man received a sentence of 30 days in the Lawrence jail for tearing down a street sign, erected at a great cost to the town, at the corner of Highland road and Salem street. He was arrested about 4 a.m. after a resident of the neighborhood was awakened by the noise and notified Chief Frye.

Lightning struck the tower of the fire engine house during a storm last Saturday disabling a considerable portion of the fire alarm apparatus.

Members of Indian Ridge lodge will enjoy a trolley ride to The Pines, Groveland, next Thursday evening. Special cars will convey the party both ways. Round trip 25¢.

The Lawrence Canoe club will hold a lawn party and dance on the grounds in South Lawrence tonight to mark the formal opening of the remodelled club house.

Many local people were compelled to walk home from Canobie Lake last Saturday evening owing to the cars being stalled after lightning damaged the power house at Portsmouth, N.H.

Hen thieves are still getting in their work. William Hackett recently lost 75 of his fowls, and several other minor losses have been reported.

The Ballardvale nine went to North Andover last Saturday and received the worst defeat of the season, 17-0, from the Blue Stockings. The Vale team made 11 hits but could not score. The Blue Stockings made 16 hits for 25 bases which, with 11 Vale errors, accounted for the lopsided score.

Special services were held last Sunday in the Free church in observance of the 15th anniversary of the Rev. F. A. Wilson's installation as pastor, the longest pastorate in the history of the church.

The new St. Laurence's church in Lawrence was opened with special services Sunday. Only the basement, which seats 960, was prepared for public use, the church proper not being completed.

25 Years Ago — July 1929

The joint outing of the Shawsheen Community Sunday school, Christ church school, West Parish school and St. Paul's school of North Andover was held Saturday at Wenham. Nearly 400 attended.

Local fire apparatus was called to assist North Reading about 11:30 p.m. Wednesday at a fire which damaged the Red Hill Country club house.

About 150 week-old turkeys were lost in a fire at the Shattuck farm Saturday.

Blank cartridges, toy pistols, toy guns or toy cannons that can be used to fire a blank cartridge cannot be sold or offered for sale according to regulations issued jointly by the police and fire departments in anticipation of The Fourth. High explosives, we warn editorially, are safe in the hands of experts but not of children.

The 40th anniversary of the installation of the Rev. Frederick A. Wilson as pastor of the Free church occurred Wednesday. Among those present were Mrs. Isabella May, Mrs. Alexander Sheriff and Miss Annabelle Richardson who were present at the installation 40 years ago.

The Ballardvale Fourth of July committee reports everything in readiness for a gala celebration. A few more volunteers are needed to collect wood for the bonfire.

10 Years Ago — July 1944

A grand weekend carnival for servicemen under the sponsorship of the Andover Servicemen's Fund, will be held from Friday, June 30 to Tuesday, July 4 at the playground.

Miss Edna Adelaide Brown, 69, of 41 Bartlet st., retired chief librarian of the Memorial Hall library died Friday.

The local Russian War Relief committee has sent eight boxes of clothes a month since Jan. 1 to the Massachusetts chapter.

The playgrounds will open Wednesday for the summer season. Miss Margaret Davis will again serve as supervisor and Benjamin Dimlich as assistant supervisor.

Air Force Academy Competitive Exam

Cong. Edith Norse Rogers recommends to the young men who are interested in attending the new U. S. Air Force academy that they take her competitive examination for Annapolis and West Point being held Monday, July 12 at Lowell.

The competitive examination of July 12 will give them valuable experience in the competitive air force examination to be held at a later date.

The location of the new air force academy has not yet been selected. In July 1955 the first class of 300 air force cadets will be admitted to the new academy. Massachusetts will have eight appointments.

The requirements for admission are much similar to Annapolis and West Point. Those interested in taking the examination should write Cong. Rogers without delay.

MATRON ON VACATION

Mrs. Jean E. Weeks, matron of the town infirmary and her husband Roland, of the staff, are enjoying their annual vacations. In Mrs. Weeks' absence, Mrs. Mary Edmunds is serving as matron at the infirmary.

Question Of Life On Mars May Be Answered Friday

At 4 a.m. Friday the mysterious red planet Mars will be nearer the earth than it has been at any time since 1941. All over the world powerful telescopes and cameras will be trained on this tiny sphere in the hope of finding at least a partial answer to the intriguing question, "Is there life on Mars?"

This close approach of our neighbor is a challenge to the larger observatories, especially Mount Palomar, (California) with its 200-inch Hale telescope, the world's largest, which was not in operation in 1941. A cooperative plan, the greatest effort of its kind ever made and involving 17 observatories from 10 countries, has been set up. It will provide a continuous photographic record of the planet from May 1 to September 16.

Backyard observers, according to John Patterson, Director of the Hayden Planetarium at Boston's new Museum of Science, can see this planet hanging low in the southern sky any clear evening this summer. It is in the constellation Sagittarius, the Archer, where it is easily identified by its great brilliance and steady ruby light.

Next to Venus, Mars is the planet closest to us. This summer it will be "only" 40,000,000 miles away. The nearest it can come to the earth in its orbit around the sun is 35,000,000 miles. This will occur in 1956, says the Planetarium director, and again in 1971.

Mr. Patterson explains that the Martian year is almost twice as long as ours. It takes the planet 687 days to revolve around the sun. Every two years, the faster moving earth overtakes and passes it. Every fifteen or seventeen years this event takes place at the time when Mars is nearest the sun, and the distance between Mars and the earth can then be as little as 35,000,000 miles.

The Martian day is 24 hours and 37 minutes long. Temperatures are thought to range all the way from a hot 90 degrees Fahrenheit or more during the day to 90 degrees below zero at night. Since its atmosphere is very thin and clear, telescopes can bring out more detail in its surface than on any other celestial object except the moon.

Astronomers have seen enough on Mars to keep speculation alive about the possibility of life there. At certain times of the Martian year there is a change in color, from green to brown, suggesting to some that vegetation may exist, changing with the seasons.

OPEN WEEK OF JULY 4th (Closed July 5th)

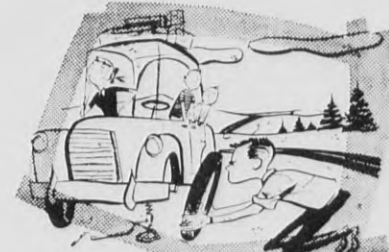

Hints for a happier vacation

1 Don't Gamble on Reservations—Call Ahead and Confirm. Do it before you hit the high road . . . and avoid disappointment. This is the busy season for the summer places and there just might not be room for your family if you leave things to chance. A long distance call is the best way of all to be sure. (Thriftiest way, too, especially after 6 p.m. and all day Sunday.)

2 When You Arrive, Call Home and Whisk Away Worry. What with traffic and other hazards, folks back home can't help but worry about you. A quick long distance call, when you arrive safe and sound, dispels fears. Another nice thought is to call just before you come back and let the family know when to expect you.

3 If You're Delayed, Be Sure to Telephone. Even if your visit to friends is delayed for only an hour, take a moment of that hour to call ahead and explain. Your hostess won't worry and there's no chance of her dinner being overdone, waiting for you. A long distance call is thoughtful . . . it makes it easier on you as well as your hostess.

4 To See People You Want to See, Call Ahead. They can't be at the doorstep waiting if they don't know you're coming. And it would be a shame if you "missed connections" and didn't see each other. It's a matter of pennies to make a quick long distance call to those who look forward to seeing you.

5 When Dad Is Left Behind, Keep in Touch by Telephone. Sometimes he has to stay home while the family heads for fun and sun. Nighttime comes and there's nothing for him to do but yesterday's dishes. Telephone and cheer him up . . . long distance is short distance when you keep company by telephone.

Because of the large enrollment the instructors are using a system whereby they will break down the classes into smaller groups and be able to give more individual attention to each swimmer. If the beginner classes get much larger, however, another class may be formed.

The guards this year are: Gregory Arabian, Tony Perrino, Tony Sullivan, Jack Cole, Don Light and Paul Cronin. Perrino is acting head guard while Arabian is at flight school in Burlington, Vermont. Arabian will resume his head-guard duties when he returns July 19. At present there are two guards on duty each morning, four during the afternoons, five during weekend afternoons, and two each evening.

Fat in Diet Seen as Atomic Protection

Scientists have discovered that fat in the diet is a protection against atomic bombing radiation.

Salad and cooking oils, margarine, mayonnaise, and lard contain essential acids which kept laboratory rats alive, even when they were subjected to critical doses of x-ray similar to those given off by an atomic blast.

The conclusion is that people of the western world who eat much more fat-containing foods than those behind the iron curtain are better protected against an A-bomb attack, the science magazine notes. People of the Orient do not eat foods containing such great amounts of fat.

Dr. Harry J. Deuel, Jr., dean of the University of Southern California Graduate School and Amber L. S. Chang, graduate student from China, tested five thousand rats over a three-year period to discover the role of fatty acids in protection against radiation. They reported their results to the American Institute of Nutrition meeting in Chicago.

They also discovered that nothing, including the greatest amounts of mayonnaise on salads, would protect against fatal doses of X-rays given to the rats. This meant to the experimenters that only those far enough away to survive the concussions of the A-bomb would benefit from having had fat in their diet.

Dr. Deuel said that this does not mean a person must be fat or overweight; however, he must have essential fatty acids in his diet.

MANY TAKE PART IN HOLIDAY TRAVEL

do their part to contribute to its success. Parents and guardians of children should be extremely vigilant in the protection of youngsters from highway accidents."

The National Safety Council has predicted that hundreds will die from accidents over the long week end and has called upon each individual to do his and her part in cutting down the frightening loss of human life on American holidays.

The time-honored slogan "Safety First" must be in everyone's mind as holiday trips begin.

At Chicago, the National Safety Council said that the approaching weekend will produce the worst July 4 traffic jam in the nation's history and predicted that 430 persons may be killed. There will be 40 million cars on the highways.

Ned H. Dearborn, president, said there need be lesser accidents if the public drives carefully, and suggested "Let's make this a wreckless, not reckless, holiday."
