Flag Raising and Hobo Parade

Monday evening, May 28, Cub Pack 76 meeting was held on the Andover street playground. An elaborate program that was in the form of a flag raising and Hobo parade, as well as a baseball game between the mothers and the cubs, was held.

The start of the program was held at the flag pole located on the Memorial plot near the plaque that is in memory of the veterans of all wars. The flag was hoisted by cubmaster William Lancaster and then all present, with bowed heads, repeated the Lord's prayer. The next part of the program was the softball game between the mothers and the cubs, with the mothers winning by the score of 7 to 6.

The 25 cubs and most of the staff, who were attired as hobos, entered the parade and marched before the judges. William Batchelder was picked as the "Worst dressed" hobo cub and was awarded a baseball. Mrs. Alfred Smeltzer, for the mothers, was the winner and was presented a screwdriver set. Mrs. Ralph Sharpe, Mrs. Robert Dunn, Miss Andrews and Mrs. Albert Warner were the judges.

Cubmaster Lancaster gave a short address and then presented William Batchelder his lion badge and his gold arrow for achievement. Harland Moore was also presented his lion badge.

All then returned to the flag pole, where the flag was lowered and the boys were given instruction by Mr. Lancaster and Ellsworth Spencer in flag folding.

Cubs, parents and staff then went to the Community room where refreshments were served by Den 2.

The next pack meeting will be held in the form of a picnic for the whole family. The time to be announced at a later date.

Some 1,500 alumni and parents will start arriving tomorrow and will take part in an informal afternoon and evening program on that day.

Following the Andover Alumni council meeting on Saturday morning, the feature event will be an alumni forum entitled, "A Close Look at Russia". Speaking on the forum will be Marshall MacDuffie '27, possibly the American who knows Khrushchev best of all. Their acquaintanceship started 10 years ago when MacDuffie was Chief of the UNRRA mission to the Ukraine and has been furthered through several recent trips MacDuffie has made to Russia. MacDuffie, a lawyer, is the author of two books on Russia, "The Red Carpet" and "The Khrushchev I Know." The second speaker will be Frank W. Rounds Jr. '34, equally knowledgeable of Russia but from a somewhat different viewpoint. Like MacDuffie, he speaks Russian and for two years served in the American Embassy in Moscow where his knowledge of Russian enabled him to get unusually close to many facets of the Russian life. He is the author of "A Window in Red Square." The chairman of this forum will be Frederick S. Allis Jr. '31, a member of the History department at the academy.

Also taking place on Saturday will be the annual Alumni luncheon. Speakers will include David A. Dudley '28, retiring president of the Alumni association; toastmaster Martin H. Donahoe Jr. '31, chairman of the 25-year reunion class and Headmaster John M. Kemper. Kemper's talk, "A Sense of Direction," will be an exposition of some of the developments in thinking and fact likely to unfold at Andover during the coming years.

Other events for the day include a baseball game between the Andover varsity and an all-star alumni team, a musical comedy, "I'm Tops" written and produced by the members of the Senior class, and a round of 12 different alumni dinners.

The program on Sunday is given over to the graduation of Andover's 177th senior class. Over 200 seniors will receive diplomas from Headmaster John M. Kemper. The final event of the weekend will be a reception by Headmaster and Mrs. Kemper at their home for all guests of the school.

Anyone wishing further information on the picnic should contact Mrs. G. Edgar Best or Mrs. Arthur Steinert, who are in charge of reservations.

Final Chapel Program

On Friday morning, June 1, the fourth grades of the Shawsheen school combined to present the final assembly program to the school body. Poems, songs and instrumental selections made up the program and as a concluding feature, the pupils presented a forum on Andover. During the past few weeks the fourth graders have been studying about the community in order to acquire a richer knowledge of the history, the present day aspects and the possible future of their town. The pupils were divided into research groups and learned how to use such source material as newspapers, library, encyclopedia, magazines and diaries. The final chapel program opened with David Germaine announcing the "Twenty third Psalm" followed by the "Lord's Prayer". The Flutophonists provided the program with a few musical selections after which Andy Innes recited "The Pup". Corinne Benedetti then played a piano solo entitled "Hand in Hand" for the audience's enjoyment. Mary Woodes recited "Roses" and Joanne Blamire's poem was entitled "Animal Garden". Anne Burns' solo on the piano was entitled "The Guitar" after which Linda Puchlopek, Sandra Borrelli, and Moira Prout recited "The Children's Hour".

The program came to a close with the forum on Andover with Thomas Wholey, David Holt, Anthony Sapienza, John Czekanski, Linda Houde and Jeffrey Barnes being very convincing. The traditional Flag Salute was followed by "America".

As a culminating activity, the combined fourth grades will take a bus tour of the historical points of interest in the town before the close of school. The tour will be supervised by the two fourth grade teachers, Miss Florence McCarthy and Miss Sullivan.

Entertain Mothers

One of the Shawsheen Campfire groups recently held a social meeting for Campfire girls and their mothers at the home of the Guardian, Mrs. Winslow Burleigh of Arthur rd. Kathy Ammon entertained the guests with accordion selections and Gayle Dufton gave a most interesting talk on her recent trip to Utah and Disneyland. A piano duet by Mrs. Burleigh and Cynthia also added to the festivities of the affair. Refreshments which had been made by the girls were served and the entire group joined in a group of games. Those attending were Mrs. Winslow Burleigh, Mrs. William Ammon, Mrs. Joseph Drouin, Mrs. Charles Dufton, Mrs. Richard North, Cynthia Burleigh, Kathy Ammon, Nancy Drouin, Gayle Dufton, Mrs. Barbara Hatem, Margaret Hatem and Nancy North.

Fifth Grade Outing

The fifth grade of the Shawsheen school will enjoy its annual outing next Monday, June 11, when the group will take off for Benson's Animal Farm in Hudson, N.H. The youngsters will be accompanied by their teachers, Mrs. Durgin and Mrs. Fingleton, and will make the trip by bus. The trip will be an all-day affair and youngsters should bring along a lunch. In the event of rain the trip will be postponed until the next day.

Dramatic Dept. Picnic

The dramatic department of the Shawsheen Village Woman's club will hold its annual picnic on Friday, June 8, at the summer home of Mrs. Thomas Sutton at Rye Beach, N.H.

Holt House Stands On Highest Point In County; Built In 1708

By Kay Noyes

The uninterrupted panoramic view of the surrounding countryside, as seen from the Nicholas Holt house on Ward's Hill, along with many incidents have woven themselves into the background of the Holt house, making it one of the most historically-interesting houses in this vicinity.

Original Land Grant

The land upon which the house was erected was part of an original land grant from the king of England to Nicholas the first in 1646. And although the Holt family lived on the property in the ensuing years, it was not until 1708 that work was begun on the lovely colonial farmhouse. This typical salt box home with its large central chimney is situated on the highest point in Essex county and from this spot one can see for hundreds of miles on a clear day. Undoubtedly, this scenic splendor accounted for the Holt family building their house on such an isolated spot—being 2½ miles from the nearest settlement. Although the friendship of neighbors was lacking, there was little time to lament, for everything used by the family in their rugged existence was made at home. The wool for clothing had to be washed, carded, spun and woven and the necessities, such as candles and soap, were but a few more items that kept the womenfolk busy from morning 'till night with the vigorous family chores.

Sunday Trip

Although their puritan chores gave an air of drudgery to this spartan life, the women could look forward to the Sabbath day when a trip to the meeting house was made. In an unheated church, the women sat on the "women's side" and for two hours they remained in the chilly church and listened attentively to the morning sermon. Over a cold lunch the women had an opportunity to exchange all manner of small talk before returning to their seats for another two hour sermon in the afternoon.

Wolf Threat

The journey home was thrilling but not too inviting, for at that time the terror of wolves was very real with a substantial bounty being paid to the local hunter. If the trip proved too tedious, it would not be wise to be observed muttering to one's self as the witchcraft delusion was running rampant through the town. During the purge of suspects, Dorcas Holt's brother and several cousins were summoned to testify against Goody Carrier, who was tried and hanged as a witch in Salem Village.

As history was being made by these early settlers, they in turn had opportunities to view first hand the momentous happenings of the day. On June 17, 1775, townspeople trudged to the top of Holt's Hill to watch the burning of Charlestown during the Revolutionary War.

Now A Reservation

The hill, a mighty ridge of boulder and gravel which was deposited here during the glacial period, is today part of the Charles W. Ward reservation named for the late Charles W. Ward who as a direct descendant of the first Nicholas Holt purchased the property in 1917, and did much towards restoring it to its natural beauty.

On the reservation today is the 60 foot state forestry tower which overlooks an even wider range than seen by the early settlers as in the distance may be seen to the "eastward the sand dunes at Ipswich and the ocean off Beverly and Marblehead, to the south the Custom House Tower in Boston and the Blue Hills in Milton, to the west Carillon Tower of Phillips academy, Mt. Monadnock, Wood Hill, Temple Hills, Crocket Mt. and Joe English, to the north Kearsarge and Frog Mountain, the Pawtuckaways in New Hampshire and Mt. Agamenticus in Maine."

Majestic View

The old Holt farmhouse with its straight and unaltered lines is the home of Mrs. Charles Ward and as a weatherbeaten reminder of the 1700's, the house today, almost 300 years later, still commands one of the most majestic views in all of Andover.

Streets To Be Accepted

Most of the town's unaccepted streets — long the subject of controversy — will soon be laid out by the selectmen.

The simple filing of a list, with whatever restrictions or descriptions are thought necessary, with the town clerk will complete the long project.

It was last summer that it was first apparent that some streets, always thought to be regular, accepted ways, actually were not so recorded. There has been unbelievable confusion since that time — with several important projects held up because the town suddenly found it could not work on streets it had always repaired and improved.

It certainly is a relief to see the solution so close at hand. No longer will the word "unaccepted" bring shudders to town officials and, even more so, to the residents of those streets suddenly found to be orphans.

Water Extension Funds

Water extensions are as big a problem as anything in the town today.

That's because the board of public works has decided to spend $15,000 of the $20,000 appropriated for water improvements rather than extensions. Many requests for extensions are on hand, however.

The improvements are vital. It seems to have been good sense to apportion most of the money for that purpose rather than further complicating the water system by adding to the dead-ends all over town.

However, the town is now in a position where it can afford to approve larger amounts of money for water improvements and extensions due to the betterment act. Under it, the way we understand the act, the board of public works shall assess property owners 100 percent of the cost of extensions and some improvements.

The money must first be appropriated by the town but it all comes back in a period of 10 years. The board may, if it wishes, allow a lien to be placed against property which will not be immediately benefited by the extension. That lien means payment of four percent interest on the assessment by the property owner during the time the amount of the assessment is not itself being paid off.

Thus, the town would have little to lose in the long run if considerably more money was appropriated for water extensions. The immediate affect would be to increase the tax rate — but the money would be paid back to the town during the next 10 years and, thus, would be available in the surplus fund to help alleviate future financial problems.

New Town Hall Will Come

It's too bad that money must be spent to remodel parts of the town hall.

The work is necessary, that we know. But it is a shame to spend good money in the building when it is so obvious that a new town house is needed — and will certainly have to be approved within a few years.

No matter how repairs are carried out, the added office space will be barely adequate for the growing needs of the town. The selectmen, in authorizing the modernization, are doing their best with the limited funds provided by the town. And while they carry out the wishes of the voters that added space be created in that building, the plans for a new town hall, put before the town meeting in 1955, lie idle.

We hope it will not be too long before these plans are dusted off and once again presented for voter action. The need continues to grow more pressing all the time — a fact we might as well face now as later.

Will Call For Bids On Water Extension

Spring Grove rd. will get water this year.

The board of public works decided Monday night to call for bids on installing 800 feet of water main in that road, after hearing Fred Cheever explain the need. The selectmen and Finance Committee will be asked to approve the project.

Mr. Cheever had asked for the extension last month but at that time the road was unaccepted. But Monday night's meeting found general agreement among the selectmen and board of public works that the road should be laid out for its full length and accepted.

The BPW heard Mr. Cheever offer to pay $2000 towards the cost of the installation — a sum representing half the estimated cost. He told the board that the L. C. Cyr company had given him an estimate of $4000 for 800 feet of six-inch main and two hydrants.

Board members made it clear, however, that 100 percent betterment assessments would be levied against property owners. Thus, if the eventual cost is greater than $4000, the residents represented by Mr. Cheever probably would wind up paying more than the $2000 offered.

The board explained that the statute accepted at town meeting makes 100 percent betterment assessments mandatory. Half would be levied against property owners on each side of the street, it was stated.

Mr. Cheever had told the board that several persons are buying lots on the street and plan to build homes in the $30,000 bracket.

Lovejoy Road

Also heard at the meeting was a request for water on Lovejoy rd. Atty. Thomas Sullivan appeared, with two clients, asking that an extension be granted there under 100 percent betterment.

The board pointed out that some $15,000 of the town meeting appropriation of $20,000 has been allocated for improvements — leaving $5000 for extensions. The Spring Grove rd. extension might run that high, members felt, leaving little or nothing for further extensions this year.

UNACCEPTED STREETS UNDER DISCUSSION

The selectmen told BPW members that the work of laying out the streets would go forward after BPW agreement on the streets to be accepted. Once described on a list, the selectmen said, acceptance follows simply by filing the list with the town clerk for incorporation in town records.

No final picture of possible restrictions as to distances or repair requirements came out of the meeting. But the two boards went through the list and commented generally on road conditions.

It is anticipated that the complete list, with specific restrictions, will be available within a few days.

Streets Under Discussion

The streets discussed Monday night include Bancroft rd., Bannister rd., Boutwell rd., Brown st., Burnham rd., Buxton ct., Corbett st., County rd., Cross st., Cuba st., Cutler rd., Ferndale ave., Gray rd., Hidden rd., Liberty st.

Lincoln st., Lowell Junction rd., Mill st. in the Harold Parker reservation, North st., Oak st., Pearson st., Porter rd., Rattlesnake Hill rd., Spring Grove rd., Stinson rd., Torr st., Upland rd., Vine st., Whittier ct., Windsor st., Woodland rd., Gardner ave., Fiske st., Pleasant st., Rocky Hill rd., Blood rd., Gleason st., Ledge rd. and Tucker st.

The boards seemed agreed not to accept Tucker rd. It runs into No. Andover, with no houses located in Andover. Agreement seemed assured, too, on Mill st., which the town hopes will be taken over by the state. Much of the road now is owned by the Commonwealth, it was explained.

Although the selectmen said last week that they thought Spring Grove rd. might be accepted from Porter to Sunset Rock roads, there was agreement Monday night that the full length should be accepted.

The selectmen explained that, if only a portion of a street is accepted, the remaining part could not later be accepted under the special statute passed early this year. It would, they said, have to be handled as are all new streets — put into required condition as to width, grade and surface by private citizens.

SCHOOL BOARD TAKES CONTRACTOR TO TASK

Better Planning

However, members of the committee and Clerk of the Works Abbott Batcheller bluntly told Mr. Marion that "better planning" would go far toward solving the problems. They spoke of materials not on hand to keep workmen busy, running out to buy materials only when the need was at hand, some difficulties with sub-contractors and a generally-small number of men working on the jobs.

Mr. Marion said he is forced, through union regulations, to get men in Lawrence whenever that is possible and said sometimes he can't get enough men and has to go to Lowell or into New Hampshire.

Steel Delivery

Steel is his number one problem, the contractor avowed. He told of repeated calls to the Boston firm supplying steel and the delays encountered in its delivery. However, the Lowell man said the steel is now on hand - either at the site or at the railroad yard.

There was general agreement that three months will be needed to finish the West school. "A minimum time", commented Albert Richmond of the architectural firm.

Double Sessions

Supt. Edward I. Erickson spoke sharply about the threat of double sessions at the West school - and pointed out that some time must be allowed after the addition is completed for furnishing and other vital work around the building.

Mr. Marion promised to do everything he can to have the buildings completed on time.

General agreement prevailed that the slowest part of the work will come after the steel is erected and the roof is on - interior work such as plastering, when sometimes three weeks is needed to allow it to dry.

The work progress reports, in the form of graphs, will be kept up to date "every two or three days", Richmond told the board. He pointed out, too, that his firm is anxious to have the work completed because the time allotted for field supervision is running far over the estimate - an expensive delay as far as the architects are concerned.

Promised Speed

Before he left, Mr. Marion told the board he intends to have steel workers on the job right away and as many of them as he can get and use properly. Floor joists for the Shawsheen school, now in a Lowell wrecking firm's yard, are to be delivered right away, the contractor declared. He said he had been to the firm Tuesday morning to expedite delivery. Some comment was heard to the effect that, knowing the coming need of the joists, they should have been expedited before and be on the site when needed. He also agreed that the crew at the West school would be separate from the one working at Shawsheen. Board Member Albert Cole had questioned the practice of shifting men from one to the other as being "more than coincidence". He said materials seemed to run out at one project just at the time when some came to the other, resulting in the shifting of men back and forth.

Mr. Richmond told the board that 65-70 working days will be needed to finish the West school. "It's a matter of expediting the jobs" he asserted.

Praise Clerk

Throughout the discussion, Clerk Abbott Batcheller received high praise from the architect and school committee. Mr. Marion also complimented the clerk on his work. Batcheller said, although it isn't his responsibility, he had helped to expedite delivery of some materials so that work wouldn't shut down. He also urged better planning so that stoppages wouldn't occur.

Selectmen To Have 2 Flags Installed

The selectmen have agreed to have two flags flown in front of the town hall on patriotic holidays.

Nimrod Olsson of the Amesbury Flag shop, who is handling arrangements to have flags flown along Main st. on the holidays, appeared before the board Monday night. He asked that flag holders be installed in front of the town building to keep the continuity of the display along Main st.

He said at least 30 flags will be displayed June 14, Flag Day.

Mary C. Edmands Wins Scholarship

CHEEVER CIR. YOUNGSTERS HELP RED CROSS

A group of Cheever Circle youngsters, apparently aware that the Red Cross is on the job throughout the year, recently turned in the proceeds of a lemonade and popcorn stand to the Andover Chapter. John Wilson came up with the idea. He was assisted by Dick Britt, Bill Stulgis, Billy Dreyer, Judy and Mikey Simeone.

BPW Will Ask Joint Meeting With FinCom

The board of public works has asked the Finance committee to a joint meeting as soon as possible to consider various projects approved at town meeting.

Items under water extensions and improvements, sewerage and the like were voted at the meeting, with the restriction that both the selectmen and Finance committee approve the expenditures.

Three bills are currently being held up by the town accountant, according to the selectmen. They include a $3664.43 bill for pipe under a 1956 warrant item, $86.60 under an article in the 1956 warrant and $58.78 under an article in the 1954 warrant.

The selectmen said prior approval of the expenditures had not been obtained. The town counsel, the board explained, has ruled that buying supplies indicates the beginning of a project and requires approval.

At a meeting with the board of public works Monday night, the selectmen explained the problem and board Chairman Allen Flye said "It was an oversight" and indicated that the bills would be presented to the FinCom when the two groups meet.

John Bolten Jr. will take part in a two-day session of the New England Soaring association June 9 and 10 at Hiller airport, Barre. The association offers introductory flights to those interested.
