South School Decision Set For September

Estimated Cost Is $922,500

The South school will come before a special town meeting in September.

The school committee Tuesday night accepted one of three preliminary plans offered by architect Hugh Stubbins.

Rough estimates place the construction cost of the building at $700,000 and total cost at $922,500.

After choosing the plan, the committee decided it would be far wiser to wait until early September for a special town meeting than to ask for one in mid-August, when the plans will be ready. Vacations and the mid-summer apathy demonstrated in other years were cited as reasons for asking the selectmen to call the session in September. A specific date was not set, however.

The new building is a compact, one-story structure containing 41,075 square feet. The building surrounds a small courtyard.

Cost Factors

The estimated construction cost is based on $17 per square foot — a figure provided by Mr. Stubbins.

Lou R. Steigler Named Associate Minister Here

Mr. Lou R. Steigler has been named associate minister of the South church.

The Rev. Frederick B. Noss announced the appointment. He said Mr. Steigler will be associated with him in all church activities but will make work with young people and with music his major field of interest.

Mr. Steigler holds a Master's degree in Sacred Music from the Union Theological school of Sacred Music and has been organist and director of music at the Center church in Meriden, Conn., for several years.

Deadline Approaching For Candidates To File Papers

Get On The Ball Edict Given To Contracting Firm

Who is responsible for the delay in building the West and Shawsheen school additions?

For over an hour Tuesday night the school committee heard explanations and excuses from Leander Marion of the Louis Marion and Son construction firm and the architects, Perley F. Gilbert associates. Clerk of the Works S. Abbott Batchelder was also present.

When they were through, Marion had promised to "do his best" to finish the schools for September's school opening — and was reminded that he promised the same thing some weeks ago when the committee took him sharply to task.

The board of registrars will meet July 24 to certify signatures on any nomination papers filed prior to 5 p.m. that day.

Town Clerk George Winslow this week said signatures on four papers have already been certified — for Congresswoman Edith Nourse Rogers, Governor's Councillor Augustus Means and two local candidates for representative, Arthur Williams and William Gray.

The state political calendar sets July 24 at 5 p.m. as the last day and hour for filing nomination papers with the registrars for certification. Candidates then have until July 31 at 5 p.m. to file them.

COX - WROBLE

A reception in Crystal Ballroom followed the 9 o'clock nuptial Mass in Holy Trinity church, Lawrence, June 30, when Miss Marianne Wroble, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter F. Wroble, 52 Shaw-sheen rd., became the bride of Reginald Edward Cox Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Reginald E. Cox, 49 Maryland ave., Lowell. The Rev. Method Szymanski, O.S.M. officiated.

Escorted by her father, the bride chose a silk embroidered nylon tulle gown over satin styled with portrait neckline and full bouffant skirt ending in a chapel train. A crown of pearls and iridescent sequins held her veil of French illusion and she carried an arrangement of white orchids and lilies of the valley.

The attendants were Mrs. Martha Umbriac of Haselton, Pa., cousin of the bride, as matron of honor, wearing a cotillion blue gown with a matching picture hat. Her flowers were a lace basket of red roses. Miss Mary Frawley of Lowell, cousin of the bridegroom, Miss Lillian Guchodolski and Miss Eleanor Perry of Belmont were the bridesmaids. They wore ice blue gowns and carried lace baskets of red roses. Mary Gail Frawley of Lowell as flower girl wore an ice blue gown and carried a miniature basket of red roses.

Frederic L. Cox of Lowell was best man for his brother and the ushers included Kenneth F. Cox of Lowell, another brother of the bridegroom, Robert D. Wroble of Andover, brother of the bride, and Robert W. Perry of Belmont.

The couple left on a wedding trip through northern New England and the maritime Provinces. They will reside at Susan ave., West Chelmsford.

The bride was graduated from No. Arlington high school, New Jersey, the Fairleigh Dickinson college in New Jersey and Emerson college, Boston. She also attended Merrimack college in No. Andover. The bridegroom was graduated from Keith academy, Lowell, Georgetown university, Washington, D.C. and also attended Lowell Technological Institute. He is currently the news editor and commentator for a Lowell radio station.

LOGAN - WALSH

At a 10 o'clock nuptial Mass, July 2, in St. Augustine's church, Miss Sarah Jane Walsh, daughter of Mrs. George David Walsh and the late George David Walsh, 28 Essex st., became the bride of Edward Francis Logan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Patrick Logan, 430 Huntington ave., Hyde Park. The Rev. Edward Gorman, S.J. of Boston college officiated before an altar arranged with peonies. Eileen Leeburn of Worcester was the soloist and Miss Mary Lanigan presided at the organ.

Given in marriage by her brother, George D. Walsh, the bride chose a gown with fitted bodice of Chantilly lace trimmed with sequins and a full bouffant skirt of nylon tulle with panels of Chantilly lace. Her veil of illusion fell from a seed pearl trimmed crown and she carried a missal trimmed with stephanotis.

The bridal party included Miss Irene W. Driscoll of No. Andover as maid of honor; and the bridesmaids were Louise McDevitt of Wilmington, Lorene Smith of Utica, N.Y. and Lee Mucciaone of Franklin.

All wore ballerina length gowns of powder blue taffeta with matching satin slippers, white horsehair picture hats and carried

Mrs. John C. Blanchard, the former H. June Neunzer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Neunzer of Woburn st., was married June 3 in St. Patrick's church, Lawrence, to John C. Blanchard, son of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Blanchard, 90 Foster st., Lawrence. (Collins) white missals. The honor attendant's hat was trimmed with blue velvet ribbon and her missal had yellow roses while the bridesmaids' missals were trimmed with yellow marguerites. Debra Louise Fessenden of Gladstone, N.J. was the flower girl.

James A. Lynch Jr. of Medford served as best man and the ushers were Thomas Glynn of Hyde Park, John McGillveary of Reading and John Lyons of Roslindale.

A reception in the Andover Country club followed the ceremony with guests attending from New Jersey, Connecticut, New York, Pennsylvania, Maine and Ohio.

The couple are on a wedding trip to Kings Grant Inn, Lake Winnesaukee. The new home will be at Uphams Corner, Dorchester. The bride is a graduate of Villa Augustina academy, Goffstown, N.H. and Boston College, School of Nursing. She is a staff nurse at Boston City hospital. The bridegroom was graduated from Hyde Park high school and Boston college. He has served as a 2nd lieutenant with the Marines and is in the Physical Education department of Roxbury Memorial High school.

LEIMKUHNER - MORIN

The Rev. William M. J. Driscoll, S. J. of Baltimore, Md., a native of Lawrence and former teacher of the bridegroom at Loyola college, performed the marriage of Miss Natalie T. Morin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest J. Morin, 172 Summer st. and Ferdinand Leimkuhler Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Ferdinand Leimkuhler of Baltimore, Md. The 9 o'clock nuptial Mass was celebrated in St. Augustine's church, July 4.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a white organdy gown trimmed with embroidered organdy in princess style. Her fingertip veil of French illusion fell from a coronet of white velvet flowers and seed pearls and she carried a cascade of white asters and ivy leaves.

Her sister, Mrs. Frank X. Higgins, as matron of honor, wore a ballerina gown of turquoise organza over a blue and yellow floral print with turquoise accessories. Her flowers were pale yellow asters and ivy. The bridesmaid, Mrs. Ernest J. Morin Jr., sister-in-law of the bride, wore pink organza over rose and gray with pink accessories. She carried pink asters and ivy.

The twin brother of the bridegroom, Edwin B. Leimkuhler of Baltimore, was best man and the ushers were Ernest J. Morin Jr., Frank X. Higgins and Edward A. Paula of Baltimore.

Following a reception in the Andover Inn the couple left for Nantucket. They will reside in Wilmington, Del.

The bride is a graduate of Merrimack college and has been studying at Catholic university, Washington, D. C. for a master's degree in social science. The bridegroom was graduated from Loyola college with a bachelor of science degree from John Hopkins. He is an industrial engineer with DuPont in Wilmington, Del.

SOUTH SCHOOL IS UP FOR DECISION

However, it is possible that the total cost - $922,500 - may be shaved to some extent before the special town meeting.

Stubbins pointed out that the plans are only pre-preliminary and will be thoroughly worked over during the next month. The $17-per-square-foot figure is the state average for construction costs.

Among variable factors in the total cost is the sewage disposal item, carried at $25,000. The school committee has several times discussed asking the BPW to install a sewer along Woburn st. and tying into it. There is substantial feeling that such a move would cost less than the $25,000 estimated for an independent disposal system.

The total figures break down this way:

Construction, $700,000;
Furnishings and kitchen equipment, $50,000;
Architects fee, $55,000;
Clerk of the works, $7500;
Sewage disposal, $25,000;
Contingency allowance of 10 percent, $85,000.

Stubbins told the committee that the contingency figure, at 10 percent of the total cost, would safeguard against future problems. "You can always turn money back," he explained.

Three Plans

Of the three plans presented at the Tuesday night meeting, the committee chose the one containing the fewest square feet. Consultants John Erwin, John Sullivan and Edward Hall agreed on the choice.

"It's a very good job," Erwin commented, "and I'd be the first to say so if I didn't like it".

The first plan shown the group was a single-story structure with a relatively large courtyard and classrooms measuring 25 by 35.

Plan B, the one chosen, has rooms measured at 28 by 31 - more nearly square, which is an advantage according to the architect and Supt. Edward I. Erickson.

Plan C was partly a two-story affair, with classrooms double-decked but gymnasium, cafeteria-auditorium and utility rooms on one level. In it, the first floor classrooms would be below ground level by three or four feet.

Rooms would measure 35 by 25. Stubbins cited a series of material costs to show that roof and floor costs on a one-story building run $1.77 a square foot.

For the two-story building, material costs mount to $2.47 a square foot, he said.

The plan chosen for further work has 20 classrooms, kindergarten and remedial room. The kindergarten is built away from the building, but is connected for easy access. All classrooms have doors opening out doors. Individual toilet facilities are included in grades one and two and the kindergarten.

Marshal's Office

The plans will immediately be sent to John Marshall's office and a conference will be arranged with him as soon as possible. Supt. Erickson pointed out that there may be changes resulting from that meeting, another reason for waiting until September for the special town meeting.

Good Looks

Stubbins stressed several times his firm's concentration on designing a school for as little money as possible. But, he said, proportion and good looks shouldn't be ignored. Discussing the plan chosen by the committee, he pointed out that the courtyard makes the difference between a good-looking school and a factory-like structure. It also serves to provide natural lighting for rooms bordering on it.

Punchard Students May Register Any Afternoon In Aug.

Punchard Headmaster Lindsay J. March has announced plans for handling school business during the summer.

He will be at the school office through tomorrow afternoon and will return to the office Aug. 20.

The office will be in charge of the secretary, Miss Boloian, until July 20.

Pupils who are new to the school system in grades seven through 12 may enroll at the Punchard office after Aug. 20 or with Guidance Director Bernard Kellmurray any afternoon in August.

The tax on peoples' shoulders leaves little room for a chip.

On The Ball

Postmaster General Summerfield said last week that by next Sept. 1 every post office in the United States will display ball point pens for the use of the public.

Here's real progress. No more of those scratchers which used to dig into an envelope, blot the paper, and stain the hands. Instead, the ball points will slip over the paper smoothly and swiftly, presenting legible addresses which will be a boon to post office efficiency.

In this milestone of post office progress, Andover can take unusual pride. For Andover was one of the few post offices which were used for preliminary tests of the ball point pens.

When the test periods were checked, it was found that only a few of the ball point pens which had been chained out here were missing. Postal officials were of the opinion that this was mischief by some very small fry and was not indicative of the general habits of Andover's post office patrons.

The choice of Andover as a testing ground for postal ball points seems to have been a wise one. In addition to the permanent residents here there are thousands of students from all parts of the nation going in and out of the post office every day in the school year. Transient motorists pass through Andover and stop to do business at the fine post office in the center of town. People from all walks of life are among those who have made use of the ball point pens at the Andover post office during the past several months. Because of their honesty and respect for the property of others, people throughout the United States are to be saved from those antiquated pens which served mostly to heighten the user's blood pressure.

The government feels that when all of the nation's 37,863 post offices have been equipped with ball point pens there will be little pilferage. But just in case, the post office department points out that theft of government property is punishable by a year in prison and a $500 fine.

But who would want to risk a ball and chain for the petty larceny of a ball point pen?

No New Wrinkles

Specialists of the University of Massachusetts Extension Service are always coming up with some pretty helpful tips. With the vacation and travel season in full swing, one of the consultants sends along word of water repellent finishes which will save many hours of washing and ironing clothing.

These wonder workers come in two forms, one used in the rinse water during regular laundering, and the other a spray which is applied to articles which have been dry cleaned.

"Clothing that has been given a water repellent finish will wrinkle less, resist soil and stains and remain fresh over a longer period of wearing. Travelers who must pack clothing in suitcases during humid weather will appreciate the resistance to wrinkling that is given by this finish." That's a direct quote from the University's communication.

Appreciate isn't the word. Anyone who has unpacked a suitcase and found everything as wrinkled as an old prune would be downright thankful for such advice.

Officers Of D.A.V. Installed Sunday

Officers of Andover chapter 18, Disabled American Veterans, and the newly-formed auxiliary were installed July 8.

The ceremonies were held in West Center school with the state installing team in charge.

Judge David B. Williams, state commander, and Joseph F. Harold, state department adjutant, installed the officers of Chapter 18. The installing team of Eileen Reilly, national executive committeewoman and Mae Baldwin, state department senior vice commander installed officers of the Auxiliary.

Raymond Pellerin was installed as commander of the chapter; Thomas Leonard, senior vice commander; Russell Galvin, junior vice commander; Walter McDonald, adjutant; James W. Burke, sergeant at arms; Donald Wheelock, chaplain and Richard Dulong, officer of the day.

Officers of the Auxiliary installed were Margaret MacCord, commander; Ann Garabedian, senior vice commander; Agnes Waldie, gold star mother, junior vice commander; Theresa Pellerin, adjutant and Sarah Leonard, chaplain.

Past Department Commander Joseph Horan was master of ceremonies. Among guests at the affair were Stafford Lindsay, Elmer Baldwin, Eugene Reilly and Harold Vincent, vice commander of the V.F.W. post.

Down the Years with The Townsman

50 Years Ago — July 1906

The first speeding offense by a motorist in Andover was recorded this month. The vehicle came down Main st. at a fast clip and the driver was stopped. Irate pedestrians offered to appear in court and testify to the speed of the car which bore registration number 14980. The owner was arraigned before the judge the next morning and was given 30 days in the house of correction.

Henry A. Bodwell, Alexander Ritchie and David L. Coutts were among members of the Lawrence Canoe club who paddled down the Merrimack river from Lawrence to Newburyport on Saturday.

Burton S. Flagg was elected treasurer of Abbot academy at a meeting of the trustees. He succeeds Samuel L. Fuller who has gone to New York on business. Mr. Flagg was also made a member of the board of trustees.

Local farmers say that this has been the best haying season on record. They report that the greatest drawback in cutting is the lack of help.

The children of St. Augustine's Sunday school enjoyed a picnic at the Pines, Groveland, Sunday. They were transported in two special electric cars with their teachers and Father McGowan who directed the arrangements. At the grove the children played games, and returned home in the early evening a tired but happy group.

The Punchard High school baseball team ended a fair season with a game against the Andover Guild on the old P. A. Campus. J. Daly had the best batting average for the season and Bingham led in the field. The team scored a total of 171 runs while its opponents were registering 173.

25 Years Ago — July 1931

Following a spirited state house hearing attended by 42 men and women from this area, Public Works Commissioner Frank E. Lyman promised to do everything possible to complete construction of the Andover-Reading highway from the by-pass to Phillips academy. Rep. Thomas J. Lane of the district led the fight to have the road building resumed at once. Treasurer James C. Sawyer of Phillips academy was one of those appearing in favor of the construction.

A still on a West Andover farm was destroyed by fire and resulted in Federal Prohibition agents launching an investigation of its ownership. Reports were that the owner was at the fire scene but fled when the "Feds" arrived. The flames consumed all traces of evidence of alcoholic beverage. Firemen laid 1800 feet of hose from Fish brook in an attempt to halt the blaze.

Police Officer David May was injured when he stepped over a steep wall in the dark on Lewis street in answer to a call that a disturbance was in progress there. He was taken to a doctor by Officers John Campbell and William Shaw who accompanied him on the call. He was later taken home and may be laid up for a week or more.

Andover police and state troopers finally halted a speeding Quincy motorist on South Main street after he had sped through Andover at 60 miles an hour. Officer Leonard Saunders fired a warning shot at the vehicle which was brought to a halt at the Reading barracks.

Inspectors from the Registry of Motor Vehicles stopped nearly 100 cars in Shawsheen square for light inspections. The registry men were in charge of Chief Inspector James J. Perry and handed out a number of tickets for faulty equipment.

10 Years Ago — July 1946

Summer school for veterans gets underway at Punchard High school. Fifty-one ex-service men are taking an eight week's course which will prepare them for college in the fall. The summer school is sponsored jointly by the state and town. The town supplies the facilities, the state pays the expense. Bernard M. Kellmurray is head of the summer school and praises the veterans for their intense interest in study. Of the students at the summer school, 13 of them are from out of town — North Andover, Haverhill, Lawrence, Methuen — and two from Boston. The school day runs from 8:15 to 1 p.m. and consists of five periods. The veterans are among those who will avail themselves of the educational provisions of the G.I. Bill in September.

When the Lawrence American Legion musicians gave a Fourth of July concert at Ballardvale, some of the spectators stood in front of the horn section sucking lemons. The band played on without a pucker, passing the acid test.

Frank O'Brien of Phillips st. was elected captain of next year's baseball team. The Eli third baseman was a big factor in his team's winning the Eastern Intercollegiate title. He returned to college after five years in the service and as an honor student.

Jimmy McLane of Akron, Ohio, Phillips Academy freshman, set a new world's swimming record for the 800 meter freestyle in a meet at Havana, Cuba. Crowds of students acclaimed the young star with a half hour ovation.

OBITUARIES

MISS CAROLINE M. UNDERHILL

Miss Caroline M. Underhill, for over 25 years resident director of the Andover Historical Society, died Wednesday, July 4, at the Lawrence General hospital. Born September 19, 1867 in Derry Village, N.H., fourth child of Hazen B. and Rebecca Dickey Underhill, she was of the seventh generation of Underhills in America.

It was always a source of great pride and joy to Miss Underhill that she was one of six young women chosen to study library science under Melville Dewey in his first class at Columbia university. Upon graduation, she did pioneer work in the public library of Newark, N.J. followed by further service in the Friend's library in Philadelphia. In 1924 she resigned as head librarian of the Utica Public Library, New York, where she had trained many young women who today hold positions of national importance in the library world. She had lived in Andover ever since, where her many friends will remember her for her genial friendliness, her subtle humor, her love of flowers and music and for her devotion to the South church, which she attended.

The debt of the Andover Historical Society to which she devoted the last years of her life is inestimable. Her skilled cataloging of the Society's possessions, her enlisting of new friends, her indefatigable research for the benefit of visitors and members alike, and the vision she has held before us - but not yet been adequately realized, of the service the Society might and should perform in making real, particularly in the minds of the younger generation, the great traditions handed down to us which undergird the American way of life" have raised our Society to one of the highest rank in the county and state.

The Rev. Mr. Gregory officiated at the funeral service which was held on Saturday at the Goodwin Funeral home in Manchester, N.H., and at the burial service in the Longmeadow cemetery in Auburn, N.H.

MISS CAROLINE M. UNDERHILL

Funeral services were held at 1 p.m. Saturday at Manchester, N.H., for Miss Caroline M. Underhill, 97 Main street, former curator at the Andover Historical Society who died Wednesday at Lawrence General hospital. A native of Derry, N.H., she had been a long time resident of Andover.

She is survived by a niece, Miss Dorothy Underhill of Derry, N.H., and Monhegan Island, Me. Burial was in Longmeadow cemetery, Auburn, Me.

MISS PAOLA D. VALZ, R.N.

The funeral of Miss Paola D. Valz, R.N., 23, 17 Stratford rd., was held Tuesday, with services at 2 o'clock in Christ church conducted by the Rev. John S. Moses. Burial was in Spring Grove cemetery.

Miss Valz, a native of Andover, was the daughter of Dino G. and Erma (Trentini) Valz. She attended local schools, graduating from Punched high school in 1950 and from the Lowell General hospital in 1953. She was employed at New York hospital, Cornell Medical Center, New York City. Miss Valz was a member of Christ Episcopal church.

SFC THOMAS J. GARVEY

Several reservists from Andover, who are assigned to the 331st General Hospital, U. S. Army, left Sunday morning enroute to Fort Dix, New Jersey, where they will receive their annual summer training at the U. S. Army Hospital on the post.

The training schedule for the 1956 training period calls for the men and women of this unit to function in their professional fields and to receive their 'on the job training' as it relates to the medical branch of the service. Colonel Barnett Weinstein of Peabody is the commanding officer of the 331st General Hospital, and the unit's executive officer is Lt. Col. Arthur Heifetz, 59 Bartlet st.

Andover reservists include SFC Thomas J. Garvey, Capt. Arthur Williams, SFC James W. Burke, SFC Phillip J. Crowley, SFC Frank Emmert, SFC Donald Wheelock, SP3 Julian E. Baer and PFC Janet Hulse.

The reservists will end summer camp July 22.

Nickel Production to Increase

Free world production of nickel in 1956 is expected to continue to increase, with estimated output of about 445,000,000 pounds. This would represent gains of some 15,000,000 pounds over 1955, 175,000,000 pounds over pre-Korean 1949 production and 155,000,000 pounds over 1945, the last year of World War II.

Find Timbers

Marion told the board that he planned to start putting in roof timbers at Shawsheen school Wednesday afternoon — after the long-missing timbers finally were ordered from a Salem, N.H. firm. A Lowell supplier was to have delivered the big beams but didn't and work has been practically at a stand-still while a search went on for replacements.

Marion cited a long list of troubles — slow steel delivery and missing sections when the steel finally came; sub-contractors who "act like lawyers" and try to find things to quibble about; lack of cooperation from sub-contractors who don't feel any responsibility to the general contractor because their contract is with the school committee; labor problems; and a myriad of other problems.

Edmond C. McMahon, speaking for the architects, agreed that Marion's problems are real now — but said he was critical of the contractor's actions many weeks ago rather than at the present. The architects promised to keep right after Marion — with Albert Richmond, firm president, explaining that they are now doing much of the general contractor's work but not receiving any compensation for it.

Batchelder, meanwhile, told the committee that some labor problems have come up as a result of alleged disputes between the Lowell and Lawrence unions. He pointed out that on-the-spot decisions are being made every day to expedite the construction and the architects are called in when major problems come up. The architects were high in their praise of Batchelder's work on both additions.

As a result of the meeting Marion promised to work hard toward completion by September; the architects agreed to keep a sharp eye on the progress and there was general agreement that immediate notice should be given the school committee if any sub-contractor doesn't show up on the job when notified that his part of the job is ready.

Batchelder told the committee that the work can be done by September — but it means keeping a full crew on the job and not even allowing for delay from bad weather.

Running a government is a terrific task—there are 160,000,000 of us and we all feel the strain, especially at this time of year.

AID FOR LABOR AND MANAGEMENT

The Bureau of Labor Statistics of the United States Department publishes a valuable monthly magazine, often overlooked by business readers. Regular features are summaries of decisions of Labor law, comprehensive book reviews, a 50-page labor statistics section and factual, informed reporting of labor events. Each issue contains a chronology of important labor events, articles on industrial relations, labor problems and labor economics. Men in important business positions consider the Monthly Labor Review one of the best jobs of any Government agency, and feel it is a valuable asset in forming opinions and making decisions. Recent articles covered these subjects; employment and income of white-collar workers; city school teachers' salaries for 1955, management views on industrial relations, industrial research and development, its costs and manpower, and changing patterns in industry.

The Monthly Labor Review is shelved in the reference room and placed on file in the periodical section of the Memorial Hall Library. The library has a complete run from 1945 to date.

with the state secretary. Withdrawals may be accomplished until 5 p.m. Aug. 3.

Other dates on the calendar include Aug. 17, the last day for registrations before the primary and Sept. 18, primary day.

To date only the two local men have filed papers here for representative. The three incumbents — Reps. Frank S. Giles Jr., William Longworth and Thomas Slack — need not file papers here if they have the requisite number of signatures from other sections of the district. As far as can be determined, the incumbents and the two Andover men are the only Republican aspirants for the office. That apparently leaves the three Methuen men unopposed in their own town.

Dr. Sandberg To Represent State Osteopathic Group

Dr. A. Warren Sandberg, 27 Chestnut st., has been selected to serve as a member of the House of Delegates to the American Osteopathic association annual conference next week in Boston.

The 128 members of the House of Delegates are the policy making body of the profession and will meet July 15 to July 20, the same dates as those of the conference. Dr. Sandberg will represent the Massachusetts Osteopathic society.

C.D. TEST WILL USE CONELRAD

Every radio and TV station in the United States will go off the air at 3:10 p.m. (EST) on July 20.

For the next 15 minutes the only broadcasting in the nation will be done by 1,250 stations which have joined the Federal Civil Defense Administration's "Conelrad" plan for emergency broadcasting.

All of these stations will broadcast on one of the two civil defense frequencies (640 or 1240 kilocycles). They will use only special material prepared for Operation Alert, 1956.

It will be the first full-fledged test of the ability of the Conelrad stations to reach the public with the all-important civil defense broadcasts which will be the nation's only broadcast source of official information and instructions in event of an enemy air attack.

Conelrad (Plan for Control of Electromagnetic Radiation) is a system devised by the Air Force, the broadcasting industry and the Federal government to make possible the vital broadcasting of official information and civil defense instructions in times of emergency. Under normal broadcasting, it would be possible for an enemy plane to tune its direction finder to a station broadcasting in a target city and "ride the beam" right into its target.

Radio stations will publicize the Conelrad drill in advance, warning listeners to expect the interruption of normal broadcasting to shut down and tune to 640 or 1240 on home radio sets.

Nationwide Operation Alert Scheduled for July 20-26

Civil defense organizations on the local and county level will have a major role to play in the civil defense training exercise, "Operation Alert 1956," which will be conducted July 20-26.

The training exercise, developed by the Federal Civil Defense Administration, the Department of Defense and the Office of Defense Mobilization, will simulate a single massive attack with nuclear weapons directed against military, industrial, and populated targets in the United States, Alaska, Hawaii, Puerto Rico and the Canal Zone.

A total of 76 areas will be the pre-selected presumed targets and each of the areas may include a number of cities or small communities. All of the nation's other target areas have been assigned support roles in the exercise.

In addition areas of up to 10,000 square miles downwind from the attack cities, including rural communities, lie within the fall-out pattern of the bomb blasts and thus will be assumed to be in danger of radiological contamination.

This will give every local civil defense organization in the nation an opportunity to play a direct role in Operation Alert. The extent to which they do participate, and whether or not evacuation and shelter drills or other public participation features are to be scheduled will be determined by local civil defense authorities.

The first 36 hours of the exercise—from 10:00 a.m. (EST),

July 20, through 10:00 p.m. (EST), July 21, will be devoted almost entirely to the immediate problems, decisions, and actions required at local and State control centers. Problems involved include the assessment of the local effects of the assumed attack, and the local counter measures taken. Conditions beyond local capabilities would be taken to higher levels.

Local levels may close after completing this phase of the operation. However, the exercise will continue for an additional five days, with successive phases to cover State and Federal levels. All levels of civil defense will be activated at the start of the exercise and there will be major problems which will be handled at all levels.

Every civil defense organization has a place in the exercise, since any mass nuclear bombing would affect all citizens. Areas omitted from the target area will have vital "good neighbor" functions to perform, just as would any city that escaped bombing in a real attack.

Civil defense control centers everywhere will go into operation with the assumed sounding of the first alert on July 20. From that point, they will carry on just as if a real attack had been made on the United States. The civil defense exercise will be as realistic and complete as a practice naval or military maneuver.

Civil defense wardens and volunteers will direct evacuation and shelter drills, simulate rescue operations, and gather data on death, destruction, and radiological hazards. This information will be relayed to the control centers by walkie-talkie radio or by other methods. Command decisions will be made and information will be relayed to State, regional and national civil defense headquarters.

July 20, through 10:00 p.m. (EST), July 21, will be devoted almost entirely to the immediate problems, decisions, and actions required at local and State control centers. Problems involved include the assessment of the local effects of the assumed attack, and the local counter measures taken. Conditions beyond local capabilities would be taken to higher levels. Local levels may close after completing this phase of the operation. However, the exercise will continue for an additional five days, with successive phases to cover State and Federal levels. All levels of civil defense will be activated at the start of the exercise and there will be major problems which will be handled at all levels.

Every civil defense organization has a place in the exercise, since any mass nuclear bombing would affect all citizens. Areas omitted from the target area will have vital "good neighbor" functions to perform, just as would any city that escaped bombing in a real attack.

Civil defense control centers everywhere will go into operation with the assumed sounding of the first alert on July 20. From that point, they will carry on just as if a real attack had been made on the United States. The civil defense exercise will be as realistic and complete as a practice naval or military maneuver.

Civil defense wardens and volunteers will direct evacuation and shelter drills, simulate rescue operations, and gather data on death, destruction, and radiological hazards. This information will be relayed to the control centers by walkie-talkie radio or by other methods. Command decisions will be made and information will be relayed to State, regional and national civil defense headquarters.

"I wouldn't even consider this one, Dear—The fluid drive is leaking."

Town of Andover Request For Bids

Playground Outing Looks Like Good Time For All

Playground youngsters have only until tomorrow night to order their tickets for the outing July 17 at Canobie Lake.

Supervisor George Snyder warned this week that arrangements for transportation can't be made unless all tickets have been purchased by the time playgrounds close tomorrow.

Tuesday's trip to Canobie, an annual event for many years, will start at 10:15 when buses pick up their passengers at the various playgrounds. Some five to eight vehicles will be needed for the trip, with all meeting in Shawsheen square at 10:30 to begin the journey to Canobie.

Snyder said the youngsters should be at the amusement center by 11 and enjoy activities there until about 3 before starting the trip home. Each youngster will carry his own box lunch but milk and ice cream will be supplied.

Those youngsters under eight must have an adult companion, Snyder asserted.

Well Supervised

Activities at the lake will include all the usual amusements plus a scheduled series of races in front of the picnic shed at 2:30. Soft ball and bingo will also be on the day's program. No boating will be allowed, Snyder pointed out. Members of the playground staff will be assigned specific tasks at the lake so that adequate supervision will be maintained.

Any adult who wishes to make the trip may do so, Snyder said.

In other playground activities this week, Snyder announced that last week's scheduled special events will be held this week, after being rained out last Friday.

Arts and Crafts

Work on arts and crafts, under the direction of Gail Griffin, assisted by Ann Marie Walsh, is continuing at all playgrounds. Central and North District are working on plaster of paris molds. Work with gimp, making bracelets and similar items occupies attention at Ballardvale. At Indian Ridge the youngsters are making animals and figures from felt bean bags. And at Shawsheen children are making rings and other items from beads.

Tournaments Begun

Tournaments have started at all playgrounds, with the following activities: ping pong, ages eight to 11 and 12 and over; checkers, ages seven, eight and nine, 10, 11 and 12 and over 12; dominos, ages seven, eight and nine; bean bags, ages seven, eight and nine; badminton, 12 and over and chess, open to youngsters of any age.

Scrap Books

In a special activity, Dorothy Ann Walsh and Kathleen Doyle, at the Indian Ridge playground are making scrap books of picture post cards and other interesting items that will be given to youngsters who are compelled to remain indoors.

Town Manager Bill Continues Progress Through Legislature

Andover's town manager bill is expected to sail through House passage this week.

Rep. Frank S. Giles Jr. said Tuesday that the bill may be passed today. It then goes to the Senate for approval.

"We don't expect any trouble", Giles said, over getting the bill passed.

He did point out, however, that legislation of state-wide importance is under consideration in the House with the possibility that it might slow down progress of the Andover bill.

VISITING EUROPE

Miss Carline Erickson, daughter of Supt. and Mrs. Edward I. Erickson and Miss Nancy Gleason, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis E. Gleason, arrived in London, Monday on the steamship Empress of Scotland. They sailed from Montreal June 26.

While in Europe they plan to tour England, Holland, Belgium, France, Germany, Switzerland and Italy. They plan to return home the later part of August.

PUPPET SHOW AT LIBRARY

A marionette show open to all Andover boys and girls will be given at the Memorial Hall library on Friday morning, July 13, at 10:30 a.m. The play is Peter Pan. The puppeteers made their own marionettes. They are Susan Abbot, Virginia Abbott, Elaine Morin, Simonne Drouin, and Pamela Yancy. No tickets are necessary.

John Riley Is Grand Knight

John T. Riley has been elected grand knight of Andover Council, 1078, Knights of Columbus.

At a recent meeting members also named Charles D. Regan, deputy grand knight; William A. Doherty, chancellor; William Tammany, warden; J. Aubrey Polgreen, auditor; Atty. Donald J. Clegg, advocate; Arthur Flynn, trustee; John Waldie, outside guard; George Hutchins, inside guard; Richard Hewitt, treasurer.

Charles D. Regan, chairman of the outing committee, reported on the outing at the Wild Rose farm and plans were made for a bowling league this fall. More than eight teams were formed before the meeting was concluded.

WILL APPROVED

The will of Jane M. Treanor of Chestnut st. was approved in the probate court at Salem recently by Judge John V. Phelan. He appointed Vincent Treanor of Osgood st. as executor. Estimated value of the estate is $24,000.
