Firm Denies Drawing Bad Plot Plan

Frank Kiernan of the Perley F. Gilbert associates, once retained to draw plans for the South school, has registered his firm's sharp protest over remarks about the topographical map his firm prepared.

Architect Hugh Stubbins, whose South school plans are prepared for the special town meeting Oct. 22, had told the school committee some weeks ago that the map was "all balled up". He said the line of trees on it was wrong and

OLDER AGE GROUP MAY HAVE POLIO VACCINE

Youngsters from 15 through 19 may now receive Salk polio vaccine. The board of health received that word from the state and has arranged to have parental consent slips signed as soon as school opens for all in that age group.

Those 18 or 19 years old may sign their own slips, the board explained. Any persons in that age group who are not in school may get a slip at the board of health office.

A date for the clinic for that age group will be announced soon, as will a date for younger children who have not yet received their second shots.

Predict Oct. 15 For Completion Of West School

The West school addition may be finished by Oct. 15.

But it is doubtful that the Shawsheen addition, started at the same time, will be completed for three months.

Frank Kiernan, representing the Perley F. Gilbert associates, told the school committee Tuesday night that another two weeks should see the West school addition weather-proofed, with the remaining work to be done inside.

The Shawsheen addition, however, is farther behind schedule, with such items as a steel stair well yet to be delivered; windows and other wood trim not yet on the job and several other smaller items yet to be done.

Kiernan told the committee

All Schools Show Higher Registrations

Thousands of Andover youngsters were either in or preparing for school this week, as the new year officially began Wednesday for junior and senior high students.

Some 990 young men and women started classes yesterday while public elementary schools and St. Augustine's school planned opening day sessions for next Monday.

Over 3000 youngsters will be in class next week plus added numbers at Pike school. Both Phillips academy and Abbot academy plan to start sessions later in the month.

Pre-school registration figures indicated a peak enrollment of 1721 in public elementary schools, while some 525 are expected at St. Augustine's.

Double sessions will be held in two schools - West and for the pre-primary youngsters attending St. Augustine's.

Voting Record Is Bad Here

The whole sad story of voter apathy towards primaries — a problem perplexing and vexing to politicians and sober-thinking citizens alike — is reflected in Andover's voting record during the past 10 years.

The official tabulation following primaries from 1946 through 1954 shows only a handful of over 21ers bothered to vote. Why? That question has had no answer, although responsible men everywhere have time and again attempted to find one. Why, they ask, do not more adult men and women care what candidates will be on the ballot in November? Why do these voters who so carefully, or so carelessly, stay away from the polls not make some attempt to select the best men to run in the election?

Poor Showing

Here's the sorry-looking picture, reflecting the lack of interest shown here every two years:

In 1954, there were 7828 voters eligible but only 1587 bothered. Of that number, 1272 Republicans voted out of 3599 registered and 315 Democrats voted out of 1118.

The year 1952 saw 2564 Republicans vote out of total Republican voters 3600 — a better showing than many years. Democrats voted in the number of 753 that year, with a total of 962 registered. Total registration was 7278 — the vote was 3317. Officials point to the rent control question and unusual interest in the Taft-Eisenhower fight as reasons for the heavier vote.

But in 1950, the total vote in the primary was 2527 out of 7126 voters registered. Republicans got out 1984 voters of their total 2578 strength while Democrats marshalled 543 votes of 829.

And in 1948, only 2032 voted out of 7272 registered voters — 1685 Republicans and 347 Democrats out of 2875 registered Republicans and 926 Democrats.

The year 1946 was another low spot, with 1826 voters going to the polls out of 6568 registered. That year, Republicans got out 1646 of their 2767 voters and 180 Democrats voted of the 919 registered in that party.

Independents Don't Vote

From the statistical picture, then, we see that party members vote fairly well — but the bulk of the voters stay at home. Priding themselves on being independent, they don't take part in the primaries because that means declaring ones' self, if only briefly, as a member of a political party.

What happens Sept. 18 is anyone's guess. The town has more registered voters than ever before — but Independents outnumber the enrolled Republicans slightly, 3591 to 3402 and far outshadow the Democratic enrollment of 1088.

Precinct Registrations

By precincts, the registrations break down into party enrollments this way:

One — 183 (D), 913 (R), 712 (I), total 1808;
Two — 285 (D), 468 (R), 620 (I), Total 1373;
Three — 264 (D), 664 (R), 725 (I), total 1653;
Four — 158 (D), 397 (R), 518 (I), total 1073;
Five — 98 (D), 220 (R), 335 (I), total 653;
Six — 100 (D), 740 (R), 681 (I), total 1521.

Those figures, of course, were broken down prior to the recent registrations. Total registration figures are now at 8543 but no breakdown of the new registrants as to party affiliation is available.

Political Machine

As the primary comes closer, politicians and candidates are working hard to get out their own friends — believing that history will prove that the man with a machine can win a primary because not enough voters take an interest. Whether Andoverites will follow the pattern of other communities this year — or whether sincere voters of all persuasions will take an interest in the primary — is a question only the Sept. 19 newspapers can answer.

FIRM DENIES IT DREW POOR PLAN

perimeter lines were in error. Kiernan, handing a letter to Committee Chairman Roy Russell, reminded the board that his firm received the basic survey map directly from the town. And, after engineers started to work on the topographical map, he said it became evident that the perimeter lines were wrong. "We told you about it at the time", Kiernan stated.

Referring to a news item in a local paper, the letter said:

"We have, apparently, been subjected to an uninformed and unprincipled criticism. This is an attack which reflects on the questionable ethics of the man making the attack. Apparently the only criticism we have been guilty of is the fact that we presented the facts truly and accurately as we saw them in regards to the cost of the new South Elementary school. These figures were based on the educational specifications as they were presented to us and adjusted to accommodate bidding conditions as we saw them at the time. We felt at that time and still do that with the educational specifications we were asked to meet that the said school could not be built for the sum proposed by the Taxpayers association. Our firm was offered the opportunity to reduce our figures to the sum arrived at by the Andover Taxpayers association, but we felt that this would not be the honest thing to do. Consequently, as a result of our refusing to take what we considered an unethical approach, events followed which saw another firm selected to carry out what we believed as an impossible request, i.e., the building of the South School with the educational requirements presented to us including architects fees, furniture, landscaping, playing fields, etc., for $850,000.

"I now gather from published reports that the educational requirements of the school have been reduced from the requirements originally submitted to us and that even with these reduced educational specifications, the school is still estimated to cost more than the $850,000. It would be very easy to say 'I told you so' and boast about the fact that our estimates have been borne out. But we truly feel sorry that the delay will prove extremely costly to the town in money for building and in the additional time required before pupils can be enrolled in this new school building.

"It has always been a policy of our firm to provide a complete and thorough going estimate to our clients so that they would have accurate information (within five percent) to take to Town Meeting before they are committed to an expenditure for working drawings and specifications.

"Also contained in this same article was criticism of my firm by your present architects which stated, 'Mr. Stubbins was sharply critical of a topographical plan of the site which was done for the town by the Perley Gilbert associates at a cost of $400. He termed the plan 'highly inaccurate,' 'grossly in error' and said 'They had the thing all balled up'. The truth of the matter is that the Town of Andover was required under the terms of our agreement to furnish the architects with a topographical plan of the site. Since there was no plan available, we were asked to secure one for the Town of Andover by the Building Committee. We had this work performed by the American Land Survey Co., one of the largest survey companies in this area who does work of this type. In preparation for their topographical plan they obtained a survey of the area from the town hall which was the only plan that was available. When the American Land Survey Co. started to run the perimeter lines, they discovered that the perimeter of the area on the survey furnished by the Town Hall was incorrect. In order to correct the perimeter lines, it would have necessitated additional expense. We did not feel it was warranted at that time for the preparation of preliminary sketches.

"The article in the newspaper also criticized the location of the line of trees and the fact that the baseball diamond was located in the middle of the proposed school building. We were well aware that the proposed building was to take possession of the existing ball field. The only ball field that we were not to disturb was the existing Little League field at the other end of the property. The present ball field was to be relocated at the rear of the school building, tying it into the development of the playing area for the new school building. The line of trees indicated on the topographical map was taken from the original survey furnished by the Town of Andover and its exact location had comparatively little bearing for the purposes of preliminary sketches.

Shawsheen's Oldest Woman Observed Birthday

Over a century ago, on September 1, 1854, Mrs. Eliza G. Winn was born in Corcoran, England.

She came to this country as a young bride with her husband, Stephen Winn, who died in 1919. Her first child, a daughter, was born in St. Johns, N.B., following which the young family moved to Lewiston, Me.

A few years later, the family had grown to four children and were living in Lawrence.

Mrs. Winn has made her home in this area for more than 70 years and has been a living witness to hurricanes, floods, two world wars and several lesser wars. She was also in the Springfield Cyclone of '88.

Hard work, good food, and proper rest are the three fundamentals to which Mrs. Winn attributes her longevity.

Until the age of 96, Mrs. Winn led a full and active life. She is now confined to bed due to injuries received from falls and she has not had her sight for the past four years. However she is still very cheerful and keen of mind and maintains an unusual interest in the daily activities of the world about her.

She lives with her daughter, Mrs. Percy Earnshaw of No. Main st., where she has lived for the past 19 years. She has a son, Ernest Winn of Lawrence, four grandchildren and five great grandchildren.

Friends, relatives, acquaintances and well wishers literally showered her home with gifts, flowers, and messages on Saturday, Sept. 1, in honor of her 102nd birthday.

Visits Quabbin Reservoir

Mrs. Hollis Smith, her son, Earle, and Mrs. Earle Rutter of Stirling st. recently returned after spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Kit C. Patrick and sons, Whittier and Webster, formerly of Argyle st., now residing in Ware, where Mr. Patrick is superintendent of the Bay Path Textiles Inc.

While there they toured Quabbin Reservoir which furnishes water for metropolitan Boston and is 20 miles long and 12 miles wide. The reservoir was built by moving five towns; Enfield, the principal town; Greenwich, Greenwich Plain, Prescott and part of Dana. The houses were razed or moved to new locations. The cemeteries in these towns were moved and the remains reboxed and taken with the original tombstones to a section now known as the Quabbin cemetery.

Tunnels were built to carry the water to Boston and the reservoir is under the supervision of the Metropolitan District Commission. People come from all over the state for picnicking, fishing, general recreation, and to view the unusual splendor of this spot now called "The Lost Valley".

PEAK ENROLLMENT IN ALL SCHOOLS

School Supt. Edward I. Erickson has pointed out that public school registrations will continue to mount after opening day, with a specific figure becoming available only after several weeks of school. Last year the system experienced growth throughout the year as many new families moved to town.

Enrollment Way Up

Enrollments, already high during 1955, have continued to grow this year. According to a recent tabulation of actual registration, public schools will have 149 more students than a year ago, with more anticipated. St. Augustine's last year had a registration of 505, showing a 1956 increase of 20 pupils. School officials anticipate a few more registrations during the session.

Grade Registration

Here's the way the public school enrollment is expected to break down by grades — first grade, 252; second, 247; third, 261; fourth, 278; fifth, 222; sixth, 229; seventh, 200; eighth, 220; ninth, 190; tenth, 130; eleventh, 110 and twelfth, 100. Kindergarten pupils are expected to number 212.

Double Sessions

The West school double-session schedule was announced last week. It will find the first three grades attending classes from 8:45 to 12:15. Grades four through six will meet from 12:30 to 4 p.m. Two sessions of the kindergarten will be held at the same times.

The two-session move was required when the addition was not completed on time. The school committee authorized two sessions for as long as necessary to meet educational and housing demands. It has been anticipated, however, that only a few weeks more will be needed to see the building ready for occupancy.

At the Shawsheen school, work has not been finished on the addition but classes can meet in other sections of the building on an emergency basis until the new quarters are ready.

Pike School

Pike school, opening Sept. 12, will have a peak enrollment of 170. There never have been more than 155 students registered at the school's opening in other years, according to school officials. About half the students will be residents here, while the others come from 10 communities in Merrimack Valley.

Public School Hours

School hours will remain the same at the Bradlee and Central Schools. A slight change has been made in the time for the Shawsheen School — 9 a.m. to 11:45 a.m. and 1 p.m. to 3 p.m.

The following schedule has been set for the West School due to the delay in the construction of the six-room addition. Until the completion of this work double sessions will be the rule with the primary grades (1-3) attending daily from 8:45 a.m. to 12:15 p.m., while the intermediate grades (4-6) will attend from 12:30 p.m. until 4:00 p.m.

Bus Routes

The bus routes in most cases will be unchanged although pupils are reminded to be at the bus stops a few minutes early for the first day or two.

The following suggestions are announced for the transportation of the West School pupils:

Pupils of grades 1-3 (plus morning kindergarten) will be picked up at the usual time and places. These pupils will be transported home at the conclusion of the morning session at 12:15 p.m.

Pupils of grades 4-6 (plus afternoon kindergarten) will be picked up at the usual bus stops beginning at 11:30 a.m. These pupils will be transported home at the conclusion of the afternoon session which closes at 4 p.m.

Another change of interest to the elementary school pupils who are to be transported follows:

Ballardvale pupils of grade 6 who will attend the Stowe school will meet at the Ballardvale Post Office at 8:10 a.m.

Adjustments will be made in the various bus schedules, as deemed necessary, after schools have operated for a few days.

First graders will attend morning sessions only for the first month of school.

TOWN TREASURER RECEIVED MANY OFFERS OF HELP

Offers of rakes, shovels, wheel barrows and manpower have been the town treasurer's to accept or reject in the wake of last week's TOWNSMAN story on the number of cancelled checks that must be stored in the town house.

Miss Anna Greeley, however, corrected the tabulation slightly this week. We gave her credit for handling some 60 checks a month more than had been the case in past years — while it should have been 60-plus more each week.

Though valid offers of help in handling the six year accumulation of checks were received in the week past, Miss Greeley didn't say whether any had been accepted.

It's Your Obligation to Help Select the Best Candidates. Vote in the Primary Sept. 18.

GERTRUDE BUCHAN LEFT HER "LOVE & AFFECTION"

Miss Gertrude L. Buchan left her "love and affection" to all relatives not mentioned in her will, according to that document which was recorded in the Registry of Probate. She died June 4 and drew up the will April 13, 1955.

Miss Buchan nominated her brother, Raymond L. Buchan of Andover, as executor and bequeathed him $1000. Two nieces, Mrs. Marion B. Smith of Cloquet, Minn. and Ruth Elinor Buchan of No. Andover received her personal clothing, personal effects and household furniture. They will share the residue of the estate with a nephew, Malcolm L. Buchan of So. Portland, Me. and a sister-in-law, Mrs. Anne Goss Buchan.

The will listed 16 nephews and nieces as heirs-at-law. Among them are Mrs. Bertha Smith Dyer, Ada A. Buchan, Mrs. Margaret Buchan Lowe and William A. Buchan, all of Andover; and six grandnieces and grandnephews, among them being listed Barbara Buchan of this town.

OLDEST LAWRENCE TEACHER RETIRES

Miss Alice E. Gill, 37 Maple ave., Lawrence's oldest teacher in point of service, has tendered her resignation effective Aug. 31 in a letter to Superintendent of Schools James F. Hennessey. She has taught for almost 60 years in the Lawrence school system.

WILL START COLLEGE TEACHING CAREER

Miss Evelyn R. Robinson, formerly the librarian of the Junior high school, has accepted a teaching position in the library education department of Queen's college, Flushing, Long Island. She assumes her new duties Sept. 1.

Let's Be Fair

The board of public works apparently is going to restrict water services to help save the town's water supply.

Although the board decided to consider each case on its merits, it promptly restricted two developments to 50 percent of the house lots shown on the plans — the Cheever development with a total of 30 house lots and the Campopiano sub-division off Morton st. showing nine. Cheever can now only build 15 homes in the next 18 months and the other developer can construct but four.

If the board feels it is essential to restrict water services to save the town's water supply, then we assume there is little use in arguing the point. The members are closest to the situation and, presumably, we should rely fully on their judgment.

As it stands now, the developer who is attempting to have sub-division plans approved may be subject to restrictions.

How about the builder who happens to own land along accepted streets? Is he subject to restriction?

It is our understanding that plans for homes along the public ways do not need BPW approval, except when the individual building permits go through their routine channels. There is no over-all plan presented showing how many homes are to be built in the neighborhood by the contractor — and he may well plan to construct a sizeable number during an 18-month period.

The only way to find out how many homes any contractor thinks he will build in any area is either to ask the man to cooperate by telling the board — or to keep an accurate record of the number of building permits he takes out and the locations to be built upon. Either way, it seems almost impossible to get a definite picture of how many homes Contractor Jones will build in a neighborhood until the work is practically completed.

For example, there now are some 20 house lots available around the Wild Rose farm. It is our understanding that the lots will be sold to builders — one or more — who will guarantee that the homes will be of at least a minimum size and price. Perhaps all 20 of those lots will be sold and built upon within a year or 18 months. Yet the BPW won't actually have any way of knowing how many homes are being built until most of them are up and applications are received for water services.

We don't mean to isolate the Wild Rose farm section as the only example, for there are other sections where many homes will go up during an 18-month period.

None of them will be restricted, the way matters stand now. A man might conceivably build 30 homes in the same general section where the BPW restricts another man to

Is there any real difference, as far as supply goes, whether the houses stand in a development or whether they are along the public road? In one case the contractor is required to install water mains in the development at his expense while in the other, mains are already under the streets. Do persons buying homes in the developments drink more, bathe more, water their grass more than persons along accepted ways?

It seems utterly unfair to restrict any developer, no matter how logical the restriction may be, when others can build homes without restriction in areas furnished water through the same system.

If restrictions are to be placed against developers then we should find some way to restrict contractors building on accepted streets whenever there is probably cause that their total number of homes will endanger the water supply.

We don't feel that all developments or all contractors need restricting. Some areas apparently have plenty of water now. But where there is a chance of a shortage, it is only fair that all builders share the same privations.

Plan South School Article At $885,000

Representatives of the Taxpayers association and the school committee discussed the South school Tuesday night.

They tentatively agreed on an article calling for $885,000 for the school. Two other articles relating to sewage disposal would be inserted separately, it was felt.

Thus, there will be three articles in all relating to the South school — the building itself, one asking for extension of the public sewer past the structure and a third calling for septic tanks on the school property. If the town votes for a sewer extension, the septic tank article will be withdrawn.

There was some discussion of the proposed building committee, with members of the school committee pointing out that the four consultants — John Erwin, John Sullivan, Edward P. Hall and Atty. Charles Hatch — have done a good job. It was suggested that they be named to a building committee along with the entire school committee.

The Taxpayers association some time ago recommended a separate building committee with representatives of the school committee serving along with citizens.

frankly that his firm is going as far as it can to push the contractor, Louis Marion and Son, to get the work done. But, he explained, there is a limit beyond which the architects can't go. He referred several times to conferences with the contractor and sub-bidders over disputed points in the contracts and also pointed out that the contractor may be doing business with some firms on items not covered by sub bids but the architects can't check on the progress with those firms because no one knows who they are.

He explained that the school committee has a contract only with the contractor and the contractor, in turn, has contracts with the sub-bidders.

Clerk of the Works S. Abbott Batchelder, also attending the meeting, said he agreed that the West school work might get done by another month but said there was one big "if" — the contractor's relationship with the sub-bidders.

Down the Years with The Townsman

50 Years Ago — September 1906

The Association football team will play its first game of the season Saturday afternoon with Lawrence on the local grounds.

Maxwell F. Rafferty, manager of the Phillips academy football team, arrived in town Tuesday. He said the schedule will be ready for publication next week.

At the regular meeting of the selectmen on Monday, M. Warren Tuck was drawn as a juror to serve in the September term of civil court.

The public schools opened Monday after the summer vacation, with a large attendance.

The Andover Natural History society held an interesting field day at Deer Jump Saturday afternoon. The party left the square at 2 o'clock and arrived at their destination about 3:30. They spent several hours in studying the natural scenery, returning here about 6 p.m.

About 50 members and invited guests of the Free Church Christian Endeavor society were pleasantly entertained at a corn roasting party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Milo H. Gould in Scotland district Tuesday evening. The party took the 7:30 car to Gould rd., where they were met by Mr. Gould, who was prepared for the seige with a hay rack. The large homestead was brilliantly lighted with Chinese lanterns.

The town draft for the month of August is $6,665.91. The largest item on it is for school houses, $1,086.73. The smallest item is for "snow", at $6.20.

The annual regatta, under the auspices of the Lawrence Canoe club, was held on the Merrimack river Saturday. Andover members of the organization won several honors while many townspeople, attending the event, cheered them on.

25 Years Ago — September 1931

Punchard high school reported a record-high enrollment of 373 on opening day. Only 341 were on hand last year at the same time, but school officials were able to rearrange class schedules to avoid too much overcrowding. St. Augustine's school also reported a record enrollment with 308 students.

Many townspeople have noticed that the sun-dial that formerly sat on the walk in front of the Samuel Phillips hall has been moved to a location near the library.

Fall may be coming but three signs of spring were in Andover this week — boys playing marbles, an organ grinder and a scissors grinder. Either the calendar is wrong about the seasons or those harbingers of spring are convinced the weather we had early in the week makes this the land of eternal springtime.

Construction of the new chapel at Phillips academy is progressing steadily. The exterior of the new building is nearly complete and authorities say the wood-workers will begin inside work within 10 days. It is not expected that the building will be finished before January.

Clinton Goodwin, representing the firm of Dickinson and Morse of Haverhill, spoke to the Lions club last night in the Square and Compass club hall. He said property here this year will be more equally assessed than it has been in the past. His firm has been in charge of a revaluation project during the past five years and he said it probably will be two more years before the work is completed.

A member of the Public Utilities commission said a study is being made of complaints about train whistles in the nighttime and that another hearing may be held. He said the decision will be made by next week as to the commission reopening the subject.

10 Years Ago — September 1946

September marks the beginning of a busy season for scouts here. Boys of nine years are eligible for membership in Pack 71 of the Shawsheen school, Pack 72 of the Free church and Pack 76 in Ballardvale. Boys 12 years old may apply for membership in Troop 71, Shawsheen; Troop 72 of Free church, Troop 73 of the South church, Troop 75 of St. Augustine's school and Troop 76 in Ballardvale.

The final session of the West Parish playground was held last Friday. Fifty-four youngsters were registered during the summer and the average attendance was 20. Miss Barbara Hill directed activities at the grounds.

A roast turkey dinner will be the special attraction at the annual fair of the West Parish church, to be held under the auspices of the Woman's Union Sept. 11. Two suppers will be served, at 5:30 and 7 p.m.

The Andover Grange will hold its annual fair Sept. 19 and 20, with a supper to be served Sept. 19.

The public schools will open Sept. 10, one week later than many schools in surrounding communities. The school committee voted to give the special summer session teachers a week's vacation before resuming regular classes. It will be the first year for the kindergarten, which will be held morning's only. Parents will be responsible for transportation. The committee also voted to have the first grade attend morning sessions only for the first month of school.

The first fall meeting of the Andover Mother's club was held Wednesday. A social afternoon was enjoyed after the business meeting.

A guest night was held Tuesday evening in the Crystal ballroom by Andover Chapter, Order of Eastern Star. A program by the Andover Male choir was enjoyed followed by dancing.

The 1956 edition of the American Medical Directory, a standard in its field, published since 1906
by the American Medical Association, has recently been added to the library's reference collection.

The scope of this work is inclusive with part one giving general information about the American Medical Association, lists of medical schools (approved in bold type), approved examining boards in specialties, national medical organizations, medical journals, medical officers of government agencies. Part two lists legally qualified physicians in the United States, Alaska, Canal Zone, Hawaii, Puerto Rico, Pacific Islands, Virgin Islands, Can-tories. Brief biographical material is provided. These listings are proved for training and interneprograms. Part three is an index of physicians arranged alphabetically by name.

A perennially useful reference work is the annual Directory of New England Manufacturers, the 1957 edition of which has just been published. Issued with the editorial cooperation of the New England Council, this book gives an alphabetical listing of New England manufacturing companies with detailed information including the name of the concern, the complete address, other locations and if a corporation, the names of president and treasurer, partners or proprietor as the case may be. The geographical section lists manufacturers by the city or town in which they are located.
The products section as the others will be useful to purchasing agents and sales departments.
The listing under products and brand names are helpful in finding manufacturer supplies according to products or materials required or if the product name only is known to identify the maker.

Another book, one which has long been needed, is Massachusetts State Government, A Citisen's Handbook and is the result of five years of study by the League of Women Voters of Massachusetts and a great deal of research into agency reports, many of which were not written with the general public in mind.

the coming year.

Donald Amy will be the school's music instructor; Miss Barbara Dillon has been appointed to the post of senior first grade teacher, and she will be assisted by Miss Ann Lothrop; Mrs. John M. Forbes has been retained as an assistant in the athletic department to help Mrs. Philip Vigeant with the lower school and the girls' athletic programs.

Mr. Amy is a well-known piano and voice instructor here. For the past 10 years he has been associated with the Free church. Before undertaking work with the church, Mr. Amy was music director and organist with Headquarters of the Alaskan Department of the Army of the United States. Mr. Amy will continue his association with the Free church while engaging in part time instruction at the school.

Miss Dillon, the daughter of the Wendell M. Dillons of North Andover, graduated from Boston university. She has been associated recently with Phillips academy where she served as secretary to the Dean of Students.

Miss Lothrop graduated from Smith college in 1955. There she majored in music and concentrated in the field of education for her minor studies.

Miss Constance Cole, who has served as the first grade teacher for some years, will teach the second grade next year thereby introducing an interesting educational experiment at the first and second grade levels. The first and the second grades of the Pike school will be taught as a single unit, a two year sequence with the same teacher. Miss Dillon will continue next year with the same group in the second grade while Miss Cole will begin a new group in the first. This means that no child will normally be asked to repeat at the first grade level. If he or she is required to repeat at the second grade level, the child will repeat with a new teacher.

Mrs. Forbes will not be a stranger to the youngsters; for she has served as a part-time assistant to the school's athletic director from time to time in the past. She joins the staff in order to meet the necessities of an expanded physical education program.

Mrs. Richard D. Hornidge will serve as 8th grade home room teacher and instructor of history and geography to the upper school - 6th, 7th and 8th grades. Mrs. Hornidge is a Vassar graduate. She has served as an apprentice teacher at the Shady Hill school in Cambridge at the sixth and seventh grade levels, has taught the 11th grade at the Anna Head School in Berkeley, Cal. and served as an assistant in the Nursery grade in Glastonbury, Conn. For the past five years Mrs. Hornidge has served as a substitute teacher at the Pike school at all levels while specializing in the teaching of the social studies.

Mrs. Margaret J. Little, in her new capacity at the school, will serve as seventh grade home room teacher and as chairman of the Upper School English department. It is hoped that this centralization of effort will make possible a sequence designed to assure the development of maximum verbal skills of the children from the fifth through the eighth grades.

Two new men teachers have been retained for the school year. They are Douglas Dunbar, who will teach Latin to the eighth grade and Gerald Plumly, in charge of an athletic program for the upper school boys using Phillips academy facilities. Mr. Dunbar comes to the school from the academy and Mr. Plumly is a recent graduate of Springfield college.

A bean supper will be served at 7 p.m., followed by dancing from 8-12. The affair is open to members, guests and townspeople. Hosts for the evening will be Pres. Wade, Co-Chairman Clay Farrell, assisted by committee members John Keith, John Broderick and Eugene A. Zalla Jr.

BPW RESTRICTS WATER SERVICES

before the board decided on restricting water services.

Stevens said he does not intend to build more than the number allowed, anyway, but suggested that a builder is caught between town boards now. While the BPW slows down building by restricting water connections, he said, the assessors are boosting assessments as soon as lots are recorded in a sub-division. Thus, he told the board, his assessment jumped from $1800 to $16,000 because the land is assessed by house lots instead of acreage. This, he contended, speeds up sale of land while the BPW attempts to slow it down.

Realty Firm's Offer Referred To Engineers

The Realty Construction company has repeated its offer to give 1000 feet of 12-inch water main to the town to alleviate the water problem in its proposed sub-division off Elm st.

The offer is being referred to Camp, Dresser and McKee, the board of public works' engineering consultants.

Representatives of the Realty firm appeared at the BPW meeting Tuesday night asking permission to tie into the town water system after the pipe is laid from Washington ave. up to the development.

The offer was made on the premise that the town will install the pipe.

Chairman Allan Flye told Atty. Alfred Sartorelli and Mr. Birdsall, representing the developers, that water pressure in the area "is very poor" now and that a reservoir is being designed to provide

CIVIL DEFENSE WEEK NAMED BY SELECTMEN

Next week has been proclaimed Civil Defense week by the selectmen.

Director Harold Wennik plans to have material available for the public in the lobby of the Andover National bank, the town house and in several other locations. He said the activities are sponsored by the Warden service, directed by Gordon Cannon and assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Richard Moody.

Wennik also announced the appointment of Atty. Arthur Williams as judge advocate - legal counsel - of the Civil Defense agency.

relief. But, "we don't know what relief there will be for that area this year," the chairman stated.

Realty had been before the planning board several weeks ago and was referred to the BPW on matters of water supply and a main road grade of 10.28 percent, well over the eight percent allowed by the regulations. It was explained Tuesday night that the grade follows an old sewer line and can't be changed without altering the sewer connection.

The BPW promised to study the grade question and to refer the problem of water supply to the engineers - with an answer to be furnished as soon as possible. Realty had told the planning board that it wanted to get started on developing the Burton property, with a proposed '66 house lots under pre-town meeting zoning, right away. The firm also suggested it has a legal technicality through which the town can be forced to issue permission for the development, but said it did not want to stand on legalities if other solutions can be found.
