

Will Call For Bids On Milk For Schools

Bids on furnishing 256,000 half-pints of milk for the school system will be received by the school committee Oct. 2.

The $10,000-a-year item has been given to two local dairies without bids, but Committee Mem-bers Frederick Allis Jr. and Albert Cole Jr. urged competitive bidding. Supt. Edward I. Erickson told the committee at its last meeting that it had been a custom of many years to split the milk business without bids. The system now pays five and one quar-ter cents per half-pint for the milk. Part of the price is reimbursed by the government, it was 'explained.

It was agreed that specifications will be drawn to assure getting the best possible grade of milk. Several members pointed out that the town requires bids on items over $500 and suggested the milk business should be no exception.

COMPLAINT AIRED OVER ACCIDENT

costly business. Selectman Sidney P. White did not have immediate figures as to the cost of the accident to date, including a new car, medical treatment and full pay during an officer's convalescence but said later he thought the costs should be published — and promised to make the figures available. Accident Story

Mr. Ritchie's story of the accident is this:

the collision took place about 8:15 p.m. on a knoll "where you can't see a car coming in either direction". He said the jeep, driven by Deputy Cole, had followed a car down Shawsheen rd. for a considerable distance but the vehicle wouldn't pull over despite screaming siren and flashing red light. "He cut across flashing red light. "He cut across the center line and hit my daugh-ter's car. It was poor judgment to pick that spot to pass". The spot, he said, was just at the top of the knoll so that his daughter didn't have a chance to see anything coming in her lane until immediately before the collision. "Why any person would pass on the brow of a hill is be-yond me", Ritchie continued.

No Number

Ritchie said no one ever got the number of the car that the jeep passed. Despite the fact preceeded the jeep for some distance, stopped at the accident scene and even had to be specially asked to move so the truck could proceed to the fire, "no one knows who it belongs to".

"If it had been you or me we would have been charged with driving to endanger and reckless driving?', Ritchie charged.

"This evidently is a closed affair" at the police station, he asserted, claiming "I can't even read the report". He said police told him the only one who has a right to the report is an insurance man, but avowed, "I should be entitled to see it". "As a citizen, I know we're proud of our equipment. No one warts to case it church U is in wants to see it abused. If it is involved in an accident on the way to a fire, it's no good at the fire. Or if it kills someone, it's no good. It'd be better to have a house burn down,'' Ritchie asserted. He said Chief Henry Hilton showed him a book of reg-ulations "and it doesn't have anything about driving to endan-ger in it".

No Notification

The Ritchie youngster was bruised and shaken up, he re-ported and a second girl was cut in several places. A third girl was also badly shaken, Ritchie said. All three were taken to the Lawrence General hospital in the

"But to this day we've never been notified by the police or fire departments about the accident", he charged. This, despite a promise from either a policeman or Deputy Cole to the girls that the families would be notified, Ritchie continued. He said his daughter wanted to go into the house of a friend near the acci-dent to call home but "she was refused" and they "assured her they would notify us". Instead, he said neighbors called him and one family while corner of the one family while parents of the other girl weren't told until the hospital called them to come get her. "It was quite a shock", he commented, to hear a brief report of an accident without know-ing how bad the injuries might be or any other details. Ritchie also commented that there are twoway radios in the cruisers and thought they might have been used to notify the station to call the parents.

Whose Business?

He said his car had been towed away when he got to the scene and when he asked Deputy Cole and when he asked Deputy Cole where the car was, he replied "what business is it of yours ?". "I got riled" and made a few unkind remarks, and Cole said "You don't even know me". "I have witnesses to that", Ritchie eventioned Cole that the first second continued. Cole entered the chief's car, Ritchie said, and "flatly denied he drove the jeep" although several persons in the crowd had identified him as the driver.

Next, Ritchie said a hunt for the car keys began because a key to his mother's store was on the ring. He said he went to the police station but the officer on duty didn't know anything about it as it happened before he came on duty. They were finally located in the car which had been towed to an Elm st. garage.

Ritchie several times mentioned his interest not only in the accident but in swift driving by the fire department and the problems arising if a piece of apparatus becomes involved in an accident while on the way to a fire.

Stulgis' Opinion Town Counsel Vincent Stulgis entered the discussion to point out that the departments are "on errands of mercy" and that most persons don't know the rules of the road that say a car shall be pulled over to the right and stopped whenever a red blinker is seen or a siren heard. He said police and fire apparatus have the right of way and said there was no legal definition of "ex-cessive speed" on the part of a fire department.

Chief Hilton, in answer to a question by Mr. White, said he but last week his attorney told the board there was no doubt that the courts would remove the assessment if legal action had to be taken. He said the strips of land can never be built on, as they do not now conform to zoning laws and because all abbuttors' deeds contain a right-of-way clause relating to the strips of land. The development itself was registered long before the pres-ent zoning laws went into affect. The frontages of these strips of land had been assessed under the sewer betterment act when the line was installed in Hall ave.

The board of public works maintained that installation of the sewer would be a benefit to Mr.

Hall if he built on the backland.

Mr. Tomlinson told the board he lisagreed with the policy of assessing because lots in the rear might sometime benefit, since assessments are applied against frontages along a sewer line. Mr. Hall had told the board before that if and when he builds on the Vote Next Tuesday!

The primary is next Tuesday.

This is our chance to prove that we are not apathetic, disinterested citizens who don't care who is nominated for important office in the district, county and state.

In a news story published last week, the TOWNSMAN pointed out that Andover has shown the same lack of interest in primaries that has been the rule in other communities - and usually it is the self-styled Independant who stays at home. The turn-out here among registered party members has been fairly good, as you would expect it to be, But among those persons who have not declared themselves as members of either the Republican or Democratic party, there has been a notable lack of interest.

Why should that be true? Don't the Independant voters care who gets the nominations? If they don't care, we think they should. For it is equally important to choose the nominees wisely as it is to vote intelligently in November. How else are we to have a decent choice in the election?

It should be apparent to all voters that taking part in a primary is only doing one's duty - it is not a disgrace to declare yourself in a specific party nor is it necessary to forever remain a member of that party because you took part in the primary. It is a simple matter to return to an Independant's status right after primary day by visiting the town clerk and asking that your party designation be removed from future voting lists.

It is to everyones' interest to have a large vote on primary day. The candidates certainly try every way they know how to encourage such a vote and it is the only way we know of to select the very best candidates, for whom we will vote in November. PLEASE VOTE.

Agree On Regulations

There will be a public hearing Sept. 19 on proposed rules and regulations by which the planning board will be guided in the future. The revisions now contemplated are being checked carefully with the board of public works so that contradictions in the two boards' rules can be eliminated.

It's noteworthy that the rules and regulations are to be standardized - for there have been occasions lately when a builder conformed to one set of regulations only to find that another board had different rules on the same subject.

The hearing, called at the request of the planning board, will give all interested citizens a chance to comment on the proposed rules before they are adopted. We hope anyone concerned will make an appearance at the meeting so that satisfactory rules may be once-and-for-all laid down for all to follow.

School Calendar Is Approved For Year

The school calendar for 1956-'57 has been approved by the school committee.

It calls for closing the high school on June 21 and sets up the schedule of holidays and vacations for the school year. The schedule: Sept. 5, junior and senior high schools reopen; Sept. 10, elementary grades resume classes; Nov. 21, close at noon for remainder of weekend to celebrate Thanksgiving; Dec. 21, schools close at noon for Christmas vacation; Jan. 2, schools open; Feb. 15, close at night for mid-winter vacation; Feb. 25, reopen; April 12, schools close at night for spring vacation; April 22, re-open; June 21, high school closes.

The following holidays will be observed: Sept. 26, Essex County Teachers association meeting; Oct. 12, Columbus Day; Nov. 12, Veterans' Day and May 30, Memorial Day.

NEW RED CROSS HOME IN USE

The open house hours will be from 7:15 to 8:15 p.m. The public is invited to remain for the annual meeting. The agenda calls for the election of officers and the reading of reports. Following the business meet-ing, Dr. Huston J. Banton, directof the Massachusetts region of the blood program, will speak. The blood committee has already held two meetings in preparation of the next visit of the Red Cross Bloodmobile, Oct. 10 and 11. The goal is for 210 registered donors each day. The following will be chairmen for the Bloodmobile visit: Miss Mary Sherman, residential; Frank Lilly, industrial; Donald Bassett, social organizations; Col. Frank Purdon, schools; and Albert Wade and Thomas Wallace, business district and municipal government. Classes in first aid, mother and baby care and home nursing will begin as soon as sufficient numbers register. For the first time, classes will be held under one roof, at the new headquarters. The first aid classes require 18 to

A meeting of the Natural History society was held in the com-mittee rooms of the town hall Tuesday night. The subject for the evening was ferns and a large number were brought in for example ination. Supt. Corwin Palmer exhibited a large collection of plants collected in England and Scotland during the summer. Abbot academy opened Thursday morning with a registration of 95. There have been several changes in the faculty and the treasurer, S. L. Fuller, has resigned because his duties take him away from Andover. Burton S. Flagg has been appointed treasurer. Work on the new art museum has continued until the exterior looks much as though the project was completed, but much work yet to be done on the interior. The summer improvement project on Abbot hall, making a better hall and providing some laboratories for the science department, is nearly done. The Chapel church will hold its first service after the summer vacation next Sunday morning when Dr. William R. Arnold will preach.

The friends of Chester D. Abbott will be pleased to know that he has arrived safely in Port-land, Oregon with a carload of Jersey stock from the C. I. Hood farm.

25 Years Ago - September 1931 With completion of the by-pass slated for four weeks from now, the death knell has been sounded for the passage of the familiar woolen trucks. No truck with a load more than 14 feet high will be able to continue on Route 28 under the bridge - thus automatically stopping the long-familiar trucks bearing wool for the Law-rence mills. Trucks will have to go to Wilson's corner and thence to Lawrence once the by-pass is completed.

A great many residents claim the Boston & Maine has retailiated against attempts to have the Essex st. crossing whistles stopped by ordering longer blasts. Some citizens are determined to appeal to the state public utilities commission, which can order the whistles stopped.

Some 2000 gallons of paint were used on the South church this summer, giving the edifice a completely new look. The structure was painted white where it formerly was brown. In addition to the painting job, many boards were replaced, careful attention was given the spire and some interior repairs were made. The Punchard football team, called to practice Wednesday, looks to be in fine shape for the year. There were 32 at the first practice, 22 being veterans. Coach E. V. Lovely hopes to have about 40 on the field by Monday. He also has announced a reduced schedule from last year's - seven games as opposed to nine in 1930.

10 Years Ago - September 1946 Gracey the steam shovel drew quite a crowd for her performance on Essex st. Tuesday night. But finally the job was done, with Gracey hoisting one boulder reckoned at 8000 pounds and another slightly smaller one from the big ditch.

Public schools opened day with an enrollment of 1383. Last year's registration was 1289. Most of the increase is said to be due to the kindergarten, with 78 new pupils. The sixth grade was moved from the Central school back to the Bradlee in Ballardvale, keeping a promise that the grade would be re-turned to the Vale when there was enough youngsters enrolled in it to make the move worthwhile. THE ANDOVER TOWNSMAN, SEP TEMBER 13, 1956

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of imported Chantilly lace with a sequin trimmed bodice and full bouffant skirt over a Southern Bell taffeta and lace hoop skirt. A cumberbund of taffeta terminated in a large bow in back with a cathedral train of nylon tulle ruffles over taffeta. Her fingertip veil of illu-sion was attached to a crown of seed pearls and sequins and she carried a white lace covered pra-yerbook marked with a white orchid and streamers of stephanotis. In the bridal party were Mrs. Lawrence Ashender, sister of the bridegroom, as matron of honor; Miss Betty O'Connor of Law-rence, Mrs. Claire Collins Goodell of Lynn, Miss Barbara Faris and Miss Mary Margaret Costello, both of Andover, as bridesmaids. All wore gowns of nylon tulle and white lace over taffeta, the honor attendant in mint green and the bridesmaids choosing pink. They wore Juliet caps to match their gowns and carried lace fans with pink and white sweetheart roses. Miss Miriam Faris of Andover, as flower girl, wore a mint green gown with matching crown and carried a white basket of sweetheart roses and petals. Lawrence Ashenden, brother-inlaw of the bridegroom, served as best man. Ushers were Edward A. Collins Jr., Henry J. Collins Jr., Edward Ashenden and Maurice J. Doyle. Master Christopher Faris of Andover was ring bearer. A reception in the Hotel Farra-gut, Rye Beach, followed the ceremony. Miss Charlotte A. Mc-Laughlin presented the guest

A.V.I.S. Will Beautify Areas

Two major projects of improv-ing and beautifying areas in the town were described to the Board of Public Works last week by the vice president of the Andover Village Improvement Society, Heinrich Rohrbach.

The A.V.I.S. plans to plant the banking near the railroad station in such a way as to prevent future erosion and to provide shub blossoms most of the growing season. Their request to have brush removed by the town met with BPW approval, and Superin-tendent Edward Lawson will investigate the cost of either hot topping or placing steps in a gulley which the public uses as a short cut to School st.

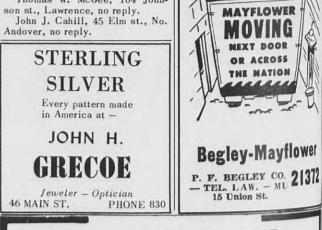

In the Park, the A.V.I.S. will plant and prune extensively to provide flowers from spring to fall. The B.P.W. has requested only that before any plants are removed and new ones substituted, plans be talked over in detail

Approve Cheever

Plan; Restrictions

Voted On Property

The planning board has ap-proved Fred Cheever's plan for a sub-division off Holt rd.

But tight restrictions were placed on the development, main-ly concerning surface water drain-age. At its meeting last week, the board over-rode the object-tions of Frederick O'Brien, who said he couldn't see any good in said he couldn't see any good in the plan for the town. Cheever's plan was approved as to lot layout, with restrictions that will mean completion of the entire drainage work before build-ing can begin. The board of pub-lic works will have authority to eventually approve the drainage.

Mr. Cheever will have to get ap-proval from the board of health for every lot before it is built up-on and the problem of over-10 percent road grades must be straightened out. One street in the development was slightly over several cases to the assessors, only to have them sent back. Monday night, Mr. Stulgis told the selectmen "That's right. They're the only ones who can do that", referring to the BPW. He said there has been a law on the books for a long time outlining the abatement procedure. Members of the BPW, meeting

Monday night too, recalled Mr. Stulgis' remarks clearly. And they remembered commenting that the abatement problem, then, was one that someone else would have to face. Mr. Stulgis was at the select-men's meeting on another matter, but the subject came up when a Ballardvale resident appeared asking relief from the sewer assessment. He has been to the BPW several times and has been told to see the assessors.

The TOWNSMAN of Aug. 23, on page 12, carried a news story outlining the information given the BPW by Mr. Stulgis. One paragraph read "Stulgis also pointed out that the assessors have the job of reviewing any assessments for possible abatement. The board of public works completes its end of the job by sending the assessments to the assessors, he pointed out." Mr. White explained that assessors have responsibility for real estate and personal property taxes, but not over betterment assessments. He advised the Ballardvale resident to write the BPW expressing his wish for an abatement and confer with that board at a later date.
