Firm Plans Suit Against Town

GOING TO COURT - Attorneys for Suburban Household Enterprises said they will ask the Superior Court to grant a temporary injunction halting work on this addition to the town garage. Atty. Matthew Cregg said suit will be filed this week, also asking the Court to order the job awarded to Suburban Household as the low bidder. Work is being done by the L.C. Cyr Construction Co. of Lawrence, to which the contract was awarded by the Board of Public Works. (Leone)

Attorneys representing Suburban Household Enterprises will ask the Superior Court to grant a temporary injunction to halt construction of an addition to the town garage on Lewis st.

Atty. Matthew A. Cregg told the TOWNSMAN this week that "I'll file two writs in Superior Court before the week is out".

One will ask a temporary halt to construction, while the second will ask the Court to order the job awarded to the lowest bidder - Suburban.

Mr. Cregg said the Court may do one of two things with the injunction request - grant it and then hear arguments on its becoming

"NATURE KNOWS NO PAUSE IN PROGRESS AND DEVELOPMENT"

(Author's Name Below)

Our fight against sickness is a continuous one. Research workers are always seeking better drugs and new treatments. About one-third of the ingredients in last year's prescriptions were unknown the year before.

We must keep well informed. A newly discovered drug can almost overnight change a physician's prescribing habits, so that there is no further need for the replaced drug. Every prescription pharmacy regularly discards these drugs that are no longer used.

Despite all this, the cost-per-illness of medicines grows less each year.

Merchants Seek More Off-Street Parking

Off-street parking for 50-60 cars in the midst of the down-town shopping area is urgently needed, according to a Board of Trade Committee that conferred with the Selectmen Monday morning.

Committee members stressed the importance of having parking facilities close to the stores and suggested land be acquired behind Park st., with an access from Park st. and exit on Post Office ave. A foot exit from the lot might be obtained through an alley onto Park st., they explained.

Pointing out that this plan would mean buying or taking a minimum of land actually fronting on Park st., Committee members urged the Selectmen to take immediate steps towards creating the off-street parking area.

Report In 2 Weeks
The Selectmen promised to talk to land owners and determine approximate prices - something they had done in that area a year ago when the idea was first suggested. Estimates of cost for the project ran anywhere from $30,000

Sylvania-Corning Drops Option In W. Andover

Other Firms Hard To Find

Industrial experts gravely admitted this week that Andover's industrial expansion program is right back where it started a year ago.

Industrial Commission Chairman Ralph Ulrich agreed.

He pointed out that plans for industrial growth here were built around Sylvania-Corning Nuclear Corp., which announced Monday that it has abandoned a 150-acre site in West Andover.

The firm isn't going elsewhere, according to its president, Dr. Lee Davenport. But all plans for the local area, where it had been proposed to build a vast nuclear fuel research and production center, have been abandoned. The company, at least temporarily, has also dropped its plans for any expansion.

Meeting Tomorrow

The Industrial Commission will meet tomorrow night to talk over the situation. Mr. Ulrich suggested this week that it may be six months or more before anything can be done in the West Andover industrial zone, based on many

Andover-Exeter Game Saturday

Seventy-seven years of formal football rivalry between the two Phillips Academies - Exeter and Andover - will be culminated in the 77th anniversary game of the series Saturday, in the Plimpton Stadium at Exeter. Before an expected capacity crowd of 6,000, the two traditional rivals - oldest in the nation's schoolboy ranks, who first met formally in 1878 - will meet in the final game of the season for each school.

Exeter coach Ted Seabrooke, completing his first season as head coach, will field a relatively inexperienced team against Andover coach Steve Sorota, now in his 18th season at Phillips Academy. The Royal Blue of Andover

At 4 o'clock, Isaac Asimov, author, lecturer, educator, biochemist, whose name is most widely known for the excellence of his science fiction tales, will speak on a subject of his own

Delay Route 28 Completion Date

Through traffic on Route 28 will continue to travel down Main st. until 1960, perhaps later.

The State Department of Public Works this week confirmed that it has no intention of advertising for bids on a section of relocated Route 28 north of the river until late next fall.

Along with this job is the deck of the new bridge, which means it, too, will not be usable for perhaps three years.

Thus, through traffic, although it may be able to use portions of Route 28 through Reading, Wilmington and Andover, will have to swing back onto the present Route 28 before crossing the river.

Progress is reported as normal on the sections now underway south of the Merrimack. Each, the DPW explains, is designed so it can be used independently of the others so that travellers apparently will be able to utilize some sections getting to and from Boston long before it will be possible to

3-Town Meeting On Industrial Site Suggested To Commission

A joint meeting between Tewksbury, Wilmington and Andover - to consider an industrial area where the towns meet - has been suggested by the Tewksbury Planning Board.

The suggestion was relayed to the Andover Industrial Commission by the Planning Board.

It was recalled that the town now has an area for industry in Lowell Junction, which actually is in the very section proposed for discussion. There has been little interest shown in establishing business there, however.

The Tewksbury letter, addressed to the Planning Board, suggested meeting either Nov. 12 or 19, with the meeting to be closed. The Planning Board considered the letter at its meeting Oct. 30.

In other business that night, the Board designated one member - John Cole - to handle arrangements for precinct meetings here to discuss zoning. The Board has decided to meet, if possible, in all six precincts to discuss proposed re-zoning articles with the voters before making recommendations to the annual town meeting. Mr. Cole should be contacted by any group or organization which wants to sponsor a discussion meeting.

The Board also considered a piece of land bought by Mr. Lamontague on Old Boston rd. a few years ago, which had been found to be landlocked. More land was purchased for a right of way but not enough according to the Board's regulations. The Board will suggest that more land be bought to make the right of way conform to standards.

Dinner Planned By Church Group

A turkey buffet supper (home-cooked turkey with all the fixings) will be sponsored by the Adult Social Group of Christ Church on Saturday, Nov. 16, between 5 and 7 p.m. in the Parish House. Mrs. Karl Rohde is general chairman and will be assisted by the following: Walter Caswell, tickets; publicity, Wallace Fiedler; soliciting, Mrs. William Westphal; dining room, Mr. and Mrs. Eric Turner and clean up committee, Leo Shiebler. All members of the Parish will be contacted by the committee and no tickets will be available at the door.

The supper is one week previous to the Around the World Fair, which is to be held Nov. 23 from 11 to 5 in the Parish House. Many committees are hard at work making articles for sale that day and the chairmen under whom these committees are working are: Leo Shiebler, Christmas decorations; Mrs. Albert Swenson and Mrs. Chester Kopatch, Dolls and Doll's clothes; Mrs. Boyd Bellinger, gifts; Mrs. Clifton Allen, attic treasures; Mrs. Phillip Clements, candy; Miss Olive Butler, knitting; Miss Kenneth Minard, aprons; Mrs. Carleton Kimball, Christmas greens; Mrs. William Westphal, bakery; Mr. and Mrs. Lester Thompson, children's activities.

The Young People's Fellowship, under the direction of Mr. Hill, have a project of repairing children's toys and the Friendly Guild is wrapping Christmas boxes for sale. A snack bar, which will be open all day, will be supervised by Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Baillie.

The second writ, Atty. Cregg explained, would ask the Superior Court to "quash" the Board of Public Works action in awarding the job to the L. C. Cyr Co. of Lawrence and direct that it be awarded to the lowest bidder, Suburban. In this case, Mr. Cregg said, the Cyr Co. could stand to lose whatever money it has spent in starting the work.

The case had earlier been appealed to the State Department of Labor and Industries, on the grounds that the job had not been awarded to the lowest bidder. But that department took no action. Raymond F. O'Connell of the department told the TOWNSMAN that his department believed the town could award the bid to other than the low bidder "as long as no bad faith was shown". He said the town and the Suburban Household Enterprises were notified of that decision.

The BPW had called for bids on the addition to the garage twice. Once the bids were rejected because proper bidding procedure was not followed in relation to sub-bidders.

The second time, Suburban was low bidder at $23,900 and Cyr was second at $24,395. Cyr received the contract for the job and BPW Chairman Allen Flye explained this was done "because we deemed him to be the most responsible bidder". Mr. Flye also stated that Town Counsel Vincent Stulgis had told the board it was within its legal rights to award the contract to other than the lowest bidder.

DELAY COMPLETION OF ROUTE 28

go north into Methuen and New Hampshire.

The entire plan for north of the river has now been placed in a consultant's hands, for re-study. A spokesman for the DPW said merely that a plan drawn by the state is now being used as a guide by the consultants, the Hugh Duffill Associates of Boston.

Last summer, a representative of the right-of-way division of the DPW called on many property owners just across the river in Methuen and verbally warned them that their land would be taken. The representative showed the residents a plan, including the access roads to the bridge on the Methuen side and the roadway going north.

Notice of official takings were supposed to be forthcoming this fall, the DPW man told the residents and they would, he said, have to vacate by spring.

It appears from the latest DPW statement that no land taking notices will be sent out until, at the earliest, late next summer.

Advertisements on the bids for the section of road are scheduled for late fall, 1958. They were originally scheduled for September, 1957.

The spokesman for the DPW had no specific explanation for the delay or the re-study program now underway concerning that section of the road.

It was learned from other sources, however, that the plan shown Methuen residents early this summer had received tentative approval at that time from the commissioner of public works. Many plans for working out the traffic pattern at the bridge had been drawn and the one finally given preliminary approval is the same one now being used as a "guide" for the consultant.

Officials familiar with the length of time needed to construct large sections of routes similar to Route 28 have figured that construction might start early in 1959, if the bids are requested in late 1958. Many contracts call for work to begin within 45 days of the signing.

If work did start in 1959, it certainly would be at least a year's project, these officials explain, because the project includes both the highway and bridge deck and is by far more extensive than many sections let out on contract already.

How To Send Your Child To College

STEPS YOU SHOULD TAKE NOW — AND SUGGESTIONS ON SOLVING THE MONEY PROBLEM

You can do it!

First, and most important, you can afford to send your child to college. Millions of American parents do it every year. Today, one third of all boys and girls of college age are going to college, and the percentage is going up every year. Ten years from now nearly half the youngsters in the country will seek a college education.

Many of these families who send children off to college have incomes of less than $100 a week. How do they do it? It takes a lot of careful planning.

IT'S WORTH PLANNING FOR. The average college graduate, today, earns 88 per cent more money than the average high school graduate. This totals nearly $100,000 more in a lifetime. The 20 per cent who attend college hold over 70 per cent of the jobs paying $5,000 or more each year. Seventy per cent of all those in executive positions over fifty years of age are college graduates. And of the prominent people listed in Who's Who, 89 per cent attended college.

The demand for college-trained people is skyrocketing. This is true not only in the professions and the sciences, but in the white-collar jobs, too. It means, that in the years ahead colleges will be harder to get into than ever before. But colleges will still be on the lookout for boys and girls who show promise and interest, who will make good citizens in the years to come. There will always be room for these.

The information on this page has been gathered by the Mutual Savings Banks of Massachusetts. It does not tell the complete story, but it contains many useful suggestions that may help you guide your child to the college of his choice.

How old is your child?

Educators say the earlier you start planning for college the better. In fact, you can start the day your child is born. But even if your youngster is in the last year of high school, college is still very much in the picture.

AGES 1 TO 12. If you are the parents of a younger child, you are in an ideal position to send him to college. You have plenty of time to carry out a program of saving, and experts say that savings can make the difference between your youngster's going to the college of his choice or going to none at all.

You can help your child prepare for college, even in kindergarten and grammar school. Encourage his interest in the world around him. Stimulate his mind by offering him educational books. The Children's Division of the Boston Public Library will gladly recommend a book list for various grades and ages. Other public libraries will do the same.

AGES 13 TO 16. If your child is now in junior high or the early years of high school, make sure he is taking a college course. This will probably mean a junior high and high school program which emphasizes English and Mathematics with a good exposure to Science and Social Studies. Liberal Arts colleges will demand foreign language study, while technical schools may want more Mathetics and Science. Other elective courses at high school are also acceptable to colleges.

Help your child think about a career after college. It may influence the choice of both institution and subjects. In your local public library you will find books and pamphlets with information on various careers, such as medicine, law, nursing, fashion — almost every subject of interest to a growing boy or girl.

AGES 17 AND 18. In the last two years of high school your youngster should choose the colleges to which he wishes to apply. The next section contains a list of things to consider. He should make a decision in time to submit his applications during his senior year. Application deadline dates will, of course, vary with the college. Note: Educators warn that you should apply to several institutions. Your child may not get into his "first choice."

How much does College Cost?

The U. S. Office of Education has figured the average cost of one year of college runs about $1600. That includes tuition, board and room fees and books. And the additional extras of clothing, laundry, cleaning, recreation and miscellaneous personal expenses. It does not include the cost of travel to and from college for vacations and weekends. Here, once more, you can see the financial advantage in choosing a college near home.

Naturally, some colleges cost more than others. In a recent article on this subject of college expense, it was estimated that a parent will have to pay about $2,500 (including personal expenses) . . . to send a son to a private, residential college in the East this year.

Expense figures can vary widely — but educators do agree that the cost of a college is not a real measure of its value.

WHAT COLLEGE COSTS IN NEW ENGLAND.

Here in Massachusetts, you are fortunate to be surrounded by some of the nation's oldest and finest universities. The figures below will give you a rough idea what tuition costs and average living expenses are each year at a few New England institutions: Amherst: $1,600; Boston College: $1,500; Brandeis University: $1,935; Dartmouth: $1,970; Harvard: $2,250; Lasell Junior College: $1,740; Lowell Technological Institute: $1,150; University of Maine: $1,380; University of Massachusetts: $890; Massachusetts Institute of Technology: $2,400; Merrimack: $1,100; Middlebury: $1,634; Radcliffe: $1,950; Simmons: $1,600; Smith: $1,975; State Teachers College: $580; Tufts: $2,750; University of Vermont: $1,635; Wellesley: $2,350; Williams: $1,650; Yale: $2,000.

How to Get the Money

Every expert in the field says savings will make the difference. How much you are able to put aside will, of course, depend on your means. But remember, even as little as $300-$400 of savings can get your child to college.

The earlier you start saving, the longer you have to save and the easier it will be. There are other sources that may help supplement your savings, but the first thing to do is to plan a systematic savings fund.

For instance, if your child is eight years old, you have 10 years to save for his education. Based on an interest rate of 3 per cent, if you can save $30 a month, you will have $4,198 by the time he is ready for college. If your youngster helps defray the cost by working, you should have enough money to see him through a four-year term.

Any savings plan depends on your earnings, the age of your child, and the college which your youngster has chosen.

Helpful Ideas at your Savings Bank

An officer of the Andover Savings Bank will help you plan the savings program you will need to send your child to college. He will suggest ways to make this fun for the whole family. For example, some people break up their college fund into three accounts. One earmarked for tuition, one for living expenses. The third for personal expenses, to which your child contributes from allowance or earnings, and makes his responsibility.

Perhaps you will want to open four accounts and save for each year of college at a time. This would be more convenient if your child is older. Once two years of college are saved for, you know your youngster is assured of at least a Junior College education.

SAVINGS BANK LIFE INSURANCE. You can guarantee that your child will have the money he needs for college with a Savings Bank Life Insurance policy on your life. If you should die before he reaches college age, the money will be available for his education.

If you are living when he is ready for college, you can either turn in some or all of the insurance for its cash value, or borrow against it (except in the case of term insurance which has no cash or loan value).

The important thing to remember is that insurance purchased to assure your child a college education should be on the life of the parent or person responsible for his support.

If you have never looked into Savings Bank Life Insurance as a guarantee for college expenses, it will be worth your while to do so. It provides especially low-cost protection in any form. The Andover Savings Bank will be happy to give you further information on this service.

FREE BOOKLET AVAILABLE

For college-minded parents and youngsters, a special free booklet, entitled "How to Send Your Child to College," is available upon request at the Andover Savings Bank.

This helpful reference booklet contains additional, up-to-date information, including tuition and living costs at more than one hundred New England colleges and educational institutions. Drop in at the savings bank nearest you and get your copy today.

Orders will be taken for Christmas trees and greens by Charles Smyth and Philip Thomes. Paintings which are now on display in the Choir room will be on sale by the Brotherhood.

The Senior High Pilgrim Fellowship will have a wishing well where youngsters may grab for a surprise gift. Miss Priscilla Reynolds is chairman of this project and her committee consists of Doris DeHart, Helen Ellis, Jeffrey Hall, Robert Mehlhouse and Tibor Toth.

A carousel and movies for younger children will be under the supervision of the Junior High Pilgrim Fellowship. David Leonard, Irving Stowers and John Gorrie Jr. have charge of the movies and carousel tickets will be sold by Renee Dubocq, Lynn Moriarty and Bethiah Crane.

There will be baby-sitting facilities for the very young. Tea will be served by Mrs. Fred Tarbox and Mrs. George Ainscow and their committee and there will be a beverage table with a variety of cold drinks.

A baked ham dinner under the supervision of Mrs. Alex Henderson, Mrs. Dow and Mrs. Smyth will be served at 5:30 and again at 6:45. The hostesses for dinner will be Mrs. Clayton Northey and Mrs. Elmer Peterson.

Gifts, home-baked things, candy, aprons, preserves, jellies, fancy work, handkerchiefs, plants, dolls' and children's clothes, candles, earrings and Christmas decorations will be sold at the different tables, each of which will be decorated to represent some storyland character.

holds an edge over the Red of Exeter in the long series, with 39 wins, while Exeter has won 31. There have been six ties. On the season's records, Andover must be considered a slight favorite with a record of four victories against strong college freshmen opposition and only one loss to Deerfield. Exeter has won two, while losing three to the freshmen of U.N.H., Bowdoin and Tufts.

Last year, Exeter's undefeated team won handily by a 45-6 score. Only the margin of last year's game separates the two schools in total scoring. In 76 games, Exeter has scored 908 points to 864 for Andover. In 17 games against Exeter, no Sorota-coached team has ever failed to score in the traditional contest.

Delay Decision on Sidewalk

The BPW has delayed acting on William Hardesty's request for a sidewalk on Dartmouth st. in front of his home. Highway Supt. Stanley Chlebowski told the Board Hardesty has asked for this for 17 years but Board members recalled putting in another walk on the opposite side of the street within recent years. Chairman Allan Flye said he favors constructing the sidewalk on the dead-end street but Secretary Alex Henderson said other sidewalks might be much more important to more people. He suggested extending the Shawsheen rd. sidewalk toward the high school with whatever money is available. A decision was postponed for a week to get an up-to-date balance in the account.

Sewer Report

Camp, Dresser and McKee will present their town-wide sewer report in two weeks, the BPW learned Monday. The crew working here on the project was diverted to draw plans and specifications for the Castle Heights and Juliette st. sewer projects, thus delaying the report slightly.

Haggett's Pond Landtaking

A Geneva rd. resident, Charles F. Allen, asked the BPW Monday night about prospective land takings involving his property. He was told the land taken by the BPW for a possible enlarging of the pond was across the road and would not involve his land — but water would be on three sides of his property.

Braeland Roads Nearly Done

Residents of the Braeland development off Elm st. have asked the BPW to inspect the new roads, hoping to get approval for an article to accept them at the annual meeting. Contractor Donald Dow has said he'll be through with the work within a week and the Board agreed to inspect them at that time.

Pond Level Up

Haggett's Pond rose 3.7 inches after the weekend rain. It measured 80.1 inches below high water mark Monday morning after once reaching a low of 83.8 inches.

Sewer Projects

The BPW voted to advertise for bids on the Castle Heights and Juliette st. sewer projects, after receiving corrected plans from Camp, Dresser and McKee and a set of specifications. A total of $25,000 was appropriated for these projects at the annual town meeting. The Board hopes to get work started by mid-November to beat freezing weather.

BPW Activities

Highway Supt. Stanley Chlebowski reported to the BPW Monday night that Greenwood and Prospect rds. have been tarred and gravelled, with another coat of tar due in a week. Crews spent considerable time patching road surfaces where rain had caused recently-filled excavations to settle. Tree crews spent much of the last week working to clear the road into the Ballardvale well.

Drainage Work

The BPW also authorized drainage construction at three locations. A catch basin will be installed on River rd. where ice forms every winter due to faulty drainage; another will go in on River st., for the same reason and a two-inch pipe will be installed on Dascomb rd. where the road now is breaking up at a culvert. Some $6000 in the appropriation

The poised young woman at the right of course. You can tell at a glance . . . and that's why the Ninety Percent Test is so important. Adults judge even children (and children judge each other) by what they see. It's true that clothes may create slightly less than 90% of the impression Juniors make, but the test is just as important.

Another point to remember: Because children's clothes become so grimy so quickly, it's especially important to have them drycleaned regularly and often. (This kind of care carries a built-in bonus. In addition to looking fresher, drycleaned clothes last longer.)

Great Books Group To Meet

The Great Books Discussion Group which meets at the Memorial Hall Library every other Tuesday evening during the autumn through spring season will have its next meeting on Tuesday, Nov. 12, at 7:45 o'clock. The book for discussion is to be Descartes "Meditations."

The Great Books Discussion Group is always open to new membership. For full information, call the library, Andover 314, or attend one of the meetings.

Book Week At The Library

For several years, the Memorial Hall Library has observed the annual National Book Week by displaying in the main reading room a large number of the best of the fall publications. Borrowers are invited to the library at any time during the week to look over the dozens of beautiful, brightly jacketed books and to make reserves for the titles with special appeal. In the Children's room a similar exhibit of books for young people is arranged, and at this time many parents take the opportunity to make selections of titles for their Christmas gift lists.

Each year the librarians feel that the current publications are "even better than last year." There will be fiction, history, travel, practical arts and fine arts represented, when the books go on display for the week of Nov. 17-23. Many readers have planned to look over the books on the afternoon of Open House, when the displays are fresh and often arranged to appeal to special interests.

School Displays Special Collection For Teachers

During American Education Week, Nov. 10-16, the Andover High School library will feature a cooperative book display, arranged by Miss Carlson with materials of the school library and a loan from the Memorial Hall Library. The books represent a wider field of interests than the purely curriculum field; all would be good for teachers to know, if only superficially.

Prizes Awarded At Vale Party

Over 150 kiddies were on hand to participate in the Halloween parade and party held last Thursday evening. The parade started at the Community Room and the children marched to the skating rink on the playground where judges Mrs. Albert Frederick and George Hutchins had a difficult time awarding the following prizes: first, Lady in the Bookshop, Elaine Demers; second, chef, Douglas Audette and third, cat, Signe Rosenblad. These awards were presented back at the community room.

The smaller children paraded to the front of the hall where the fishbowl was and grabbed for new pennies. Ice cream, cookies, doughnuts and tonic were served.

Following the program the children were advised to go right home so as to be eligible to win a dollar if their phone rang and they were at home to answer. These winners were Fred Froburg, Jay Pimpare, Chuckey Jacobson, Charles Bentley and Lorraine Dunn.

The following served on the committee: chairman Durwood

Precinct Meetings Good Idea

The Planning Board's idea to have precinct meetings about zoning changes is a good one. We hope voters of the town think so too and turn out in goodly numbers to discuss these important suggestions.

We have been outspoken against many of the Planning Board's proposals, particularly as they concerned two-acre lots and up-grading large sections of the town to one-acre lots.

But all these ideas deserve a hearing — and lots of discussion — before they are put in the annual town meeting warrant. It appears that the Board wants to know how residents of the town feel about the proposals and the voters should tell the Board exactly how they feel, pro or con.

We have been skeptical about precinct meetings of recent years because there seems to be little interest among the voters. Too few attend the annual town meeting, never mind smaller sessions on specific problems. But perhaps the men and women responsible for running the town, nearly 10,000 strong, will respond this time.

It's worth trying and we hope it works well.

Politicians At Work?

We hope the state knows what it's doing in sending a section of Route 28 back for further study — thus delaying the highway's completion until 1960.

With the facts we have available, the decision looks anything but sensible — and harmful results may be forthcoming from the undue delay.

This one section — north of the river — is vital to the highway's success in relieving traffic congestion along present Route 28. Without it, motorists heading north will have to get back on present Route 28 this side of the river — creating traffic problems and clogging the busy streets.

It will, to be sure, be easier for commuters who live here — for the new sections of Route 28 south of the river will be opened up for use when they are completed. But this falls far short of the real contribution of this new highway — elimination of through traffic from town and city streets where local traffic already causes a king-sized headache.

It seems strange to us that the state would send this section of the route back for more study after completing a plan that was thought good enough to warrant verbally telling homeowners their property would be taken. This is usually done only when a plan is approved, so that land and home owners affected can be notified while others can be certain their property won't be affected. As it stands now, a lot of people are worried about the possible land-takings because they have been told the state will take their land — only to have the plan virtually scrapped. This just leaves everyone hanging in air, without any real assurances either way.

Some suspicious persons have advanced the idea that the DPW is just trying to stall off the road long enough to use its completion as a lever for prying more money from the Legislature. We think this probably is not so, for, as we understand it, the money necessary to complete the project is encumbered and may not be used for other projects.

While this particular suspicion may not be true, we do believe that the change in administration and in DPW commissioners may have had something to do with this problem — for apparently a plan was given some sort of approval early last summer, prior to the change in commissioners. It is possible that the in-coming commissioner or the year-old administration on Beacon Hill had something to do with the shift in policy.

Down the Years with The Townsman

50 Years Ago — November, 1907

The County Commissioners came to Andover Tuesday and located the lines of Poor st. and Porter rd.

Tomorrow, the Phillips Academy team plays Yale Freshmen at New Haven.

Election is next Tuesday, with the polls opening at 6 a.m.

The Whistle of the fire department, which has been out of order for several weeks, has now been returned from Boston, where it was repaired. It should be installed shortly.

A Tuesday evening Reading Club has been started by the young people of the Free Church.

The senior class will present its annual class play Friday night, Nov. 22.

The Memorial Hall Library has a bulletin on "Helpful Books for Sunday School Workers". The books have been placed in a case below the bulletin so they can be examined by anyone interested.

The Knights of Good Counsel recently reorganized at St. Augustine's Church and elected Charles Bingham grand knight.

The Association football team will send a team to Phillips Academy Saturday to play the boys in soccer football.

Several new voters were added to the roster Saturday night at the final session before the election.

25 Years Ago — November, 1932

The election campaign comes to a climax tonight when both major parties will hold rallies. The Republicans, with the candidates for governor and lieutenant governor, will meet at 8 at the town hall. The Democrats, also with the top candidates, will stage their rally at Punchard at 7:30.

After a year of trial, the fire department will again begin sounding the all-out signal after box alarms. Several residents petitioned the Selectmen to resume the practice, pointing out that the year-long trial had not worked well. Hereafter, the two-signal will mean all-out and will be used after all box alarms except small brush fires and the like.

There is a total of 5164 voters eligible to go to the polls Tuesday. There appears to be a lot of interest in the state election as well as in contests for congress and the state legislature.

The world-famous opera "The Secret of Suzanna" will be given at Abbot Academy Nov. 8 at 8 p.m. Because of election, the results will be posted around the stage at appropriate intervals.

There will be a Charity Concert and Ball next Friday night in town hall in celebration of Armistice Day. The elaborate plans indicate this to be one of the most ambitious celebrations planned here in a long time.

10 Years Ago — November, 1947

A real old-fashioned Christmas is being planned for Andover, with merchants, organizations and individuals cooperating. Included will be community carol singing, prizes for the best-decorated homes and store fronts, community programs of various types, special church services and special lighting along Main st.

An enthusiastic group of parishioners and friends attended the West Parish Church inaugural dinner, marking the start of a drive for $20,000 to renovate the vestry.

The visiting nurse program will be the subject of discussion at a meeting of the Andover Red Cross Chapter's directors next Friday.

The newly-organized Disabled American Veterans Chapter is conducting a membership drive. The group met recently in the Veterans Service office to make plans for the drive and to discuss raising money to be spent for Christmas packages for patients at Cushing Hospital.

Allan R. Crite will speak Nov. 16 at the Library's open house, part of the annual celebration of National Book Week.

Presidents' Night was successfully celebrated recently by the Shawsheen Village Woman's Club.

The Junior High's Booster Day will be next Saturday, organized by parents and townspeople interested in the athletic program of that school.

GOURMET "STEALS"

BY
BETTY BLAISDELL

The honest bounty of the most painstaking kitchen, I've discovered, consists mainly of good classical dishes — delicious achievements because the cook knows her art as well as her limitations — and no time does she waste (preparing for dinner guests, at least) on whimsy and experimentation.

This is one lesson I had to learn the hard way even though my best inspiration in the realm of cookery — my grandmother — warned that there could be no gastronomic enchantment in "something new and different" unless it was basically good and perfectly executed.

It was interesting to me to read in Samuel Chamberlain's wonderful book "Bouquet de France" that this same principle was used by probably the most famous of all French cooks — La Mere Fillioux of Lyon — who, in her celebrated restaurant, served only six perfect main dishes from which to make a selection.

Well, even though most of us never learn to truffle a dove or cut a chicken from its skin in one piece, bone and give it the fancy French treatment including complete reconstruction and back into the skin again, we can turn out a superb cocotte or two.

Mrs. Ernest Krakauer, for instance, does a delicious thing called "Serbian Rice" which is one of her family classics. She was hard to pin down for measurements because she likes plenty of freedom here, but for a family of six she suggests the following.

SERBIAN RICE

(Mrs. Ernest Krakauer)

2 lbs. cubed veal

½ cup rice

Beef stock (2 bouillon cubes

in hot water will do — about

1 pint in all)

1 tsp. ginger

salt and pepper to taste

10-15 drops of Maggi seasoning

1 onion, chopped

3 heaping Tbl. sour cream

Parmesan cheese

This is a wonderful family casserole which is as big a hit with children as it is with adults. The finished product should be moist, the veal very tender and there should be a nice browning to the top.

Roll the veal in ginger and salt and pepper. Sauté the onion in butter or other fat, then add the veal and brown. Meanwhile boil the rice in beef stock in your favorite manner of cooking rice or according to directions on box, but when tender remove from stove and do not drain. Stir in the browned veal, plus the pan drippings to which has been added some boiling water, then add the Maggi seasoning. Stir in the soured cream; pour into greased casserole or cocotte (if you want to help the children out with French); smooth the top, add grated cheese, paprika, melted butter and bake 30 minutes in a 350 degree oven. You can prepare this ahead as Mrs. Krakauer often does and keep refrigerated, but if you do allow another 15 or 20 minutes in the oven.

CREVETTE ET RIZIERE (Shrimp and rice)

This is not a French recipe . . . I'm just playing around with French words for amusement. It is one, in fact, I use on my best friends at least twice a year and lest I be accused once more of hoarding it, see if you'd like to try it:

2 lbs. large raw shrimp

1 Tbl. fresh lemon juice

3 Tbl. salad oil

¾ cup raw rice

2 Tbl. butter

¼ cup minced green pepper

¼ cup minced onion

1 tsp. salt

1/8 tsp. pepper

1/8 tsp. mace

dash cayenne pepper

1 can undiluted condensed

tomato soup

1 cup heavy cream

½ cup sherry

½ cup slivered almonds

The hardest part of this, which is shelling and deveining the shrimp, can be done early in the day. The rest, even as late as an hour and a half before your guests arrive, can be done with a minimum of effort, after you're all dressed and ready with everything else.

After shelling and deveining the shrimp cook in boiling, salted water for 5 minutes. Drain. Place in a 2-qt. casserole; sprinkle with lemon juice, oil. You can cook the rice now or wait until later, but if you do it early, refrigerate both the shrimp and rice.

About an hour and a half before serving time, sauté in the butter, the green pepper and onion. Add to shrimp in casserole along with the cooked and drained rice, the seasonings and all the rest of the ingredients except ¼ cup of almonds and paprika. Top with the reserved almonds, then sprinkle with the paprika; bake uncovered for 55 min. or until bubbly and serve in the same casserole. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

MINUTE PIZZAS

(Mrs. F. J. Leone)

A very simple and delicious suggestion for serving a snack to "drop-in" guests . . . particularly popular with the younger set.

English muffins, cut in quarters

Any good pizza sauce such as Prince

Squares of cheese for melting

Anchovies

Prepare, place on a cookie sheet and bake 8 to 10 minutes in a 400 degree oven.

Bad Water Leak Fixed Last Friday

Thousands of gallons of water poured out of a broken Shawsheen rd. water main last Friday night, disappearing into a swamp beside the road.

Water Dept. Supt. Donald Bassett said crews worked from 7 p.m. Nov. 1 until 5:30 the next morning, before fixing the break. Water was shut off in a wide area, from Stevens st. to Lowell st., including Lincoln and Beech circles.

The leak apparently resulted from the hard rain. Bassett said the bulldozer had been left on a section that was recently back-filled. The driving rain caused the fill to settle and the weight of the machine broke a gate of a gate box, near where the 12-inch and six-inch mains join.

The leak was first noticed at the pumping station, when pressure suddenly dropped. Within minutes, Phillips Academy had called, reporting a similar drop in pressure there. The water, however, was running off into the swamp and was not visible until department men went out along the road to hunt for it.

"It couldn't have happened at a worse time", Bassett commented, because so many families were affected by the shut-off just at the dinner hour.

Men from the department were back at the scene later Saturday morning filling in the road.

The Brox Construction Co. will be asked to pay damages, as voted by the BPW, because the dozer belonged to that firm.

Peter Kayworth Had Fourth Birthday

On last Thursday morning Peter Kayworth, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Kayworth celebrated his fourth birthday at his home on Chandler cir.

While the youngsters enjoyed a happy time together the mothers enjoyed a coffee hour. The little ones present were Scott Stevenson, Gary Crotch, Lindsay and Scott Crompton, John Alston and David Wilde, all of whom enjoyed the birthday cake and ice cream served by Mrs. Kayworth.

to $60-70,000, depending on how the land is acquired and the cost of putting it in shape.

Post Office ave. would be considered as an exit, according to the merchants' plan and would have to be paved and repaired.

The Selectmen agreed to report on their negotiations with property owners within two weeks, although they explained that financing that type of project might be a stumbling block.

Money Scarce

There isn't enough money in the parking meter fund to do it, Chairman Sidney P. White stated. And an appropriation of $25,000, voted some time ago, might not be enough. This money was voted for the Selectmen to use in creating the off-street parking areas but hasn't been touched yet, White explained.

PARKING IS THE KEY

The merchants repeatedly stressed the importance of having parking areas right next to the stores, not two or three blocks away. They said it appears unlikely that customers can be educated to use the municipal parking area, just above the Postoffice because it has become apparent that customers want to either park where they want to shop or they keep going to some place where they can park close by.

W. R. Hill called special attention to this by commenting that Methuen residents had been shopping here because they couldn't park easily in Lawrence. Now that it is easier to park in Lawrence, he said, not only will the out-of-town people return there but local men and women will go to Lawrence to shop because it is getting easier to park than in Andover.

Chairman White agreed that a business community must either grow or fall back, but can't stand still. He warned that unless the local business areas grow, the merchants will be faced with competition from a West Andover shopping center. In this light, he urged the merchants to approve and work for the proposed expansion of business zones south on Main st., as suggested by the Planning Board.

The merchants were certain that areas for parking must be located right in the center of the shopping area. An alternate, on Barnard st., would be satisfactory, they felt, if the land could be obtained.

The plan the merchants put forward was generally the one discussed last year, when the Selectmen talked with property owners about the possibility they might sell street-front land on Park st. The estimates were high, the Selectmen recalled, which led them to drop the project.

Another possibility, Selectman Stafford A. Lindsay said, would be the use of land behind Park st. but using Post Office ave. as an entrance and its extension as an exit onto Elm st. This, the merchants felt, would be good if a foot path could be acquired through the alley onto Park st. P.O. Avenue

Post Office ave., it is recalled, has been the subject of considerable debate over the years. Set in the heart of the downtown area, it is privately owned. The police department has many times expressed the wish that the town could own it, for better traffic control and safety in the square. And the Selectmen have tried, as late as last winter, to arrive at some agreement with the owner, Samuel Reznik. An article in the annual town meeting warrant for $5000 to fix the avenue, pending arrangements to acquire it from Mr. Reznik, was withdrawn when legal counsel said too many problems existed. The avenue does not conform to present-day widths and other restrictions placed by the Planning Board. Thus some question has been raised as to how it may legally be accepted by the town without first being fixed by the private owners.

Several merchants commented that these problems probably could be worked out if the town decides off-street parking must be created in the area.

Attending the meeting from the Board of Trade were George Lister, Stanley Swanton, W. R. Hill, Milton Cole and Douglas Howe, Police Chief David Nicoll attended, with the three selectmen, Mr. White, Mr. Lindsay and William V. Emmons.

(Editor's Note: A separate news story in this issue tells about the parking meter fund, as it was discussed at this session.)

INDUSTRIAL OUTLOOK POOR

factors other than the Sylvania-Corning decision. Money for private business expansion is expensive, he pointed out and firms depending on government contracts are tightening their belts too.

Not Unexpected

While the New York company's decision to drop its plans here was announced suddenly Monday night, it wasn't entirely unexpected. There had been rumors for some months that the firm would not proceed with its expansion program and remarks of company officials last week at an industrial forum tended to support this belief. The statements at that forum coincided with the reasons given in the statement concerning Andover.

The site in West Andover, acquired just a year ago, included part of the Shattuck Farm and the Webb property. Andover officials and townspeople alike hailed the news then and turned out in substantial numbers to make a change in the zoning law required by the firm.

Attending the meeting with SYLCO officials Monday were the Board of Selectmen - Chairman Sidney P. White, Secretary Stafford Lindsay and William V. Emmons; and Industrial Commission Chairman Ulrich. Dr. Davenport, comptroller Garth Edwards and Robert T. Sheehan represented Sylvania-Corning. Also attending were representatives of the R.M. Bradley Co., real estate firm which handled the original negotiations.

Reasons Presented

The statement issued by Dr. Davenport, listing six major reasons for dropping its Andover plans, follows:

"In the 10 months since Sylvania Electric Products Ind. purchased options on a site for a proposed atomic center in Andover (these options having been taken over on April 1, 1957 by the Sylvania-Corning Nuclear Corp.), there have been several significant developments in the nuclear industry which have resulted in a degree of uncertainty as to the short-term future of that industry.

"These developments include: "(1) A steady build-up, even over the past few months, of a very high degree of competition within the industry.

(2) Peacetime uses of atomic energy have not developed as rapidly as was anticipated.

(3) The Federal Government has initiated cutbacks in spending, which have affected the atomic energy industry.

(4) Currently, industry as a whole is taking a "breather" by reducing capital spending for plants and equipment because of the fact that manufacturing capacity has temporarily exceeded demand.

(5) An increasingly large share of the export of nuclear equipment, materials, and components, is being taken by other countries which have less cumbersome regulatory procedures.

(6) The materials of the nuclear industry are expensive, government-controlled, and are in short supply, making production scheduling difficult.

"Although we are certain that each of the above developments will have only a relatively short-term effect on the nuclear energy industry and that each situation will ultimately be improved or corrected, it is obvious that this is a time for hard realism in our industry.

"This 'hard realism' does not, however, lose sight of the fact that the nuclear energy industry is one of the most promising fields which has ever come into being. But the current market conditions make it clear that the atomic energy industry in this country for some time to come will be largely developmental in nature.

"This means, frankly, that most of the industry's work in the foreseeable future must be done in facilities that are basically developmental laboratories or comparatively small production plants closely allied with the laboratories, if the proper foundations for future growth are to be laid.

"When the foundations have been established, when atomic product lines have taken more definite shape, and when the market has been considerably expanded, then will come the time for large decentralized production plants.

BLANCHARD - DESROCHES

At a 10 o'clock Nuptial Mass in St. Augustine's Church, Saturday morning, Miss Rhoda Marie DesRoches, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Joseph DesRoches, 135 No. Main st., became the bride of Walter Edward Blanchard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter M. Blanchard, 4 Broad st., Danvers. The Very Rev. Henry B. Smith, O.S.A., officiated before an altar arranged with white chrysanthemums and fern.

Escorted by her father, the bride chose a gown of satin and Chantilly lace fashioned with lace bodice sprinkled with iridescent pearls and sequins, Sabrina neckline, long pointed sleeves of lace and full bouffant skirt of satin with front lace panel and ended in a sweeping chapel train. Her fingertip veil of French illusion fell from a crown of iridescent pearls and sequins and she carried a bouquet of roses, Stephanotis and Ivy centered with a lavender orchid.

Miss Lorraine O. DesRoches of Andover, as maid of honor, wore a deep Shrimp chiffon cocktail dress styled with Italian neckline, capped sleeves and had applied velveteen leaves trimmed with iridescent pearls on the bodice and full sweeping skirt. The bridesmaids, Mrs. Sally Hudgins, Miss Elaine Dumont, both of Andover and Mrs. Elsie Howell of Tewksbury wore similar gowns in Cotillion Blue. Their headpieces were jeweled crowns in flower formation to match their gowns as did their mitts and shoes. All carried cascades of button poms and croton leaves.

Frederick Kulakowski of Danvers performed best man duties and the ushers included Thomas Dunn of Danvers, David Karlin of Manchester and Salvatore DeSalvo of Andover.

Zannini, played incidental music and hymns, accompanied by the soloist, Miss Camille Nicolosi.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a traditional gown of white slipper satin and Chantilly lace, fashioned with a fitted bodice and hand clipped Sabrina neckline. The skirt featured a wind swept panel of white velvety stephanotis, imported seed pearls and iridescent sequins over Chantilly lace. The cathedral train was caught with two side panels forming a butterfly train. A fitted cloche held her veil of pure silk illusion trimmed with the same velvety leaves of the gown. She carried a crescent shaped bouquet of stephanotis and pink sweetheart roses centered with an orchid.

The bridal attendants included Miss Mary J. Leone of Methuen, as maid of honor; Mrs. Joseph A. Leone Jr., Mrs. John R. ### Racer Spoke On Driving Safety

Lee Wallard, winner of the famed Indianapolis 500 mile auto race in 1951, addressed the student body of Andover High School on the subject of highway safety at last Thursday's morning assembly.

A personable and effective speaker, well versed in his subject, Mr. Wallard spiced his talk with personal experiences on the race tracks and illustrated the elaborate safety precautions that race drivers take before committing their cars and themselves to speed. Carefully knitting this fact to today's highway driving practices, he endeavored to show how, in most instances, the race track is safer than our overcrowded roads, with their would-be race drivers. A 17-minute film in color showed thrilling shots of the 500 mile race and gave brief instructional talks on car handling techniques and proper car maintenance.

The presentation was sponsored by the Champion Spark Plug Co. and has already been presented to over a million high school students nationally. Arrangements for the talk in Andover were made by John M. Murray and on the speaker's platform were Officer William F. Tammany of the Andover Police Department, representing Chief Nichol and William Press of the Registry of Motor Vehicles. Rand Gesing, president of the Student Council, introduced Robert Graham, who in turn introduced Mr. Wallard.

Income From Parking Meters Barely Exceeds Expenses

Parking meter fees are barely meeting 1957 expenses, it was revealed this week.

Chairman Sidney P. White of the Board of Selectmen, while discussing off-street parking with a Board of Trade Committee, warned that little help should be expected from the meter income when considering development of parking sites.

Expenses charged against the fund come to $10,445 and the income is only a little larger.

One answer to the see-saw balance could be a flat five-cent fee for the meters instead of the 12-minutes-for-a-penny system used now.

Mr. White asked Trade Board members to consider this step and ask their colleagues their opinion.

Immediate reaction from the members attending the conference on off-street parking was favorable. The merchants felt that too many people now allow themselves the minimum time on the meter, then rush through their shopping in fear of getting a ticket.

Members felt that money could be saved by going to the five-cent minimum, because fewer coins would have to be handled and the wear and tear on the meters would be less.

Police Chief David Nicoll agreed, explaining that Andover is one of the few towns or cities still accepting pennies in the meters.

Actual expenses incurred against the meter fund come to $10,445 - two officers, $8320; maintenance and repairs, $250; marking and painting street lines, $900; overhaul at factory, $975. The final item, Chief Nicoll reported, won't be repeated next year, as this is the first year since 1948 that meters have been sent away for reconditioning.

The meter fund is running so close, Selectman White reported, that a $6000 transfer voted last March couldn't have been paid entirely from past years' receipts. If the entire amount, slated for constructing the parking area on the Shaw property, had been used, it would have come partially from current receipts. Only $3000 was needed, however.

This, he said, indicates how little money is available from that source to construct further off-street parking areas.

It was generally agreed at the session that any future parking area constructed by the town should be metered. Merchants felt that five cents for a two-hour period would be fair, as opposed to the five cents and hour rate on the streets.

The merchants also suggested that the upper portion of the Shaw property be metered, allowing free parking in the rear section for all-day use.

The Board of Trade members also made the point that parking meter funds could at least partially off-set the cost of establishing the off-street parking areas, if not entirely paying for them.

$295 ?

In buying a diamond, all but diamond experts invest in an unknown quantity!

The diamond above may be worth $695 or not even $295... how can you tell? Size is just ONE factor... there are MANY others.

The majority of diamonds are sold in "packaged deals" - the stone is mounted and you buy the "unit" for a price, too often far beyond the worth of the diamond in the ring.

At Scannell's we don't sell diamonds this way. We handle nothing but PERFECT, BLUE-WHITE GEMS from South Africa... and we can and WILL show you the Kimberly price listing for the stones you see. Further, we will sell you that Gem for ONLY 20% ABOVE OUR COST! That can be a saving of DOUBLE what you'd pay for the same size stone elsewhere. We will set the diamond in a mounting of today's design - at the price you wish to pay - then you have a NEW, PERFECT DIAMOND RING!

83 years of integrity as Reputable Jewelers guarantee what we say and sell!
