Far-Reaching Plan Described For Main St. Development

A dramatic re-development program for Main st., coupled with immediate off-street parking, has been proposed by a group of interested citizens.

A joint meeting of town boards and officials heard a general outline of the plan Monday night. Wallace M. Haselton, executive vice president of the Merrimack Valley National Bank, presented the idea. But he pointed out that the statement was a joint effort of a small committee appointed by a larger group of citizens that met last week to discuss the Main st. problems.

Serving on the smaller committee, which drafted the statement, were Haselton, Louis S. Finger, president of the Andover Savings Bank; John M. Kemper, headmaster of Phillips Academy and William G. Perry of Central st., a noted architect.

Haselton told the meeting — including the Planning Board, Selectmen, Finance Committee and representatives of the Taxpayers Association — that a long-range plan for Main st. is a pressing necessity. Taking the general form of plans developed and put into effect in Williamsburg, Pa. and Princeton, N.J., Haselton envisioned an Andover plan that would control architecture on Main st. so that it was harmonious. A plan also, he explained, should be developed so that the growth of the street and its revitalization over the years could follow a well-thought-out pattern, rather than become a hodge-podge of structures built without reference to other structures on the street.

Need Parking Now

Haselton said an integral part of the committee's thinking is the immediate need for off-street parking. And he urged positive action on two articles before the town meeting in March, calling for a total of $100,000 for off-street parking.

The large, general committee, which appointed the four-man group to confer with town officials, met Jan. 27. Included among the guests were merchants, businessmen, town officials and interested citizens. They generally agreed, Haselton said, that off-street parking and a long-range plan for the town's business growth in the down-town area are needed.

TWO MORE CHANCES TO REGISTER TO VOTE

Only two more opportunities are available to register to vote in the March election.

Registrars of voters will be at Peabody House, Phillips Academy, tomorrow night, Feb. 7, from 7-9.

And a 10-hour registration will be held Feb. 11 at the Town House, from noon until 10 p.m.

Unregistered residents, who fail to register prior to 10 p.m. Feb. 11 will not be eligible to vote, March 3, according to Town Clerk George Winslow.

Lively Contests Likely In March 3 Election

Polio Drive Tops 1957 By $126

March of Dimes contributions to date amount to $3,716, according to Co-Chairman Woodrow Crowley. The sum of $3,590 was collected last year.

The sum was raised during the Mothers' March Jan. 29. But Crowley this week urged residents who were not contacted during the one-night drive to send their contributions to the fire station. Crowley said many events scheduled the same night as the March meant that many residents could not be contacted.

During the evening of the 29th,

Spirited contests for six elective offices will highlight the town election March 3.

And in addition, the town manager question, defeated a year ago, will again be on the ballot for voter decision.

The contested offices are Selectman-Assessor, School Committee, Planning Board, Board of Public Works, Moderator and Constable.

A three-way contest features the Selectmen's race, with incumbent Sidney P. White challenged by Lee E. Noyes and Roy A. Russell.

For the School Committee,

Hungarian Cabaret Saturday

WATCHING AND LEARNING - Mrs. Rezoe Kun of High st., second from left, is giving lessons in Hungarian cooking to many local women, who will hold dinner parties prior to the Hungarian Cabaret in Lawrence Saturday night. Mrs. Alfred Fuller, left, Mrs. Jerome Andrews Jr. and Mrs. Munro Leaf spent last Saturday morning in Mrs. Kun's kitchen getting tips on Hungarian dishes.

In anticipation of dinner parties to be given locally, before the Hungarian cabaret Feb. 8 in Lawrence, many local hostesses are learning the techniques of Hungarian cookery.

Among them are Mrs. George Brown, Mrs. Munro Leaf, Mrs. Alfred Fuller, Mrs. Samuel Rogers, Mrs. Jerome Andrews Jr., Mrs. John Edmunds, Mrs. John Pickering and Mrs. Carl Rhoerig.

The cabaret, scheduled for St. Mary's Auditorium in Lawrence, will combine general dancing with entertainment by some of the fine Hungarian talent now in this country. Many are recent refugees and speak little English, but will be entertained here prior to the cabaret. The Greater Lawrence Hungarian Relief Committee is sponsoring the cabaret as a means to complete its work of resettling and reuniting Hungarian refugee families. It also is being sponsored as a tribute to the families already settled here, who have shown good adjustment to living in a strange country.

The artists, arriving here Saturday, will dine at Mrs. Fuller's home and will be put up in many homes in the town.

floor of the fire station as unsafe. His action came after a request for an inspection by Fire Chief Henry Hilton.

Coleman said, in a written opinion, that the building was never meant to support the weights now involved in fire equipment. He suggested that additional steel beams and lally columns will be necessary to further support the structure. The floor now has a "rolling sag of from one-half to three-quarters of an inch as the 13-ton piece of equipment moves over the floor".

Coleman said steel beams and supporting columns put into the building months ago, on his suggestion, had assured "some degree of safety" but did not stop the

Hilton said he will have contractors examine the structure and make independent recommendations and cost estimates for its reconstruction to meet safety requirements.

PLAN FOR MAIN STREET DESCRIBED

idea for the future, Haselton pointed out that Main st. valuations, which he said have been pegged at about one million dollars, should not be allowed to decrease. While emphasizing that no one is opposed to shopping centers, he also predicted that a 20 percent drop in business could be anticipated if the centers are completed and nothing is done to allow the Main st. merchants to compete, by providing ample parking facilities. Thus, he declared, if some $64,000 is now realized in taxes from Main st. property and business decreases, abatements will be requested and the town might look forward to receiving 20 percent less taxes.

Rather than allowing this to happen, he suggested taking prompt steps to provide parking; then work in the direction of a complete plan for the central business area.

Finance Committee Chairman Harold Rutter disagreed with the million dollar valuation claim. He said that list of valuations includes non-taxable property, such as the town house. Rutter told the group he had been "choosy" and came up with a total valuation of $366,000 and a total tax of $23,427. He did not include the town house, Postoffice, stores where parking facilities now exist or stores where the individual owner is planning to construct parking facilities independently. His list of valuations ran from the square to Punchard ave. and up Park st. a short distance.

He also pointed to a $768 tax loss if the Barnard and Shorten properties are purchased and taken out of private hands.

Varied Views

Albert Cole Jr., addressing the joint session, proposed spending money on replacement of the municipal structures now located downtown. He said the $100,000 being proposed for off-street parking, plus $15,000 in an article for town hall improvements, should be lumped together to build a joint town hall, police and fire station on the Shaw property. He said two contractors had assured him a building of sufficient size, with brick veneer and plastered finish inside, could be built for about $180,000. When reminded that the four-year-old proposal for a new town office building called for $365,000, Cole said he would recheck the figures. But he insisted that the basic idea of using the $115,000 to build new town structures instead of buying and tearing down someone else's old buildings, makes sense. He suggested that parking could be created on the present site of the town hall and fire station, once the new buildings are up on the Shaw property.

During the session, Haselton stressed repeatedly that the committee he represents does not believe the Main st. section is going to go down-hill. But he said that competition from shopping centers, if the merchants are not allowed to compete in terms of parking, could have a bad affect. He also stressed that a plan for the street might be developed with private funds, but in conjunction with a Planning Board study proposed for 1958. This survey, according to Planning Board members, is an over-all business study of the Town but will accent downtown problems too. Members felt that perhaps the study Haselton proposed, to develop a long-range plan for architectural harmony, etc., might be quite a different plan than the one they will obtain.

The Planning Board also announced that it has unanimously voted to approve both off-street parking articles. They took action last Thursday afternoon. The Board had previously voted not to approve off-street parking proposals.

Other Ideas

During Monday night's discussion, there was mention of a proposal by a property owner on Park st. that he would tear down a building and prepare parking facilities if merchants would lease the area. And it was also agreed generally that the Barnard st. area plus the Shorten property will park about 56 cars - 40 on the Barnard property and up to 16 on the Shorten property. Asked whether there is some proposal forthcoming on borrowing the money for off-street parking, Haselton told the group he can't discuss the subject at this time.

As the meeting came to an end, there was some discussion of holding a similar session prior to town meeting but no decision was reached.

USMCR Missile Study Planned

Guided missile training in the Marine Corps has received added emphasis by the formation of a missile training unit in the Washington, D. C. area, it was revealed by Captain John E. Forde, Jr., Inspector-Instructor of the Merrimack Valley's Marine Reserve unit, the Third Ordnance Field Maintenance Company.

The new unit was set up to provide an organization where inactive Marine Corps Reserve officers and enlisted men could meet to study the latest developments in the guided missile field, Captain Forde stated.

Captain Forde said that the Marine Corps plans to form other units of this type in areas where a sufficient number of Marine Reservists, who are qualified by civilian experience or military background, are located.

Captain Forde is empowered to recommend the formation of a Volunteer Training Unit if 10 qualified Marine Corps Reservists are interested in guided missile training.

Inquiries may be made to Captain Forde at the Marine Reserve Training Center on North Parish rd., Lawrence.

District Committee Formed By Group

At the Andover Camp Fire Girls Leader-Sponsor Association meeting held last week at the home of Mrs. Joseph Daly, Miss Sylvia E. Koose, Executive Director, Greater Boston Council of Camp Fire Girls and Mrs. Ruth Reitingger, District Director for this area, were presented to the members by the chairman, Mrs. Gordon Lauder.

Miss Koose, assisted by Mrs. Reitingger, explained the structure of Camp Fire Girls from the national level with headquarters in New York City, through the New England Regional offices in Boston, the District Council offices in Boston and finally the local arrangements in Andover. She went into detail in regard to the structural changes that would be necessary if Andover decided to form a District Committee. By enlisting the aid of adults not currently active in the Camp Fire program, a District Committee would be better able to distribute the work load presently handled by the Leader-Sponsor Association and permit that group to devote more time to the requirements of the girls themselves. Miss Koose explained the benefits to be derived in regard to representation on the Board of Directors of the Boston Council, field representation in this immediate area and the advantages of pooling financial resources with the Greater Boston Council.

Following a question and answer period, it was voted to form a District Committee at this time. This does not dissolve the Leader-Sponsor Association but should give that group valuable assistance by taking over the major part of the administrative duties.

The report of the nominating committee, headed by Mrs. Sherman Carr, was received and the following members were elected to serve on the newly-formed District Committee: chairman, Mrs. Frank Santuccio; vice chairman, Mrs. Paul Barry; secretary, Mrs. A. Morris Campbell; adult membership, Mrs. Jack Woodworth; organization, Mrs. Webster Woodworth; training, Mrs. Martin Burns; programming, Mrs. Angelo A. Sapienza; nominating committee, Mrs. Michael Pawlik, chairman, Mrs. Helen Beardon, Mrs. William Ammon; public relations, Mrs. Frederick Maxwell; and candy sale chairman, Mrs. Gordon Lauder.

Mrs. Francis Russell and Mrs. William Ammon assisted the hostess, Mrs. Joseph Daly, during the coffee hour, which preceded the business meeting.

The next meeting of the Leader-Sponsor Association will be held Feb. 18, at the home of Mrs. Douglas Howe, 2 Kenilworth st. Time and place for the first official meeting of the District Committee will be announced later.

Those present at last week's meeting included Miss Sylvia Koose, Mrs. Ruth Reitingger, Mrs. John Lowe, Mrs. Sherman Carr, Mrs. James Wilson, Mrs. Paul Barry, Mrs. William Flaherty, Mrs. Chester Jameson, Mrs. Donald Downes, Mrs. A. In the Board of Public Works contests, four men seek two three-year terms on the Board, while two others vie for a two-year term. Running for re-election and thus heading the list of candidates is Secretary Alexander H. Henderson. Others seeking election are Albert Cole Jr., Charles B. Cottrell and John J. Lynch.

Candidates for the two-year term are Mason F. Arnold and Harry Axelrod, who was appointed to the Board this winter to fill a vacancy.

A four-man contest has developed for the three constable positions. Incumbents George B. Brown and George N. Sparks are listed at the top of the ballot, followed by Thomas P. Eldred and Ralph Sharpe. All three terms are of one year duration.

Only one candidate filed papers for the Board of Health - Dr. Charles A. Currier. He will fill the three-year term vacated by Dr. Philip W. Blake's decision not to seek re-election.

Tax Collector James P. Christie, seeking re-election, also is unopposed.

George A. Noury has no opposition for the Housing Authority, to which he seeks re-election.

Others offices to be filled, where there is no contest, and where candidates all seek re-election, include Trustee of the Memorial Hall Library, Edward I. Erickson, seven-year term; and Trustee of Pynchard Free School, three-year terms, Arthur W. Cole, Fred W. Doyle, Edmond E. Hammond, C. Carleton Kimball and Harry Sellars.

EDITORIAL THOUGHTS

Don't Let It Flop

The importance of town meeting this year can not be exaggerated.

The highest town budget on record, plus special articles amounting to thousands of dollars, will be considered March 8 by those voters who are interested in the town's welfare.

Looking back to a year ago, we find that only a handful of voters — 783 or eight percent of the registered voters — bothered to attend. This is a mighty small percentage — too small we believe when the town's multi-million dollar appropriations are up for consideration.

We don't profess to know why so many men and women neglect their responsibility to their town. But we do know that this is a situation which leads, eventually, to an abandonment of our fundamental system of government.

All through history, the countries that have eventually gone down the drain are those in which responsible citizens have failed to take an interest in their government. That gives power-conscious politicians a chance to take over and, in some cases, they have been quick to take advantage of the opportunity.

This may not happen here, but we are leaving the door wide open when we fail to heed our responsibility. It would be a wonderful demonstration of the democratic process if the voters of Andover were to flock to town meeting March 8. And more than just a demonstration, it would be the best thing that ever happened to the town, for then we truly would have a proper expression of opinion on controversial issues that must be decided.

Let's make this the year that Andover makes history by turning out an overwhelming percentage of its registered voters at town meeting.

And possibly more important, let's make this the year that the voters once again reaffirm their right to make their own decisions in town affairs.

Down the Years with The Townsman

50 Years Ago — February, 1908

Mrs. Carolyn Burrill will be the soloist at the South Church Sunday morning.

Tickets have been selling rapidly for the annual dance of the Andover Brass Band, which will be held tonight.

The farmers around Haggett's Pond are cutting some fine ice. It is reported to be 17 inches thick in some places.

The new addition to the Andover Guild — a modern gymnasium — will be opened for public inspection next Tuesday night.

Dr. J. J. Daly has been proposed as a member of the Board of Health.

Plans are in progress to hold a charity ball to benefit the Andover Home for Aged People. John N. Cole is chairman and David L. Coutts is secretary.

25 Years Ago — February, 1933

The School Committee has voted to stand pat in its decision to cut teachers' salaries by eight percent. Other town departments and the Finance Committee have agreed on a 10 percent cut, starting April 1, and asked the School Committee to conform. The Committee, which voted its cuts effective Jan. 1, refused.

Andover's fire loss during 1932, according to the fire chief, was half the loss suffered in 1931. The figures show a loss of $11,252 in 1932. The loss was over $22,000 the year before.

The regular monthly meeting of the Shawsheen Village PTA will be held Wednesday evening in the School Hall. Mrs. George C. Hoague, president of the Massachusetts Parent Teacher Association, will be the speaker.

John Martin, recreational specialist of the National Recreation in New York, will instruct in games, stunts and crafts during the recreation institute at the Andover Guild Feb. 9-11.

Another in the series of popular monthly suppers and church nights was held at the Free Church Wednesday evening.

The Girls' Friendly Society of Christ Church will hold a dance Friday evening of next week.

Twenty-two more names were added to the list of registered voters Tuesday night. Sixteen were from Ballardvale and the rest lived in West Parish.

The annual police report for 1932 indicates complaints doubled over 1931, but arrests were fewer than the preceding year by 20. Chief George Dane reported 464 complaints and 167 arrests during the year.

10 Years Ago — February, 1948

Special articles included in the warrant ask for about $207,000 above usual budgets figures. This represents about four times the amount usually spent on special articles. If this amount is approved, it is estimated that the tax rate will go up by $11. Two major articles are the request for parking meters in the business district and the request for a 48 hour work week for firemen, now working 70 hours.

Contests for three major offices — Selectman-Assessor, School Committee and Board of Public Works — seem to guarantee a lively election. Also on the ballot March 1 is the question of shorter hours for firemen.

The Andover Council of Parent Teacher Associations is sponsoring a weekly radio program about PTA activities.

The Men's Club of St. Augustine's Parish held a Ladies Night party last Monday evening, with a large number in attendance.

The second in the series of University of Life meetings will be held Sunday night in South Church.

Founders Day will be observed by the Ballardvale PTA at its meeting tonight in the Bradlee School. Guests are expected from the No. Andover PTA as well as other PTA groups in town.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Schuyler, formerly of 15 Lincoln cir., have recently moved to Columbus, Ohio.

GOURMET "STEALS"

BY BETTY BLAISDELL

One of the most popular and universal poultry dishes known to civilized man is, I think, "Chicken Ala King". It is probably called something else in Cambodia but the familiar ingredients are practically the same in number and character. What difference, if any, always seem to lie in the cook's knowledge of pure basics — and I do mean the sauce and not the gander. Here I think the French must excel.

Making a good roux is an art and I don't profess to be anything but a sheer amateur when it comes to globbing up flour and butter and precisely determining the right time to keep it all from getting burnt. This, as I see it, is a highly coordinated business of proper heat, swift stirring and no phone calls. But a good light colored roux is a necessity in making an acceptable Chicken Ala King and my one hope in this matter is that the growing U. S. populace will someday grow in its demands for better cream sauces.

Presuming that you will all take the hint and brush up via Escoffier for his incomparable lessons in sauce making, please let me proceed with a highly creditable recipe from the files of a gourmet I shall never know, bless his discriminating tastes. You can omit his toasted, silvered almonds if you must but I don't when I want to make a better than good impression:

CHICKEN ALA KING

- 1 6-lb. chicken
- enough stock to cover chicken
- 1/2 cup chopped carrots
- 1/2 cup chopped white turnips
- 1/2 cup chopped green celery
- 2 leeks
- 6 sprigs parsley
- 1/2 tsp. thyme
- 2 bay leaves
- 5 cloves
- 6 peppercorns
- 1/2 lb. fresh mushrooms
- 1 large green pepper
- 1/2 cup drained pimiento
- 2 Tbl. butter
- Salt
- 8 patty shells

Make a stock of carrots, turnips, green pepper, celery, leeks, parsley, bay leaves, thyme, cloves, peppercorns and salt to taste. Put the chicken in the stock mixture and simmer slowly for 2 1/2 to 3 hours. Then let the bird cool in the broth. Remove and discard skin and bones; dice the meat with a sharp knife being careful not to shred. Slice the mushrooms and saute in butter; drain off the butter and add mushrooms to the chicken, also the sliced pimientos. Put in a tightly covered bowl and reserve until the sauce is made from a roux and boiling hot stock which has been strained, first through a colander and then through a cloth.

Actually, if you were to allow this chicken stock to chill for several hours you would find you had obtained pure amber colored aspic with a fine coating of grease on top. This should certainly be done if your chicken has been fatty for it is desirable that most of the fat be removed. Your necessary fat is embodied in the roux and you have only to add to it the hot clear broth for proper thickening of your sauce. This all takes time but it does take time to make a good Chicken Ala King. If you run it into a second day you should leave the sauteing of the mushrooms till last.

There should be about 3 cups of the medium light sauce which you bring to a finish with the addition of 2 egg yolks, beaten, 1/4 cup of dry sherry and 1 cup of slivered almonds. Adjust seasonings, add the chicken, mushrooms and pimiento which you may have had to warm again in some of the broth. Serve in patty shells.

PATTY SHELLS

Did you know that it's possible to buy good frozen French patty shells? I found some under the label of Black Horse, 8 to a package. They're ever so flat in their frozen state but never mind — they'll rise beautifully.

PETIT POT DE CREME

(Mrs. P. Hayden Clark)

So quick and easy and good . . . you can make this dessert of Ginny's in middle afternoon, still in time for dinner.

- 3 egg yolks
- 1/2 cup confectioner's sugar
- 1 1/2 or 2 squares Baker's chocolate
- 3 egg whites
- Whipped cream for topping

Beat the egg yolks with confectioner's sugar. Melt the chocolate and add to the yolks. Beat the egg whites till stiff, fold in, blending all together. Heap into sherbet glasses and chill. Just before serving, add a dab of whipped cream.

HUNGARIAN CRESCENTS (Mrs. Gaspar Jako)

Couldn't find space for this famous and delicious cookie last week which is one of the sweets being featured by the hostesses for Hungarian dinner parties.

- 3/4 cup sweet butter
- 4 Tbl. powdered sugar
- 2 cups sifted flour
- 1/2 cup ground almonds or hazel nuts
- Pinch of salt
- Vanilla sugar

European cooks use vanilla sugar to a much greater extent, I think, than we, Americans. It is a simple process of pounding the vanilla bean with finely powdered sugar, pressing through a sieve until well mixed.

Mrs. Jako creams the butter well, slowly adds 4 tablespoons of powdered sugar, gradually stirs in the flour which has been sifted with the salt, then the nut meals. Allow to chill in a tightly covered bowl for at least 2 hours or overnight. Roll finger thick on a floured board and shape into crescents; place on a greased cookie sheet and bake in a 350 degree oven 10 to 15 minutes. Must brown just lightly. Remove from sheet carefully and toss in vanilla sugar.

DONKEY BASKETBALL HERE SATURDAY - For the benefit of the Varsity Club scholarship fund, a comedy-packed donkey basketball game will be played Saturday night at Andover High, between the faculty and varsity. Dancing will follow the game. In 1956, when this picture was taken, the varsity was beaten, 16-10 and will be seeking revenge as they meet again. The donkeys are specially trained to stop when the rider says go and perform all types of tricks designed to foul up the riders' plans. In this photo, Arthur Danforth, Owen Hinckley and Ben Dimlich are shown in action. The funds from this event will go directly into the scholarship fund, which provides a scholarship for one high school graduate each year.

3 Attend Hearing On Zoning Changes

Three residents appeared at a Planning Board hearing Jan. 29 on proposed zoning changes.

The changes are listed in articles filed for consideration at the town meeting March 8.

Karl Killorin, George Graw and Wallace Rennie appeared to discuss the proposals, most of which concerned upgrading some present Zone B areas to Zone C. Killorin opposed the move while Rennie objected to having one area come up for discussion the third time. He referred to the Lovejoy rd., Lowell st., Cutler rd., Reservation rd., Andover st. and Dascomb rd. area which is proposed for Zone C - acre lots.

Killorin also spoke in favor of two proposed changes in the zoning law designed to allow the Board of Appeals allow sub-division of over-sized lots in the A Zone, which would actually be less than required size. One article asks that the Appeals Board be allowed to grant subdivision approval if the newly created lots will be as large as the largest lot on the street in area and have as much frontage as the lot with the least frontage on the street. The other article asks that side lines be adjusted to conform.

In response to Mr. Rennie's question about proposing the same article several times, Planning Board member Donald Thompson, presiding in the absence of Chairman Lee Noyes, said the ideas are put forward for town consideration after the Planning Board has received them from the consultants. He said the Planning Board has a duty to put them forward for all voters to consider.

FRENCH WILL FILED

Signed nearly 17 years ago, a few months before the U.S. entered World War II, the will of Edward V. French refers to "the great uncertainties of the times," it was revealed when the document was filed in the Registry of Probate in Salem.

Mr. French, who died Dec. 19, 1941, and nominated the Boston Safe Deposit and Trust Co. and Jerome C. Greene of Bronxville, N. Y., as co-executors. No estimate of the value of his estate was listed.

He directed that 10 percent of his property be placed in a joint bank deposit for two daughters, Mrs. Helen F. Greene of Bronxville and Mrs. Margaret V. Gorton of Cape Verd, St. Lawrence, Jersey, Channel Islands, Great Britain.

"It had been my desire to make certain personal and public bequests, but in view of the great uncertainties of the times and the possible needs which my daughters may have in coming years, I have thought it unwise to make fixed provisions now," the father wrote.

"I have explained my wishes to
