Property owners will probably receive their official property assessment notices early next week.

The forms will divulge information most real estate taxpayers have been anxiously awaiting - how much did the property go up in value?

The Assessors have requested that all persons wishing to discuss their assessments with the revaluing firm be certain to have the official notice and an enclosed form with them when they go to the town hall. A 10-day period is allowed, during which a property owner may request an interview with a representative of the Cole, Lyster and Trumble firm that did the revaluation. The hearings will be by appointment, after the 10-day period is over.

that first year to buy uniforms for the football team and parkas as well. The first tag day was held Nov. 11, the day of the Punched-Methuen game, when the uniforms were first worn.

In 1949, the Club raised money enough to outfit the All-Girl Band with new uniforms.

Seeing the need for bleachers at the Playstead, the Boosters scraped and painted the present bleachers, which then were rented from a Dracut organization. Later the town purchased them. In 1950, the Boosters bought the flag pole at the end of the Playstead and presented it to the town.

Membership drives were started by the Club in 1951, to take care of annual expenditures of about $1000 and the Club's scholarship program. Unexpended balances each year are put into a reserve fund, which is used to meet unexpected requests for help for young people in the town.

The $1 yearly membership entitles the purchaser to attend all meetings of the Club, including the annual meeting May 15.

Present officers of the organization are Mr. McCullom, James B. Bennett Jr., first vice president; Charles W. McCullom, second vice president; Fred E. Allen, secretary and Homer S. Wadman, treasurer.

Registration of the children who are to enter the Kindergartens in September will be held Tuesday, May 13, at the Bradlee School from 1-3 p.m., only for those children in the present Bradlee School district. Wednesday, May 14, registration will be held at the West School from 9-11:30 a.m. and 1-3 p.m.

It is suggested by the school authorities that the parents bring the children at this time to the kindergarten room, where they will have an opportunity to meet the teacher, as well as the principal of the school, the dental hygienist and the school nurse.

Parents must bring the child's birth certificate at this time. Pupils may enter the kindergarten providing they will be five years of age on or before the first day of January of the current school year.

College Received Two Paintings

Two original paintings, the gift of Cornelius A. Wood of Andover, have been received by Merrimack College in No. Andover, Very Rev. Vincent A. McQuade, O.S.A., Ph.D., president, has announced.

One is "Market Fair" by William Hahn, gifted European artist, completed in 1866. Hahn, who came to America in the early 1870's, settling in California, painted considerably and his works were in great demand.

The second "Fishing Boats and Fjords in Norway" was finished in 1873 by the German artist, J. Duntze, who specialized in painting Norwegian scenes.

Both paintings, valued in excess of $650 each were originally acquired by Frederick Ayer, grandfather of Mr. Wood and for the past 50 years have hung in the family home, Woodstock, in Prides Crossing.

EDITORIAL THOUGHTS

Badly Needed: An Explanation

We wish someone would come up with a clear explanation of the betterment assessments on sewer installations.

In a news story last week, it was disclosed that Shawsheen Hylands residents will be charged at an approximate rate of $10.23 per front foot for the sewer line along their streets. This charge, although not yet firmly fixed, indicates a fee in excess of $1000 for a 100-foot lot.

According to the superintendent of the sewer department, Donald Bassett, the charges are not based on actual construction costs of this particular job — but are figured out on the basis of an over-all sewer program recommended by the consulting engineers. The assessments are based, he said, on residents paying 75 percent and the town 25 percent of the over-all cost of the program.

This 3/4 to 1/4 ratio, according to statutes produced for the Board of Works, dates back to the late 1800's. And ever since then, it is assumed that sewer betterments are based on residents paying three-quarters of the over-all cost of installing sewers, pumping stations and trunk lines.

Whether or not this actually was done — or whether town officials all through the years have used a rule of thumb approach — isn't our problem today. What appears to be a big question, however, is the fairness of asking residents to pay a portion of an over-all cost that hasn't been approved by anyone. The work recommended under this program might well continue to the year 2000 and certainly there has been no agreement anywhere that this program will be carried out.

Thus, if residents are to now pay for part of an over-all program — which has not been actually approved and which is subject to all manner of changes over the years — how can we be sure they are paying their just share? Or, worse still, how can we be sure we are not charging too much?

In the present case, the Hylands sewer job will cost about $115,000. Of that amount, about $54,000 is assignable to trunk lines and what we might call major improvements to the sewer system. The balance is needed to put the pipes in the streets in front of the residents' homes.

In the old days, it is said that officials felt the cost of installing the street sewers approximated the residents'

75 percent share, while the cost of improvements, such as trunk lines, would about equal the town's 25 percent share. This obviously is not true for the Hylands job. The residents' three-quarter share of this project is $86,150. If the assessments were based on this amount, then the betterments probably would be higher than now estimated. Thus the Hylands folks are possibly getting a break, compared to what they might be paying if the betterment was not figured on the over-all cost of sewer construction under a long-range program.

If this sounds confusing, we agree. For there appears to be very little understanding, even among town officials, of the whole betterment program. On one hand, residents appear better off under the present system, but this system is based on an assumption that an entire 30-year sewer program will be carried out according to present-day recommendations.

We can't agree that this is a fair assumption. And thus it may not be at all equitable to charge assessments on this basis. Yet, it sounds equally unfair to discuss charging more than this amount, for there is certainly a limit on the residents' ability to pay.

At the last town meeting, voters turned down an article calling for sewer betterments to be assessed on a two-thirds, one-third basis — which figured out at about $9.10 per front foot. At that time there was no explanation of why this change should be made, other than it was recommended by the engineers. When a charge was made that this new assessment method was based on a long-range program which no one then knew much about, there was no refutation. And the voters turned it down. No one explained that the town operates on a 75-25 ratio now and it is logical to assume that very few men and women knew this. Sewer assessments in Ballardvale ran slightly over $3 per foot — and all anyone knew about that was the bare fact that this was the charge. It appears that few realized this was supposedly the 75 percent share of the residents — they thought it was just an actual cost, divided by the number of feet served by the new line.

If there had been more explanation at town meeting, we might now be in a better position. But there wasn't and we're now stuck with a law that may be entirely unfair. Let's try to get this muddle straightened out — once and for all, in simple terms for all to understand. As it stands now, one has to be a Philadelphia lawyer to even make a start at untangling the mess.

Down the Years with The Townsman

50 Years Ago — May, 1908

W. A. Morton of Haverhill is redecorating the Andover National Bank this week. The Masonic Hall will also be redecorated.

On Wednesday night the Selectmen appointed Ira Buxton and Walter H. Coleman as public weighers.

The Rev. William G. Poor of Topsfield will preach in the Free Church next Sunday morning, in exchange with the pastor.

John Underwood has gone on vacation and expects to return to his duties on the paper next week.

The annual meeting of the members of the Andover Guild will be held next Tuesday evening. The increased financial support lately has made it possible to carry out the schedule to the end.

The new officers of the Women's Union of the South Church are Miss Mary Alice Abbot, president; Mrs. Frank T. Carlton, vice president; Miss Mary Richards, secretary and Miss Ellen G. Ellis, treasurer.

25 Years Ago — May, 1933

Many town organizations are working together to beautify roadside areas. The Gardea Club started the campaign, after deciding to enter a Boston contest on roadside beautification. Cooperating are the November Club, Andover Village Improvement Society, the Selectmen, Tree Warden, Emergency Committee and School Committee. Several areas have been marked for improvement.

The Boy Scout Camp Committee met at Scout headquarters in Lawrence recently and made all final plans for the summer camping at Camp Onway, Raymond, N. H.

Shawsheen Village has decided to make its coming welfare event a real one. Instead of one day of fun and enjoyment, the Committee decided to make it a three-day event and has set May 18, 19 and 20 as the dates. Arrangements have been made for some interesting features.

The Mother-Daughter supper sponsored annually by the Margaret Slattery Class of the Free Church will be held this year in the Church vestry next Friday night. Miss Ethel Ackroyd is chairman.

Andover voters will go to the polls June 13 to vote, indirectly at least, on repeal of the 18th amendment. The election is to select delegates to attend a convention to act on possible repeal of prohibition.

10 Years Ago — May, 1948

Heads of various veterans organizations are heartily in favor of proposed town meeting acceptance of a statute that will make it possible to build low rental housing here. Contacted during the week, the organization representatives agreed that the move will help veterans and will also help alleviate the critical housing problem.

A break in the new 16-inch water main on Reservation rd. early Thursday morning left the town without water pressure for about an hour. Tons of gravel and rock piled up along the path of the escaping water, about 100 yards from the Abbot bridge.

Bids have been requested on meters for the Main st. area. By mid-summer, it is expected that Main st. will be metered, using about 110 units.

Kempton Won 2nd Prize

Herbert Kempton's science project, the Binary Adding Machine, was awarded one of the second prizes at the State Science Fair held at Massachusetts Institute of Technology May 2, 3 and 4. The State Science Fair had 376 exhibits, all of which had been judged winners in their local schools.

Kempton's project was a result of an interest developed by his hearing of modern computation machines. He took four months to work out the plans and three weeks to actually build the machine, much of the material being found in a junk yard. The local student developed his own circuit and design, although he acquired the basic idea from books.

TRIBUTE TO MR. HINCKLEY

The 2600-pound prize bull, known formally as "Wild Rose Inka Crusader", pinned Hinckley against the wall of the pen. Dimock, nearby at the time, dragged the 200-pound man through a gate just as the bull charged and was able to slam the door in time to avert greater tragedy.

Mr. Hinckley was born in Willimantic, Conn., the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin G. Hinckley of that community. A graduate of the University of Connecticut, he was in charge of the scientific breeding program at the farm. He was an active member of the West Parish Church and sang in its choir.

Besides his parents, he is survived by his wife, Madeleine L. (Hartley) Hinckley; a son, Robert, age three; a daughter, Pamela, age four; three brothers, Arnold C., Daniel E. and Henry P. Hinckley, all of Willimantic, Conn.; three sisters, Mrs. Thelma Heiman of Scotts Plains, N.J., and Nancy R. and Virginia K. Hinckley, both of Willimantic, Conn.

The Rev. Hugh B. Penney officiated at the memorial service. Cremation followed in Harmony Grove, Salem.

RECEIVES PERMISSION TO EXTEND WATER

Robert Leathers won permission from the Board of Public Works April 28 to extend an eight-inch water main down Alderbrook rd. in excess of 550 feet, to service four houses he plans to build.

He asked only the Board's permission, stating he will pay for the installation himself. Leathers said he has been required to change eight lots into four by the Planning Board, under a ruling that wherever possible lots must conform to the present zoning, even if the plan has been approved under former zoning.

WHICH MAN PASSED THE N. P.* TEST?

*NINETY PERCENT

The poised, smartly-dressed man at the left of course. You can tell at a glance... and that's why the Ninety-Percent Test is so important. People judge you by what they see (sometimes that's all they have to go on) and ninety percent of what they see of you is what you wear. The fresh finish of drycleaned clothes is more than an extra touch... like a flower in the buttonhole. It's an integral part of good grooming. The state of your clothes tells volumes about the kind of person you are. In fact, your clothes never stop talking about you. You buy your clothes to make a good impression. As you wear them, have them drycleaned often. A smart man takes care to keep that impression fresh.

Who Will Pay For Shawsheen Rd. Extras?

The Board of Public Works met with state officials late yesterday afternoon to find out what can be done to 200 yards of Shawsheen rd. which sunk shortly after the street was rebuilt.

Of primary concern, according to Secretary Albert Cole Jr., is who will pay for the work. He said an amount budgeted under Chapter 90 reconstruction last year has been used up. The state pays half the cost of such projects, the county a quarter and the town pays the fourth quarter. All work is done under the supervision of the state, which also does the engineering, planning, writes specifications and calls for the bids.

Cole said the sunken area stands above some 20 feet of peat - and that there are two possible solutions.

The most expensive, he explained, would be excavating the area down to the peat, removing it and re-filling with gravel.

A second possibility is removing the road surface and filling the area up to grade. This would have to be repeated at five or six month intervals until it stopped sinking, he stated.

The question of payment is a complex one. Cole said the town allocated its share of the money and has spent it according to plan. The state, he said, apparently is in much the same position. Thus the question of paying for excavation or repeated filling is a major one.

Also under discussion yesterday, he said, were problems created by the highway construction. Stone walls which once sat flush with the sidewalks are now above those walks, he stated, because there apparently was no provision in the contract for fixing them. Residents are complaining that the earth between the sidewalk and wall will wash out, ruining the wall and they are asking the town, or someone, to make repairs.

Cole said early Wednesday that the state presumably would have some financial solution to the problem when Department of Public Works representatives sat down with the Board. He pointed out that large extra costs, with no money left in the 1957 appropriation, could mean great difficulty for the town, if it should have to pay for all the extra work.

about this question:

Last year one of my friends had his outboard motor stolen. Another lost his outboard in deep water. A neighbor's motor and boat burned in a boathouse fire. Is there insurance to cover a motor and boat from all kinds of loss or damage?

Should Check For Flag Holder

Commander Irving J. Whitcomb, chairman of the 1958 Memorial Day Committee, requests that all veterans' graves be checked by the next-of-kin before Memorial Day regarding the bronze flag markers.

Every year 10 or more persons call up the Veteran's Service Office on Memorial Day, stating that the grave of some beloved veteran has been overlooked and no flag has been placed on the grave. If there is no U.S. Veteran or Post marker on the grave, the men who place the flags have no way of knowing whether or not it is a veteran's grave, Whitcomb stated. All next-of-kin are requested to check the veterans' graves and if there is no upright bronze flag holder, they should call the Veterans' Service Office.
