Will Increase Water Pressure

Folks in West Andover with old plumbing better take another look at it before the Wood Hill reservoir is put into use.

That's the warning of Camp, Dresser and McKee, consulting engineers to the Board of Public Works. The firm said increased pressure in much of the West Andover area may cause breaks in services. The firm advised the BPW to notify all water users in the area of the contemplated change, specifying that the town will not be responsible for ruptured plumbing. It was explained that pressure reducing valves can be installed privately where needed.

All-Sports Banquet Wednesday Night

The annual All-Sports Banquet, sponsored by the Boosters' Club, will be held next Wednesday in the High School Cafeteria.

The 6:30 event will honor athletes, cheerleaders and band members, who will receive trophies on the basis of points awarded by the coaches.

The Banquet this year marks the 10th anniversary of the Club. In special recognition of the event, J. Everett Collins, the Club's first president, will receive a special citation. Men who organized the Club in 1948, with their wives, will be special guests.

The Boosters this year will increase its scholarships from four to six, each worth $100. This is the result of an increase in the fund derived from the last

Abbot Academy holds its commencement exercises June 2, with a graduating class of 77.

And at Pike School, 20 young people will graduate at exercises June 10.

St. Augustine's School will graduate 43 students the night of June 10.

In public schools, informal programs are planned in most of the elementary schools for the sixth grade students. The Bradlee School PTA will fete 22 sixth graders at a banquet June 5. And the Shawsheen School plans a banquet June 5, when 51 youngsters

Chosen For Boys' State

George A. Ziegra of Greenwood rd. and William Simpson of Gray rd. have been chosen to attend Boys' State at the University of Massachusetts June 20-29.

Sponsored by Legion Post 8, the Andover Service Club and Phillips Academy, two high school students attend the state-wide affair each year.

Arthur L. Coleman, who serves as Legion chairman for the town and Essex County, is completing his 15th year of work on this committee. He announced the awards this week, explaining that the boys selected each year are in the upper third of their class scholastically. They also must have shown examples of leadership in other school activities.

At Boys' State, young men learn about municipal, county and state government. Before they leave,

Abbot Stevens Will Give $200,000 To Phillips Academy

Charitable bequests of more than $600,000 are contained in the will of Abbot Stevens of No. Andover, it was revealed when the instrument was recorded in the Registry of Probate.

He made specific bequests totaling $600,000 for such purposes and also directed that all of his stock in J. P. Stevens and Co., Inc., is to be given to the Abbot and Dorothy H. Stevens foundation, a charitable foundation established Jan. 13, 1953.

Mr. Stevens, who died May 15, and who signed the testament last Jan. 13, left $200,000 or five per cent of his net estate, whichever is the lesser, to the Lawrence General Hospital and gave $200,000 on the same percentage

Off-Street Parking Plan Outlined To Trade Bd.

An ambitious privately financed, off-street parking program was outlined to a full meeting of the Board of Trade Tuesday night.

A special sub-committee suggested converting the rear of property on the west side of Main st., all the way from Central to Chestnut sts., to parking. And it announced agreement by most property owners to allow their land to be used.

The extensive program will make space for at least 83 cars, with an access on either Chestnut or Central sts. In addition, the Merrimack Valley Bank announced it is agreeable to making its 50-car lot available as a continuation of the off-street area. Thus at least 130 cars could be parked in the area at the same time.

The suggested area is a strip that runs from Central st., behind

VALUATION LISTING NOT POSSIBLE NOW

Publication of the new assessed values, compared with assessments in 1957, is not possible at this time, due to the probability that approximately 1000 hearings and reviews will produce substantial changes in individual valuations.

During the hearings, which start next Monday for a three-week period, the file cards on which the old and new assessments are entered will be in use by the Cole, Laver and Trumble revaluation firm and thus would not be easily accessible.

The Assessors have assured the press that the tax book, as fast as it is typed, will be available for publication. This should occur sometime in late July or early August.

17 Took Exam For Scholarships

Seventeen students at the Andover High School took the National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test, William J. Igoe, Director of Guidance announced today. The test was administered at the high school at 9 a.m., Tuesday, May 6.

An estimated $5 million in Merit Scholarships and other awards are at stake in the national competition, now beginning its fourth year. Some $12 million in Merit Scholarships have been awarded in the first three years of the program. These tests are the preliminary steps to the 1959 awards.

Merit Scholarships are provided by some 80 corporations, foundations, professional societies and individuals, as well as by the National Merit Scholarship Corporation itself, which conducts the competition.

The National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test is a three hour measure of educational growth and aptitude. Emphasis is on broad intellectual skills, and on understanding and ability to use what has been learned, rather than on sheer knowledge of facts.

Won Essay Contest

LION'S CLUB CONTEST - Al Kryzynski, left and Ed Kfoury, right, represented the Lion's Club during presentation of awards to three Andover High School winners in the highway safety essay contest. Lesley Hart took third prize, Patricia Adams, first, and Genevieve Lampariello, second. Seated are Miss Beatrice Stevens, head of the English Department, who supervised the essay contest and Owen Hinckley, instructor in the driver training course at the High School. (Staff photo)

Patricia Ann Adams won first prize in the Lion's Club safety essay contest at Andover High School. A $25 bond was given the winner.

Second prize of $10 went to Genevieve Lampariello and third, of $5, to Lesley Hart.

The awards were made last Friday morning by members of the Lion's Club.

Students in driver training classes in public and private schools throughout the state took part. Here in Andover, the essays of the three winners were, in turn, submitted to the state contest for evaluation. Theme of the essays was "The Driver's Contribution to Highway Safety".

The winning essay read: "Several months ago before my driving instructor began to teach me how to drive, I had no idea how much responsibility went along with the privilege of using America's highways. Now I can understand why such attention is focused upon safety rules and regulations, for they were made to protect us, the people of our country. These laws, if thoroughly learned and understood, answer the questions that run quickly through a driver's mind as he faces each new situation. But equally important to me as our traffic laws are courtesy toward the other driver and good, sound common sense. As an example, I will use my first driving lesson to illustrate the responsibility that I previously mentioned and to show how and when to apply the two very important factors of driving-courtesy or sportsmanlike driving and common sense.

"This incident happened while I was driving through town. The usual traffic was nowhere in sight, although there were many cars parked along both sides of the street. I was going very slowly, when suddenly the door of the car which I was about to pass flung open, and a woman stepped nonchalantly out into the middle of the road. I came to a stop, but wondered why that person had not thought before she stepped out. If a passing car had been going 10 or 15 miles an hour faster than I, that woman would have been hit - possibly killed! It was then that I began to realize that there are so many more things to consider other than just driving on the right hand side of the road.

"Another event that bothered and still bothers me is having the driver in front of you give no signal before executing a turn or coming to a stop. Certainly that person does not want the car behind him to hit his own car, but what is to prevent this from happening? Oh, if only people would think before they act!

"On the way home, we approached an intersection. I had to make a left turn and cross in front of the oncoming traffic. While waiting for the light to change, I decided to allow the approaching cars to go through first. My courtesy was rewarded, because one car coming in the other direction raced across the intersection as so many speed demons do. Had I been of the same temperament, there would have been a horrible accident. This incident proved that consideration for other drivers is most important. If you are courteous, you can be reasonably sure that you will be able to enjoy the comforts and pleasure of motoring in safety.

"Since my first driving lesson, I have acquired more and more knowledge of the 'do's and don'ts' of driving, but I believe that sportsmanlike driving and quick, reliable thinking are also two most necessary factors. I hope that you, too, will think of them the next time you sit behind the wheel of your car."

WHICH GIRL PASSED THE N. P. * TEST?

*NINETY PERCENT

The poised young woman at the right of course. You can tell at a glance... and that's why the Ninety-Percent Test is so important. Adults judge even children (and children judge each other) by what they see. It's true that clothes may create slightly less than 90% of the impression Juniors make, but the test is just as important.

Another point to remember: Because children's clothes become so grimy so quickly, it's especially important to have them drycleaned regularly and often. (This kind of care carries a built-in bonus. In addition to looking fresher, drycleaned clothes last longer.)

EDITORIAL THOUGHTS

Memorial Day

Tomorrow is Memorial Day.

We should spend at least some of our time on that day considering what it means. For the Day is far more than just another holiday from work.

Way back in the Civil War days, this Day was set aside for men and women to strew flowers over the graves of loved ones or to otherwise decorate their graves. The Day was set aside, too, for sober reflection; for remembering all those who gave their lives in the service of their country; for recalling to mind the loved ones who had passed on.

It almost seems, in recent years, that we don't bother about these things any more. It appears that most men and women prefer to treat the Day as a bonus vacation — a chance to hold the season's first picnic or some other activity. And nowhere, it seems, do these men and women allow a little time to commemorate those who paid a large price for the freedom we now cherish.

Perhaps a few minutes out of the Day should be spent thinking about the sacrifices of others when the country demanded them. We might all profit from this reflection, during this special Day set aside for the purpose so many years ago.

They Had Courage

In all the storm over revaluation, only a handful have recognized the courage displayed by the assessors in first urging, then pushing through an impartial system of assessing.

For by so doing, by revealing areas where assessments were woefully inadequate and others where assessed values were too high, the assessors tacitly admitted they have been unable to keep assessments on an even, equitable basis.

This took considerable courage — more than many men would display in a similar situation.

Actually the assessments that had fallen into a maze of inequalities were not the result of any direct action by the assessors. Rather, they resulted from the continued use of a system that was being used for many years. It was more inertia than anything else that allowed the inequalities to develop.

Rather than a criticism of the assessors, we intend this comment to be one of congratulations. For the three incumbents had the courage to press for an impartial revaluation, knowing it would cause a tremendous furor and that it would imply they had not been doing the job properly. As one of them said — "we're just admitting our mistakes, that's all."

In so doing, they deserve praise rather than criticism.

Down the Years with The Townsman

50 Years Ago — May, 1908

The St. Augustine's altar boys second team defeated the Salem streets by the score of 10-4 recently.

Andover Seminary will celebrate its 100th anniversary June 9 and 10.

The Memorial Day program at the town hall will include reading of orders by Adjutant J. Warren Berry; remarks by Cmdr. E. Kendall Jenkins; prayer by Prof. William H. Ryder; vocal solo by Belle Bowman; Lincoln's Gettysburg address by Perly F. Gilbert; and an oration by Harry Ramsdell. The "Be's" and "Would Be's" were out in force Tuesday evening when the "May Be" was held, in charge of the Women's Union. Prizes were awarded to Bertha Coutts and Gordon C. Cannon.

The Rev. Augustus H. Fuller and Charles Greene addressed the school children this afternoon on what Memorial Day stands for.

25 Years Ago — May, 1933

The Selectmen have agreed to license a bus to run between Ballardvale and Andover center, but there are as yet no applicants. Both major bus lines have waived their rights to the route.

A program of unusual diversity and excellent quality will be presented in town hall tonight, under the auspices of the Lions Club and the Andover Players. Proceeds from the affair will support the playground.

Only 12 persons were registered at the 10-hour session of the Board of Registrars at the town house Wednesday.

A fine tribute was paid the Square and Compass Club's Glee Club Tuesday night at an informal gathering in Punched School hall. Three senior and four junior guards have been appointed at Pomp's Pond. William C. Crowley Jr. will be in charge of Hussey's Pond, which will open eight hours a day.

The senior class at Punched will hold a dance Monday evening in the school hall. The Technocrats will furnish the music.

10 Years Ago — May, 1948

Andover veterans will join Monday in a program of Memorial Day exercises to honor the memory of their departed comrades. Sixty-five girls will graduate from Abbot Academy Monday. They represent 13 states, the West Indies and China.

The cream of the show horses of New England and New York make up the 160 entries for the Red Coat Horse Show Saturday, Sunday and Monday. The funds will be used to help construction of the camp at Plum Island for polio victims.

Frederick B. Cole Jr. won the essay prize contest by the Memorial Hall Library, in connection with the 75th anniversary celebration.

BOY SCOUT TROOP 76 PRESENTED FLAG

OFF-STREET PARKING PLAN OUTLINED

the McArdle building, across lots to Chestnut st. Most property owners, it was announced, have agreed to allow their land to be filled, graded and hot topped for parking.

On the Chestnut st. end, negotiations are being carried on to determine whether the Treanor property, immediately behind the Andover Savings Bank, can be obtained. If it is not, the access may be only from Central st., with a turn-around in the parking area. This would allow space for 60 cars, plus the National Bank's area, however.

Alternate plans outlined to the Trade Board show the possibility of adding 11 spaces by using a portion of the Daley property and another 23 possible spaces if the Sweeney property can be used at some time.

A tentative plan prepared for the meeting showed frequent access to the parking area via foot paths to Main st.

The ultimate cost of the project is in the neighborhood of $18,000 — including some $5000 to straighten out a short section of Rogers Brook with a new culvert. One suggested plan for financing the program includes sale of stock in a non-profit corporation to raise the initial fund, plus annual payments by merchants, property owners and businessmen for maintenance. Considerable discussion of this plan and other methods of paying for the parking area took place, with no decision reached. But it was generally understood that the plan is basically the responsibility of private citizens, as opposed to the town participating. Selectman Sidney P. White said he would ask his Board to consider meeting with the Finance Committee within the week to discuss any possible town participation, possibly in connection with Rogers Brook relocation.

But several Trade Board members recalled the overwhelming sentiment at town meeting in March that off-street parking should be handled by those involved, rather than the municipality. Some discussion did take place about possibly requesting the town to help with snow removal or small maintenance problems in future years, but without decision whether this would be possible on private property. Considerable debate also took place on whether to charge for parking in the new area.

The meeting voted unanimously to approve the area for parking and directed a sub-committee to continue obtaining detailed plans and costs.

3 Boys Involved In Stabbing

Three Shawsheen boys, all juveniles, will face court charges Monday in Lawrence as the result of alleged stabbings.

Police said one 15-year-old used a pocket knife to stab two other boys of the same age when they started to torment him Sunday about 5:30 p.m. on No. Main st.

According to the police account, the lad was walking home from Andover center when he saw two boys sitting on the steps of the insurance building on the northerly side of the square. Although he crossed the street, the lad was chased by the two boys and caught. Police Sgt. William R. Hickey said the youth pulled out a regular pocket knife and cut one of his assailants on the right leg. The other was stabbed in the back, police said, leaving a wound that required three internal stitches and three external sutures.

Hickey also stated that there had been some feeling between the boys for quite a while prior to Sunday's episode. Charges facing the boys Monday range from simple assault, Hickey stated, to a charge of assault with a deadly weapon against the boy using the knife.

The identities of the boys are shielded from public knowledge by law.

No estimate of the value of his property was listed. He nominated a cousin, Horace N. Stevens Jr., 83 Academy rd., No. Andover, and the Old Colony Trust Co. of Boston as co-executors. All of his tangible personal property, except that which is used in the operation of Edgewood farm, was bequeathed outright to his widow, Mrs. Dorothy H. Stevens of No. Andover.

Half of his adjusted gross estate was placed in trust for Mrs. Stevens, and she may appoint a beneficiary upon her demise, it was set forth.

Mr. Stevens directed that his share of the estate of Nathaniel Stevens of No. Andover be continued in trust for Mrs. Dorothy H. Stevens.

The residue of his own estate, including realty and Edgewood farm, was placed in trust for Phillips Academy. Upon the death of the survivor of his widow and his sister, Mrs. Caroline S. Rogers of No. Andover or upon the sale of all of the real estate, Mr. Stevens stated, the realty is to go to his cousin, Horace N. Stevens Jr.

If the cousin is deceased, the will recited, the realty is to be given to a nephew, Samuel Stevens Rogers. The remainder of the residue is to go to Phillips Academy outright at the death of both Mrs. Stevens and Mrs. Rogers, according to the testament. Preference in the sale of the realty is to be given to the cousin and the nephew, Mr. Stevens wrote.

He directed that his widow is to have the right to occupy, free of cost, his residence on Osgood st., No. Andover, and Edgewood farm. He set forth that the trustees of the trust funds are to maintain his residence and grounds "in the same manner I am maintaining the same at my death," and that they are to continue the operation of Edgewood farm as a business in substantially the same manner in which he was operating it at his demise.

The probate petition listed the widow and sister as heirs-at-law along with two nephews, Samuel A. C. Stevens, both of No. Andover, and a niece, Amy Stevens Putnam of Rangeley, Col.

WATER PRESSURE WILL INCREASE

In the change to a high-pressure system includes all or parts of River rd., North st., High Plain rd., Pleasant st., Brundrett ave., Chandler rd., Brown st., Wood Hill rd., Cross st. and Greenwood rd. Lovejoy rd. is also part of the new high-service system because it is tied in to the 12-inch main on Lowell st.
Static pressures in the system will increase generally by 26 pounds per square inch when the reservoir is put into service. This will raise the pressure to a maximum of 135 psi in areas along River rd., the consultants said. Practically all areas served will be at a pressure of at least 70 psi, while some will be up to 100 psi or more.
Thus, the consultants stated, some old mains, old plumbing in residences and old joints may break. The failure generally would be in pipes eventually requiring replacement anyway, the firm said.
Approximately 400 water services are affected, the BPW estimated Monday night. All will receive notices by registered mail.
In general, the consulting firm said all affected services can expect an increase in pressure of 26 pounds per square inch. But on Lowell st. between the Tewksbury line and Greenwood rd.; Brown st., Lovejoy rd. and Greenwood rd., between High Plain and Lowell st. can expect as much as 40 pounds increase.
Water will be pumped to the new reservoir at the approximate rate of 800 gallons per minute, which will result in a maximum pressure of 130 psi along Lowell st. near the pumping station. Pumping at the rate of 1200 gallons per minute into the reservoir would result in pressures up to 150 pounds per square inch, the report explained.
The reservoir is expected to be ready for use within a month, the BPW said.

Chlebowski Starting 28th Year On The Job

Stanley Chlebowski - a man who literally has given his adult lifetime to the service of the town - begins his 28th year of service next Monday.

Starting work as a laborer on the highway department, Chlebowski has risen to the post of superintendent of the highway, tree and park departments. He never has held another job.

When Stanley started work for the town 27 years ago, there were about 45 men employed in the highway department, compared to the 17 of today. But there was only one pair of horses and one truck, leaving most of the work to men with picks and shovels. Today there are seven trucks in the highway department and various other mechanized pieces of equipment.

The present superintendent was appointed to the post last July, succeeding Edward R. Lawson, who retired. For 11 years before that he had been highway foreman, working directly under Lawson. Chlebowski has worked in every department - highways, water and sewer, park and tree departments during his 27 years with the town.

He's a local native, attending Punchard High School and the Essex Agricultural School. And in those days, belying his present 240 pounds, he was a semi-professional football player and refereed many local football games.

He is a past president of the North District Improvement Association, past senior vice commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, past vice commander of Post 8, American Legion; a member of the Service Club and has been a member of the Grange for 25 years. He also has been a member of the town Republican Committee.

Married to the former Elizabeth Ulozas of Lawrence, the couple has three children, Paula, Kenneth and Deborah. The family home is on North st.

Asked this week what he considered the toughest jobs he had done for the town in his career, Chlebowski said "Well, it was all tough then. They took you out to a job and left you all day... mostly pick and shovel work".

ESTATE VALUE
WAS $103,860
Estimated value of the estate of Walter H. Seacole of Andover is $103,860, it was revealed when his will was approved in the Probate Court where Vincent F. Stulgis and Evelyn K. Seacole, both of that town, were appointed as co-executors.

Will Adopt Harvard Plan

The School Committee has agreed that Andover shall become part of the Harvard University Internship Program, joining nine other school systems.

Committee members gave Supt. Edward I. Erickson authority to arrange membership, which gives the town an opportunity to use the services of four teachers during the year.

Starting in September, one intern will teach physics at the High School and one will instruct in social sciences at the Junior High. Each will be relieved by another intern at the half-year mark.

Under the program, a teacher-intern spends half the year teaching in a public school, for which he is paid by the local system. Each intern is a specialist in the field he teaches locally and works both under local supervision and of Harvard personnel. Before coming to Andover, the intern will have completed a summer course in teaching.

Although Harvard designates the interns, each local school committee has the right to interview the person and accept or reject him on the same basis that other teacher-applicants are selected.

Although some question was raised about the wisdom of having two teachers in the same course in a single school year, it was explained that the second intern spends some time in the classroom prior to taking over, so that continuity is maintained.

The intern program was developed by Harvard to give selected graduates of colleges and universities an opportunity to work towards their masters degrees. At the same time, the program gives an individual a chance to earn money to help defray his educational expenses.

The nine school systems taking part in the intern program, to which now is added the Andover school system, are Lexington, Natick, Wellesley, Newton, Weston, Winchester, Brookline, Concord and Belmont.

APPROVES LIST OF REQUIREMENTS

Detailed instructions for the installation of water and sewer services were approved Monday night by the Board of Public Works.

The list of do's and don'ts spells out how each type of installation is to be carried out, who should pay for the service and lists details of construction for the contractors.

In general, all jobs of this type must also be tagged with a portion of the application received at the town hall, to indicate that is an approved project. Owners of property must apply, rather than their contractors or other agent.
