POND IN GOOD SHAPE FOR SUMMER

Haggett's Pond is about 10 inches below high water mark - "The best situation the pond has been in for many years", according to Water Supt. Donald Bassett.

He said the early spring rainfall, which filled the drought - depleted pond, to overflowing, provided as much rain as might ordinarily be expected through a full season.

Storm Blamed For House Fire

A brief, but violent thunder-lightning storm Tuesday night left most sections of town without power during the evening and was blamed for a serious fire at the home of John P. Toomey on Brown st.

A two-stall garage and breeze-way were destroyed and one wall of the house scorched by flames, according to Deputy Fire Chief John Cole. The fire was discovered by neighbors, after it apparently smoldered for an hour or more inside the garage. Flames leaped high as the heat generated enough force to blow both doors open. One neighbor played a garden hose on the side of the house and received credit for helping avert more serious damage before firefighters arrived.

The alarm was sounded at 8:42 p.m. for the blaze, resulting in a

Engineer Clinton Goodwin of Haverhill, who drew up the original plans for controlling Rogers Brook in 1955, has agreed informally with the Board of Public Works to continue with the project if the state comes through with $175,000 in matching funds.

Goodwin told Board members Monday night that he will charge the same percentage fee - an overall 9.8 percent - as he had agreed to charge in 1955. He estimated the construction cost, based on a low bid of $248,888.80 in 1955, at slightly over $300,000 today. His fee would be 9.8 percent of the construction cost, less some $12,389 paid him by the town for work done on the project three years ago.

He said the plans must be checked and some changes made because conditions have changed since they were drawn. This would be included in the overall fee, he indicated.

The Board has not yet heard from the State Division of Waterways, which gave verbal promises that the state would come through with the matching funds as soon as letters had been received from

Litterbugs Make Residents Dread Saturdays - Grant

To the Editor of the Townsman:

"The enclosed photograph, which were taken on Chandler rd. on a recent Saturday, give a good idea of why the residents of Beacon st. and Chandler rd. hate to see Saturday come and are glad to see it go. A book could be written on the subject of the weekly pilgrimage to the dump, but since a picture is worth a thousand words this letter will be kept short.

"One observation not evident from the picture should be mentioned however. The papers, strewn from a passing car, were found to all be less than a week old. This would indicate that they came from the home of a neat housekeeper who doesn't let old newspapers accumulate around the house and who, you may be sure, would not appreciate a stack of papers scattered over her own lawn. If she would just caution her hubby to please use care in loading his trailer or trunk for the weekly trek, we who live on Beacon and Chandler would be so-o-o grateful.

Finger Elected Bank President

Louis S. Finger, vice president and treasurer of the Andover Savings Bank, has been elected president by the Board of Trustees. He also becomes a member of the Board of Investment.

Named to succeed Mr. Finger as vice president and treasurer is Winthrop Newcomb, who also was elected to the Board of Trustees.

Bought Into N. C. Business

Daniel E. Hogan Jr., John Bolten Sr., and John Bolten Jr., all of Andover and Samuel S. Dennis 3rd., of the Boston law firm of Hale and Dorr have been elected directors of the J. N. Rawleigh company of High Point, N.C., a firm which specializes in acting as a factor for the furniture industry.

A factoring firm purchases accounts receivable from manufacturing concerns.

Last year the company factored nearly $15,000,000. This year it is factoring at the rate of approximately $25,000,000 annually.

Twelve years ago, when the local men launched Boltflex for upholstery in their office and warehouse in High Point, it was through associations formed as a result of selling to the furniture and allied industries that they became acquainted with the Rawleigh company.

Now they have purchased stock, convertible bonds and options on stock, which if exercised, will ultimately give them over 55 percent of the stock of this rapidly growing firm. The transaction was completed early this month and it promises to take the company high in the field of finance, nationally.

WHICH MAN PASSED THE N. P.* TEST?

*NINETY PERCENT
 The poised, smartly-dressed man at the left of course. You can tell at a glance . . . and that's why the Ninety-Percent Test is so important. Cadet Earned Several Awards

KENNETH L. PAUL
 Cadet Kenneth L. Paul, son of Mr. and Mrs. Laurence C. Paul, 808 Great Pond rd., No. Andover, was one of 83 cadets to receive his diploma at Bordentown Military Institute's 73rd commencement exercises Tuesday, June 10.

Kenneth, a captain in command of Company C in the Cadet Corps, attended B.M.I. for eight years. He was a member of the Landon Rifles, the crack drill unit; was the business manager of the Sword and Sabre, the annual publication; was sports editor of the Skirmisher, the newspaper; was a member of the Press Club for five years; and maintained an academic average of 84.25 per cent. In 1957 he won the Isaac Thorne impromptu speaking medal and in 1955 claimed the Palmer Davis current event prize.

At the current exercises Paul received the New Jersey Sons of American Revolution "Good Citizenship" medal, the Non-Commissioned Officers' General Excellence medal and the Company Competitive Drill first place award. Kenneth earned Junior varsity athletic letters as a member of the Little Army baseball team as second baseman and football squad as a half-back. This fall Paul plans to continue his studies at Drexel Institute of Technology, Philadelphia, Pa.

$5,150,000 ESTATE

Estimated worth of the estate of Abbot Stevens of No. Andover is $5,150,000, it was disclosed when Judge John V. Phelan approved his will in the Probate Court in Salem and appointed Horace N. Stevens Jr., of No. Andover, a cousin, and the Old Colony Trust Co. of Boston as co-executors.

The testator, who died May 15, signed the testament last Jan. 13 and gave most of his tangible personal property to his widow, Mrs. Dorothy H. Stevens of No. Andover. All of his stock in J. P. Stevens and Co., Inc., was left to the Abbot H. and Dorothy H. Stevens foundation, created for charitable purposes in 1953.

His personal property has a value of approximately $5,000,000, the judge was informed, and his realty has been tentatively appraised at $150,000.

Legacies totaling $600,000 were left to the Lawrence General Hospital, the North Parish in North Andover, the Stevens Memorial library in North Andover, the North Andover Historical society, Phillips Academy in Andover and Harvard college.

Half of Stevens' adjusted gross estate was placed in trust for his widow with other funds. He directed that his residence and grounds on Osgood st., No. Andover be maintained, and that Edgewood farm there be continued as a business.

His realty and farm were left in trust to Phillips academy along with the residue of the estate, but the realty is to go to the cousin, Horace N. Stevens Jr., upon the death of the survivor of the testator's widow and his sister, Mrs. Caroline S. Rogers of No. Andover, the will said.

Bus Bid Went To James Lowe

James Lowe, on his low bid of $5,125 plus 37 cents per mile above the daily 75 mile maximum, was awarded a school bus contract by the School Committee.

The contract was awarded subject to Lowe meeting all specifications, however. He had told Supt. Edward I. Erickson and other members of the Committee he will establish residence here by fall. Lowe currently lives in Methuen with his wife and children.

A provisional award, to the next lowest bidder, was voted in case Lowe can't meet the residence requirement. He is William Watson.

Attempts to contact Town Counsel Vincent A. Stulgis during the Committee meeting were unsuccessful, thus the decision to award the contract to Lowe subject to the specifications.

Wants Info On Water Supply

"Lots more information" will be required by the Board of Public Works before it gives the Raytheon Manufacturing Co. permission to tie in an eight-inch water line to the 10-inch Haverhill st. main.

Secretary Albert Cole Jr. commented about the amount of information needed, after hearing Water Supt. Donald Bassett explain the firm already has a six-inch fire line running off the same main. Cole pointed out, as did other Board members, that if a fire occurred, with a sprinkler system operating from the proposed eight-inch line and hoses from the six-inch main already there, the amount of water pressure would be practically non-existent.

Bassett said the firm has a standard six-inch main running from York st., which supplies routine water needs. The six-inch main off Haverhill st. at present is supposed to be for stand-by fire protection. The new eight-inch, he continued, is also to be used only for fire protection. But if there is insufficient pressure, he said, the sprinklers would not work on the upper floors of the building.

Bassett also commented that the firm had been told previously that a study of water supply in the area, and of the eventual needs of the firm, should be made. Eventually, he continued, the plant will use more water daily than does the rest of the town combined. Much of this would come from the river, or possibly from a reservoir of water processed through the filter beds there. The capacity of these is millions of gallons daily, Bassett explained.

Board member Francis Reilly suggested that no additional water be given the plant until some cooperation is given towards a study.

The attention of Board members was also directed to a shortage of water in Shawsheen Heights last week, when insufficient water pressure resulted in dripping, instead of running, faucets.

The Raytheon matter was left up to Bassett, but Board members pressed strongly for additional details, and hopefully suggested that further cooperation from Raytheon towards an overall study might go far towards solving the problem.

NEWS FROM THE SCHOOL COMMITTEE

A contract to make repairs to the chimney at the Central Elementary school was awarded to the American Chimney Corporation on its low bid of $1,282. The contract was awarded after Supt. Edward L. Erickson informed the members that he had investigated and found the firm to be thoroughly reliable.

The Mobile Electric Company of Revere was awarded a contract to make repairs to the electrical system at the junior high school. The contract will cover work on the first two floors. Contract prices are $1,568.75 for the first floor and $4,500 for the second floor.

Member William A. Doherty felt that the entire building should be subject to electrical repair at this time but the board decided to put the matter off until possibly December before repairing the third floor. In this way, the maintenance appropriation will not be seriously affected and money will be available for emergency repairs in the fall if necessary when classes reopen.

The Harding Uniform Company was awarded the contract to supply the school department with uniforms for the band at a figure of $5,175.

A communication from John M. Kemper of the salary evaluation committee, reported that an informal report would be available at the next meeting of the committee.

The committee set July 15 as the date of the next meeting and voted to invite the finance committee to sit in with them to hear the informal report.

Supt. Erickson was authorized to write to the state department of education and seek waivers on some teachers in the system who do not hold certificates.

H.; Florence, wife of Jerome Lavoie of Connecticut; June, wife of Thomas McGowan of Billerica and Miss Joan Fettes of Andover.

The couple has 28 grandchildren and five great grandchildren.

Old clothes, paint brushes, old dabs of paint from around home and scraps of sandpaper will be in order.

Mrs. Raymond Durham, 17 Kenilworth st., reports that quite a few registrations have already been received. Mrs. Durham, the school treasurer, urges parents who are interested in having their children attend the school to have their registrations in to her at once to avoid disappointment. The size of the class will be limited to 20 pupils.

You probably have fire insurance in an amount you thought would be enough to replace your home if it burned. the Selectmen. The town had to promise it would not hold the state responsible for the engineering because the work was not done under state supervision. Such a letter was written and the Board expects to hear soon that the state division has allocated the necessary funds.

Goodwin pointed out at the meeting Monday that some sections of the work could be deleted from the project, depending on how bids come in. A former appropriation tied down the project in such a way that only a finished job could be done. And when bids exceeded the local appropriation, no work could be started. The $175,000 voted Oct. 22, 1956, except as it requires matching funds from the state, is not so thoroughly tied down, thus allowing part of the work to be done.

STORM CAUSED BROWN ST. FIRE

long run for fire equipment. Brown st. is very close to the Tewksbury line. Water pressure was stepped up at the pumping station, in a successful effort to keep pressure available in the area. In other years, firefighters have been hampered in that section by a lack of pressure.

Although the fire was brought under control in about 20 minutes, flames were visible some distance away. Many residents, driving along Lowell st. toward the fire, said it looked as though the entire house was in flames.

Deputy Cole said smoke and water damage occurred in the home and some furniture stored in the breezeway was burned. There were no cars in the garage. The Toomey family has been on vacation but Mr. Toomey was contacted in Gloucester during the evening and returned to Andover.

Although the fire was the most serious result of the storm, most residents were without power during the evening. Electric clocks stopped at 7:20 p.m., somewhat before the actual storm hit the town.

Merrimack-Electric Co. officials said a main feed line in Tewksbury was struck, knocking out power to most of Greater Lawrence.

Lights came on in most sections after 8:30, but again went out around 9:30.

No serious damage was reported to the police station but many residents called to report their power off. One manhole on School st. started to cave in and the department placed a wooden horse at the site. A small washout on Shawshen rd., near the sunken section, also required marking for the remainder of the night. A wire on Elm st., inspected by the fire department, was found to be in place, but a large porcelain insulator had been destroyed. Emergency power from a genera-

EDITORIAL THOUGHTS

Committee Faces Merit Decision

When the School Committee was forewarned, last week, that an informal report of its salary evaluation committee would be ready July 15, it must have recalled to mind the bitter disappointment felt after the March town meeting.

For at that session a considerable portion of the proposed salary increase — designed to put the teachers on a basic schedule prior to consideration of a merit system — were defeated. And since that time, operating within the limits set by the voters, the Committee has been unable to grant the increases it had planned.

Now the committee of educational experts is due to report again — this time with the long-awaited merit report.

But from what the School Committee spokesmen said at town meeting, it appears obvious that the merit plan will go on from the basic schedule, rather than be substituted for it. Thus Committee members must be in a bit of a quandry.

For it is obvious that the merit system, in whatever form it is reported, can't take up where the basic schedule leaves off. There was much hue and cry at the town meeting over the merit plan — many residents putting themselves on record for one, without first adopting a basic schedule. They thought merit raises for teachers qualifying under a merit system would be better than first granting all teachers a raise and then adding merit increments. Obviously the School Committee felt differently and presumably continues to feel that its proposed basic schedule should be adopted before a merit plan.

The special committee — including Headmaster Kemper, Mrs. Crane of Abbot Academy and Very Rev. Vincent McQuade, O.S.A., of Merrimack College — plus members of the teachers' group, have no doubt prepared a reasonable and workable plan for merit increases.

And they probably have determined some method of judging merit and establishing a system for the judging that will not fall prey to influence or pressure.

No matter how reasonable or efficient it may be, the question remains — how can the plan be put into effect if it is predicated on adoption of a basic schedule, which the voters chose to turn down?

We trustingly hope that the merit plan is workable, without waiting for the town to adopt another basic salary schedule. For that might take a mighty long time and we shouldn't wait longer than the next town meeting to put a merit plan into operation.

Good Work

Our hats are off this week to Officers Warren Maddox and Richard Caldwell, whose quick action prevented an armed robbery from turning into injury and possible death.

The two officers arrived at the Howard Johnson restaurant on Route 28 just as a lone bandit was commanding the assistant manager to turn over all the money. Testimony at the man's preliminary hearing revealed he had warned that men with shot guns were stationed at the doors. Several patrons were standing around the cash register while the robbery took place and about 100 were in the establishment.

It's obvious that there was considerable danger — for a panic-stricken attempt to get away might have sent bullets flying around the restaurant.

Caldwell walked right up behind the man, told him to drop his gun and, as the man turned around, reached out and took the gun away from him. Maddox, coming in the rear of the establishment, was an obvious deterrent to hasty action on the robber's part.

Someone commented after the story had appeared in the newspapers that gunplay surely would have resulted if the situation was repeated in some other communities, where officers wouldn't wait for a man to turn around with a gun in his hand. It's a tribute to these officers' quick thinking that they effectively disarmed and arrested the man without precipitating a gun fight.

Valz Describes Methods To Measure Merit

To the Editor of the Townsman:

"Since announcing my belief that it's about time we should do something to recognize and reward superior teachers, I have been asked by a number of people whether it is possible to set up such a plan.

"My answer is that of course it is possible, unless one has a built-in hostility to such a plan. Every teacher knows that a hostile pupil is an unteachable pupil. With this single exception, there is no mystery in a merit system.

"To begin with, many millions of white-collar workers in business and industry are now on a merit plan of some kind. Such a plan makes sense wherever the individual rather than the nature of the job establishes the quality of the performance. Antagonism is found chiefly in those organizations whose purpose it is to protect their weakest members, rather than to improve the efficiency of their more competent members.

"In the teaching field, even a cursory examination will show that a great deal of performance measuring already exists. I will mention six areas.

"Isn't it safe to assume that our teachers' colleges measure the 'teaching ability' of their students? If not, those teachers' colleges which are tax supported are due for an agonizing reappraisal.

"From the day that a new teacher faces his first class to the day of his retirement, he is engaged daily in the business of accurately measuring his students' performances.

"It is quite inconceivable that any teacher can work for any length of time in any school without appraising his fellow teachers. This needn't be subjective. An English teacher in grade nine has an objective measure of the quality of the English teacher in grade eight whose pupils he takes over and whose capabilities he can evaluate.

"The most important area of measurement is in a school system's administrative staff. A principal who doesn't understand the strengths and weakness of each of his teachers is a principal in name only. As teachers' teachers, the principals are the key persons in the appraisal of their teachers' performance. To suggest that our principals are incapable of doing the job for which they are being paid is quite unfair. A principal who can't do this with fairness is a principal in need of replacement. A superintendent interviewing new teachers obviously uses some kind of yardstick by which to measure each candidate's worth.

"There are two other instances where teachers' performance is the Committee before. Appointed were Edward Shattuck, Hugh Bullock, the Rev. Charles A. Branton, O.S.A., Mitchell Johnson, Joseph M. Hargedon, Howell F. Shepard and Harvey G. Turner.

The Tyer Rubber Co. workers who went on strike the past few days are gradually returning to their jobs. Some went back last night, some today and more will do so the first of the week when their jobs are ready for them. The strike was called over a 25 percent pay raise demand.

Three members of the So. Main st. gypsy band were sentenced and fined $25 apiece in Lawrence District Court, as the result of a free-for-all in an Essex st. store occupied by one of the families.

Lt. Col. John M. Kemper, new headmaster at Phillips Academy and the Rev. A. Graham Baldwin, school minister, were recipients of honorary degrees from Williams College at the 159th annual commencement.

graded regularly. The first of these is parents, the second the older students. A parent's judgment is apt to be conditioned by his child's performance; parents are notorious for saving face by blaming a poor student's record on the teacher. If I had to choose between these two I would say that the older pupils have the sounder judgment. To this day, at least a third century after the fact, I believe I could describe with affection my own best teachers — as can most adults. We could do worse than have our older students classify their teachers.

"From this it is clear that measuring a teacher's ability is nothing new.

"There seem to be two methods of ranking people: subjective and objective. Although the subjective approach is unscientific, it is in very wide use and the results are more satisfactory than one might expect. The sounder approach is to set up a list of criteria by which each teacher is graded. A refinement of this approach would consist of weighting each criterion so that the eventual score would be the result of a two-dimensional analysis.

"I know a case where both methods are being developed. First the teachers were asked to isolate two groups: the superior and the inferior teachers. Then the principals were asked to do the same thing without knowing the rankings made by the teachers. The degree of unanimity thus subjectively arrived at surprised everyone. Incidentally, the teachers were much tougher in their ratings than were the principals. Next, this community developed a 'performance rating scale' with ten criteria, each of which was weighted 1, 2, or 3 to arrive at a performance score. It is expected that this scientific approach will not seriously alter the high unanimity already arrived at subjectively by two groups separately.

"One reason why such a plan will work is the simplicity of the scoring objective. Only two groups need be segregated: superior and inferior. All other teachers stay in the 'average' category until moved either up or down.

"The purpose of all this must not be lost in the mechanical details. This move is not teacher-oriented but community-oriented. Rewarding superior teachers is not the end but the means. The justification is that the end result is a superior school system. The stakes are now much too high to continue to operate on a catch-as-catch-can basis. The time has come to function on the basis of educational efficiency by built-in design."

Will Retain Bradlee School

The Bradlee School will be boarded up - but retained by the School Committee for possible future use.

The Committee decided to retain control of the structure, which will be vacant this September when the South School opens. Steadily increasing school population and uncertainty over future demands were cited as reasons for keeping the building in reserve.

Post 2128, Veterans of Foreign Wars, had received the Selectmen's assurance that its request for use of the building would receive serious consideration, if the building was released by the School authorities. The Post wished to make the building its headquarters.

Youngster Saved By Quick Action

His father's knowledge of artificial respiration saved the life of a Malden youngster at Foster's Pond last Saturday.

Dennis Neale, 26 Talbot st., Malden, was discovered in the water by his father, Norman, in an unconscious condition. Prompt measures on the father's part resulted in the year-and-a-half old youngster being conscious by the time the ambulance could reach the camp. Taken to the Lawrence General Hospital, the lad was released after treatment. Attendants Edward King and Alfred Desrosier administered oxygen to the boy during the trip to the hospital.

Police officers Warren Maddox and Jacob Jacobson investigated.

BASEBALL TEAM GETS MORE HELP

The Andover Vets baseball team, one of the hottest in the League at this writing, is particularly grateful for the increased public support.

It recently was reported that financial assistance was inadequate, compared to collections at other fields, and failed to meet the game expenses. Since that time, there has been a marked improvement in the public support, according to managers of the team, both in attendance and monetary support.

Mr. Hasty was a former resident of the Vale.

Capt. Robert C. Cowan, connected with Headquarters WESTAF Division of MATS, has been transferred from the Kelly A.F.B. in San Antonio, Texas to the Travis A.F.B. in California. Capt. and Mrs. Cowan, former residents, will reside at 331 So. Orchard ave., Vacaville, Cal.

Contracts have been awarded by the Selectmen for varying amounts of fuel oil and gasoline for the year.

The Stewart Oil Co. of Lupine rd. was low bidder on 3000 gallons of range oil, at .109 per gallon delivered. Other bidders were Cyr Oil Co., .114 and Brien Oil Co., .135.

The Brien Oil Co. received a contract for 8500 barrels of No. 5 oil, for use in the school system. The low bid was $3.3585 per barrel delivered. Other bidders were the Andover Oil Co., $3.3589; and the Dalrymple Oil Co., $3.3895.

The low price was .0054 cents per gallon plus the Boston tank car price at time of delivery. At the present prices, this would be a total of .1004 per gallon. Other bidders included the Brien Oil Co., .1095; and the Howe Oil Co., .101.

A contract to furnish about 68,500 gallons of gasoline for use in town vehicles was awarded to the Cyr Oil Co., at a low price of 13.8 cents a gallon for regular and 17.3 cents a gallon for high test, plus applicable taxes. Quantities of high test and regular will be determined at the times of delivery.

Will Attend School In France

Miss Alma Grew, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. James Grew of Phillips Academy, landed at Le Harve last week, having sailed on the S. S. Nieuw Amsterdam to attend the advanced Summer School in France operated under the auspices of the Northampton School for Girls, Northampton, and Ecole Champ-lain, a French camp in Vermont.

Alma, who has been a student at Abbot Academy, was one of 22 girls from almost as many different independent schools who were selected for this advanced French Course, after having studied at the Summer School of French on the Northampton School campus or having been recommended by their schools. Girls who have made a good record in French at their respective schools are eligible for the European study which centers about Le Montcel, a well-known French independent school.

Besides the weeks spent at Ecole du Montcel, the group will take a trip by autocar to the Riviera, and one through Normandy, Brittany, and Touraine. They will sail for home late in August.

Announce New Parking Rules

Additional parking restrictions around the Raytheon plant in Shawsheen Village have been imposed by the Selectmen.

After consulting with Chief David Nicoll Monday morning, the Board made the following decisions:

Two-hour parking on the north side of Haverhill st., between York st. and the railroad, a change from the former unlimited parking status.

There will be no parking on the south side of Haverhill st., between York st. and the railroad. This also was unlimited.

Two-hour parking allowed on Burnham rd., both sides, from York st. to the railroad bridge, a change from unlimited parking.

On Fleming ave. there will be two-hour parking on the right hand side and no parking on the left. Both sides formerly were two-hour parking.

The decision to place further regulations on parking in the Raytheon area came a week after members of the Shawsheen Village Improvement Association appeared before the Board to suggest the additional measures. The residents, speaking for the Association, said further control of parking was necessary, to drive employees of the firm into the new parking area, which has ample capacity for all employees' cars.

International Guests In Local Homes

Eleven guests from Canada and Great Britain will be entertained by families of South Church this weekend.

South Church is one of the greater Boston Congregational Churches to offer hospitality to delegates to the International Council which has been in session at Hartford, Conn., July 3-10. Hosts to these international guests will be Mrs. Alvin J. Zink, Mr. and Mrs. Cleveland Gilcreast, Mr. and Mrs. Lindsay J. March, Mr. and Mrs. Wilson R. Neisser, Mr. and Mrs. Dixon B. Penick and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Van Zandt.

INTERESTING TRIP

Mrs. Mary Gibson and her daughter Ruth of Shawsheen rd., have recently returned from an interesting vacation trip conducted by the Cartan Tour. They left Boston by American Air Line for Chicago June 28 and from Chicago they traveled by train to Denver, Col. where they climbed Pikes Peak and the Mt. Cheyenne Trail. On the latter Trail they experienced a severe hail storm which caused washouts on the Trail. They arrived home Saturday, July 5.

SHAWSHEEN HIGHLANDS SEWER STARTED

Lowell st., near the intersection at No. Main st., will be tied up for several days, as the Shawsheen Highlands sewer line is started.

Work began Monday morning on the new line, with traffic diverted away from the excavation. Water Supt. Donald Bassett said another few days will be required to finish the Lowell st. section.
