Seek End To Car Vandalism

Andover police cruisers are making periodic checks on Raytheon parking lots, in the wake of company complaints that acts of malicious vandalism and theft have been continuing.

Company spokesman Dewey Dyer said Tuesday that within the past week a car battery had been stolen and a windshield broken. Other employee automobiles have been victimized, he declared.

Dyer said any individuals caught while committing acts of vandalism will be prosecuted. "The time has come when we must apparently make an example of someone in order to put a stop to unwarranted damage to employees' cars parked here," Dyer stated.

Police Chief David Nicoll said Tuesday that he had ordered cruising cars to check the lots. Dyer also said that company security forces will check the areas in an attempt to stop "this wholesale disregard of the rights and property of other persons."

Will Talk Over Rt. 110 Plans

State highway officials have promised to discuss dead-ending Andover streets, as a result of Route 110, construction, before final plans are drawn.

And the state officials will also discuss utilities — water and sewer pipes — with the Board of Public Works well in advance of the time the highway construction takes place.

Town officials won these two points at a public hearing in Lowell Tuesday.

Associate Commissioner of Public Works Fred Dole told Selectman Sidney P. White and BPW Chairman Alex Henderson that engineers from the department will confer with town officials. White asked consideration for streets that appear destined for a dead end, while Henderson drew the commissioner's attention to unexpected expenses the town assumed for the relocation of

Robb Appointed Police Sergeant

Two major appointments were announced by the Selectmen last weekend, both involving the Police Department.

Sgt. Robert V. Deyermund was named sergeant-inspector. He will be assigned to full-time investigating duties.

Alfred M. Robb, a member of the department since 1949 and top man on a Civil Service list, was named sergeant.

In a third appointment, the Selectmen appointed Robert Fanning a permanent patrolman from the reserve list.

Robb, who becomes the department's fifth sergeant, is a native of Andover and attended local public schools. He was appointed to the Department in April, 1949. He has attended the state police school at Framingham and has been widely recognized for his

Three Merit Raises Possible In 11 Years Under Proposed Plan

WOLCOTT AVE. RESIDENTS CAN KEEP OLD NUMBERS

The Selectmen have notified residents of Wolcott ave. that new house numbers, which brought heavy complaints from the homeowners, have been revoked.

The street will use the same numbers as they have during the years.

The numbers on houses on both sides of the street had been changed — swapping odd for even — to conform to other streets in the area. Residents said this would upset deliveries and cause much difficulty in changing legal documents.

It has been explained that the street has no vacant lots and thus there can be no foreseeable difficulty in letting the numbers remain as they always have been.

A teacher merit plan, proposing possible increments of $500, $700 and $900 during an 11-year period, has been presented to the School Committee for study.

A special committee, including Headmaster John M. Kemper of Phillips Academy; Very Rev. Vincent J. McQuade, O.S.A., president of Merrimack College; Mrs. Alexander Crane, principal of Abbot Academy; Philip Wormwood, newly appointed assistant principal of the High School and Miss Rose Cardella, a member of the Teachers' Association; made the proposals after months of study.

Basically, the plan calls for a possible $500 merit increase after five or more years of service. A teacher might possibly be eligible for the second, $700 increase, after eight or more years of service and three or more with the first increment. The final $900 step could be reached in the 11th year of service, providing the teacher had the second increment for three or more years.

All merit increases would be in addition to possible automatic raises called for in a basic salary schedule. And the Committee

Raytheon Water Supply Debated

Raytheon Manufacturing Co. in Shawsheen Village has three thousand gallons of water a minute available for firefighting, but wants to install an eight inch main to the town line on Haverhill st. for a sprinkler system.

Water Supt. Donald Bassett told the Board of Public Works Monday night that the company has even suggested installing the line and shutting it off at the property line until such time as there is sufficient water in the system. He explained a week ago, when the request first was presented, that a six-inch line already goes into the Raytheon plant from the 10-inch town main. If the new request is granted, he said, there would be an eight inch and a six inch line

Add To Village Parking Rules

Further parking restrictions in Shawsheen Village were imposed by the Selectmen Monday, after receiving petitions from three insurance companies in the village.

"No parking before 8 a.m." edicts were handed down for the mall, left side of Riverina rd., between Haverhill st. and the residential area and on Balmoral st., from Main to York.

The new regulation, in effect, allows all-day parking after 8 a.m. Selectman Stafford Lindsay said the Prudential Insurance Co., Merrimack Mutual and the Massachusetts Mutual Insurance companies asked for the change.

The mall has had a two-hour parking limit. But the Selectmen had received a breakdown of those parking in the area from Police Chief David Nicoll. It showed, on July 7, a total of 31 cars parked. Of these, 10 were from Raytheon, five out-of-state, 11 out-of-town and three could not be checked.

1957 Traffic Data
 The Selectmen also have received traffic study data from the

SEEKING LAND DAMAGES FOR WELL AREA
Alfred Drinkwater, acting as trustee for the DeJon Realty Trust, has started legal action in connection with land taken by the town from the trust for the new well area in Ballardvale.

Drinkwater claims that land bordering Pomp's Pond, which he alleges was suitable for summer, camp and recreational use, was seized by the town. He asks the court to establish a fair price for the land, alleging that the portion of the area left to the trust is of diminished value because the pond frontage is gone.

Lynn and Timothy.

Fanning, the son of Ellen and the late Robert Fanning, is a native of Boston. He was top man on the Civil Service list for promotion from the reserve list. He has been a resident of Andover for several years.

The sergeant's promotion, a matter of speculation throughout the town for several weeks, was authorized by town meeting last March. At that time it was stated that a full time inspector's position would be filled at the same time, with the rank of sergeant, so that all matters requiring investigation could be handled by one person. In the past, various members of the force have investigated complaints, burglaries or automobile accidents.

Others on the list from which Robb was appointed included George A. Porter and William Tammany.

Dr. Lindsay To Practice Here

DR. RICHARD D. LINDSAY
Dr. Richard D. Lindsay announces the opening of the Andover Animal Hospital at 233 Lowell st., for the practice of veterinary medicine.
Dr. Lindsay was born in Andover Jan. 16, 1930, the son of Selectman and Mrs. Stafford A. Lindsay. Dr. Lindsay attended the local schools through the eighth grade and attended Phillips Academy for four years, graduating in 1948. After six years of study at Michigan State College, he received his degree with honor in 1954.
After graduation, Dr. Lindsay became associated with the Bruce Animal Hospital in Dedham. He remained there until January of 1955 when he received his commission as a First Lieutenant in the U. S. Army and was assigned to Ft. Jay as Fort Veterinarian at Governor's Island, N.Y. He was discharged from the U. S. Army Jan. 1, 1957, and renewed his association with the Bruce Animal Hospital in Dedham until the present time.
Mr. Lindsay is married to the former Betty Mae Marsh of Birmingham, Mich. They have two children, David 4 and Diane 2.

drawing water off an eight inch main at the same time. This would result, he continued, in there being practically no water pressure for firefighting — the main reason Raytheon has given for wanting the two lines. The six-inch main is hooked up already to a stand-by fire system, the Board was told.
Monday night Bassett reported that two pumps at the plant, using water from the river, can provide 3,000 gallons each minute or 180,000 gallons an hour, for firefighting — compared to a maximum of 72,000 gallons per hour from the town system.
Bassett said he had informed plant officials that the eight-inch line in Haverhill st. will not provide enough water for firefighting, even if the proposed eight-inch line into the plant is installed.
Member Francis Reilly said he believes the contract for the work has already been awarded, ahead of gaining town permission to enter the line. And he also commented that the work is all cost-plus.

"But why let them throw away our tax money for a line they can't use?" Reilly asked. It was suggested that the firm could cooperate fully with the BPW by defraying a $250 expense for a full study of water supply in the area, an idea mentioned to the firm some time ago. Bassett said the company had not agreed to the study at that time.

The Board of Public Works left a decision on the subject up to the water superintendent, with the advice of the fire chief, whom Bassett said has valuable data on the sufficiency of the water supply in the section.

Cattle Killed In Bad Fire

Andover and Lawrence firefighters poured tons of water on leaping flames at the Shlakis farm on Brundrett ave. Tuesday morning, but were unable to save 22 cows and a bull in the huge barn. A quantity of farm equipment was also lost in the fire.

Only one cow managed to live through the fire, only because she found her own way out of the barn. The others died in their stanchions, as flames forced would-be rescuers to retreat.

Patrolman Warren Maddox, whose home is nearby on River rd., telephoned the first alarm just after 2 a.m. At the same time, two Methuen patrolmen on the Lowell boulevard, Kingsley Lough and Hugh O'Rourke, saw the fire and notified patrolman Albert Medauer at the Methuen police station. He called Andover Police Sgt. Raymond Collins.

Another West Andover resident called Lawrence to report the fire, resulting in dispatch of Engine 3's equipment from the So. Broadway station. Lawrence Fire Chief Forrest Duncan responded, when called by his city's fire alarm department.

Another Fire Chief Henry L. Hilton and Deputy Chief Charles Murnane directed operations, as tons of water were poured on the flames.

EDITORIAL THOUGHTS

Congratulations!

Our congratulations and best wishes to Norma Jean Peatman.

She's the lucky girl who will spend a year in Austria on an exchange program — while an Austrian girl of the same age will come here and live with the Peatman family.

This is a wonderful opportunity for a teen-ager — a chance to live, work, study and play in a European country. The value of the experience is enhanced by living in a normal family group for the year.

We trust the experience will be as rewarding, too, to Miss Irmagard Michl, whose year in the United States will start July 18.

Exchanges of this nature can do a lot to promote understanding and friendship between people of the world. If more of our young people had the opportunity to live in the homes of residents of other countries, and they in ours, there certainly would develop a greater friendship and understanding than can be created by impersonal, government-sponsored activities.

Written Statement Needed

It's hard to believe that Rogers Brook drainage work may actually get underway, with reasonable assurance that the project will be completed.

But that's the current status of negotiations with the state.

Definite assurances were given the Board of Public Works that the state will approve matching funds, amounting to $175,000, to put the brook underground as described in plans drawn by Clinton Goodwin in 1955.

The town met its responsibilities when the Selectmen, responding to a request by the state, gave written promise that the Commonwealth will not be held responsible if the engineering was faulty. This was a reasonable request by the state, whose engineers did not participate in the planning. But there is absolutely no reason to believe that the engineering will be anything but correct. Thus the town, while meeting its share of a bargain, stood to lose nothing.

Now it is the state's turn to step up and be counted.

The town is waiting for a letter containing the state's promise to match the $175,000 appropriated here. Verbal promises to this effect were given about two weeks ago by the head of the Division of Waterways. Two members of the Board of Public Works heard the statements, as did two or three others taking part in the conversations.

Thus it appears that we may actually get this long overdue project in the works before the end of the year. For it seems inconceivable that freely-given promises will not be repeated in writing, when the verbal assurances came from the head of the responsible division himself.

Voters Can Act

The United States Senate has finally gotten around to approving a resolution passed a year ago in the House of Representatives defining a code of ethics for federal employees. One of the major items covers the acceptance of gifts, in cases when the employee has reason to believe some favor may be expected in return.

Of course it is absolutely proper for Congress to pass such a resolution. But we doubt whether its adoption will do much to insure morality in government. For it never has been considered proper to accept gifts when they might be construed as bribes and somehow it seems unlikely that a mere resolution will do much to put an end to the practice.

It's all well and good to talk about morality in government, but actually it is the individual's moral values that need improvement. For after all, one rather expects all successful politicians, whether they be national, state or local, to be publicly against sin. It's what they do as individuals, not what they say publicly, that will determine whether we possess a government of high moral standards.

And although we, as individuals, may feel there isn't much we can do to maintain integrity and honesty in government, actually we have a big voice in the matter.

Whether it be nationally, in the state, or in our own town, we should elect only those persons we know to be of the best moral character. In too many cases, voters have elected men whose reputations and past performances do not indicate exceptionally high standards. Then we complain when their activities in office are found to be on a lower moral level than we would like.

The answer is to use some care and discretion in voting, rather than exercising our lung-power afterwards in complaint.

utilities in connection with Route 28 construction. He asked that all possible state assistance be given and received assurances that the state will go over the plans in detail, so that the town will know exactly where it stands. The state normally picks up the tab for some utility work, while some, the commissioner said, must be borne by the town. But he at least promised that the town will know what to expect and can plan accordingly.

It appeared on the plan that High Plain rd. and Wood Hill rd. will be dead-ended. Haggett's Pond rd., Chandler rd., new Route 28, Greenwood rd., Corbett rd. and the present Route 28 will all be usable — either being reconstructed over Route 110 or under it.

Interchanges are planned at the Tewksbury line, Route 28 in West Andover, at Beacon st. and at No. Main st., just this side of the Andover-Lawrence line.

It appeared that present Route 28 will be under the new highway, rather than being dead-ended as had first been reported. The plan did show one way traffic into Andover along So. Broadway, with traffic from Andover routed along Union st. to South st., and back onto So. Broadway.

Although the plans were not drawn in detail, it appeared obvious that many homes will be affected in Shawsheen Heights and in the Fletcher-Binney st. area. Commissioner Dole stressed the willingness of his department to sit down with any individual, in the Boston office, and try to determine how the person's land or home may be affected.

PERSONAL

Mr. and Mrs. Warren A. Lewis and their children of Arundel st., spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Dana Hill and their family at their summer home in Washington, N.H.

MERIT PLAN PROPOSED

again emphasized its belief that a basic schedule must be adopted which will provide sufficient incentive to keep teachers on the faculty and attract new ones.

Town meeting last March refused to appropriate enough money to establish the basic schedule originally recommended by this Committee. It called for a starting salary of $3,800; increments of $300 each year for four years and $100 steps for 10 years, to a total of $6000 at the end of 14 years service.

Headmaster Kemper emphasized the Committee's feeling that this schedule should be adopted and sufficient funds appropriated to put it into effect.

Once the Committee had established the dollar incentives, it set up criteria and methods of evaluating teachers, with the intention of making the plan operate as a real merit system.

School Committee members agreed that the plan must actually operate on the basis of merit, without any possibility that merit increments could become substitutes for normal salary increases.

A seven-member evaluating committee would be set up, to include the school superintendent or his assistant, one member of the School Committee, one school principal, one senior high school teacher, one junior high school teacher, one teacher from the intermediate grades and one from the elementary grades. The Executive Board of the Teachers' Association would appoint the teacher-members and principals, with the restriction that any appointee must be on tenure in the system. Alternates would also be appointed, to serve in case of absence, or when a member of the evaluating committee might be considered for a merit raise. It was also stipulated that no principal may vote on a merit rating for a teacher in his school, although the principal's recommendations would be heard.

Financial Picture
Under its proposed increment plan, the Salary Committee emphasized that a teacher might possibly become eligible and be given merit raises as soon as the proper length of service had been reached. But it was stressed that by no means all teachers who reached the proper length of service, even after receiving one or two increments, would receive the next merit raise. Each would be considered, based on the criteria established as a guide for the Committee.

Thus a teacher might receive the first merit raise of $500, receive automatic schedule increments but no other merit raise. This teacher would reach a maximum salary of $6,500 in the 14-year period.

A teacher receiving the second merit raise, plus automatic increases, would eventually get $7,200 after 14 years.

The teacher who received all three merit raises would wind up with a salary of $8,100 at the end of 14 years.

Committee members stressed that this top salary would be a coveted goal, reached on the strict merit system. Thus comparatively few teachers might receive it. Mr. Kemper said he believed a fairly substantial number might make the first step, fewer would be judged excellent enough for the second merit raise and the top rung of the ladder would be difficult to attain.

It is difficult to put a total dollar value on the plan, Committee members agreed. But they felt that the first year or two would be the most difficult, because teachers with 20 and 30 years service in the system would be eligible for one, two or all three merit raises.

Members of the Finance Committee at the meeting agreed that the merit plan sounded fair and equitable.

Richard Zecchini said "You have done a superb job" and he warned the School Committee that it must explain the plan thoroughly to the townspeople so everyone will understand what is to be accomplished. He also agreed that members of the Finance Committee, as individuals, are in sympathy with the aims of the basic salary schedule.

FinCom member Frank Johnson further emphasized the need of a basic scale, commenting "The basic scale needs to be there. It is most important". He also explained that his company is working with personnel evaluation and with that as a basis, he could understand the complexities of the problem facing the School Committee. He told the committee, in regard to the basic schedule, "I'm certainly for it 100 percent. You need to sell the people on what you need".

C.D. Personnel Aided In Control

In Cooperation with the request of Gov. Foster Furcolo and registrar of Motor Vehicles Riley, the communication division of Andover Civil Defense played an important role over the Fourth of July weekend in handling the massive problem of motor traffic control throughout the commonwealth.

Douglas Crockett and Alex Ritchie Jr., Andover communication officer, following a conference with C.D. Sector director Col. Louis Berwick and other officials, assumed the responsibility of handling the communications for sector I-G in civil defense.

The purpose of their work was to keep a constant flow of information relating to traffic conditions, jams, accidents, tieups and violations flowing into the state police. These reports were made at 30 minutes intervals around the clock, via radio, to Topsfield where Alex Ritchie and Forrest Noyes, with their assistants, received these messages from 21 stations and turned them over to state police officers on hand. Andover operators worked on the traffic problem of Rte 21, 28, 128, Cape Ann and beach traffic. A headquarters was set up at Salisbury town hall, where Jack Malcolm and Melvin Hutchins were in charge. Thomas Churchill and Earl Baker Jr. were in charge of reports from various overpass locations. Some of these men were on duty for upward to 10 hours at a stretch. The following hams also were on duty, or were on a stand by basis: Steven Korba, William Howarth, Arthur Schwarzenberg, Edward Cordts, Earl Baker, Alvin Zink, Phillip Colquhoun and David Higginbottom.

Both Mr. Crockett and Mr. Ritchie have been highly commended for the excellent work performed by their Andover Civil Defense Communications group.
