Telephone Dialing Starts Aug. 17 For Residents Of Andover Area

In a little more than three weeks, Andover telephone users will be directly dialing their numbers. The new system goes into effect on Sunday, Aug. 17 from the company's new building on Elm st.

The present Andover switchboard was placed in service on October 24, 1914 replacing a magneto board, which had required the subscriber to use the old crank-type telephones. The newer board consisted of four positions for handling local calls and of one position for the completion of the few toll calls which went through the office in those days. The board served 383 customers lines and 597 phones in homes and businesses. This was a substantial increase over the 47 lines and 156 telephones of 10 years prior which is the earliest record available today of the exchanges size.

In addition to handling the subscribers local traffic, the operating

Playground Children Enjoy Annual Picnic

Some 500 Andover children frolicked Tuesday at the annual playground picnic at Canobie Lake Park. The day was ideal as far as both the weather and the enjoyment of the children went.

Seven buses and a large number of private cars transported the children from the five playgrounds, Central, Ballardvale, Indian Ridge, Shawsheen and West Center. All buses reassembled at the Central School area for final instructions before the happy children headed for the park at 10:30 a.m.

The group arrived at Canobie Lake Park at 11 a.m. and the children had their picnic lunches with milk furnished by the Recreation committee. The mad rush to the amusement area was then on.

When the funds of most of the youngsters had been exhausted, a program of Bingo with candy bars as prizes proved very popular. Softball also took the attention of a number of the children. These activities were carried out at the picnic shed and adjacent playfield. Races for all ages followed at 2:30 p.m. with candy bars as prizes after which ice cream was served to all picnickers.

At 3 p.m. the buses reloaded for

PARKING FEE HAS GONE UP

Small, white printed signs began appearing in Andover's parking meters this week with the warning "Use Only Nickles." The price of parking went up as workmen from the meter company converted the boxes to nickle meters. The action came as the result of a vote by the board of selectmen recently. Although pennies can no longer be used, officials feel that the cost of parking to the public will average about the same as before.

Andover Street Will Be Improved By BPW

Resurfacing of Andover st. and consideration of improved street lighting were matters which came before the board of public works Monday evening. Present at the session were Chairman Alexander A. Henderson, Francis P. Riley and Mason F. Arnold. Members Albert A. Cole and David Thomson were missing, the former being on a military duty tour while the latter has been ill.

The board received a request from Raytheon for additional street lighting on York st. due to increased traffic through the opening of the new enlarged parking area. The board voted to trim tree foliage around the York st. lights and see if this will brighten the area before taking steps for additional installations.

Recommendations were received from the Merrimack-Essex Electric company for improved lighting on several streets.

These reports were in answer to a request by the board for a survey of lighting on certain streets.

The installation of mercury vapor lights between the Shaw-sheen river and Shawsheen square was reviewed by the board and tabled until a full board is present. When these lights have been set up, there will be a complete white way along Main st. from Phillips Academy through Shawsheen square.

A report on Elm st. lighting improvement was also tabled until the full board is present.

Approved for better lighting were Arthur rd., Marilyn dr., Mary Lou ln., Suncrest rd., Judson rd., Forbes ln., Stevens cir., Haggitt's Pond rd., Bailey rd., Pleasant st., Boutwell rd., High Plain rd., Gleason st. and Locke st.

Also held for a full board meeting were Abbot st. and Alden rd. in regard to additional lighting.

The members approved an expenditure of $4,600.74 for the resurfacing of Andover st., from the Shawsheen river to Woburn st.

The board has agreed to meet with officials of the Merrimack-Essex Electric company next Monday evening at which time the company's plans for the improvement of the electric system in the town will be explained in detail.

allow him to build a dwelling approximately 10 feet from the side lot lines on his property at Sherry dr. At the hearing held May 15, opposition was registered to the petition.

The board denied the petition under a section of the zoning by-law "a side yard not less than 15 feet in clear width may not be permitted except in specific cases where existing lots are less than the minimum width prescribed by the zoning by-law and in such cases a side yard not less than 10 feet in width may be permitted by the board of appeals."

Evidence presented at the hearing showed the board that an enforcement of the provisions of the by-law involve only financial hardship since no dwelling has been built on the lot, the decision reads.

Alfred W. Fuller, chairman, Edward P. Hall and Joseph F. Bacigalupo, of the board, handed down the decisions.

In other decisions made by the board, permission to change the lot line between property owned by Arthur R. Lewis, 183 Lowell st. and the property of the West Parish Congregational church and a petition by Robert S. Leathers, to combine eight lots into four on Alderbrook rd., were granted.

Appeals Board Holds Meeting

A petition from the Andover Housing Authority for a variance of the town's zoning law was among five considered by the appeals board at a meeting last Thursday evening at the town house. All were taken under advisement.

the Andover regulations. This is the plan for the Housing for the Elderly unit to be constructed off Chestnut st. under the housing authority.

Roscoe M. Johnson, 127 Chandler rd., petitioned the board for a variance to allow him to divide his property in order to sell an undersized lot in an industrial area.

Atty. Anna M. Greeley, acting for Marion E. Matthews, sought a variance allowing the division of land at 10 Marland st., Ballardvale into two lot lines, with the lines less than those required by the Andover zoning by-laws.

An application of Joseph W. and Joan E. Watson, 21 Sutherland st. sought the board's approval for a building on lots with areas less than required.

Alphee Letourneau, 78 Osgood st., petitioned the board to permit the location of a single family dwelling on back land in the rear of a lot owned by him on the east side of Osgood st.

Joseph Bacigalupo acted as chairman of the board in the absence of regular chairman Alfred Fuller. Present at the hearings were Edward Hall, secretary and Robert Zollner.

Appeals Board Decisions

Permission to operate a boarding kennel at 248 Andover st. and a petition for a variance to build a house within 10 feet of side lot lines on Sherry Drive, has been denied by the zoning board of appeals.

Irving J. Moss requested the permission of the board to operate the boarding kennel. A hearing was held on the request May 15.

In its decision the board found that the proposed use of the property for a dog kennel would be a violation of a section of the zoning by-law. Such a business is not permitted in a single residence district, the decision stated.

In denying the request, the board stated it felt that granting of the relief would amount to an amendment to the zoning by-law which is not within its power.

Henry Grillo petitioned the board for a variance which would

An elementary school vacancy was filled with the appointment of Mrs. Irene Fitzgerald of Haverhill, to the second grade at the South School. In other matters before the committee, resignations were accepted from Mrs. Kathleen J. Coombs of the commercial department in the high school and Alice M. Bisbee of the social studies department of the junior high school.

Satisfied that James M. Lowe would fulfill the specifications listed for the school bus contract conditionally awarded him at the last meeting, the committee formally approved the contract Tuesday night. Mr. Lowe has moved to Andover and is now a resident of Temple place, which meets the requirement that the school bus be operated and owned by an Andover resident.

Damage Caused By Cellar Fire

A fire in the cellar of the Andover stationery store, 22 Essex st. at 3:43 p.m. Sunday sent Engines 1 and 3 and Ladder 1 of the fire department to the scene. Deputy Chief Charles Murnane attributed the fire to a leaky line to an oil burner. Damage was caused to the partition, ceiling and overhead wiring. Smoke entered the adjoining stores of George E. Bubar's Laundromat and Robbie's Fur store. The relief was at 5:05 p.m.

This new-type concrete road is smooth, quiet and comfortable

Drive it on America's newest highways!
New-type, sound-conditioned concrete will be fun to drive for 50 years

Not a "thump" to be heard on this continuous-laid concrete. It's almost like riding above the pavement, instead of on it. Sound-conditioned concrete has no joints... only tiny, sawed cushion spaces. You skim over them and don't know it! "Air-entrainment" prevents surface roughening, keeps concrete smooth. Laid flat, this concrete stays flat and will last 50 years and more.

Only concrete can be engineered to match expected traffic loads. It's the preferred pavement for the new Interstate System and all major highways.

Compare cement concrete mileages constructed in the nine most populous states since 1948: 1) New York—2,702; 2) California—938; 3) Pennsylvania—1,901; 4) Illinois—1,599; 5) Ohio—1,958; 6) Texas—1,786; 7) Michigan—1,412; 8) New Jersey—337; 9) Massachusetts—25. It costs up to 60% less to maintain concrete roads than asphalt. Obviously Massachusetts has not kept pace with other large states in construction of durable, low-annual-cost pavements.

PORTLAND CEMENT ASSOCIATION 20 Providence Street, Boston 16, Massachusetts

Moral Of This Story: Trees Won't Protect You

A large oak tree came into flower this spring and the leaves unfolded on schedule. Suddenly the tree died.

Dead leaves and flowers were still clinging to the twigs when Dr. Philip L. Rusden, pathologist of the Bartlett Tree Research Laboratories, performed an autopsy. His verdict: Death by electrocution. The tree had been killed by lightning which coursed through vital tissues lying beneath the inner bark.

A tree may die any time from 24 hours to six months or more after it has been hit by lightning. Not all bolts shatter a tree. Like the oak this spring, lightning may kill the cambium tissue, or the roots. Or it may loosen the bark which then dries out. Lightning injury can take many forms.

Every year lightning takes a toll of 300 lives in the U. S. Countless thousands of trees are killed and damaged.

No tree is a safe refuge during a lightning storm. An oak is the unsafest of all. In Britain nearly half the deaths of persons struck by lightning last year occurred while they sought shelter under an oak tree.

After the oak, the elm, pine, ash, poplar and maple follow in that order of lightning susceptibility. The beech seems the least susceptible of all.

Lawn trees, street trees and those growing near the edge of a woods are more apt to be struck than those in a dense woodlot. Sometimes the lightning surge travels up from the ground.

Trees can be turned into giant lightning rods that will protect both the tree and surrounding area. A loosely woven copper conductor is extended from the treetop down the forks along the trunk and grounded deep in the soil beyond the branch spread. A bolt hitting such a tree is carried harmlessly to the ground.

Coming Events:

JULY

26 Library closed Saturdays.
28 10:15-11 a.m. Story hour for boys and girls.

Summer hours: Adult reading room, open daily Monday through Friday, 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. Children's room on the same days open 10 a.m. to 12 noon and 2-5 p.m. Both rooms will be closed Saturdays during the summer weeks.

Story Hour

The theme for Monday morning's story hour, July 28, the last of the series, is to be "Stories Near At Hand". Already there have been stories of animals, enchantment, magic, other countries; now boys and girls will hear about persons and places with which they are familiar. Miss Margaret Lane, Children's librarian, will begin the program at 10:15. Parents should plan to call for children at 11 o'clock.

Miss Putnam At Conference

While attending the 77th Annual Conference of the American Library Association in San Francisco, California, last week, Miss Mariam Putnam, librarian of the Memorial Hall Library was one of those to see the awarding of prizes to the three writers selected as winners of the Liberty And Justice Awards.

Each of the men received $5000 for an outstanding book published in 1957. George S. Counts received the honor for his book "The Challenge of Soviet Education" in the field of Contemporary Affairs and Problems; "Churchill, Roosevelt and Stalin" won for Herbert Feis in the category of History And Biography; a young bomber-navigator of World War II was awarded the prize in the field of Imaginative Literature for his first novel, "The Prisoners Of Combine D."

Counts, for many years a distinguished figure in American education, is Professor Emeritus of Teachers College, Columbia University, and the author of many books. In selecting his work the judges said "...this carefully documented, authoritative description of Soviet education deserves wide reading. For it warns the American people that our intellectual leadership of the world will be lost and our very freedom threatened unless they begin to realize that we must — build a new strength into our nation through an educational system which will serve the purposes of a free society as effectively as the Soviet education serves the purposes of despotism."

"Churchill, Roosevelt, Stalin" was described by the judges as follows: "Herbert Feis brings his training as a scholar and his experience as a government official to bear on this review and re-assessment of the achievements and frustrations of the wartime Big Three. His personal concern for liberty and justice sharpens his insights and judgments, but true to his professional role as faithful historian he lets the record tell its own story and the reader draw his own conclusions. The result is a masterpiece of creative research and exposition which will illuminate the student and inspire the scholar for years to come."

The judges called the "Prisoners Of Combine D" a novel of unusual honesty and perception about Americans under conditions of suffering and endurance which compel them to reconsider the assumptions and prejudices of their lives and which bring some of them to heroic determination.

The books are available at the Memorial Hall Library and may be reserved at any time.

The following books have been added to the library in recent weeks: Ultra-Miniature Photography, Cooper, Picture History Of Painting, Janson; Degas Dancers, Browse; Elizabethans At Home, Pearson; Through The Mathescope, Ogilvy; World Peace Through World Law, Clark; The Greek Experience, Bowra; Guidance For Today's Schools, Foster; Work And Contemplation, Steere; A Cottage In The Country, Arkell; The Arctic Year, Freuchen; Life Plus 99 Years, Leopold; High School Teaching, Hansen; Growing up, Billett; Introduction To Geology, Brown; Journey To Java, Nicolson; Week-end Pilot, Smith; Anthology Of Japanese Literature, Keene; Arabesque And Honeycomb, Sitwell; Complete Book Of Pet Care, Lewis; Available Light And Your Camera, Wright; I Was A Savage, Modupe; Sunset Ideas For Color In Your Garden, Sunset Magazine; Exploring The Distant Stars, Clason; The Battle Of Cowpens, Roberts.

AUSTRALIANS INSPECT LOCAL WATER SYSTEM

2,700,000 people of which the city of Melbourne comprises one half of the previous total. Mr. Richmond and Mr. Walker have under their jurisdiction 280 towns in the Victoria area which are made up of populations that range up to 100,000 people. Their chief comments at this time would seem to indicate that the rainfall in Victoria has been above normal over the past few years but they are anticipating at this time and in the immediate future, a drought.

Superintendent Bassett was accompanied on a tour of inspection of the Water systems by Engineer Robert McQuade of the Engineering Firm, Camp, Dresser and McKee. Mr. McQuade had on hand technical data pertinent to the water conditions that prevailed in Andover in the past year. Visits made to the Pumping Station included a study of the shore lines of the Water Shed and conditions regarding algae and weed growth. Mr. Rollins, engineer at the Pumping Station, explained the system used to introduce the chlorine, lime and fluoride. "These controls were of the most modern and up to date nature and the efficient manner of the operation was a credit to the Town", Mr. Richmond said.

They next observed the Wood Hill tank for the storage of water. This tank is one of two to be put into operation this year to increase the storage capacity by 1,800,000 gallons. The Wood Hill Reservoir is 93 feet in diameter, it has a height at the over-flow mark of 20 feet - 6 inches. The roof is made of 1/2 inch steel and the sides are made of 5/16 inch steel. The Prospect Reservoir is 66 feet in diameter, 31 feet - 6 inches high and has a storage capacity of 800,000 gallons. This is already in use. They were interested in every detail regarding construction, painting and costs.

They next visited the Abbot well and were given first hand information as to the operation, cost of operation of both the Abbot and Ballardvale wells. On a return to the office technical data regarding the pumping of gallons, size of the water shed, rainfall for this area, restrictions regarding the use of water during the past year, the sanitary controls that are exercised around the Haggatt's Pond Water Shed, the amount of chlorination, lime and fluorides that are introduced into the system and their cost during the past year. They were also interested in how much control the State exercises over the type of water that is disseminated to the public.

The two gentlemen from Australia and the representative from the State Department arrived in Andover a half hour late but due to the readily available information that the Superintendent of the Water Department and Engineer Robert McQuade had available, they were able to leave Andover at the appointed time for the Lawrence Experimental Station. Their parting comment was to the effect that Mr. Bassett certainly had his facts and figures readily available at a moment's notice.

Women's Union Enjoys Picnic

Twenty five members of the Women's Union of the West Church enjoyed their Annual Outing last Thursday at the summer home of Mr. and Mrs. James Baxter, Big Island Pond, N.H. The group left in cars from the church at 10 a.m. and after a most happy time together they returned about 4 p.m. A delightful luncheon was served at noon and this was followed by a short business meeting. The day was ideal and the group thoroughly enjoyed the kind hospitality of the hostess Mrs. Baxter.

CLEAN-UP PROJECT

Several civic minded men and boys of Ballardvale are working on a clean-up project, mainly the front yard of the Vale that is the grounds around the railroad station, which has been an eye sore for a number of years. Marc Sweet, Albert Warner, Durwood Moody along with members of Boy Scout Troop 76, Daniel Dunn, William Butler, Bruce Moody, Donald Brouck and Charlie Murnane are doing the work. They were all working when former resident Carvin McGee who came to visit immediately went to work and helped them and showed them a few tricks about using a scythe. All are welcome to help on Wednesday at 7 o'clock and in case of rain they will work on Thursday evenings.

CELEBRATED BIRTHDAY

Cynthia Orlando daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Orlando of Dale st., celebrated her eighth birthday last Wednesday evening when a group of eight attended Family night at the Red Sox - Kansas City baseball game at Fenway Park. Attending were:

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Orlando and son, Frank Jr., and Cynthia, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Humphries and children Donna Lee and Donald.

'School Art' At Addison Gallery

What do art teachers teach? What do art students learn? What does the art school do for American art? The 10th year survey concerned with these and like questions opened July 12 at the Addison Gallery of American Art, Phillips Academy.

"Art Schools U.S.A., 1958" is an exhibition in which 10 of the leading art institutions in America have been invited to participate. Each of these schools was represented in the first exhibition assembled by the Addison Gallery 10 years ago. What changes have there been in a decade? Is art today (measured by student performance) better or worse than it was a decade ago? What has become of students of that time?

The visitor naturally asks such questions while contemplating the 80 paintings, drawings, sculpture and graphic work which comprise the exhibit. Each school is represented by five examples of current student work, as well as by three current works by an alumnus of the school who graduated 10 years ago. Thus, there are opportunities for comparing not only Californians with New Englanders, Middle Westerners with Middle Easterners, but also of comparing present-day students with more mature artists. It is illuminating to note how competently the present crop of students perform.

The Addison Gallery is open to the public without charge every weekday from 9 to 5; Sundays 2:30 to 5 p.m. The Gallery will be closed on Labor Day. The exhibition will continue until September 28.

Will Enter Wentworth

TELEPHONE DIALING STARTS AUGUST 17

 room was at that time also fitted to handle information service, and to accept payments and do business with the local subscribers as well. The information service was moved to Lawrence some years later to provide room for switchboard growth and to handle the information business more efficiently with the Lawrence Information Service. Other agencies were also established for payment of bills.

The exchange grew slowly and steadily through the following years and the crisis of World War I, but was seized with growing pains in 1923 with the establishment of Shawsheen Village and the arrival of the American Woolen Company and other wool company offices, in the area. At that time seven positions for local traffic was still adequate to handle Andover's telephone business. In 1926, the telephone community had expanded to nearly 900 lines and 2000 telephones, but growth through the depression years slowed considerably and at the out-break of World War II the exchange stood at some 1600 lines, and nearly 3000 telephones.

Business was not heavy and nine local positions sufficed.

Following the war, rapid construction of new homes, evident every where through-out the town, caused corresponding expansion of telephone facilities, but in 1951, 11 local positions still satisfied the calling needs of the community, until Christmas Eve, when the present free service was established between Andover and Lawrence. Acceptance of this service was more enthusiastic than the company had foreseen, and the increase in business between Lawrence and Andover so overloaded the switchboard, that it was necessary to rush in two more positions and increase the capacity some 15 percent. Installation crews worked around the clock in three shifts and the job was completed in record time.

Expansion continued both in the number of telephones through-out the community and their usage by the subscribers. A recent monthly count showed 6600 telephones serving 4800 customers in the community. The capacity of the switchboard has been reached and an operating room which two decades ago seemed spacious and adequate for years to come is now crowded with equipment, with barely adequate space for the people to move and work comfortably. The new office on Elm st. has been engineered to handle 5650 customer accounts and is considered by the company's engineers to be adequate until September of 1961, when it is estimated that the above figure will be the size of the telephone exchange. The building which has been recently completed has room for telephone growth for some years to come and it is considered that the additional equipment which will be provided some time in 1961 will not fill the building, but will leave ample room for more additions.

 about this question:

"My daughter expects to display her gifts at her wedding reception. One hates to be suspicious, however, does experience show that it is wise to carry insurance to cover the many expensive gifts while on display?"

Name Teacher Asst. Principal

Philip F. Wormwood, head of the social science department at Andover High School, was appointed assistant principal by the School Committee July 15.

The Committee also considered the application of Robert J. McIntyre, a teacher in the school and head football coach.

The position is mainly concerned with discipline and attendance, with some administrative assistance to Headmaster Lindsay J. March.

Mr. Wormwood, a resident of Ballardvale, served as president of the Teachers' Association during the past year and has been particularly active on the Salary Evaluation Committee that just recently reported on a proposed merit plan for teachers.

His election came on motion of Mrs. Reta Buchan, seconded by member Frederick Allis Jr. The vote was unanimous. Chairman Roy A. Russell was not present at the session.
