Zoning Has Become Key Town Meeting Issue

ZONING CHANGES - The two cross-hatched sections shown on this zoning map of the town are the areas proposed by the Planning Board for new Zone D - two acre lots. It has been estimated that the two areas represent about one-third of the town's 32 square miles. Part of the area at the top of the map near the Lawrence line, marked SRA and IA, plus a portion of the section marked E, on the left of Haverhill st., will be considered for zoning in a new industrial area. The new industrial section generally is in the area of the old filter beds.

One of the most crucial decisions facing the voters at town meeting Saturday is the question of two-acre lots in large areas of the town.

The widely-separated sections include about one-third of the town's total 32 square miles of area.

The larger lies to the west of Route 93, except for the industrial area; and the second is in the easterly part of town, in the general area of the By-Pass to North Reading.

The merits of two-acre zoning, and the objections to it, are expected to consume considerable time Saturday, as the issue appears in the warrant for the second time.

The Planning Board has issued the following statement of its belief in this regard:

"The Planning Board feels keenly its responsibility to the citizens of the town of Andover, (Continued on Page Three)

Little League Begins Tryouts

Saturday may not be the first day of spring, but to hundreds of boys, that's the day when spring is in the air.

For the first Little League tryouts are scheduled that day.

League President Charles R. St. Clair has officially notified all interested boys that the annual activity will begin in the Phillips Academy Cage, starting at 10:45 a.m. for the eight and nine year olds. They'll have another practice session the following Saturday at the same time, and again on March 26.

Boys who are 10 years old will work out Saturday from 1-2 p.m., Sunday at the same time, again March 19 and 20 and the weekend of March 26 and 27.

All boys of 11 years will work out from 2:15 to 3:15 Saturday, Sunday, and the next two weekends.

The Andover Historical Society will meet Saturday, March 19, at 3 o'clock in the Blanchard House, 97 Main st. Miss Miriam Putnam, librarian of the Memorial Hall Library, will review Dr. Paess's new book, "Andover, Symbol of New England".

Doyle, McIntyre Election Victors

Russell G. Doyle of Evergreen ln. easily lapped the field Monday, scoring an overwhelming victory in the three-way Selectman's contest.

He piled up 2,689 votes, 1,219 higher than Donald G. Thompson's 1,470. Frank Michel received the endorsement of 595 voters in his first quest for public office.

Doyle's total was 624 more than the combined vote of his opponents. In the School Committee contest, Robert McIntyre led his nearest rival, Robert Zollner, by 333 votes, to take the vacant seat on that

Will Decide Town's Course

Zoning questions appear to be the most provocative issue facing the voters at town meeting Saturday.

The annual session gets underway at 1:30 in the Memorial Auditorium.

After normal preliminaries, the first major item of business will be action on the recommended $2,967,529 in departmental budgets.

Of special significance in consideration of the budgets will be an effort by members of the police department to gain approval for their article to accept a state minimum-maximum salary pro-

Attended Conference On Education

Mrs. G. H. Sherrerd and Mrs. A. L. Rairigh recently attended the Second Governors Conference on Higher Education.

This Conference was held at Boston University with the theme "Quantity and Quality in Higher Education". Mrs. Sherrerd and Mrs. Rairigh represented the League of Women Voters of Andover at the conference. Dean Francis Keppel of the Graduate School of Education at Harvard gave the keynote speech on "Quality in Higher Education".

Mrs. Sherrerd and Mrs. Rairigh particularly enjoyed President John Fey of the University of Vermont, who spoke on the "Need for Administrative Fluidity". He felt that education cannot be submitted to the same type of rules as, for example, the Department of Public Works, even though both come under state control.

Dr. Fred C. Copeland, Dean of Administration at Williams, Dr. William K. Seldon, executive secretary of the National Commission on Accrediting and Dr. John Gustad of the New England board of Higher Education also spoke during the day.

Cluster Zoning Up To Voters

"Cluster Zoning" - a relatively new concept in sub-divisions - will face the voters Saturday at town meeting.

The new proposal will allow a developer to plan a sub-division on a tract of 10 acres or more, in which lot frontages are less than usually required. Lot sizes may also be varied, under the plan.

However, the Planning Board has pointed out that the number of houses may not be increased.

"The net result would be a 'clustering' of houses, relatively close together, with a larger proportion of the tract left open", the Board has explained. The Board feels that the advantages to the developer are home owner will lie in the decreased utility and road costs; and that the town will benefit by reduced costs of maintenance of roads and utilities and preservation of more open space around the area.

The Board explains that the new type of plan is optional with a developer, and that the Planning Board must find that the new-type plan has advantages for the town and does not detract from the neighborhood.

Three amendments will be offered to the article, as it appears in the warrant, when the article reaches the floor Saturday.

As a result of questions raised at the public hearing, the Board plans to amend the article to establish a minimum lot size so that no lot can be less than two-thirds of the area required by the zoning district in which it lies.

The second amendment will establish minimum frontages at 100 feet, and at 112.5 feet in the two-acre zone, if approved.

The other amendment will extend the provisions of the "cluster zoning" to all single residential zones except the A zone, which is the smallest in the community.

ZONING SEEN CRUCIAL ISSUE

not only those who have lived here all their lives but also those newcomers, present and future, attracted here by its beauties and assets. We, the members of the Board, feel that we have been entrusted by the Town with the duty to 'preserve and increase its amenities', to quote Section three of the Zoning Enabling Act, which specifies how and for what purposes the zoning power may be used.

"Growth and change are inevitable and in many respects desirable. A Planning Board dedicated to preserving the status quo would not only be ridiculous but downright dangerous, and a contradiction in terms. What is a Planning Board for, if not to anticipate the future needs of the town in terms of its expected growth? At the same time, it should seek to preserve those assets which are preservable and which the town can afford to preserve. At the present time, and for the foreseeable future (the next two decades) these include the rural fringe of land which separates the more densely populated areas of the town from our neighboring communities, in all directions except to the north. Zoning is but one method of working towards this objective. However, it seems as a practical matter to be the only one available to Andover voters at the present time.

"Our population is expected to reach 25,000 by 1980. This estimate is based on the evaluation of many factors and has been arrived at with great care. Under present zoning standards, we have 3 to 4 times as much land zoned for residential use as we will need by 1980. It is clear to the Planning Board that Andover's citizens may choose to provide a rather extensive area of relatively open land, if they so desire. In view of the expected impact of Routes 93 and 495, Andover will not have such a choice very much longer.

"Two-acre zoning will not prevent building in the western and eastern extremities of the Town. It will, however, tend to preserve the lightly settled rural character which makes Andover so attractive a community. It will provide areas of good residential land where those who prefer rural living may settle with some assurance that their surroundings will retain their rural aspect. It will reduce the potential density of population in the outlying areas, thereby reducing the cost of police and fire protection and upkeep of public works facilities in those areas.

"The majority of the expected influx of newcomers can easily be accommodated in those areas closer to the center of town where problems of development are now in the process of solution on a large scale. Under present zoning standards, if Residence A were to be fully developed and the B and C zones only one-half filled up, a total population of 34,500 would result. A scarcity of residential land is not one of our problems.

"The Planning Board expects that the influx of new residents will cause a moderate increase in taxes, unless residential development is balanced by an increase in taxable industrial and commercial property. New residents and old residents alike will share the burden of this increase. In the absence of a thorough study of assessments, it is difficult to generalize about the relative amounts of tax revenue provided by old and new houses. Since the recent revaluation, new houses have been assessed at higher rates than formerly.

"The Planning Board does not believe that large lot zoning is the perfect answer to our growth problems; far from it. Large lot zoning of itself does not inhibit overall growth in a community. The very desirability of the community as a place for suburban living is thereby enhanced. There are other methods of preserving open lands or rural fringe which are preferable, but prohibitively expensive. Mr. Haartz put forth such an idea for Andover in the December 31st Townsman, advocating purchase of a 650-acre "green belt" beyond Route 93. This proposal actually is a very sensible one. The Master Plan recommended that this area be acquired by the Town and preserved as open land. All that is required to carry out the proposal is plenty of money.

"The efforts of the Andover Village Improvement Society to obtain such lands for preservation by purchase and gift are greatly to be commended. Unfortunately it too is hampered by the amount of funds available.

"Developers will argue that large lots are much more expensive to develop. A comprehensive study of large lot zoning in the Greater Boston area has shown that lot area has a relatively small effect on cost of development; frontage requirements and improvement requirements are much more important factors. The option which the developer will have in the future, if Article 30 (Special Development Plans) passes to reduce frontages to one-half of present requirements should substantially reduce lot development costs in Andover.

"Opponents of large-lot zoning argue that large lots tend to encourage more pretentious residences; that the "little guy" will thereby be squeezed out, and prevented from owning a home in Andover. Study of many Massachusetts communities with known large increases in residential growth has shown that such is not necessarily the case. Community character is a much more important factor in residential valuations than lot size requirements. No direct relationship between lot sizes and average valuation could be established in individual communities.

"Large landholders in the areas affected, realtors, and contractors will oppose this large-lot zoning because of apparent financial hardships. The Planning Board sincerely believes that the best interests of these people as well as of the Town as a whole will not only not be hurt by the proposal for a two-acre zone but will actually be served. The attractiveness and desirability of the land thus zoned, and of the town as a whole, will we believe be enhanced."

TO THE PEOPLE OF ANDOVER

We, the Police Officers of Andover, are seeking your support for ARTICLE 43 in the Town Warrant.
 The Police Officers of Andover receive an average take home pay of $70.00.
 Realistically, how can we raise our families with dignity, educate our children beyond high school and put something away for a rainy day on this salary?
 To be sure, there are Police Officers in other Towns who are worse off. But, by the same token, would we trade our excellent school system for a cheaper one just because it is cheaper? Of course not!
 To hire and hold good Police Officers today requires the payment of good salaries.
 We wish we did not have to make a public appeal for support. But, to protect our families, we feel it is necessary to bring our message to you and ask for your support of ARTICLE 43.

Police Salaries Crucial Issue

One of the hottest issues to face the voters Saturday will be the police salary increase proposal.

An article in the warrant asks the voters to accept a state law, which sets police officers' salaries at a minimum of $4,800 and a maximum of $5,500. The article does not set salaries for higher ranks in the department. Present salary range is $4,060 to $4,510.

The Police Committee which inserted the article is headed by George A. Porter.

He explained that the average take home pay of the officers is about $70, while some are considerably lower than that based on the number of dependants. The committee has based its proposal on the contention that this take-home pay is insufficient.

The article will be presented for discussion at the meeting regardless of the 4 1/2 percent pay raise already approved by the town manager and Finance Committee. A meeting of the officers recently resulted in the conclusion that the voters should have an opportunity to consider the merits of the higher minimum-maximum range.

Town Manager Thomas E. Duff has opposed the measure, pointing out that it violates home rule and would result in pay raises in the range of 20 percent for some of the officers. He also based his opposition to it on the grounds that it has been customary for the fire department wages to go along with the police department - and the town meeting article would abandon this concept.

4 Hearings Before Board Of Appeals

The Board of Appeals heard four applicants for variances during hearings March 3.

Charles D. Roberts of New Hampshire asked for permission to build on a lot on Magnolia ave. Some opposition appeared. He asked the variance on set-back and sideline requirements. The objections came over the type of building that might be placed on the lot. The applicant was represented by Donald McNeil, a local real estate agent.

Alcide J. LeGendre, 136 Chestnut st., wants a variance to allow division of his property into two lots, neither being of required size. There was no opposition.

Atty. James H. Eaton III represented John Philip Enterprises, which seeks permission to build on lots on Lovejoy rd., which were of proper size until zoning changes were approved. Some residents of the area appeared, expressing concern over drainage problems.

Peter Loosigian, 254 Lowell st., asked for permission to expand a fruit and vegetable stand, which is a non-conforming use in the area. Neighbors questioned the type of addition, but little actual opposition was expressed.

VAL-E-ROLL LEAGUE RESULTS LISTED

Results in the Val-E-Roll Bowling League for Wednesday, March 2, were as follows: Aces 3, Royals 1; Jokers 4, Kings 0; high triple and single, Phyllis Pimpare 315 and 121; second high triple, Mary Jacobson 289; second high single, Mary Jacobson 100; high team single, Aces 440 and high team triple, Jokers 1265.

CHURCH BELL RINGS AGAIN

Many people within hearing distance of the familiar tones, of the West Church bell have no doubt missed its resonant tones during the past few weeks. The silence has been caused by a broken bell rope which is now renewed and once again the bell pealed out its joyful song last Sunday morning.

Mrs. John Cecil Jr., chairman, will be in charge of the meeting, assisted by Mrs. Richard Anderson, Mrs. Walter Curtis and Mrs. Vincent Stulgis.

The Junior Gardeners are planning an outstanding exhibit for the Boston Flower Show, which opens Sunday, March 13, at Revere, Wonderland Park. The theme of the junior section is "Junior Conservation Projects" and the young gardeners have been making bird feeders and forcing shrubs in preparation for the event. Many unique methods for feeding birds will be displayed, also samples of different types of feed for birds and shrubs which may be planted to attract birds.

Mrs. Ernest L. Wilkinson, president of the Andover Garden Club, and Mrs. Adeline Wright, advisor to the Junior Garden Club, will take a group from the Junior Garden Club to Revere Saturday, March 12, to arrange the junior exhibit at Wonderland Park.

ANNOUNCING

3% REFUND

(AFTER TAXES)

In every business, the surplus after reserves and taxes goes to the owners. In most businesses it is called profit and goes to the owners in proportion to their ownership. In a consumers' cooperative we call it refund and it goes to members in proportion to their purchases. On April 1 our members will get a 3% return on their 1959 purchases, plus 5% on their stock. In all, $27,651 is available for distribution. Repeat: $27,651.

Non members who turned in their 1959 sales slips can easily qualify for their share of this refund by purchasing as little as one share of stock at $5. This also gives them complete membership rights and 5% dividend on the stock.

TAXES

Consumer cooperatives pay the same kinds of taxes as any other business. Here are our approximate taxes for 1959:

Andover real estate tax	$ 3,454
Mass. Corporation income tax	2,045
U.S. Corporation income tax	5,935
Payroll and other taxes	2,995
TOTAL TAXES	$14,429

Incidentally, many of our members are going to reinvest their 3% refunds in the CO-OP'S Big Expansion Program at 5% interest.

EDITORIAL THOUGHTS

"Let George Do It?"

Slightly more than 55 percent of the 8,695 registered voters cast their ballots Monday — a somewhat better turnout than had been foreseen.

Now what about town meeting?

How many of the 8,695 voters are content to let someone else decide the fiscal policies of the town? How many of you are willing to sit at home and allow others to determine the course the town will follow in zoning?

If this year follows the pattern of others, a thousand or so voters will turn out Saturday for the annual meeting. This is a small minority of the total eligible to attend — yet year after year, the majority seems content to allow a minority to transact public business.

Just as it is essential to have a high percentage of the votes cast at the election, so is it vital to feel that the community's expenditures for the year, and its policies towards growth and development, are decided by more than a relative handful of those eligible to make the decisions.

Don't let someone else decide for you. Attend the town meeting Saturday and make your own decisions, using your own good judgment. Only in that way can we actually be certain that the town is moving in the direction desired by its residents.

When you "let George do it", you are sacrificing your rights, and you are doing a disservice to the town in which you have chosen to live.

Final Decision Needed

Printed in this week's issue of the Townsman is a map of the town which shows the two areas proposed for two-acre house lots.

According to estimates at the public hearing, about one-third of the town's 32 square miles would fall within this proposed zone, if two-thirds of the voters at town meeting approve the change.

We have reiterated our belief that two-acre zoning is not desirable — and we maintain that conviction as town meeting draws close.

Others, however, feel that benefits will accrue to the town from this zoning. And we have printed, this week, the reasons stated by the Planning Board for proposing it.

This is a vital issue — one that must be decided with some finality at this town meeting.

The presence at town meeting of a majority of the voters would be desirable — and certainly there should be in attendance far more than the usual number of voters, so that this question can be decided by more than a few hundred voters.

See Their Exhibits

The annual Science Fair takes place at the High School next Thursday at 7:30 p.m., and we urge attendance at this affair.

The students work diligently to prepare exhibits and it should be enlightening to those who have never seen them to discover what the students are doing.

It is encouraging, as well as enlightening, to see the interest and emphasis in this field which has been so much in the public eye in recent years.

Down the Years with The Townsman

50 Years Ago — March, 1910

Jeremiah Cullinane of Ridge st. is confined to his home by illness.

Scott Shattuck, the local expressman, has recently purchased a new wagon for his business.

Walter M. Lamont has purchased a new automobile.

J. H. Nuckley, manager of the People's Ice Co., has had a telephone installed in his home on Park st.

Arthur Morse has accepted a position in the office of the Board of Public Works, which was vacated by Frank L. Cole.

Reservoir st. was renamed Bancroft rd. on motion of George Cheever at the adjourned town meeting.

At the regular meeting of the Andover C. and F. C., in Abbot Village Hall last Monday evening, the following were elected to manage the cricket eleven in the current season: Alexander Valentine, president; John Porter, vice president; George B. Petrie, secretary and treasurer; and William Hadden Sr., captain.

25 Years Ago — March, 1935

Police are investigating a crash of a 104-car freight train in Lowell Junction at 4 a.m. Sunday. The freight struck a truck that had been stolen earlier and driven off the Tewksbury st. bridge onto the tracks 35 feet below.

J. Everett Collins has resigned from the School Committee, following his triumph in the Selectman's contest. The School Committee and Selectmen will appoint his successor, to serve until the next election.

A decrease in the tax rate of 50 cents has been foreseen by the Assessors, following town meeting's surprise action in voting less than had been recommended by the Finance Committee.

Norman Thomas, twice a candidate for president on the Socialist ticket, has accepted an invitation to speak to the November Club at its annual guest night.

The new police cruiser probably will be held for emergency use, according to police spokesmen. They comment that private cars have been commandeered in the past when emergencies have arisen, and this indicates the need for keeping the cruiser available.

10 Years Ago — March, 1950

Three women were elected to the School Committee this week, Miss Ann M. Greeley, Mrs. Dorothy T. Partridge and Mrs. Katherine A. Baldwin. The total vote cast was 3,344 or 47 percent of the 7,151 that were eligible.

Police of several communities joined forces Sunday night in the search for three young men who held up a Lawrence taxi driver in West Andover. They took $13 from him, then left with his cab, which they wrecked at a nearby intersection. Police were able to track their steps in the snow as far as the bank of the river, where they apparently crossed over into Lawrence.

The Finance Committee predicts an increase in the tax rate, regardless of any economies that can be made by reducing some budget items.

Arlene Kupis, Martha Ann Fieldhouse, Ann Marie Murray and Kent Donovan have been announced as the four honor students at the High School. The first two will be valedictorian and salutatorian.

According to the year's report, the police department made 183 arrests in 1949. Fifty-four were for drunkenness, 35 for speeding and 11 operating under the influence of liquor, with a scattering of violations accounting for the remainder. The local police obtained 116 convictions in court, six were dismissed and the rest were disposed of in various ways.

The Memorial Hall Library will close at 1 p.m. on Saturday, March 12, for the annual Town Meeting. No books will become due on that day; anyone wishing to leave books may place them in the sidewalk book return.

Story Hour

The story hour for Tuesday afternoon, March 15, will be a program of Irish tales, as one might expect, since the date is so near St. Patrick's Day. All boys and girls are cordially invited to attend. Story hours open at 3:35 o'clock, and run for one hour.

Great Books

The reading for the next meeting of the Great Books Discussion group is to be Kant's "Critique Of Aesthetic Judgment". The group opens its meetings at 7:45 o'clock, every other Tuesday, in the Memorial Hall Library. March 15 is the date for the next discussion.

Littlest Listeners

The Robin group will meet at the library Wednesday, March 16, at 10 o'clock. The following day the Ballardvale group will have its meeting in the branch room at the same hour.

Civil War Roundtable

In cooperation with the Andover Civil War Roundtable, the library is showing a number of books and Civil War articles in a display. With the coming visit to Andover of Ulysses S. Grant, III, who will address the members and all interested persons on Wednesday evening, March 16, at Central Elementary School, there is a general upsurge of interest in this man's heritage.

Andover readers have always had a strong curiosity about the civil war in all its phases. Certain titles are constantly in circulation, and many are reserved. Among the books most popular are the following: "America Goes To War", Catton; "A Stillness At Appomattox", Catton; "The Glory Road" (the bloody route from Fredericksburg to Gettysburg), also by Catton and his story of the Union side of the war, "This Hallowed Ground". Earl Miers wrote "The Great Rebellion", dealing with the emergence of the American conscience, and Allan Nevins wrote "The War For The Union", of which the first published title is "The Improvised War, 1861-1862"; Burke Davis wrote "To Appomattox: Nine April Days, 1865", all these within a year or two. Perhaps less well known are the accounts of naval operations during the war — "Gallant Rebel, the fabulous cruise of the C.S.S. Shenandoah" by Stanley Horn, a story also told by Murray Morgan in his "Dixie Raider"; Fletcher Pratt's "Civil War on Western Waters" and Richard West's "Mr. Lincoln's Navy" are both well read. In addition the biographies of the men who fought the battles there are two pictorial studies of interest: "Divided We Fought", by Millhollen and Kaplan, and "Mr. Lincoln's Camera Man" by Roy Meredith. This last title tells the story of Mathew B. Brady, assigned as official photographer of the Union Army, whose pictures show readers today what war was like a hundred years ago.

Experts Will Speak To Parents

JOHN HARMES

Parents of children attending the Free Church Cooperative Pre-School will get a three-sided look at the process of character development when a panel of experts addresses the group.

At 8 p.m., March 16 in the school room at Free Church, a social worker, an educator and a spiritual leader will look at "How Character is Developed in Children" through the eyes of their professions.

John Harmes, clinical psychologist for the Greater Lawrence Guidance Center and a Pre-School consultant, will dwell chiefly on the influence of home upon character development. Speaking as an educator will be Mrs. C. Edward Buchan, experienced teacher and member of the Andover School Committee. Representing the viewpoint of a spiritual leader will be the Rev. J. Allyn Bradford of the Free Christian Church, Congregational.

Each speaker will have five minutes to develop his subject. Group discussion and questions will follow, moderated by the school's teacher, Mrs. Thayer Warshaw.

Persons interested in the school or in this particular subject are invited to attend. Coffee will be served at 7:30 preceding the panel.

The school is now accepting enrollments for the 1960 fall term. Parents of four-year-olds may obtain information about enrollment from Mrs. Lester Newell.

What Our Readers Say—

To the Editor of the Townsman: "Congratulations to the town manager and the public works people on the excellent handling of the snow plowing during and after the recent storm."

"Today (Tuesday) my work took me through the towns of Melrose, Beverly, Wakefield and Lynn. In some of these places the sidewalks are still unplowed, people are walking in the streets, cars are still stuck and in general traffic conditions were very poor. "Nice going Mr. Duff."

TOWN MEETING
SATURDAY AT 1:30
 vision. It is anticipated that they will request the voters to take up article 43 under the budget item on police salaries, so that the budget will not have to be reopened if the article is approved. It establishes a $4,800 to $5,500 pay schedule for officers, with the maximum being reached in three years.

One other change in a budget item seems certain, following the snow storm of last week. Town Manager Thomas E. Duff told the Selectmen and Finance Committee Tuesday night that the $33,000 snow removal item probably will be amended, rather than request a transfer from the FinCom to cover portions of the cost of the snow fighting. Full breakdowns of the expense, and the salaries and wages, will be available by Saturday.

As they reviewed the budget Tuesday night, members of both boards agreed that other items in the budget might require special consideration, when and if voters ask for it. But none of the items stands out as being specially controversial at this time, they felt.

The budget, as in other years, will be considered by groupings, with specific items held out for discussion when requested. Otherwise approval will be given to whole segments of the budget, rather than taking each of the 111 items separately.

Following consideration of the budget, the voters will take up the balance of the 63 articles - plus three others to be decided at a special town meeting at 4 o'clock.

The Finance Committee has recommended expenditures of $341,143.96 under the articles, all from available funds.

Included are the trunk sewer main from Riverina rd. to Essex st.; Rogers Brook reconstruction; a portion of the drainage survey; major water improvements; and the purchase of vehicles.

Two articles - the requested six percent wage increase for all town employees and the civil service question - probably will be withdrawn.

The former has been settled by the inclusion of money for a 4 1/2 percent increase in the budgets; the latter was on the ballot, where it was soundly defeated Monday.

Although the town officials couldn't predict Tuesday whether the meeting will be rapid or slow, they made plans for either eventuality.

If it appears by about 5:30 that the articles can be finished in another half hour, the meeting will continue.

However, if it is apparent that there is too much work yet to be done, adjournment to the following Monday evening will be requested. In no event will the meeting be continued far into the evening Saturday.

During the session, baby sitting services are being offered for children 4-9 in the gymnasium. The League of Women Voters, with the assistance of the High School Service Club, annually care for the children.

DONALD A. KLEMER

Lecturing with the aid of slides, Mr. Klemmer will attempt to hit upon some of the less well-known and realistic aspects of the 50th state and will speak from the point of view of someone who had an opportunity to examine the islands and their people at close hand for an extend period of time. The speaker is well-known as an individual who will give a frank and honest appraisal of life as it is in the newest state.

Mr. Klemmer is a native of Massachusetts who recently spent three years, with his family, in the Hawaiian Islands as a member of a large private institution, the Punahou School. A graduate of Tufts and Harvard Universities he is presently the Superintendent of Schools for the Narragansett Regional School District.

ment's work during and after the snowstorm of last week.

Selectman Phillip K. Allen officially commended the department and Town Manager Thomas E. Duff, commenting that he has driven through several communities where the streets are still in poor condition. Other Board members joined Allen in praising the local department.

During the height of the storm last Thursday night, several equipment breakdowns hampered plowing operations. However, Supt. Stanley Chlebowski reported Friday that most streets were being kept open.

Pick-up operations started over the weekend, after the men had an opportunity to get some rest after working for up to 30 hours without sleep.

Baby Sitters To Be Available

There will be baby sitting service for children, ages 4-9, at the Central Elementary Gym Saturday afternoon from 1:15 to 5:30 during town meeting.

Anyone with children of these ages may leave the children at the Gym while attending the meeting. The League of Women Voters arranges this service with the cooperation of the Andover High School Service Club, whose president is Miss Sheryl Hartford.

Mrs. Douglas Dunbar Jr., Voters Service chairman of the League, is in charge. Mrs. McNich is advisor of the Service Club. Movies will be shown and there will be games and stories to amuse the children. There is no charge for the service.

If the town meeting should adjourn before 5:30, children should be picked up immediately.

Kings Daughters Meets Monday

The Courteous Circle of the Kings Daughters will meet Monday, March 14, at 6 p.m. in the Fellowship Hall of South Church. Mrs. Christy Robinson will have charge of the devotions and Mrs. H. Allison Morse will be the chairman of the entertainment program.

A covered dish supper will be served with Mrs. Bernard Capen as chairman.

Living costs are getting higher and higher, but somehow life seems worth all it costs.

Baptist Men To Hold Canvass

WEBSTER I. WOODWORTH

For the first time in many years, the Andover Baptist Church will conduct an every-member canvass to try to obtain the finances for an increased operating budget. This new budget will include new and old renovation funds - the most recent being the forth-coming roof project.

The canvass will begin Sunday afternoon, March 13 and completed pledge cards from all workers will be returned by Monday, March 21.

The every-member canvass will be held under the direction of Webster I. Woodworth, Finance Committee chairman of the church, and he will be assisted by the following men:

School Menu

The public school menu for next week follows:

Monday - American chop suey, buttered wax beans, Italian bread and butter, butterscotch pudding and milk.

Tuesday - pork and gravy with mashed potatoes, spicy apple sauce, buttered carrots, Vienna bread and butter, cottage pudding with chocolate sauce and milk.

Wednesday - pineapple juice, frankfurt in roll, mustard and relish, potato chips, buttered kernel corn, deep dish apple pie and milk.

Thursday - turkey pie with vegetables, cranberry sauce, oatmeal bread and butter, cheese wedges, fudge cake with mint green frosting and milk.

Friday - tomato soup, tuna fish salad roll, potato sticks, carrot curls, fruit jello with topping and milk.

WILL AMEND ZONING ARTICLE

The Planning Board is planning to amend the industrial zoning article in the special town meeting Saturday, to include a section of land now zoned educational.

The Board explained that an area of undeveloped land in the educational and Residential A zones will be left as a buffer, but some of the educational area should be rezoned because it will be virtually surrounded by industrial land.

Miss Margaret Sweeney of Chestnut st., Miss Mary Donovan and Miss Florence Gilman of Lowell st., have returned from a two weeks' vacation in Florida.

Garden Club Favors Article

At a recent meeting at the home of Mrs. Douglas S. Byers, members of the Andover Garden Club were urged to publicly support article 38 in the town warrant which will be voted on at the town meeting Saturday.

The Andover Garden Club is sponsoring article 38 with the support of the Andover League of Women Voters and the Andover Village Improvement Society.

Article 38 provides for the formation of a conservation committee of three to seven people, appointed by the town manager, to promote wise conservation practices in the community.

There are many reasons the Club cites for the existence of such a committee. One of the most important is that the committee will serve as a source for specialized help to the planning board to aid them in their planning for preservation of the water supply, flood control, the prevention and abatement of water pollution, and the perpetuation of the natural beauty and rural features of the town, its streams, any unique natural features or open spaces and the improvement of outdoor recreational opportunities, such as camping for scouts, hunting and fishing, hiking or riding and many others.

Mrs. Ernest L. Wilkinson, president of the Andover Garden Club, wished to emphasize that this article does not involve any financial obligation to the town. The conservation commission would function in an advisory capacity only to the town planning board.

Mrs. Henry Van Zandt, vice president of the club, also spoke

Summer School Plans Are Taking Shape

Tentative plans for a six-week summer school, for youngsters in grades seven through 12, are being prepared by a special committee of educators and School Committee personnel.

Supt. of Schools Edward I. Erickson revealed this week that plans are being prepared - for School Committee action this month - for the summer session.

He suggested that the purpose will be chiefly remedial and make-up, with basic courses in English, mathematics, French, and U. S. History tentatively scheduled. The school may also offer driver training and personal typing for those who are interested in taking these courses for the first time.

Mr. Erickson, emphasizing that the planning is still going on, and lacks approval from the School Committee, said a tuition rate of $20 for the resident pupil and $30 for the non-resident may be charged. This would pay for the teaching salaries and other expenses of the summer session.

He explained that students from surrounding communities will be given a chance to attend the school, after local students have been given first preference.

Teachers will be drawn from the Andover system, he continued, unless there are not enough available. Then they can be hired from other systems for the six-week period. Commenting on the nature of the work to be offered, Mr. Erickson said the guidance people and the principals felt that the greatest immediate need is in the remedial and make-up field.

If the summer program works well, the superintendent suggested that courses for advanced students probably will be offered in the future.

Present planning calls for between 13 and 20 teachers, he explained, depending somewhat on the demand for various courses.

He suggested that the School Committee may get the plan for action at its meeting March 22.
