Hearing On Land Taking

A public hearing on the seizure of the John L. Noyes property on Lovejoy rd. for a school site may be held in two weeks.

The Selectmen, concerned that

The Selectmen, concerned that the law may require the hearing because the land may be agricultural, would not sign the order of taking prepared for them by Town Counsel Fredric S. O'Brien.

Instead, they decided to determine whether the hearing can properly be called for Aug. 22, if it is required.

Mr. O'Brien had told the Board that, if the land is agricultural, the owner has a right to a hearing at which he may offer evidence as to the availability of other, non-agricultural, land. The counsel did not specifically state, however, whether Mr. Noyes' property falls in the agricultural designation or not.

Selectman William Stewart feels that it does - and can be easily proven by use over the years. He, along with the members of the (Continued on Page 12)

He called the Board's attention to the problems involved in getting the street put into proper condition - and indicated that this hinged in part on a Planning Board approval of a sub-division plan in the area.

Duff said the Realty Construction Co. has two catch basins to install on Lovejoy rd., at the intersection with a street into the sub-division. This can not be done until the plan is approved.

Only after this construction takes place can the road be surfaced, he stated. The realty firm,

Must Get Nod From Selectmen

Any removal of sand, gravel or loam, from any location in the town, will be subject to approval by the Board of Selectmen under a ruling by town counsel.

Even those persons hauling material over public roads and leaving it on their own property are subject to first explaining the circumstances.
Town Manager Thomas E. Duff referred to the ruling Monday night, when he explained to the Selectmen that he had temporarily stopped one such operation late last week.

The legal opinion, written in April, indicates that, although the material is not for sale, the Select-men may halt the work until shown that this is the case.

Mr. Duff said Sidney P. White was hauling material from one piece of his property to another, and someone telephoned a com-plaint. Duff had the police department stop the operation, then allowed it to continue when Mr. White's lawyer questioned whether the action was legal in light of the wording of the town by-law. This states that a permit is required for all materials that are for sale. Later, Mr. Duff said he con-ferred with Mr. O'Brien's office about the ruling made last spring. This states that the operation must be approved, and mentions th_titis the intent of the voters, under the by-law, to control the excavation of materials

EDITORIAL THOUGHTS

Public Attitude Counts

It was with more than normal interest that we reported last week on the search by a prominent industrial realtor for a site for a manufacturer of national reputation.

By the nature of the survey - in that it covered most communities within 40 miles of Boston - it wasn't remarkable that Andover was included.

But of special importance were the remarks of the firm's spokesman, who commented that the firm knows Andover well by virtue of previous explorations here. Another man from the same firm had previously expressed pleasure at finding the town equipped with a water plan covering many future years. This, he said, is unusual, in that many smaller communities have not prepared plans covering possible residential and business growth.

This, of course, is a compliment to those who authorized the study.

But in the larger picture, we feel certain that Andover has been building a good reputation among commercial realtors, who eventually may be able to help the town grow industrially. Even if this current survey is decided in favor of some other location, we have not suffered at all by having the realty people renew their acquaintance with the town.

But even as the town continues to grow in stature in the minds of these professional men, it is possible that residents of the community may, unknowingly, be tearing

This can be done through too frequent criticism of the community; too many complaints from residents about various conditions on their streets; or too many objections to commercial proposals.

It isn't too difficult to imagine a situation in which officers of a corporation might personally check about a community with industrial leaders whose homes or busi-

And if these men, having heard almost constant argument and complaint from residents every time something new is proposed, tell their counterparts that this is a poor town in which to build, our chances for industrial

Over the months it seems that residents from most sections of the town have been complaining about additional traffic on their streets. Even this can discourage potential industry - for it is doubtful whether any business will come into the community without adding a few vehicles to the numbers that already use the public ways.

We need a positive approach to industrial growth and residents can do a lot to help, by refraining from constant complaint. They should realize that their voices, joining those from other parts of town, may build up to a volume that will be recognized by businessmen as a source of irritation - and a detraction to those who may seek to put their businesses here.

Pathetic Case

The plight of people living on Lovejoy rd. is nothing

The street is in such poor condition that driving is dangerous in itself - and the dust raised by the traffic must be a housewife's nightmare.

Town Manager Thomas E. Duff says Realty Construction Co. has to install two catch basins at the intersection of Lovejoy rd, and a paper-street into the proposed sub-division. Then the firm has agreed to put on the first coat of asphalt. The town will apply the final coat, by agreement with the developer.

According to Duff, the Planning Board is still considering the developer's plan, and the catch basins can't be installed until the plan is approved.

Whatever the reason the arrangements are bogged down, specific and prompt action should be taken to alleviate the road condition.

This public street was in poor condition last fall, was a problem throughout the winter, and now threatens to remain in that condition unless someone initiates

We join the residents of the area in the wish that prompt decisions will be followed quickly by the necessary construction.

Boston's Museum of Science says that, contrary to general belief, lightning can strike twice in the same place. In fact, if lightning struck once it's a sure sign it found something to attract it, so it may come back a second time . . or a third and fourth. Some city skyscrapers have been struck dozens of times.

AT THE LIBRARY

Coming Events

Each Wednesday morning during the summer there will be a story hour for boys and girls at 10:30 o'clock. All ages are cordially invited to attend, since each story hour will include something for each group.

Book worms are Nibbling

Over 300 boys and girls are now members of the summer reading club at the Memorial Hall Library, and many of themhave a surprising number of books recorded on their reading lists. Each one who joins the Bookworm Reading Club signs the large roll kept in the Children's room. After three books have been read, the child is given a small record in which he puts the titles and authors of those books which he has finished.

There is a great scope in sub-jects which are acceptable as worth while books for credit, and children with a special interest are allowed to read in that field, but encouraged to read at their proper level. There will be a Bookworm party for all members in the early fall. Staff On Vacation

Mrs. Margaret Berry, Mrs. Eleanore Plummer, Miss Margaret Manning and Everett Ward of the library staff are enjoying their annual vacation.

Early Registration

All mothers who wish to enter a three, four or five year old in the Littlest Listener groups to be formed at the Memorial Hall Library this fall are asked to preregister as soon as possible. Slips for registration are available at either the main desk or in the children's room. Early registration will make it possible for mothers to select the group in which the child will be placed, so that neighbors will be able to provide transportation for the children, if they wish.

The usual opening time is October, but due to the state of the building program this may be postponed, but will be announced. Mothers are asked to consider whether or not they would like to take part in a discussion group, held at the same hour as the children's story program. It is the aim of the Littlest

It is the aim of the Littlest Listener program to help a child develop a social attitude toward other children; to helphim learn to listen, to pretend, to share in small activities and to find the joy of good books. It has been noted that children who have had similar pre-school experience adjust well to kindergarten and first grade in many ways.

Miss Margaret Lane, Children's librarian, conducts the story hour. In Ballardvale Mrs. Shirley Ackerman leads the group for that com-munity. Those who plan to enter the Ballardvale group do not need to pre-register

Beware the iceberg!

New England's hardy seafarers are well aware that with icebergs it is the unseen 8/9ths a sailor must beware. New England's wise homeowners are equally well aware that with house heat it's also the hidden things one must watch for.

That's why more and more New Englanders are choosing Gas, the heat with NO "hidden costs"! Not only does a Gas heating burner cost less to buy and less to maintain, but its average life is twice that of other automatic heating burners. And it has no "hidden costs," no costly service policies, no annual furnace cleaning bills, no expensive storage facilities, no film and dirt to boost your cleaning and redecorating bills.

With Gas Heat you get all the heating advantages . . . cleanliness, safety, convenience, quietness, storage-free dependability, an uncluttered basement . . . yet NO "hidden costs"! For the comfort and security of your family get a Free, No-Obligation Survey of the cost of beating your barne with Gos. Do it now during heating your home with Gas. Do it now during the off-season.
