Honor Society Will Induct New Members Today

Twenty-nine students at the High School will be inducted into the National Honor Society this morning, during a special assembly.

The new members are divided between the junior and senior classes, 15 and 14 respectively. A serious program accompanies the induction of new members, under the over-all direction of Miss E. Marjorie Smith.

Dennis Houle will extend the welcome to parents and friends, and explain the principles of the Honor Society. John Weeks will lead the Salute to the Flag and Martha Zink will read from the Bible. Candles, representing five major considerations of the Honor Society, will be lighted by Dennis Houle, education; Donna Mellett, character; Virginia Perry, scholarship; Malcolm Sandberg, leadership; and Mary Ann Pasquale, service.

Supt. of Schools Edward I. Erickson will present the new members, after being introduced by Renee Dubocq.

Pins and corsages will be presented by Edith Robbins and Nancy Baker; Peter Beavan will lead the

Summit Meeting About The Dump

A full-dress meeting on the future of the town dump will be held at 7:30 next Monday night.

Featured will be the Selectmen, the Finance Committee and the special Study Committee that recommends a sanitary land fill operation at the present dump site.

The session has obviously been called to attempt to convince the Finance Committee to reverse its present decision against the purchase of a $28,000 shovel-dozer to implement the program.

Russell G. Doyle, chairman of the Selectmen, asked for the meeting on grounds that the special committee has additional information, and that this should be considered by the Selectmen and FinCom, prior to taking final action.

He said the costs of an incinerator would be discussed, but would not go into details as to other data the study group might present.

FinCom Sliced Sharply Into Budget Proposals

C.A.R. Chapter Was Organized

The first meeting of the newly-organized Colonel Samuel Osgood Chapter CAR, was held in the meeting room of the Bay State Bank Building, Feb. 10.

The meeting was called to order by Mrs. Edwin G. Otto, organizing president of the Chapter, and devotions were led by Wayne Thompson. The Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag was led by Sue Ann Otto, after which the group read the CAR Creed and sang the first verse of "America". Mrs. Otto then introduced the following adults who have been active in the formation of this group: Mrs. Edward Thompson, vice regent, Priscilla Abbot Chapter, DAR; Mrs. Robert W. Barron, regent and Mrs. Edward V. Reed, registrar, of Samuel Adams Chapter, DAR; Mrs. Luther B. Rogers, regent and Mrs. Gardner C. Little, Betsy Ross Chapter, DAR. She then welcomed the group of members of CAR whose papers have just been

The Finance Committee, using its sharp blue pencil thoroughly, has lopped some $72,000 from departmental budgets.

Chairman Walter C. Wilson Jr. told the Selectmen Tuesday night that a few items are still under consideration, and had no final tally to announce.

The cuts in department budgets were not discriminatory - nearly every proposal was decreased to some extent. Additional new equipment has been disapproved for the most part, and "guestimates", for items where no specific figures could be predicted, have been whittled down to the minimum. The Committee has generally stated that transfers from the reserve fund will be made, if the unpredictables are found to be larger than the allowance in the budget.

The committee's report is going to the printer this week, and will be available within a short time for full public consideration.

Details on some of the special articles, based on discussions held between the two groups of officials, will be found elsewhere in this issue.

Tractor Repair Costs Grow Less, Less, Less

A report on the $8,000 tractor - purchased last spring for use at the dump - will be presented to the Selectmen next Monday night.

The tractor has been laid up for repairs, which Town Manager Thomas E. Duff estimated in the area of $600, during the Selectmen's meeting Feb. 5.

A published report on the subject Tuesday indicated that the estimate had decreased to about $400.

And at a meeting Tuesday night, Mr. Duff told the Selectmen he now believes repairs will cost between $175 and $200.

He had been asked to prepare a report on the break-down, and the estimated maximum trade-in value of $3,000, for the Tuesday night meeting of the Selectmen and Finance Commission.

But the meeting didn't get into details on the tractor, and member Eugene A. Bernardin Jr. asked that the report be made next Monday instead.

At the session Tuesday night, Duff upped his previous estimate of the trade-in value to about $5,000.

Members of the Board had expressed surprise that it would bring $3,000 or less, considering the equipment to be, at most, a year old.

Some of the problems associated with operating equipment at the dump may also be presented to the Board by the operator of the tractor. Also under discussion, it is understood, is the routine maintenance of the equipment.

Custodians Want To Work 40 Hours

School custodians have asked the School Committee for a 40-hour week, to replace the presently scheduled 45 hours.

The request also includes overtime pay, starting after 40 hours; three weeks vacation after 15 years service and four weeks after 20 years.

The Committee took the request under advisement, suggesting that study can be given to the requests, even after the budget discussions are completed.

Sutton Graduated From Northeastern

WINFRED E. SUTTON

Winfred E. Sutton was a member of the graduating class of Northeastern University, Boston, Jan. 22, in advanced value analysis and engineering. Dean Albert E. Everett of Northeastern University officiated at the exercises.

This was the first recognized graduate level course to be presented by any university, throughout the country, to date. It is a new phase of teaching, which enables engineers to keep abreast of new research and development, new materials, design and automation changes in our space age.

Mr. Sutton is continuing his education through continued schooling in advanced engineering, which will enable him to receive his Master's degree.

"You are to be commended," said Dean Everett, "for graduating as an honor student." Members of the graduating class were encouraged by the Dean, when he said, "This should be the beginning of a new era in the broad field of engineering evaluation."

Mr. Sutton is presently a member of the team in the Ordnance Missile Command Office at Raytheon Company, Andover Plant, Aerospace Division, in which the surface to air HAWK Missile is manufactured.

League Considered Regional Planning

Is Andover an integral part of the Greater Lawrence Community? Or is it merely a northern suburb of Boston? Or, more importantly, is Andover an unique community, an academic oasis in a growing megalopolis which wishes to preserve its own identity much in the way Princeton, N. J., recently did when it rejected plans for Urban Renewal, ousted its mayor, and proclaimed that it would not become part of a giant shopping center civilization?

These were some of the questions which perplexed Andover League of Women Voters members who last week attended unit meetings on Regional Planning. League members not only became conscious of the complexities of planning for a community such as Andover, but also realized that planning for Andover can only emerge after the citizens of Andover have articulated some image for the Andover of tomorrow.

Andover is not presently engaged in planning with the Greater Boston area. However, eight different governmental authorities are planning for metropolitan Boston. Since the plans of these diverse groups do not seem to be coordinated and Massachusetts continues to be burdened with an outmoded constitution, even the most optimistic citizens take a dim view of what if any thing will emerge.

Andover is, however, at the moment represented on the Central Merrimack Valley District Regional Planning Commission, which was organized in 1959 and which is presently studying the Greater Lawrence area. North Andover, Methuen and Lawrence are also members of this district. To date, the work of this commission seems to have been limited to the authorization of a variety of studies of the area by the Planning Service Group of Cambridge, the meetings were told. These surveys have covered such topics as development prospects, land use, development objectives and goals, major highways, and industrial sites.

The surveys reveal that Andover, Lawrence, Methuen and North Andover are held together by common problems - a polluted Merrimack River, a dying dominant industry, the new stimulus of Route 495, and a new interrelationship with Boston. These scholarly tones also characterize the area as one of low wages, chronic unemployment, and a low intensity of development. The assets of the area are divided as a rich labor force, usable building space, growth industries, available land, and a location near to Boston.

It is the survey which deals with the possible future industrial sites of the area which most concerns Andover citizens. These blue-printers of our future have disclosed that by 1970 7,000 new jobs will be needed in the area, that good land usage is computed at 15 employees per acre, and hence 465 acres must be found. In the four communities of Lawrence, Methuen, Andover and North Andover, the consultants found 2,165 acres available for industrial sites with 1,305 acres, or 61 percent, in Andover and already zoned for industry.

Andover League members reviewing these surveys wondered if perhaps now is the time for the people of Andover to decide if Andover should be the rising industrial community of the Central Merrimack Valley. They wondered, too, if the Central Merrimack Valley is a logical entity. It does not, for example, include Salem, N. H., which is surely an important part of the Greater Lawrence area. They also recalled that the great Boswell of the Merrimack Henry Thoreau, observed more than 100 years ago that the railroad had replaced the river as the integrating force of the area.

Many members of the League suggested that the citizens of Andover might apply more imagination to their tax situation. They asked if industry is the only solution for expanding the tax base. "Are there not expanding and relocating educational institutions and organizations serving education which could locate in Andover and thus preserve some of its character?" queried one League member.

The surveys of these master planners reveal that the growth industries of the area are (1) electrical machinery and (2) ordnance.

Grillo Winner Of Count Down

Several students recently participated in a science countdown at the Junior High School.

This is a question and answer period similar to a spelling bee to determine the one student who will represent Andover in the county and state competitions for the title of Junior Scientist of Mass. for 1962.

This year's winner at the school was James Grillo. Runners up were Arthur Vaughn and Helen Hurley. Participants for the coveted state title will come from public, parochial and private schools throughout the Commonwealth. The contest is sponsored by Lowell Technological Institute and a Boston radio station. County and state winners will be awarded certificates of merit, books, watches, TV sets and other prizes. This year the state winner will be provided an all-expense paid trip to some scientific point of interest, such as a rocket launching site or atomic energy installation. Included in the first prize also will be a one year scholarship to Lowell Tech.

Miss Anna Boutwell has returned to her home on High Plain rd. after undergoing medical treatment at the Lawrence General Hospital.

SUMMIT MEETING ABOUT DUMP

FinCom Chairman Walter C. Wilson Jr. agreed that he and his associates would maintain "open minds" as far as additional data is concerned, but stipulated that present facts lead to the conclusion that the land fill operation is not mandatory.

On the other hand, he announced approval of the $25,000 request for garbage removal - not as a public service so much as a matter of public health. This, he continued, seems far more important than does purchasing the tractor-dozers for a land fill dumping process.

One of the associated problems, when considering the dump, is the amount of gravel and fill needed to maintain the land fill operation.

An estimated $11-12,000 might be needed for this material, during the balance of 1962, and the budget now contains funds for this purpose. These will be stricken from that document if the special article on the "dozer is voted down.

Mr. Wilson commented that Town Manager Thomas E. Duff has "indicated basically the same feeling" regarding the issue.

Mr. Duff, in turn, said he generally agrees with the FinCom on this problem.

But then he also stated that, as an ex-officio member of the study committee, he supports the proposal for sanitary land fill, and will support the article to buy the "dozer.

He explained that the present tractor, purchased last year, is too small for the operation. Purchase of the heavier equipment would start the town on its way towards the sanitary land fill method, he stated. Duff also reminded the gathering that an open, burning, dump is the cheapest type to operate, and that the town should consider itself lucky to have been able to conduct this type of operation over the years.

There was general discussion about the rodent problem at the dump being caused, in part at least, by as many as one-third of the townspeople throwing garbage into the dump - although this is not allowed under existing regulations.

Raymond LaRosa suggested to the meeting that few complaints have been heard in recent years about garbage disposal, while many have been received about the smoke, smell and debris associated with the dump. He termed garbage collection as a decreasing problem, because disposals and incinerators are more widely used.

Peatman Named Building Inspector

Arthur Peatman, 47, 46 Cedar rd., began his duties as the town's building inspector this week.

He will work with outgoing inspector Ernest N. Hall for a week, to become familiar with the system.

Peatman has been foreman of the Doyle Lumber Co. since 1946 and has an extensive background in the construction field. He also has been active as a member of the West Parish Church Building Committee.

His salary will be $6,750 annually, which the town manager explained is the maximum rate for the position. Hall would have reached this step after two meetings.

The manager said he would anticipate reclassification of the position another year, so that it would not be a financial dead-end for the appointee.

Mr. Peatman, in addition to his affiliation with the Doyle Lumber Co., has been a carpenter for the Boston and Maine Railroad and has taught cabinet making in the Andover High School evening classes. He currently serves as a member of the School Building Committee in charge of the new school on Lovejoy rd.

Harnessed Light Beam Is Powerful

A powerful burst of light beam energy that can burn a hole through a stainless steel sheet 1/32 inch thick in 1/2000th of a second, has been generated by Raytheon Company scientists. The laser-produced beam can also ignite paper 14 feet away.

Revealed by the company today were results of tests with its newly developed LH-3 pulsed laser (Light Amplification by Stimulated Emission of Radiation), the most efficient light amplifier yet reported.

Laser action makes it possible for the first time to harness previously untapped random light waves. Laser beams are expected to be used in radar, communications, medicine and biology measurements, guidance and control of space vehicles, fabrication and processing, and as a basic tool for investigating materials.

The LH-3's beam, produced by a six inch ruby and focused through a telescopic lens, is extremely narrow—only 1/4 of an inch wide at the 14-foot distance. By cooling the output to 321 degrees below zero, Fahrenheit, (liquid nitrogen temperature), laser efficiency and output are doubled. Uncooled, the output is 7-10 joules (one joule is one watt of power for one second). Cooling increases output to 15-20 joules.

about Great Hymns
When I Survey the Wondrous Cross

*See, from His head, His hands, His feet,
Sorrow and love flow mingled down;
Did e'er such love and sorrow meet,
Or thorns compose so rich a crown?*

Some consider this the greatest hymn in the language, surpassing all others in solemn beauty and intense sorrow. Written by Isaac Watts, the father of English hymnody, who said "It was not my design to exalt myself to the rank and glory of poets, but I was ambitious to be a servant to the churches, and a helper to the joy of the lowest Christian."

Emphasis On Schools At Candidates Meeting

The first candidates night of the current political season was held Feb. 7 at South School, with some 100 interested men and women paying close attention to the candidates' statements.

Following prepared remarks, the meeting was open to questions and these dealt mostly with the School Committee, and charges by candidate Vincent P. Davey that morale is low among teachers here. In one portion of the question-answer period, he was asked if the Dimlich case was referred to, and he stated that most people "would agree" that it had been poorly handled - while probably disagreeing on whether or not the School Committee took the proper course of action.

Following are the main comments by the candidates for each office, as they answered the general question "What is the Most Important Problem and What Is Your Solution?"

Selectmen
 Roger Collins: Broadening the tax base, to pay for increased services demanded by residents, by inducing "select" industries to locate here. He also mentioned Rogers Brook, recreation, garbage and trash collection and the town dump as problems facing the Selectmen.

R. Wayne Long: Long range planning needed to handle problems of growth; present Urban Renewal plan is "inconceivable", but some sort of plan is needed; incinerator should be considered, when thinking about garbage and refuse collection; commented that the Wolson report of last year would indicate that some additional municipal services can be paid for with tax income from new homes, which were shown to be paying their own way.

B. Allen Rowland statement, delivered by Mrs. Hart Leavitt: main problems are Urban Renewal, although Selectmen have no direct influence on this activity; expenditure of funds - efficient government is key to stable tax rate; broadened tax base through industry, but compatible with desires of residents; granting responsibility to town manager for administration of government.

Raymond W. Schlapp: Broadening tax base through industrial and business growth, and inability of town to support increased services without doing so; urged "do it ourselves" attitudes as opposed to accepting federal or state funds.

William Stewart: town manager form of government is "sound"; problems include demand for additional water supply in future, requiring continuing studies for sources; garbage and rubbish disposal and the dump problem; Urban Renewal, extensive and complex plan requiring thorough study and debate before special town meeting considers it.

Questions Of Selectmen
 Selectman Stewart was asked about the dump problem, and his remarks that alternatives to the sanitary land fill method should be forthcoming, by Richard Moody, a member of that study committee. Stewart said he believes alternatives to the proposal should be brought out at town meeting, so that consideration can at least be given to them, even if they appear too expensive; said he would present alternatives if the committee does not.

Indeed, there was little attention paid to the office of Selectman, as most of the questions were directed to candidates for the School Committee.

Statements In Brief
 These are the brief points made by the candidates for School Committee in their prepared talks:

Rita Buchan: Diversified planning to meet the needs of all students, keeping well in mind the needs of students who will not go on to college; flexibility, but not "chasing after" changes just because they are new; budgetary sanity, doing what can be done within reasonable limits.

Vincent Davey: Commented that the old belief that "Andover is doing well" is not so now, and that "truthfully", the system now can't be said to be "going well"; adverse publicity - the town and the children deserve better; called for putting the scholastic decisions back in the hands of the superintendent.

Charles Liponis: prestige and dignity of the schools has been lost to some extent; questioned whether hiring 30 teachers a year means too much turnover; said many curriculum improvements need to be made, and would propose moving faster with these, once recognized as problem areas; specially mentioned the workshop, for cars and other related shop areas, going without a teacher; said "Children are being short changed" in present system.

John Sullivan: called for making the sacrifice to achieve excellence; "there are no bargain basements in education", in terms of getting teachers; if community recognizes and fulfills its responsibilities to the teachers, expect the teachers, on the other hand, to recognize their responsibilities to the town, and mentioned longer school days, and lengthened school year, as items requiring the full cooperation of the faculty; said curriculum changes should be recommended by administration.

Many Questions
 Several of the questions, and the replies, follow:

What are your views on merit? Liponis - "It's the coming thing" and will eventually be found in all school systems; difficult to administer and to get a good basis for decision.

Buchan - Difficult to administer, but the need exists to reward excellence; still feels it's "worth our trying".

Sullivan - It's as "good as its administration" and it takes time for administrators to get used to it; optimistic it can be made to work here.

Davey - basic salary schedule is most important, in order to get on a level with surrounding and competing communities; the scale should be brought up to par first.

On the question of low morale, Sullivan pointed out that the number of teachers leaving the system annually isn't indicative, because many do so for private, family reasons and others move away as their husbands are transferred to other places. Some additional teachers for the system are also included, he said.

In response to one direct question as to whether he referred to the Dimlich case, in the matter of low morale, Davey said he felt this case shouldn't be discussed because it still is in the courts, but he said he believes most people will agree "it was poorly handled", whatever their opinion on the merits of the Committee's decision not to retain Mr. Dimlich as principal of the Junior High.

B. U. Alumni Club Annual Meeting

EDWARD M. KENNEDY (Bachrach)

Edward M. "Ted" Kennedy, a member of the Board of Trustees of Boston University, brother of the President, and assistant district attorney of Suffolk County, will address local graduates of Boston University and their friends at the annual dinner meeting of the Boston University Alumni Club of Greater Lawrence, Wednesday evening, Feb. 28, at the Rendezvous in Methuen.

Mr. Kennedy has chosen to speak about his observations in South America during tours he made in 1959 and again in 1961.

Andover residents who are officers of the Club include Atty. Gerald M. Lewis, Fred B. Cole and Mrs. James Walsh, all members of the Board of Directors.

All graduates of Boston University and their friends are invited to attend. Tickets are being distributed by Atty. Lewis, who is co-chairman for the evening's affair, and the following: Mrs. Howard D. Ponty, Mrs. Anna Flynn Walsh, Fred B. Cole and Mrs. James Walsh.

Davey also commented that low morale "stems from a feeling that running the schools has been taken from the administration", despite the fact that it is his job to formulate policy on education.

Both Mr. Sullivan and Mrs. Buchan noted they had always followed the recommendations of the superintendent on teacher appointments.

In answer to a question on the function of the School Committee, the following answers were given:

Davey - to advise and help the superintendent, allowing him to do his job.

Liponis - no one has monopoly on ideas, in reference to Committee members' function.

C.A.R. CHAPTER WAS ORGANIZED

approved by the National Board, and those interested young people and their parents who were also present, and who are working on making out their applications.

The officers of this new Chapter are as follows: Anne E. Crocker, Methuen, president; Robert G. Little, North Andover, vice president; Linda Sue Munroe, Boxford, chaplain; Pamela J. Thornton, Andover, recording secretary; Jane Parker Valpey, corresponding secretary, North Andover; Carl Borowski, Hampstead, N. H., treasurer; Wayne Thompson, Andover, registrar; Phillip D. Valpey, North Andover, historian and John J. Yurka, Methuen, librarian.

Following introduction of the officers, David Thompson gave a history of the CAR, which was founded in 1895 by Mrs. Daniel S. Lothrop, writer of children's stories under the pen name of Margaret Sidney. She was the author of "Five Little Peppers and How They Grew". The objectives laid down by the founders are still the objectives of the CAR: To promote the acquisition of knowledge of American History; to preserve the places made sacred by the men and women who achieved American Independence, and the marking of such sites, and to promote the celebration of patriotic anniversaries.

The local chapter is named after Samuel Osgood, who was born in North Andover, Feb. 15, 1748. He prepared for Harvard at Governor Dummer Academy and graduated from the Cambridge institution in 1770. It was not long before he was named by his fellow townsmen as a member of the Provincial Congress at the age of 26 and he resumed his activities in that body after his military service as a Captain of Minute Men at Lexington and Major of Brigade, as aide to General Artemus Ward at Cambridge. He was a member of the delegation from Andover to the convention which framed the constitution under which Massachusetts became a state. He later became a state senator and United States congressman. He was America's first Postmaster General and one of the three original commissioners of the national treasury. The Colonel's birthplace still stands in good condition on Osgood st. in North Andover, and is occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Murray Howe.

This house was marked with a plaque in Sept., 1953, by the National City Bank of New York, of which Samuel Osgood was the first president, and the Andover Historical Society.

Mrs. Otto pointed out that Mrs. Herbert E. McQueen of North Andover, honorary state regent of the Massachusetts State Society, DAR, and past vice president general of the National Society, had done considerable research on the background of Samuel Osgood, and was the one who suggested the name for the CAR Chapter.

The group made plans for attendance at the annual Washington Memorial Wreath Service Feb. 22 at the State House, Boston, at which Governor Volpe and his family will be guests. Following the service and a reception by the Governor, the young people will tour the Freedom Trail and later lunch at Paul Revere Balcony, Parker House. Several of the young people from the local group are planning to attend.

Following the announcement of the program of State meetings for the year, and discussion of times and frequency of future meetings, the meeting was adjourned. Refreshments were served by Mrs.

Robert Barron, Mrs. Gertie Little and Mrs. Earl K. Thornton Jr.

Samuel Osgood Chapter, CAR is jointly sponsored by the following DAR Chapters: Priscilla Allen, Andover; Betsy Ross, Lawrence and Samuel Adams, Methuen.

EDITORIAL THOUGHTS

Facts On Teacher Turnover

It is not our intent to mix into the current political campaign — except in the case of misunderstood facts, which become campaign issues.

Such is the case in the School Committee campaign, where it is said that the rate of 30 new teachers yearly indicates low morale, dissatisfaction with the system.

A small amount of research, plus the accumulated experience gained in covering the School Committee meetings, indicates that morale is the smallest of factors involved in this subject.

Not all of the 30 teachers are replacements — some are new teachers hired to augment the present staff.

Some resignations are for private, family reasons — known but not published routinely nor entered in the minutes of the School Committee for posterity.

A few teachers move — most are women whose husbands are transferred to other areas.

And some do leave because they get better jobs; or they don't like it here and want to move.

But it is stretching the facts to use them to show that morale is low because 30 teachers a year is the average "turnover"

Referendum Makes Sense

The decision of the Great and General Court, in turning down the bill to allow fluoridation of the water supply to be on the ballot in March, is quite sensible.

This subject was decided a year ago on the ballot; thus it would be appropriate to require that proponents seek out sufficient signatures of registered voters to guarantee that there is substantial interest in voting on it again.

The Legislature expects to pass a bill allowing the Boards of Health to place the question on the ballot; or, if the Board does not, then proponents can get five percent of the voters' signatures on a petition. If this is done, the question would go on the ballot automatically, without asking legislative approval.

If local proponents wish to take the necessary steps, via petitions, and can come up with the necessary signatures, then it makes sense to vote again on the issue. But it makes no sense at all to merely vote annually, first on the petition of one side, then the other.

When the Legislature turned down all the requests for voter action via the ballot — Andover was one of several communities involved — it at least returned to the town some self-rule. Now, at least, the townspeople will be the ones to decide whether such issues go on the ballot or not.

Who Wants It?

Although there are many issues involved in the municipal dump problem, it appears quite clear to us that the location of the dump should not be changed.

Neighbors now complain about the facility; it smokes and smudges; rodents appear in neighboring yards; it smells bad.

Now this will always be true of a dump, if it is operated in the present manner.

It is unpleasant, no doubt. Property values in the immediate area are lower, because of the condition.

But how fair would it be to plant this nuisance in someone else's back yard?

We can imagine no more controversial a move than one to remove the facility to some other part of town. Nor can we consider such a step to be anything else but completely unfair to those now living away from the dump, who might then be affected by it.

If a sanitary land fill operation is not adopted, thus alleviating the present nuisance, we fear the present residents of the section surrounding the dump will have to continue their objections until something is done. But that "something" should not be merely moving the problem away, into someone else's neighborhood.

Go, Listen, Vote

The candidates' night, held Feb. 7, proved nothing, if it did not prove that more voters should attend these meetings.

Although the questions mostly centered on School Committee problems, the voters present were able to see and hear most all of the candidates for major jobs, and to thus evaluate the candidates.

It's one thing to read a general statement of a candidate's opinion on a subject; it's quite another to hear and see the candidate state this position.

It's good for the voters to have this opportunity, and, equally, it's the best thing in the world for the candidates to confront the voters face-to-face.

The session was lively — and we suspect the next meeting Feb. 28 at the High School will be even more interesting and informative.

All serious-minded voters should plan to attend that meeting.

In the morning, Feb. 19, at 10:15 o'clock, Andover young people will have their meeting and in the afternoon at 3 o'clock, Ballardvale boys and girls will have the same stories told in the branch library. "Stories With A Mystery" is the name of this vacation week program. Among the tales to be told are "Doctor, and Detective, Too", "Stolen Turnips" and "The Case Of The Sensational Scent".

The Great Books Discussion Group will read Hesiod's "Theogony" for their next meeting, to be held at the library on Tuesday, Feb. 20, at 7:30 o'clock. Those who have ordered books should inquire at the desk if they have not yet picked up their sets.

Films For Groups

There are several unusually good films to be on hand at the library for the use of local groups during the periods indicated below: until Feb. 24, In And Around Amsterdam, color, 11 minutes; Feb. 26-March 2, City Of Gold, 23 minutes; Feb. 26-Mar. 10, My Majorca, color, a 16 minute film that shows the beauties of the island's great cliffs, its old palaces, ancient towers built by the Phoenicians, its shrines and fiestas; Feb. 26-March 10, Man In Space, color, 35 minutes; this is a vivid depiction of rocket development from the ancient Chinese weapons to modern missiles. Through animated sequence, the film shows how man may conquer outer space and establish artificial satellites above the earth; March 5-10, Louis Braille, 5 minutes; France bestows its highest honor on Louis Braille on the 100th anniversary of his death in this film which also reviews some of his many accomplishments; March 12-24, From Ten To Twelve, 26 minute discussion of how the emotional and physical development of children at this period manifests itself in their behavior, their attitudes toward their parents, their teachers and others; also for this period The River, nine sequences in the life of the valley of the Mississippi River during the last 140 years, including the development of the TVA and correlated Federal efforts; three Canadian color films will be available from now until the end of March: they are A Double In Blue Fins, 13 minutes, Nova Scotia Saga, 14 minutes and Ontario Sun Parlour, 22 minutes of film on the historic area of the Niagara peninsula. All films should be reserved early to avoid disappointment.

New Subscriptions

Each year the library reviews its subscription list of magazines for the use of Andover readers. Those periodicals which have outlived their usefulness or their interest for our readers are carefully considered, at times discontinued to be replaced by something that fills the current demand, or has greater reference value for the future. There is every effort made to touch upon as many areas of information as possible, and in important fields an attempt to present a fair over-all picture by offering more than one point of view. Several titles are newcomers to the subscription list this year, among them American Historical Review, Motor Trend, National Parks, Negro History Bulletin, Popular Gardening and Intercom.

The reading public expects to find current affairs, world news and national subjects, homemaking magazines, pictorial weeklies and the better known garden publications; perhaps not all readers know that the files include magazines about art, forestry, antiques, birds, finance, consumer needs, dance, display, hobbies and crafts, health, aviation, opera, salesman-

Fire Department reports for the past year show that losses were much lower than in 1955. The comparable losses were $16,346 two years ago to $5,725 last year. Nine men are seeking the office of tree warden. A vacancy exists this year, thus creating more than usual interest.

Years Ago - February, 1915
The town warrant lists a total of $1,413,285 in budgets for departments and special articles. The latter call for expenditures of $29,725. There are 46 articles in the warrant.

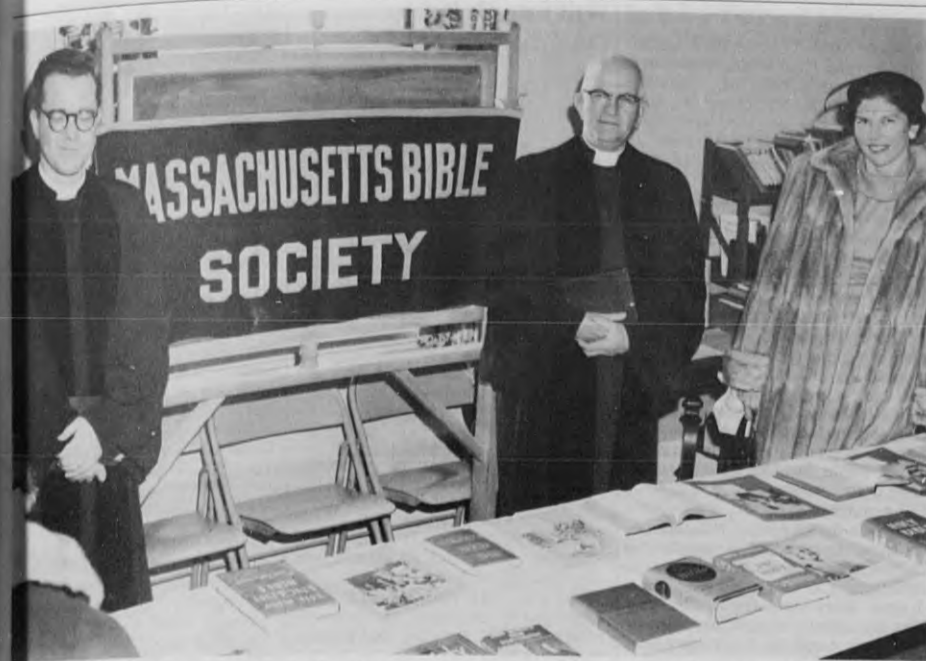

The police will get ample authority to arrest and prosecute sleeping toms, if a special article in the warrant is approved. There is no proper town by-law governing this activity, but Chief George A. Dane wants to make it a nuisance so that his men can take appropriate action.

A committee of citizens is planning a dinner in honor of Chief George A. Dane, at the Andover Country Club, March 2. An advertisement in the Townsman this week notes that there will be no formal ceremonies, no fuss, just a gathering of men who want to honor the chief. Heading the committee are W. E. Brimer, Joseph McCarthy, John M. Murray, F. Daley, W. D. McIntyre and W. Thompson.

Conversion of household gas utilities is taking place here. Participation of the conversion of the system to the use of natural gas within a few weeks.

Allyn Bradford, pastor, and at right is Mrs. Robert Adams. They are standing behind a display of Bibles and manuscripts, arranged by George Keith. Second Presentation
Of Cinema Classics

Cinema Classics second presentation in its six part mid-winter subscription series, is the prize-winning work of producer-director Satyajit Ray.

Less than 10 years ago, 31 year old Ray, with an ancient movie camera paid for by sympathetic friends, set out to define and illuminate the day to day living of his people. What emerged was an actual life of India as revealed through one family of father, mother, sister and brother. Told in warm, human and poetic terms, Ray's first film was immediately singled out by discriminating critics from Cannes to San Francisco; and in New York was honored by the New York Times, The New Yorker, and Time, who found the film not only beautiful and compelling, but particularly revealing for Westerners who know little of intimate Hindu life.

Ray immediately followed up with a second and third film dealing with the same family, and this trilogy is already considered a classic of the cinematic art form. Each of the three films can be seen as a separate and complete entity. The first segment reveals the life at home and struggle of the family when the brother and sister are very young. It was shown as part of the Phillips Academy Adult Education Course in their 1960 film series.

The second part, which Cinema Classics feels fortunate to bring to the Andover Junior High School Auditorium, deals with the mother's struggle to ensure her son an education, and with the young man's ultimate breaking away from her to make an independent life. The New York Herald Tribune said of this film: "Extraordinary! A picture no serious movie-goer will want to miss. Again one is struck by the remarkable universality of Mr. Ray's work."

Subscription tickets are good for any four of the remaining five films. Both series tickets and individual admissions may be purchased at the door. Screening time will begin promptly at eight, with a skiing film from the German embassy, followed by a Robert Benchley short.

Mrs. Jack Kyger and Mrs. Richard Comins will be happy to answer requests for any further information by phone.

CAPITOL COMMENT

By
YOUR CONGRESSMAN
 BRAD MORSE

H. R. 9900 is a bill number destined to be engraved on our minds this year.

It is the number assigned to the bill embodying President Kennedy's trade proposals. It strikes a sensitive nerve not only in our Fifth District. The impact of H.R. 9900 will be felt in every American household.

We Americans created the concept of mass production for a mass market. Our workers are the most highly paid in the world. While we rolled out low-cost items on the assembly lines, our European counterparts slowly turned out their products in the manner of their grandfathers. American assistance abroad after World War II revolutionized European manufacturing. Today we are confronted by European factories, outstripping our own in dazzling facilities and modern technical equipment. The emergence of the European Economic Community, in which those nations have banded together in low and no tariff agreement, demands a massive re-evaluation of our trade policies. We will have to roll up our sleeves to prove that America still has the sinew, the genius and ingenuity to lead the world trade community. June 30, 1962, will mark the turning point in American trade history. On this date our 28-year-old Reciprocal Trade Acts Agreement is due to expire. Congress must decide whether to revise and extend this act, or accept the Administration's recommendations. Let us look at the President's plan:

He is asking for five-year authority to cut existing tariffs by 50 percent in reciprocal negotiations, and for special authority, in dealing with the Common Market, to lower or altogether eliminate all tariffs on products where the U.S. and the European Economic Community together account for 80 percent or more of world trade. He promises temporary tariff relief when essential. Peril point procedures and safeguards would be retained. Workers unemployed or under-employed because of imports would be given readjustment allowances of as much as 65 percent of the worker's average weekly paycheck up to 52 weeks, vocational training to develop new skills, and financial help in job relocation. Businessmen and farmers adversely affected would be offered technical information and advice, plus tax benefits and loans to encourage modernization and diversification.

Hearings will begin shortly on this tremendously important legislation in the Ways and Means Committee. Economists, industrialists, labor leaders - men and women from every walk of life - will be given an opportunity to testify. Out of these hearings will emerge the committee's decision on this legislation. I plan to sit in on hearings whenever possible, in order to have full grasp of all facets of the matter by the time it reaches the floor for debate. Believe me, your comments and suggestions will be helpful. In a year of many tough decisions, the decision of H.R. 9900 will be one of the toughest the Congress will be asked to make - and, certainly, one of the most important to our nation.

Explorer Post Begun In Vale

Last Wednesday evening, Feb. 7, an organizational meeting of newly-activated Explorer Post 76 was held in the Scout Room in the Ballardvale Community Room.

The post is sponsored by the Ballard Vale United Church, with James W. McLeod, Institutional Representative; James L. Butler, Post Advisor, and the Rev. Wendell E. Minnigh Jr., chaplain. The Post committee members include Albert T. Warner, chairman, Alfred S. Smeltzer, Albert D. Cignoni and Walter E. Morris Jr.

The charter Explorers of Post 76 conducted an election of officers, with the following results: president, Kent H. Warner; vice president, Harry Dunning; treasurer, Colin Sherry; secretary, Gary Norris; quartermaster, Richard Cignoni. Fred E. Roediger Jr. of Andover, a member of the Organizational Extension Committee, North Shore Council of Boy Scouts of America, spoke on the purposes and organization of the new Explorers program and showed a fine film "This is Exploring" to further illustrate the goals of this scouting organization for boys in the high school level and above.

Young men in the community interested in affiliating with the post are invited to attend. Meetings will be held in the scout room on the first Wednesday of the month at 7 p.m. Their program will include periodic field trips, social functions and service projects.

Brook Gets FinCom Veto

Let the voters decide. That was the ultimate decision Tuesday night, after the FinCom and Selectmen disagreed on appropriating more money for Rogers Brook.

The FinCom disapproved the article calling for another $10,000, on top of the $195,000 already approved.

Said Chairman Walter C. Wilson Jr., "It's too high an expenditure for its value to the town".

Noting that the estimated cost of one-third of the job, from the River to Main st., now has risen about $100,000 over the state's estimate, Mr. Wilson suggested that the figures are "toonebulous" to be dependable.

The Selectmen briefly ran through the reasons why the task should be done - but there appeared to be no room for agreement between the two groups.

The town fathers feel that they should depend on the advice of consulting engineers Camp, Dresser and MacKee, and go forward with the lower part of the reconstruction. This must be done before up-stream work can commence. They have pointed out the increasing problems in the brook area, and the increasing flow of water as land is developed in sections feeding into the brook.

After brief discussion, the groups

Gym Team Show Here

Andover's outstanding gymnastics team will present its home exhibition at the high school the evening of Feb. 23.

This year the first show by the Exhibition Team was at Wilmington.

For the past two years, increased attention has been focused upon gymnastics in the physical education program, largely through the efforts of Donald D. Dunn, Joseph D. and Miss Ann Strout, all members of that department. Gymnastics skills are taught to all pupils in the regularly scheduled classes. Now, increased emphasis and attention are directed toward after-school instruction and practice. Boys and girls interested in this additional training become members of the Gymnastic Exhibition Team, which performs in schools and YMCAs throughout this area. The exhibition itself requires about two hours. It consists of gymnastics floor exercises, comedy acts, heavy apparatus work on parallel bars, the high bar
