Preliminary Urban Renewal Cost Statement Issued

Town Must Spend $181,000 In 3 Years, Build Town Hall

20 Percent Business Increase Seen; May Triple Present Tax Income

Andover's four-million dollar Urban Renewal project can apparently be accomplished without overburdening the town, according to preliminary financial estimates released by the Housing Authority. The long-awaited figures are still under consideration by the Urban Renewal authorities in New York and Washington, but were released here subject to any revisions that may be recommended by the federal authorities. Director Ernest N. Hall prepared the detailed break-down of the project cost to the town, and distributed copies to the Selectmen, town manager, Planning Board, Finance Committee and Urban Renewal Citizens Committee by mail yesterday.

The Urban Renewal project will cost the town money in three ways: Appropriation of $181,137 over three years - or about $60,300 annually - for site improvements and supporting facilities; outlay for a new town hall, fire station and police station; loss of some tax revenue as buildings are torn down, but not until that time. A fourth possibility is a $12,846 cash payment for the remainder of its share - but authorities doubt this will be needed.

Also indicated in the Urban Renewal planning, and in the experience of successful projects, is a tax income of at least three times the present receipts from property in the project area. Mr. Hall said a survey shows that gross retail business should increase by about 20 percent, after the project is completed.

Under existing state legislation, but dependent upon appropriations by the Legislature this year, the town could receive $300,000 from the Commonwealth - the equivalent of half the town's gross share of the project cost. Distribution of this money, however, is on a 20-year basis, with approximately one-twentieth of the total paid to the town on the same basis used for payment of school construction assistance.

Quirk Of Fate Switches Roles

By a strange quirk of fate, the roles of School Committee members appeared to be reversed Tuesday night - with a normal opponent of closed meetings pressing for one, but getting nowhere. Chairman Robert McIntyre tried all sorts of ways to get his colleagues to go into executive session to discuss the re-election of teachers and their salaries. But they would not.

McIntyre usually has voted against executive sessions, while some other Board members have voted for them on occasion.

In this case, a number of residents of the community were sitting in the meeting room, listening to the proceedings. Mr. McIntyre expressed his feelings that it would be unfair to the teachers to discuss their profes-

Boys' Club Drive Gets Underway

With a third of the amount required for the project already pledged in advance gifts, the $850,000 building fund campaign of the Greater Lawrence Boys' Club started towards its goal before an enthusiastic gathering at a Sponsors' Dinner held Monday evening at Freedman's Hall in Lawrence.

Termining the campaign for the benefit of more than 2,000 boys in all sections of the greater community "a challenge we face with courage and confidence", Irving E. Rogers, president of the Club, listed "cooperation and team work as the two ingredients needed to bring the project to a successful and glorious conclusion."

The enthusiasm of the guests, including more than 250 civic, religious and social leaders of the community, reached its highest

Urban Renewal Has Organized Opposition

A determined effort to defeat Urban Renewal is underway, following a meeting of interested businessmen, merchants and citizens Monday night.

Phidias G. Dantos served as temporary chairman of the group, with some 30 men attending the initial session. The meeting was described as definitely against the proposals presented by the Housing Authority for the central business district, although varying degrees of opposition were expressed.

Lee E. Noyes, a spokesman for the group, said there was a general discussion of the plans and of individual's reasons for opposing them.

First on the group's agenda is attendance at a League of Women Voters dinner meeting a week from tonight at the Yankee Doodle. A panel discussion on Urban Renewal has been scheduled, and Mr. Noyes said many of the group want to ask some questions about the program.

Concurrently, the group is going to try to get financial costs of the project straight from Washington. Mr. Noyes explained that the figures have not been available from the local office, because they are still under consideration

Mr. and Mrs. Harper, and their youngsters, Alyson and Mark, will work in that country, following several months of preparation in the United States.

At the service Sunday morning, Dr. John A. Reuling, secretary for Africa, will represent the Board of World Ministries of the United Church of Christ. The Rev. Je-Gan Pouw will preach the dedication sermon, "The Church's Dimensions". Dr. Pouw is an

Wants Complete Garbage Pick-up

Richard McKallagat, chairman of the committee that studied garbage removal, and recommended it to the town, has asserted the committee's belief that the town should be served completely by any collection.

Mr. McKallagat, noting that Town Manager Thomas E. Duff has stated that there is a possibility of picking up garbage in some sections and not others, stressed his personal feelings that all of the town should be given equal service.

He said the Committee had not considered the possibility of collection on the basis of the density of population, but is of the opinion that the $25,000 appropriation is ample to provide the service for all townspeople.

Celebrated 10th Anniversary

The 10th anniversary of the Andona Society was celebrated recently by the members, with a dinner-dance at the Rolling Green Motor Inn.

Greetings were extended to all by the president, Mrs. Thomas J. Dye, who in turn presented the charter members of the organization seated at the head table: Mrs. Guy B. Howe Jr., Mrs. J. Dana Hill, Mrs. Donald E. Ward and Mrs. L. Glynn Yeaton Jr.

Ten years ago March 31, 1952, the Andona Society was founded as a manifestation of the desire of the charter members to create a charitable organization in the town of Andover. The name Andona combines the word Andover with the Latin verb To Give.

One of the first recipients of Andona's charitable endeavors was the Andover Home for Aged People.

The members visited patients, remembered them with cards and cakes on special occasions, and later purchased a washing machine, television set, and other equipment for the Home.

As the Club grew in membership and the treasury increased, additional contributions were made by Andona to the Andover Visiting Nurse Association and Andover Red Cross. In addition, the group sponsored deserving boys and girls at local Boy Scout and Girl Scout camps.

By 1956, four annual fund raising projects were established in their present form: a fall dance, a mid-winter event such as a concert, an afternoon bridge in the spring, and the organization's favorite, "Clown Town".

In 1957, Andona's Civic Committee learned that the Andover Youth Center was in need of additional outside financial support and volunteered help. At that time Andona began and still continues to supply equipment and trained instructors for the Youth Center.

At the same time, the purpose of the organization was changed in the by-laws to read - "To benefit Andover Youth".

In recognition of Andona's 10th anniversary, the Board recently voted to inaugurate an annual $500 scholarship, an award to be given at graduation to a deserving High School graduate.

This year Andona will also lend assistance to the Children's Theater Workshop, Andover Little League, the Junior Hockey program, and other organizations who directly benefit the Youth of Andover. Expansion of Andona's aims and projects in the near future may include a broader recreational program for Andover youth.

Officers of the society are Mrs. Thomas J. Dye, president; Mrs. Arthur E. Read, vice president; Mrs. Frank Sherman III, secretary; and Mrs. William E. Caffray, treasurer.

Past presidents of the organization include Mrs. Guy B. Howe Jr., Mrs. Phillips B. Marsden Jr., Mrs. J. Reynolds Farrington and Mrs. Gordon G. White.

Jack Gorrie of High Plain rd. and Lee Sims of California, both students at Phillips Academy, spent the past weekend in New York City.

Children Support Heifer Project

The Free Church Christian Education Committee is working with the Church School pupils for their Lenten Project this year. The whole Church School brings a sacrificial offering each week, and the offering is designated to go to the Heifer Project to send sheep, pigs, rabbits, and chicks to countries of Latin America. This designation is especially appropriate, since the Mission theme for the year in the church is Latin America.

To date, nearly $50 has been raised and the Church School is well on the way to meeting its goal of sending one pig, one sheep and numerous rabbits and chicks to Latin America.

Score Well On Iowa Tests

The average junior high student in grade seven has scored one year and two months above the national average, based on recent Iowa tests of Basic Skills.

Acting Principal William Hart announced the results.

The seventh grade, he reports, is at the 96th percentile - that is, better than 96 percent of the schools taking the test. In grade eight, the average student scored slightly over one year over the national average, placing the grade in the 94th percentile.

The best results were in reading, vocabulary, language and work-study skills. In these four areas, the school average for grade seven increased better than three months over the 1961 testing. Mr. Hart attributed the results to additional periods of English, coupled with Improved Reading and Language Research courses.

A profile of each pupil's score is being sent to the parents with the report card at the end of the third marking period. Mr. Hart expressed the hope that parents will call the office if they wish to discuss the report.

 about Great Hymns
O, Worship the King!

*O worship the King, All glorious above,
 O gratefully sing, His power and His love;
 Our Shield and Defender, the Ancient of Days,
 Pavilioned in splendor, and girded with praise!*

Sir Robert Grant, Governor of Bombay in 1834, wrote this hymn as a metrical version of Psalm 104. While in Parliament, he introduced a bill to remove restrictions imposed upon the Jews. At Dalpooree, India, a memorial medical college was erected in his name.

OPPOSITION TO URBAN RENEWAL

as part of the over-all plan. But because the interested townspeople feel that the full figures must be available, he said individuals are going to write their congressmen and senators urging them to get the figures released.

The Urban Renewal office here had expressed the hope that Washington offices would be through with the plans by April 20 and return them here in an approved form.

The meeting Monday night heard rather through descriptions of some problems encountered in the Lawrence Urban Renewal project, and several of those attending spoke about not being able to obtain enough information from the Urban Renewal office here.

It was reported Tuesday morning that the group does not plan to invite officials of the Housing Authority or the Urban Renewal office to a meeting, because various individuals have obtained about all the data that is available.

Opposition to the renewal plans is based on several factors, according to Mr. Noyes:

The men feel that it will be costly to the taxpayers here;

The cost of re-locating under the project is too great;

There is no first preference on cleared land, thus merchants can not obtain the piece of land on which their buildings now sit, or nearby ones of their selection;

That merchants must go where they are told by the Urban Renewal authorities;

That it is unfair to well-established merchants to tell them that they are out of business because they can't pay the higher rentals involved in new stores;

That predictions of increased sales are just predictions, but may not come true;

That some men will be forced out of business completely, because the project area will not include a section for their particular type of business;

That the cost of moving, for which grants may be obtained up to $3,000, will exceed that allowance in many cases, thus working a hardship on the merchant.

Those attending, after agreeing on the two steps reported earlier - attending the League meeting and obtaining the planning figures - decided to meet again after April 12. An organization will be established, it is reported, and probably financial support will be discussed, so that the group can take effective action to support its belief that the plans should not be adopted.

To Provide Help Locating Sites

The Housing Authority is "duty bound" to help dislocated businesses get settled in a new area, according to Urban Renewal Director Ernest N. Hall. Commenting on the possibility that some local firms can not be located within the project area, Mr. Hall stressed this week that every effort will be made to help the owners find locations in the town. The cooperation of all town boards will be needed, he explained because if a question of a variance from zoning requirements, or a rezoning proposal, comes up, all should understand the problem. Asked whether the Authority will actively support the efforts of businessmen to find new locations, Mr. Hall promised it would do so. He further stressed the need to continue the assistance through any negotiations with the town boards, as regarding zoning.

Promises To Talk About Appraisals

If you owned a store on Main st., could you be in favor of Urban Renewal? One of the deciding factors in an answer, according to several merchants, is whether the Urban Renewal authorities will discuss property appraisals with the individual owners. "How", asked one merchant, "can I be in favor if I don't know what I can expect to be paid for my store?"

Urban Renewal Director Ernest N. Hall agreed this week that property owners would have the right to talk over these matters, confidentially, prior to any town meeting action. He also stated that acquisition of property, after the project is approved - if it is approved - is done by negotiation whenever possible. Land taking, he asserted will be the final step if negotiations can not be successfully carried out.

Will Present Sacred Contata

St. Robert Bellarmine Church on Haggitt's Pond rd., will be the scene Palm Sunday of a performance by the Greater Lowell Choral Society, in observance of the Lenten season. The choral group will sing "The Seven Last Words of Christ" by Dubois at a program beginning at 4 o'clock. The sacred cantata is an hour-long presentation and Palm Sunday's program will be the third annual performance of this work by the group. The Greater Lowell Choral Society is a community chorus whose membership includes residents of the Greater Lawrence area. It was founded in 1955 by Dr. Edward F. Gilday, chairman of the music department of Lowell State College and director of the Handel and Haydn Society of Boston.

The present director is Dr. Domenic R. Procopio of Andover, a member of the music faculty of Lowell State College. There will be no admission charge for the spiritual program.

URBAN RENEWAL COST ESTIMATES

based on the number of buildings still standing in the area; an elderly housing project, built without cost to the town but carried as a credit for the project; a fallout shelter in the basement of the town hall; step two of Rogers Brook, involving the under-Main st. construction.

Additional credits are obtained by the town for work done on and under streets - water and sewer mains, resurfacing and the like. The $181,137 total mentioned earlier covers this work.

Mr. Hall notes that possibly much of this work could be done within departmental budgets in the year it falls due, thus not greatly increasing the total town appropriation.

New Construction

The one big question that apparently can not yet be answered is the cost of construction of new municipal buildings. This is a town expenditure, and is not estimated by Urban Renewal planners. There have been varying estimates of this cost, from a half-million of three-quarters of a million dollars, probably on a bond issue. This cost is not included in the estimates provided this week by the Housing Authority. The diminishing tax return from the area during reconstruction also leaves a question - how much will it decrease?

The preliminary estimates state that $45,000 will be paid the first year. Taxes on buildings standing as of Jan. 1, of the following year, will also be paid - and so on, until the buildings are demolished. According to Mr. Hall, there should be a growing amount of tax income from new construction, as the project continues. However, it is generally agreed that the present income to the town of $45,000 will decrease by some amount during the three-five year-period of the project, before it begins to increase through new buildings in the area.

More Dollar Volume

Noting that the Housing Authority has a marketability survey, Mr. Hall said the present dollar volume within the project area annually is $4,143,000. It should be $5,118,000 in the future, once the project is completed, according to the survey. These, he stressed, are minimum estimates of the potential, as supplied by the consulting economists.

EDITORIAL THOUGHTS

Express Your Opinions

Public apathy — your own apathy — results in the sorry spectacle of corruption, graft and legal but unethical activities in our government.

How else can we explain the fact that legislators are re-elected after being involved in scandalous conduct. For example, one state representative last year was indicted for activities involving the MDC and his family-owned business. The people in his district re-elected him with a handsome endorsement, even though the trial of his case resulted in a guilty finding. This is one specific item, in a long list of events that convinces us that individual disregard of the citizen's interest in his own government brings on, nurtures and supports the evil mess we now find before us.

And normally, the resulting reaction is to throw out the rascals — perhaps replacing some of them with men and women of no greater capacity for forthright honesty.

In-between elections, we do nothing, collectively or individually, to bolster the cause of honest government. All we do is complain.

How about supporting the men and women in our state government who are trying to weed out the corrupt, the wrong-doers, the fakers and the unethical? Do you ever write a letter to your representatives or senator, strongly urging his support of legislation designed for this purpose? Do you ever write to the governor, expressing your views on his executive actions?

Although each of us may believe that our letter alone does no good, that it probably reaches the circular file quickly, what happens when hundreds and thousands of letters are sent?

If a representative or senator, or the governor, gets enough letters from individuals — not form letters but honest expressions of the writer's opinion — he will react accordingly. There's nothing like public opinion, if an elected official believes that it really is the opinion of most residents in his district, to stir action.

Why don't you write to your representatives and senator, and to the governor as well, expressing your views on the current mess? If you don't like what the individual is doing about it, say so; if you support him, say that, too.

But write:

Rep. Arthur Williams, 149 Haverhill st., Andover;
Rep. William Longworth, 25 Stevens st., Methuen;
Rep. Roger E. Ingalls, 106 Pleasant View st., Methuen;
Senator James P. Rurak, 34 Margin st., Haverhill;
Gov. Councillor John J. Buckley, City Hall, Lawrence.

All can be reached by addressing your mail to the state house, Boston.

Or if you prefer, address your letter to the individual and send it to the Townsman, Andover, for forwarding.

Study Committee Opposed

In these columns last week, we remarked at some length on the possibility that the recently-approved garbage collection might, in fact, serve only part of the town.

We do not approve of this — the service was approved at town meeting with the implied agreement that it would be town-wide.

Even the Study Committee, which recommended the service in the first place, believed that a full coverage was to be undertaken.

Richard McKallagat, chairman of that Committee, has since confirmed that his Committee had no other thought in mind. He has strongly asserted this position, noting that the Committee believes the full, town-wide service can be undertaken for the $25,000 appropriated; moreover, he says the Committee has not considered providing garbage collection on a partial basis for some areas.

This seems to lend even greater weight to our thoughts that the voters at town meeting approved a town-wide collection, and that deviation from this would be wrong.

More Precincts - Fewer Problems

We wonder if it is not time now, before the state elections face us in November, to study the geographical and population distribution in our six precincts, with the thought that the larger ones might be split.

The town has, through the years, changed precinct lines when needed; possibly this is another time when the need is apparent.

Some of the precincts are large enough to be divided.

SUSIE'S SONNETS

THE STRIFE INFERNAL

I submit that we all

Counting now is a time-consuming, night-time proposition, that appears likely to get even longer as time goes on. The Legislature has firmly established the rule that no counting can be done until the polls are closed, and this is not easily changed.

Thus we might want, as a community, to examine the possibility of decreasing the precincts voter-wise, and increasing the number of precincts. This would make the mechanics of handling the larger elections easier, the tally would be in quicker, and quite probably the voters would find it more convenient.

Coming Events

APRIL

9-14 The library observes National Library Week with an interesting program.

5 Movie program for boys and girls, 3:35 p.m.

6 Last day for voting on new prints and to see Girl Scout displays.

9 Mr. Gordon G. Bensley to talk on "Travel With Your Camera", 8 p.m., the public is cordially invited.

10 Mrs. Hart D. Leavitt to talk on "Today's Traveler: Hints and Suggestions on Planning a Trip", 8 p.m., all welcome.

Story hour for boys and girls, 3:35 p.m.

Two For The Traveler

Whether you are an active or an arm-chair traveler, the invitation is extended to you and your friends to visit the library two evenings during National Library Week.

Monday, April 9, at 8 o'clock, Gordon Bensley is giving a talk on the pleasure of taking good shots of the high points of interest in any trip. "Travel With Your Camera" is his subject, and even those who have never tried to capture the beauty of a vacation spot will enjoy Mr. Bensley's comments and the slides which he plans to show to illustrate good and not so good camera work. Those who attended the Andover Evening Study Groups in the past will remember Mr. Bensley's courses in studio art. He is instructor in art and director of the Audio-Visual Center at Phillips Academy, and well known for his enthusiasm for photography.

Tuesday evening, also at 8 o'clock, Mrs. Hart D. Leavitt, manager of a travel agency, will tell of the many ways in which good planning results in a happy and exciting trip. In her talk "Today's Traveler: Hints and Suggestions on Planning A Trip" she will take her listeners from the first flicker of interest through to the last detail in preparation. With the bothersome details safely taken care of, the would-be vacationist is sure of a happier frame of mind as he or she sets out.

Mrs. Leavitt has taken several trips recently, and has had experience in the business for over 10 years. She plans to mention books which have been particularly helpful to those who have reported successful, smooth running journeys.

On both evenings the speakers hope to have time for questions.

Here is a splendid opportunity for anyone needing a bit of encouragement or advice.

Spring Book Displays

During National Library Week special activities have been planned for adults and young people, but one of the surest drawing cards is the large display of spring books, fresh and colorful, which will be put on view for the week in both the adult reading room and the Children's room.

With the theme of the week "Read... And Watch Your World Grow", the library will put emphasis on a number of fields of interest and will present books in units for those who come to browse. If business and technology is your field, be sure to seek out that area; a collection of recommended science books is planned; family and homemaking will be one of the features, with cookery and nutrition offering something for the gourmet; the books selected for the annual Notable Book List will be set aside, and the teen-age corner will have its own attractive display.

In the children's room there will be something for each age group, and, as usual, favorites may be reserved.

Plan at least one hour for browsing during the week of April 9-14, a very special week for libraries and book lovers.

For The Younger Readers

Littlest Listener groups for Robins and the Ballardvale little people will be held during National Library Week. Wednesday, April 11, the Robins group in Andover will open the annual Easter Egg program by preparing eggs for the special tree that "blooms" in the library each spring. The Ballardvale children who meet Thursday morning will decorate eggs for their own tree. Mothers are reminded that blown eggs are needed for both programs. The colors will be provided by the library.

Did You Miss . . .

The opportunity to vote for prints which you would like to see added to the library's circulating collection? A number of unframed prints have been hanging in the main reading room, and ballots have been provided for those who are interested. From the voting a number of the prints will be selected for purchase and will be framed and made ready to be hung in Andover homes. For a very small handling charge the prints may be borrowed, one to a family, for a period of two months.

There is still time to ballot for your own favorites, but the display

Miss Florence MacCreadie of Wellesley College has been visiting at her home on Whittier st. during the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. James Anderson of Essex st. have moved into the house on Chestnut st. vacated by Mrs. John Thompson.

Mrs. B. Frank Smith has returned to her home on Central st. after having spent some time in visiting in the Southern states.

Considerable interest was aroused Thursday morning by a demonstration of the Chase automobile trucks, made in front of the Andover Steam Laundry.

Miss Grace A. Jenkins, supervisor of drawing and of manual training in the public schools, has received a more lucrative offer and has accepted a position elsewhere.

The Smith and Dove Manufacturing Co. has announced that beginning April 1, employees having 20 years of continuous service and reaching the age limit, may be eligible for a pension. The pension is figured on the basis of a monthly payment equal to 1 1/2 percent of the average monthly wage of the employee during the two years prior to his retirement, multiplied by the number of years of consecutive employment.

F. H. Stacey and family, with the Misses Florence West and Katherine Walsh, left town Tuesday for a 10-day trip to Washington.

25 Years Ago — April, 1937

Labor organizers representing John L. Lewis' Committee for Industrial Organization, which has been waging a new kind of labor war in the form of sit-down strikes all over the country, have been appearing in local factories. The results of their efforts can not be determined yet, however. The CIO has been meeting in New York and has been expressing keen interest in organizing the textile mills.

A light will soon be installed over the police shanty in Elm Square. When lit, it can be seen by the officer checking doors along the street, telling him he is wanted at the station.

Andover has finally bought and paid for a sidewalk plow which the Board of Public Works wanted to buy last January. The town accountant stopped the sale, stating that specific authority, via a town meeting vote, was required. So the BPW paid $150 monthly rental for the machine during the winter, and has applied this amount against the purchase price.

A contract to shingle the roof of the Richardson School in Shaw-shen has been awarded by the Selectmen to the Per-manent Sidewall Roofing Co. of North Andover for $400. The building will be used by residents of the Village for community activities.

The riot call — 10 on the fire alarm system — was sounded yesterday afternoon, calling all men to look for two young boys lost off Stirling st. However, the mother of one of the lads found the pair near the railroad tracks shortly after the signal was sounded.

10 Years Ago — April, 1952

Tentative plans for the proper observance of Memorial Day were made at a meeting Monday night in the office of the agent for veteran's affairs in the town hall.

Edward P. Pettoruto has been appointed a regular police officer, at a starting wage of $57 weekly. He has been on the reserve list for three years.

The Laymen's Division of the Council of Churches has announced plans for a Communion Breakfast May 11. The group will attend services at the Baptist Church at 8, followed by breakfast at the Free Church at 9:15.

The annual Easter egg hunt on the Playstead has been scheduled for April 12. The Recreation Committee has purchased 14,000 pieces of wrapped candy for the hunt.

Labor organizers representing the L. Lewis' Committee for Industrial Organization, which has been waging a new kind of labor in the form of sit-down strikes over the country, have been appearing in local factories. The results of their efforts can not be determined yet, however. The CIO has been meeting in New York and has been expressing keen interest in organizing the textile mills. A light will soon be installed in the police shanty in Elm street. When lit, it can be seen by the officer checking doors along the street, telling him he is wanted at the station.

Andover has finally bought and installed a sidewalk plow which the Board of Public Works wanted to purchase last January. The town accountant stopped the sale, stating that specific authority, via a town meeting vote, was required. So the BPW paid $150 monthly rental for the machine during the winter, and has applied this amount against the purchase price.

National Library Week is a year - long program culminating in April each year and is a voluntary citizen's movement dedicated to encourage lifetime reading habits, increasing use of libraries and improving the total library resources of the nation.

The need for a "better-read, better informed America" continues to grow. Simultaneous explosions in population, knowledge and technology create relentless new pressures for more reading materials to be made still more widely available. Our cultural wants and needs grow correspondingly. All these demands can be gratified at the same source, for the more a man reads the richer he and his nation become.

Girl Scouts

Troop 74
The Brownies of Troop 74 attended church as a Troop Girl Scout Sunday in honor of the 50th anniversary of the founding of Girl Scouts. That afternoon, in Central Catholic Auditorium, Miss Sheila Bresnahan represented the Troop at the Rededication ceremony and made its donation to the Juliette Low Fund.

Recently the Brownies made lovely earrings for their mothers. Aside from their regular activities, the Troop has enjoyed two parties this month. The first was a bowling match in which Sheila Doherty was the high scorer. The second was an ice skating party at Phillip's Academy rink, where the leaders Mrs. Francis McCabe and Mrs. Timothy Cronin served hot chocolate, cookies and marshmallows.

The brownies have been working very hard on their cooky sale, and Karen DeGregorio was top salesman with 173 boxes sold.

Fourth graders in the Troop, preparing for "Fly-up", elected Kathleen Shea their Patrol leader, with Marilyn O'Leary as treasurer and Diane Gaudet as secretary. Third graders in the group elected Sheila Bresnahan their Patrol leader and Sheila Cronin as her assistant.

Troop 118
Girl Scout Troop 118 recently spent a meeting baking cookies. This was a requirement for their cooking badge. The cookies were presented to Town Manager Thomas E. Duff and to Very Rev. Henry B. Smith O.S.A.

Troop 79
Girl Scout Troop 79 is working on their second class badge. Some girls gave reports of scouting in other countries for the requirement on International Friendship. They enjoyed doing a Greek dance under the leadership of Mary Ellen Maesano. Some of the girls passed part of the First Aid requirement.

Troop 82
The Girl Scouts of Troop 82 presented a play entitled "Sleeping Beauty". The girls were responsible for the entire production, and invited their mothers to attend. Refreshments were served. They recently planted Marigolds.

Troop 94
The Girl Scouts of Troop 94 discussed the requirements yet to be completed for the second class rank. They listened to some music, and passed a test on the music for the second class rank. Two new girls, Kathy O'Connor and Judy Barr, were welcomed into the Troop. The meeting closed with the Good Night circle.

Troop 34
The Brownies of Troop 34 took a day off from their Fly-up studies and went bowling. This was enjoyed by all.

Troop 68
The brownies of Troop 68 recently enjoyed bowling. They elected new Patrol leaders. Debbie Beaulieu is the Patrol leader of Patrol I and Leslie Birdsall is her assistant. Patty Goodnois is the Patrol leader of Patrol II and Barbara Fisk is her assistant. The rest of the meeting was devoted to planning a Fly-up party, appointing a refreshment committee for the party, plans for the rest of the year, and selection of a troop crest.

Site Considered For Lab Facility

Andover is still being considered as a site for the Northeast District Water Contamination laboratory, according to a letter received by Town Manager Thomas E. Duff.

He was notified by Sec. Ribicoff that the federal laboratory - which probably will be located somewhere in the New England area - is still under discussion. Several sites remain to be examined, and considered, along with the many already seen by federal authorities.

The Selectmen, through the manager, officially requested consideration of an Andover site, after the federal representatives were shown the West Andover areas by members of the Industrial and Development Commission.

sional status in this situation, because wrong interpretations of portions of the discussion could result in doing harm to a member of the staff.

First he declared an executive session - but was challenged on his right to do this by member Milton J. Meyers, who said a vote of the Committee is needed. All of the members remained mute when Chairman McIntyre asked whether someone would make such a motion.

Then Roberts Rules of Order were investigated, in hopes that some direction would be found there - none was.

Then Mr. McIntyre again said he wished to have the closed session, although he normally opposes such meetings, and attempted to declare the meeting closed - only to again run into opposition based on the contention that the chairman can't do that.

Mr. McIntyre then tried to call Town Counsel Fredric S. O'Brien, but failed to reach him. He did ask the superintendent to find out immediately, and report at the next meeting, whether the chairman has such powers or not.

By this time, several residents had left the meeting, two reporters covering the meeting had abided by Mr. McIntyre's declaration, and it appeared that perhaps a closed session might be held.

Three gentlemen remaining in the meeting objected, however, to the executive session and finally almost everyone that had been there earlier trooped back.

Mr. McIntyre then asked for a motion stating that the session should remain open; this motion was made, seconded and passed, with the chairman recorded in opposition.
