Urban Renewal Brochure Out

A handsome brochure, telling general facts about Urban Renewal and what is proposed for the town, is being mailed to registered voters of the community.

Urban Renewal Director Ernest N. Hall explained that the brochure is being addressed, as nearly as possible, so that one voter in each family will receive a copy. The town's list of registered voters has been used for the mailing task.

Prior to beginning the distribution of the document, copies were sent to all town officials who are concerned with the plan and to the citizens' group that is studying the plans.

The bulk mailing will take approximately two weeks, Mr. Hall explained. Portions of each pre-circular will be mailed out at a time.

One of the most remarkable women of any century is enjoying a summer visit with her family in Andover.

Kirsten M. Gyrsting flew here a few days ago from Copenhagen, Denmark to see her son, Paul, his wife and children. She'll stay with them this summer, enjoying their home at 103 High st.

Mrs. Gyrsting, flying for the first time at 64, has been blind for many years - but consider this list of accomplishments:

She specializes in making hand-woven fabrics, colorful and pleasing to the eye, and has learned the craft since losing her sight.

She has since learned to speak both German and English, reads and writes braille, and types letters in English to the American part of her family.

Mrs. Gyrsting lives alone, cares for herself and her apartment. Until a year ago, she cared for her own mother, who lived with her.

She is prominent in many com-

Little League Opens Saturday

Little League will officially open the season Saturday, with an opening-day double header at the Playstead.

Ceremonies will be held at 1 p.m., for a double purpose - the opening of the new season, plus observance of the 10th anniversary of the community's participation in Little League baseball.

President Frederick Cavellier has announced that a parade will be held, starting in the park area and thence to the Playstead, where flag-raising ceremonies will be held.

Al Carpentier is in charge of the opening day exercises.

In the first of two games, the Tigers meet the Giants and the Pirates and Red Sox fill out the twin bill.

Solutions for Raytheon's off-street parking requirements - ranging from the emergency to the long-range - were discussed at a meeting last Saturday morning.

Town officials and Raytheon Company representatives spent nearly three hours re-hashing some of the reasons why parking is troublesome, and examining several possible answers.

The most immediate, emergency solution is allowing all-day parking on one side of certain streets, plus letting cars park in some vacant lots from which they have once been removed.

Of more permanent nature, the conferees agreed, is the acquisition of off-street sites. Two are under discussion - the Champy land from Fleming ave. back through the industrially-zoned filter bed area, and the Cyr land

Polio Vaccine Will Be Given

The Andover Board of Health, in co-operation with the school department, plans an oral vaccine clinic for pre-school children, age three months to 7 years, May 2 at Central Elementary School from 1:15 to 5 p.m.

Children attending first grade or kindergarten in public or parochial schools will receive their vaccine during regular school attendance May 3 or 4.

In order to avoid waiting in line, parents should obtain a form for each child, fill it out at home and bring it to the clinic with them.

Forms will be provided children in school and additional forms may be obtained at the principal's office of each school, Memorial Hall Library and the Board of Health office.

Abbot Academy
Presents Writer

This Saturday in Davis Hall, Abbot Academy is proud to bring Mme. Nayantara Sahgal, who will speak on "India and America - My View of Two Worlds". The public is invited to the 8 o'clock lecture.

Mme. Sahgal in her childhood was a member of India's leading political family in the turbulent era of her country's struggle for independence and in her later years went to college in the United States. She made many close friends here during this period and has such a lasting love of this country that she welcomes every opportunity to return.

Wife of Indian businessman Gautam Sahgal and mother of three, she turned her abundant gifts to writing. In 1954, her autobiographical book, "Prison and Chocolate Cake," won high praise in America and England. Four years later, her novel, "A Time to Be Happy," with its Indian setting, offered insight into modern life in an ancient land whose people are very like our own. Her third book, another autobiography soon to be published in England, is a perceptive account of the changes that are taking place in the social fabric of a new and free India. Nayantara Sahgal comes to the platform, not as a representative mittees concerned with the blind; even promotes marketing procedures for those whose hand work must be sold.

Mrs. Gyrsting toured Italy last summer with a group of men and women, all blind, and enjoyed every minute of it.

She rides behind her other son, Kai, on his motor bike; takes long and vigorous walks; swims, every Tuesday evening.

Thus it's not strange to hear her say she doesn't believe she is handicapped - wouldn't it be awful not to have your hearing or your speech?

She twice has been the "cover story" of Denmark's leading magazine - the equivalent of Life in the United States.

Mrs. Gyrsting has been in this country once before - six years ago, when her son, Paul, was married. But she had never seen the couple's three children, Karen, Linda and Stephen.

In addition to getting acquainted with her grandchildren, Mrs. Gyrsting will also be greeting many new friends in the town - she's to be guest of honor today at a typical Andover "Coffee", in the home of Mrs. George Gliss on Barrington dr.

The solo, "I Know That My Redeemer Liveth", from the Handel Messiah, was beautifully rendered by William Gilford.

Girl Scouts

Troop 9
The senior scouts of Troop 9 have been busy. Recently they made Easter posters, which were taken to the Lawrence Red Cross and to the hospitals. They also from there to hospitals. They also held an Emergency Round Robin. They met near the Junior High School and discussed what could happen to a family in a flood and how to care for them. Another meeting time was devoted to horse-riding at the Andover Riding Academy. More recently, the girls went out to Camp Maude Eaton where they cooked their lunch over an open fire. They enjoyed a scavenger hunt and other games.

Troop 34
The Brownies of Troop 34 have charts on which the tenderfoot requirements are listed. As they complete each requirement, they receive a ribbon which is attached to the chart with a Girl Scout seal. When the chart is filled with ribbons, a different color for each requirement, they will be ready to fly-up.

Gold ribbons, for the charts were presented to Elaine Bennett, Debbie Curdo, Nancy Diodati and Jane Shepherd, the first to complete their scrapbooks and recite the Girl Scout Laws.

Troop 68
The Brownies of Troop 68 welcomed Miss Huff from Chelmsford to their meeting. She talked to the girls about birds and their habits and showed many lovely slides. At their last meeting, these Brownies were guests of Girl Scout Troop 124. One group of the scouts who are working on their Folk Dancing badge entertained the Brownies with some folk dances and taught them the Greek Wedding dance.

Another group of Scouts who are working on their puppeteer Badge entertained the Brownies with three kinds of puppet shows. They were the hand puppets, the shadow box type and the real puppets worked with strings. A third group of scouts who are working on their Homemakers badge served the refreshments.

Troop 32
The Girl Scouts of Troop 32 recently celebrated the fifth anniversary of the troop with a birthday cake. Five year pins were awarded to Joyce Campbell, Helen Gaunt, Karen Mahanke, Leslie Schiller, Jane Stewart, Gwen Warwick, and Pam Welch. Cynthia Lewis and Kathy Kitson received their third year stars. Some time was spent making trench candles. This week the girls worked on their good grooming badge. Mrs. Stephen Valovic, a former model spoke to the girls. They also spent some time making plans for a trip to Sturbridge Village during vacation.

Troop 5
The Brownies of Troop 5 recently devoted time to displays and reports from other lands from each Brownie. They recently made party favors, and 50th Anniversary centerpieces for each teacher at West School. Each girl has made a drawing and reported on topics about our community. This past meeting was devoted to making Easter baskets.

Troop 79
Girl Scout Troop 79, Debby Heffron, who recently joined the troop, gave a report on, Isreal which satisfies the International Friendship requirement for the 2nd class rank. The girls have started a stenciling project. Each girl has made her own stencil, and fringed a piece of cloth. They will be used as dresser scarves when they are finished. Camperships were awarded to Patricia McDowell to Camp Maude Eaton, and to Ginny Campbell to Camp Merrymeeting.

Troop 63
The Brownies of Troop 63 were recently surprised by four members of the Troop, who presented the play "Cinderella". Cinderella was played by Caroline Davis, the Prince by Betsy Gaw, the Step-mother by Anne Marie Bailey, and the Step-sister by Beverly Roberts. This play was produced entirely by the girls and they wore costumes. At the same meeting, they celebrated their troop birthday with a cake baked and decorated by Jennifer Zollner.

The Brownies have also planted

Brownie marigolds in individual pots, have been shown the slides of Camp Maude Eaton and Camp Merrymeeting, and enjoyed an afternoon of bowling. Their last meeting was devoted to making Easter bunnies of wire covered with crepe paper and styrofoam heads.

THIS MAP OF SHAWSHEEN gives a detailed look at the street layout in the Village, in the current discussion of parking problems in the area. Two off-street parking sites now being considered are the area behind Fleming ave. in the industrial zone, and the lot off Union st., after Kenilworth st. On the map is indicated a proposed parking lot, nearest to Fleming ave., that was turned down by the Board of Appeals.

The state is surveying for the preliminary plans, but there are no funds available for construction. Emergency Exists

Taking first things first, Raytheon officials pointed out that about 3,000 parking spaces exist for 7,600 employees. Several hundred additional spaces will be needed.

This, despite the company's plan to construct about 100 parking spaces along the side and front of the main building. This work will start immediately, but no more than compensates for some of the spaces to be lost when Route 495 goes through the parking lot.

In answer to this portion of the problem, officials asked the town to consider allowing all-day parking on one side of Haverhill st., Riverina rd. on the river side, Burnham rd. except where this would create a hazard near Carisbrooke, Argyle and Arundel sts. Also requested is parking from 9-2 on one side of York st. for sales people.

The vacant lots were described as being at the end of Enmore, at Fleming, where the town owns a piece of land; and on Burnham rd., on land owned by F.M. and T.E. Andrew, where some employees' cars used to be parked.

There was some general agreement that it would be more satisfactory to have the cars off the streets than on them - but there was no conclusion by the assembled officials.

Off-Street Parking

Considerably more attention was paid to the off-street sites available - the Champy land, Cyr's property and a vacant lot owned by the Sacred Heart School.

In each case there are serious problems.

Champy's residential land behind Fleming ave. can not be used as a parking lot because a variance was refused; the industrial area near the old filter beds might be used, if a proper access to it can be found, which will not bring out as much opposition as the Fleming ave. proposal created.

It was noted that Bernard Champy has entered into negotiations on the sale of the entire area - but officials of Raytheon explained that the initial steps in the negotiations have only just begun, and there is no way to guess how they will turn out.

The Cyr property, with the adjoining O'Malley land, lies next to the existing Texaco station on Union st., and goes back to the river.

There are pending negotiations for at least parts of this tract, it was noted, but the area is residential in zoning. Thus some action must be taken on the part of the town, if the area is to be used for parking cars.

The third area - land owned by the School - might be a solution, except that residents of the Village formerly complained about cars being parked there. And it was felt that an insoluble problem exists in this regard at this time. That land, too, is not zoned properly for parking, and would require town action.

Long-Haul Prospects

The longest-range of all the plans - an access road through the back lands onto Route 114 - appeared to most participants as being logical. But they generally agreed that this might not happen for several years.

Thinking About School Names

The School Committee is considering various names for an elementary school on Ivesbrook rd.

Although custom has named schools by the geographical location, several names to suggest. Member John S. Sullivan suggested either the Osgood Lovejoy school, and names had been listed by citizens as their preference.

The district in which the school is being built is called the district, and the Osgood were early settlers of the town. The first emigrant, John Osgood, is credited with changing the name to Andover from Wick; another Osgood, Sa-

There are pending negotiations for at least parts of this tract, it was noted, but the area is residential in zoning. Thus some action must be taken on the part of the town, if the area is to be used for parking cars.

The third area - land owned by the School - might be a solution, except that residents of the Village formerly complained about cars being parked there. And it was felt that an insoluble problem exists in this regard at this time. That land, too, is not zoned properly for parking, and would require town action.

Long-Haul Prospects

The longest-range of all the plans - an access road through the back lands onto Route 114 - appeared to most participants as being logical. But they generally agreed that this might not happen for several years.

Thinking About School Names

The School Committee is considering various names for the new elementary school on Lovejoy rd. Although custom has dictated naming schools by their geographical location, several members had names to suggest.

Member John S. Sullivan suggested either the Osgood or the Lovejoy school, and said these names had been listed by a number of citizens as their preference.

The district in which the school is being built is called the Osgood district, and the Osgood family were early settlers of the town. The first emigrant, John, was credited with changing the town's name to Andover from Cochichewick; another Osgood, Samuel, was the nation's first Postmaster General.

The Lovejoy name is familiar, both as the name of the street where the school is being constructed and as an old family name in Andover.

Other names suggested include the Nathan Hamblin school, after a former principal of Punchard High; Henry Barnard School, after the first U. S. commissioner of Education; Horace Mann school, after a leader in the development of public education; the Edith Nourse Rogers school, after the late congresswoman; John Noyes school, after Mr. Noyes, who formerly owned the land on which the school is being built.

It was also suggested that the name be the Kenneth L. Sherman school, after a former superintendent; or the Byington Elementary school, after Stephen Byington of Ballardvale.

Member William Doherty submitted the name of Henry C. Sanborn school. Mr. Sanborn was a long-time superintendent of schools here. Mr. Doherty, after it was suggested that the school be named for him, explained that he feels he will be around for some time yet - and the practice has been to name schools after those who have died.

Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Northey have returned to their home on Rocky Hill rd., after enjoying a vacation with relatives in Norfolk, Va.

Prof. Klein Spoke At High School

The Mathematical Association of America, with the support of the National Science Foundation, has been providing many secondary schools, such as Andover High School, with a visiting lecturer program. These lecturers speak on various topics of mathematics, especially the newer phases.

It is through the generosity of that Association that Andover High School had a lecture on "The Computer", Tuesday, April 24. It was given by Prof. Robert D. Klein, who teaches at Northeastern University in Boston.

Those who attended were the seniors who have had the senior mathematical courses and the juniors who have signed up for those courses next year.

The Andover CO-OP As A Payer of TAXES

There are many misconceptions in this world. One of them is that a consumers' cooperative doesn't pay taxes.

Below, for the record, are the taxes which we expect to pay this year at all three levels of government:

Municipal	$4,893.20
State	2,319.28
Federal	6,074.83
	$13,287.31

For a country grocery store, we think that is a sizeable bite. This is a highly competitive business with a traditionally low margin of profit. We have to sell a lot of groceries just to earn our taxes.

We have no complaint about the size of our tax. Like every one else, we expect that our hard-earned tax dollars be used with maximum efficiency. For our part, we try to be good citizens.

et layout in the Village, in the street parking sites now being one, and the lot off Union st., g lot, nearest to Fleming ave.

There was some general agreement that it would be more satisfactory to have the cars off the streets than on them - but there was no conclusion by the assembled officials.

Off-Street Parking

Considerably more attention was paid to the off-street sites available - the Champy land, Cyr's property and a vacant lot owned by the Sacred Heart School.

In each case there are serious problems. Champy's residential land behind Fleming ave. can not be used as a parking lot because a variance was refused; the industrial area near the old filter beds might be used, if a proper access to it can be found, which will not bring out as much opposition as the Fleming ave. proposal created.

It was noted that Bernard Champy has entered into negotiations on the sale of the entire area - but officials of Raytheon explained that the initial steps in the negotiations have only just begun, and there is no way to guess how they will turn out.

The Cyr property, with the adjoining O'Malley land, lies next to the existing Texaco station on Union st., and goes back to the river.

There are pending negotiations for at least parts of this tract, it was noted, but the area is residential in zoning. Thus some action must be taken on the part of the town, if the area is to be used for parking cars.

The third area - land owned by the School - might be a solution, except that residents of the Village formerly complained about cars being parked there. EDITORIAL THOUGHTS

Popularity Is Secondary

One of the unfortunate by-products of any decision on parking in Shawsheen Village is that some residents probably will be angered.

If parking goes in off Fleming ave. or in that area, residents west of the railroad won't complain, but those in the immediate area will. And so it will go, wherever cars are allowed to park or wherever access is allowed into an off-street site.

The Selectmen can not ignore the immediate need for parking, nor can they put off a decision for too long. Neither can they ignore the protests of residents, who are taxpayers too.

We do think that a decision that reflects the best judgment of the Board must be made, in full awareness that it will not necessarily be popular with all residents of the Village.

To attempt to reach a conclusion that meets with everyone's accord would be doomed to failure. This is one of the times when the elected town officials have to accept the fact that popularity and common sense don't always go hand in hand.

The Lovely School?

A number of names have been suggested for the new elementary school on Lovejoy rd. — mostly honoring long-departed citizens of the community, whose illustrious activities have lived on.

On the other hand, the town has been in the habit of giving geographical names....South, West, Central, Shawsheen. It's going to be more difficult to continue this practice as time goes on, unless we are to wind up with the "South West" school, or the "North East" school or some such awkward names.

At this point, we'd like to add our own nomination — the Eugene A. Lovely school.

Mr. Lovely, still living with members of his family in Maine, had a long and noteworthy career here, both as an educator and an athletic instructor of prominence.

This would be a fitting honor for one of Andover's noted educators.

Your Best Interests

One of the most important medical discoveries of the age has been the anti-polio vaccine — first the Salk type, nor the oral type.

The Board of Health has wisely decided to hold a clinic May 2, at which children can receive the latter type of vaccine. It matters not at all that the child may have received the Salk vaccine; the oral type gives longer immunity, and may be taken regardless of previous inoculation.

It is vitally important for all youngsters to receive this vaccine, which can be taken easily, in a teaspoon of water.

The only way we can assure ourselves that polio will not regain its prominence as a crippler and killer is to have our young people made immune. We urge all of you to take advantage of this opportunity.

A light vote is expected at the Presidential Primary next Tuesday, and there will be only one polling place open. The Square and Compass Club will handle voting for all precincts, from 7-7.

Some 400 of Andover's old elm trees will be sprayed from a helicopter some time next week, in hopes of saving them from the Dutch elm disease. It takes three hours to finish the spraying job, and the center of town and Shawsheen Square will be covered very early in the morning.

An item of interest concerning the primary Tuesday is the possible size of the Eisenhower write-in vote. Considerable effort has been made to get voters to write in the general's name, and the town clerk has announced that as long as the voter's intent can be determined, the vote will count. Thus it is possible that voters can write "Ike" in the space provided.

Daylight Saving time starts Sunday, and all inhabitants are warned to set their clocks ahead one hour before retiring Saturday night, lest they get into trouble Sunday.

SPECIAL TOWN MEETING MIGHT HAVE TO ACT

One suggested approach to the parking problems in Shawsheen is to take solutions to the voters at a special town meeting.

With such a meeting planned in October already, there has been some feeling that zoning changes might be submitted at that time, if changes are needed to get off-street parking for several hundred cars daily.

There has been no decision of any kind on the matter, and possibly none will be made until negotiations for various parcels of land by Raytheon are in a more definite stage.

Nineteenth Century Members of Congress frequently stowed constituents' letters inside the broad bands of their tall beaver hats.

Tradition has it that Congressman Abe Lincoln made a traveling office of his famous stovepipe. Letters from folks at home were few and far between.

Today's lightning news services, the intelligence and advanced education of our citizenry, plus improved postal transportation have all contributed to increasing the volume of Congressional mail. Two million pieces of mail a month now deluge the House of Representatives alone. A controversial issue can skyrocket that average by another two or three million a month, as during the "Battle of the Budget" in 1957 and the Landrum-Griffin labor bill debate of 1959.

To emphasize this accelerated tempo, I like to point out that the amount of correspondence Daniel Webster received during an entire year when he was Senator from Massachusetts is less than that received by my office in a single busy day.

For those of you who may wonder what happens when you send a letter off to Washington, a glimpse into the mailhandling routine of my office might be of interest.

My staff has strict instructions that every piece of correspondence addressed to me reaches my desk. Each one receives a personal reply. Hopefully this takes place before the sun goes down on the day of arrival, and action is always instigated immediately in the case of urgent requests from servicemen, veterans and other persons who have immediate, personal problems involving the Federal government.

In replying to legislative inquiries and comments, I try to avoid stylized replies, since most of your letters are remarkable for dealing in depth with your reasons for supporting or opposing a measure. Once in a while, as occurred last year when I received a petition on an issue signed by nearly 400 individuals, common sense demands that I dictate but one reply which could be sent individually to each petitioner. As is true of every other Congressman I know, I value most highly those letters which indicate that the writer has given his personal thought and consideration to the subject in question and the views, accordingly, are his own. "Inspired mail", which is easily recognized by its stereotyped message, or the fact that it has been mimeographed, carries less weight in decision-making on Capitol Hill.

Facts About Oral Vaccine

The Board of Health wishes to make the following points, concerning the oral polio vaccine clinic May 2, for all pre-school children, and May 3-4 for school children:

Polio has three types - type one is the most dangerous and the May 2 clinic will dispense vaccine to provide immunity against this type only.

A second clinic will be held later this spring to give vaccine for type three polio, the second most dangerous. This vaccine will not provide immunity for type one polio, just type three.

Type two polio is the least dangerous, and a clinic will be held in several months for immunization against this type.

To be immunized properly, a child should have one dose of each of the three oral vaccines - the vaccine is specifically made for the type, and does not give immunity against any other type.

The Board has been told that local doctors will not be receiving a supply of vaccine for any of the types for a considerable period of time, because of its scarcity.

Children who have had the Salk vaccine should also take the oral kind, because longer-lasting immunity is afforded.

Discuss Tentative School Bounds

New boundary lines for the elementary school under construction on Lovejoy rd. were taken under advisement by the School Committee at its meeting April 18. Supt. of Schools Edward I. Erickson outlined some proposed boundaries that would bring 344 students into the new structure next September.

The plan would bring 233 children from the present West School, 97 from the South School and 14 others from within the proposed area. The tentative lines were suggested as follows: from the railroad track at the "horn" bridge, Andover st., Reservation rd., including all side streets and developments, to Cutler rd., to Lowell st., to Greenwood rd., to High Plain rd., to Cross st., to River rd.

Even with the lightened load at the West School created by the new area, Supt. Erickson warned the Committee that an addition may be needed at the West School, to meet the tremendous growth in that section of town. The School has been expanded once.

That building would house 394 pupils, under the proposal, South would have 490 and Shawsheen 386. The enrollment of the Central and Stowe schools would be 675.

Supt. Erickson noted that geographical location of students makes it difficult to draw boundary lines so exact that all classes at the new school would be within the desirable number of students.

He also told the Committee that Shawsheen School is at peak enrollment, and should remain so, despite the loss of some pupils due to Route 495 construction.

The need for a principal at the School on Lovejoy rd. drew brief mention from Chairman Robert B. McIntyre. He asked the Committee and superintendent to be thinking about a call for candidates for this position.

ABOUT THOSE FROGS IN THE TREES

The voice of the spring peeper is being heard through the land. Spring peepers, tiny tree-climbing frogs at little more than an inch long, are heralds of spring near a swamp, down by the creek, wherever there's April water.

Their chirruping chorus begins an hour or so before dusk, says Dr. Philip L. Rusden. They sit almost invisible on lily pads or hide in rushes. They swim. The females lay eggs.

Young that develop crawl ashore and climb trees with the aid of tiny round discs at the ends of their fingers and toes. With chameleon power they change color, brown like a tree trunk, green if they hide on a leaf, yellow amid the buttercups. There they hunt for gnats and other tiny insects, guardians in a sense of the trees they inhabit. To see a tree frog in a tree is a rewarding experience. Not many persons have sharp enough eyes.

May Fellowship Day Observance

A luncheon will be held Friday, May 4, at 12:30 p.m. in South Church in observance of May Fellowship Day, sponsored by the United Church Women.

Mrs. Persis Crawford is chairman of the luncheon and Mrs. Paul Danielson has charge of the reservations which must be in by Monday, April 30.

Each church representative may also be contacted for tickets. All women are most cordially invited to attend.

The luncheon will be followed by a program under the direction of Mrs. Karl Palmer and Mrs. Robert Hatton. The program carries the theme of "Who Is My Family?" Mrs. Hugh Penney and Mrs. Herbert McNeal will be the featured speakers. Mrs. Penney is the wife of a former minister at West Parish. She will speak on a forthcoming adoption of an Indian child, which she and her husband are bringing into their family. Mrs. McNeal will show colored slides depicting the procedure she has followed in making an adoption of a child in Greece.

Mrs. McNeal comes from Manchester, N. H., and is a member of the Foster Parent Plan, an international plan which includes Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy as an honorary president. Art Linkletter has also done extensive work in behalf of this plan. Under the plan, a person may provide financial aid for a child in a foreign country and "adopt" this child by remote control. The child remains and grows up in his natural environment, but becomes self-supporting through the aid that is given. This plan creates considerable goodwill for the "adopting" families and country and gives these "parents" a direct personal interest in someone who needs this care.

Helping Mrs. Crawford with the luncheon are the following members: Mrs. Ralph Rogers and Mrs. Robert Burnham, Free Church; Mrs. James Stewart, West Parish; Mrs. Florence Abbott and Mrs. Grace Weaver, South Church; Mrs. Kenneth Minard and Mrs. John Fenton, Christ Church; Mrs. Meyers and Mrs. P. W. Moody, Ballard Vale United Church; Mrs. Harry Butler and Mrs. June Shattuck, Baptist Church; Mrs. Joseph Dodge, Cochran Chapel.

Little Stories about Great Hymns

Jesus Loves Me
Jesus loves me, this I know
For the Bible tells me so;
Little ones to Him belong,
They are weak, but He is strong.

This is perhaps the first hymn learned at Sunday School. The words, so simple, so lovely, were written by an American woman, Anna Warner, who lived on a Hudson River island. She busily wrote stories and taught Bible classes, but will be forever remembered for this beautiful children's hymn. The pretty tune by Wm. Bradbury certainly helped to make it popular. For half a century, children the world over have loved and sung this simple hymn of a child's faith in Jesus.

PARKING SOLUTIONS MAY BE FOUND

Plans for the road were authorized by the Legislature last year, and these are now being prepared. But no money was appropriated for construction, and no one knows when money will be made available.

The road, when constructed, would start at the end of York st., at the Raytheon parking lot, cross the railroad right of way and go out to Route 114 through the industrial land. Parking is allowed in that area, and permanent solutions might be found to the Village parking problems once the road is constructed.

Car Pools
Many Raytheon personnel form car pools, the conference learned, but there are some factors working against the success of this measure in terms of the over-all parking problem.

First, employees come from a wide area, and many could not form a car pool if they wished.

But inconvenience seemed to be another big factor - one or two persons in a car pool have to work overtime unexpectedly, and are left without a ride home.

This situation would also result if the company tried to run a shuttle service from some outlying parking area. And in the latter provision for parking, there are other, built-in problems. A major one seemed to be the possibility that break-downs in the bus or other vehicle would delay employees, who would then be late for work. This might lead to paying for the time spent in a bus, broken down beside the road. The same-day request for individuals to work overtime would also have its effect - how could the individual get back to the outlying area for his own car after the shuttle service stopped?

Village Problem
In general, there was agreement that the parking problem, and any eventual solution, must be contained within Shawshen.

None of the officials believed that it should be allowed to spread into other sections of town.

And officials of the town were convinced that, as far as the feelings of residents are concerned, conditions in Shawshen have been much improved in recent months, compared to formerly.

In Second Year As Goal-tender

Jim Leaf, Harvard University junior from Andover, is in his second year as starting goal-tender for the Crimson lacrosse team.

Leaf was the goalie on last year's Harvard squad which finished the season ranked seventh nationally. Crimson lacrosse coach Bruce Munro says of Leaf: "Jim's main asset lies in his amazing clearing ability. Last year's experience will also greatly aid him".

In his first regular season game this year, Leaf played brilliantly against M.I.T. in his team's 15-3 rout of the Engineers. His main concern this year will be to help the Crimson win the Ivy championship and retain its spot in the national ratings.

A graduate of Phillips Andover Leaf lettered in soccer, hockey, and lacrosse. Son of Mr. and Mrs. Munro Leaf, 56 Salem st., he is majoring in English.

Young People Made Plans For Future

A meeting of the Ballard Vale United Church Youth Fellowship Cabinet was held recently in the Church vestry, at which time plans for the future were made.

The group voted to have the Tremont Church Youth Fellowship group of Boston as guests at a cook-out Sunday evening, May 27, and to have a splash party May 19, combined with the Young Married Couples Club.

It was announced that the fellowship group had been invited to a Hawaiian Luau, to be held at the Christ Church April 27 from 7 to 11 p.m. There will be Hawaiian food served and dancing enjoyed. All young people of the Vale are invited. Further information may be obtained from Kent Warner.

Conduct Survey Of Housing Need

In order to determine the number of additional Elderly Housing units needed in the Town of Andover, the Andover Housing Authority is conducting a survey.

For this purpose, questionnaires have been printed and distributed throughout the town. Persons over age 65, in need of housing, may obtain one by calling the management office, 100 Morton st., or, they may be picked up at the following locations: town clerk's office; Veterans' Services office; Welfare office; Library; and at each of the three local Post Offices.

Will Teach Night Driving

The Drivers Education Program at A.H.S., which consists of a minimum of 30 hours of classroom and 12 hours of experience in the school's Driver's Education car, has added a new half-hour lesson of night driving to the program.

This added half-hour will give the students taking the course some helpful experience concerning night driving. There is also a one-hour lesson for instructions, including the best ways to enter and exit on Route 93.

There are 82 students now taking the required bookwork and taking the instructions in the car. The car instructions consist of six hours of actual driving and six hours of observing. Any student wishing to take the Driver's Education program must sign up at the guidance department.

New 25% Nickel Steels

A new family of very high strength 25 per cent nickel steels has been invented by International Nickel. This added half-hour will give the students taking the course some helpful experience concerning night driving. There is also a one-hour lesson for instructions, including the best ways to enter and exit on Route 93.

There are 82 students now taking the required bookwork and 43 taking the instructions in the car. The car instructions consist of six hours of actual driving and six hours of observing. Any student wishing to take the Driver's Education program must sign up at the guidance department.

By-Law Protects Residential Area

Residents of Fleming ave. and other streets in that immediate section of Shawsheen appear to be pretty well protected against use of industrial land for Raytheon parking.

A zoning article approved March 14, 1960, which created the limited industrial area near the old filter beds, banned use of residential streets as an access from that zone.

The article, with that amendment, was approved by the attorney general and is a matter of record in the town.

Original plans for the industrial area indicated that access would be provided to Route 114 and/or Union st. in Lawrence. The amendment was offered by Rep. Arthur Williams for residents of Shaw-sheen, who did not want to have cars from industrial parking areas coming out onto streets such as Fleming, thence onto Haverhill st.

Although the by-law does not specifically list parking lots as a permissible use, there has been speculation that the present owner, Bernard L. Champy, or another owner, could create parking facilities on the industrial land. Access to the area has been a problem - with suggestions that Liberty st. be used instead of Fleming ave. Whether or not either could be utilized, under the by-law, appears open to doubt in the minds of many local officials.

Library Chose Egg Tree Winners

A large and interested audience attended the Egg Tree program at the Library Monday, at which time the winners of the annual Egg Tree contest were announced and prizes were awarded.

As usual, judging was difficult, because of the clever and unusual decorated eggs which were entered. Mrs. Donald L. Amy, Mrs. J. F. Raichlen and Mrs. George K. Sanborn had the pleasant task of deciding which eggs were most worthy of prizes, and these are the results: In class One, for grades one through three, first prize went to Isla Grant, second to Kathleen McLaughlin and honorable mention was given to Jane Carr, Gwen Brown and Beverly Roberts. Class One was for eggs painted with a design or picture, and with no accessories. There were no entries for class One in grades four through six, but first prize winner in grades seven to nine was Elizabeth O'Leary.

Class two was for single eggs decorated with paints and other material, such as paper, cloth, lace or yarn, and winners were as follows: for grades one through three, first prize went to Schuyler Royce, second to Catherine La-Rochelle and honorable mention to Ronald Demers, Ellen McGovern, Robin Bell Daly, Jeffrey Drake, Wendy Weiss and Patricia Duff. In grades four to six for this class, there were these winners: first prize, Barbara Jameson, second, Cathy Parker and honorable mention for Patti Neil, Darryl Miller, Susan Ledbetter, Kathleen Boulanger, Phyllis Thomes, Ellen Sullivan, Peter Prodan and Ellen Weiss.

The family entry prize went to Beverly, Wesby and Mrs. June Shattuck. In this class, each member of a family decorates an egg which will be part of a unit, such as a string, circle, or group of related characters.

A special marionette show was presented by the following actors: Barbara Jameson, Judy Heubeck, Peter Hodges, Teddy Markow and Craig Hurst. They gave the play "The Selfish Giant", with six changes of scene.
