Much Interest In Bazaar

Enthusiasm among civic, religious and charitable groups is growing rapidly, as the second annual Sidewalk Bazaar draws near.

Board of Trade president Kenneth P. Thompson has listed 16 organizations which plan to take part in the two-day promotion June 22-23, and urges others to contact him immediately with their ideas and plans.

The various groups plan to have booths along both sides of Main st. The first annual Bazaar last year proved an outstanding success to participating organizations.

So far, Mr. Thompson has listed the following participating groups: Beta Sigma Phi Sorority, Catholic Daughters of America, Order of Eastern Star, Junior Chamber of Commerce, Red Cross, A.P.C. Sorority, American Legion Auxiliary, C.Y.O., Sportsman's Club, West Andover Community Association, Andona Society, League of Women Voters, Pilgrim Fellowship of the South Church, Ladies Auxiliary to the Scottish Clans, Child Study Group of South Church and the Newcomer's Club.

May Construct New High School; Housing Problems Are Forecast

Two major alternatives - adding close to 100 percent to the high school and building a junior high for 5-600 students, or building a new senior high for 1400-1500, and using the present high school for a junior high - face the School Committee this week.

Funds for preliminary plans may be sought as early as next March. The issue came to a head Tuesday night, after the Committee heard a report from its study committee, concerning housing problems on the secondary level.

The Committee could not make any firm recommendation concerning the 6-3-3 system now in use, compared to the 6-2-4 system some have proposed.

But specific recommendations were made: that the senior high not be separated into two schools, because there are obvious advantages to having a large high school; and that planning be done on a long-range basis, allowing the School Committee some freedom from this problem for a few years to come.

For under the 6-3-3 arrangement, there will be 1,019 students at the Junior High and 757 at the High School. And by 1970, the Junior High will stand at 1,209, while 983 will attend the High School.

In a 6-2-4 division of grades, by 1965 there will be 705 in the Junior High and 1,017 in the High School; in 1970, 825 would attend the two Junior High grades and 1,367 would be enrolled in the High School.

The present capacity of the Junior High is estimated at 900; the High School at 750, with core facilities for 1,000.

The Study Committee - S. Leonard Kent and Louis Warlick - made these observations:

The Junior High, by 1965, must house over 1,000 pupils - and it can not do this. Some rooms could be converted to homerooms, and some expansion of core facilities might be accomplished, to handle this number; but by 1970 the school

Town Sued By Developer

Wyncrest Development Corp. has appealed to Superior Court to lift or ease restrictions placed on its sub-division by the Planning Board.

Chief among the restrictions in question, it is understood, is a requirement that the firm install a water main in Osgood st. to replace a smaller line in existence.

The sub-division is off Dascomb rd. and Osgood st., and includes about 26 homes. It will be known as Carriage Hill Estates.

It is believed that this is the first case here, in which a developer has gone to court to find out how much off-site construction it can be required to do, in conjunction with a sub-division.

Memorial Sunday Services Planned

Solemn religious services will mark Memorial Sunday, May 27, as Andover veterans of all wars attend 10:45 a.m. worship at the Baptist Church.

Later that day, and continuing through next Tuesday, flags will be placed on all veterans' graves in the town's six cemeteries.

The traditional Memorial Day parade next Wednesday, six divisions long, will stop for three services - at the Memorial Hall Library, the Memorial Auditorium and at the Memorial Tower at Phillips Academy.

Cemetery services will be held following the parade, under the direction of the community's veterans' organizations.

This Sunday, all veterans have been asked to assemble at the Musgrove Building at 10:15, and proceed to the Baptist Church for the 10:45 service.

That afternoon, the V.F.W. will attend to the flags in the Old South Christ Church and St. Augustine's

League Elected Officers For Year

The League of Women Voters, at its annual meeting at the Log Cabin May 15, voted to continue its evaluation of the local Urban Renewal program. Also placed on the active agenda for 1962-'63 were a study of the inter-relationships of the school and town libraries and a study of the proposal for a regional vocational High School.

Mrs. Paul Crane, president, opened the meeting with a call for discussion on the proposed program, Urban Renewal, Library Services and an Evaluation of Fluoridation.

Mrs. Robert Butler presented the continuing study of the school system with emphasis as requested by the schools on the librarians. Mrs. Dudley Fitts presented the Urban Renewal proposal. Both of these were voted in with little discussion. Mrs. Harold Gordon asked the League to consider a program item to evaluate fluoridation. This provoked a great deal of discussion. It was finally defeated but with an agreement to study the subject under Voters Service if it is to be voted on this year, and give League members and the public with both sides of the question.

Mrs. R. M. Cole asked the League to add a study of the proposed Vocational Regional High School to its program. After discussion, this proposal was adopted.

Mrs. Harold Rafton spoke in favor of more action in support of the Andover Conservation Commission. The Andover League then voted to urge that the Conservation Commission be brought up to its full quota by the appointment of interested and active citizens and that it then be requested to further local conservation objectives as it is empowered to do under the laws of the Commonwealth.

The League of Women Voters then voted to continue its support of The Selectman-Town Manager form of government; its support of the Conservation Commission and its support of the public recreation program.

Officers and directors were elected and appointed for the next year as follows:

First vice president, Mrs. Douglas Dunbar Jr.; secretary, Mrs. Edward Sabbagh; directors for two years, Mrs. A. S. Rothseid and Mrs. H. Oscar Witten; directors for one year, Mrs. David Kneeland, Mrs. Thomas Dye, Mrs. J. E. Andrews, Mrs. G. H. Sherrerd and Mrs. Arthur Seikunas. Mrs. Crane continues as president for another year.

Appointed for one year were Mrs. Milton Ratynski, Mrs. Bernard Shea, Mrs. Robert Sherman, Mrs. Charles Leigh, Mrs. Brooks Whitehouse Jr., Mrs. Bernard Ristuccia, Mrs. Sidney Zussman and Mrs. James Keck.

The Nominating Committee elected includes Mrs. Wilson Neisser, Mrs. George Bixby and Mrs. James D. Wilson.

Concluding the meeting, an entertaining and informative report on the National Convention of the League of Women Voters of the United States was given by Mrs. Crane and Mrs. Dunbar, who were Andover's delegates a few weeks ago at the Convention held in Minneapolis.

The Tennis Club will get underway for its third season June 4, at 5 p.m., using the courts at Phillips Academy. Regular tournaments will be held during the season, including men's and women's mixed doubles, men's and women's singles and the senior men's singles. A formal junior program will be started this year, with Al Damon instructing the younger members on Saturday mornings. The young people will also have their own schedule of competition. A limited number of new members can be accepted this year, according to Matthew Medick, 12 Wild Rose dr. Any person interested in joining may write to Mr. Medick for details.

CHARLES A. GREGORY

The passing of Charles A. Gregory removes from Andover one of its most forthright and versatile public figures. No one would scoff more than he at any trite sentimentalities in expression of sorrow; yet he was fundamentally a person of deep sentiment, which he strove always to conceal.

In 1924, Mr. Gregory joined the faculty of Pynchard High School. He served there and, briefly, at the successor Andover High School - until his retirement in January 1961. Generations of Andover citizens, young and old, came to regard him as a symbol of "the good years" - the years of relative peace and tranquility, of smaller enrollments, when all the teachers knew all the students, and the daily lives of teachers and students were enriched by the experience. Less orthodox in many ways than the younger members of his profession today, he would frequently share with his classes his own interests and hobbies; and many of his students received ex-temporaneous lessons in art, in fishing, in track and field, at the same time that they learned history and economics.

After World War II, Mr. Gregory had more administrative duties combined with his teaching. These never diminished his continuing interest in the classroom, nor altered his conviction that the most honorable of all titles was "teacher". In September 1949, Mr. Gregory's sudden illness on the eve of the re-opening of school thrust Mr. Gregory into the duties of Acting Principal for the entire school year - a responsibility which he discharged with competence and dignity. He continued, thereafter, to serve as Assistant Principal until, in his final years on the faculty, he held the post of counselor for boys - which he had always been, anyway. His brief retirement was marred by deep personal tragedy in the loss of his daughter; but he retained essentially the same philosophical attitude toward life and toward other people.

The town has lost a colorful and strong-minded veteran; his countless former students have lost a respected and venerable friend and teacher; and the gradually thinning ranks of the old Pynchard faculty, a loyal and beloved colleague.

Mrs. Turner Heads Hughes Committee

The Hughes for Senate Committee has announced the appointment of Mrs. Vernon Turner, 63 Burnham rd., as local coordinator of the petition campaign to obtain the 72,514 signatures necessary to place Prof. Stuart Hughes of Harvard on the ballot as an independent candidate for U. S. Senator from Massachusetts this November.

Professor Hughes, 45, is married and the father of two young children; he is also the grandson of Charles Evans Hughes, former Chief Justice of the U. S. Supreme Court and Republican candidate for President. He is a World War II veteran (Lieutenant Colonel in the O.S.S.), spent several years in the State Department as chief of the European Research Division, and is now chairman of the Department of History and Literature at Harvard. He is the author of several books and has been awarded two medals by the Italian government for service to Italy.

The local goal is 500 signatures. Registered voters, regardless of party affiliation, will be asked to sign his nominating petition, the Committee announced, "in the interests of fair play and the American system in which everyone has the chance to run for public office". Persons interested in helping to collect signatures should contact Mrs. Vernon Turner.

Is It ENOUGH?

You probably have fire insurance in an amount you thought would be enough to replace your home if it burned. But how long has it been since you checked that amount against today's high building costs? What you paid then isn't what it would cost you today. We can write the additional insurance you should have right now. You may need it tomorrow.

Over 1,000 At Combined Concert

The Andover Junior High School Musical Clubs Concert and Open House thrilled an audience of over 1,000 last Thursday evening.

Acting Principal William E. Hart extended greetings on behalf of the staff and faculty. The first part of the program was a concert of instrumental music, presented by the School Orchestra, Concert Band and Dance Band.

It was the second part of the program that caused a gasp and thunderous ovation from the audience. Over 700 students in the instrumental and choral groups were formed on the stage. It is believed to have been the most spectacular program ever presented at the Memorial Auditorium.

Mrs. Frank McArdle directed the finale, where the combined Glee Clubs sang, "Now Let Every Tongue Adore Thee", accompanied by the 70-piece orchestra.

Keith Gould and Edward Grigoli directed the choral and instrumental groups respectively. The entire concert was stereophonic taped and will be played at an assembly in June.

The stage was decorated with potted palms and floral baskets. Following the concert, parents toured the building where hundreds of student projects were on display.

Help Along Club
Planning Outing

Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Henderson entertained members of the Help Along Club of the Andover Grange at their home on Argilla rd., Tuesday evening. Eleven members were in attendance.

A business meeting was held and a social hour with refreshments followed.

Plans were made for the annual outing of the club to be held at its next meeting in June.

Second Polio Clinic Scheduled June 19

The second polio clinic - to dispense oral vaccine against Type III polio - will be held June 19, at Central School, from 1:30 to 4:30 p.m.

Mrs. Elizabeth Nadeau, R.N., Board of Health agent, announced the date.

She said the Board is hoping for the same enthusiastic response as was given to the first clinic, when 98 percent of the eligible children were given the vaccine.

The oral type differs from the better-known Salk vaccine, in that a specific dosage must be administered for each of the three types of polio. The clinic May 2 covered Type I polio; the one June 19 will provide immunity against Type III. Type II is considered less dangerous and vaccine will be given next fall against this type.

Mrs. Nadeau stressed that children within the eligible years should have the vaccine, even though they may have had the Salk vaccine recently; and emphasized that the up-coming clinic does not in any way duplicate the purpose of the earlier clinic against Type I polio.

All pre-school children, from three months up to seven years of age, are eligible. If parental consent slips were signed for the first clinic, they need not be processed again.

To avoid confusion at the June 19 clinic, the Board of Health asks that parents with last names from A through K attend between 1:30 and 3 p.m.; those with last names from L through Z should plan on attending from 3 to 4:30.

All children in public and parochial schools, kindergarten and first grade, will receive the vaccine during regular school hours.

March Accepts Maine Position

Lindsay J. March, principal of the High School since 1953, has accepted a guidance counselor's position at the High School in Elliot, Me.

He will leave Andover late this summer.

Mr. March was born in Maine, and taught there for a number of years. He had been principal of Memorial High School, Middleboro, from 1931 through 1952.

A graduate of the University of Maine, he received a Master's degree from Columbia University and did graduate work at the University of Washington, Seattle and at Harvard.

Married, he has a daughter, Mrs. James Q. Miller, wife of a doctor who teaches at the University of Virginia Medical School and a son, Jackson, a forester with a paper company in Tennessee.

In his letter to the School Committee, Mr. March stated that provisions in the retirement law make it wise for him to take this action, at this time.

ENTHUSIASM FOR SIDEWALK BAZAAR

Plans for the activity were advanced at a Board of Trade meeting last Thursday evening. Under discussion are plans to have a public chowder supper Friday night, as was done a year ago; a square dance during the evening; and amusements for the children.

Mr. Thompson suggested that interested organizations make known their interest in taking part, so that the assignment of booth space can be accomplished well in advance of the Bazaar.

Arrangements have been made to block off through traffic at Chestnut st. and at the Square, so that the length of Main st. will be available for the Bazaar, without danger to shoppers.

Cars will be able to get to the parking lots easily, however, and activities are being scheduled that will embrace the whole shopping area up town.

Over 1,000 At Combined Concert

The Andover Junior High School Musical Clubs Concert and Open House thrilled an audience of over 1,000 last Thursday evening.

Acting Principal William E. Hart extended greetings on behalf of the staff and faculty. The first part of the program was a concert of instrumental music, presented by the School Orchestra, Concert Band and Dance Band.

It was the second part of the program that caused a gasp and thunderous ovation from the audience. Over 700 students in the instrumental and choral groups were formed on the stage. It is believed to have been the most spectacular program ever presented at the Memorial Auditorium.

Mrs. Frank McArdle directed the finale, where the combined Glee Clubs sang, "Now Let Every Tongue Adore Thee", accompanied by the 70-piece orchestra.

Keith Gould and Edward Grigoli direct the choral and instrumental groups respectively. The entire concert was stereophonic taped and will be played at an assembly in June.

The stage was decorated with potted palms and floral baskets.

Following the concert, parents toured the building where hundreds of student projects were on display.

Help Along Club Planning Outing

Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Henderson entertained members of the Help Along Club of the Andover Grange at their home on Argilla rd., Tuesday evening. Eleven members were in attendance.

A business meeting was held and a social hour with refreshments followed.

Plans were made for the annual outing of the club to be held at its next meeting in June.

EDITORIAL THOUGHTS

Foot Draggers Unwelcome

About the only agreement we can find, when listening to discussions on Urban Renewal, is that it certainly is controversial.

And then the controversy spills over again, and agreement vanishes. There are many points of view - divergent reasons for supporting or rejecting the proposals; some are highly personal, others are objective.

But hopefully, some time before October and the special town meeting, the valid arguments can be separated from those of less validity, and a sensible solution can be found.

This, it seems to us, is a reasonable goal - the finding of a sensible solution - and our elected and appointed town officials have a real responsibility to work towards this goal.

There is no room, in the debate ahead, for any sort of foot-dragging philosophy. Every official, with a concern for the future of the town, should be hard at work studying the plan and cooperating actively in discussions aimed at common-sense solutions. No official has a right, at this stage of the game, to claim that this isn't his project, and he wants no part of it; none of our municipal officials should give mere lip service to cooperation.

It seems to us that active, whole-hearted cooperation in all governmental areas is a must, if the voters are going to get any sort of guidance from our officials. Those who claim, at some later date, that they weren't consulted, or they weren't asked to participate, will only be creating a diversion . . . they won't be contributing much towards a logical answer.

We don't expect all officials to be of the same opinion, when the studying is completed - but each of the officials owes it to the voters to take an active part in that study now.

Study This One

There has been a suggestion made, during discussions on Urban Renewal, that the town should sell at least a part of the municipal parking area on Main st.

The thinking behind this suggestion goes something like this: the area is one of the best commercial sites in the business zone; metered parking on the front part of the lot is not successful, and all-day parking is easily handled in the rear of the lot; income from the sale of this land would certainly go far towards paying for Urban Renewal costs.

The Shaw property was formerly to be used as a site for a town hall - the plan was defeated at town meeting a number of years ago. Since then, the area has been used for parking - but in fact, the metered section is seldom busy. If Urban Renewal plans are accepted, there will be plenty of parking in the commercial areas - and the need for such a large municipal lot will be diminished greatly.

Perhaps there's merit in the suggestion; shouldn't it be carefully studied now, with a view towards presenting this idea to town meeting with full facts and figures to substantiate the proposal?

Lots Of Talk

For several years now, there has been talk - but only talk - about acquiring land for a fire station in West Andover.

To be sure, the Land Acquisition Committee has been discussing sites; however, nothing specific has been accomplished as far as actually buying a piece of land is concerned.

The growth in West Andover will soon demand action. Already there is reason enough to go forward with plans for this station; must we wait until the growth proves we should have taken action sooner?

It would be logical, in our view, to acquire the property this year, even if construction must be put off until 1963.

The tongue of some people is their sword - and they never allow it to rust.

There's nothing wrong in placing your faith in Providence, but don't expect Providence to do all the hustling.

Some folks tire themselves out kicking about things - so it's impossible for them to accomplish anything in life.

MISS PRISCILLA A. TERRIO
Miss Priscilla Ann Terrio, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond J. Terrio, 905 Nottingham rd., Baltimore, formerly of Andover, is a candidate for graduation from Mount Holyoke College this June. A graduate of Andover High School, Miss Terrio is majoring in French at Mount Holyoke. She has been a member of the Notables, her class singing group for the last four years, serving as leader for the last two. Last year she appeared in the Junior Show and in the Dramatic Club musical production. This year she is song leader for her class.

Abraham A. Ribicoff, Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, will give the commencement address June 3. The Right Rev. James A. Pike, Protestant Episcopal Bishop of California, will deliver the baccalaureate sermon. Mount Holyoke is presently celebrating its 125th anniversary year.

MAY BUILD NEW

must house 1,200, and the conversion would be inadequate for this. The High School is in no danger of overcrowding through 1965, but by 1970, it must be expanded to beyond 1,000.

Under a 6-2-4 system, the Senior High is even now inadequate to take the ninth grade; if expanded right now, the larger building would again be inadequate by 1965. Under existing division of grades, both buildings - Junior and Senior high - need construction between now and 1970; under a 6-2-4 system, the Senior High must be expanded beyond a reasonable point for an addition.

Alternates Offered
The Committee offered these four alternates:
Enlarge both schools by 250-300 each, and maintain the 6-3-3 system. Both will be crowded by 1970, and the solutions at that time may be "awkward", relating to the size of the expansion needed at that time.

Build a second junior high for 5-600, maintaining the 6-3-3 system. This provides capacity for 1970-1975. The High School must be expanded in 1965, under this alternative.

Adopt a 6-2-4 system, and build a new senior High for 5-600 - thus creating two high schools. Termed a feasible approach in relation to solving housing problems, the Committee felt this is not a sound educational approach, nor sensible because of doubling up on each department, etc.

Build a new High School, converting the present structure to Junior High usage, and keep the 6-3-3 system.

In the latter suggestion, the Committee pointed out these advantages - the new High School built in 1965 would be built to handle 1,000, but expandable to 1,400 or more in the 1970's; thus the growing school population would be taken care of for a number of years instead of on a short-term basis. The Junior High problem would be solved, by having the present building with 900 capacity and the present high school, with a 750 capacity.

Either Of Two
The School Committee immediately rejected the ideas of adding on at both schools, and again facing the problem in 1965; they also ruled out the suggested adoption of a 6-2-4 system that calls for two high schools.

Under study, however, is the possibility that the present High School might be expanded to 1,300 or more. If this can be done without creating an architectural monster, or creating future maintenance problems of a serious nature, it might be less expensive than building a new high school.

Supt. Erickson was instructed to talk with Rich and Tucker, the architects for the Shawsheen rd. structure, and find out their thinking on such an addition.

It was generally felt that action must be taken by March, 1963, so that preliminary plans can be available for action in 1964. This would apparently be true, whether the project is an addition to the present High School and the construction of a junior high, or whether the job is one of building a senior high and using the present high school for a second junior high.

Little Stories about Great Hymns Onward Christian Soldiers! Onward Christian soldiers Marching as to war, With the cross of Jesus Going on before! Rev. Baring-Gould said of his writing this stirring hymn, "Whitmonday is a great day for school festivals in Yorkshire. One Whitmonday our school was to join a neighboring village. I wanted the children to sing while marching to this village but could think of nothing suitable, so I resolved to write something myself. Written in great haste, I am afraid some rhymes are faulty. Certainly nothing has surprised me more than its popularity." Rev. Baring-Gould died in 1924 at the ripe age of 90. Courtesy of Lundgren Funeral Home

Church Has Land Option

The Unitarian-Universalist Church of Lawrence has an option on 3 1/2 acres of land off Lowell st., where it is proposed that a new Church and Christian education buildings will be erected.

The Rev. Keith C. Munson, pastor of the Church, confirmed the report, and said it is not expected that actual construction will begin for some time.

The property is located behind the home of Ralph P. Gilman, 242 Lowell st., at Argilla rd. It is proposed that an access to the Church property be available from Lowell st., but there will be less frontage on Lowell st. than would be required under the zoning by-laws. A Board of Appeals decision would be required eventually, it was explained. Approval, Mr. Munson said, must also be obtained from the Mass. Council of Churches, based on that organization's statistical and area studies.

In making a move to Andover, the Unitarian-Universalist Church becomes the second to come here. The Methuen Gospel Chapel has acquired Lowell st. property at Wild Rose dr., where a new structure is planned.

A third Church, Lutheran by denomination, is also beginning here, and plans include the acquisition of property some time in the future for a new church.

What Our Readers Say—

To the Editor of the Townsman:
"Urban Renewal is the biggest issue ever to come before the people of Andover for decision. It involves a complete re-shaping and a possible revitalization of the center of our town. This letter is an attempt to set up some general guide lines which may help your readers arrive at their own decision on this very important matter."
"An oddity about UR is that, although it chiefly involves 100 or so businessmen, the ultimate decision rests not in their hands but in the hands of a completely unpredictable assortment from among the town's 10,000 voters."
"The business people involved are a very diversified group. In addition to merchants, they include bankers, doctors, dentists,

The Problem

"There is an impression around town that the average merchant in the business center is either holding his own in business volume or that he is not keeping pace with the growth of the town. As a result, he is getting an ever-smaller share of a growing market. If this trend is allowed to continue, our central shopping area could eventually stagnate. Such a situation calls for remedial action of some kind, by some one."

"When the town voted for the UR study in 1958, it presumably did so in part because much of the business center had failed to keep abreast of modern merchandising needs. In effect, the voters put the businessmen on notice either to accept large-scale modernization through public action or - if UR is voted down - to modernize piecemeal by private initiative, or face the possibility of creeping business attrition."

"From the merchant's point of view, UR could be the solution to a major marketing problem. If UR is turned down, the problem won't go away."

"As I see it, the businessmen have one primary question regarding UR: Can they operate profitably under the higher costs which UR will impose? One answer is: Not at their present volume of business. But since the economic justification of this vast project is to stimulate business, the answer becomes: Yes, if business increases enough to offset the higher rentals. Whether business so increases - or more - depends not only on a new and spacious environment, but also on the business acumen of the merchants themselves."

"The following arbitrary figures may help illustrate the point. If, for example, rent were to go up from $2 to $4 per foot, a 10 percent increase in volume may cancel out the 100 percent increase in rent. Under such circumstances, the acid test of economic feasibility becomes whether government action plus private ingenuity can quickly develop 10 percent or more business in the completely rejuvenated center of a growing town like Andover. (Unless private resourcefulness supplements public action, it doesn't even deserve to happen.)"

"Our central business people now have three choices - 1. To ignore UR and let the voters decide the matter for them; 2. To study the potential carefully, approve UR and urge favorable town action; 3. Study the situation, disapprove it and urge negative action by the town. The first choice is too unworthy. The second would stand an excellent chance of town approval. And the third could mean that the town may pass UR in spite of the businessmen's objections - to their consternation, if unprepared."

The Public

"From the public's point of view, it is equally necessary to consider this civic improvement in the light of its cost to the town."

There is little doubt but that a new and attractive shopping environment could be an asset to this community, both commercially and aesthetically. It could be a civic improvement to which we could all point with pride. It will incidentally create an improved site for public facilities such as the future town hall.

"But at what cost? The eventual cost to the town will be negligible. Because other levels of government will advance most of the cost and because most of Andover's share would be reimbursed, our net cost in the end would be very small for so formidable a modernization of our central commercial establishment."

"When the public becomes aware of all this, it is my guess that they will favor UR provided there is no wide-spread opposition from the businessmen involved. As I see it, although the businessmen constitute only a small minority of the voters, they can greatly influence a public which wants attractive public improvements, but which does not like to see people get hurt in the process. If this is correct, the key people in this situation are our central businessmen."

Business Leadership

"The need for leadership among our business people is acute. Concerted action is needed to analyze the economic impact of UR on business and on the community at large. The town has every right to know whether or not our central business people look upon UR as the best opportunity they may ever have to put their economic house in order. Not to furnish the voters with a business evaluation leaves a vital vacuum which ill serves the voters of this town."

"Finally, it must be apparent that, to ensure visual success, the entire project must have harmony of design and, to be a commercial success, competition must be regulated and over-all promotion centralized. Such general controls are surest to work in Andover's interests if they are exercised by an over-all group of Andover citizens."
"These areas of central management will test our capacity to work together for the common good, but I am confident we can resolve the sticky problems which are sure to develop."

School Board Again Refuses Plea For Executive Session

The School Committee has once again failed to heed an executive session appeal by its chairman.

Meeting Tuesday night, the Committee first heard Supt. Edward I. Erickson comment that he would like to discuss the principal's position at the high school, which will be vacant, but only in executive session.

Chairman Robert McIntyre then asked the Board to take that action - a motion was made by Member John S. Sullivan but no one seconded it.

Mr. McIntyre told his colleagues he believes they are doing a disservice to their townspeople, and to the children they "profess" to be helping, by not following normal procedures. These, he said, call for a discussion of personnel in executive session.

A number of residents were present as observers, and no one made any effort to leave the meeting when it appeared that the motion would fail. Mr. McIntyre emphasized that occasions do occur when the Committee must talk privately about matters that should not be the subject of community-wide talk.

He also noted that the town counsel has ruled that an executive session should be called by a vote of the Committee - not by the chairman. Thus, he said, although custom has allowed the chairman to call such a session in the past, it now appears that a vote will be needed.

The vacancy at the High School, caused by Principal Lindsay J. March's retirement, will be theoretically be filled by June 30, when Mr. March leaves. Mr. McIntyre pointed out that there are about five weeks left in which to take action, and that this should not be put off. However, the plea went unheeded by his colleagues, who adjourned.

It's Official: We're Growing

How fast is the town growing? Some indication of the speed was given at a Planning Board meeting Monday night, when sites for new schools were under discussion.

Figures presented by the Planning Board indicate there are now 278 approved lots in subdivisions; another 624 lots have been presented in preliminary subdivision plans.

Thus a total of 902 lots are under active discussion, or have already been approved - plus those on street frontage, which require no approval.

The Board felt that four or five new schools will be needed - possibly three in West Andover to one in the southern section.

A 1960 crystal-ball report calls for a population of 40,000 here within 30 years. Related to schools, this means doubling the present four elementary schools; plus doing something about high and junior high structures.

School Committee members attending the session were told that it appears most likely that schools will be needed in greater numbers in the west section. It had previously been suggested that a school be built on the west side of Route 28, about across from Sun Acres, and another in the Salem st. area. This appeared to be less likely, based on the amount of land tied up in the state forest and Ward reservation.

However, the Planning Board itself could not entirely agree on this prediction. And School Board members are also divided on the need for one or two schools in this area.

The Committee reported it already is investigating land near Bellevue rd. and Osgood st., and plans to use town-owned land on Cross st. eventually. But at least two more sites will be needed in that area of the town in time to come.

The Committee explained that, although 11 acres is the minimum requirement for a 20-room school, it is hoped that as much acreage as possible can be obtained. Recreation and expansion of various facilities were sited as reasons.

This philosophy has been the subject of some debate with the Selectmen, who will meet the School Board next Monday night to iron out differences of opinion.

The School Board wants to get 50-plus acres off South Main st., to the rear of the Wildwood rd. development. The Selectmen have expressed concern at taking so much land, as compared to the minimum requirement.

Members of both boards have walked over the area, and will discuss the merits of securing the entire acreage at their joint meeting.

BIDS WILL BE SOUGHT ON JOB

Bids for rough grading and drainage of the area behind the High School should be advertised early in June.

Architect Frank Crimp told the School Committee that alternates are being worked out, in case ledge is found in one part of the area. He was given authority to go ahead with the specifications, and bidding procedures.
