Patriots Given Gala Welcome

Monday night's chicken barbeque - held to welcome the Boston Patriots to town - was an overwhelming success.

Well over 600 hungry, football-happy fans turned out. Some went away still hungry, but with their football appetites somewhat satisfied.

The affair was sponsored by the Andover Board of Trade and Greater Lawrence Chamber of Commerce, as a welcome to Bill Sullivan's American Football League entry.

Sullivan, the club president along with Dom DiMaggio, a member of the Board, Coach Holovak, General Manager Ed McKeever and publicist Gerry Moore thanked their hosts for the party and wishes for a winning season.

Planning Board Hears More About Renewal

TOWNSMAN OFFICE CLOSED THURSDAY

The Townsman office will be closed all day Thursday, July 26, while employees enjoy their annual mid-summer picnic.

The office will re-open Friday morning as usual.

A final report from Planning Board consultants, concerning the entire up-town area, including the Urban Renewal section, was summed up Monday night by E. Jack Schoop of Adams, Howard and Greeley.

Attending the session were, in addition to the Planning Board, members of the Board of Selectmen and several citizens who were attending the Selectmen's meeting at the time.

A written report, with sketches, will be prepared in about a week. The consultants' survey covered more than the Urban Renewal section, but also dealt with that smaller segment of the up-town area.

As reported a week ago, the planning consultants did not agree

Police Continue Accident Probe

Police are continuing their investigation of an accident that occurred Saturday night, at North Main and Stevens sts.

Police Sgt. James R. Lynch said officers Warren Maddox and Richard Aumais are checking details of the accident, with the possibility that at least one person ran away from the scene on foot.

It also was reported that the accident came shortly after an alleged incident in Lawrence, involving youths from Andover and Lawrence.

The local crash sent three persons to the hospital and involved two others.

Charles J. Bova, 17, 204 High st., Lawrence, was operating a car headed south on North Main st., which was in collision with a vehicle driven by James M. Holden, 2 Brechin ter., who was making a left turn from Stevens st. onto North Main.

Anthony Boremi, 19, of Colonial Heights, Lawrence, a passenger in the Bova car, was admitted to the Lawrence General Hospital

Plan Decathlon For Aug. 1-2

A track and field decathlon has been scheduled for Aug. 1 and 2 for all boys using the playground facilities.

High School football Coach Dick Collins is in charge of the events - the first time this activity has been offered during the summer program.

Boys in the following age groups will be eligible: 8-10, 11-12, 13-14, and 15-16.

Events to be contested in all age groups are: 50-yard dash, 100-yard dash, 220 yard run, 440 yard run, shot put, discus, baseball throw, broad jump and high jump. Additionally, the 8-10 age group will compete in a 25-yard dash; the two older groups will compete in the 50-yard low hurdles.

Five events will be run Wednesday afternoon, Aug. 1, at 2:30 and the other five the following day.

Trophies will be awarded to the winner in each age group, while the four place winners will receive ribbons.

Playgrounds Offered Busy Schedule

Colorful and comic entries were featured in the Indian Ridge playground hat show last Friday morning.

Speed Timer Now At Work

The police department, with the aid of an automatic timing device, is checking the speeds of cars on major town streets.

Sgt. James R. Lynch, in explaining that the survey is a continuing activity, noted that speed seems to actually be less on some streets than some observers have believed it to be.

Of 124 cars heading east - towards Andover - on Dascomb rd. Monday morning, in the hour between 7:15 and 8:15, only three were clocked at 41 miles an hour; several were going at 40 and the largest number were in the 30's.

A check on Burnham rd., July 17, between 7:20 and 8:10 a.m., for cars going towards Shawshen, found seven going at excessive speed, out of 65 counted.

Sgt. Lynch said High st. and some other town ways, on which it has been alleged that speeding occurs, will be checked from time to time.

Voter Registration Scheduled In August

Many nomination papers have been filed for certification of signatures, according to Town Clerk Irving O. Piper.

The deadline for filing was Tuesday, at 7 p.m. The Board of Registrars checks the local signatures on the papers.

Mr. Piper said there were many nomination papers for candidates for state office, as well as county and local offices.

Prior to the state primary, scheduled for Sept. 18, the Registrars will hold a series of registration sessions for eligible new voters.

They are scheduled as follows:
Aug. 2 - precinct three, at the Sacred Heart School, 7-9 p.m.
Aug. 7 - precinct four, Grange Hall on Shawshen rd., 7-9 p.m.
Aug. 9 - precinct five, Ballard-ale fire station, 7-9 p.m.
Aug. 14 - precinct six, Peabody House, Phillips st., also 7-9 p.m.

The final registration occurs Aug. 17, at the town hall, from noon to 10 p.m.

Any eligible voter can register at the town clerk's office during the normal work day, or at the special sessions held for the purpose.

Following the primary, the Registrars will again hold sessions.

State Wants More Money To Change Rogers Brook Plans

Outspokenly cautious over entanglements with the state Division of Waterways, the Selectmen have backed away from spending additional funds for more planning by the Duffill Associates, in connection with Rogers Brook.

The state had asked the town for $1,500, half the estimated cost of the consulting engineer's fee to prepare the brook plans for bidding. The letter of request stated that alterations had to be made in the plans because only part of the job is to be done. But the state promised to get the project underway late this year, if the plans could be revised now.

The Selectmen wanted to know, however, how much more needs to be done to plans that have been underway for five years.

And they also wondered whether they might be committing the town to a future course of action - the construction phase - before having a chance to see the plans.

Even a message from Rep. Arthur Williams, to the effect that prompt agreement with the state's request would mean a beginning of the project, was received with caution.

Selectman William Stewart, often a critic of the state Division, demanded that the state justify its request, and explain what "revision" actually means. Other members quickly agreed that paying money to the state now, for more planning, would be unwise.

Although no specific action was taken, the members indicated that

Museum's Lady To Face Surgery

The ailing Transparent Lady from Boston's Museum of Science is on an emergency trip to Cologne, Germany, where she faces inevitable major surgery to correct serious internal problems.

Although no public statement has been made before, the Lady has been suffering from acute abdominal trouble for several weeks, and Museum Director Bradford Washburn and other museum officials expressed grave concern over the outcome of her surgery.

Designed at Deutsches Gesundheits Museum in Cologne, West Germany, the Transparent Lady is a Plexiglas-skinned model that gives dramatic visual explanation of human physiology by telling how her body functions as each of her internal organs is illuminated. She has been demonstrated to nearly three-quarters of a million visitors in over 14,000 performances at Science Park since she arrived in Boston in 1955, a gift of the Massachusetts Heart Association.

First signs of internal difficulties began to appear early last spring and have intensified rapidly in the last month. At present, her gall bladder and heart both light up simultaneously while she is describing her insides. Other organs also flicker uncontrollably.

No practical way has been found here to make an invisible incision in her transparent (but extremely tough) plastic abdomen in order to get at the source of trouble.

She was personally delivered to the airport in a huge packing case by experts from the Boston museum who wanted to be certain that she was firmly and safely lashed into place for the long flight to Germany - her fourth trip across the Atlantic by air.

Representatives of the Deutsches Gesundheits Museum will make a thorough investigation to determine the full extent of her ailment.

Surgery of some sort is certain, and it is feared that she will not be able to return to Boston for about two months.

Night Marauders March On; Your Trees, Shrubs Suffer

The night marauders are out in force this summer - in the garden, around the house, in the trees and shrubs.

They are nocturnal insects. They chew leaves by night and hide by day, usually at the base of plants and trees, according to Edward J. Duda, a research expert.

Outdoor lights can lure these harmful pests. That is why foundation planting and trees around a home, in a courtyard, a churchyard or near a shopping center so often show leaf injury when no visible insect is present during the day.

One of the worst night-shift pests is the Asiatic beetle, a cinnamon-colored second cousin of the Japanese beetle. It chews irregular holes, usually in leaf margins. Its feeding range is wide; a variety of trees, laurel, rhododendron, dahlia, aster, chrysanthemum. In the grub stage it harms turf.

Another nocturnal damager of plants is the clumsy, big, brown June bug. A weevil operating in darkness skeletonizes pin oak leaves. The violet sawfly perforates leaves of pansies and violets. A host of cutworms shear off plants or feed on fruit, leaves and buds of trees, shrubs and vines at night. And slugs are most injurious to plants just before dawn.

Night pests can be readily controlled. Insecticides having a long residual effect sprayed during the day will suffice; One application in mid-July, a second in mid-August.

Home loans are are our business

Some lending institutions will lend on anything — from a billy goat to a haystack. Loans on homes are, with some of them, almost a side line.

But with us, home mortgage loans are IT. We eat, sleep and dream home loans.

So we can give you exactly the kind of home loan you want, on terms to fit your ability to pay, at reasonable interest rates, and with low initial costs.

And we allow you the privilege of paying off some of your principal when you wish, over and above your regular monthly payments. This gives you the chance to reduce your total interest costs decidedly.

HONORED FOR 50 YEARS of service to the Ludlow Corporation! Augustine P. Sullivan, second from left, was recently honored by the Ludlow Corporation for 50 years of service. He began with the old Smith and Dove Co., which became part of the Ludlow Corp. Also honored for 20 years of service were Gerald G. Row, left and Albert J. Thiel, right. Standing at Mr. Sullivan's left is company president Austin B. Mason.

agencies. She has found the experience most rewarding.

She is Big Sister of Joan Rush, a Roxbury girl, and during their association, Joan has learned to enjoy good music, to cook, and to be at ease with people. She served as a life guard at the YWCA and was in AAU competitions last year. She has improved her school work and is now an excellent student at St. Anne's School in Arlington. She is serving as a volunteer at the New England Medical Center.

Mrs. Gibson, who says "It's a great privilege to help a child", is the former Dorothy Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Miller, 43 Bannister rd. She attended Andover schools and was graduated from Punchard High School in 1941 and Boston University in 1947.

Mrs. Gibson has held positions as secretary to Frederick Dumaine and as a member of the secretarial staff at Boston University. She was connected with the mortgage department of a Roxbury bank and did social work at the Newton-Wellesley Hospital.

BOARD HEARS ABOUT RENEWAL

in all respects with the Urban Renewal planners. Of prime importance, in the area of disagreement, seems to be the location of the town hall, and the entire subject of parking.

The plan discussed Monday night would have the town hall on the present Musgrove Building-Post Office ave. site instead of the Square and Compass Club site.

Parking - proposed as a private undertaking under Urban Renewal - would become at least semi-public under the alternative proposals. A basis for this change is the difficulty over providing space, with each building, for the required parking area. The ratio could more easily be maintained on an overall, single developer basis, it was noted.

Other features of the planning board's review include the straightening of Essex st., on the other side of the Library from its present location, so that a straight line is formed by Essex and Elm st. This - not in the Urban Renewal area - would be a desirable move, according to the planners, and members of the Planning Board.

Mrs. Virginia Hammond, commenting Tuesday on the report, explained that the Planning Board felt the need of finding out how Urban Renewal would fit in with an over-all plan for the center of the town. Also needed, she continued, is a clear idea of construction requirements within the area, how these would blend and what sort of shopping center would result.

Also of interest is the plan now being prepared for the Co-Op. According to Mrs. Dudley Fitts, president of the Co-Op, the plan will be ready by mid-August.

In all, three consulting firms are thus at work on the up-town area.

It is generally conceded that the three firms are working cooperatively to a degree, exchanging information and opinions on the problems of the area.

about Great Hymns
I Am Thine, O Lord
*I am Thine, O Lord, I have heard Thy voice
And it told Thy love for me;
But I long to rise in the arms of faith
And be closer drawn to Thee.*

A blind woman was the most prolific and perhaps the most popular writer of Sunday School hymns that America has ever produced. Fannie Crosby was born in 1820 and tragically lost her sight when only six weeks old. At 15 she entered the Institution for the Blind in New York City, remained 7 years as a pupil and 11 as a teacher. In all she wrote the extraordinary number of 6,000 hymns.

Sullivan Gets 50-Year Pin

On the occasion of its annual outing at Stow Acres Country Club recently, Austin B. Mason, president of Ludlow Corporation, presented a 50-year service award to Augustine P. Sullivan, 34 Essex st. lauding his long years of uninterrupted devotion, dependability and service.

Sullivan joined the Smith and Dove Mfg. Co. June 30, 1912 and shortly rose to the position of paymaster. The Smith and Dove concern became a part of the Ludlow organization in 1928, since which time Mr. Sullivan has been manager of the Order and Billing Departments of the Company. He is a graduate of Lawrence Business Academy and Bentley School of Accounting.

He was married Nov. 19, 1928 to the former Mary J. Picard of Andover. They have four children and six grandchildren and continue to make Andover their home. Mr. Sullivan has been usher at St. Augustine's Church for the past 44 years, is active in the Knights of Columbus, serving two terms as Grand Knight and is a former president of the Holy Name Society.

The accompanying photograph shows him in company with President Mason and two of his associates, Gerald G. Row of Sudbury and Albert J. Thiel of Wellesley, who were given awards on the same occasion, each for 20 years of active service in the Ludlow organization.

Fun Insurance

Just remember, while traveling, to:

- eat simple foods in small quantities at more frequent intervals
- avoid alcoholic beverages
- maintain adequate ventilation
- avoid becoming over-tired
- do your reading on terra firma and keep your eyes off the moving horizon
- choose a seat in the most stable section of train, bus, ship or car.

Modern transportation puts seven league boots on today's vacationers. From supersonic plane to easy-driving family car, the accent is on speed and convenience. Travel time is pared to new lows;

vacation time counts for more. Developments in medical research take the trial out of travel, too. Previously, most families had at least one member whose bouts with motion sickness took the gloss off vacation fun. To the victim of nausea, giddiness and weakness, vacation trips were more a nightmare than a joy ride.

A new medication has been developed to combat these unpleasant symptoms for as long as 24 hours at a time. Raspberry flavored Bonadette tablets are acceptable even to medicine-shy children.

With an emergency supply of a good motion sickness remedy and a few sensible precautions, every family can travel far, fast and have fun this summer.

Council Air Tests Popular

"Delightful, comfortable trip - with a feeling of safety, and the plane has all the features of a large one. Wish all lines were like this."

These quotations comprise a verbal montage of the written comments by passengers using The New England Council's one-month test of air feeder line service in northern New England. From June 1-30 the New England Feeder Service operated several round-trips daily between Boston, Concord, Fryeburg, Maine, North Conway, New Hampshire, Berlin and Whitefield, New Hampshire.

Crocker Snow, New England Council Aviation Committee Chairman and Director of Aeronautics for the State of Massachusetts, today reviewed the "third level carrier" experiment, which was established to test a theory originally set forth in the Council's much-discussed Regional Airport Plan published last year.

"Essentially," Snow said, "the New England Feeder Service was set up to find out whether there would be customers for a scheduled feeder operation; whether those customers would accept small aircraft; and what operating and administrative problems there might be."

"That a private operator, the National Executive Flight Service, saw fit to take over the operation from the Council on July 1 is adequate proof of acceptance, demand and feasibility. It is exactly what we had hoped for," said Snow.

He outlined NEC conclusions which will be set forth in detail at the Civil Aeronautic Board's New England Regional Airport Hearing in Boston September 17.

There were seven conclusions, as follows: 1) there is a substantial demand for this type of service; 2) the majority of passengers were travelling on business; 3) there is no objection to a small airplane - in fact, the opposite was often true; 4) a fare slightly higher than regular airline fares is acceptable; 5) single pilot operation of this type of aircraft, even under instrument conditions (as especially authorized in this case by the Federal Aviation Agency) was no problem whatever and constituted no breach of the highest standards of safety; 6) certain technical, communications, and ground service, while available at small airports, leave room for improvement; 7) star route air mail contracts would very likely provide adequate revenue, along with passenger traffic, to make such a feeder line profitable on a year-round basis, but community help in providing terminal and promotional services would be a must.

Snow said 92% of the scheduled flights for the month were completed.

Cooperating in the operation of the New England Feeder Service, established by The New England Council, were the Aeronautics Commissions of Maine, New Hampshire and Massachusetts.

The Aero Commander Company of Bethany, Oklahoma, donated seven-passenger, twin-engine planes for the experiment, and the National Executive Flight Service provided the pilots.

Hearing Aug. 13 On Sub-Division

The Planning Board has scheduled a hearing for Aug. 13, at 8:15 in town hall, on a sub-division off Morton st.

Oscar Hoehn of Methuen has submitted the plan, prepared by the Brasseur Associates. It contains five lots, plus two additional lots on street frontage that do not require approval. The area is surrounded on three sides by Phillips Academy, and is perhaps better known as the Campopiano sub-division.

vacation time counts for more. Developments in medical research take the trial out of travel, too. Previously, most families had at least one member whose bouts with motion sickness took the gloss off vacation fun. To the victim of nausea, giddiness and weakness, vacation trips were more a nightmare than a joy ride.

A new medication has been developed to combat these unpleasant symptoms for as long as 24 hours at a time. Raspberry flavored Bonadette tablets are acceptable even to medicine-shy children.

With an emergency supply of a good motion sickness remedy and a few sensible precautions, every family can travel far, fast and have fun this summer.

EDITORIAL THOUGHTS

A Big Gain

Anyone who has spent a summer of two in Washington, D. C., or its environs knows how irritating the weather there can be. Air currents, which, for the want of a better word can be called "delilish", make life almost unbearable. No wonder the law makers want to call a halt and get off to cooler climes.

With all this in mind, and knowing that the hearing rooms on Capitol Hill are air conditioned, it's pretty refreshing to meditate on the repartee which went on there the other day between Astronaut John Glenn and members of a House Space subcommittee.

The solons were hearing testimony on the feasibility of sending women into space. Seems there is a wealthy bachelor House member who is pressing for the admission of women into the Space program. He's received a lot of support, especially from the distaff side.

Here, now, is how some of the conversation went.

"Why wouldn't a woman be a good companion on a space trip?" inquired Rep. James Fulton, the well-to-do representative from Pennsylvania, in pushing his cause.

"I'm not looking for a good companion," replied Glenn, "If we can find a woman anywhere who can demonstrate she has better qualifications than we have, we'll welcome aboard with open arms."

When the jam-packed hearing room burst into laughter, Glenn's ruddy face blushed crimson. With a big grin, he pleaded: "For the purpose of my going home this afternoon, I think that should be stricken from the record."

Even in sultry Washington, there are times when a fellow can be real cool.

With Open Arms

Walking along Main st. one of these sunny mornings, a person might get the idea he was close to the Chicago stockyards, there's that much beef around.

No need for alarm. The big beefers are just a few of the behemoths of the Boston Patriot's out to get a morning paper.

The big fellows are working out in pre-season training at Phillips Academy. Their presence here has brought a lot of good publicity to Andover.

Since the club is making its start in a top bracket community, here's our wish that the Patriots finish at the top of the American Football League about the time Andover is feeling the first chill of winter.

Down the Years with The Townsman

50 Years Ago - July, 1912

A number of local Boy Scouts of the Eagle Patrol enjoyed a trip on the Scout ship Pioneer over the weekend.

A successful field day was held by the Cricket Club. There were races of all kinds, a football game, tog-of-war and an interesting gymnastics exhibit. In charge were E. Anderson, H. Ross, W. Hyde, W. Rae, C. Fettes, George Petrie, James B. Callum, William Cunningham, Walter S. Rhodes and George A. Christie, J. E. Schofield refereed the football game.

Converse Parker of Ballardvale was injured quite seriously while using his mowing machine. The horses became frightened, bolted and threw Parker from the seat.

Dr. and Mrs. C. W. Scott have sailed for Europe where they will spend the summer months.

Mrs. M. E. Todd and Miss Edna Todd have gone to Montreal. There they will join Mrs. Todd's son and family for a trip to St. John's, Newfoundland, by steamer.

25 Years Ago - July, 1937

The Andover Townsman joined the old timers in the newspaper world when it received "The American Press" Half-Century club certificate for having published continuously for 50 years. The effective date of the citation is October 15.

A new 500 gallon pumper for the Andover Fire Department is on its way here, according to information sent to Chief Charles Emerson. The apparatus is coming from Elmira, N. Y. and will be put in service at the Central station to replace Combination 2, which will be sent to Ballardvale.

Work on the Bradlee school oil heating plant will be completed in a week. Work is also going on during the summer at the Shawshen school.

The James E. Greeley baseball team has arranged a schedule of games to be played at the playground. Earl Urban is managing the club.

Rep. Thomas J. Lane has asked the Eastern Mass. St. Rwy. Co. to remove the abandoned street car tracks on North Main st. as the result of a serious accident caused by a car skidding on the rails.

10 Years Ago - July, 1952

New pipe for the construction of the final link in the 16 inch water line system from Hagggett's Pond which began in 1945 has arrived. An appropriation of $55,000 was made to install the 4480 feet from the end of Phillips st. to the Bancroft rd. pumping station.

A happy group of 400 boys and girls from the town's five playgrounds enjoyed the annual outing at Canobie Lake Park.

On July 15, a new record for water consumption was made when a total of 3,745,000 gallons was used. The high consumption is due to the irrigation of farmlands in West Andover and the operation of lawn sprinklers. The heat spell has been one of the longest in years.

Wilfred R. Svenson of the Andover Sportsman's Club has been elected president of the Essex County League of Sportsman's Clubs, Inc., at a meeting in Ipswich. The league is made up of 22 clubs.

On Vacation

Mrs. Gertrude Hart of the staff is enjoying her annual vacation.

Great Books

Anyone interested in the autumn opening of the Great Books Discussion group may wish to read the book selected for the first discussion, Tuesday evening, Oct. 2, at 7:30 o'clock. The reading is Sir Thomas Browne's "Religio Medici" and a few copies are available at the library. Members of former years will recall that this is to be found in their copies of "The Consolation of Philosophy". Anyone wishing more information about the group that meets at the library every other Tuesday is invited to ask at the main desk.

In Little Bundles

You remember the old saying "Good things come in little bundles" and it more than proves itself to those who work with printed material. At the library the "little bundle" might well be one of the many pamphlets that are constantly being purchased and processed. Because most pamphlet writers are very well informed, but too involved to take time to write complete books on their subjects, they put down the main facts in capsule form while it is still newsworthy.

The library has kept up its purchases of pamphlets, and offers them to readers as introductory or supplementary reading. Processing has been cut to a minimum and a separate catalog, arranged by subject, includes all materials arranged under broad headings. A quick glance at the headings of the most recently purchased lot shows these subjects: adoption, Africa, agriculture, automobile drivers, Burma, business, the Colombo plan, communism, cranberries, disarmament, economic assistance, educational measurement, forests and forestry, heart, Libya, Miquelon, nuclear test ban, nutrition, poultry, safety education schools, science, taxation, teachers salaries, termites, U. S. Census, veterans, Vietnam. Many of the pamphlets have originated in various government departments, such as the Children's Bureau, Committee on Un-American Activities, Arms Control Agency, Joint Economic Committee. Some are free, others run from five cents to a dollar or more, but all fill their place in the library's expanding information service.

Books and Vacations

Maybe you are one of the lucky ones who still look forward to those vacation days in August. If so, don't forget to take along an armload of good reading from your library. Books over a year old that are not in special demand may be taken out on vacation loan, to become due September 15. Even the new titles are stamped for three weeks now, so that you could take an all-new armload and have them safely back if you plan to be away only that long. If you have reserves listed, and do not wish them to come during your absence, ask someone at the desk to try to hold them back until the date of your return. Remember, take books along with you! The shortest vacation could have a rainy day or a lonely evening!

Far up in the North Country, in the waters of northern Canada and Alaska, lives a truly noble fish. It will live only in the purest, coldest, clearest water, usually in streams, and while it doesn't get very big in size, it has the heart of a tiger.

I'm speaking of the Arctic grayling, Thymallus arcticus, one of the most beautiful fish in the world. With its blue-bronze head, back of purple and blue that blends into a silver on the sides, and dorsal fin of light greenish hue it is a striking sight.

And when it tears into a fly it does so with an abandon that brings joy to the heart of any fisherman. Got a chance for some grayling fishing last summer, hitting the McKinley River where it flows into Great Slave Lake, in Canada's Northwest Territories.

We reved up our Merc 250 and ran from the fishing camp to where the river pours its bounty into the lake, then parked our boat and went ahead on foot, climbing over low brush and hundreds of rocks, tumbled about as if somebody's marble sack had broken.

The deep holes in the river were full of grayling, rough, tough, sonsofguns that were extremely reluctant to leave

What Our Readers Say—

To the Editor of the Townsman: "Capitol Comment", the column in The Townsman by Rep. B. Morse, puts the Representative in the position of missing a great opportunity of defending both the Constitution and the Court, I refer to his comments on the Prayer Decision by the Supreme Court in July 12 issue.

"The United States is under Liberty, hence the Court took the opportunity to perform a valuable service, a service which the Constitution had come to need. Being under Liberty, we then have, among other things, the right to be wrong, the right to be different, the right to be unequal, the right to any religion, or no religion, etc. And that right is a more serious and valuable right than such a matter as religious education. Consequently, the impeccable reply of any member of government concerning the Court's decision is this: 'The United States is Under Liberty'."

"Accordingly, Massachusetts, as well as other units of government, should consider opening their school day, as well as closing it, by reading the Preamble to the Federal Constitution. It declares that the United States wishes to achieve: "... the Blessings of Liberty to ourselves and our Posterity..." It also names the means by which government shall seek that aspiration. Nowhere does it limit itself to God, or supernatural religion. They are not mentioned.

"Those churchmen who complain that the Court gives too much weight to the rights of minorities should learn an elementary Christian precept. The Founder of Christianity made the point by telling a story of a lost sheep. The vast majority, all 99 of them, were left to fend for themselves while the Master devoted all his efforts to the needs of the single sheep. Accordingly, the Court continues to be a shining, example of how to implement that monumental precept. It's hoped that Rep. Morse will give public recognition to this great quality of the Court in this decision and to the Constitution which has established Liberty for all men without regard to any other thing."

their Arctic home. We took them on light flyrods, casting Black Gnats to the upstream end of the pools, then letting the flies roll with the current giving them a slight twitch, ever so often. To tell you the truth, grayling were fighting each other for a chance to snap up our flies.

We saved about a dozen for a shore lunch and released the others as we took them, silvery-blue beauties that never stopped fighting, from the strike to the net.

And when fried, about an hour later, and eaten with fried potatoes and a can of cold beans, they were delicious. So good, in fact, that four of us ate a dozen grayling, and wished we had saved a few more.

ATTENDED SEMINAR

Commander Alexander Robins, USNR, 78 Salem st., attended a Naval Reserve Officers' seminar at the Naval War College, Newport, R. I., which ended July 21.

The strategy and tactics seminar is conducted for officers selected from throughout the United States for the special instructors' training.

Upon completion of the military planning course at the Navy's highest educational institution, officers are qualified to teach the course to other officers in their own Naval Districts.

The course is part of the Naval Reserve active duty training program. The officers return to their homes at the end of the period, ready for recall in the event of a national emergency.

Commander Robins is employed by Waltham-AGCO at Waltham. Married and the father of two children, he is a member of Reserve Unit 1-4. He is a graduate of Bucknell University.

What Our Readers Say—

To the Editor of the Townsman: "Capitol Comment", the column in The Townsman by Rep. B. Morse, puts the Representative in the position of missing a great opportunity of defending both the Constitution and the Court. I refer to his comments on the Prayer decision by the Supreme Court in July 12 issue.

"The United States is under Liberty, hence the Court took the opportunity to perform a valuable service, a service which the Constitution had come to need. Being under Liberty, we then have, among other things, the right to be wrong, the right to be different, the right to be unequal, the right to any religion, or no religion, etc. And that right is a more serious and valuable right than such a matter as religious education. Consequently, the impeccable reply of any member of government concerning the Court's decision is this: 'The United States is Under Liberty'."

"Accordingly, Massachusetts, as well as other units of government, should consider opening their school day, as well as closing it, by reading the Preamble to the Federal Constitution. It declares what the United States wishes to achieve: '... the Blessings of Liberty to ourselves and our Posterity...' It also names the means by which government shall seek that aspiration. Nowhere does it limit itself to God, or supernatural religion. They are not mentioned.

"Those churchmen who complain that the Court gives too much weight to the rights of minorities should learn an elementary Christian precept. The Founder of Christianity made the point by telling a story of a lost sheep. The vast majority, all 99 of them, were left to fend for themselves while the Master devoted all his efforts to the needs of the single sheep. Accordingly, the Court continues to be a shining, example of how to implement that monumental precept. It's hoped that Rep. Morse will give public recognition to this great quality of the Court in this decision and to the Constitution which has established Liberty for all men without regard to any other thing."

their Arctic home. We took them on light flyrods, casting Black Gnats to the upstream end of the pools, then letting the flies roll with the current, giving them a slight twitch ever so often. To tell you the truth, grayling were fighting each other for a chance to snap up our flies.

We saved about a dozen for a shore lunch and released the others as we took them, silvery-blue beauties that never stopped fighting, from the strike to the net.

And when fried, about an hour later, and eaten with fried potatoes and a can of cold beans, they were delicious. So good, in fact, that four of us ate a dozen grayling, and wished we had saved a few more.

ATTENDED SEMINAR

Commander Alexander Robins, USNR, 78 Salem st., attended a Naval Reserve Officers' seminar at the Naval War College, Newport, R. I., which ended July 21.

The strategy and tactics seminar is conducted for officers selected from throughout the United States for the special instructors' training.

Upon completion of the military planning course at the Navy's highest educational institution, officers are qualified to teach the course to other officers in their own Naval Districts.

The course is part of the Naval Reserve active duty training program. The officers return to their homes at the end of the period, ready for recall in the event of a national emergency.

Commander Robins is employed by Waltham-AGCO at Waltham. Married and the father of two children, he is a member of Reserve Unit 1-4. He is a graduate of Bucknell University.

Experience teaches a man to use reason as a guide, but principle is his safeguard.

U.S. Savings Bonds Are Flood, Fire, Tornado Proof

The residents of northwestern Wisconsin will remember the date of June 3, 1958, for the rest of their lives. That was the time of the tornadoes—when three furious funnels slashed across five counties within two hours, leaving in their wake 27 dead, more than a hundred severely injured, and several thousand hurt. Sixty-seven farmsteads were wiped out, and most of the buildings demolished and livestock killed and crippled on another 432 farms.

For many of the thrifty, hard-working natives who lived in the path of the tornadoes, the work of a lifetime was whipped away in a matter of seconds. But in all of the ten millions of dollars' worth of property lost, U.S. Savings Bonds proved to be the indestructible investment that contributed immensely in helping victims get back on their feet and pick up the threads of their lives again.

For despite the fact that many of what these good farm folk still called "War Bonds" were destroyed or lost in nature's moment of supreme anger, every one was turned into needed cash without a day of needless delay.

"Absolutely indestructible," says the Treasury Department of U.S. Savings Bonds, and that is a promise that has been kept for the millions or more bonds that have been lost, destroyed, mutilated or stolen since President Roosevelt bought the first Series E Bond in 1941.

It was a promise kept to those Wisconsin farmers whose bonds were destroyed or lost in the storm. Some of the bonds were carried as far as a hundred miles, found, and returned through banks or the police. A number of families who lost the head of the house in the tornadoes, found to their relief that their U.S. Savings Bonds were the most liquid of all assets. The availability of Savings Bonds for redemption made it possible for owners to get along during their troubled times.

This same story, usually on a less tragic scale, is heard daily throughout the nation. Missing bonds bring 500 letters a day to the Treasury Department. Although there are approximately 2 billion records, the storage of these files is not an unwieldy job because of the use of microfilm.

U.S. Savings Bonds have been used to line a bird cage—in error, the sheepish owner informed Treasury officials—and they have been cached in electric toasters, roasters, waffle irons, ovens, and refrigerators. They have been baked, soaked, frozen, burned, boiled, chewed to bits by dogs, and shredded into charming designs by the artistic children of distraught parents for Christmas tree decorations. And the end result is always the same: replacement by the Treasury Department with crisp new bonds.

Bonds have been torn to shreds by an irate wife who, not realizing the indestructibility of the investment, sought this means to avenge herself for some wrongdoing—real or imagined—on the part of her bewildered spouse. They have been stolen and sometimes paid on forged requests for payment. But even here the rightful owner is protected.

Some years ago, a working man with a restless disposition asked a restaurant owner acquaintance in Pittsburgh to keep his Savings Bonds in the restaurant safe for him. Then he left town to seek another job. Ten years later the wandering workman returned to claim his bonds, only to have the restaurant owner blandly deny ever having been given the bonds. The bereft bond-owner reported to the Treasury Department what had happened and sure enough, records showed that the bonds had been cashed. The Secret Service took over and established that the owner's name had been forged. The workman had his bonds replaced—and with ten years' interest.

It's possible for the Treasury to replace your bonds without any evidence on your part, should this become necessary. However, you'll make things a lot easier for all, if you'll keep in a safe place a complete list of your bonds—with type, serial number, and date of issue.

Today, many millions of Americans continue to invest over four and one-half billion dollars a year in U.S. Savings Bonds—continuing proof of an investment that has been shown many times over to be "absolutely indestructible."

Inc., the consultant engineers who made the preliminary plans for this project, to make the necessary revisions, subject to the provision that the Town of Andover pay 50% of the costs of such work. Would you kindly therefore send into this office at your earliest convenience a town check made out to the Commonwealth of Massachusetts in the amount of $1,500 so that we may proceed with this phase of the work immediately. If the cost of the work is less than $3,000 the town will be credited with 50% of the difference between this sum and the actual cost, to be applied to its share of the construction costs of this project.

"We will make every effort to expedite this project and plan to have the work under construction late this year.

"Your early reply will be appreciated."

investigation of the request would be undertaken in due time, and that any decision later would be based on the need for revisions, clearly spelled out by the state. The text of the state's letter follows:

"Reference is made to the proposed first section of the above project, such section to start at the Shawsheen River and extend to a point in the vicinity of Main st. This portion of the work is estimated to cost $250,000, which includes all engineering charges exclusive of survey costs.

"As you know, we have had prepared preliminary plans and specifications for a project starting at the Shawsheen River and extending upstream a distance of approximately 6,600 feet. The construction costs of this overall project has been estimated to cost $300,000. Due to a limitation of available funds, the Division at this time is proceeding with the preliminary work necessary to undertake the first phase of the entire project as previously described. Such preliminary work will require a revision of our preliminary plans and specifications, made for the entire project, to accommodate and include only that construction work required for the smaller project. "Due to an acute engineering personnel shortage within the Division at the present time, it will be necessary to have the engineering revision work done by an outside consultant engineering firm. It is estimated that the cost of this plan and specification revision work will cost not less than $2,000 nor more than $3,000.

"I am pleased to advise you that our Board of Commissioners voted on July 17, 1962 to enter into a contract with Duffill Assoc.,

PETUNIA COLORS

There are three pronounced color trends in those popular annuals, petunias. The first is toward bright colors, like those in varieties Comanche, Tango, Fire Dance, Red Satin and Scarlet Lustre.

The second is toward bi-color or variegated petunias. This trend started about 1956 with the introduction of the variety Crusader which has flowers of rose-red and white. Since then such varieties as Satellite, Glitters, Comet, Polaris and Calypso have been extremely popular.

Third is the trend toward white flowered petunias. This may be because people like the bright colors in the varieties mentioned above with white, thus achieving strong contrast which accents the parts of the garden planted with petunias.

Another possible reason for the desirability of white petunias is that people use their gardens as outdoor living rooms and often sit in or near them at night when white flowers are most needed and show to best advantage.

Whatever the reasons, these are the trends. If you wish to pursue them, you'll find exact color descriptions of the varieties named in your favorite seed catalog or on the seed packet in the rack at your favorite seed store.

Pollard Seeks Primary Support

SAMUEL S. POLLARD
Samuel S. Pollard, twice mayor and long-time city councilor of Lowell, has declared his intention of becoming a candidate for the congressional seat in the newly-formed Fifth Congressional District.

Democrat Pollard will seek his party's nomination in September for the right to oppose the Republican nominee in the new Fifth Congressional District, which includes the democratic strongholds of Lowell, Lawrence and Woburn.

Educated in the Immaculate Conception School, Lowell High School and Suffolk University, Pollard earned his political spurs as a young man, fresh from World War II in which he was wounded twice during the European campaign. He served 12 years in the Lowell City Council and is the only man elected to two terms as mayor in recent years.

A member of the Knights of Columbus, American Legion, Veteran of Foreign Wars, Disabled American Veterans, a former trustee of Lowell Technological Institute, and director of the Lowell United Fund, Pollard is a honorary life-time member of the Massachusetts Pharmaceutical Travelling Men's Association and was singularly honored as a honorary member of the Oblates of Mary Immaculate for his untiring efforts on behalf of the oblate congregation of priests.

A former vice-president of the Massachusetts Mayor's Association, Pollard is married and the father of three children.

PETUNIA COLORS

There are three pronounced color trends in those popular annuals, petunias. The first is toward bright colors, like those in varieties Comanche, Tango, Fire Dance, Red Satin and Scarlet Lustre.

The second is toward bi-color or variegated petunias. This trend started about 1956 with the introduction of the variety Crusader which has flowers of rose-red and white. Since then such varieties as Satellite, Glitters, Comet, Polaris and Calypso have been extremely popular.

Third is the trend toward white flowered petunias. This may be because people like the bright colors in the varieties mentioned above with white, thus achieving strong contrast which accents the parts of the garden planted with petunias.

Another possible reason for the desirability of white petunias is that people use their gardens as outdoor living rooms and often sit in or near them at night when white flowers are most needed and show to best advantage.

Whatever the reasons, these are the trends. If you wish to pursue them, you'll find exact color descriptions of the varieties named in your favorite seed catalog or on the seed packet in the rack at your favorite seed store.

LOANS for HIGHER EDUCATION

NOW AVAILABLE AT
ANDOVER SAVINGS BANK

Under a new law recently enacted by our State Legislature, it is now possible for us to grant loans to qualified students who are in need of financial help to meet the costs of higher education.

Loans made under the HELP program, (Higher Education Loan Plan) are guaranteed in part by the Massachusetts Higher Education Corporation, organized and chartered in 1956 for the worthy purpose of helping young men and women who have started a program of higher education to complete their academic careers.

WHO IS ELIGIBLE?

Any resident of Massachusetts who is enrolled as a full time day student or cooperative plan student and is in satisfactory standing at an approved educational institution, is eligible. Such students must pursue a program of higher education and have satisfactorily completed the requirements of the first academic year.

If you are eligible and need a Help Loan, drop in at the office which is most convenient for you and fill out an application.

Disasters Won't Destroy Bonds

To you, your accumulation of records gathered over the years may seem immense, but when compared to the U.S. Treasury Department's Bond record system, it's like one raindrop in a hurricane.

For with millions of Americans holding U.S. Savings Bonds, the filing system run by the Department is the second largest in the world—with approximately 90 million Savings Bond sales handled annually.

Amazingly, it's all accomplished safely and accurately to provide you—the bond holder—with the best

VERSATILE CELOSIAS

You'll have to look sharp to find the man behind this one huge plant of celosia Pampas Plume. It takes only a few of these flowers to make your garden brilliant with bloom.

It hardly seems possible, when you look first at a tight "cockscomb" of a flower and then at a tall, stately, plummy bloom, that the two can be related, but nevertheless, both are celosias. There are, in addition, dwarf cockscombs and dwarf plumed types, to make it easy for you to have just what you'd like in your garden.

Tiniest are the extra dwarf cockscombs, which come in mixed colors only and grow but 8 inches high. These make a charming and unusual edging for a flower bed.

Lilliput or dwarf feathered celosias include Fire Feather with 12 inch fluffy spikes of fiery crimson and equally brilliant Orange Feather which grows only 10 inches high. There is also a Golden Feather with deep yellow flowers. The three colors used together make a color symphony that's hard to beat. Use them together in bed or border.

In the crested cockscomb class is a former All-America Selections winner, Toreador. This has lustrous red flower heads with scarlet highlights, grows about 20 inches in height and is uniform, with all heads at about the same height. Leaf color is light green, which forms a perfect contrast to the bright flowers.

Empress is another crested cockscomb, quite different in coloring. This has deep bronzy foliage and huge "combs" of dark crimson-purple. It grows only 10 inches tall.

These two varieties are flowers to show off against a plain background of a fence or, perhaps, evergreens.

The big fellows, among celosias, are the giant plumed or the tall feathered varieties. Forest Fire with brilliant scarlet plumes waving over bronze-maroon foliage, Gold Fleece with shimmering golden plumes over green leaves, Pampas Plume which may have bright bronze, copper, gold, red, deep crimson or scarlet feathery flowers all belong to this classification. So, too, do Flaming Fire with orange-scarlet, blooms and Pride of Castle Gold with mixed colors of yellow, scarlet, crimson and orange-red.

All of these tall celosias grow between two and a half and three feet high; bloom from mid-summer until frost. Plan to use them in the background of bed or border.

Even after frost, celosias can bloom inside your house, for both the cockscomb and the plumed type are easy to dry. Pick the flowers when they are fully colored, strip the leaves from the stems, and hang them upside down, three or four stems tied into a little bunch.

An airy place that is out of the sunlight will do for drying. After flower heads are completely dry, use them with fresh or dried foliage, just as you would if they were fresh, and enjoy their beauty in winter as well as in summer.

Any man who attends strictly to his business has a steady job.

Conference On Jaywalking Law

Town Manager Thomas E. Duff and Police Sergeant James R. Lynch were in attendance at a seminar on the new jaywalking law which was held at the district office of the Department of Public Works in Danvers last Tuesday. The law, which is optional with individual communities, was explained by state traffic officials who stressed the need for uniformity. Andover has not yet adopted the code which provides for the punishment by fine of up to $20 for those who cross the street at any but the designated time and area.

RECEPTION TO PASTOR FOLLOWING SERVICE

Following the regular 9:30 Service of Worship in the West Parish Church last Sunday morning, a reception was held in the auditorium for the Rev. Howard Andrews and his wife and family. Members and friends of the church gathered to wish them all "God Speed" in their new venture.

Fred Tarbox, representing the church, presented the family with a gift. Mr. Andrews responded with some fitting remarks. Refreshments were served and the hall was attractively decorated for the occasion.

ON DEAN'S LIST

John C. Doherty, son of Mr. and Mrs. John P. S. Doherty, 26 Wolcott ave., has been named to the Dean's List at Harvard. He has completed his junior year, and is serving this summer with the R.O.T.C. unit at Fort Devens.

Seek Bids For Garbage Work

Legal notice that bids will be received until August 6 on the contract for the collection of garbage in Andover have been placed by Town Manager Thomas E. Duff. Specifications are available at the manager's office. The town is reserving the right to reject any and all bids. There has been some criticism of the delay in obtaining a garbage collector for the town. As matters now stand, the bids will be received up to August 7 and after that will have to be studied and finally a contract awarded.

Little, Low Plants

Sweet alyssum, candytuft and ageratum, shown here bordering a path, are all excellent little, low annuals for the garden.

Little, low plants are probably the most useful plants in the garden because they can be featured in so many ways tucked into so many places.

The long, concrete driveway ended by a "ribbon" planting of little, low plants along one or both sides. Choose a plant like sweet alyssum that will spread and plant it only 8 inches from the edge of the concrete. This will insure its growing wide enough so that it grows over the edge of the drive and takes away from that harsh line.

Your front path can be made colorful and inviting, giving a real welcome to the house, by bordering it with little, low plants like verbenas with their brilliantly hued flowers that last until heavy frost kills them.

That odd, too-narrow space between the house and the path around it can be filled with little, low plants like portulaca (if it is sunny) or lobelias (if it is shady) and, instead of an unsightly area you'll have a solid bed of bloom.

Ordinary clay flower pots, which are not exactly things of beauty by themselves, may be made into joys forever (at least all summer long) by filling them with little, low plants like nasturtiums which will produce bright, gay flowers, pungent leaves and buds good for pepping up salads.

So much for featuring little, low plants. Now, what about the places they can fill in the garden picture? Have you ever ened by a "ribbon" planting of little, low plants along one or both sides. Choose a plant like sweet alyssum that will spread and plant it only 8 inches from the edge of the concrete. This will insure its growing wide enough so that it grows over the edge of the drive and takes away from that harsh line.

When hot weather arrives there is less and less bloom in the perennial border, unless it has been planned by an expert. No one wants to disturb the roots of the perennial plants, so little, low annuals, grown from seed and then transplanted to set between the perennials and near the front of the border are the solution to the problem of summer color. Kinds like dwarf marigolds, annual phlox, or dwarf zinnias will keep the border gay until asters and chrysanthemums start to flower.

Unusual little low plants include linaria, which looks like a miniature snapdragon and comes in pastel shades, the pink-flowered form of ageratum, Pink Heather alyssum and the dwarf form of bachelor button named Jubilee Gem.

From the plants named above and elsewhere in this article, you should be able to choose and grow just the right little, low plant for anywhere in your garden.

HELP STRENGTHEN AMERICA'S PEACE POWER

When you're four, protection is as simple as holding Father's hand. But parents know it involves a lot more than that—like keeping the world a peaceful place.

But peace isn't kept by just wanting it. Peace costs money. Money for strength to keep the peace. Money for science and education to help make peace lasting. And money saved by individuals to keep our economy strong.

U. S. Savings Bonds help provide this money. So every Bond you buy helps strengthen America's Peace Power.

YOU and your DOG

IF DOGS COULD TALK When a dog adopts a family, it is no time at all before he establishes his personality with its members. Almost immediately he lets them know his likes, dislikes and how he intends to handle himself in this world of people.

There is a great deal more to know about your pet, though, advises Sergeant's Dog Care Center -- things that even the smartest dog can't tell you. For example, every dog owner should know the first danger signs of an ailment and how some of the minor ills can be treated at home. In addition, facts about training, feeding and grooming should be in the possession of all owners, too.

To help put dog owners on the right track, there is a newly revised, authoritative 40-page dog care book which covers virtually all home care subjects. It also discredits some common fallacies about dog care.

A copy of the book may be obtained free by writing to Sergeant's Dog Care Center, Richmond 30, Va.

Your Bonds—Unique Past; Lively Future

Next time you purchase a Savings Bond, take a good look at it. It is a handsome piece of paper. It also is the key to a college education, a family vacation, a new car, the payment of a hospital bill. It has a promising future and a lively past.

During World War II, for example, Americans huddled in the fortress of Corregidor waited as the Japanese advanced nearer. It was only a matter of time before they would be in the hands of the enemy. One American sailor inside the "Rock" searched his pockets and found over $700 in cash. With no hope of escape, he remembered that lost or stolen Savings Bonds are replaced by the Treasury. He found the paymaster and converted his cash into $25 savings bonds. Two days later, Corregidor fell.

Three long years passed. The sailor was released from a prison camp. He came home and collected.

This is just one of the dramatic case histories in the files of the U.S. Treasury Department. Many of the stories read like fiction. Strangely, cows are often the villains! One farmer wrote that after purchasing some Savings Bonds at the bank, he stopped in his pasture to fix a fence. His prize Jersey cows ambled over to watch him work. One, especially curious, picked his pocket and chewed up the bonds. The farmer appealed to the Treasury Department and received new ones promptly. Another cow in Louisiana ate the contents of a young bride's purse. The dollars and cents were lost forever, but her Savings Bonds were replaced.

One unique Savings Bond story involved a burial. It seems that an elderly man was interred in his Sunday suit. After the funeral, relatives remembered he had kept his Savings Bonds in the pocket of the suit. To dig or not to dig? That was the question. Treasury officials solved the situation by sending the widow, as co-owner, replacement bonds.

Other dramas unfold when people cash their bonds. One bank teller remarked recently that her job was "like having a grandstand seat to the happiness and tragedy of a city." She cited the case of a grandfather who proudly bought a bond for a new baby in the family. A few minutes later, the baby's father came in to cash his bonds to pay for the infant's arrival.

To millions of Americans, a Savings Bond is not just a piece of paper. It is security and comfort... a certificate with a past, a present, and a future.

By JACK P. RICCIARDI Commissioner of Public Works

Connector Is Under Plan

The Massachusetts Department of Public Works is going ahead with plans for Den Rock park. Rep. William J. Casey of Lawrence reports that the Department is going to construct a connecting road to Den Rock Park.

Rep. Casey, who had asked for a progress report on the project, met with Commissioner Ricciardi, Chief Engineer Edward J. McCarthy, Deputy Chief Engineer P. C. Cox, and Highway Design Engineer Ralph Levine.

Commissioner Ricciardi and his aides showed the legislator the plans of the area, and explained that contract plans had been delayed while studies were made to determine the present use of the multiple railroad tracks at that point. If some of the existing trackage could be eliminated, the bridge span could be shortened with a considerable saving of construction cost.

The Department is aware of the strong interest of the people of Lawrence and Andover in this road. Ricciardi told Casey that he has ordered design plans completed as soon as possible so that construction could follow.

Van Coppenolle Held For Grand Jury

Emil Van Coppenolle Jr., 35, 7 North st., has been held for the grand jury, on three complaints. Bail was set at $2,850.

Special Justice William H. Daly presided in District Court, and refused a request that the defendant be given a house of correction sentence.

He was charged with operating a motor vehicle without the authority of the owner after his right to operate had been suspended, operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor and drunkenness.

Patrolman Joseph Becotte testified at Saturday's court session that at 11:15 p.m. Friday, he observed a car parked on Bellevue rd., and that the defendant was changing the tire. The officer said Van Coppenolle was unsteady on his feet, and told the court that the defendant admitted he did not have the right to operate, after being asked for his license.

The officer said he later learned that the car had been reported stolen in Haverhill by the owner, Ernest D. Young, 240 Oak st., Haverhill.

The defendant pleaded guilty to all of the charges, but when informed that he would be held for the grand jury, changed his plea to not guilty.
