

Making '91 resolutions for the town

While many people were making personal resolutions for the New Year, the Townsmen decided to ask some officials what their resolutions and hopes are for the town of Andover in 1991.

Buzz Stapeczynski, town manager, has high hopes for the new year. He hopes "to have a balanced budget."

Jim Greer, conservation agent, has no specific goals in mind for next year, but his wish for himself echoes that of many: "I really haven't said more than I hope to be employed at this time next year."

Lee Russem, owner of Russem's Ladies Apparel Shop and president of the Center Merchants Association, has a wish list with too many items to mention. But his list includes solutions for downtown problems.

"I'd like to see more stores join in our mix to keep Andover a great place to shop," Mr. Russem said. "I'd like to see a department store."

"I'd like to have all the retail stores stay open until 8 p.m. on Thursday nights."

Charities voice mixed reviews on giving this year

By Lisa Boudreau

Local charities and other organizations such as churches that count on increased contributions at Christmas time have mixed reviews about how the economy has affected donations this season. Some say the slowed economy is to blame for smaller-than-normal donations. Others say it's too early to tell because the giving season extends into the beginning of the new year.

Schools losing ground in textbook purchasing

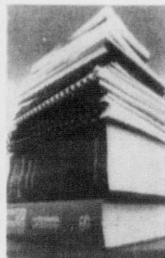

By Lisa Boudreau

Andover schools have had to make do with one-third of the original $100,000 allocated to buy textbooks during the past year. All that is left this year is $32,000, due to several rounds of cuts ending with a $299,000 slash from the entire school budget at Special Town Meeting Nov. 13.

Some officials, such as William Becker, head of the English department at Andover High School, have used money set aside for staff development and film strips to buy books half way through the school year.

Mr. Becker said $1,000 of his department's discretionary funds has already been spent to replace worn paperback books and buy supplemental novels for some classes. He said the only money left at this point are funds for making Xerox copies. The books would have been paid for out of unspent textbook account money, but those funds were frozen in November.

The high school is going to aggressively pursue collecting money from students who have lost or damaged their books, said Wilbur Hixon, AHS principal.

The high school has had a collection policy in the past, but this year the effort to collect the money will be stepped up to recoup texts, which can cost upwards of $30.

Replacement and purchase of updated texts are ordered as part of each department's curriculum review, which run in five-year cycles, according to Dr. Lois Haslam, assistant superintendent of schools. Not all departments can finish their review, evaluation and implementation of changes in five years, so sometimes orders for textbooks can be pushed forward until the process is completed. In many cases departments' cycles overlap.

This year the math and social studies departments are up for textbook purchases.

AHS teacher allegedly assaults sophomore student

By Lisa Boudreau

Police and school officials are investigating an alleged physical assault of a sophomore girl by a teacher at Andover High School, according to Andover Police Lt. Phillip Froburg. Police said the incident is under investigation and they declined to release the name of the teacher in the alleged incident.

The juvenile's name was in the police log, but the Townsmen is withholding her name since she is a juvenile and because

Newborn found in car Baby in foster home

By Don Staruk

A newborn baby girl found in the back seat of a car on Dufton Road last Wednesday afternoon was discharged from Lawrence General Hospital Monday and has been placed in a foster home, according to police.

But investigators have still not been able to talk with the mother regarding details of the incident.

"According to doctor's orders, she has been unable to talk with us," Lt. Jack Houlihan, Andover's chief investigator, said yesterday morning.

The 18-year-old mother, a 1990 Andover High School graduate, was operated on at Lahey Clinic in Burlington after allegedly giving birth to the child in the bathroom of her parents' home last Wednesday, Dec. 26, according to police. She was discharged from the hospital earlier this week.

"These people are represented by counsel and they're not talking to us," Lt. Houlihan said Monday.

No charges have been filed against the mother, according to Lt. Houlihan, but the investigation is ongoing.

"We'll be meeting tomorrow with the district attorney on this issue," Lt. Houlihan said yesterday. "We're going to set up a meeting between their attorney, themselves, and our attorney and us and possibly Howard Whitehead from the District Attorney's office."

The incident began for police when they received a call from a nurse at the Lahey Clinic in Burlington at 4:48 Wednesday afternoon, according to Lt. Houlihan.

"She called the station and told Lt. (Stephen) Avery that if we went to 49 Dufton Road that we would find the body of a baby" in a car, the lieutenant said.

Detectives Donald Pattullo and David Grant went to the address where Detective Pattullo found a station wagon with one back door unlocked and what appeared to be towels with blood on them on the floor of the front seat. When the detective climbed into the front seat he heard a noise come from the back seat.

"The baby was in a CVS bag on the back floor," Lt. Houlihan said. "He saw the bag move a little bit."

Detective Pattullo called for his partner to radio for an ambulance, bundled the baby into his coat and sat in the front seat of the cruiser with the heater running until the rescue squad arrived.

The baby was taken to LGH where its temperature was about 80 degrees, 20 degrees below normal, according to a hospital official. The outside temperature at the time the baby was found was about 30 degrees, according to Detective Pattullo.

The baby was in the station wagon about three hours, according to police.

Police speculate that the mother, a student at Gordon College in Wenham, had the baby in the bathroom of her parents' home sometime before 2 p.m. on Wednesday, while no one else was at the house.

The mother then moved the baby out to the car in the driveway before her own mother came home at 2 p.m., according to Lt. Houlihan.

At some point the baby's mother became ill, returned to the home, lost consciousness and was rushed to the Lahey Clinic by one of her parents.

Police did not speculate on how the nurse learned the baby was in the car or how much the mother's parents knew about their daughter's pregnancy or their granddaughter's birth.

The Department of Social Services is conducting its own investigation, according to reports.

Town Clerk Randy Hanson asks residents to please complete and return census form or forms as soon as they are received.

For convenience, special census boxes will be available throughout the town. The locations of the boxes will be listed on the census form.

If you do not receive a census form by the end of January, call the town Clerk's office so one can be mailed to you.

Residents should note that in household with a combination of different last names or hyphenated names, a separate form will be generated for each name. Please sign all forms and return them in the same envelope so they can be processed together.

Recycling is saving money

By Virginia Cole

In October of 1989, the town recycled 143 tons of paper. A year later, it recycled 206.69 tons of paper and saved $13,434.

In November of '89, the town recycled 134 tons of paper; whereas in November of 1990, we recycled 236.18 tons of paper for a savings of $15,351.70.

We are recycling an estimated 36-45 tons a month of glass. This amounts to $2,600 per month and this is an area in which we really need to work. You have your blue bin. Put the glass in there.

Now about leaves: We did 260 tons at a savings of between $8,400 and $16,000.

We estimate recycling 60 tons of Christmas trees at a savings of at least $4,000.

For three months, this is a savings of around $50,000 from the cost of burning at the incinerator. This does not include the other than monetary savings - useless products made into useful ones, savings in the environment and savings from pollution.

Andover is doing well. It is most gratifying to have the curbside pick-up of glass begin in 1990, plus the leaf composting program and now the chipping of Christmas trees.

Our school recycling program is excellent.

With our plastic program still in place and of course paper pick-up, we have only a few more items to get under control.

Requests to the town about corrugated cardboard, for instance, for which I believe there is a good market, might bring some action there.

Apartment complexes and businesses are left out of our efforts because the town incurs no cost from their waste disposal. The requests from them should go to Waste Management who should be trying to improve their volume of goods picked up. They promised much before they got the low bid contract.

Public pressure helps everywhere.

YMCA to begin aerobic class

STEP aerobic classes have arrived at the Andover/North Andover YMCA.

A five week mini session to introduce the program will begin Monday, Jan. 7.

With an upbeat musical background, participants in STEP classes step up and down onto a raised platform while performing upper body exercises.

Participants in the pre-holiday three-week course agree that this low-impact, high-intensity cardiovascular workout is versatile, safe and great for cross training.

THE SPINE

From front to back the spine should be straight up and down.

A side view of the normal spine should show four curves—two curves to the front and two to the back.

An auto accident, a severe fall or injury can cause these vertebrae to become subluxated causing pressure on the spinal nerves. Every organ in the body has a nerve supply and any time these nerves are pinched by misaligned vertebrae they can cause various discomforts—headaches, back or neck tension, shoulder pain, etc. That leads us to ask:

WHAT IS CHIROPRACTIC AND HOW CAN IT HELP?

Chiropractic Care is a Drugless Natural Way to Good Health!

Discovered by D.D. Palmer in 1895, chiropractic today is widely recognized as a primary health care system and is included within the Medicare and Medicaid programs along with 640 insurance companies.

Many people think that chiropractic deals only with back problems—this is a misconception which we would like to explain. CHIROPRACTIC deals with the spinal column and the spinal cord which carries all the vital nerves of the entire body. The science of Chiropractic is founded on the premises that adequate nerve supply is of prime importance in regulating body function.

Chiropractors use this scientific principle to maintain health and to correct the cause of disease. The soundness of its basic principle is documented by countless sufferers restored to good health by Chiropractic care.

There is no way that we can tell you all about Chiropractic care in a few short paragraphs—but a short visit to our office and we can answer any questions that you may have.

Charities voice mixed reviews about giving this year

"The rough feeling I get so far is that the number of donations has been pretty consistent, but the dollar amounts have been smaller," said Ray Brockhill, director of Merrimack Valley Hospice.

He said family members and friends of people receiving services from MV Hospice make up the majority of the contributors. Their numbers have remained steady, but the numbers they write in their check books have shrunk, said Mr. Brockhill.

"As the economy has gone down and more and more people are being laid off, there seems to be a slight decline," said Mr. Brockhill.

Deborah Reiter, director of Community Education at Visiting Nurse and HomeCare, said the agency is doing OK and there have been no major changes in the total donations over last year at this time. If there is any drop off at all, said Ms. Reiter, it would amount to a 5-percent decrease at the very most.

"The donations have been pretty steady," said Ms. Reiter. "The only changes we'll have to make look to different approaches to fund-raising," she said.

The state of the Massachusetts economy was a concern for the Merrimack Valley United Fund when it began its fund raising campaign in September, said Tracey Dewhurst, communications director. The United Fund raises money for health- and human-service needs throughout the Merrimack Valley and Southern New Hampshire.

Last year the agency did not meet its goal and the number had to be downsized. Last year's total from fund-raisers and donations was $5.7 million. This year the goal was increased 3.5 percent of last year's total, said Ms. Dewhurst. So far the agency has reached 74 percent of its $5.9 million goal.

Ms. Dewhurst said the agency isn't worried about raising the last 26 percent because officials expect donations to continue to come in through the next four to six weeks.

Bob Harris, head of Citizens League for Adult Special Services Inc., said the agency, which provides training and job placement for mentally-retarded adults, is starting a campaign that will target former donors.

"Right now we're doing pretty well," said Mr. Harris.

"We haven't seen a drop (in contributions) but that's because we've kept in touch with past donors."

He said the situation at Breastfeeding, although done by the mother alone, is a team effort. The new father is very important and his support and encouragement, especially during the first few weeks of your baby's life are the key to making breastfeeding a pleasant and healthy experience for all three of you. The more you know about breastfeeding, the more a husband can help his wife and baby. Your baby can feel close to the father even though he's not actually feeding the baby. Each and every contact between father and child is vital and a loving part of baby care.

Living proof that expert cardiac care touches many hearts.

On May 16, 1987, the Barton family had a heart attack. When Victor Barton felt chest pains that Saturday morning, the only thing his wife Elaine knew for sure was that he needed medical attention fast. The fact that New England Memorial was only a few miles away made their choice an easy one. The care they would receive that night would make their choice the right one.

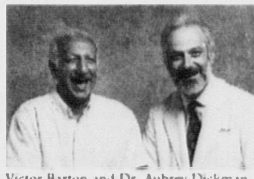

After Victor was stabilized, our nutritionists, rehabilitation experts and cardiac specialists put together an individually tailored program of preventive cardiac care. We also provide family counseling and training in the provision of home after-care.

On May 16, 1987, the cardiac care team at New England Memorial gave a Stoneham family something more than medical care. They gave them a second chance.

The Bartons are living proof that quality care touches many hearts.

Local charities give mixed reviews

CLASS is the same as at other agencies. The same people are continuing to give, but the amounts they give are less.

Kit Lambert, administrative assistant to South Church's senior pastor, said people in the congregation and community have been generous this year, not only with their money, but also with their time.

She said the economy may have affected the amount of money people are able to donate, but it hasn't affected their willingness to give their time to the church's projects. South Church, 41 Central St., was involved in various endeavors this holiday season to collect gifts and items for children in Lawrence's Los Amigos Day-Care Center. Ms. Lambert said the number of items donated exceeded their expectations.

Father Arthur Johnson of St. Augustine Church, 43 Essex St., said the amount parishioners gave at the Christmas offertory during Masses neither increased, nor decreased dramatically this year. St. Augustine's congregation also collected items for children and adults in need in Andover. The response to that project was greater than expected, said Father Johnson.

"In spite of the economy and difficulties and cutbacks in their own homes, people are aware of the needs of others this year," he said.

Women & Pre-Nuptial Agreements

If you are contemplating marriage or remarriage, you may be concerned that you will risk the eventual loss of some or all of your property or other assets in the event of a dissolution of your marriage by death or divorce. You may also be uneasy about raising these concerns with your prospective husband because you do not wish to seem unromantic or greedy. A properly negotiated and drafted pre-nuptial agreement can often address these very genuine concerns. The assistance of a lawyer in the negotiation and drafting process is essential if you wish your agreement to be valid and enforceable at some later time.

Television course focuses on PBS Civil War documentary

"The Civil War," the landmark PBS blockbuster series, will be available as a television course for college credit through Middlesex Community College's open campus beginning Wednesday, Jan. 30. The telecourse format allows participants to combine at-home study with five on-campus class meetings.

"The Civil War" is an epic 11-hour television series produced by award-winning documentary filmmaker Ken Burns and presented by WETA/Washington, D.C.

Mr. Burns worked for five years on the series, which is said to be the most ambitious and comprehensive history of the war ever put on film.

Archival images of thousands of photographs, taken from a total of 1 million pictures of the Civil War, along with period paintings, lithographs and headlines, are combined with moving newsreel footage of Civil War veterans and live cinematography of the now-quiet battle sites.

The television course embraces the entire sweep of the war: its complex causes and lasting effects, the battles and the homefronts, the generals and private soldiers, the anguish of death in battle and the grief of families at home.

For more information on the course, call 937-5454, Ext. 3240.

Hospital has group for nursing mothers

Nursing mothers often have questions about breastfeeding after being discharged from the hospital, according to nurse Mary Foley. Many also seek support from other nursing mothers.

To answer these needs and help women continue breastfeeding, the Rigsby Maternity Center at New England Memorial Hospital in Stoneham is offering a free program, a breastfeeding support group, led by Ms. Foley.

A certified lactation consultant, she said the goal of the group is to provide professional advice and enable nursing mothers to meet and share experiences.

The group meets on the last Friday of every month from 10 a.m. to noon in function room 2 in the hospital cafeteria.

The group last met Dec. 28, and its next session will be on Jan. 25. There is no need to register in advance.

DOWN THE YEARS

100 years ago, January 1891

Now is the time for sleighing parties.

Some of most popular young men are trying to get up a sleighride party.

The sleighing during the later part of last week and the early part of the present was very dangerous.

The livery men are well pleased with this kind of weather.

The new fly doors on the front entrance of the town house are a vast improvement.

Mr. Fred Andrews, clerk at the water commissioner's office, is very busy at present.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rowe of Hudson spent the Christmas and New Year holidays in town.

Miss Laura Farnham, who is at present attending the Lawrence training school, has been added to the corps of substitute teachers in this town.

The total number of deaths in town during the year 1890 was 100 against 104 last year the older being 92 and 90, and there were eighteen over 80 years of age.

The Phillips Academy hockey team has been handicapped so far this winter by lack of ice. The team looks good on paper and should make an excellent showing when once it gets started. With its first game next Wednesday with the Lowell Textile team things do not have a very promising outlook for the opening of the season. Andover has a big squad which shows some promising material.

J. E. Whiting, the well-known jeweler in town, is very ill with pneumonia at his home on Maple Avenue. Mrs. Whiting also is ill.

Seniors at Adult Day Care express their hope for peace

"It is better to light a single candle than to curse the darkness" was the thought for peace expressed by the participants of the Andover Adult Day Care program recently.

Every day since then participants have been posting another thought for peace as part of their campaign to show support for the troops in Saudi Arabia, as well as their hope for peace.

The son of one of the day-care participants is in the reserves. When his 85-year-old mother expressed concern that he might be called up, other group members showed their concern and support, and thus, this campaign was born.

Participants are sending bulletins to local organizations and churches, with hopes that they will help spread the word and share thoughts for peace.

Additionally, they are asking that as you put away Christmas decorations, keep out one electric candle and light it to show your support for the troops and your hopes for peace.

8-year-old South School student killed in automobile accident

An 8-year-old South School student was killed and his 12-year-old sister was injured in a car accident Saturday morning in Sanbornton, N.H.

Kohel Managawa, 8, of 55 Rattlesnake Hill Road, died of head injuries and other major body trauma when he was thrown from the family's 1988 Dodge Caravan onto Interstate 93 at about 10:15 a.m. Saturday, Dec. 29.

Yoko, 12, his sister, a 6th grade student at Doherty Middle School, was also thrown from the vehicle. She was admitted to the Scea Speare Memorial Hospital, in Plymouth, N.H., for head lacerations and other injuries and was released Tuesday.

According to police reports, Toshio

Managawa, 43, was driving northbound on the I-93 with his wife, Hiroko, and the two children, when a car in front of him broke. Mr. Managawa then broke, lost control of the van on the icy road surface, veered left and struck the center guardrail.

Way to go, Sue Tucker

To borrow and reverse a phrase from T.S. Eliot, outgoing State Rep. Susan Tucker (D-Andover) isn't going out with a whimper; she's going out with a bang.

Her bill to protect women from abuse was signed into law last week, before Ms. Tucker left office, having been defeated in November by Andover Republican Gary Coon.

Outgoing Gov. Michael Dukakis praised Ms. Tucker for fighting long and hard for the legislation, saying she worked "about as hard and as tenaciously as any legislator I know."

Sue Tucker can be proud that she stuck with an issue that clearly needed updated legislation. Now, men who violate restraining orders are subject to mandatory arrest. Men convicted of battering women have to enter treatment programs as a condition of probation. Batterers will have to pay the cost of such programs, not taxpayers.

In addition, Ms. Tucker's bill creates a statewide council that will work with shelters, support groups, police and courts to coordinate treatment and protection programs.

Ms. Tucker's law also provides protection for women whose batterers are not their husbands. Women will be able to seek restraining orders against people with whom they are not living. Before this bill passed, it was difficult for a woman to get a restraining order against a man she was dating.

Sue Tucker worked with great determination to get her bill passed. She could rattle off the statistics in quick succession: Women are killed by partners or former partners at least every 22 days in this state; one-third of all women treated in emergency rooms are victims of domestic violence; and less than 5 percent of men convicted on the charges ever get treatment.

Three cheers for Ms. Tucker. Her bill will help many a woman and we are grateful for her perseverance.

This letter is addressed to all parents

Editor, Townsman:

I am writing this letter to any parent who has ever showed frustration or yelled at their children when trying to help them with school work.

I consider myself an average woman, wife and mother: high pressure job, never enough time to do what needs to be done, operates in warp speed, dreads car pooling, feels guilty all the time for not cooking great meals and has the patience of a gnat. (Hard to measure exact patience level but I assume it's minuscule.)

It's amazing how I have patience to continuously motivate a sales force, yet when my two 6-year-olds look at me puzzled after I have made myself perfectly clear, I tense up, blood pressure rises and my face becomes distorted.

Discussing these frustrations with other parents is comforting. I am not alone. I have also come to the realization whether I worked or not my children create a stress level that is unmatched by anything I have experienced. How I respond to this stress will determine the quality of our lives.

Fortunately, I have seen the light. A friend gave me a tape that changed her life. She has an 8-year-old boy who is a genius; a slow genius with no learning disabilities. She has spent many frustrating hours trying to motivate her son. This tape helped her to see life from a child's eyes and as a result her relationship with her son has greatly improved.

The tape is called F.A.T. City. For an hour plus, I sat mesmerized by a very talented gentleman who works with learning disabled children. Mr. Richard Lavoie takes a group of teachers, psychologists and professionals from all walks of life and turns them into learning-disabled students within 70 minutes. They exhibit self-doubt, low self esteem and every negative characteristic us loving parents foster when we exhibit frustration and stress when we work with our children.

This program should not be limited to parents of learning disabled children. It is for everyone. It has changed my life by opening my eyes and mind so that I might feel life as my children are experiencing it. Each time I show frustration I rob my child of a precious part of her self esteem.

Last week I read in the Townsman that Richard Lavoie will be conducting a workshop on Jan. 16 at the school administration building at 7. Do yourself a favor and attend. Consider it a gift to yourself and your children. You'll be a better person for attending.

Textbooks...

ondary-level math department heads delayed making textbook selections because the National Council of Teachers of Mathematics, charged with updating math curriculum standards, hadn't completed its research. The delay took the burden off the diminished textbook account, but the schools still need to purchase books.

"It sometimes takes a while for publishers to catch up with the new standards these committees set," said Dr. Haslam.

Doug Walsh, math department head at AHS, said the high school will look to buy textbooks for both level one and two Algebra and geometry. This year the high school math department saved about 20 percent by buying books for other classes in the summer rather than waiting for January.

The middle schools' math departments have been waiting their turn and for the publishers to catch up to the rewritten standards, said Marcia Harol, head of Doherty Middle School's math department. Next year's purchases may be in jeopardy if predicted cuts become a reality.

Richard Collins, AHS social studies department head, ordered his department's books last August before the cuts were made. History and Western Civilization texts were replaced with updated publications, said Mr. Hixon.

"The high school is in pretty good shape," Dr. Haslam said about the social studies department.

Elementary social studies departments are due for new texts, Dr. Haslam said. Some of the books that grades one through five are using are 10 years out of date, said Dr. Haslam.

The fiscal outlook for next year's budget isn't bright and Dr. Haslam said further cuts will "probably mean delays" in textbooks orders.

School and town officials are anticipating a 3.5 percent cut in the town's overall budget due to decreases in state aid and local revenues.

Dr. Haslam said she sees no way the textbook accounts for any department could escape cuts if the schools' budget is hit again.

The concert will feature tenor Gregory Jackson, luteist Peter Lorenzo, cellist William Thomas and harpsichordist Carolyn Skelton.

He is a program assistant at the Multi-Cultural Arts Center in Cambridge.

He has completed 15 consecutive years as chairman of the Phillips music department and continues to direct the academy's concert series.

Ms. Skelton holds a bachelor of arts degree from Hastings College in Hastings, Neb., and a master of music degree from New England Conservatory of Music in Boston. She completed a year's study at the Academy of Music in Vienna, Austria, as a Fulbright Scholar.

Golden Warrior Mike Murnane named Holiday Tournament MVP

By Rick Harrison

Andover High hockey coach Mike Murnane admitted junior goaltender Mike Daley sometimes is taken for granted.

"Mike's so steady and so good he gets lost in the shuffle," conceded Murnane. "But at 6'3" he's an imposing figure in the net. He takes up a lot of space, and he plays with tremendous composure. He runs the show defensively and is really like a third defenseman. Believe me we appreciate what he does and know how valuable he is."

Valuable was the proper adjective for Daley in the North Andover Holiday Tournament, as he was named the tournament MVP after leading the undefeated Golden Warriors to a successful defense of their title.

Daley stopped 37 of 38 shots in the two games, and posted his first shutout of the season, as Andover blanked North Reading 3-0 in the semifinals and stopped North Andover 3-1 in the championship game.

AHS is now 6-0-0 overall, easily its best start ever, and Daley has yielded just nine goals in six games for a 1.50 goals-against average.

Sean Darwin, meanwhile, was selected to the All-Tournament team after scoring two goals and setting up three others to figure in 83 per cent of Andover's tournament scoring.

"We have a different breed of kid on this team," said Coach Murnane. "They won't be denied, and with every victory their confidence grows."

The Warriors head into the Merrimack Valley Conference portion of their schedule tonight as the only undefeated and untied team in the league. And they could easily emerge from this week's play riding an eight-game victory streak.

Andover battles Wilmington (1-3-0) tonight at Merrimack College (8:30 p.m. faceoff) in the league opener, and faces Lowell (0-5-0) Saturday at the Janas Rink.

Andover's first liners continue to excel offensively, senior center Sean Darwin with nine goals, 10 assists, 19 points, senior left wing Mike Murnane Jr. at 8-7-15 and junior right wing Bill Owens at 4-6-10.

Andover, 3-0

The Golden Warriors clearly dominated their semifinal with North Reading, outshooting the Hornets 41-12.

But they needed patience, and a perfect goaltending effort from Mike Daley, to overcome a superb netminding performance from familiar foe Kevin Ring.

Daley and North Reading's Ring are acknowledged as two of the finest goalies in the area, and are undoubtedly among the best in all of Eastern Massachusetts.

The irony of the situation is that Ring plays on the same team with many of the Andover kids in a spring developmental league at Wilmington's Ristuccia Expo.

"We got what we expected from North Reading," said Coach Murnane. "They're a young team with a seasoned, experienced goaltender. Kevin is probably the best goalie in the Cape Ann League."

"The developmental league is for kids who don't play a high school sport in the spring, and we drafted Ring because Mike Daley plays baseball at that time."

"We knew we'd have our hands full with Kevin, who's very agile. He's a tremendous skater, plays the angles well, has a great stick-pad (blocker) and glove hand, and doesn't give many rebounds."

"And he's seen a lot of rubber the past few years at North Reading," added Murnane.

Junior right wing Greg Afarian, elevated to the second line with Dan Feeley and Chris Cashman, provided the only goal necessary at 9:46 of the first period with assists to Feeley and junior defenseman Todd Allard.

"Afarian scored a lunch-pail type goal," said Coach Murnane. "He kept digging and hustling, found a way to get the puck past Ring, and that got the whole team going."

Mike Murnane Jr. made it 2-0 at 5:37 of the middle period, just 26 seconds into a powerplay, with assists to Sean Darwin and Bill Owens.

Owens followed with some added insurance three minutes later, the set-up by Sean Darwin.

Ring blanked Andover during a 15-save third period and finished the game with 38 stops, while Mike Daley made 12 saves.

"We knew we'd have to make good plays to capitalize," noted Coach Murnane. "He (Ring) stoned us several times, robbing Chris Cashman, Mike and Sean point-blank. But our guys were patient and disciplined. They kept their composure and didn't get frustrated."

The Warriors outshot North Reading, which tied Methuen 2-2 in the subsequent third-place consolation game, 14-6, 12-3 and 15-3 by the periods.

"Even though it was only 3-0 the shots accurately tell the story," noted Murnane.

Andover, 3-1

The Golden Warriors nudged North Andover in the tournament final for the second straight year (3-2 last December), scoring once in each period and building a late 3-0 advantage before a large, vocal crowd at Merrimack College's Volpe Complex.

The Scarlet Knights, who fell to 3-2-0 with the loss, advanced to the title game with an 8-4 triumph over Methuen in the semifinals.

"We were hoping for another Andover-North Andover final," said Coach Murnane. "We'd been focusing on this game for awhile, paying a lot of attention to North Andover because they provided our first test against a quality team."

(Jim) Cavanaugh, (Mark) Brennan and (Glenn) Sheehan are three of the best forwards around, while (Ryan) Taylor and (Steve) Harb are quality defensemen.

"Our intent was to match lines with them, throwing our first against their first and switching off with our second and third against their second (NA skates only two lines)," continued Murnane. "Their second line also made us nervous."

"We hoped to neutralize North Andover's first line, and do some damage against them with our other guys."

The Warriors' first line not only stymied its Scarlet Knight counterpart, it also scored six points.

Mike Murnane Jr. launched the attack with his eighth goal just eight seconds from the first-period horn, assist to Sean Darwin.

Darwin made it 2-0 at 9:16 of the second stanza, notching an unassisted goal past NA netminder Mike Small.

Mike Daley was immense over the first two periods, making several outstanding saves while it was still 0-0 and halting all 15 Scarlet Knight shots in the second stanza when North Andover outgunned the champs 15-5.

Darwin's second goal of the game and ninth of the season, set up by linemates Murnane and Owens, made it 3-0 early in the final session.

It was clear the way Daley was playing North Andover needed a miracle, but all it succeeded in doing was snapping the goalie's shutout string at 92 minutes when Cavanaugh connected from Brennan and Harb at 7:31.

"Justin Hesenius, Bob Sheehan and both Allards (Todd and freshman Paul) played another great defensive game," said Coach Murnane.

"We held their powerplay off the board three times, and killed a 5-on-3 for about a minute and a half in the second period. Mike Daley stoned them during the two-man advantage, and up front we switched off with Sheehan, Hesenius, Darwin, Murnane and Cashman."

North Andover, on the strength of its 15-5 second-period edge, outshot the Warriors 26-20.

Daley finished with 25 saves and Mike Small had 17.

Sprinter Jill Ippolito takes fourth

By Rick Harrison

A slight hesitation moments after the start of the final heat may have cost Jill Ippolito the victory, but the swift Andover High junior still managed an impressive fourth place finish in the 55-meter dash at the annual Boston College Holiday Classic.

Ippolito was the only AHS sprinter to score among the six that participated, all competing in the 55 meters.

"I believe Jill thought there was a false start in the final," explained Warriors' Head Coach Art Iworsley. "A couple strides into the race she eased up, hesitating for just a second, and then took off again when she realized it wasn't a false start."

Ippolito flashed across the finish line in 7.6 seconds, which was the same time recorded by the second, third and fifth place runners.

"She might have won the race and probably would have placed second," said Iworsley. "But it was still a terrific performance."

Senior Capt. Maureen Maginnis made it through her trial and quarter-final heats, with a best time of 7.8, but was ousted in the semifinals.

Junior Nicole Angelos was sick with the flu and unable to compete.

On the boys' side, junior Jamon Damon posted the best time but didn't advance as far as senior Jon Usher, junior Jim Landry and junior Jason Hastings.

Damon was placed in a seeded trial heat, where he finished third in 6.5 to qualify for the quarterfinals. He did not, however, crack the top three in the quarters and was therefore eliminated.

Usher, Landry and Hastings all won their unseeded trial heats with identical 6.8 clockings, and each member of the trio progressed through the quarters before being ousted in their semifinal heats.

Schedule

Both Andover teams next return to Merrimack Valley Conference dual meet action, where they place perfect 2-0-0 records on the line against top-notch opponents.

The Lady Warriors, with earlier victories over Methuen (65-19) and North Andover (53-33), engage Chelmsford High this evening at Lowell High's Riddick Memorial Fieldhouse.

The AHS boys, who have drubbed Wilmington (64-22) and Haverhill (56-30), collide with Central Catholic next Monday afternoon at the Methuen High Fieldhouse.

Both teams also compete next Thursday, Jan. 10, at Lowell High with the girls battling Masconomet Regional of Topsfield and the boys opposing Chelmsford.

The intra-town showdown with Phillips Academy is scheduled for Wednesday, Jan. 16 at PA.

AHS coach George Sullivan resigns from Merrimack College coaching position

By Rick Harrison

George Sullivan, a social studies teacher at Andover High and coach of the girls' varsity basketball (winter) and boys' varsity volleyball (spring) teams, has tendered his resignation as women's varsity volleyball coach at Merrimack College.

Sullivan, who co-coached the AHS girls' volleyball teams during the fall seasons in 1988 and '89, accepted the Merrimack job last summer and began the task of rebuilding a struggling program.

While at Merrimack Sullivan continued to carry a full teaching load at Andover High, and it ultimately proved to be too much.

"The time spent in traveling was excessive under the circumstances," said Sullivan, a family man with several children currently in the Andover school system. "The load just got to be too much. I'd get back from a match with Merrimack at 1 a.m., have to grade some papers or prepare a class, and be up again at 5:30 the next morning."

"I regret having to make the decision because college coaching was a great experience for me," added Sullivan. "Bob DeGregorio (Merrimack athletic director) and everyone associated with the college made things easy. They're great people to work for."

Merrimack, a member of the Northeast-10 Conference, finished with an 11-21 record last year. But Sullivan feels progress was made and the program is headed in the right direction.

Art Iworsley took sole control of the Andover High girls' varsity volleyball program this past year, with Russian immigrant Grigory Yakstar moving into the junior varsity coaching job. The AHS girls qualified for the Eastern Mass. Tournament for the third straight year.

Andover residents named to All-Scholastic Team

By Rick Harrison

Two high school football behemoths from Andover have been named to the prestigious 1990 Division 1 All-Scholastic Team.

Seniors Sean Finnegan of Central Catholic and Joe Marinaro of Andover High, both two-way interior linemen, were those honored.

Finnegan, who recently unofficially indicated his intention to attend the University of New Hampshire next fall, was a CCHS tri-captain whose glowing season included 30 solo tackles, 50 assists and 12 quarterback sacks.

As a four-year starter the 6'1", 250-pounder, finished with career totals of 231 tackles, 27 sacks, 36 pressures and one touchdown scored when he did his Refrigerator Perry imitation.

Finnegan was a two-time Merrimack Valley Conference first-team All-Star in 1989 and '90, was named Greater Lawrence "Player-of-the-Year" by the Lawrence Eagle Tribune, and was designated a pre-season high school All-American.

Michigan, Syracuse and Boston College are among the football factories who were interested in Finnegan, whose choice of UNH appears to be a wise one.

Joe Marinaro had 105 tackles and 15 sacks as a defensive tackle, and finished with career stats of 190 tackles and 25 sacks.

Future looks bright for AHS gymnastic teams

By Rick Harrison

Multi-talented State Individual Meet qualifiers Kasie Kearins and Tania Pierce, along with spectacular sophomore Anne Milmoore and several outstanding freshman prospects, will combine to make the 1991 Andover High girls' gymnastics team a Merrimack Valley Conference favorite.

The AHS boys' gymnastics squad graduated a premier performer in State Class athlete Jason Fox, now a member of the UMass-Amherst varsity, but the future looks bright with one sophomore and 12 freshmen on the 17-man roster.

Both teams swing, vault and tumble into season-opening action tomorrow.

The Lady Warriors host North Andover (3:30 p.m.) in one of their few home meets, and the boys face North Shore League rivals Burlington and Newton North in a tri-meet at Burlington High (7 p.m.).

Steve Sirois returns for his 12th season at the boys' helm, while former assistant Julie Curtis replaces Nancy Winitzer as girls' head coach.

Andover girls

Last year Andover grabbed a third share of the Merrimack Valley Conference championship, finishing 8-1-0 overall including 6-1-0 in the league.

A major highlight of the campaign was snapping Dracut High's 58-meet win streak with a 127.00 to 125.60 victory over the Middies at the Dunn Gymnasium.

The only blemish on the record was put there by Chelmsford, 126.45 to 124.55, as those tri-peats tied for the MVC dual meet title before Dracut edged Andover in the Conference Championship Meet.

The Lady Warriors graduated three top gymnasts from one of its strongest teams ever, all-around Michelle Black who is now competing at Ithaca College in New York, Mia Kearins (UMass-Amherst) and Nicole Bell Isle (Harvard).

The lone senior on the 15-member varsity squad is Capt. Sam Genier, an all-around performer whose best event is the uneven bars.

Genier is also one of eight returning veterans, a group that includes five juniors and two sophomores.

Junior Kasie Kearins could be a force at the state level this year, as the versatile 5'3", 105-pound standout excelled in all four events (bars, balance beam, vaulting, floor exercise) last winter and averaged close to 33 points in the all-around competition.

Kasie qualified for the All-State Meet as an all-around performer, and placed on bars and in floor exercise at both the North Sectional and MVC Championship Meets.

Junior Tania Pierce is one of four girls back for her third season of varsity competition, having qualified for the All-State Meet in vaulting as both a freshman and sophomore. Andover North Andover YMCA teacher-competitor Tania is another strong all-around candidate who also excels on the difficult balance beam.

Junior Sarah Faraci was a consistent placewinner in floor exercise and on bars last year, and it was her performance in floor against Dracut that fired the Lady Warriors up and helped elevate the efforts of Michelle Black, Kearins, Pierce and Anne Milmoore. AHS outscored the Middies by 2.65 points in the final floor exercise event (3.75 to 3.1.10) to clinch their big comeback triumph.

Faraci will compete all-around in some meets this season.

Completing the strong list of juniors are three-year veterans and co-captains Alicia Dennehy and Deidra DeAngelas, both excellent balance beam performers and DeAngelas strong in vaulting as well.

Returning sophomores, both of whom were integral parts of last year's title team, are Anne Milmoore and Amanda Schaake.

Milmoore is a spritely bundle of energy who will join Kearins, Pierce, Faraci and Genier as an all-around competitor. Floor exercise and bars are her specialties, and she missed qualifying for the All-State Meet in floor by a scant 1/10th of a point last year.

Statuesque Amanda Schaake's strengths are vaulting and floor exercise.

Kasie Kearins, Sarah Faraci, Anne Milmoore and Amanda Schaake were all outstanding divers on the AHS girls' swim team.

Two seniors have joined the team this year, Lisa Hayes working primarily as a vaulter and Heather Hoskinson in floor exercise.

Hoskinson also competed as a freshman and sophomore, but took last year off to perform as a cheerleader.

Five freshman prospects have earned a varsity spot, led by Stacey Lavoie who has all-around potential with strengths in vaulting and on beam.

Marcy Ruda, Kerry Brady, Amy Espindle and Annie Glazebrook are all floor exercise performers, with Brady doubling as a vaulter while Espindle and Glazebrook show promise on the uneven bars.

Lavoie, Espindle and Brady are Andover-North Andover 'Y' products, while Ruda works out at Merrimack Valley Gymnastics.

"I don't think we have any major weakness, but we should be particularly strong in floor and vaulting," said Coach Curtis. "We graduated three top gymnasts, but everyone else returned and several of the freshmen are excellent additions.

"We have some new equipment, and because of that I look for us to be stronger than last year in different ways. A lot of the veterans are working on better and more difficult routines, which should boost our scores."

Coach Curtis doesn't see much changing in the MVC this season, feeling it will again be a three-way fight amongst Andover, Dracut and Chelmsford.

Dracut and Chelmsford both returned their top gymnast, the Middies led by national class competitor Tammy Noel and the Lions by Emily Lueck.

The showdowns with those two arch-rivals will be early, Andover at Dracut Wednesday, Jan. 9 at 7 p.m. and home against Chelmsford Tuesday, Jan. 15 at 3:30 o'clock.

The nine-game schedule also includes a pair of strong non-league opponents in Londonderry (Jan. 26) and Phillips Academy (Jan. 30).

The MVC Championship Meet is scheduled for Feb. 9 at Wilmington High's Cushing Memorial Gym.

Coach Curtis is a resident of Malden, a graduate of Malden High and Framingham State, and a former competitor and later coach with the Montvale Gymnastics team of Woburn.

Manager of a Framingham clothes store, Curtis earned her first high school head coaching job when former coach Nancy Winitzer retired after her job with Holiday Fitness Centers was expanded.

Coach Curtis is currently working without an assistant, although the boys and girls teams often practice together.

Andover boys

The overall success of the AHS boys' team will probably depend on how rapidly the dozen freshmen progress.

Last year's crew finished 5-5-0 overall including a victory over Phillips Academy.

Key graduates were Jason Fox and Tom DeBenedictis (Ithaca).

The current squad is top- and bottom-heavy with four seniors, no juniors, one sophomore and 12 freshmen.

Returning senior veterans are Paul Miller, Phil Boness, Matt McClune and Seth DeRocher.

Boness is the top all-around candidate. Miller is strong in floor exercise, vaulting and high bar, McClune on rings, high bar

Solid performances push AHS girls' basketball to 5-1 overall record

By Rick Harrison

A pair of solid second half performances sparked the Andover High girls' basketball team to Greater-Lawrence Christmas Festival consolation round victories over North Reading and St. Mary's of Lawrence, as the Lady Warriors improved to 5-1 overall and finished in the middle of the eight-team holiday tourney field.

Coach George Sullivan's marauders were especially stingy on defense en route to the non-league victories over North Reading (53-33) and St. Mary's (42-23).

"To be 5-1 at this point, after playing the likes of Haverhill, Methuen, Lawrence and Lowell, is a pleasant surprise," said Sullivan. "It's our best start in three years."

AHS resumed Merrimack Valley Conference play, where it stands 3-1 in the Large School Division, earlier this week against a Lawrence team (2-4) it has already beaten once (61-44).

Tomorrow night the Lady Warriors host Dracut at the Dunn Gymnasium (7:30 p.m. varsity tapoff), while next week they hit the road for games at Tewksbury (Tuesday) and Billerica (Friday).

Two Andover players were honored by tournament officials, sophomore point-guard Lindsay Sweeney named to the five-player All-Tournament team and senior Co-Capt. Nancy Hoffman earning Andover's "Coach's Award" for sportsmanship and hustle.

The prestigious All-Tournament team is selected by vote of all eight head coaches.

Host North Andover emerged as the tourney champ, beating Methuen in the final, while Salem N.H. and Andover both had 2-1 tourney records.

Junior Grace Perry entered this week's action as the Lady Warriors' top scorer with 72 points, while Lindsay Sweeney has 71, Nancy Hoffman 42, Liz Hanson 31 and junior forward Zahia Kattar 24. Perry is tops in free throws with 26 and Sweeney in field goals with 31.

Last year Andover was involved in a series of close games, but thus far in 1990-91 four of the locals' five victories have come by margins of 17 or more points.

Andover, 53-33

The Lady Warriors bounced back from their loss to Methuen in strong fashion, Grace Perry and Lindsay Sweeney combining for 28 points while junior center Amy O'Sullivan and Co-Capt. Liz Hanson were tough on the boards against North Reading.

"We led 25-17 at halftime but it seemed closer," said Sullivan. "We started slowly and then jelled, breaking it open in the second half."

The scoring wasn't much different after intermission, AHS holding a 28-16 edge, but there was never a feeling the Hornets would seriously challenge.

Grace Perry added six rebounds to her 15 points, while Sweeney netted 13 points and Liz Hanson contributed a symmetrical seven-point, seven-rebound performance.

Zahia Kattar notched four points and pulled down five rebounds, Amy O'Sullivan had a game-high 11 boards to go with three points, and other three-point

The 6'3", 265-pounder is an avid fisherman and golfer.

Marinero, whose oldest brother Tony is a volunteer assistant coach at Andover High and whose older brother Mike was a noseguard at Boston College, has also been heavily recruited by Division 1 colleges including Colorado.

Finneran and Marinero also opened innumerable holes for their running backs, and provided pass protection for their quarterbacks, as bulwarks and blockers in the offensive line.

Boys' basketball places third in Greater-Lawrence Christmas Festival

By Rick Harrison

The Andover High boys' varsity basketball team gave Lawrence High all it could handle, and then some, before a late Lancers' rally pulled out a 63-60 decision in the semifinal round of the 16th annual Greater-Lawrence Christmas Basketball Festival at Merrimack College.

The loss, the Golden Warriors second to Lawrence in less than two weeks, eliminated Andover from tourney title consideration.

But Andover, a 71-57 come-from-behind victor over Methuen in the opening round, bounced back smartly with a consolation round win over North Andover to nail down third place.

The split left Coach Dave Fazio's squad at 3-3 overall, including 2-2 in the Merrimack Valley Conference, as they prepare to resume league play tomorrow night at Wilmington (7:30 p.m. varsity tapoff).

Next week the Warriors have a pair of home games at the Dunn Gymnasium, hosting Central Catholic Tuesday night and Billerica on Friday.

Senior guard and co-captain Matt Perry continues to lead the team in scoring, with junior point guard Sean Ryan and senior forward Brett Hammond also averaging double figures.

Lawrence, 63-60

Scrappy Andover trailed 32-28 at the half, and 44-36 early in the second half, but went on a 12-2 spurt to climb back in contention.

The lead seesawed the rest of the way, with Matt Perry's hoop at 13:34 giving the Golden Warriors a 59-56 lead and the momentum.

But rangy Rigo Nunez responded by burying a pair of key hoops as Lawrence regained the lead in the final minute, 60-59.

Warriors' Co-Capt. Joe Iarrobino tied it with a free throw, but Elinton Rosario drove the line and weaved in for a bucket with 12 seconds to play.

The Warriors then turned the ball over at this crucial juncture, Julio Vargas making the steal for Lawrence and getting fouled. He made the front end of the 1-and-1 to give the Lancers a 63-60 advantage, but missed the second shot to also leave the door open slightly for a downtown bomb to tie it and force overtime.

The shot materialized, but it was a desperation heave that didn't connect.

Perry once again led Andover with 24 points, 12 in each half, while 6'5" junior Chris Shea continued to improve and surprise with 12 points (11 in the second half).

Iarrobino also scaled double figures with 11 points, Hammond had eight, Matt Harris a field goal and junior forward Kevin Ring two free throws.

A big key to the contest was the suffocating defense thrown at point-guard Sean Ryan by a trio of Lawrence players.

Ryan, averaging 15.8 per contest going in, was the designated target and the Lancers accomplished their mission.

Joe Bonilla and Vargas were the chief pests, shadowing Ryan and holding the talented backcourt performer to a single free throw.

Nunez and Rosario hit twin digits for Lawrence with 21 and 11 points respectively.

Jackie Kupa plays basketball at Trinity College

Jackie Kupa, a sophomore at Trinity College in Hartford, Conn., is the Bantam's leading rebounder, pulling down 13.3 per game, and the second leading scorer, averaging 12 points a game.

Trinity entered the basketball season by losing the Babson Thanksgiving tournament, having lost three seniors with only one returning and one junior returning. Trinity has won the four games since, handing Wheaton its first loss 73-54 with Jackie scoring 20 points. Other wins were against Wesleyan, Mount Holyoke and Smith, who had just captured their fourth consecutive Seven Sisters championship.

Jackie, daughter of Ed and Judi Kupa of Andover, established a new Trinity record last season in the shotput and broke her own record a few weeks later. During high school she played basketball and threw the shotput for the Andover Golden Warriors.

IRS has toll-free tax assistance numbers

The Internal Revenue Service has new toll free numbers.

Those new tax assistance numbers are: for personal tax assistance, 1-800-TAX-1040; for recorded tax messages and refund information, 1-800-TAX-4477; for ordering tax forms and publications, 1-800-TAX-3676. Hearing-impaired taxpayers with access to TDD equipment can get tax refund information by calling 1-800-TAX-4059.

"With the installation of new switching techniques, some out of town taxpayers may experience delays in obtaining their usual quick service," said Gerard R. Esposito, Boston district director.

"We ask taxpayers to be patient with us while the telephone technicians fine tune the new system for an even better than last year filing season," said Esposito.

Taxpayers who live in the local Boston area will notice little change.

Future looks bright for gymnastic teams and pommel horse, and DeRocher on high bar and in floor exercise.

"Boness will do well as an all-around because he's a leader, a good worker and he wants to excel," said Coach Sirois.

The fifth returning veteran is sophomore Tadg Corkery, a top-notch competitor in floor exercise, vaulting and pommel horse.

The dozen freshmen, all of whom spent most of the pre-season experimenting to find their niche on the team, are Matt Fenton, Andy DeBenedictis, Scott Gray, Chris Sintros, Nick Zammuto, Dave Douglas, Jay Zolaga, Justin Pierce, Jeff Feinberg, Kurt Kozat, Rich Green and Rich DeAngelas.

"I call them the 'fearless freshmen,' and it looks as though it's going to be a good group," said Coach Sirois. "Every one is a potential gymnast. They all belong on the team, and what they need most right now is discipline and direction.

"We picked up a lot of freshman from the West Middle School program (run by Ken Maglio), and I think the exhibition we staged for the middle school kids last year helped the turnout greatly.

"It's wild with all the ninth graders. There's a lot of teaching to do, but in some respects it reminds me of the very young team we had in 1984 that starting scoring in the mid 60's and 70's and finished up around 104 per meet.

"Our strengths appear to be the pommel horse, parallel bars and floor exercise," noted Sirois. "The biggest problem area is the high bar. We have a lot of work to do there."

The Golden Warriors also lost out on a potential superstar, a transfer student from New York who definitely would have helped solidify the team.

Nancy Hoffman tossed in two points, junior forward Lea Conserva buried two free throws, Heather Norton made it 10 scorers with a foul shot, and junior guard Melissa McNamara added a hustling defensive effort.

Andover, 42-23

A sluggish first half saw the Lady Warriors creep ahead of St. Mary's, 19-13, as neither team shot or passed particularly well.

"It was just a slow, boring and uninspiring half," admitted Sullivan. "Lindsay (Sweeney) went down with a bad ankle sprain four minutes into the game, and that affected us for awhile.

"We came alive in the second half. Things began clicking when we started to play good denial defense, and we also took over underneath with 'Z' (Kattar) and Amy O'Sullivan dominating the boards."

Nancy Hoffman led the balanced offense, which featured nine scorers, as she netted 10 points.

Grace Perry added nine and Lindsay Sweeney, who returned to play briefly in the second half, pumped in eight points.

Kerry Hagerty contributed four points, Liz Hanson three points and a team-high 10 rebounds, and single field goals were provided by Melissa McNamara, Zahia Kattar, Stephanie Kupa and Amy O'Sullivan.

O'Sullivan also ripped down eight rebounds and

AMC holds ski/hike trip, Sunday, Jan. 6

The Andover Committee of the Appalachian Mountain Club invites the public to join members on a cross-country ski or hike through the 130-acre Goldsmith Woodlands Reservation in Andover on Sunday, Jan. 6.

This easy three-to-four mile trip will last about two hours.

Meet at 1:30 p.m. on the west side of Route 28 in Andover, 0.1 mile north of the intersection of Routes 125 and 28.

Call Warren Lewis at 475-1328 for information.

"He walked into our first practice and immediately reminded me of Jason Fox," said Sirois. "But he has some academic problems and won't be able to compete."

Lincoln-Sudbury is the defending North Shore champion, but the L.S. Warriors were hit hard by graduation and probably won't repeat.

Sirois feels Salem, N.H. will be the league team to beat, while defending state champ Attleboro High is the pre-season favorite to annex the state title once again.

Several of Andover's opponents were forced to drop boys' gymnastics because of budget constraints, and that has changed the face of the schedule somewhat.

Gone are Winthrop, Algonquin Regional of Marlboro, Revere and Brookline.

New additions to the 11-meet schedule are Newton North, Braintree, Newton South, Acton-Boxboro and Methuen (tentative).

The Golden Warriors have three tri-meets and six consecutive road meets to open the season. In fact, the only meet scheduled at the Dunn Gymnasium is Feb. 8 against Acton-Boxboro.

"Part of it (all the away meets) is a quirk in the scheduling, and part is the fact we have to set up and break down equipment every meet while many other schools keep their equipment in place throughout the season," explained Sirois.

The All-State Team and Individual Championship Meet is slated for Feb. 14 at Newton North.

Bill Hart returns as Sirois's assistant.

Coach Sirois is a graduate of Andover High ('73) and Northern Essex, and before taking the reins at AHS in 1979 he had coaching stints at the Lawrence YMCA and Bradford College.

Kattar six.

Heather Norton and Lea Conserva also pitched in some quality minutes for the winners, who outscored St. Mary's by a healthy 23-10 margin in the second half.

"Zahia Kattar's been playing some excellent defense," noted Sullivan. "We normally put her on the opposing team's top scorer, and she always plays them tough and gets her share of rebounds."

Paramount Auto

The gas pump is giving us all heartburn. Our phone has been ringing off the hook with requests for tune-ups. The fact of the matter is that with most newer cars, the traditional twice-a-year tune-up is a thing of the past. Fuel efficiency is an excellent gauge of your car's condition. Poor fuel economy means that "something" is not right. However, that "something" may be nothing more than under-inflated tires or aged spark plug wires. In most cases, the wholesale replacement of parts is a waste of money and may not even solve the problem. Your car is a complex piece of machinery and electronics.

Even minor changes can have a serious impact on performance. We hate to say it again, but follow the common sense guidelines for fuel economy that you have heard so many times over the years. If you are still dissatisfied, schedule an appointment and we will fix the problem. As optimists, we see it as a blessing in disguise: fuel efficient cars mean a cleaner environment. That's enough reason in itself to keep your car in top shape.

Don't be fooled by miracle cures for your car's poor economy. The market is being flooded with snake oil for the gas tank and magic widgets for under the hood.

Give us a call and we'll give you an honest opinion of what works, what doesn't and what the trade-offs are.

We wish our customers a Happy New Year and thank them for their support and trust, which have allowed our business to prosper by serving them.

Jeff and Greg

Making '91 resolutions

He'd also like to see a solution that would allow development of the old bowling alley property.

"I'd like to see it as not a parking problem issue," Mr. Russem said.

"At the top of the list, I'd like to see everyone have a healthy and prosperous New Year," he said.

Enzo Fossella, president of the Andover Chamber of Commerce, hopes downtown Andover continues to be a place where people can do their shopping and feel welcome.

"I'd like to see Andover grow and become a better community in 1991," he said.

Phoebe Goldman, executive director of Visiting Nurse HomeCare, Merimack Valley Hospice and HomeCare Inc., hopes the three agencies continue to be responsive to the changing health-care needs of Andover and the surrounding community. She says the growing health-care needs include AIDS care, maternal child health care, IV therapy, case management, Alzheimers care, support for caregivers, and both professional and informal support groups.

"I hope the community will continue to look to their local Visiting Nurse Hospice and HomeCare because with the recent state of the economy home care continues to be the most cost efficient, personal type of health care for many residents," said Ms. Goldman.

Donald McNemar, headmaster of Phillips Academy, would like to see people in Andover care more for and respect one another more in the new year. He believes this is a very important lesson for today's children to learn and the lessons should be taught at home, in the community and by example.

Kenneth Seifert, out-going superintendent of Andover's public schools, wants to remind the community that in five short years Andover will be cel-brating its 350th birthday. His wish for the community in 1991 is that everyone begins right now to get ready for the party by letting their town leaders know what they want for a town today and tomorrow.

Mark McQuillan, new superintendent of schools, hopes 1991 will see a school budget that is sufficiently reduced without destroying the sense of community that prevails in the schools. His second wish is that the school community re-unite and pull together to recall that the primary object is to serve Andover's students. His third wish is teacher and administrators be courageous in exploring new solutions in leadership and solving the financial problems that the schools face.

she is the alleged victim.

The father of the juvenile told the police Monday, Dec. 24, that his daughter was assaulted by a teacher at the school Wednesday, Dec. 19, said Lt. Froburg.

School Superintendent Kenneth

Seifert had no comment on the incident other than to say it was under investigation and the word "assaulted" may be too harsh to accurately describe the incident.

AHS Principal Wilbur Hixon also declined comment.

Country Club is in court Monday

9:30 a.m.

The club constructed several new guest rooms and opened the Trumpeters Restaurant on the premises in 1989. But neighbors of the club protested the expanded commercial use in a petition to the ZBA.

The Andover Country Club is in a residential zone. The club, owned by Yvon Cormier, claims that the restaurant and guest rooms are a grandfathered use of the property.

But the ZBA agreed with the neighbors, that although restaurant and overnight facilities could be used by members of the club and for functions, they were not to be open to the general public.

The defendants in the case include the five ZBA members at the time, Wesley Whitney, Jane Griswold, Carol McDonough, Roger Collins and John Bryden.

Also listed as defendants are the original petitioners in the case, the neighbors, Richard Tritter, Dan McGrath, Marvin Percival, Jane Twickler, Kathy Allen and Peter Cerniglia.
