

O'Brien wins; Andover mirrors state in 8 questions

By Don Staruk

Republicans shook the Democratic tree in Andover in Tuesday's elections — same as the rest of the county — but contrary to many of those distant races. Democrats here did not fall.

Some 13,953 of Andover's 18,528 registered voters, 75 percent, made it to the polls. The heavy turnout, and one slight mechanical failure, kept town election officials busy counting ballots until 2 a.m. Wednesday.

Republicans took power in both houses of Congress Tuesday with powerful incumbent Democrats such as Rep. Dan Rostenkowski, D-Ill., going down in defeat. New York's Democratic Gov. Mario Cuomo and Gov. Ann Richards, D-Texas, also lost bids for re-election. But at home in Massachusetts, the results were different.

U.S. Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-

Barnstable, was beaten 7,416 to 6,264 in Andover, but retained the seat he has held for 32 years with 60 percent of the vote and will return to Washington for another six years. Challenger W. Mitt Romney garnered about 40 percent of the vote statewide.

Republican Gov. William Weld was returned to the Statehouse with nearly 70 percent of the vote to Democrat Mark Roosevelt's 30 percent. Gov. Weld had an even larger margin here, beating his challenger 11,026 (79 percent) to 2,625.

Democratic state Sen. John D. O'Brien Jr. held on to his seat

despite a strong showing from Republican challenger and fellow Andover resident Maria Marasco. Ms. Marasco received 6,306 votes to Sen. O'Brien's 6,908 here in town, but, in preliminary figures, the senator managed to capture 25,957 votes to Ms. Marasco's 16,681 districtwide.

In the 18th Middlesex District of the House of Representatives, which now includes West Andover's Precinct 5, Democratic incumbent Rep. Edward LeLacheur of Lowell beat Republican challenger Roy Nagle, also of Lowell, with about 65 percent of the vote. That victory was despite Mr. Nagle's 901 to 686 victory over Rep. LeLacheur here in Andover.

Rep. Gary Coon, R-Andover, was unchallenged in his bid for another term as state representative in the 17th Essex District and will return to

Local business may renovate train depot

By Don Staruk

A local man is working on plans that could see the former train station at 100 School St. developed into offices for his company.

Rick Marino, of 56 Cheever Circle and owner of Corporate Access, a computer hardware and software business at 23 Central St., has agreed to purchase the former train depot if he can obtain a number of approvals required to move ahead with the project. The building currently is owned by Melvin Zaft of North Andover.

"A lot of things need to be done for the deal to go through," Mr. Marino said this week.

The Planning Board will review a petition for a site plan permit at its next meeting, Tuesday, Nov. 15. The Board of Appeals, probably at its December meeting, will consider a petition for a variance for relief from parking restrictions. Permissions for various aspects of the projects are also needed from the state Department of Public Utilities and B&M Railroad, and renovations will need to comply with Historical Commission guidelines for historical buildings.

Part of the plan may involve taking down part or all of the canopy that is on the Essex Street end of the building, over the old train depot platform, according to Steve Colyer, town planning director. He said Sam DeSalvo, former building inspector, for years wanted to have that canopy torn down because he believed it was a safety hazard. But taking the canopy down requires permission from the DPU and compliance with the town's demolition delay bylaw pertaining to historic structures, and there may be a deed restriction stipulating what can be done with the canopy.

Those are the kinds of obstacles Mr. Marino said need to be overcome before he will be sure whether he can move ahead with his plans for the structure.

Mr. Marino said his business is growing and needs more space. He said he would like to convert the depot into "first class office space." Corporate Access would occupy the entire building. If all goes well and he can acquire all necessary approvals by February, renovations would begin immediately and the offices could be ready by April or May 1995.

Building history

The depot building was built in 1906 by the B&M Railroad, according to Barbara Thibeault, director of the Andover Historical Society. It was the third depot for the Center Village. The first was where the Memorial Hall Library parking lot is now. The second was at the same site as the third. Commuters now board the train across the tracks and across Essex Street from the old depot, where a small canopy protects them from the elements.

The building was built of yellow brick with a sandstone base and trim. New larger windows were installed on the north end of the building by the owners of the former Sea Train Restaurant. It is Mr. Marino's intention to take out the large glass windows and restore the brick and sandstone and smaller windows, according to Ms. Thibeault.

"I just think it's a real focal point for the downtown and I'd love to see it more vital," Ms. Thibeault said of the building.

John and Alice Marocco, of North Andover, owned and operated the Sea Train Restaurant in the building for more than 15 years, until a fire rendered the building uninhabitable February 3, 1994. The R&R Coffee Shoppe was in the south end of the building, but also closed after the fire.

The fire, which was determined to be arson, heavily damaged the restaurant and caused smoke damage to the coffee shop, but did not cause any structural damage to the building.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Firefighters' parade to be bigger than ever

By Neil Fater

After rain twice delayed last year's march, Andover firefighters are pulling out all the stops to make this year's Firefighters' Holiday Parade, the 39th, quite a splash.

"This is the first year that we're going to have a grand marshal and a few surprise groups," said Donald Hinckley, parade committee co-chairman. "That will get people thinking, 'Maybe I should go this year.' It's going to be a bigger parade and it's only going to get bigger."

The parade is scheduled to begin Sunday, Nov. 27, at 1:30 p.m. at Whittier Street. Floats, marching bands and other groups will proceed onto Elm Street, down Main Street, onto Pumphard Avenue, to Doherty Middle School on Bartlet Street.

"The parade is always kicked off with Engine One and it's always ended with Santa on the ladder truck," said Mr. Hinckley.

Amy Duarte will be the parade's first grand marshal and is expected to ride in a convertible with her sister, Trish. Amy, 13, received a bone marrow transplant from her now-18-year-old sister in October, 1993, as part of her battle with leukemia.

A typical parade costs approximately $3,500, and Andover businesses and the firefighters' organization typically pick up the tab. Those interested in donating time or gifts can contact Mr. Hinckley at the central fire station.

Other members of the parade committee are James Cuticchia, co-chairman; and members John McMullen and Jacqueline Lynch.

Cholesterol clinic is set for Nov. 16

The Andover Board of Health will hold a cholesterol screening clinic Wednesday, Nov. 16, from 9 a.m. to noon for Andover residents only. An appointment is necessary.

The simple fingerstick test for total cholesterol costs $5 and does not require fasting. The program includes dietary counseling by the public health nurse and referral to your private physician for follow-up care as needed.

For more information or an appointment, call the health department at 470-3800, Ext. 255.

Care for kids at Special Town Meeting

An Andover Special Town Meeting will take place on Monday, Dec. 5, at 7 p.m. at the Collins Center at Andover High School, on Shawsheen Road.

Day Care at Night will be available for children ages 5-12. Registration is mandatory by Friday, Dec. 2 through the Department of Community Services for a fee of $5 per child per night.

Children will be not be allowed to enter the voting section of Town Meeting. Parents should make plans to use the Day Care at Night program or speak to an election official about sitting in the non-voter section.

Other services

Upon request, sign language interpreters, material on tape and other auxiliary aides and services will be provided to ensure effective communications as specified in the Americans with Disabilities Act. Make your request by Nov. 25 to the ADA coordinator, Andover Town Offices, 36 Bartlet St., Andover, Mass. 01810.

Make-up flu clinic is today, 1-3 p.m.

The Andover Health Department has scheduled a second clinic for influenza shots for those Andover residents who missed last month's immunization program. The clinic will be held today, Thursday, from 1 p.m. until 3 p.m. at the Senior Center at Whittier Court.

League raising funds for voter services

The League of Women Voters of Andover North Andover is holding a finance drive to raise money for its non-partisan voter service activities and studies of local, state and national topics. The combined League is asking residents and business leaders to give their support, said Karen Young of Andover and Seglinde Martin of North Andover, finance chairwomen.

This fall the League organized the Know Your Town Fair at Old Town Hall. This year, the League is studying the implications of the Education Reform Act, the addition of bicycle and foot paths to Andover's master plan to encourage alternative forms of transportation and services for youth in town. The education committee is supporting a pilot program for class meetings at Andover High School and is monitoring Andover's Capital Improvement Program and town government.

As a state study this year, the League is investigating domestic violence and, on the national level, is continuing to evaluate health care proposals.

Climbing off the welfare wagon – one at a time

Housing Authority offers self-sufficiency program

By Don Staruk

Sometimes a problem can seem so large that attempting to tackle it is too much to comprehend. Reigning in the runaway public welfare wagon is one such problem, but supervisors and participants in a program in Andover are doing their part to control one of the state's most notorious budget busters.

The Family Self Sufficiency Program at the Andover Housing Authority is designed to enable unemployed or under-employed, low-income families become economically self sufficient. It provides an incentive for participants to get a job rather than penalizing them for it.

The program helps coordinate services in the public and private sectors, such as child care, transportation, counseling, education and job training, to enable participants to acquire the skills necessary to obtain employment. In exchange, participants sign a contract agreeing to a schedule that will wean them off welfare in five years. A problem with welfare is that, once someone is on it, there is little incentive to work because benefits are reduced proportionally to wages received. The same is true with Section 8 housing assistance, the federally funded housing subsidy program.

"As long as they remain low income, they are allowed to stay on Section 8," said Susan Laurenza, case manager for Andover's FSS program.

A key part of the FSS program, and one of its strong motivational factors, is that while participants' direct benefits are reduced as their income increases, a certain percentage of the reduced benefits goes into escrow for a savings account for the participant, and the participant receives that money upon completion of the program. Star student

Susan Laurenza

Julia Vasquez, 25, a 1987 graduate of Greater Lawrence Technical School and a single mother, is an example of the typical FSS participant, according to Ms. Laurenza.

Ms. Vasquez and her two young children, Hilary Portorreal, 6, a first-grader at Bancroft School, and Franklin Portorreal, 5, a kindergartner at Bancroft, live in an apartment on Colonial Drive. In addition to being a mom, Ms. Vasquez attends Northern Essex Community College three nights a week and is employed as a home health aide.

"Sometimes I feel so exhausted it's not even funny," Ms. Vasquez said.

She worked 35 hours a week until recently, when one of her patients went into a nursing home. That cut her hours to about 22 hours a week until she picks up another client.

She likes her job. "It's good because you feel like you're helping people. You feel like you're needed."

She is studying for a one-year certificate in travel and tourism at NECC and hopes to find a job working for an airline at Logan Airport, even if just ticketing passengers or boarding flights to start. She then wants to continue taking night classes for her associate's degree, and eventually own a travel agency.

"It's easy. Two years go by so fast," she said.

She also wants to work for a bachelor's degree in hotel management.

Being part of the FSS program adds to her schedule, as she is required to attend monthly group meetings as well as monthly personal appointments with Ms. Laurenza. And she doesn't want to miss those meetings.

"Susan will pull your ear if you're not there every month," she said.

Ms. Laurenza's job is to help participants find the services they need, and to help them battle through the paperwork and delays that can act as hurdles. She doesn't find the jobs or advise program participants on specific financial matters, but refers them to appropriate help.

'Some apply, but don't understand the commitment'

Ms. Laurenza is helping Ms. Vasquez with her credit. Ms. Vasquez lived in Florida two years ago and while there signed a 36-week contract to join a health club. When she left Florida, she stopped paying the health club fees, but the club kept billing her. She now owes $800. Ms. Laurenza helped make an arrangement to pay the debt, but Ms. Vasquez's bad credit is complicating other areas of her life.

Because she hasn't lived in the state long enough to be eligible for financial aid, she had to pay her $950 tuition for NECC in advance. Ms. Vasquez also had to pay her own Medicaid insurance - $450. By next semester, she will be eligible for financial aid. In the meantime, the FSS program has kept her going.

"Without this I'd have to be living with my mom. If I wasn't in this program, I'd probably be on welfare or something, something I didn't want to do."

Her mom, Rosa Santos, lives in Lawrence.

The FSS program also helps Ms. Vasquez stay focused on her own success.

"It gives you, like, incentive," she said. "You need good credits and good grades because you know you're going to bring them to Susan and share them with other people at the monthly meetings."

Andover is the only Housing Authority in the Merrimack Valley that is participating in the FSS program at this time, according to Nancy Marcoux, director of the Andover Housing Authority.

Andover currently has 25 FSS slots; 18 are filled. Participants are chosen from families that have a Section 8 housing certificate voucher, and they must live here. FSS program participants are required to pay 30 percent of their own rent.

"When a person decides that he/she would like to make a commitment to the FSS program, they must first go through a screening period, during which time they meet on a regular basis with the part-time case manager employed by the Housing Authority," Ms. Marcoux said.

"We've had people who have begun it and haven't made it through the eight weeks," Ms. Laurenza said. "Some apply, but don't understand the commitment and quit."

Families commit to the program for a five-year period during which the Housing Authority provides housing assistance and on-going case management. The head of the household agrees to sign a "contract of participation," which specifies their obligations in seeking and maintaining employment. Participants who do not abide by the contract are asked to leave the program.

Andover's 18 FSS participants are a diverse group with a wide range of educational levels, social awareness and self esteem, said Ms. Marcoux. Almost all are currently enrolled in a job training program, attended school to obtain their graduate equivalency diploma or are enrolled at Northern Essex.

"This program provides these families with an opportunity to receive the support necessary to break the cycle of poverty and make a positive change in their life," Ms.

'You don't have to know what you want, you just have to know you want something better.'

Julia Vasquez

Marcoux said.

"Of all 18, none of them wants to be on welfare," Ms. Laurenza said, and added that not all 18 are on welfare.

There were two men in the program, but one found a job that paid so well he was no longer eligible for the program. The rest are women who vary in age and background, some with children.

"This program is definitely not for everybody," Ms. Vasquez said. "Some people are just not willing to say, 'Yes, I'm going to go to school. I'm going to pass my grades.'"

"You don't have to know what you want, you just have to know you want something better," Ms.

Vasquez said. "It's not really being goal-oriented and having a set mind - it's just (being) willing to do something and not to sit back and have somebody do it for you."

Lone man robs Shawmut Bank

Police have suspects in the $4,000 robbery

By Don Staruk

A man walked into the Shawsheen Plaza branch of Shawmut Bank just after 5 p.m. Friday afternoon, handed the teller a note demanding money, walked out with roughly $4,000 in cash and drove away.

Andover police this week said they have suspects in the robbery and expect to make an arrest in the case, but would not elaborate for fear of compromising their investigation.

The robber, who was described by witnesses as Hispanic, 30-35 years old, 150-160 pounds with curly black hair, entered the bank at 5:05 p.m. He went to a table and wrote a note, then walked to a teller and handed her the note.

Police would not give details of what was in the note, but said it was not threatening. They also said the man did not show a gun or threaten that he had a gun.

He then left the bank and drove off, possibly in a white van. The getaway vehicle was left running double parked in a space for handicapped motorists. Police said that heavy rush-hour traffic aided the robber in his escape.

The robber was soft spoken with a Spanish accent, and had a gauze bandage on his left cheek. "It appears he was alone," Detective Dave Grant said.

Detectives said the suspect may have been involved in other robberies in the Merrimack Valley, and other communities are involved in the investigation.

North end hit with breaks

By Don Staruk

Police are investigating half a dozen house breaks that occurred in the north end of town last Thursday, Nov. 3. The six breaks were all reported over the course of the day and are thought to be the work of the same robber or robbers, said Detective Dave Grant.

At 9:04 a.m., a rear window was reported pried open in a house break on Brown Street. One item was reported missing.

At 1:52 p.m. a resident reported a rear window smashed and a jewelry box and jewelry missing from a house on Joseph Street. At 3:59 p.m., a Bellevue Road boy returned home from school and found the front door open and a back door window smashed at his home. A log that was used to break the window was left on the kitchen table.

Breaks also were reported at 5:21 p.m. on Shawsheen Road, and at 9:05 p.m. on Tessier Drive. A seventh break was reported on Moreland Avenue at 8:50 p.m., but detectives said that break was completely unrelated to the other six.

by Richard D. Hoppood, D.M.D.

GUM SURGERIES

In some cases, surgery must be performed on the gums to reduce the risk of gum disease. Gingivectomy, for instance, involves reducing the depth of the pocket surrounding a tooth by cutting off the loose upper part of the cuff that encircles the tooth. For deep pockets, flap surgery may be performed in which the whole side of the pocket is cut back to form a flap. The exposed pocket and tooth root are then examined and treated before the flap is sutured snugly back into place against the tooth. Then, there is a procedure known as frenectomy, which sometimes accompanies gingivectomy or flap surgery. It involves cutting away one or more of the several frenum ("sails"), vertical membranes that extend from the gums to the mouth lining.

There is no magic to avoiding gum disease and achieving dental hygiene success. Almost everyone can do it with a modest amount of time invested daily. Keep up with home dental care as well as periodic cleanings and checkups. Your teeth & gums are depending on you - don't let them down. Call us instead at 475-2431, 296 Lowell Street, Rt 133 with easy access off Rt 93. You'll be glad we're part of your health care team! Office hours are Mon & Thur 10-8, Tues & Fri 8-6, and by appointment.

P.S. Frenectomy is only undertaken if the frenula are attached too closely to the teeth.

5 charged with mailbox destruction

By Don Staruk

Five youths will be charged with malicious destruction of property after they were stopped for allegedly playing mailbox baseball in the Spring Grove Road area of town last Saturday night, Nov. 5.

At 10:45 p.m. Saturday, police received a report that the occupants of a truck and a convertible car had just smashed a mailbox on Spring Grove Road, then headed north toward Porter Road. The resident called back a moment later and said the vehicles were on Woburn Street.

Officer James Reilly stopped the car on South Main Street and Officer John Pathiakakis stopped the pickup truck a short distance up the road.

Three adults, all boys from Andover, and two juveniles, an Andover boy and a girl from Boxford, will each be charged with 12 counts of malicious destruction of property.

"We found out that there were about 12 to 20 mailboxes smashed. They're going to be charged with all the ones in the Spring Grove vicinity," Officer Reilly said.

Officer Reilly said police are looking into whether the youths were responsible for throwing a pumpkin through the rear window of a Jeep on Abbot Street, which happened at about the same time Saturday.

Lt. Arthur Ricci said Wednesday morning that reports of damage were still coming in from the area.

Officer Reilly's report on the incident was not complete Wednesday morning and the names of the youths involved were not available.

North end hit with breaks

Police are still taking reports of what was taken in the breaks, said Detective Grant.

Close call

At one point Thursday afternoon, police stopped three men in Shawsheen Plaza who were suspected of being involved in the house breaks, but let them go for lack of evidence, only to learn later that the three may have been involved in a Wilmington break.

At 3:13 p.m., police were alerted to a car parked at Shawsheen Plaza Sunoco, 205 N. Main St., with three men in it. The three allegedly threw jewelry into a dumpster. Officers converged on the car, which they stopped in Shawsheen Plaza, but did not find enough evidence to hold the men.

"Just having jewelry in a car is not a crime, unless it can be determined to be stolen," said Sgt. Brian Pattullo. He said officers held the men "as long as we could," but could not identify any of the jewelry as stolen. Officers even had a resident from one of the houses broken into in Andover on the phone trying to identify the jewelry, but to no avail.

The car was towed because none of the men were licensed to drive, and none of them owned the car, which was registered in Maine. None of them would admit to knowing how the car got there, Sgt. Pattullo said. Their names were taken and the men were allowed to go on their way.

Police learned later Thursday night that some of the jewelry had been taken during a house break in Wilmington. All the evidence and information on the men and the car was turned over to Wilmington police, and the investigation is continuing, Sgt. Pattullo said. The incident was not related to the Andover breaks, according to Detective Grant.

BUSINESS

Harriet Kaminsky, left, and Paula Shane, owner, show off some of the items for sale at Bagette, a women's accessory and clothing store at 46 Main St., where Raspberries restaurant formerly was located.

New business: Women's accessories and clothing Catering to the customer

By Linda Kenney

Relocating to Andover has been a "very positive experience" for Paula Shane, owner of Bagette. The women's accessory and clothing store opened last month and Ms. Shane said many have stopped by the store at 46 Main St. "just to say welcome." Ms. Shane, of Middleton, closed her Marblehead store after a year and a half in order to relocate in Andover.

Bagette carries a variety of handbags and sweaters. Handbags range in price from about $18 to $200. In sweaters, Ms. Shane carries such names as Chava, United Knitwear and Wasteknot for approximately $40 to $50 and also such names as Ball of Cotton, Annie M. B Line and LNI for approximately $100 to $250.

"Catering to the customer is very important," said Ms. Shane. "I want people to let me know what they want and I will supply it."

Ms. Shane travels to New York usually once a month and says, "If I see something I like, I buy it." As a result, the merchandise Ms. Shane carries "changes constantly."

Ms. Shane "loves to shop" and since she often is a customer herself, she "tries hard" to put herself "in their position."

To celebrate the store's grand opening, Ms. Shane is offering 20 percent off all merchandise in the store.

Bagette is open Tuesday through Saturday, 10 a.m. to 5:30 p.m., and until 7 p.m. Thursdays. Appointments are also available for those who can't make it to the store during regular hours. Bagette will also be open on Sundays and Mondays from Thanksgiving to Christmas for holiday shopping.

Community Foundation works for youth

The Merrimack Valley Community Foundation will join more than 400 other community foundations during Community Foundation Week, Nov. 14-18, in an effort to promote non-profit services to America's youth. Community foundations across the United States have taken a leading role in tackling youth-related issues by funding programs designed to help kids overcome the obstacles to healthy development that they face.

"The Merrimack Valley Community Foundation offers people of the Merrimack Valley a variety of ways to become involved in helping our area's young people," said Robert Lionette, the foundation's executive director. "Through setting up a fund in the community foundation, serving on an advisory committee or volunteering with one of the many agencies the foundation supports, people can make a dramatic difference in the lives of children and youth at risk."

The Community Foundation provides grants to agencies that support youth activities including The Greater Lawrence Summer Fund, The Lowell Summer Fund, The Essex Art Center, Operafest, The Youth Corp of the Cambodian Mutual Assistance Association, The Greater Lowell Family YMCA, The House of Hope Family Shelter, The Merrimack Valley Repertory Theatre and The Jovenes Catolicas en Accion Youth Center as well as others throughout the Merrimack Valley. The foundation also presents scholarships to high school students through support from private foundations.

Community foundations gave more than $600 million to charities throughout the nation last year.

First Essex gets five-star rating

First Essex Bank has been awarded Bauer Financial Reports' five-star rating.

The rating represents the highest award presented by Bauer Financial Reports and is given in recognition of the bank's safety, strength and performance. This rating is based on the analysis of the second quarter 1994 financial data as filed with federal regulators.

The rating indicates that First Essex Bank's adjusted tangible capital and its risk-based capital ratio significantly exceed the level required by federal regulators. It also indicates that there are no excessive delinquencies or repossessed assets and that First Essex Savings Bank posted a profit in the second quarter of 1994.

Leonard A. Wilson, president and CEO of First Essex, noted, "We're very pleased to receive this award from Bauer Financial in recognition of our continued performance and financial strength. The numbers speak for themselves, but it's the value that the shareholders, employees and the community have contributed that make this success possible."

This represents the third consecutive quarter for which the bank has received the company's highest award; First Essex has also been awarded Bauer's four-star rating for performance in several past quarters.

facilitator. To accomplish this, individuals can attend meetings at 9:30 a.m. in Wilmington every Wednesday.

To celebrate its fourth anniversary and stress the continued need for its support services, WIND has scheduled an anniversary celebration for Nov. 30 at the Shriners Auditorium in Wilmington. Networking starts at 8:30 a.m. and the formal meeting at 10. Call (508) 694-9637 for further information.

Athlete's Corner broken into again

The Athlete's Corner, at 8 Main St., was broken into yesterday, Wednesday, at 5:09 a.m. It was the second break in two weeks.

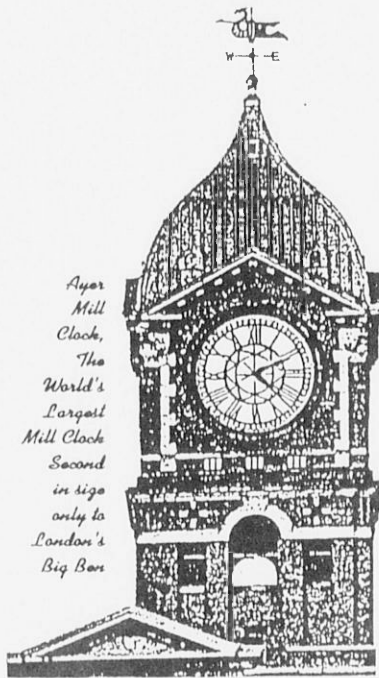

The front glass door was broken Wednesday and several sweatsuits were on the ground, just outside the door, as well as other sports equipment. Police speculate that thieves were interrupted during the break.

The same glass door was broken early Tuesday morning, Nov. 1, when thieves took at least 15 jackets from a rack at the front of the store.

A passerby in this week's break told police he saw a dark colored Bronco/Blazer type of vehicle with dark windows leaving the area and driving fast.

Police had been checking the store every five to 10 minutes in the morning because of the Nov. 1 break, but also because the Athlete's Corner in Stoneham was broken into Saturday, Nov. 5, and a store in another community had a similar kind of break Tuesday, Nov. 8.

Jack Norton, manager of the Andover store, was checking inventory Wednesday morning to determine what was taken this week. The investigation is ongoing.

At 7:11 p.m., Carlos R. Ortiz, 29, of Woburn, was arrested at CVS/Pharmacy, 68 Main St., and charged with disturbing the peace and assault and battery on a police officer. A female teacher caught two female students lighting cigarettes in the girls room and told them to accompany her to the office. When one of the girls began to walk away the female teacher allegedly caught the student's sweater on the arm with two fingers. "The girl was out of

COMFORT

The winter was long and hard and our son Alex had a sore throat it seemed all through the season. At our last visit to the pediatrician, the doctor suggested a tonsillectomy. She made arrangements for the Day Surgery team at Lawrence General to do the procedure. Off we went on a bright and sunny Tuesday morning in early spring. The staff made Alex feel special. They understood that while this might be one of hundreds of tonsillectomies they'd do this year, it was the only one our son was going to have. And the fact that he'd be in and out in one day made it so much easier on him and on us.

RESPECT

The doctors and nurses explained everything to us. I was especially impressed with the way they spoke directly to Alex. Being treated that way really seemed to calm him. But what mattered most was the way they treated our family. They used a smile as well as they used their high-tech surgical equipment, and it sure worked for us.

Edgewood gears up with appointment of new staff member.

NORTH ANDOVER — In an effort to handle the increased interest in their Edgewood life-care retirement community, Life Care Services Corporation (LCS) has recently appointed Karen McCormack to its sales staff.

"It's not everyday that we can find an individual who is so perfectly suited for the job," said Dave Durden, LCS Project Development Manager. "Karen brings a wealth of experience working with retirement communities in Washington, D.C., Virginia, California and Massachusetts."

McCormack will team up with the community's sales manager, Kathy Hamel, and marketing secretary, Nancy Roy, to help market the new community to be built on 62 acres bordering Lake Cochichewick and the historic Edgewood farm. The site also adjoins protected conservation land of the Trustees of Reservation.

From this beautiful vantage point, Edgewood will give residents the opportunity to enjoy a variety of activities, including canoeing, horseback riding, fishing, gardening and hiking. Indoor activities will include a creative arts studio, woodworking shop, library, card and game rooms, educational seminars and fitness classes.

"It's easy to see why this location sells itself," said Hamel. "I've lived in the East for a number of years and have always been fond of this part of the country. But the relaxed scenic beauty at Edgewood is exceptional. Also, I think it's important for future residents to know that we're just 25 miles north of Boston. It's the best of both worlds!"

As she assumes her new role at Edgewood, McCormack says she expects to see an upsurge of interest in the community in the coming months.

"People will be visiting their families during the holidays," she said. "And I think they're going to be looking for retirement options."

One of those important benefits will be an on-site Health Center. As part of the life-care concept, Edgewood will offer lifetime nursing care if needed, for as long as it's needed, at virtually no additional cost. This way, McCormack explains, residents will have the peace-of-mind of knowing that professional care is always available.

McCormack also notes that Edgewood will offer a full range of first-class services and amenities. This will allow residents to continue their active lifestyles, while the Edgewood staff handles weekly housekeeping and flat laundry service, maintenance and groundskeeping.

Edgewood is the only community in the area being developed and managed by LCS, the nation's leader. LCS brings more than 30 years of experience, in more than 60 retirement communities, serving some 20,000 residents nationwide.

"The involvement of LCS in this project was what first attracted me to this position," said McCormack. "LCS has the kind of track record I was looking for, and I think it's the kind of track record that should interest potential residents of Edgewood."

"When people hear about the total package here at Edgewood, they can really see why it's the ideal retirement lifestyle," McCormack said. "I think that's why we're seeing so many advanced reservations."

Anyone over the age of 62 and capable of independent living is invited to find out more about reserving a residence at Edgewood. Entrance fees start at $149,600. For further information about life-care retirement at Edgewood, or for a personal tour of our model apartment, call (508) 689-0202.

Andover High seniors Valerie Parker (left) and Sarah Weir hold promotional materials for the AIDS Dance-a-thon, which will take place Saturday, Nov. 19, in Boston. A busload of AHS students plan to attend.

AHS students to take part in the AIDS Dance-a-thon

By Valerie Parker, AHS senior
Get ready to jam! On Saturday, Nov. 19, a busload of Andover High students will be on their way to the Hynes Convention Center in the Back Bay section of Boston, to have an experience they'll never forget — the sixth annual AIDS Dance-a-thon. This four-hour entertainment extravaganza, one of Boston's biggest and best indoor dance parties, will be held from 6 to 11 p.m. More than 5,000 people, including hundreds of dance teams, are expected to raise more than $500,000 for the AIDS Action Committee.

This exciting event will include dancing to the latest music spun by top DJs in the main room, live entertainment sets, plus three more dance floors and free lessons for two-stepping, ballroom dancing and World Beat (reggae, salsa) music.

Not only is the AIDS Dance-a-thon a great party, it's a great cause. This event is an experience that opened my eyes to how much of a difference one person can make and that we do have the power to stop the epidemic of AIDS.

Last year was a blast — I left the Hynes Convention Center feeling proud, knowing I made a difference, knowing I touched somebody's life, knowing I helped someone. Don't miss out on the fun this year.

Care to dance? Call the Dance-line at (617) 424-9255 for pledge sheets. Contributions may be sent to: AIDS Action Committee, 131 Clarendon St., Boston, 02116.

AHS Marching Band wins gold medal

By Joan Buschmann

The Andover High School Marching Band concluded its competition season by bringing home a gold medal from the New England Scholastic Band Association finals held Sunday in Quincy.

Of the eight bands in Division II, Andover took second place with a score of 86.2.

Only two golds were awarded among the 13 bands in Divisions I and II.

"The band put forth their best effort of the season," said Mark Napierkowski, band director. "Finally, we came up with a gold medal. It was a true team effort."

The band's field show repertoire entitled "A Witches Sabbath," included Symphony Fantastique - Movement V from The Shining, The Exorcist and Devil's Dance from Witches of Eastwick.

The Andover High School marching band at the NESBA finals, at Veterans Stadium in Quincy.

The performers, in their black and white uniforms, arched, played their music and twirled flags with continuous movement and style to create a cohesive show. Their performance also included special theatrical effects, such as drum major Kate O'Donnell's verbal introduction that sets the tone for the show, a "boiling" cauldron and a 20- by 30-foot black waving sheet, which is run across the field between the lines of color guard and the marchers.

Junior Mandi Egerly meshed her flute solo into the percussionists' song, Exorcist. This was followed with a piccolo solo by senior Melissa Schroeder and Matt Hardiman's muted trumpet solo in Devil's Dance.

This was the seniors' last high school competition. Here's what they would like to share:

"Through all the band directors these past years, and other changes, we've managed to come up with a gold each year." — Jeff Dennis (trombone)

"There was a lot of great talent displayed at finals." — Chris Schardin (percussion)

"I think we did a really good job against some tough competition. We held together very well." — Lisa Lucas (color guard)

Andover High School's student government revived a Halloween tradition. For the first time in more than a decade, AHS held a Halloween party. About 90 percent of the 500 students in attendance came in costume and were admitted for a reduced ticket price. Student and family response to the event was so positive that the party promises to become an annual affair, according to principal Tim Thomas. Faculty chaperones were Karen Burke, Marge Dugal, Betsy Holden, Mike Marcoux, Sally O'Brien, Ellen Parker, Jean Pendergrass, Jo Ann Samra and Rosemarie Webb.

THE PAPERWORK

If you are selling a home, the most important part of the transaction occurs after you have found a buyer. If your property is being marketed professionally, the Realtor who is selling your home puts together the purchase offer and then presents it to you. You could run into problems if you are trying to sell your home on your own and using a form purchased from a local stationary store.

Each local Board of Realtors has drafted standard contract forms that reflect the legal requirements of the jurisdiction in which you live. These contract forms include the sales price, financing contingencies, completion deadlines, and other terms that are included to meet local government requirements. These forms are complicated, and a slight variation in language can often cost or save you thousands of dollars. If you are planning to sell your home yourself in order to save the brokerage fee, you may find that is false economy. Many of our listings came from people who thought their homes were sold, only to lose the would-be buyers at the last minute - on a technicality!

If you are considering a move, contact the professionals at Century 21 Carriage House. Call us at 475-1243, or stop by our office at 10 High Street.

"...We reached our goals of achieving a gold medal and doing the very best we can." — Melissa Schroeder (piccolo)

"We tried very hard throughout the season and it paid off." — Greg Litchfield (alto sax)

"It's been the most enjoyable part of my senior year." — Al Kwon (percussion)

"When focused, anything can be accomplished." — Ted Friedenson (baritone sax)

In Division II, Oliver Ames (93.1; gold) took all, sharing best drum major with Triton; Portsmouth, N.H. (84.5). In Division I: Case (80.3), best drum major; band front, music; Bishop Feehan (79.2); Mansfield (76.4), best percussion.

Of the 12 larger bands that competed, King Philip placed first in Division III and Blackstone-Millville took first in Division IV.

The Boston University Marching Band played in exhibition and for the retreat ceremony for Divisions I and II, which began after two groups of single-filed bands lined up side-by-side. They marched from opposite ends of the stadium and met before the audience, where the straight lines passed between each other in colorful review. The bands then positioned themselves on the field for the award presentations.

Mark Reppucci, last year's AHS band director, came to the field show, as did coach Dick Collins.

The remainder of the marching band season includes playing at the Veterans Day service in Ballardvale tomorrow, Nov. 11; the football games Nov. 11 and 24; and the Andover Firefighters' Santa Parade, set for Sunday, Nov. 27.

Not sure how to help your child succeed? 766 PAC asks:

'Is your child falling through the cracks?'

Is your child experiencing school difficulties and you're not sure of what to do?

"Some students may be placed in special education because of the school's failure to meet the needs of the learner," states the Mass. Department of Education's eligibility guidelines for special education. Many strategies can be employed to help your child succeed before they are placed in special needs.

766 PAC will present a representative from the Department of Education on Wednesday, Nov. 16, to discuss how the educational system should meet the needs of all students. Teaching methods, learning styles and curriculum will be discussed.

College Board lists Advanced Placement Scholar awards

Thirty-two students from the class of '94 at Andover High School have been named AP Scholars by the College Board, in recognition of their exceptional achievement in May on the college-level Advanced Placement (AP) examinations.

Another student is a senior this year.

The College Board recognizes three levels of achievement: the AP Scholar with Distinction, the AP Scholar with Honor and the AP Scholar.

David Douglas, Mona Elsheikh, Anne Hwang and James Stratton, students at Andover High, qualified for the AP Scholar with Distinction Award by earning grades of three or above, on five or more AP examinations, with an average exam grade of at least 3.5. Ten students qualified for the AP Scholar with Honor Award by earning grades of 3 or above on four or more AP examinations, with an average exam grade of at least 3.25. These students are Mala Bhattacharya, Sarah Hamilton, Jennifer Huang, Amy Kattapuram, Nicole Kramer, Akilesh Palanisamy, Alexander Raymond, Beth Segal, Jaime Weida and Nicholas Zammuto.

Nineteen students qualified for the AP Scholar Award by completing three or more AP examinations, with grades of 3 or higher. The AP Scholars are Steven Andreadis, Leah Bonner, Kristoffer Brassil, Daniel Buchholz, Samantha Ford, Lisa Gabriel, Sarah Goldin, Scott Gray, Adam Greene, Guarav Gupta, Brian Hill, Jeremy Parker, Amy Parziale, Elizabeth Peterson, Gail Rollins, Kevin Roy, Marcy Ruda, Megan Selvittelli and James Woodroffe.

Guarav Gupta is a senior at AHS; he also has this 1994-'95 school year to do college-level work, and possibly earn another Advanced Placement Award.

Approximately 10 percent of America's graduating seniors have taken one or more AP examinations. Only about 12 percent of the more than 459,000 students who took AP examinations in May performed at a sufficiently high level to merit such recognition.

Understanding Chiropractic

by Mark F. DeLorenzo, D.C.

THE HANDS-ON APPROACH

When a patient afflicted with low back pain schedules a visit with the chiropractor, what can he or she expect in terms of hands-on therapy? The procedure known as manipulation, or spinal adjustment, calls for the patient to be placed on an examining table on his or her side, while the chiropractor grasps the uppermost shoulder and a hip or bent knee for leverage. The torso is then rotated by pressing the shoulder and pelvis in opposite directions. As a result of this maneuver, the spine may emit a cracking sound which may either be due to a sudden release of gas dissolved in the joint fluid (much like a "cracked" knuckle does) or a temporary change in the relative position of some vertebrae. For many, the result is an immediate reduction in pain.

If you are in this category, we can help. We only accept those patients whom we sincerely feel we can treat. If you have pain, numbness, chronic headaches, stress, etc., please call us for an appointment at DELORENZO CHIROPRACTIC GROUP, 475-5042. Our personal concern is for the health of you and your family. Our office is located at 15 Central Street. Best wishes for Veterans Day!!

P.S. Acute episodes of transient back pain seem to be most responsive to chiropractic manipulation.

Marshalls and Brickstone Properties to host holiday celebration Sunday, Nov. 27

Lighting USA's tallest Christmas tree at Brickstone Square

This year's Brickstone Christmas tree lighting celebration will be hosted by Marshalls, whose national headquarters are located in the Brickstone Square complex. Barry Burbank of WBZ-TV, master of ceremonies, will flip the switch at 6 p.m. Sunday, Nov. 27. Musical performances by Boston Brass and Nashua Symphony Chamber Chorus will highlight the evening, along with an appearance and autograph session with Boston Bruin legend Ken Hodge Sr.

The event will also offer a Reindeer Carousel, costumed characters and complimentary refreshments. Santa will give a holiday greeting after the lighting and open Santa's Village, complete with a petting zoo.

Last year's event, which featured Tom Bergeron and former New England Patriot Steve Grogan, attracted more than 5,000 spectators.

As in the past, Marshalls Thanksgiving weekend events, (Easter Five Road Race on Thanksgiving Day, and holiday celebration and lighting of the Brickstone tree) will benefit two local charities that assist victims of domestic violence. St. Ann's Home in Methuen is for children, many of whom have been removed from abusive homes and are victims, directly or indirectly, of domestic violence. The Lazarus House in Lawrence will use proceeds to support women trying to break the cycle of domestic violence in their homes.

WBZ-TV's Barry Burbank and former Bruin Ken Hodge Sr. help kick off the holiday season Sunday, Nov. 27, from 5:30 to 7 p.m.

According to Jerry Rossi, president and chief operating officer of Marshalls Inc., "Marshalls is committed to serving families and we believe that commitment shows in sponsoring wonderful community events like this one, which benefit families who have been deeply affected by domestic violence. We believe that this celebration will make the season much more special for everyone."

Marshalls and Brickstone Square also support the U.S. Marine Corps Reserve's "Toys for Tots" drive with a colorful "donation station" at the main entrance. New, unwrapped toys will be collected until Dec. 25 for needy children.

The 94 foot tree, 45 feet in diameter, was found by Brickstone's "Christmas tree scout," Mark Donohoe of Riverside Landscaping. He flew by helicopter searching for the perfect "problem tree," one that threatens property or endangers wires. The tree will be wrapped as a giant Christmas present and transported to Andover by flatbed, and set up by an 80-ton crane next Friday, Nov. 18.

Mr. Donohoe and his crew will decorate the complex, starting Saturday, Nov. 19. The tree will be decorated with 20,000 multi-colored lights and 750 bows, balls and bells.

Giant illuminated presents, an 11-foot sleigh, a 24-ton wreath and more than 79 smaller wreaths will decorate the complex.

For information and directions, call the event hotline at 749-3008.

Two new exhibits will open next week at Andover Historical Society

Two new exhibits entitled "New Year's Eve: 1945" and "Gothic Revival: The Only Proper Style" will open Wednesday, Nov. 16, at the Andover Historical Society.

New Year's Eve, 1945
The closing of the 50th anniversary of World War II is being commemorated at the Andover Historical Society with an exhibit recreating a New Year's Eve party that might have occurred in 1945. The best parlor of the Amos Blanchard House Museum, normally interpreting the 1820s to 1840s era, has been temporarily transformed into a 1940s living room. Uniforms and cocktail dresses, along with lamps, radios, ashtrays and other household accessories, are used to recreate the era.

Although this was a somber period for many people during this stage of the war, cocktail parties were held to entertain soldiers on leave or about to enter the war for the first time. Items on display include a fur coat from Freedman's (a furrier located in Lawrence), a civil defense helmet, long and short evening dresses, "girly" highball glasses, rhinestone jewelry and uniforms worn by men from the area. Many people from Andover and North Andover contributed to this display.

Gothic Revival: The Only Proper Style

By the 1830s, the Federal Style in architecture and decorative arts had run its course and the public was ripe for a new way to interpret daily living. The writings of Sir Walter Scott were sweeping the young nation as no other novel had. Ivanhoe revitalized the Middle Ages as a time of heroism and pageantry and captured the imagination of a country experiencing the first fractures of industrialization.

With its pointed arches and organic forms, the Gothic style created a visual aura of love for nature, high moral philosophy and a reaching toward the divine. The rising middleclass, able to afford the increasing amount of mass-produced goods, could announce their social status and declare their idealism by attaching a Gothic porch, with elaborate foliated trim, to an out-of-date house. The unsettling religious fervor of the "Great Awakening" and the recent waves of new immigrants created a profusion of new religious organizations. Rose windows and vaulted arches offered calm and historical stability. Gothic Revival, "the only proper style," offered a sanctuary from the new technologies of a bustling age.

Rapid development in the 19th century readied Andover for a break from the yoke of its Puritan past and the Gothic style provided its citizens with a new means of expression. The uniquely American

"Carpenter Gothic," with generous amounts of wood carving, was unique to the United States because of its abundance of highly skilled carpenters and the availability of many fine woods. Andover carpenter, piano manufacturer and architect Jacob Chickering used this form on many homes. His best examples

Historical Society exhibit showcases Gothic Revival: 'The Only Proper Style'

(Continued from page 24) include 34 Essex St., erected in the late 1840s, and 276 North Main St., the former Woods estate, built in 1847. "Italian Gothic" evolved after the Civil War and featured simplified forms, the use of polychromatic stones and materials and a Venetian flavor. Popularized by English art critic John Ruskin, this late-Victorian phase found its way to Andover in such buildings as Phillips Academy's Stone Chapel, built in 1875 by the Boston firm of Cummings & Sears (It was destroyed in 1931); and St. Augustine Church at 45 Essex St., designed in the late 1890s by P.W. Ford of Boston.

A curious eye can detect evidence of Gothic influence in surprising places around town.

The Andover Town House (Old Town Hall) features the Christian influence inherent in Gothic style in a series of symbolic Trinities found on the arched pilasters and trefoil (clover-patterned) windows. At the Andover Historical Society, one can see glimmers of Gothic on the barn's trefoil window and on the iron supports for the fence post; both are late 19th-century additions.

This exhibit will focus on Gothic revival architecture in Andover and on home furnishings and personal accessories from the 19th century created in the Gothic style.

A reception will be held Wednesday, Nov. 16, from 6 to 8 p.m. Admission is free and the public is invited.

***

The Morning Coffee Program will be held Tuesday, Nov. 15, at the Andover Historical Society. The program will feature "Mysteries at the Museum." The topic covers esoteric items from the collection, uncertain crimes committed in the community and obscure expressions.

Committee members include Betty Gorrie, Bernice Haggerty, Darcy Kirk, Ruth Sharpe, Ruth Sherwood and Mildred West. Coffee and refreshments will be served by Dot Bailey. Audrey Bedell and Micki Brooks starting at 9:30 a.m. Admission is free and the public is invited.

Hanukkah program Sunday

Temple Emanuel will offer a Hanukkah celebration workshop for 3-, 4- and 5-year-olds and their parents Sunday, Nov. 20, from 9 to 10 a.m. at the temple. The workshop, led by preschool teacher Nancy Turow, is open to the community at no charge. It will include craft projects, story-telling, singing and a latke snack. Reservations are required.

FINANCIAL STRATEGIES

by Ronald R. Hill, C.I.U., ChFC

NEW SCHOOL LOAN OPTIONS

Starting in July of 1994, students have been given the option of stretching their school loan payments over 30 years, instead of 10 years. This longer payment schedule was designed to make a college education more affordable by allowing low-earning graduates to pay off their federal student loans over a longer term. Longer pay schedules mean reduced monthly payments, which means that students would be able to borrow more money for college in the first place. Other new payment options include a 25-year schedule with monthly payments ranging from 4 to 15 percent of the graduate's expected annual salary, as well as a graduated option with payments that rise along with the borrower's salary. We at Baystate Financial can assist you in getting more information about the student loan programs available. Students and their families should also make full use of the counseling and research resources available at their high school or prep school and the colleges they are considering attending.

Students of today may not realize just how long it can take to pay back student loans. Not every graduate lands a lucrative job right out of school. Come to BAYSTATE FINANCIAL SERVICES for sound financial and investment counseling. If you have any questions about our column or would like to schedule an appointment, please call us at 475-9212. We are located in Andover at 10 Essex Street. We also have an office at 100 N. Washington St. in Boston (617-523-4500). Verbal and written references are available upon request.

HINT: Nearly six million students took out school loans in 1993.

PARTING SORROW

As George Eliot once pointed out, "In every parting there is the image of death." This is undoubtedly the reason why so many of us find it difficult to say good-bye, even when we know that the separation will be temporary. The sweet sorrow of such partings rests with the notion that, eventually, the separated parties will reunite to renew their love and friendship. If we are to temper the anguish with which we regard the separation of death, we will imbue it with some of the sweetness of our everyday partings. That is to say that we shall ultimately share our final rest with departed loved ones and that the separation we now experience will only be temporary.

Death is a terribly painful experience no matter what our religious beliefs, and trying to make rational decisions about funeral arrangements during this trying time can be next to impossible. At a time like this, you can count on the professionals at BURKE FUNERAL HOME. We will take care of everything including the paperwork associated with insurance and Veteran's benefits. A non-sectarian home, we will design services to suit any religious belief or personal taste. For more information, call 475-5200 or see us at 390 North Main Street.

QUOTE: "Could we see when and where we are to meet again, we would be more tender when we bid our friends good-bye."

Hundreds of people attended the Preview Party Fundraiser at Marshalls' newest store, in Shawsheen Plaza, Tuesday night. In the first hour, enough people had arrived so that Marshalls donated $10,000 to Andover Youth Services programs, having promised to donate $10 for every person in attendance, up to $10,000. Members of the Youth Council modeled clothes during the party. In this photo, Valerie Parker and Nina Sequeira show off some clothes for sale at the store. Some people won gift certificates in a raffle drawing; B. Maynard of Appletree Lane, Brendan Sullivan of Vine Street and M.B. Cronin of Boxford. Anne Wilson of High Street won two round-trip airline tickets. The store is holding other promotion events this week. See Marshalls' ads in today's paper.

Youth center at Rec Park to be on April Town Meeting warrant

By Neil Fater

If town officials have their way, the newest members of the Youth Council will enjoy a new youth center and an expanded Recreation Park before they graduate.

In fact, officials plan to have a comprehensive youth recreation program and architect drawings of the Rec Park expansion project ready for April Town Meeting, according to Bill Fahey, youth services coordinator.

Officials from SHED, Shawsheen Extended Day, a kindergarten program, and Kid's Club, a first-fifth grade before- and after-school program, are hoping to share a new center at Rec Park with the Youth Council. During the busiest of times, the facility may serve as many as 300 students per day.

"The vision side of it is can we create a program that works for kids from kindergarten to high school. The big part of that is creating a building where we have shared space," said Mr. Fahey. "We also want the building to be comfortable, which can be difficult if you have to follow town municipal codes. We don't want to create another school building."

Representatives of Kid's Club met with Mr. Fahey and Peg Campbell, Department of Community Services program director, this week to develop a vision for their shared program. They plan to meet weekly.

This group was created in part because earlier meetings put the proverbial cart before the horse: officials were talking about specific aspects of the new building before developing a vision for how the building will be used.

"That's what happened at a lot of meetings we were going to. We were getting caught up in a lot of the hard facts like is it handicapped-accessible," said Mr. Fahey.

Ideally, the new center will have a wing for the elementary program, a wing for Youth Council activities and shared space in the middle. Included in this shared space will likely be an art room with a wood working shop, a dark room and possibly space for DCS classes such as jewelry making.

Another goal of center supporters is for the town to hire someone to work directly with middle-school students. Under this proposal, SHED and Kid's Club will continue organizing elementary programs. Mr. Fahey will focus on high school-age teens, and the new person will oversee middle school programs.

Mr. Fahey also suggests that a year-round Our Town program could be used to maintain the new and expanded Rec Park facilities. Currently the Our Town program hires teens to do maintenance work for the town during the summer.

Seven new teens have been added to the Youth Council, which now has 16 student members. There are four seniors, four juniors, five sophomores, and three ninth-graders. What's Up, the teen page in the Townsmen, will profile the new members.

Seniors want to expand current senior center

Tyer Rubber site on Railroad Street abandoned, dubbed too expensive

By Neil Fater

The Council on Aging has selected a highly centralized place for the town's new senior center - its present location.

Labeling the old Tyer Rubber structure on Railroad Street too expensive, the council informed a group of seniors late last week that it is now focusing its attention on expanding its current facilities at Whittier Court.

The council plans to renovate the center's existing space and add onto the first floor of the so-called school administration building, where the Senior Center is located. Members also hope to gain more parking spaces near the entrance to the center.

"It doesn't seem that Tyer Rubber is going to be feasible. The company that owns it is adamant. They will not drop their price," said Dorothy Bresnahan, council chairwoman.

Members also expressed concern this summer that hazardous materials or heavy traffic at the old Tyer Rubber location might make it inappropriate for a senior center.

Although they added Tyer expressed frustration with the pace of the project's progress.

"Are any of us going to be here when it's finalized? I think you're all waiting here, sitting on your hands until we finally expire," said one man. "I don't believe you're on our side because nothing is moving."

"This is not wave your magic wand and everyone says, 'What a great idea,' and it's done," said Mr. Ryan.

Mr. Ryan lauded Dennis Ingram, an architect who volunteered to prepare preliminary drawings of how to best use the current space. The town may not end up hiring Mr. Ingram to build the new additions because of necessary legal procedures for hiring a town building architect, said Buzz Stapeczynski, town manager.

Council members asked seniors to talk to town officials and to write letters to the local newspapers as a means of garnering support for a new senior center.

"I can tell you why we don't get anywhere. Because we don't have the support of the town,"

'Are any of us going to be here when it's finalized? I think you're all waiting here, sitting on your hands until we finally expire. I don't believe you're on our side because nothing is moving.'

Rubber to their list of rejected locations, council members appear to believe they now have found the right spot.

"I frankly think we're probably more optimistic now than we have been in a long time," said Bill Ryan, council member.

Nevertheless, some seniors said Ms. Bresnahan.

"We're the one group in town that can't wait because we don't have time to wait," she said.

Friends of the Andover Seniors, a private group affiliated with the Council on Aging, plans to raise the necessary funds for the building project.

Capital Improvement Plan is League meeting's subject

The League of Women Voters of Andover North Andover will hold a meeting today, Thursday, Nov. 10, at 7:30 p.m., at Nancy Jacobson's home, 180 Chestnut St., to discuss the town's Capital Improvement Plan and other subjects. Town Manager Buzz Stapeczynski and members of the Board of Selectmen will talk.

Participants will discuss the strengths and weaknesses of the CIP and its process.

The meeting is open to the public. For information, call Jackie Kovacs at 470-3466.

Decision on South School expected tonight

By Neil Fater

The School Building Committee will decide tonight, Thursday, if it will plunge ahead with the South School building project or delay the project start until March, 1995.

The committee is faced with this decision because the general contractor bids on the $8 million South project came in approximately $650,000 over the projected cost.

Although the South overage does not bode well for the $26.5 million Andover High School project, Jim Marsh, committee chairman, did not want to get into speculation, saying, "We're hoping that it's not as severe, certainly."

General contractor bids for the Andover High School project will be opened Wednesday, Nov. 16. Approximately $4 million in items has been cut from the High School project to date.

"There's no reason to believe that there's a direct correlation. (But) it's logical to think if you're 12 percent over on one project that you'll be somewhat over budget on the other," said Mr. Marsh.

If the building committee elects to delay the South project, architects will redraw the plans without some items and ask for bids to be re-submitted. Even with a delayed start, the building committee may want classrooms ready by September of 1995 so that the School Committee's redistricting plan can be implemented to relieve overcrowding.

Mr. Marsh said Tuesday night he wants the project to proceed, in part because he believes construction prices will continue to rise.

Construction could start by the end of this month because the building committee made $123,000 worth of cuts a few months ago and it has an $800,000 contingency fund to be used during South construction, said Mr. Marsh. These numbers can help to cover the $650,000, if necessary.

However, the committee will also look at other project cuts that can be made during construction, particularly to the technology and furniture and equipment accounts, the latter of which includes playground and athletic equipment.

New sports areas may also be affected, said Mr. Marsh.

"Can we live with less fields? We originally didn't think so but if we're looking to save money, we're going to look for what we can live without," he said. "We're not going to compromise the educational specifications, period. The expectations (of fields and other additions) we're going to have to deal with."

The cost estimators who made the inaccurate projections have been paid and it is unlikely any action can be taken against them to regain funds because the town hired two estimators, said Mr. Marsh.

"Is there relief in that area? I would say that would be a hard battle to fight," he said. "If it was one guy you might have an argument, but you had two. It's like going out for an expert witness and the expert witness agrees with the first guy."

Education shortfall now officially totals $600,460

By Neil Fater

Andover schools will get a holiday present a little earlier than usual this year.

After meeting with the state and poring over Andover's figures one last time, town and school officials determined this week that the town needs to transfer $600,460 to the schools budget, Dick Neal, interim superintendent of schools, said Wednesday.

Selectmen scheduled a Special Town Meeting for Monday, Dec. 5, to ask residents to approve such a transfer.

The state originally informed the town in October that the 1993 Education Reform Act mandates it spend $440,089 more on education, but further analysis bumped that figure even higher.

School officials will begin considering possible ways to spend their unexpected windfall immediately, said Mr. Neal.

"We're in the process of considering it for sure. Everyone's got a list. Everyone that you talk to and a lot of people that you don't," said Lloyd Willey, School Committee member.

Mr. Willey said increasing teachers' salaries; reinstating cut programs or positions; increasing technology; or providing additional training, guidance staff, or maintenance for equipment are among the items for which this money may be used. He said the committee will probably discuss these options at its meeting Tuesday, Nov. 15, at 7:30 p.m.

Mr. Willey admitted this money may also be used to cover cuts made to the Andover High School construction project.

Because the state approved a $29.5 million High School project and Andover only asked for $26.5 million, Mr. Willey said that officials are "trying to verify" that additional money can be added to the project and still be reimbursed at 60 percent from the state.

"Obviously, if you can do that, that makes a lot of sense," he said.

The state may not allow this, however, because the construction project is not part of the regular schools budget.

"The answer is that it appears that the money that goes from the town budget is supposed to be used for operating cost, not for construction," said Jan Feldman, education specialist at the state Department of Education.

The polls in Andover – at the Senior Center and at Andover High School – were very busy during Tuesday's election. At 6:05 Tuesday night, poll officials at Andover High School asked for more ballots to be sent over. Parking lots at both polling places were jammed.

Andover mirrors state on 8 of 9 questions

By Neil Fater

The majority of Andover residents are probably happy with the ballot question results today, since they agreed with the state's general population on eight of the nine questions.

Andover differed with the rest of the state on only Question 3, to keep the law regarding student fees. The vote in town went 7,270 to 5,486 in favor of a "yes" vote. More residents here left Question 3 blank than any other question.

While voters across Massachusetts slammed the graduated income tax by a more than two-to-one margin, Andover ballot-punchers were even more passionate. "No" votes outnumbered "yes" selections 10,619 to 2,911 on Question 6, and 10,723 to 2,733 on Question 7.

Question 8, which will prohibit transfers from the Highway Fund, was approved by a similar margin, 10,248-3,040.

Andover declined a chance to stifle corporate spending, and therefore speech, by voting "no" on Question 1, 8,606 to 4,739, yet approved Question 2, the mandatory seat belt law by the convincing margin of 8,988 to 4,525.

Voters here also agreed with the rest of the state that it is time to further repeal the Blue Laws, and voted 8,777-4,821 on Question 5.

They voted to indirectly impose term limits by approving Question 4 by a 7,745 to 5,539 margin. The state courts will rule on the constitutionality of Question 4.

By approving Question 9 – 7,852 to 5,307 – the Andover electorate also echoed the state decision to abolish rent control.

Other area election results

Governor's Council- 5th District (95% vote)

Democrat Patricia Dowling beat Republican John Walsh, 115,574 to 96,483. (Andover: 6,973 to 5,247.)

County Commissioner: Democrat Christopher Casey beat Republican Frederick Tarr, 115,203 to 93,806. (In Andover: Tarr won, 6,154 to Casey's 4,816).

The following were unchallenged: Kevin M. Burke, district attorney; James Leary, clerk of courts; Thomas Burke, register of deeds.

Something better

We like the ideas behind the Self Sufficiency Program in which the Andover Housing Authority is participating. It is designed to enable unemployed or under-employed low-income families to become economically self sufficient.

In a time when politicians are constantly looking for ways to make the welfare system be a help and not a drug or a crutch, this program provides an incentive for participants to get a job instead of penalizing them for it.

In Andover, Julia Vasquez is a star participant in the Self Sufficiency Program. A single mother of two young children, Ms. Vasquez is studying at Northern Essex Community College and is carrying a job as a home health aide. At the same time, she is studying for a one-year certificate in travel and tourism and she hopes one day to own her own travel agency.

The Family Self Sufficiency Program at the Andover Housing Authority helps Ms. Vasquez with guidance and advice, with childcare, with help filling out necessary paperwork, with financial planning and with staying focused on her goal: to become qualified to hold a job so that she can support herself and her children.

Andover has 25 Family Self Sufficiency slots; only 18 are currently filled. Participants have to be focused, and have ambition and drive.

"This program is definitely not for everybody," is how Ms. Vasquez puts it. "You don't have to know what you want, you just have to know you want something better."

Symbols of hate

Swastikas, a symbol of hate and bigotry, have shown up in Andover again. Barbara Vacarr's letter on the next page says it well: When such an anti-Semitism message appears in our community it is our job to speak out and let it be known that we abhor such action. And we agree with Ms. Vacarr: Perhaps the graffiti should be left for a period for all to be reminded that such hatred still exists and we have work to do.

Lots of you wrote about guns

By Perry Colmore

This column has been prompted by letters from Andover residents Phillip Rudolph, Phil Donmolfo, Kemal Sadikoglu, Gary Streeter, Michael Toth, Thomas Dreher, Anthony R. Silva, Henry R. Himber, Albert P. Gibson, Nelson E. Townsend, Joseph O. Branzetti, Robert H. Bradshaw, Edwin Goonyep and Leo La Roche. (Why are all the letters written by men?)

They - and scores of others, some from Andover, some not - have been part of a letter writing campaign during the last several weeks. They all write on yellow postcards. And they all sign their name to the same letter:

"Dear Sir or Madam:

"As a patriotic American and a member of the National Rifle Association, I'm extremely concerned about the way the media has blamed gun owners for the rising tide of crime in our country.

"To counter the myths that have surrounded the gun control debate, the NRA's Wayne LaPierre has just written a book entitled, Guns, Crime and Freedom. This book is available in local bookstores right now.

"More than half of your readers are gun owners. I'm writing to ask you to give them the fair and equal treatment they deserve in the pages of your newspaper. And I urge you to begin carrying out this policy immediately, by publishing a review of Guns, Crime, and Freedom. Thank you for your consideration."

And then each person signed the typed card with a name and address.

Well, OK, there's your "fair and equal treatment." But I most likely will not read the book. And even though I don't "blame gun owners for the rising tide of crime in our country," I certainly think the fact that it is so easy to get a gun is directly related to the rising amount of violence in this country.

I know: You say guns don't kill people; people kill people. Well, people pull gun triggers and kill other people. I am sure that those of you who sent the little yellow postcards use your guns for hunting, at least I hope you do. And I really have no intention of coming out against hunting.

What concerns me about guns is the people who are killed by guns. I will use just one story - there are hundreds. Remember the 16-year-old Japanese exchange student, Meiko Hattori, who was accidentally killed in this country in 1992? He had come to Rodney Peairs' house in Baton Rouge, La., mistaking it for the location of a Halloween party. Mr. Peairs warned Ms. Hattori to "freeze," and then shot him with a .44-caliber handgun. The Japanese boy apparently did not understand English and did not "freeze." Mr. Peairs was acquitted of a criminal manslaughter charge in 1993, but in a civil suit, a judge in Louisiana ruled this fall that Mr. Peairs pay the boy's family $653,000 for their son's wrongful death.

If there had not been a gun in the Peairs household, that Japanese boy would be alive today.

I know: Families should lock up the gun and certainly many do. But somehow the kids in a family that owns guns know where the key is and they know how to open the cabinet. And too often they do open it.

I know: Yours is a loving family and one person would never use a gun against another. Until the day someone gets drunk and things get out of control. Or until someone breaks into your house and either uses your gun against you, or you

Two abuses of freedom of expression

Editor, Townsmen:

This nation was founded on one basic freedom, the freedom of expression. This freedom has remained the backbone of our society. People tend to pay no attention to the consequences of freedom, however. There is a responsibility that goes hand in hand with freedom.

In the last two weeks at Andover High School, we have seen two abuses of the freedom of expression. First, a senior who wore an "offensive" shirt to school was asked to leave for wearing that shirt. She left when she was taken away by police after standing up on "The Rock" and yelling and swinging her "engagements" in the air. The student handbook clearly states that students are not allowed to wear "offensive" clothing. This is for the good of the school as a whole.

Ms. Nicoletti twice abused her freedom of expression. She infringed upon the rights of others who might have found the shirt to be offensive. That is why shirts like the one she wore are not allowed in school and why Mr. Thomas took the necessary and proper actions against her. She again infringed upon the rights of others by creating a spectacle of herself in front of the school. By doing so, she disturbed the peace we are all entitled to and she hindered the process of education. That is why people are at school — to learn, not to have their attention distracted by such juvenile behavior.

When I arrived at school Tuesday morning, I witnessed another abuse of freedom of expression. There were two swastikas painted on two signs on the High School driveway. To see such blatant ignorance and disrespect made me sick. Most everyone knows what a swastika is. Apparently fewer understand what it means. To most people, of all ethnic backgrounds, it is a symbol of hatred, fear and intolerance. It is a reminder of how dangerous absolute certainty is and how inconceivably devastating the effects of ignorance can be. To whomever painted the hated Nazi symbol, it may have a different meaning and they have the undeniable right to believe in it if they so choose, but they have no right to subject others to it or to deliberately deface public property with it. This is stepping out of the boundaries of freedom of expression.

The actions of Ms. Nicoletti don't compare to the vandalism, but they have a common thread. They breached their freedom of expression by invading the rights of others. Ms. Nicoletti has every right in the world to write a letter to the Townsmen or any other publication. She could have chosen to express herself that way. She took more drastic actions and now must face the responsibility of her free will and her choices.

I take great pride in my school and have many classmates who feel the same way. Our rights are the rights that have been violated, not those of Yvonne Nicoletti.

Silence over the swastikas

Editor, Townsmen:

Last week's upbeat article entitled "Andover is affluent, educated and growing" neglected to reflect a very disappointing reality of life in Andover. Like a Steven King novel which is often set in the comforting facade of a pristine, quiet New England town that actually harbors unsettling and frightening goings-on, last week's article did not address the intolerable and offensive goings-on in this town.

I was appalled, not comforted, by the silence that followed the incident of racist vandalism at the high school. If I did not have children attending classes, I would never have known about the swastikas which were spray-painted on the Collins Center and on the High School walls. I guess it was important to clean them up very quickly in order to maintain our facade.

Last week's silence permeated every corner of this affluent, educated and growing town. While it was wonderful to discover that we have more than 5,000 attending our eight public schools, it was disheartening to think about how we are educating all of our children.

I wonder how the High School students understood last week's silence. I have to admit to my own confusion given the uproar over Ms. Nicoletti's "obscene" T-shirt. If in fact it is Tim Thomas' and the school staff's responsibility to determine what is obscene as stated in last week's editorial, their voices were noticeably silent about the swastikas. I am left having to conclude that maybe I am wrong in my belief that the swastika is an obscene symbol. My confusion grows even deeper when I consider the incongruence between what is taught in the classroom and what we teach through our community's actions and behavior.

I wonder what my sophomore daughter and senior son make of the lesson they learned in Andover High School's social studies curriculum which emphasized to them that those who ignore history are bound to repeat it. Last week they had to witness the town they live in ignoring the lesson and ignoring history. Mr. Thomas attempted to reassure me that this was not really history repeating itself, but just a Halloween prank. I don't feel reassured and wonder if those who witnessed Kristalnacht would feel reassured. I wonder if any of us should feel reassured or safe in our quiet New England town.

Appalled T-shirt teen was singled out

Editor, Townsmen:

Last week, Yvonne C. Nicoletti, an 18-year-old honor student at Andover High School, was suspended from school for wearing a brightly-colored T-shirt that featured a rendering of a painting of a cartoon image of two fully-clothed women with big breasts by the artist and singer Rob Zombie.

The shirt was deemed "inappropriate" by school administrators. The student returned to school and staged a one-woman protest in front of the school by flailing a bra in the wind. A crowd of students gathered to watch and the powers-that-be at the school called the police and had the young woman arrested, handcuffed and led away.

As a parent of a teen-age son and daughter, I am appalled that the school singled out Ms. Nicoletti for her T-shirt, suspended her and resorted to having her arrested. Have the administrators forgotten what it is like to be a young adult and have they ever read the Constitution? (We're talking about a T-shirt with a caricature; we're not talking about pornography, obscenity or subversive activities.)

In a published letter, Ms. Nicoletti admits she is "a crazy dresser." Should people be punished for what they wear or what color they dye their hair? According to a recent profile in The

New York Times, Orit Gadiesh, the chairman of Bain & Company, has purple hair, wears flamboyant jewelry and short black skirts and is considered a brilliant consultant. If Ms. Gadiesh can survive in her field and be judged by her effectiveness, shouldn't we expect the same tolerance of those responsible for educating young adults?

I hope that this incident was just a temporary lapse in common sense by administrators who didn't seem to have a clue as to how to deal with young adults. Letting a situation get out of hand and having to call the police to arrest and handcuff an honor student with a good reputation is inexcusable. I believe it reflects fear, a sense of powerlessness and a lack of imagination in dealing with young adults.

This and some similar incidents across the country involving young women confirms that as a society we have a long way to go. I suspect that many people are frightened of women who are smart, think or dress differently and who are not passive, obedient and subservient. In New England and elsewhere, we have a long, sad history of punishing people — women and men — who think, look and act differently. Let's not continue this history.

I would hope that all of us would treat young adults more seriously and allow them the freedom to be different, to think and to try on new clothes, so to speak, as they journey toward adulthood. Let's not paint them into corners — and no handcuffs, please.

Impressed by a polite young man

Editor, Townsmen:

An athletic young man stepped directly on my half-empty cup of hot chocolate as he enthusiastically bounded up the bleachers several weeks ago at an AHS boy's varsity soccer game at Lovely Field. The cocoa spattered on the white pants of the mother next to me.

He was surprised. I was surprised. The mother next to me was surprised. He apologized and continued his leaps up the bleacher. At half time he reappeared with his arm outstretched offering me a new full cup of cocoa. I was embarrassed — said it was not necessary — then told him thank you and mumbled something about the person getting the worst "end of the stick" was the lady next to me with cocoa on her trousers. I just want to let the community know what a thoughtful "little thing" this young man and student from Andover High did. Thank you to him.

If you are the fan with a persistent hot chocolate stain from this incident let me know. I am sorry that I do not remember either person's name. It's "little acts of kindness" that make our use the gun against the intruder and then you pay.

Anyway, I did my part. I published one of the yellow cards and the names of perhaps half of the people who sent them to me. Unfortunately, I threw them away for a while because we have a policy of not publishing letters that are part of letter-writing campaigns, but when they continued to come in, I thought they represented a large number of Andover residents and I therefore should allow space for them to be heard.

A book written by a member of the NRA is not going to convince me that guns are OK. And please don't use that argument that guns are part of the Constitution: Your right to bear arms. That was written when guns were used to bag a family's next meal, or for protection in a totally uncivilized place. Yes, often we feel we are living today in a totally uncivilized place, but I don't believe guns are the answer. Guns kill. And guns reinforce the attitude of violence that our kids are living with today, an attitude that is backed up by television and movies. But not by me.

Rec Park problems

Editor, Townsmen:

Many of us greatly enjoy swimming at Poms Pond. On hot summer days you can find several hundred people there, including families with young children, school-age kids taking lessons, senior citizens and many others. There is also similar activity at the nearby Girl Scout camp. The parking lot is often filled and parking overflows into the adjacent grassy area. This has been a familiar sight to me for almost 30 years.

I am very concerned that the changes currently being proposed for Recreation Park will endanger these activities. My concerns fall into three categories: pollution, demise of the pond and encroachment.

My first concern is pollution of the pond from the septic system of the youth center. Plans presented at the recent meeting at South School show the youth center to be located on the side of the playing fields near the pond. Unless the system is connected to town sewer, it seems inevitable that contaminants will penetrate down the steep embankment and find their way into the pond. The ecology of the pond is already fragile. This problem might be solved by putting the youth center on the far side of the playing fields or better yet, putting it in a separate and more accessible location closer to the center of town.

My second concern is accelerating the demise of the pond due to runoff, i.e., leaching of fertilizers and silting of the pond. The present plan calls for the massive removal of the trees on the hill, cuts and fills and extensive regrading. The large number of playing fields created would have to be fertilized. Runoff down the very steep embankments with limited tree cover is a potentially serious problem. The fields on top of the hill directly above the pond and those in the sand pit area, which is almost at water level, present a threat. I was present at a meeting of the Andover selectmen several years ago at which this topic was discussed. They indicated that growth of vegetation due to fertilizers and silting due to runoff have made many ponds unusable and they were concerned with the long-term future of Poms Pond. These comments were made before the current plans to expand the recreation area were proposed. We can't move the pond, but at least some of the fields could be located elsewhere.

My final concern is the encroachment of the playing fields into the areas used by swimmers. The plans presented at South School did not show the existing parking area. The plans did show a play field extending into the areas used for overflow parking and sunbathing. The alternate plan placed an even larger field encroaching well into these areas. Users of these fields would further impact the already limited parking space. Hopefully, the plans could be adjusted to satisfy these space requirements.

These concerns need to be addressed if Andover is to continue to provide summertime swimming for its residents. There are few alternative swimming sites. If necessary, now would be an appropriate time to modify the plans to relocate some of the proposed playing fields and/or the youth center.

UNICEF's important work

Editor, Townsmen:

I would like to thank the caring people who made it possible for my son and other children at the Bancroft to have an opportunity to be good world citizens by collecting coins for UNICEF on Halloween.

Their efforts are especially important this year because UNICEF is urgently implementing an innovative curriculum to teach very young, very curious children in war zones to recognize and avoid land mines and unexploded artillery shells. Medical personnel working in makeshift clinics, in places like Somalia, deal daily with the horrifying consequences of the debris of war, and they are pleading for these teaching materials. UNICEF's work here will prevent much needless suffering.

I was aware that UNICEF does much work to benefit unborn children, by teaming up with WHO in the areas of maternal, prenatal, and neonatal health. But until I read the letters in last week's Townsmen from Ms. Taylor and Ms. Roche I did not know about UNICEF's work in furthering family planning within the policy parameters of individual countries, as would be required by their charter. This is certainly encouraging news in the wake of heartrending statistics on infant deaths from the developing world.

Sadly, in some areas a steadily rising cause of mortality is parental abandonment. This is easily preventable suffering at its most basic. With the heartening news that UNICEF is working to be sure every child is wanted and cared for, I'll be sure to make an extra effort to use UNICEF cards and stationery this year.

This imperfect world

Editor, Townsmen:

In a perfect world, there would be no need for UNICEF because the education and well-being of children would be viewed unquestionably, as paramount to a society's future. In a perfect world, the sexual urge would awaken only after marriage and then wane after the desired number of children were born so there would be no abortions. If things were perfect, all children would be self-motivated learners, eager athletes and empowered to go out into the world without the need to experiment with drugs or alcohol. It would save us so much anxiety. But this is just not the way things are. Instead, we have kids who vandalize our town library. We have to decide between playing fields and tall trees. We need to face the risk of building a Youth Center that might be used for the youthful activities and occupations we fear. One thing is for certain. No matter what decisions we make, unlike the month of October, they will not please everyone. Why? Because we are human and the results of our labors will be always imperfect. Must we live with this and carry on anyway?

Yes. Must we try to be the best imperfect role models we can be for our imperfect kids? Yes. Maybe because the way things are are the way they're supposed to be. Messy and imperfect. That way it gives us something to look forward to.

AHS SPORTS ROUNDUP

Shaffer earns title of second best golfer in state

By Rick Harrison

Junior Dave Shaffer emerged as the second best high school golfer in Massachusetts, while the Andover High team finished tied for third place in the season-ending State Division I Team and Individual Championships held at Norton Country Club.

Shaffer completed an outstanding 1994 campaign by firing a one-over par 73 at Norton to finish one stroke behind individual champ Jeff Driscoll of Brookline (72).

The low score in the State Division II Individuals at Ipswich CC was 78, which leaves Shaffer No. 2 overall.

It was a struggle for the rest of the Golden Warrior players and the majority of those competing, however, as most of the individual and teams scores were skyrocket high.

Freshman Rob Oppenheim was Andover's second low scorer at 86, junior Jeff Shea shot 91 and freshman Matt Dexter 91. Those three and Shaffer accounted for Andover 341 team total.

Also competing for Andover, although their scores did not figure in the team total, were sophomore Pat Annese with a 93 and junior Jeff Mazza 94.

Braintree High won the Division I team title with 326 strokes. North Quincy was second at 333, Andover and Westford Academy tied for third at 341, and Central Catholic completed the five-school field at 347.

"Norton is a target course," said AHS coach Bob Lawson. "You have to hit the ball straight and keep it in play. The fairways are very tight, narrow and long, with a lot of lateral and water hazards. You really have to play it a few times to score well. Dave (Shaffer) had played Norton a couple times before in MGA summer tournaments.

"There also were a lot of leaves on the fairways and greens. It was a gorgeous day, but the leaves made things that much more difficult," added Lawson.

This marked the fourth time Andover has finished among the top three teams in the state.

"It was a fantastic year and, since all our players that competed in the states are underclassmen, I think we're going to have some fun again next year," said Coach Lawson.

Andover finished the regular season undefeated (14-0-1) en route to its second straight Merrimack Valley Conference Small School championship.

It is the fourth league title in five years.

MVC All-Conference selection Shaffer, in addition to Monday's top effort, finished third in the MVC Individual Championships.

Boys varsity soccer takes quarterfinal over Chelmsford, 3-2

By Rick Harrison

Junior midfielder John Kulp scored the most important goal of his varsity career last Sunday evening at Simonian Alumni Stadium in Chelmsford.

The clutch shot clinched a dramatic 3-2 Andover victory over previously undefeated Chelmsford in their Eastern Mass. Division I North Sectional Tournament quarterfinal round marathon game finally decided by a penalty-kick shootout.

The Merrimack Valley Conference rivals had battled through 80 minutes of regulation play, two 10-minute overtimes and two five-minute sudden-death overtimes before Kulp's goal broke a 2-2 tie.

The victory, which followed a 3-0 first-round triumph over Waltham, advanced the No. 7 seed Golden Warriors to a semifinal round game against No. 11 seed Billerica last night (after Townsmen presstime) at the neutral Woburn High field.

If Coach Dave Amundsen's Andover crew won last night it will play for the Division I North title on Saturday, most likely against top-seeded defending state champ St. John's Prep of Danvers. The Eagles blasted the Golden Warriors out of last year's tourney 5-0 in the first round.

Last night marked Andover's second trip to the Division I semifinals, the first being in 1992 when they beat Middlesex Leaguers Belmont and Winchester before losing to eventual state champ Westford Academy 3-2 in a shootout.

Andover, 11-3-6 overall with only one loss in its last 18 games, had a 1-0 defeat and 1-1 tie in two games against MVC rival Billerica (9-4-7) during the regular season.

The Indians ousted Beverly (1-0) and No. 3 seed Somerville to reach the semifinals of the single-elimination tournament. This is the Andover boys' 16th tourney appearance in 19 years.

All-Conference

Junior midfielder Shawn Rodriguez and junior forward Eric Dubasak were the two Andover players named to the 15-man MVC All-Conference team.

Rodriguez finished the regular season with seven goals and five assists, while Dubasak was a league high scorer with 15 goals and four assists.

Golden Warriors selected as MVC All-Stars were senior sweeper Eric Pisick and senior forward Mike Maguire (10 goals, seven assists).

Quarterfinal

Andover 3-Chelmsford 2 (5 shots)

The Golden Warriors grabbed a 2-0 halftime lead against previously-undefeated No. 2 seed Chelmsford (final 14-1-4 record), which had beaten (1-0) and tied (2-2) Andover during the regular season en route to the Merrimack Valley Conference Large School Division title.

"The same thing happened in the 2-2 tie," said Coach Amundsen. "We took a 2-0 half-time lead and they came back in the second half."

In Sunday's tourney game the Lions scored early in the second half, and tied it midway through the 40-minute period.

The AHS lead was forged on early goals by junior midfielder Shawn Rodriguez (his eighth) and junior forward Eric Dubasak (team-high 17th), who connected five minutes apart during the first 12 minutes of the game. Sophomore midfielder Tim Smith assisted on both goals.

"Chelmsford pressured us the entire second half," said Amundsen.

When neither team scored in the four overtimes the game went to the shootout, which calls for five players on each team to alternate penalty shots.

"We won the toss and our goalkeeper, Zach Smith, chose to defend first. That was a gutsy call," said Amundsen.

It looked like the strategy would backfire when Chelmsford sniper Matt Brown scored on the Lions' first shot, while the Andover shooter missed.

Chelmsford missed its second shot, however, and Rodriguez tied the shootout 1-1 by beating MVC Most Valuable Player Matt Caffelle in the Lions' net.

The third and fourth shooters on both teams missed, as did Chelmsford's fifth shooter.

That left it up to John Kulp, who kept the shootout from going to overtime and ended the game with his clutch blast past Caffelle.

"We hit the crossbar near the end of regulation, and forced Caffelle to make two excellent saves in the overtime periods," said Coach Amundsen.

Zach Smith finished with seven steps in the Andover net, and cited for strong play were senior sweeper and team Captain Eric Pisick, senior defender Josh Lewin ("best game of the year"), consistent senior defender Dave Mazin, junior midfielder Brian Kwon, senior forward Mike Maguire, Kulp and Rodriguez.

"Rodriguez controlled the flow of the game at midfield, and made numerous outstanding passes to our forwards to set up plays," said Coach Amundsen.

The game took a physical toll on the Golden Warriors as Dubasak suffered a five-stitch gash to his forehead, Maguire and Mazin were hit in the head and complained of dizziness, and Kulp came away with a sore ankle. All four were expected to play against Billerica, however.

Andover girls soccer bows to Framingham, 2-0

By Rick Harrison

Old nemesis Framingham brought an end to the Andover High girls varsity soccer season last Sunday afternoon, ousting the Lady Warriors from the 1994 Eastern Mass. Division I North Sectional Tournament with a 2-0 victory in quarterfinal round play at Lovely Field.

It was the third time in the last four years Framingham has eliminated Andover from the tourney. Coach Dick Loschi's AHS squad, seeded No. 4, finished with a 16-2-2 overall record that included a 7-0 romp over tournament rookie Revere in the first round. Had the Lady Warriors beaten No. 12 seed Framingham (10-8-2) their health would have been in question for the semifinal round, with key players Jenn Munroe, Jen Murnane and Christine Contos all suffering injuries in Sunday's physical game.

Top scorer Munroe was taken to the hospital by ambulance with an ankle injury, while Murnane hurt a knee and Contos was sidelined by a back problem.

"It just wasn't meant to be," said Coach Loschi after the loss.

"But we still achieved most of our pre-season objectives by winning the Merrimack Valley Conference championship and beating Billerica."

Graduates

The MVC champs were a relatively young team, their seven seniors including injured goalkeeper and team Captain Kim Kelley, Carolyn Vallee, Jen Griffin, Cathy Zappala, Lauren Ofria, Nicole Brooks and Cristina Babine.

Underclassmen eligible to return for the '95 fall season are Jenn Munroe, Vanessa and Nicole Blank, Meghan Lynch, Jen Murnane, Sue Cookson, Amanda Piercy, Liz Salvia, Susan Ashlock, Christine Contos, Missy Famiglietti, Randi Spiegel, Shannon Lee and Jessica Smith.

Scoring leaders

Jenn Munroe finished as team-high scorer with 13 goals and 11 assists, while other top point producers were Vanessa Blank (eight goals, six assists), Amanda Piercy (nine goals, three assists), Sue Cookson (seven goals, four assists), Jen Murnane (seven goals, four assists), Liz Salvia (five goals, six assists), Randi Spiegel (seven goals, three assists), Shannon Lee (six goals, three assists), Noelle Blank (five goals, three assists) and Jessica Smith (five goals, three assists).

Meghan Lynch had six individual shutouts in net, and combined with Beth Lee and Jen Prudden on five others. The Lady Warriors scored 81 goals (4.05 average) and yielded only 14 goals (0.70 average) in 20 games. AHS did not allow more than two goals in any game, and the only losses came to Framingham and undefeated tournament top-seed Winchester (2-1).

First Round Andover 7-Revere 0

Once they got rolling, the Lady Patriots didn't stand a chance, with a four-goal blitz in an eight-minute span midway through the first half sparking Andover to a commanding 5-0 lead at the break. Junior midfielder Vanessa Blank started the Andover barrage, one of its biggest ever in tourney play, when she netted her eighth goal with the assist to defender Christine Contos.

The floodgates opened at 17:02 when junior forward Jenn Munroe booted home her 13th goal, unassisted, and following in rapid-fire succession were goals by junior forward Missy Famiglietti (fourth at 20:09), junior forward Shannon Lee (sixth at 22:08) and sophomore midfielder Amanda Piercy (ninth at 25:11). Lee also set up Famiglietti's goal and Piercy assisted on Lee's tally. Elaine Licata completed the scoring with her first two varsity goals less than five minutes apart in the second half, at 16:43 and 21:01, with assists to Jen Aylward and Michelle Crispo.

Quarterfinal Framingham 2-Andover 0

Coach Loschi admitted he was "scared stiff" before Sunday afternoon's quarterfinal at Lovely Field against visiting Framingham. As it turned out his fears were well-founded. Framingham comes out of the toughest league in the state (Bay State League), top to bottom, said Coach Loschi. Three years ago they knocked us out of the tournament (2-0 in 1991), two years ago they knocked us out of the tournament again (4-0 in 1992), and last year Framingham came up here and beat North Andover on the way to the Division I North championship, he said.

Sunday the visitors scored once in each half and became only the second team this season to shut out the Lady Warriors (0-0 tie with Wilmington).

Football loses to Chelmsford, 33-0

By Rick Harrison

The Andover High football team was never able to get its offense in gear against undefeated Merrimack Valley Conference leader Chelmsford High last Friday night, as the Golden Warriors absorbed a 33-0 defeat at the Lions' Simonian Alumni Stadium.

It was the ninth straight loss to Chelmsford, the first time AHS has been blanked this season, and the most lopsided defeat since Chelmsford stamped the Golden Warriors 35-0 in the 1988 season opener played at the same field.

"I thought we hung in there pretty well for awhile," said AHS head coach Dick Collins, whose 5-3-0 team had won two straight and four of its previous five games.

"It was 0-0 after one quarter and we still had a fighting chance at the half (down 13-0).

"We missed one golden opportunity to get on the board in the first half. We had a receiver wide open in the end zone, but our passer stumbled as he went to throw the ball. If we complete that pass it's 13-7 at the half. We wouldn't have won the game, but it would have been a more competitive second half," said Coach Collins.

"We had also a questionable clipping call early in the game, after the first of Eric Thompson's three interceptions, when it was still 0-0. Instead of getting the ball at the Chelmsford 40, we ended up back at our own 15 yard line. That was a tough one. It took away any early momentum we might have gained," said Collins.

Chelmsford (7-0-1), which had 14 first downs to just three for Andover, broke the scoreless struggle with a pair of second quarter touchdowns by top gun Dan Curran (96 points).

Curran connected on a pair of short runs, covering one and seven yards, and Pat Harrington added the PAT after the first touchdown as the Lions took the 13-0 advantage into the locker room at half time.

"They're an outstanding football team and they wore us down," explained Coach Collins.

"We had a lot of players going both ways and, after it got to be 19-0, we simply ran out of gas. Chelmsford's last two touchdowns were made easier by our fatigue."

Also impeding the Golden Warriors' effort was the illness of outstanding two-way tackle Steve Muench, who made a gallant effort to play but was far from 100 percent healthy.

Curran registered his third TD plunge in the third quarter, and Chelmsford chalked up two more scores in the final period on a one-yard sneak by quarterback Scott Brown (seventh TD of season) and a five-yard by reserve back Adam Sullivan.

"We had a difficult time moving the football," admitted Collins. "Chelmsford sacked our quarterback four times and we also fumbled the ball twice.

Swimmers capture fourth place in MVC meet

By Rick Harrison

Solid performances by freshman Jenna Blongiewicz and Captain Tracie Grant led the Andover High girls swim team to a fourth place finish in the annual Merrimack Valley Conference Championship Meet held over two days last weekend at the Shawsheen Tech and Haverhill pools.

In the absence of ailing junior standout Diana Liberty, Blongiewicz nailed down a pair of second place finishes while Grant contributed a second and fourth for the Lady Warriors.

Freshman Brenna O'Connor and sophomore Meghan Donahue also scored in two events, and three of the top 12 divers were from Andover, as senior Lisa Cincotta, sophomore Nicole Carpentier and senior Joan Sunderland all placed.

Points were awarded to the top 12 finishers in each of the 12 events.

Liberty, had she been available, undoubtedly would have won her specialty, the 500-yard freestyle, and also picked up points in the 200 IM.

Two-time regular season dual meet champ Nashua, N.H. High was the team titist with 379 points, followed by Haverhill (308), Chelmsford (292) and Andover (162).

Rounding out the 10-school field were fifth place Lowell (119 points), Notre Dame Academy of Tyngsboro, which is coached by Andover's Joe Sweeney (50), Billerica (38), Methuen (26) and Draut (21). Lawrence High competed but did not score.

Individual standout of the meet was Haverhill's two-event defending state champ Allyson Horgan, the lone double winner in the 200 yard freestyle and 100 butterfly.

Speedy Blongiewicz sharp

Andover sprint standout Blongiewicz, who was undefeated during the dual meet campaign, placed a close second in both the 50 yard freestyle (26.05) and 100 free (56.41).

Grant, who has been plagued by recurring back problems all season, earned her second place finish in the 100 backstroke (1:03.97) and her fourth in the 200 individual medley (2:22.24).

Cincotta led the AHS divers with a fifth place finish, missing fourth by less than one point, as she finished with a 156.70 score.

Carpentier was close behind in sixth with 154.00 points, and Sunderland placed 12th with 143.00.

Donahue placed sixth in the 100 butterfly (1:07.32) and eighth in the 500 free (5:56.81), while O'Connor was eighth in the 200 free (2:11.71) and 11th in the 100 free (1:00.84).

Freshman Kalley Thomas also figured in the scoring with a ninth place in the 500 free (6:05.83).

The Lady Warriors placed both their A and B relay teams in all three races, with the 200 medley A (2:02.14) and 400 free A (4:02.74) squads both taking fourth.

The 200 free A quartet was eighth (1:56.69) and the B team tied Draut for 10th place (2:01.25). The 400 free B team was also 10th (4:18.34) and the 200 free B squad 12th (2:11.42).

The 100 breaststroke was the only event in which Andover did not place.

North Sectionals

Tomorrow and Saturday a number of Andover High swimmers will compete in the annual Eastern Mass. North Sectional Championships at Regis College in Weston, with action scheduled to begin at 4 p.m. tomorrow and 9:30 a.m. on Saturday.

The Andover qualifiers include Diana Liberty, Tracie Grant, Jenna Blongiewicz, Meghan Donahue, Brenna O'Connor, junior Lindsay Bates, sophomore Lisa Jayne and Kalley Thomas.

Divers Lisa Cincotta, Nicole Carpentier and Joan Sunderland also qualified for the North Sectional Championships.

Those who perform well this weekend will advance to the season-ending All-State Meet a week from Saturday (Nov. 19) at Wellesley College.

Volleyball smashes Dorchester

By Rick Harrison

The Andover High girls volleyball team demolished Dorchester, 3-0, in its Eastern Mass. Division I North Sectional Tournament first round match last Friday night in Dorchester.

The Lady Warriors, who won their final two regular season matches to qualify for the tourney as the No. 11 seed in a 13-school field, were clearly superior to the host team as they rolled to 15-1, 15-6 and 15-1 victories in the quick best-of-5 game sweep.

The lopsided romp earned AHS, which improved its overall record to 11-10, a berth opposite Merrimack Valley Conference opponent Lawrence High earlier this week in the Sectional quarterfinals.

The No. 3 seed Lancers, who finished second to Draut in the MVC Small School Division, swept past Andover 2-0 in both regular season meetings.

However, AHS coaches Arthur Iworsley and George Sullivan were hoping to turn the tables on the favored Lancers (15-5) who upset Andover the last time the teams clashed in the tourney (1991).

"That year we entered as the higher seed with a 16-4 record, which included two wins against Lawrence. But they came to Andover and knocked us off in our gym," recalled Iworsley. "We'd love to return the favor."

If the Lady Warriors did beat Lawrence they are scheduled to compete in tonight's semifinal round against No. 2 seed Chelmsford (17-4). A loss meant the end of the season.

Andover 3 Dorchester 0

"It took us longer to drive to this match (one hour) than to play it (40 minutes)," said Coach Iworsley. "Dorchester must have faced much weaker competition in its league. They didn't have a setter or an offense.

"We came into the match playing about as well as we have all season. The last two wins (to qualify) did a lot for the girls' confidence," added Iworsley.

Junior Andrea Marvin led the way in the scoring department, serving 14 straight points in the third game.

"We only had five bad serves the entire match, and we didn't have any errors at the net," said Coach Iworsley.

Other standouts for AHS were senior Kim Daher (hitting), season All-Conference selection Leah Mason (hitting, serving), senior Captain Ann Marie Hussey (serving, setting), sophomore Kristen Wysocki (hitting), sophomore Stephanie Brown (hitting), junior Cindy Su (back row

"Jim Hurley (athletic director) watched the boys soccer game (versus Waltham) in the afternoon, and then drove to Dorchester expecting to see most of our match.

But it was over and we were gone by the time he arrived. That's how quick it went," said Iworsley.

For Andover girls volleyball, which is playing in its seventh Eastern Mass. Tournament in the last 10 years, the Lawrence match marked the second appearance in the North Sectional quarterfinals.

No. 6 seed Dorchester finished its season at 10-5.

Cross country teams split tri-meets

By Rick Harrison

The Andover High boys and girls cross country teams wrapped up their 1994 Merrimack Valley Conference regular seasons by splitting tri-meets with host Billerica and Methuen last week. Both Golden Warrior squads defeated Methuen and were beaten by Billerica.

The AHS boys trimmed Methuen, 20:39, and lost to Small School Division champ Billerica, 20:35, while the Lady Warriors romped past Methuen, 18:39, and dropped a 22:33 decision to Billerica. Those results left the boys with a final record of 6-4, third in the Small School Division behind Billerica (9-1) and Tewksbury (8-2). The AHS girls finished at 4-5 as runner-up to undefeated Small School champion Tewksbury (9-0).

Class Meet tomorrow

Coach Leo Lafond's teams are scheduled to compete tomorrow morning (9:30) in Division 1 of the annual Eastern Mass. Class Meets at Franklin Park in Boston. If any Andover harriers qualify tomorrow they will advance to the season-ending All-State Meet next Saturday, Nov. 19.

Andover boys

The Golden Warriors placed four runners among the top 10 in their tri-meet split with Billerica and Methuen. Junior Charlie Russo was the first AHS finisher, placing third overall with a 15:52 clocking over the Indians' new 2.9 mile course. Don Pattullo placed seventh for the Golden Warriors (16:25), junior Leo Blais ninth (16:37) and senior Co-Captain Kevin Shepard 10th (16:42). Junior Mark Langone was the final Andover scorer, 11th in 16:49, while also finishing in the top 15 were senior Co-Captain Mark Adams (13th, 16:54) and sophomore Todd Collins (14th, 17:00).

Andover girls

Senior Co-Capt. Amanda Verreault equalled Charlie Russo's effort by finishing third in the girls race for the Lady Warriors, traveling the 2.9 mile trail in 19:22. Others crossing in the top 10 for AHS were two steady performers, consistent sophomores Melissa Ying in fifth (20:02) and Meghan Woo in sixth (20:07). Rounding out the Andover scorers were top freshman prospect Katherine Blais in 11th (21:09) and Courtney Schmidt in 12th (21:20). Also running well was freshman Nikki Winters (14th, 21:35).

State Coaches Invitational

Don Pattullo's eighth place finish in the Boys Sophomore Division race topped the Golden Warriors' individual performances at the State Coaches Invitational Meet held at Franklin Park in Boston. In the Boys 3.1 mile Junior-Senior Division race, Charlie Russo led the locals by finishing 56th in 17:31. Competing were Leo Blais (86th, 18:04), Mark McGarry (117th, 18:33), Mark Langone (135th, 18:56) and Dan Taylor (139th, 18:59). Pattullo covered the 2.5 mile Sophomore course in 13:18 and was followed by Matt Herling (23rd, 13:50), Todd Collins (40th, 14:16), Jeff DeAngelo (60th, 14:37) and Matt Bausemer (113th, 15:39).

On the girls side, Andover placers in the 2.5 mile Sophomore race were Melissa Ying (27th, 16:37), Meghan Woo (30th, 16:43), Courtney Schmidt (66th, 18:22), Finnula Kelleher (79th, 18:42) and Lisa Daly (100th, 19:49).

Girls freshman soccer team scores perfect season

By Rick Harrison

The Andover High girls freshman soccer team recently finished a terrific 1994 season with a perfect 13-0-0 record.

This talented group, which outscored the opposition by a whopping 63-6 margin, eclipsed the single-season record of 62 goals established by the 1992 team.

Leading the offensive attack were Sarah Muller (13 goals), Courtney Barron (12 goals), Kristi Keller (nine goals), Laura Orlando (seven goals) and Barbara Contos (six goals).

Strong midfield play was demonstrated by Kim McKew, Megan Roth, Carey Levine, Liz Willey and Erin Croteau, while the defense was anchored by Charlotte Muller, Viki Pierce, Patti Whelan, Lynne Mazza, Julie Litzenberger and Erin Baggerer. Julie Viola and Suzie Clarke split the goal-tending duties and combined for nine shutouts.

Other key performers who contributed throughout the season were Jessica Pucella, Beth Har, Aimee Ferry, Jennifer Mann, Kristen Foley and Sarah Callanen.

Highlights of the season were resounding victories over North Andover (4-1) and crosstown rival Phillips Academy (6-0).

The team was coached by Kathy McDermott.

JV girls soccer team dominates opponents

The Andover High School JV soccer team had a season record of 12-1-1 and scored 67 goals with only seven against.

Chelmsford and North Andover were the two most challenging teams played against this season.

The Chelmsford game's score was 5-0 and was played under the lights at Chelmsford Stadium.

The North Andover game ended 1-0 and was one of the more difficult games of the season.

Goalies Jen Prudden and Beth Lee let only one goal by (six scored by an out-of-league team) against fellow league teams.

Strong offense by Stephanie Banos, Erin Collins, Alexa Kokinos, Elaine Licata and Catherine Ostrofsky kept the scores high.

The defense of Ashley Nowell, Samantha Witman, Amy DiDomenico, Sarah Walker, Ginger Hsu, Beth Murphy and Heather Rybicki was successful in keeping the ball up field and out of the net.

Midfielders were Michelle Crispo, Shira Hermosa, Jen Aylward, Jen Schapira, Amy Hayner, Anna Kelleher and Kolleen Cronin.

The team is coached by Karl Lippmann.

SELECTMEN ROUNDUP

Zoning task force vote delayed

By Don Staruk

Selectmen Monday night delayed a vote to establish a task force to rewrite the zoning bylaw. They decided to appease a handful of residents who sought more time to review the proposal. The delay also was intended to dispel any appearance that any town officials or employees were pushing to establish the task force, according to Selectman Charles Wesson.

"The comments and the vibes that I'm hearing is that what we're doing is dirty or questionable, and I don't like it," Mr. Wesson said near the end of the board's discussion.

At their meeting two weeks ago, selectmen discussed establishing the task force, which would have the charge of upgrading the town's zoning bylaw to make it easier to read and use. But they delayed voting then and asked Town Manager Buzz Stapeczynski time to come back with a charter outlining what the goals and operating procedures of the group would be, and how it would be comprised. Laura DeGroot, senior planner, documented the goals and intentions of the group, and Mr. Stapeczynski included his recommendation that the task force be established and who would be on it.

Mary Carbone, of 3 Cyr Circle, proposed that the board delay voting on establishing the task force until the public had a chance to review what exactly the task force would do.

Selectman William Downs proposed voting on establishment of the task force, but delaying appointing members until the board had a chance to review who should be on it.

Selectman James Barenboim said he had asked the town manager for the establishment of the task force two years ago and that he was ready to vote on it.

"If it comes as a surprise, or something too well planned for Mr. Downs, I feel badly about that," he said.

Mr. Downs expressed concern that he had wanted the town manager to write a letter of proposal regarding the task force, not one of his employees.

"I'm concerned that it's not set up the way we asked for it," Mr. Downs said.

Chairman Gerald Silverman disagreed, saying that Mr. Stapeczynski had given them what they asked for.

Ms. Carbone reprimanded board members for not having known about the task force until three weeks ago, and took credit for pointing out its existence.

"I think, Mary, that you're kind of putting a little bit of a slant on what's happening here," Mr. Wesson said.

Mr. Wesson said this was a case of people in town departments recognizing a problem, coming up with a plan to resolve it and bringing that plan to the town manager.

Bill Coderre, of 37 Stinson Road, said he wanted the board to delay voting because he didn't want anyone to "have an advantage in this," and because he wanted to know who would be on the board.

Dennis Teves, of 8 Mohawk Road, wanted a chance to see what the task force would be doing before the board voted on it because he wanted to know how the bylaw changes would infringe on his rights and what any changes would cost him.

Ms. Carbone asked if, as a courtesy to residents, the board could delay the vote.

John Doyle, of 40 Reservation Road, asked if selectmen could discuss a letter written to them by a member of the Zoning Board and a member of the Planning Board. Mr. Silverman said he didn't have the letter with him.

That is when Mr. Wesson made his comment that he was getting "vibes" that what selectmen were doing was being made to be "dirty or questionable," and proposed delaying the vote to the board's next meeting, on Monday, Nov. 21, rather than taint the task force in any way.

Mr. Wesson reiterated statements he made earlier that only good can come of the task force's work, and the vote was 5-0 to delay the vote.

Selectmen to meet with state about River Road problems

Selectmen asked the town manager Monday night to arrange a meeting with state highway department officials to address problems neighbors are having with the construction work underway on River Road.

John Godek, of 71 River Road, told selectmen Monday night that he is upset with work being done on River Road, and with the response from town employees, the town manager, construction engineers and state highway department officials regarding his concerns.

The state highway department, using state and federal funds, is widening River Road from Route 28 in Lawrence to Interstate 93 in Andover, making much of it two lanes in each direction.

Because of land takings, Mr. Godek's driveway has been pushed back and the road level is such that the pitch of the driveway is now dangerously steep, he said. It is too steep to try to negotiate entering or exiting into the two-lane highway during the winter, he said, and he fears for his wife's and children's safety.

He also complained that to go west from his driveway he must go right to Federal Street and make a U-turn. He said the current area for making the U-turn is dangerous.

The state and construction engineers have told him to design himself a new driveway and that his concerns are not their problem, according to Mr. Godek.

"Middlesex is useless," he said of Middlesex Corp., the private contractor hired by the state to complete the River Road project. He said they are "arrogant, uncaring bullies."

He said Town Manager Buzz Stapeczynski came out to his house and assured him some attention would be given to his problems, but that still nothing has been done.

Another resident, Michael Paris, of 74 River Road, lost the flared end of his driveway to the road widening and when the state replaced the curb, it left the driveway so narrow that he must drive over the curb to get in and out. When Mr. Paris complained to the state he was told to buy a smaller truck or move, according to Mr. Godek.

"It's terrible that the townspeople don't see what's going on and the [expletive] that's going on out there," Mr. Godek said.

Bob McQuade, town public works director, said he was meeting with state engineers at Mr. Paris's house the next day, Tuesday, Nov. 8, to see what could be done about the driveway problem. But he also said that he often gets the same type of answers from the state as Mr. Godek. Mr. McQuade said he has been told that the last four utility poles that needed to be moved out of the old roadway were removed Monday, and that the traffic lights at North and Federal streets and the median will all be in place and working by winter. But he intimated that he will believe all that when he sees it.

Mr. Godek and at least two other River Road residents at the meeting questioned whether flashing lights and speed limit signs would be installed to slow down motorists in the school zone around the Tech School, at 57 River Road. But Mr. McQuade said the state only allows such signs and lights to be installed if the school has students of eighth-grade age or younger, and that that's the reason the town was not allowed to put those lights west of the High School driveway on Shawsheen Road.

(In a discussion with Phillips Academy officials later in the meeting, it was suggested that the town could ask the Legislature to create a school campus zone around both the Tech and the High schools, as was done earlier this year for the area around PA. Mr. Silverman said that is exactly what he would do.)

Mr. Godek finally asked if selectmen had any input on this project at all, or if he and his neighbors are at the mercy of the state.

Gerald Silverman, chairman, said Mr. Godek should have contacted the board earlier, rather than taking on the problems himself. Board members asked Mr. Stapeczynski to arrange for the state engineers to join them for a tour of the project, to be followed by a meeting with residents of the area, probably at Greater Lawrence Technical School. The date and time for the tour and meeting still need to be arranged.

Route 28 may be made one lane at Phillips

Selectmen Monday night voted to sign a letter in support of a proposal by Phillips Academy officials to ask the state to narrow Route 28 to one lane in front of the school.

It is currently one lane in each direction from Route 125 in south Andover to Shawsheen Square except for in front of the school.

Two PA students were struck by a car last May as they attempted to cross the four-lane section of road in front of the school. A truck stopped to let them cross, but a car in the second lane headed in the same direction as the truck and whose driver's view of the girls was blocked by the truck, struck and injured them.

Barbara Landis Chase, new head of school at PA, made the request along with Susan Stott, director of business services for PA. An engineer for Vanasse Associates, the school's engineer on the project, told selectmen the plans include widening the median island by about eight feet and retaining turning lanes at the cross streets to prevent backups.

Mr. Silverman asked if the school had looked at alternatives, such as building a pedestrian bridge over, or tunnel under the road. School officials said that had been considered, but that the barriers needed to funnel foot traffic to the bridge or tunnel would not be acceptable to residents concerned with aesthetics in the area.

Ms. Stott said she would like to see the lane changes made by next summer.

No trucks, Bannister Road

Buzz Stapeczynski told board members that the state has approved the decision made by selectmen earlier this year to ban truck traffic on Bannister Road. The town will install signs advising truckers of the ban.

Reservation Road

In response to a caller's question from the Board of Selectmen's first viewer call-in program two weeks ago, Mr. Stapeczynski said the paving of Reservation Road has been budgeted for 1995.

What a relief, $1.61 coming to you!

The state will be giving the town approximately $7,528 in sewer relief money, which will amount to about a $1.61 credit on each customer's sewer bill.

They delivered

Selectman Larry Larsen said residents have clipped and mailed to him a number of coupons for several pizza emporiums in the area, presumably in response to reports that the School Building Committee spent approximately $1,200 of the town's money on take-out pizza in the past year.

Father and son arrested, charged with assault

By Don Staruk

A father and son were arrested after a domestic dispute turned into a scuffle with police on Duffon Road Tuesday night, Nov. 8.

Robert F. Demers, 47, of 9 Duffon Road, was charged with assault and battery, three counts of assault and battery on a police officer, three counts of assault and battery with a dangerous weapon (baseball bat), and threatening to commit a crime.

Robert F. Demers Jr., 18, also of 9 Duffon Road, was charged with threatening to commit a crime and being a disorderly person after he allegedly stepped into the fray to defend his father, according to Lt. Arthur Ricci.

The incident began at 5:30 p.m. when police received a call from a 15-year-old son of Mr. Demers claiming that his father was assaulting him.

When Officer Stephen Martellini arrived at the house, Mr. Demers allegedly met him in the driveway with the baseball bat and threatened to hit the officer if he came on his property. Officer Martellini called for backup then tried to approach to Demers, but Mr. Demers came toward him with the bat.

Officer Martellini used pepper spray, but Mr. Demers continued to pursue Officer Martellini down the street until the officer pulled his service revolver and told Mr. Demers that if he kept coming toward him he would be forced to shoot.

When Officer William Wallace arrived on the scene, Mr. Demers retreated to his yard and Robert Jr. joined his father in threatening the officers, according to police reports.

Sgt. George Miller, Officer Daniel

Igoe and Detective Joe Hastings then arrived. The officers managed to separate the father and son and, after a struggle with police, Robert Jr. was arrested.

Mr. Demers allegedly continued to scream obscenities and threaten the officers, who finally grabbed him and, after a fight and again using the pepper spray, managed to handcuff and arrest him.

Mr. Demers did not strike anyone with the bat, according to Lt. Arthur Ricci.

"He didn't hit the officers with it, but he threatened them," Lt. Ricci said.

Mr. Demers later said he was very angry and that he just "lost it," Lt. Ricci said.

He did allegedly punch and kick the officers.

Mr. Demers received a cut on the head during the scuffle.

Officer Martellini hurt his hand and received some bruises, and Officer Igoe received a cut on the knee.

Both father and son were due to be arraigned in court Wednesday morning after the Townsman went to press.
